HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

The highly successful "Measles Must Go" project, sponsored by the Winters Lions Club Tuesday, is but a single example of what can be done when people are interested in a community and the future of a community. There were many people who gave of their time and talents to put the project over. They had nothing to gain personally, except the knowledge that they were doing something which needed to be done and which would help someone else and ultimately help the entire community.

To restate, this is but a single example. There are many other examples, of "projects" and "programs" which were started and carried to completion, to the everlasting benefit of the entire community. Look around—there's hardly an area which has not been touched in this manner.

It all boils down to one word: "INVOLVEMENT!" And these things were planned and done and strengthened and built only because there were persons—individually and in groups—who believed that to realize the great potentials which are all around us, someone had to become "involved," and to work for success in particular areas. They were not accomplished by those who stand to the side and insist that "THEY" should do something about something or other, but by those who insisted that "WE" must do something. Without that attitude and will on the part of the "involved" persons, Winters still would be only a cross-cowpaths bump of nothing on the broad expanse of this West Central section of Texas. The "involved" people did it.

A. O. Lacy kicked a bottle from under an old house recently, and in so doing uncorked a little "ancient(?)" history, besides adding to his daughter's bottle collection.

The bottle was an old "Vess" soft drink bottle, which had contained, at one time, a "Billion Bubble Beverage." All Select Flavors," and was "prepared of Healthful Ingredients from World's Noted Sources!" The beverage was bottled by the Bubble Up Bottling Co., of Graham.

We had never heard of this particular brand of soft drink, so decided to do a little checking to see if it is still being made and distributed. John Kilgough, manager of the Graham Chamber of Commerce, said the soft drink bottle was used by the "Bubble Up Co." of Graham, which had been in business in Graham until about 1950. So we don't know how old the bottle is... but it does make a nice addition to a bottle collection.

Our old friend out on Bluff Creek says the government has only a few thousand separate agencies devoted to giving away the taxpayers' money. So many of them, he figures they must give prizes to people who come up with new ideas. He sent in his idea, thinking by chance the politicians hadn't heard about this new way to spend money—maybe he'll get the prize this month. The idea was in the form of a clipping from the Seymour, Ind., Tribune:

"A member of the Malaysian Parliament has asked for the appointment of a national witch doctor to prevent annual floods and other national disasters. This was considered absurd enough to make it world news. But many Western nations have spent the last few years naming commissions and study groups and advisors to find ways to prevent inflation, crime, population explosion, poverty, pollution, trade imbalances and any other civilized catastrophes."

"Considering the results, maybe it's time to give a witch doctor a chance."

363 Children Received Measles Vaccine In Mass Immunization

A giant stride was taken in the "Measles Must Go" campaign Tuesday, as 363 school age and pre-school age children were given measles vaccine at the Winters school. Of this number, 73 were pre-school children, and 290 were school children, including 22 children from the Wingate school.

The local program was sponsored by the Winters Lions Club and approved by the City Health Officer and the school administration. Vaccine was provided by the State Department of Health, with incidental expenses borne by the Lions Club.

John Black, representative of the Department of Health, was present, and assisted in administering the vaccine. Mrs. Fred Young, School Nurse, was in charge of the immunization and was assisted by Mrs. Raymond Lloyd, Mrs. Jay Dunnam and Mrs. R. C. Thomas, Registered Nurses.

Several members of the Lions Club also were present during the afternoon to assist in registering children who came to the school cafeteria for the vaccinations.

Parental permission for administering the vaccine to the children was required before any of the children could be vaccinated. Authorization forms had been sent home with the children prior to Tuesday so parents or guardians could sign permission. Pre-school children who received the vaccine were accompanied by their parents or other responsible adults.

In addition to members of the Lions Club, several people worked on the project. Miss Sarah Parker, elementary school teacher, and a group of Junior High School girls, prepared posters to publicize the program, and Scoutmaster Jim Cowlshaw and the Boy Scouts distributed the posters.

Lee Harrison, president of the sponsoring Lions Club, and George Beard, Elementary School Principal and heading the Lions committee for the project, said the program was highly successful.

They expressed thanks to everyone who helped make the program a success. John Black, of the Department of Health said this Winters program would go a long way in helping to eradicate measles, which is known to be a dreadful disease in children, effecting hearing, eyesight, and even causing death. He complimented the Lions Club and the people of Winters for their "foresight and interest in the health of the children of the community."

Lt. Governor Ben Barnes Sees Defeat Of Compulsory School Consolidation

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes predicted defeat of the proposed compulsory consolidation of school districts in Texas.

"The Governor's Committee on Public School Education has made many constructive recommendations. I feel that the Texas Senate will pass many of them," Barnes said in a statement released this week.

"However, I feel that the Texas Senate will not pass compulsory consolidation," the new lieutenant governor said.

Barnes added that the recommendation to consolidate school districts with less than 2,600 students will probably fall on deaf ears.

