HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Governor Preston Smith has designated the week of February 16-22, 1969, as "Future Farmers of America Week" in Texas.

The Future Farmers of America organization is in its 40th year in Texas. There are over 48,000 members studying vocational agriculture in 969 high schools in Texas. In Winters, there are about 45 members of the FFA chapter which received the first charter in the State of Texas.

In these vocational agriculture classes, students are provided an opportunity to secure technical and scientific training in all phases of agriculture as well as to receive training in leadership, citizenship, and co-operation.

Texas membership has grown from 28,643 in 1950 to over 48,000 in 1969. In a study conducted by George Hurt, State Director of Vocational Agriculture, it was found that over sixty percent of the vocational agriculture students who graduate from high school and are available for employment are employed in full-time farming or in agricultural related occupations.

The theme this year is "FFA — An Opportunity For Youth" and it certainly is. The FFA supports and supplements training for those involved in production agriculture as well as those processing and distributing agriculture products. Many people are employed in agricultural occupations such as engineers, scientists, management personnel, sales and service personnel and educators. FFA training lends support to those providing these services for agriculture. Also, there are over 60,000 desirable openings each year for farm operators, farm engineers and full-time hired farm labor.

Vocational agriculture and the FFA are striving to provide a sound and a continuing education to help produce the leaders and work force so sorely needed in our nation's agriculture industry.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, commenting on FFA Week, said, "A young man's education in this sophisticated age involves much more than absorbing facts from textbooks. The knowledge gained from books is of high importance, to be sure, but just as necessary in today's learning process is the development of individual character, moral fiber, and self-confidence required for active participation in modern society."

"It could be called leadership training. There are now 48,000 young men of Texas who are getting an excellent basic education in leadership through the programs of vocational agriculture in our public schools and by participation in the Future Farmers of America.

"Many school activities provide a certain amount of opportunity for personal achievement. However, the Future Farmers of America is an area unto itself as a means of building personal responsibility, character, integrity, and the other qualities so necessary to effective leadership.

