HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

The school administration, the principals, the teachers—and especially the students—were well pleased at the turnout during the open house at the schools Monday night, the beginning of Texas Public Schools Week. The number of visitors to the schools is thought to be a record, and is an indication of the interest local people take in their children and their schools.

For instance, George Beard, principal of the Elementary School—where there are 759 pupils registered—said 737 rooms in the school were open for visitation Monday night. Visitors were asked to register in each room they visited. Principal Beard said 760 parents registered during the open house. Even though there was some duplication of registration by parents visiting rooms of each child in the family, this was considered a very good turnout.

It is only natural, of course, for parents to be interested in the schools their children attend and the persuasion for them to visit the schools—especially in the elementary grades—is strong. But consider one other part of the report Principal Beard made: There were 488 visitor registrations by adults who have no children in school! No other comment is necessary.

Prison escapes usually involve a leader and a follower. It's because two can leave as cheaply as one.

Everyone makes mistakes—it's human. But the report of a series of errors in a small daily newspaper in another part of the country is ridiculous. For instance, this series of classified ads was started on a Monday with: "FOR SALE, R. D. Jones has 1 sewing machine for sale. Phone 958 after 7 p. m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with me cheap."

On Tuesday: "NOTICE: We regret having erred in R. D. Jones' ad yesterday. It should have read: One sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 958 after 7 p. m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him after 7 p. m."

On Wednesday: "R. D. Jones has informed us that he has received several annoying phone calls because of the error we made in his classified ad yesterday. His ad stands corrected as follows: FOR SALE: R. D. Jones has 1 sewing machine for sale. Cheap. Phone 958 after 7 p. m. and ask for Mrs. Kelly who lives with him."

Finally, on Thursday: "NOTICE: I, R. D. Jones, have no sewing machine for sale. I smashed it. Don't call 958 as the telephone has been taken out. I have not been carrying on with Mrs. Kelly. Until yesterday she was my housekeeper, but she quit."

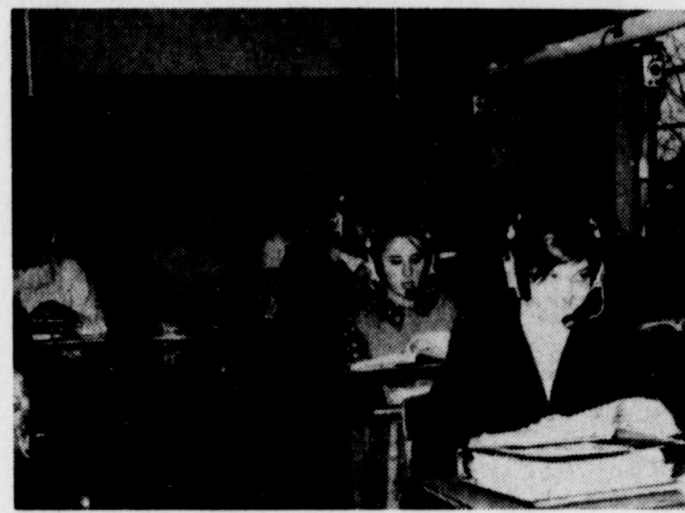

Academic freedom, the right to dissent and to express new ideas are very holy things around the world, and so they should be in this country. Some of the new revolutionaries and their followers should give a thought to the fact that if they ever win their revolution, they will probably be among the first victims of it.

People who rock the boat aren't looked upon with favor in communist dominated schools. This fact was made bluntly evident when the supreme commander of the communist invasion forces in Czechoslovakia became displeased with the point of view being presented in the nation's schools. To correct the situation, a letter was written to the Minister of Education stating that troops would be sent into the schools unless teachers adopted a more favorable attitude toward the Soviets.

Some of the more violent protesters on U. S. campuses would do well to examine more closely the merits of the establishment they seek to dismantle. After all, it has preserved their right to rock the boat for more than 200 years.

ELECTRONIC STUDY — Pat Hammonds, teacher of Spanish in Winters High School, sits at the control console of the new language lab which was recently installed in the school, while students wearing headphones listen to a tape recording of a Spanish language lesson. With this equipment, the instructor can teach as many as 24 students at one time, at eight separate levels of phases of instruction. There are four individual and independent booths provided with recording and playback tape equipment, in addition to 20 headphone sets. The console is equipped with a record player, two tape players-recorders, and provision for another tape deck. Cost of the installation was only $6,032, according to Carroll Tatom, superintendent of schools. (Staff Photo)

Six Candidates For School Board

Four more persons have filed as candidates for election to the board of trustee of Winters Independent School District, making a slate of six candidates for the three vacancies on the board.

The regular school board election will be held Saturday, April 5.

Two incumbent members of the board, Dr. C. T. Rives and M. E. Mathis, had previously filed for re-election.

Filing within the past few days have been:

—Mrs. Paul Michaelis, housewife, who lives west of Wingate.

Her husband is a stockfarmer. —Henry T. Webb, 58, farmer of Route 4, Winters.