Baptist Youth Association To Meet February 8

The Runnels Baptist Youth Association will hold its monthly Youth Rally for Christ at Robert Lee Baptist Church Saturday, February 8, at 8 p. m.

The rally will feature a movie entitled "Silent Witness," a true-life story of a boy who broke his promise to God. Following the film, those attending will have a time of fun and fellowship in the fellowship hall of the church.

Tommy G. Seymore, Minister of Music and Youth of the Winters First Baptist Church, and Baptist Associational Youth Director, said attendance in the month Youth Rallies is growing rapidly, and the spirit "is at an all-time high." Attendance has increased steadily in the past months from about 60 to 192 at the January Rally, he said.

Preceding the Youth Rally at Robert Lee this month, the Associational Youth Choir will rehearse at 6:30 under the direction of Stanley Coble, minister of Music and Youth of the First Baptist Church, Ballinger. The choir is preparing for a Youth Mission Tour to be conducted during the coming summer.

The church bus of the First Baptist Church will be used for transportation of the group to Robert Lee Saturday. Departure time from the church will be 5:45 p. m. All youths, ages 13 to 24, are invited to attend.

Goal of $1,000 In North Runnels Cancer Crusade

"The American Cancer Society is beginning to win. The 1-500,000 Americans alive today, who once had cancer and are cured... these are the measure of how far we have come in the battle against cancer," Dr. Browne of Sonora told the delegates at the District Crusade meeting held in San Angelo January 30. Dr. Browne is a district director of the American Cancer Society District 4.

Other doctors participating in the conference were Dr. Robert Carsner and Dr. Cecil M. French, both of San Angelo.

Mr. and Mrs. George M. Garrett of Winters participated in the conference designed to explain how to reach more people during the Society's annual April education and fund raising Crusade.

Every county in the district pledged a goal for the April Crusade. A goal of $1,000 for the North Runnels County Unit has been indicated.

Sam Boynton of San Saba told the delegates to the conference, "The ACS research investment in Texas is over $1,154,000. This means that the Society is actually spending 13 percent more money on its programs of research, education and service than we raised in Texas last year." The extra money spent in Texas is due to the large sums allocated by the ACS National Program of Research to Texas Institutions.

Mrs. Ross Foster, of Sterling City, a district director, presided at the morning session. A copy of the Texas Division Annual Report, distributed during this session, summarized the accomplishments of the Society during the 1968 program year:

—Services provided to 7546 cancer patients in the form of volunteer transportation, dressings, sick room equipment and gift items.

—Public education programs reaching more than 1,250,000 people with film showings and physician speakers. Educational exhibits reached an additional four million and educational messages and programs carried by the media reached 7,319,000.

—The support of 19 tumor clinics with a total of 94,427 cases reported as of Sept. 1, 1968.

—Clinical fellowships were awarded to 15 physicians and dentists to promote interest and research in the cancer field.

—The professional programs reached an audience of 34,124 in the medical and allied health professions.

LIEUTENANT GOVERNOR BEN BARNES ... And Little Friend Who Needs Your Help

Lt. Governor Ben Barnes Named Chairman of Easter Seal Campaign

Ben Barnes, Austin, Lt. Governor of Texas, has been announced as Chairman of the 1969 Easter Seal Campaign in Texas.

Herman W. Baker of Sherman, President of the Texas Easter Seal Society, said Lt. Governor Barnes will lead over 20,000 volunteers in the annual appeal for funds.

The 1969 campaign will be conducted March 1 to April 6. In accepting the Easter Seal Chairmanship, Lt. Governor Barnes said: "I am honored to take such a prominent role in activities of the Texas Easter Seal Society, a voluntary health agency that has worked to help the handicapped in Texas for 40 years. I invite the volunteer cooperation of all residents of Texas in helping to bring this excellent, vast reaching good work to as many crippled children and adults as possible in 1969."

As Appeal Chairman, Lt. Governor Barnes joins with TV star, Carol Burnett, 1969 National Easter Seal Appeal Chairman, and 223 Easter Seal Appeal Chairmen across Texas who are taking part in the largest fund appeal ever staged by the Texas Easter Seal Society.

"The problem of crippling grows larger every year because one baby in every 16 born alive comes into the world with a substantial physical, mental or chemical defect, thus adding annually to the ranks of the handicapped," the Lt. Governor added.

The Texas Easter Seal Society last year provided rehabilitation and other services to over 18,000 crippled children and adults in Texas. These services were rendered regardless of cause of crippling, race, religion, or economic status.

A new language laboratory, providing a greater flexibility in teaching techniques, has been installed at Winters High School, another step in the never-ending search on the part of the school board and administration to provide the best in educational advantages for the community's students.

As modern as the computer and space age, the new laboratory consists of a large recording-playback console, with three tape decks and one record player, 24 individual booths or units with headphones connected to the console, and four individual and independent booths or units provided with recording and playback equipment.