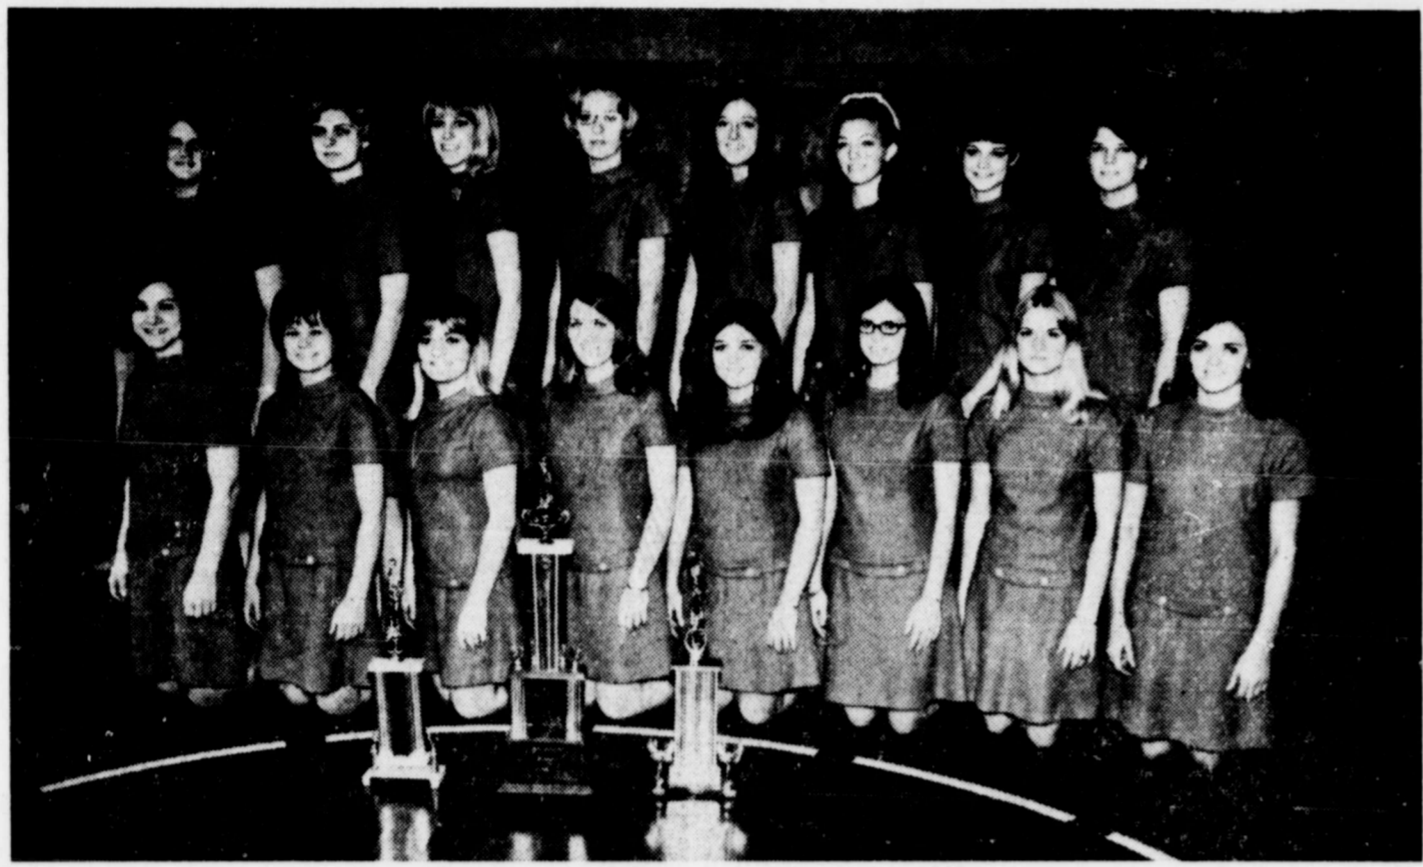

"Every youth who takes part in FFA activities learns the satisfaction of a job well done, whether it is a dollars-and-cents profit on his project books or a blue ribbon in the show ring. He learns to accept honor with humility and grace. But also, certain to face failure at one time or another, he learns to accept defeat with dignity and renewed effort.

"These are valuable lessons for life and for leadership. They are lessons that build strong citizens and prepare them for roles of responsibility in their communities, their state, and their nation.

"Since the future of Texas, the United States, or any land always depends on the values adopted by its youth, we must continually seek to bring out the

Winters Housing Authority Receives HUD Money For Preliminary Planning

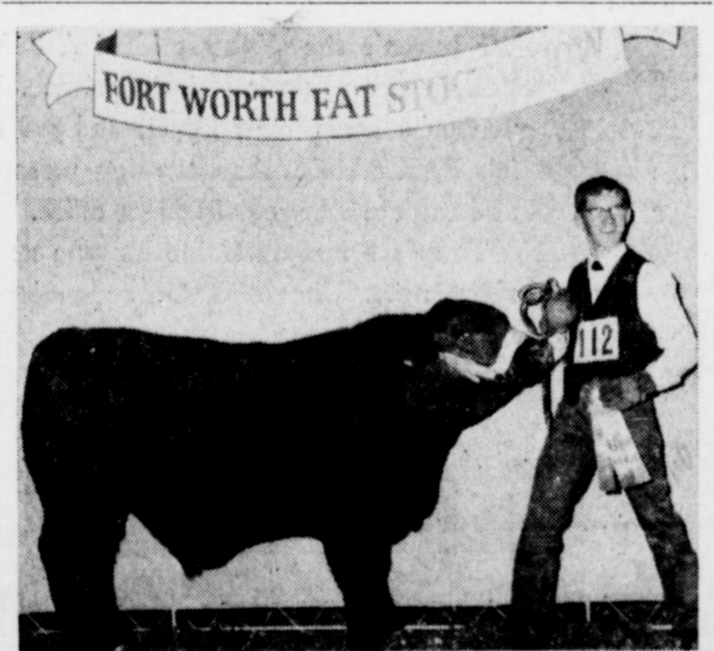

The Winters Housing Authority this week received $2,760 from the Department of Housing and Urban Development, to be used in preliminary planning for a proposed housing project in Winters.

The money will be used to provide clerical assistance during the first phases of planning a housing project. B. J. (Jake) Joyce, chairman of the Authority, said. Application has been made for a total of $18,400 to be used for architects' plans and other costs incidental to final planning and approval of a housing project here. It is understood that this sum has been approved by HUD.