—Andrew Englert, 42, farmer, Route 1, Winters.

—G. W. Sneed, 42, of Winters, manager of Mansell Bros. implement company in Winters.

John W. Norman, presently serving as president of the board, who has been a member of the board for several years, chose not to seek return to office.

Deadline for filing was 30 days prior to the day of the election.

Cafeteria Was Full For Winters Chamber of Commerce Banquet

A crowd of 238 attended the annual membership banquet of the Winters Chamber of Commerce in the school cafeteria Friday night to hear James L. (Curly) Hays of Abilene, principal speaker on "People," and to see the "Man of the Year" award presented to Ray Alderman.

Woodrow Watts, who took over as president of the chamber of commerce in January, was publicly recognized as he took over the office from retiring president R. C. Thomas, Watts is president of the Winters State Bank.

Thomas recognized retiring directors Dale Whitecotton, Marshall Wharton and Oscar Funderburg for what he called their all-important involvement with chamber of commerce and community affairs.

State Representative Lynn Nabers was a special guest for the annual affair.

B. J. (Jake) Joyce, principal of Winters High School, was master of Ceremonies, and introduced the speaker, and other guests.

Curly Hays spiced his address with anecdotes, and used as a main point, "In this country we all sleep where we want to—in the porch or the White House."

The ex-All-American football player and athletic official noted that the coming trend in industrial development and government concern is back toward the small community, and towns like Winters which are favored with good schools, attractive tax structures, and people.

Watts, as incoming president of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, introduced the members of the board of directors, and promised, "With your loyalty and spirit, I'll do my best toward making this a good year for the chamber of commerce and for Winters."

Incoming directors are James Cowlshaw, George M. Garrett,

Lions Club To Sponsor Polio Booster Day

It has been about five years since the Winters Lions Club sponsored a program to vaccinate everyone against polio. It is now time for those who received the initial vaccine to receive booster shots, Lee Harrison told members of the club Tuesday.

The Lions Club will work with the State Department of Health to set a date for the booster shots, and to arrange for the vaccine. It is anticipated that this will be done sometime near the first of April, Harrison said. A firm date will be established and announced within a few days, he said.

Harrison said that in addition to giving the booster, those who have never received the initial series of vaccine will be able to get them. Thus, he said, the date for the booster program would have to be set far enough ahead of the end of school that these individuals would be able to complete the series before school is out.

Comedy Cage Game To Benefit Rehab Center

A comedy basketball game, pitting the Winters school faculty against the Winters High School seniors, has been scheduled for Thursday night, March 13, at 7, in the high school gymnasium.

All proceeds from the game will go to the West Texas Rehabilitation Center in Abilene. The game is being sponsored by the 1969 Easter Seals campaign committee.

Admission charge will be 50 cents for adults and 25 cents for students.

The Winters Rifle Association will sponsor the concession stand.

City Council Accepts Civic Center Building

The Winters City Council has accepted from the contractors the new Community Center building, Buford Baldwin, city secretary, said this week.

Although the building itself is completed, there still is work to be done on the inside before it can be used, Baldwin said. Also, he said, tables and chairs and other furniture must be purchased before the center is ready.

A complete kitchen to handle large crowds is being completed by the City, it was said.

C-C Is Planning Salute To Local Industry On 17th

The Winters Chamber of Commerce is planning a special program for recognition of local industry on Monday, March 17, Woodrow Watts, president, announced this week.

The regular Third Monday Chamber of Commerce Luncheon scheduled for that date will be a special affair during which industrial enterprises will be recognized for their contributions to the economy and well-being of the community. Representatives of the several industrial concerns will be special guests at the luncheon.

The luncheon will be held at Huffman House.

Members of the board of directors of the chamber of commerce, in a regular meeting Tuesday, discussed and started planning for inauguration of a "greeter service" in Winters, to welcome newcomers.

President Watts also announced that plans are being made for a meeting of all chamber committee chairmen in the near future to discuss projects for the year. Committee chairmen will be notified of the date and place for the meeting, it was stated.

800 Attended Open House At Schools Monday

At least 800 persons visited Winters' schools Monday evening during the open house event beginning Public Schools Week. Carroll Tatom, superintendent of schools, said both the high school and the elementary school were popular places during the open house.

Prior to the classroom and department visitations, the Junior High School Band presented a concert in the gymnasium. More than 500 people attended this concert.

Council Employs Mrs. E. Z. Moore

Mrs. Ellis Zane Moore has been employed by the Winters City Council to work in the City Secretary's office at City Hall, it was announced following a called meeting of the Council last Thursday.

Mrs. Moore will replace Miss Eunice Polk, who will retire about May 1.

David Brown On Dean's List At Sam Houston

David Brown of Winters was named to the dean's list for the fall semester, 1968, at Sam Houston State College, Huntsville.

Bob Colburn, another senior student, will be Youth Training Union director and supervise the youth leadership in the Training Union of the church March 9 at 6 p. m.