The laboratory was installed essentially for foreign language instruction, but can be utilized very effectively for teaching other subjects. Carroll Tatom, superintendent of schools, said. For instance, the lab can be used for instruction in shorthand. There really is no known limit to the effective use of the lab, the superintendent said, and it is expected that teachers will eventually use the facilities in ways not now dreamed of.

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON

Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C. —Several years ago The Supreme Court ruled that the Federal Government has the power to control that to which it contributes.

On this foundation the States and Cities have been nudged along for many years by the carrot and stick method to comply with Federal regulations in connection with Federal aid. Today the delectable carrot has greatly diminished and the stick gets bigger and longer all the time.

In one field after another the lure of "Federal money" becomes overwhelming. —Two things make it virtually impossible for local governing bodies to spurn a Federal grant. The first is that sources of tax revenue have been dried up. The second is that it becomes politically impossible to refuse it. State and local budgets are heavily dependent upon money channeled out of Washington. In many instances, it would be little short of catastrophic if Federal funds were not involved for support.

The prediction of conservatives in Government that "Federal aid means Federal control" has long come to pass. The Highway Beautification Program is a case in point. It was first tried by the voluntary approach. It didn't work. Now it is a condition that States receiving Federal highway grants must institute control over outdoor advertising along interstate routes. Existing signs have to be removed by July 1, 1970. Generally, the same rules apply to junkyards. The same is true with Federal funds for landscaping. At first the States were permitted to use 3 percent of their Federal aid funds for beautification but most put the money to other priority demands. After this, the requirement was made that 3 percent must be devoted to natural beauty to receive funds.

Southern States are feeling the lash in the matter of Federal funds for education. The threat is now on to withhold counties in several Southern States, if they fail to comply with desegregation guidelines laid down from Washington. It is largely applicable to those areas which need it most. The same pattern emerges in the many other programs of Federal grants for urban renewal, public housing, public health assistance and in fact all activities in which Federal money is involved.

The official policy has been laid down in this language: "The Federal Government can not and should not require the communities... to cooperate against their will in the solution of their problems." Then comes the catch—"but we can offer incentives..." The incentive, of course, is that if local officials do not follow directions, the carrot will be jerked back and the stick held high.

In the beginning controls were more gently applied. There continues to be considerable finesse in directions to the local administration of programs but the time finally comes when the Federal whip is cracked to get compliance.

The use of bloc grants to states to be used under State control is shaping up in the Congress. One approach is to send back to the States a proportionate share of the revenues collected from them by the Federal Government. Presumably, this is to get away from Federal controls and certainly it would lessen them. Should such be done, a fight will develop on the formula for grants, should it be on the percentage of taxes collected, on the basis of population, on the basis of need or a combination of all.

A good question to ask at the beginning of such consideration is why collect taxes for this purpose in the first place. Would it not make more sense to release Washington's tax bite and let local and State Governments make their own levy to produce funds for purposes of their own determination.

Federal planners and advocates of "Washington knows best" say no. They say that local people will not tax themselves for benefits due the full population. They contend that local officials are politically impotent to levy and collect taxes for local needs. Therefore, the Federal Government must do it for them, they say. It is the theory that only the Central

Press Edwards
Died Saturday
Of Heart Attack

Ira Preston (Press) Edwards, 70, died at Winters Municipal Hospital at 6:45 p. m. Saturday. He suffered a heart attack at his home Friday evening.

Funeral services were held Monday at 3 p. m. at Spill Memorial Chapel with Dr. Charles H. Cole, retired Methodist minister of McGregor, officiating. Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery under direction of Spill Funeral Home.

Pallbearers were Tab Hatler, Bill Graham, Bernice Gardner, Jim Williams, Truett Bentley, and A. N. Crowley.

Ira Preston Edwards was born at Iron Station, North Carolina, August 17, 1898. At the age of 8 he came with his family to Texas, settling at Winters where he had made his home for the past 62 years.

For several years Mr. Edwards was in the automobile and implement business, later spending his entire time as a stock farmer.

He married the former Gertrude Wilson at Winters August 13, 1930.

He was a member of the First Methodist Church.

Survivors are his wife; one daughter, Mrs. Thomas H. Rougas of Winters; two brothers, G. A. Edwards of Wolfforth, and H. M. Edwards of Abilene; six sisters, Mrs. Grover Claire of Abilene, Mrs. H. G. Third of Rural
Face Poverty

College Station—More than a third of all rural southerners will face poverty in some degree during retirement, predicts a recent five-state research report.

"The survey indicates that the public should act to solve some of the human issues involved in rural retirement," says Dr. Alice Stubbs, head of the home economics department of the Texas Agricultural Experiment Station.

Some of these issues are substandard housing and the social adversities of rural isolation, she said.