The Winters Housing Authority is studying plans for 46 low-cost housing units, 30 of which will be specifically for elderly persons, and 16 for low-income families.

There is no way of knowing, according to members of the Authority, when such a project will receive final approval, or what type of grants and/or loans can be obtained for the actual construction.

Members of the Housing Authority board are Joyce, Ralph Lloyd, J. P. Dry, Ted Meyer, and Gattis Neely. Buford Baldwin, City Secretary, is acting secretary for the board.

The Sub Deb Club will conduct a balloon blockade in Winters, to help in the drive.

Mrs. W. W. Wheat is chairman of the Wingers area, and will be assisted by persons to be announced later.

31 Businesses Interested In Education Co-Op

Thirty-one retail businesses in Winters have expressed an interest in cooperating with the Winters schools in a Distributive Education program, it was announced this week.

A survey team from Angelo State College recently made a survey of 41 of Winters' businesses, to determine the number which would like to work with the school on such a program. It was revealed that the 31 who would be interested could help place 38 students in part-time work, helping in retail sales instruction and providing a minimum pay scale for students participating.

To inaugurate a program of this type would require a sign-up of at least 30 students, who would work an hour or two a day, be paid for their work, learn the retail sales field, and receive high school credits.

A survey will be taken in the near future to determine the interest in an industrial training phase of such a program.

Carroll Tatum, superintendent of schools, said the school is studying the results of the survey and probably will begin such a program if a sufficient number of students will sign up.

Farmers Union Holding Member Drive Feb. 17-19

Runnels County Farmers Union will conduct a membership drive February 17 through February 19, Bobby Rogers, president, has announced.

Present membership in the Runnels County unit is 182, Rogers said. A goal of 250 members has been set, and all farmers and ranchers will be contacted during the drive, he said.

Directors and leaders from each community will meet at the community room at the First National Bank in Ballinger at 9 a. m. each day during the drive.

Rogers said Farmers Union accepts membership only from commodity growers and landowners. The Union is sponsoring a seminar at Austin, February 19, with Governor Preston Smith, Lieutenant Governor Ben Barnes, and legislators, to express opposition to the recommendations of the Governor's Committee on Public Education. The Farmers Union also will work for passage of legislation to outlaw a wing corporation farming.

"Farmers Union is vitally interested in the effect which corporation farming would have on Runnels County agriculture and our communities," Rogers said. The problem of corporation farming will be given priority emphasis by Farmers Union under the Target Program adopted by the statewide farm organization at its recent state convention.

"We plan to set up a statewide and county task force on corporate agriculture to examine this serious problem and to measure its effect," Rogers said. "I hope that other farm organizations in Runnels County will join Runnels County Farmers Union in support of our state and national organization by getting involved in what might become the most important fight farmers and rural people will be facing in years to come.

We have evidence that Texas has been targeted for an invasion by the large corporations and many are already making large land acquisitions and financing heavily in cattle feeding. This activity, although not yet important in Runnels County could have a vital impact on our agriculture and communities," he said.

NOT MUCH OUCH! — The pneumatic gun which was used for injection of measles vaccine was so much different from the time-honored hypodermic needle and administered the vaccine so quickly that many of the children did not realize they had been "shot" until it was all over with, and many experienced little or no stinging pain. Raymond Lee Cathy, 4 (left), son of Mr. and Mrs. George C. Cathy of Wingate, and Wyman Burson, 11, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wyman C. Burson of Winters, were only two of 363 youngsters who received measles vaccinations Tuesday of last week in the Winters School cafeteria. Mrs. Fred Young, school nurse, is shown wielding the special gun. The vaccination program was sponsored by the Winters Lions Club, and was termed by John King, representing the State Department of Health, as a "highly successful step" in a statewide program aimed at eliminating measles in Texas children. BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

Personal Income

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass. Personal income increased by 9 per cent in 1968, substantially exceeding the 7 per cent rise of 1967. This was the largest relative gain in 17 years.

Pillar Of Economic Strength

The persistent climb of personal income has been one of the most consistently strong aspects of the long upturn in business. The Babson's Reports staff has noted in the past few years. Latest figures show December's rise greater than November's, but less than September's.