The research was conducted by cooperative experiment stations in Alabama, Florida, Tennessee, Georgia, and Texas. Dr. H. O. Kundel, dean of Texas A&M's College of Agriculture, served the project as administrative advisor.

The research was to find how rural families were preparing economically for old age. Results showed that at least 1.5 million rural families in the five states will eventually receive annual retirement incomes of less than $75 a month for a family of two persons. This will come from Social Security and Welfare.

The study also showed that pre-retirement family incomes relate directly to economic expectations for retirement. In general, most Negroes and many whites reported their annual incomes were less than $3,000. For white the monthly retirement incomes was estimated at $165 and $81 for Negroes.

People are aware of their need for money income and medical care in older age, she said, but they are not aware of the need to prepare for using their increased leisure time.

Government knows the need and can establish the proper priority.

Con Men Trick
Elderly Citizens

Fast-talking con men have taken sizable sums of money from small town elderly, according to Minnie Bell, Extension family life specialist for the aging.

Persons encountering suspicious characters should notify local officers at once, says the specialist at Texas A&M.

The con man and a well-dressed male companion pose as relatives to their victim. They ask to borrow funds to pay for car repairs so they can get to the bank to repay the money, Miss Bell explains.

As soon as the "relatives" receive the money, they disappear.

Computer Will Aid In Registration Of Texas Vehicles

The Chairman of the Texas Highway Commission and the Texas Public Safety Commission have issued a joint appeal to motor vehicle owners to be sure they have their vehicles registered properly as required by State law.

J. H. Kultgen of Waco, Chairman of the Highway Commission, and Clifford Cassidy Jr. of Dallas, Chairman of the Public Safety Commission, said computerization of all vehicle registrations in the Highway Department being completed now, will make enforcement of this law by highway patrolmen much swifter.

"Many motorists, knowingly or unknowingly, have their vehicles registered illegally in counties other than where they reside, and others who live in cities show only a Post Office box number instead of their residence address, as required," Kultgen said.

"Through the efforts of the Texas Automobile Dealers Association, many dealers have offered their cooperation in urging vehicle purchasers to register their vehicles in accordance with the law."

Cassidy said computerization of registration records in the Highway Department will be of significant help in enforcement of the registration law, because of the speed with which a patrolman can determine whether a vehicle is legally registered. "For example," Cassidy said, "one of our Highway Patrolmen who stops a vehicle can learn by radio within a very few minutes how it is registered and compare it with the owner's address."

"This information will be immediately available from the computer at the Highway Department in Austin, and the patrolman can obtain it through the Department of Public Safety communications system very quickly."

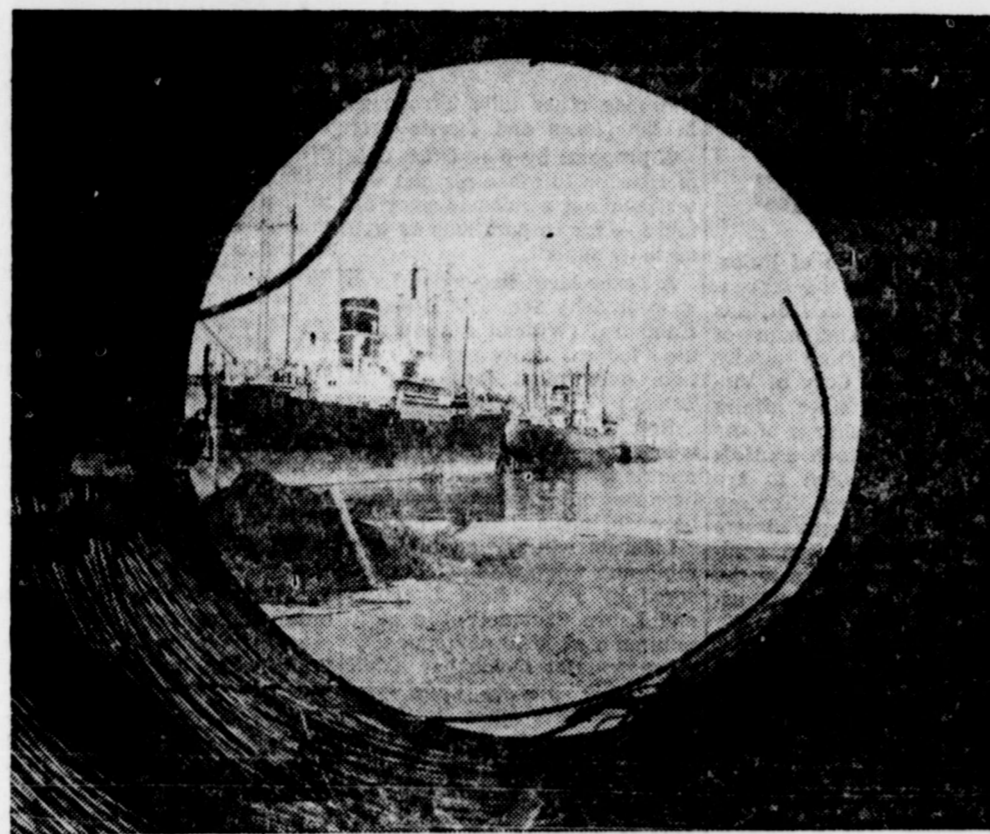

Cassidy said the computerization of the vehicle registration records also will be invaluable in criminal law enforcement work, pointing out that in the majority of crimes committed the criminal uses an automobile in one way or another.

Kultgen said the modern system of record-keeping will be of considerable convenience to the individual motorist next year when he has to obtain new license plates for his vehicle.

"Instead of having to wait in long lines while clerks laboriously type the needed information, he will be prepared in advance with a pre-prepared form containing such information which he simply will present when he pays his registration fee," he said.

Kultgen reminded that the period for registering vehicles is from February 1 through April 1, and urged motorists to be sure they are registered correctly and legally so as to avoid penalty under the law.

Sen. David Ratliff Favors Teacher Pay Raise

Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford has reported in favor of a $206 million public school teacher pay raise, along with a majority of State Senators.

"I'm for it but I didn't get a chance to be one of the co-authors of the bill before Sen. A. M. Aikin Jr. of Paris introduced it," Sen. Ratliff said.

Sixteen of the 31 senators went on record Monday of this week and signed the proposal that would give school teachers a 5 percent boost each year for 10 years, plus 10 percent cost of living increases in 1974 and 1975.

Proposed by the Texas State Teachers Association, the measure calls for higher teaching salaries than suggested by the recent report of the Governor's Committee on Public School Education.

The diversion was conducted by Mrs. C. S. Jackson using jumbled words from the Bible on various subjects. She also gave the closing prayer.

A Valentine theme was used and refreshments were open-face sandwiches, pecan pie, coffee and hot tea.

Present were Mesdames J. S. Bourn, Claude Carwile, Sam Coke, C. S. Jackson, W. H. Kornegay, Bill Mayo, C. O. Rodgers, J. R. Smith, H. P. Witkowski, T. A. Worthington and Miss Eunice Polk.

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

By Babson's Reports, Inc.

Unlike most other metals, demand for silver is two-fold: (1) for artistic and industrial uses; and (2) as a hedge against possible currency devaluation. At times silver prices will be influenced more by monetary conditions (and the price of gold) than by silver's industrial demand-supply status.

In recent months the price of silver has declined rather sharply. Nevertheless, it still remains well above the official "pegged" price which existed prior to mid-1967. Over the near term, the price of silver is expected to be dominated by international monetary developments. Looking further ahead, prices for the metal appear destined to reach new highs within the next few years.

Silver As An Industrial Commodity

The consumption of silver by industry and the arts (excluding coinage) throughout the world has increased dramatically in recent years—from approximately 187 million ounces in 1968 to 351 million in 1969. The rise in silver prices, however, has caused industrial consumers to seek substitutes.

Hence, Babson's Reports feels that some reduction in silver use is possible, and that U. S. consumption in the current year could show a modest decline from last year's estimated 145 million ounces. Nevertheless, because silver's unique physical qualities, efforts at substitution have yet to make any significant headway. Furthermore, rising industrial use of silver in many areas of the world indicates that total demand will increase over coming years.

Appeal As a Hedge Commodity

Silver's continued appeal as a hedge commodity throughout the Free World has been dramatically illustrated during the past 18 months. Although, statistically, there has been an ample supply of silver, its price has been greatly influenced by attitudes on world currencies, and it has fluctuated widely.

During times of currency crisis, demand has surged; while periods of monetary tranquility have induced selling. In the coming months, international monetary conditions will dominate the course of silver's price. Barring a new currency crisis, the Babson staff expects the price to fluctuate in a relatively narrow range.

The Production-Consumption Gap

It is estimated that the world mine production of silver was 213 million ounces in 1967, while total consumption (world-wide) equaled 430 million ounces. Thus the year resulted in a production-consumption gap of 217 million ounces. In addition, it is estimated that 120 million ounces were added to private stocks, thus increasing the gap still further. The gap between mine production and consumption will continue for the foreseeable future, and increased mining activity will be needed to bolster supplies. Mine output, however, will show a marked rise only in the aftermath of higher silver prices.

Other Sources of Supply

Mining, of course, is not the only source of silver. Most important are sales by the U. S. Treasury and smuggled sales out of India. Other sources in-

Game Violation Fines Are Highest Ever

Austin — The $53,133.18 received by the State of Texas in December for game, fish, and water safety violations is the most the State has ever received in any month, according to J. B. Phillips, law enforcement coordinator for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The 1,694 citations issued by game management officers in December 1968, represents a 49 per cent increase over the 1,136 citations issued for the same period the year before.