There have been some slowdowns in this barometer in recent years, but most of them have been due to labor strikes, or other factors such as the riots that occurred last spring. Even the 1967 mini-recession failed to stem the advance in personal income.

Salaries And Wages Set Pace

Primary factor in its sustained rise has been the strength in salaries and wages. This is the most important component of the personal income index. The uptrend in salaries and wages has accounted for about 70 per cent of the advance.

The extended business boom, which has kept employment high and the average factory work week over the 40-hour mark since January 1962, has contributed to the increase in wages and salaries. Another important factor has been the steady round of new wage hikes. In the past year, wage boosts averaged more than 18 cents an hour.

Other Components Add Impetus
Non-farm proprietors, including unincorporated businesses and professional groups (doctors, lawyers, and dentists), have also received higher incomes during this prosperous period. This reflects the steady inflation of the costs of services and the increasing importance and growth of the personal services sector of our economy.

The lesser components of personal income have also contributed to the climb of this index. Interest rates have been skyrocketing and, on a percentage basis, have made the advance in interest income the greatest of any component in the index. This rise has made investments in bonds more lucrative and has forced the upward trend of interest paid on savings accounts. Rental incomes have increased steadily, but dividend income shows an irregular advance.

Year-End Strength Well Distributed

The December-over-November rise in personal income can be related to the same factors which resulted in the growth for the year. Factory payroll increases were fairly evenly distributed over durable and non-durable lines. The advance in employment and higher wages contributed equally, while the average factory work week held steady.

A large increase in government payrolls was due primarily to the end of the teachers' strike in New York City and their return to work. The distributive industries (wholesale and retail trade), transportation, communications, and public utilities, however, posted smaller gains in December than in November. Farm income was stable. The non-wage components were up or stable, with dividends and rental income rising somewhat. Personal interest income and transfer payments (such as Social Security benefits) continued to trend higher.

Slower Growth Ahead

The Nixon Administration has moved to dampen inflation pressures. This should have a like effect on personal income. The projected personal income figure for 1969 calls for a 6 per cent rise, which is substantially less than the 9 per cent of 1968. In slowing down the inflationary economy the Administration may tolerate a moderate increase in unemployment. The "breadwinner" should not be greatly affected by this, but Babson's Reports looks for the teenager and the housewife out supplementing family income to feel the pinch. Overtime may be reduced, and there could be some reduction in the number of days worked.

The best reformers are those who commence on themselves. Nowadays he most astounding offer a sore can make is plenty of parking space.

Everything has its beauty but not everyone sees it.

Runnels TSTA Unit Plans Dinner Meet For Next Tuesday

The annual dinner meeting of the Runnels County Unit of Texas State Teachers Association will be held in the Bailing High School cafeteria Tuesday, February 18, at 7 p. m.

Dr. Rex Kiker of Abilene Christian College will be the featured speaker of the evening. A trio from the Bailing school will present a program of entertainment.

An executive meeting will be held at 6 p. m. in the Bailing High School building prior to the dinner meeting.

Baptist Youth Taking Part In 'Americas Crusade'

The young people of the Baptist churches of Runnels County are taking part in the "Crusade of the Americas," launched by twenty million Baptists in South, Central and North America in January, according to Tommy G. Seymore, Runnels Baptist Association Youth Director and Minister of Music and Youth at the First Baptist Church, Winters.

The Baptist churches of Runnels County are conducting religious surveys, enlargement campaigns, special prayer services and evangelistic services in this effort.

Milton Shelburne Installs Grassed Waterways, Norton

Milton Shelburne, of the Norton Community, installed a grassed waterway on his place near Norton, as a part of his conservation program which he developed in cooperation with the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District on his entire farm.

The waterway was designed by technicians of the Runnels County office of the Soil Conservation Service to carry excess water through cropland without causing erosion. Shelburne said he used a shredder to control weeds in his waterway until he could get it established to grass.

Glenn Green of the local Soil Conservation Service said waterways should be inspected after heavy rains for any damage and make any repairs if needed.