Of the 1,694 hunting citations written in December, 175 were for hunting at night, 118 were for possessing an untagged deer, 95 were for no hunting license, and 88 were for killing or possessing a deer in closed season.

There were 177 fishing violations in December, 159 of these being "no fishing license."

Commercial fishing violations totaled 25, water safety violations totaled 92, and miscellaneous violations totaled three.

Disposition of other cases include: juvenile, 54; dismissed, 74; served time in jail, one; fine suspended, seven; transferred to lower court, one; not guilty, seven.

include: Demonetized silver coins, salvage, and sales by other governments. But such supplies will not last indefinitely and could prove shortlived.

Consequently, it appears that in a few years the deficit in silver production must be met by increased mine production, which can be induced only by higher silver prices. Furthermore, any official increase in the price of gold, as a solution to the world's monetary problems, will exert substantial upward pressure on the price of silver.

Investment in Silver

Silver stocks represent an attractive holding as a hedge against possible currency revaluation and as a long-term commitment based on anticipated future earning power. Currently, it is the opinion of the Babson's Reports staff that the common stocks of Hecla Mining Co. and Sunshine Mining Co. may be purchased for participation in the future of silver.

HIGHEST RANKING member of the White House staff is Dr. Arthur F. Burns, who will hold cabinet rank and will head a small group whose prime responsibility will be coordinating the development of President Nixon's domestic policies and programs. Burns, 64, a professor at Columbia University, was chief economic adviser to former President Dwight D. Eisenhower and was a close adviser to Nixon during his presidential campaign.

—it's the biggest producer, supplying areas throughout the country all year round.

Aiding this cross-country commerce in apples are daily reports of the federal-state market news service. This service, administered by the U. S. Department of Agriculture in cooperation with state agencies, provides up-to-the minute market information throughout the country on most agricultural products.

The fruit and vegetable market news service, operated by USDA's Consumer and Marketing Service, maintains offices collect and analyze information on prices, supplies and market conditions, so producers, shippers, wholesale and chainstore buyers, retailers and others can have an unbiased account of the market situation on apples—and an equal chance in bargaining on supplies and prices.

Apple marketing is a year-round business because cold storage and the newer controlled atmosphere storage facilities let packers and shippers hold supplies of apples for months after harvest. So you find apples at your grocer's just about all the time. Another nice thing about CA storage — it delays ripening of the apples. So when you get them, they're just about like the freshly picked fruit.

Record Deer Hunt For Texans In '68

Texas hunters this year had the best season ever on record, according to estimates just released by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

They killed 280,037 deer, including 10,189 mule deer, and 24,847 turkeys this year compared with the second best kill in 1966 of 271,599 deer and 18,410 turkeys.

Last year, hunters killed 10,395 turkeys and 239,017 deer. These figures are estimates based on field reports of Department game management officers.

Department biologists attribute the high kill to a large deer population resulting from a plentiful food supply and ideal conditions for reproduction. Deer in all parts of the State were in excellent condition.

Hunting at times was slow in some areas due to heavy foliage—the result of the same ideal conditions which made the deer populations high. Census studies made before the season started indicated both high populations and excellent antler growth.

Although the kill was down from last year in some counties, other counties had substantial increases.

The highest deer kill for any one county was in Llano County with 13,000. Other counties with representative deer kills in the different ecological areas of the State are: Brewster, 5,200; Colorado, 4,800; Bandera, 6,500; Palo Pinto, 3,259; Webb, 3,500; and Gillespie, 12,000.

Standards Brighten Future For Bonded Fabrics:

When bonded fabrics came to the market a few years ago, they presented many problems.

Dry Cleaners got complaints on separation of fabrics which were bonded together. Problems of puckering, bubbling and peeling resulted.

Manufacturers of bonded fabrics now are setting standards for performance in bond and wear as well as performance in washing and dry cleaning. Trade associations are helping set up tests and product specifications. The bonded fabric standards are:

Must hold up under a reasonable number of washing and/or dry cleanings.

Won't shrink beyond a certain acceptable limit.

Won't crack, peel, pucker or bubble.

Will retain drape and ability to breathe.

Won't stiffen or absorb odor.

Will resist discoloration.

The Researchers predict that these industry standards can be expected to upgrade the quality of bonded fabrics. These higher standards may mean the biggest future for bonded fabrics is in untapped fields—men's wear, home furnishings and industrial goods.

Apples at Local Markets:

Ever stopped to wonder about the vast array of apples that fill the bins at your local market? Depending on your location, they may be shipped from the Northwest, the Midwest or the far West.

Traveling over snowy mountain roads in Appalachia, trucks filled with freshly packed apples make their way to Little Rock, Kansas City, Shreveport — as far west as San Antonio.

People in the far West, however, get most of their apples from Washington and Oregon, New York State and New England blanket the northeastern area, and Michigan is the biggest source in the Midwest.

However, apples from all these areas, and other states as well, are making cross-country trips throughout the year. So, if you're in New Orleans, you might get Michigan apples in April and if you are in Dallas, the apple you buy in August might come from North Carolina.

If you're not sure where that apple you're eating is from, better guess Washington State

Texas Law May Affect Payers of U. S. Income Tax

Community property can affect taxpayers in a community property state such as Texas, according to James Mallett, Extension farm management specialist at Texas A&M University. Texas taxpayers may find it advantageous to file separate returns.

In Texas, all income received by married taxpayers is considered to be community income and each taxpayer is responsible for one-half of the total. Taxpayers who are divorced during the tax year must report one-half of the community property income acquired prior to the divorce and all the separate income received after the divorce. Taxpayers who married during the tax year may elect to file joint or separate returns, as can those married in a prior year.

Capital loss deductions are limited to the smaller of $1,000 or the combined taxable income on joint returns in a community property state. However, a husband and wife living in a community property state may file separate returns and both claim a capital loss deduction up to $1,000 or their taxable income, whichever is smaller, Mallett noted.

Income in a community property state may work against the taxpayer in some cases such as retirement income credit. If one spouse is over 65, he is eligible for retirement income credit. If the other spouse is still earning income, half the earned income is taxable to each taxpayer and thus the earned income may cancel any retirement income credit.

If the individual has circumstances that may be affected by the Community Property laws, write the District Director of the Internal Revenue Service for an explanation or for a copy of IRS Document 512, Community Property, suggests Mallett.

A real home is the shelter from the storms of life, a place to enjoy, a place in which to relax, a place of peace and rest.

"ROSEMARY'S BABY" stars Mia Farrow and John Cassavetes. This trip into the unknown shows Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre. A Paramount Picture in Technicolor.

"ROSEMARY'S BABY" Those who think they may have seen the ultimate in off-beat motion pictures will revise their sights upward with the release of Paramount producer William Castle's "Rosemary's Baby."

The film, loaded with top talent both before and behind the Technicolor cameras, is like nothing anyone has ever seen because nothing remotely resembling it has ever been made before.

Starring Mia Farrow, John Cassavetes, Ruth Gordon, Sidney Blackmer, Maurice Evans and Ralph Bellamy, it is the film version of Ira Levin's best-selling novel which Roman Polanski directs from his own screenplay.

So impressed was he with "ROSEMARY'S BABY" showing Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre that William Castle, master of the eerie and spine-tingling in film making, bought the book in galley-proof form three weeks before its publication by Random House in April, 1967. Wisely,

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

My mother was a native of Arkansas, and she used some pretty salty expressions to describe people. When a neighbor girl married a ne'er-do-well, mama said, "She ought to have had more sense! That boy is not worth his salt!"

Mama knew that a boy "not worth his salt" was mighty sorry, but I daresay she did not know why she used this expression.

Through the centuries, just about everything has been used for money. The Indians carved beads out of shells and called their "money" wampum. Cattle, used in its broad meaning of all farm animals, have been used for money, and they are still sometimes "traded."

Julius Caesar knew that his soldiers could not fight well in battle unless they had plenty of salt in their diet but, unfortunately, this food item was fairly expensive at that time, so he paid his soldiers "salarium," meaning "wages to buy salt with."

From "salarium" we get the modern word, "salary," to mean wages earned. When mama said that someone was "not worth his salt," she meant that he was not worth the salary that someone paid him.

he decided that Roman Polanski, who was to direct it, should also write its screenplay.

New Look In 1969 Furnishings

College Station—Fashion emphasis in 1969 home furnishings will reflect a new Fluid Look, says Extension housing specialist Jane Berry. Fluid Look is making its market debut in the designs of fabrics for draperies and upholstery and in floor coverings.

The new look is flowing and soft with movement in color, texture, pattern and design. The look avoids the tight or static appearance of bold geometric designs, says the specialist for Texas A&M University.

The Fluid Look designs can be just as bold as the wildest geometric, but they are freer and looser in feeling.

Mrs. Berry explains that designers have discovered that at least one large scale flowing design to combine with tight, small scale geometrics gives the best effect.

The specialist expects the new Fluid Look to excite home furnishings markets in all textile furnishings, but especially in floor coverings.

Frances Kay Gardner, Charles Lee Hamlin Recite Wedding Vows Sat.

Wedding vows were recited by Miss Frances Kay Gardner and Charles Lee Hamlin, February 1, at 3 o'clock in the afternoon, at the College Baptist Church at Big Spring, as the Rev. Byron Orand performed a double ring ceremony before an altar arrangement of white gladioli.

Parents of the couple are Mr. and Mrs. E. Y. Buckner, Big Spring and Mr. and Mrs. Gene Hamlin of Ruidoso, New Mexico. Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Gardner, Winters, are grandparents of the bride.