CARD OF THANKS

We are sincerely grateful to the friends and neighbors for their many kind acts of sympathy during our sad bereavement. A special thanks to the doctors and nurses at the hospital and to those who sent food, flowers and cards. We also wish to express our thanks to the friends who were so kind to her during her long illness and stay in the hospital. Our appreciation cannot be adequately expressed. —The Family of Mrs. Bernice (Scotty) Mitchell. 1tp

Local Athletes Visit the Pros In Dallas Sunday

What are the possibilities of a boy from Winters ever getting to meet people such as Bart Starr, Tom Landry, Bob Pettit, and many other champions of the sports world today?

Chances were good this past weekend as Coach Jerry Neely and 31 Winters High School athletes attended the "Weekend of Champions" in Dallas. The group was made up of boys in the local chapter of "The Fellowship of Christian Athletes," sponsored by Coach Neely.

The group left Saturday at noon, going to Dallas in cars driven by Lee Harrison, David Smith, James Gehrels, Bill Bean, George Davis and Coach Neely. The group stayed at the Richardson High School gym, which was used as a "home" during their stay in Dallas.

They saw the SMU-Arkansas basketball game in the SMU Coliseum, and on Sunday morning attended services at Highland Park Methodist Church. Services were conducted by Tom Landry and Pettit Norman of the Dallas Cowboys, and the featured speaker of the morning was Bart Starr of the Green Bay Packers.

Sunday afternoon the group, along with young athletes from throughout the State, attended the "Weekend for Champions" rally in Moody Coliseum at Southern Methodist University. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes gave the welcome address and talks were given by Tom Landry, Bobby Richardson of the New York Yankees, Bart Starr, Paul Anderson, and the featured speaker, former All-American and player for the Cleveland Browns, Bill Glass.

Others appearing on the program were Buddy Dial of the Dallas Cowboys and Dick Smith of the Redskins, who sang. The closing prayer was by Rex Kern who quarterbacked Ohio State to a national championship and a Rose Bowl Victory over Southern California this year.

Other stars introduced to the Christian Athletes were Craig Baynam of the Cowboys, Raymond Berry of the Cowboys, Carroll Dale of the Packers, Prentiss Gault of the Cardinals, Leroy Jordan of the Cowboys, John Mackey of the Colts, Bobby Mitchell of the Redskins, Don Perkins of the Cowboys, Don Shinnick of the Colts, Jerry Stovall of the Cardinals, and Jim Street of the University of Texas, and many others.

The group returned home Sunday night.

Marjorie Ruth Langston of Abilene And Johnie Clinton Wheeler Married

Wedding vows were repeated Saturday February 1, uniting Marjorie Ruth Langston of Abilene, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Langston of Wingate, and Johnie Clinton Wheeler. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Wheeler, also of Wingate.

The wedding ceremony took place in the chapel of Hickman's Nursing Home where the bride's grandmother lives. The single ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Hershel Thomas, pastor of the East Side Baptist Church in Abilene. A vase of white roses were used on the piano and yellow roses also decorated the chapel.

Best man was Huston Jones of Abilene.

The bride's only attendant was her sister, Brenda Langston of Wingate. She wore a yellow and white bonded lace dress with a bow of white headpiece with short veil attached. She carried a single white carnation with yellow streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white brocade featuring a chapel train. Her shoulder-length veil fell from a crown of pearls and she carried a white lace-covered Bible with yellow and white carnations and white ribbon streamers.

A reception hosted by the bride's parents was held in the dining hall. The bride's table, laid with crocheted cloth over yellow was centered with a bowl of yellow and white daisies. Cake and punch were served by Linda Parker of Abilene and Mrs. O. C. Selp of Robert Lee, sister of the groom.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C. — President Nixon is seemingly viewing the crime situation in Washington as high priority for action.

The District of Columbia is unique in that it is one of the few places where the Federal Government is directly responsible for law enforcement.

The President is asking for an increase of Federal Judges and prosecutors to speed up work. A crash program of recruiting more police is under way. The backlog of cases awaiting trial continues to mount. It is taking from seven to eight months at the present time to bring criminals to trial. Meanwhile, records show that a very high percentage of arrests are those under felony charges free on bail.

The two most important things in law enforcement are swift apprehension of the criminal and certain punishment for those who violate the law. But this will not get the job done completely. A change in the attitude of the courts and public officials toward more respect for law and its penalties is fundamental.