Mrs. James Packer of El Paso, sister of the bride, played traditional wedding selections at the piano.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, was attired in a white lustrous knit dress designed with an Empire bodice and accented with a self belt forming a bow in front. She wore a single strand of pearls, gift of the groom, and her brief veil was attached to a satin bow headpiece. Her bouquet of gardenias and feathered carnations was carried atop a white Bible.

Miss Diane Buckner of Dallas, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. She chose a brown and blue dress and carried a nosegay of yellow carnations.

Patti Packer, the bride's niece served as ring bearer. Mr. Hamlin was his son's best man, and ushers were Mickey and Larry Gammons.

A reception was held for members of the families in the Patio Room at Holiday Inn. The refreshment table was laid with a white satin cloth and centered with the maid of honor's bouquet. The three tiered cake was decorated with yellow confection roses and topped with a miniature bridal couple. Crystal and silver appointments completed the setting.

Mrs. Packer presided at the guest register, and others in the house party were Mrs. Kenney Shipman and Miss Penny Shipman, both of Austin; Mrs. Don Sheffield, Lubbock; and Miss Linda Hamlin of Dallas, sister of the bridegroom.

The bride is a graduate of Big Spring High School, where she was sweetheart of the Band, and attended North Texas State University and Howard County Junior College. The bridegroom graduated from BSHS and is employed by Ruidoso Printing Company.

The couple will be at home in Ruidoso. Among the out of town guests were Mr. and Mrs. F. D. Gardner and Mrs. T. V. Jennings of Winters and Mr. and Mrs. C. O. Gardner of Corpus Christi.

Rural Water And Sewer Systems Projects of FHA

Nearly 570 rural Runnels County residents are now benefiting from community water and/or sewer systems financed by the Farmers Home Administration, according to Foy I. Brown, county supervisor.

"Lack of clean, fresh water and proper sewage disposal facilities is an age-old problem not yet solved in many Texas rural communities. However, our rural water and sewer financing program is helping to close the gap between rural and urban utility services," Brown said.

Texas now has in operation 466 rural water systems and 11 rural sewer projects financed by the Farmers Home Administration. These systems serve over 257,000 rural and small town residents. There are 93 water and/or sewer projects under construction which, when completed, will serve an additional 53,000 rural people.

Banks, insurance companies, and other private lenders loaned about 90 percent of the funds used in this program last fiscal year, it was reported. The FHA insures repayment to private lenders and makes direct loans when private sources of credit are not available to applicants.

Brown pointed out that rural water and sewer projects are organized through local initiative of prospective users in the community. Loans are repaid from the earnings of the system during periods of up to 40 years.

23 Conservation Plans Approved By Runnels SCS

For the past six months period, the Board of Supervisors of Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District approved 23 conservation plans submitted by landowners throughout the district on 7,100 acres, according to Woodrow Hoffman of the Soil Conservation Service.

Hoffman said the landowners used the technical help available from the local SCS to develop their conservation plans. For the same six months period, 37 farmers and ranch men developed complete conservation plans for their entire farms or ranches on 11,500 acres, and 25 others revised their conservation plans on 18,900 acres.

Hoffman said that no "Great Plains Conservation Program" contracts were signed with local landowners for this period because of the lack of cost-share funds for this program. But he said since January 1, limited funds have become available and some contracts are being executed under the GPCP.

A total of 127 district cooperators for this period, he said, applied one or more conservation practices, and the SCS furnished technical assistance to 199 operators one or more times. Some 55 miles of the popular parallel terraces were built for this period. These are the terraces that eliminate from 50 to 75 percent of the point rows over the regular terraces that are on the contour.

The finals proved more testing Saturday afternoon when the Winters 9th graders met Miles' B team. Miles led after the first quarter, but their glory was short lived. The Blizzards came roaring in to take a 23-18 halftime lead and won the game 45-38. Jimmy Sims again led with 14, followed by Billy Ray Grant with 10, and William Russell with 9.

The Freshmen's latest victory came Monday night with a narrow 40-40 win over San Angelo Lakewood. The Winters have trailed at half by 6 points but made their chance for the win. Jimmy Sims tossed in 21 with Billy Ray Grant and Brooks adding 9 and 8 respectively.

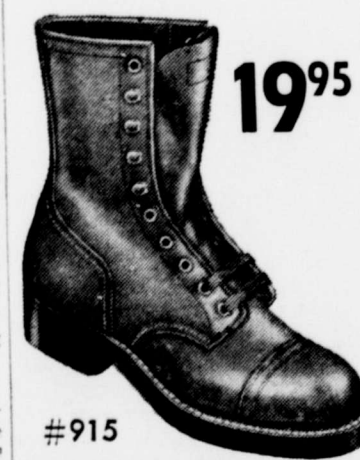

The Freshmen now stand 5-7 for the year with two games remaining. They travel to Abilene Thursday for their toughest foe of the year, the Bisons of Madison.