Not only in this country but all over the world, Washington is becoming known as the Nation's crime capital. Last week a London newspaper published the following: "It seems almost as if crime in Washington has become a sport. In a curious way that Londoners learned to live with the World War II blitz." One Metropolitan newspaper carries a daily "Crime Clock" listing the armed robberies for the preceding twenty-four-hour period and the time they occurred. A typical day listed sixteen robberies.

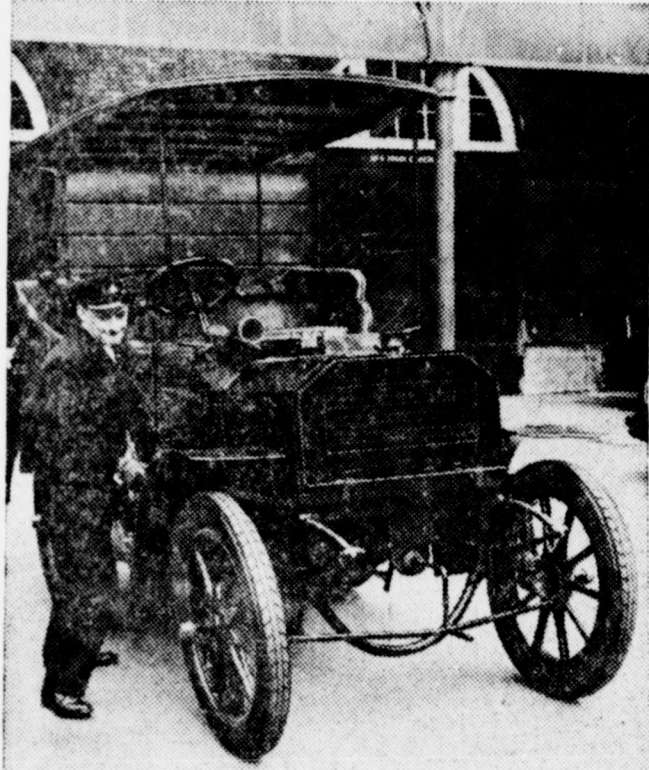

For the month of December 1968 there was recorded 629 holdups, more than double the number of December 1967.

Bank Robberies alone amounted to 102 in 1968. This averages out to nearly two a week. The opening weeks of January showed bank robberies occurring at the rate of one each banking day. This compares with 27 bank robberies in all of 1967. Bank robberies in other parts of the Country have remained about the same for 1968 as they were in 1967 and the previous year, which points up that Washington has become the holdup center of the Nation.

From December 1965 to the same period this last year, the number of holdups in Washington increased by 452 percent.

Many business houses in the Nation's Capital, especially those operated by women or a small work force, keep their doors locked in broad daylight and wait to identify customers before admitting them. In numerous holdups, the merchant or employee is shot without warning or provocation. They are killed while surrendering their money or property for no apparent reason.

For the fourth time on January 30, 1969, a bill which would come more nearly meeting this crisis was introduced. The following is a statement made on the Floor of the House of Representatives after the introduction:

"Mr. Burleson: Mr. Speaker, the comments of my distinguished colleague the gentleman from Florida (Mr. Sikes), reminds me that on three occasions before today I have introduced legislation which would more nearly meet the problem of controlling crime in the District of Columbia than any approach heard yet.

"On August 25, 1959, and February 26, 1963, and again on July 15, 1965, I introduced legislation which would enable the Metropolitan Police force to be augmented by military personnel. For the fourth time today, I am introducing the same or similar proposal.

"Mr. Speaker, if an adequate number of marines from nearby military installations were brought into Washington to assist in patrolling its crime-ridden streets, we would see an immediate decline in the disgraceful crime rate now besetting this Capital City which belongs to everyone.

"Now I know this is not the total answer. As indicated by others there must be measures taken to strengthen the system of law enforcement in the District of Columbia. Law-enforcement officers should not have to carry these punk criminals around on a feather pillow. It should be made known to the courts that they are expected to more promptly bring to trial those charged with crime.

"In addition, the disgraceful bail bond system and the release of repeater criminals should be no longer tolerated.

"Whatever it takes should be done to protect people and property in this City. It is time to resort to the most stringent action. Military personnel was brought in to assist in maintaining order during the recent Presidential inauguration. They have been used on other occasions and there is no sound constitutional reason why they cannot be used every day to assist in maintaining order if they can be used 1 day. The District of Columbia is a Federal City. It is not Little Rock or other cities where troops have been sent to maintain order. If this sort of action was justified, how much more critical it is to preserve the decency of our Nation's Capital.

"Mr. Speaker, I ask the committee to which this measure is referred to give early consideration to it. This City is in an emergency and will continue to be until drastic action is taken."

If Washington is unable to run a Federal City of ten miles square, it should not be trying to run so many other things in the rest of the Country.

Methodist Circle Held Meeting In Kelly Home Tues.

Bethany SS Class Monthly Business Meeting Tuesday

Valentine gave the theme for the regular monthly business and social meeting of the Bethany Sunday School Class of the First Baptist Church when they met in the home of Rev. and Mrs. J. S. Tierce, with Mrs. Tierce, teacher of the class, as hostess.

Mrs. Gene Virden opened the meeting with prayer and Mrs. Joe Irvin presided in the absence of the president. She also gave the devotional "To God Be The Glory."

YOUR REPRESENTATIVE IN AUSTIN

By REPRESENTATIVE LYNN NABERS

I was approached a few weeks ago about the possibility of sending in a weekly report to the newspapers of my district outlining and describing what was going on at the Sixty First Legislature in Austin. After giving the matter some thought I realized that this would certainly be a means of bringing the people in my district to a better understanding of what was taking place at their State Capitol. My decision was made and this column was begun with this thought in mind:

"We all need to have confidence in our State Government and our Public Institutions. This is sometimes hard, though, when the shades are pulled and there is no one around to open the door and give us an inside view of what really goes on there."

This task shall be the primary object of my column. I intend to discuss proposed legislation (much of which promises to be quite controversial), keep you up-to-date on all legislative action, and explain bills I plan to introduce.

And, as I proceed I truly hope that I, too, will hear from you. During my campaign I was told that for a man to amplify the still small voices throughout this district he needed a tender conscience, calloused hands, and the dedication to stick to a job until it was done. I believe this! But, a man must also be in touch with those he represents. So give me a hand—let me know what you think, and want, and need. I'm counting on it!

So much happened in the line of protocol the first three weeks that it may have seemed that very little legislative work was being done. This was not entirely true. The first order of business was to swear in all legislators, elect a Speaker of the House, designate a President Pro Temp of the Senate, pass resolutions, canvas the general election votes, and then swear in the new Governor and Lieutenant Governor. There were other time consuming matters such as assigning officers, hiring secretaries, requisitioning supplies, orientating newly elected legislators, adopting rules of procedure, and last minute work on bills to be introduced. Two of the highlights of this period were the addresses by the outgoing Governor John Connally and the newly elected Governor Preston Smith. And then, always, there was the necessary yet richly rewarding experiences of meeting and getting acquainted with our co-workers.

Time went quickly! Finally, however, the long-awaited day arrived when it was announced that Committee Assignments were ready. As we convened I don't mind telling you every legislator was a little anxious.

To say that I was "elated" with my assignments would be a gross understatement! I did not have to be told that my Committee Assignments were excellent because I was fully aware of their importance. My only regret was that I could not have also worked on the Agriculture and Livestock Committee. The fact that I will not be serving directly on this committee will not, however, hinder my introducing bills or working on specific problems.

I feel sure you are aware by now of what my Committee Assignments were but I want you to know also what each committee has jurisdiction over in the State.

STATE AFFAIRS:

Jurisdiction over (1) all questions and matters of State policy; (2) all matters relating to the administration of State government; (3) all matters relating to the organization, regulation and management of State departments and agencies; and (4) all proposals concerning the compensation and duties of officers of the State government.

CONSERVATION AND RECLAMATION:

Jurisdiction over (1) all matters relating to the conservation of the natural resources of the State; (2) all matters relating to the taking, storing, control and use of flood and surplus waters for irrigation; (3) all matters relating to the improvement of rivers, harbours and flood districts; (4) all matters relating to the incorporation, management and powers of irrigation companies and the drainage of lands; (5) all proposals to create or change water supply districts; water control, and improvement districts, conservation and reclamation districts and all similar organs of local government dealing with water; and (6) all matters relating to

Enough said for one column! I want to leave you, however, with one statistic. To date, I have received almost 1,000 letters concerning the Governor's Report on Education. Less than one per cent have been in favor of forced consolidation.

Ammunition Is Also Covered In Gun Control Law

Although there has been much publicity concerning the Federal Gun Control Act of 1968, most of it has been directed toward firearms per se, with little note on the restrictions covering ammunition for those firearms, according to local dealers. Thus, they say, many people have failed to realize that the law restricts the sale and purchase of most all types of ammunition.

It is no longer possible for just anyone to walk in and purchase ammunition for any type of firearm, as has been the case in the past. Sale of different types of ammunition are restricted to certain persons, according to age. However, in contrast to sale of firearms, dealers may sell ammunition to residents and non-residents alike.

Further, according to information received by dealers, they have broad grounds for refusal to sell ammunition, if they care to take advantage of them. For instance, according to information forwarded to dealers by organizations and associations, dealers "must not have reasonable cause to believe purchaser is — a fugitive from justice or under indictment for or has been convicted of a felony; a narcotics addict; unlawful user of marijuana or any depressant, stimulant or narcotic drug; an adjudged mental incompetent or has been committed to any mental institution." Thus, dealers point out, a dealer may use his own judgment in selling or refusing to sell ammunition to any customer.

A dealer who handles firearms and ammunition must obtain Federal licenses, paying an annual license fee of $10.00 per year for each location where he does business. He must be 21 years of age or over, and must not have been under indictment for or have been convicted of a crime punishable by imprisonment. There also are other restrictions covered in this "qualification for license" section of the statute.

Dealers must record name, age and residence of each purchaser and description of the firearms or ammunition sold, and must record receipt, shipment, sale or other disposition of firearms and ammunition as prescribed by Treasury Department regulations. Although local dealers have not received copies of Treasury Department regulations, it is expected that they will be quite extensive.

Licensed manufacturers, importers and dealers may sell or ship freely to each other if they have verified that receiver has valid license. For sale to unlicensed purchasers, dealers must be certain that ammunition for handguns is sold only to those persons 21 years old or over. Ammunition for rifles and shotguns may be sold to persons 18 or over. Ammunition includes "components consisting of cartridge cases, primers, bullets and propellant powder. Shot pellets are not considered a component." Thus, persons under 18 may not purchase ammunition for .22 caliber "target rifles" as has been permitted in the past.

Sale of firearms is further restricted. Age limit for rifles and shotguns is 18, and 21 for handguns. A residency requirement must also be met for the purchase of firearms. A dealer may not sell or deliver a handgun to any non-resident of the dealer's state, except under specific circumstances, which include the loan or rental of arms for temporary use for lawful sporting purposes. A dealer must not sell or deliver a rifle or shotgun to non-residents except under certain circumstances, which include: a resident of a contiguous state if that state permits such a sale or delivery, the sale complies with the legal conditions of sale in both states, and the seller and buyer comply with the affidavit, notice, and waiting period requirements of the statute. The sale of firearms to non-residents is permitted, however, if the buyer is hunting or participating in an organized shooting match in a state where the dealer's business is located, and whose rifle or shotgun has been lost, stolen, or becomes inoperative in that state, and who presents an affidavit stating that his gun was lost or stolen or became inoperative while hunting or participating in an organized shooting match, and identifying the chief law enforcement officer of his local residence so that the dealer can forward the statement by registered mail to that officer. Local dealers expect to receive further information and regulations covering the sale and purchase of firearms and ammunition in the near future.

Winners for TOPS Elected Officers At Meeting Monday

New officers were elected when the Winners For Tops club met Monday evening at the club den with Mrs. W. D. Williams presiding.

Mrs. Bill Millhorn was elected as leader. Mrs. Floyd Sims co-leader; Mrs. Woodrow Watts, secretary; Mrs. Bert Humble, weight recorder; Mrs. W. T. Colburn, treasurer; and Mrs. Charles Kruse and Mrs. Boyd Bedford, courtesy Committee.

Mrs. Charles Kruse was queen for the week.

Mrs. Bennie Graves who is moving to Abilene, was given a going-away party at the meeting.

Present were Mesdames Carl Pendergrass, W. T. Colburn, Floyd Sims, Charles Kruse, W. J. Briley, Bert Humble, Wes Hays, Boyd Bedford, W. D. Williams, Bennie Graves, and Charles Pinkerton.