Bruce Smith, a freshman, will deliver the evening sermon Sunday, March 9, at 7 p. m.

In conjunction with Youth Week, the Rummels Baptist Youth Association Rally will be held at First Baptist Church in Winters March 15 at 7:30 p. m. Young people of Rummels County will provide the entire program of music, testimonies and drama. Fellowship activities for the group will be led by James Gehrels in the old auditorium of the church. About 300 youths are expected to attend the Youth Rally. All young people of the area are invited.

Bill Baldwin Will Attend Boys State In Summer

Winters will be represented at the 1969 session of Texas American Legion Boys State, Carson Easterly, Commander of Roy Scoggins Post No. 261, of the American Legion, has announced.

Named to participate in this annual American Legion workshop in the organization and operation of state and local governments is Bill Baldwin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Buford Baldwin of Winters.

The 1969 Texas American Legion Boys State will be in session from June 7 to June 14, at the University of Texas, Commander Easterly said.

Departments of the American Legion will sponsor 51 of these boys States this summer. Two outstanding youths from each of the Boys States will go to American Legion Boys Nation in July in Washington, D. C., where they will study federal government organization and operation in much the same manner as the Boys State delegates participate in training in state government.

During the Boys State sessions, the Winters youth will participate in the organization of political parties, campaigns, elections, and the enactment and enforcement of their own laws within a mythical state.

"As one of the Legion's outstanding youth-training programs, Boys State affords these youngsters an opportunity to learn the functions of government," Commander Easterly said. "Also, they will see the importance of the role a good citizen has in discharging his citizenship responsibilities, and they soon discover how good government depends upon the active interest of every citizen."

Youth Week At First Baptist From March 9-16

Annual Youth Week will be observed at Winters First Baptist Church Sunday, March 9, through Sunday, March 16. Youths of the church, grades 7 to 12, will be in charge of all services including the instruction time in Sunday School, and for the Training Union.

Robert Moore, senior student at Winters High School, will be the Youth Pastor and officiate at every service delivering the sermon on Sunday, March 16 at 11 a. m. Bill Grantz, a junior, will be Youth Music Director and direct the music of each service, and will direct a special Wednesday night program on March 12 at 7:45.

Charles Mathis, a senior, will act as Sunday School superintendent on March 16 with about 50 young people under his direction working and teaching in the Sunday School.

Bob Colburn, another senior student, will be Youth Training Union director and supervise the youth leadership in the Training Union of the church March 9 at 6 p. m.

Bruce Smith, a freshman, will deliver the evening sermon Sunday, March 9, at 7 p. m.

Alderman Named Man-of-the-Year

Ray Alderman, head of Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co. of Winters, was named "Man of the Year" Friday evening during the annual membership banquet of the Winters Chamber of Commerce.

Alderman was presented a plaque as the "Man of the Year for 1968." Making the presentation was Wesley M. Hays, 1967 "Man of the Year." Recipient of the coveted award each year is chosen by a select secret committee of Chamber of Commerce members.

Alderman was born and reared in the farm and ranch country near Blackwell. As a youth, he worked on his father's livestock farm, and entered Texas A&M College, where he worked on tables in the mess hall to pay his expenses.

After two years at A&M, he received an appointment to the Merchant Marine Academy at Kings Point, N. Y., where he studied for two years until he decided the sea was not for him.

He returned to A&M to complete requirements for a degree, and then took over operation of the family farm following the death of his father. He also filled in as Sweetwater area coordinator for veterans attending school under the GI Bill.

Alderman joined the U. S. Air Force during the Korean war and won his silver wings as a fighter pilot. After serving with distinction in Korea, he was named chief coordinator between the Air Force and General Chiang Kai Shek in helping train Nationalist Chinese pilots for jet flying.

Following the Korean War, he was manager of a milling company in Baird.

Alderman married Mozelle Cave. They have two sons, Charles, 13, and George, 6, and a daughter, Sydney, 7.

In 1961, in association with his father-in-law, Charlie Cave, Alderman moved to Winters and bought the C. L. Green Milling Co. Since that time, Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co. has become one of the leading industries in this section of West Central Texas.

In accepting the "Man of the Year" award, Alderman said, "We put everything on the line (in the business) here eight years ago, and the people of Winters helped us to make a go of it."

In introducing the 1968 "Man of the Year," Hays noted "With late to bed and early to rise as his daily routine, he finds time to give many hours of time and talent and service to help make a better Winters."

Alderman served two years on the City Council and as a Chamber of Commerce director. Recently he was appointed a member of the board of Region 15, Education Service Center, which serves a 19-county area with headquarters in San Angelo.

"As an extra bonus," Hays said in his introduction of Alderman, "Alderman's large fleet of red and white checkerboard trucks deliver livestock feed products over a 200-mile radius with signs that read Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co., Winters, Texas, on their doors—creating rolling chamber of commerce billboards for Winters."

Two Students Get Honors At Texas A. & M.

Two Winters youths have been named Distinguished Students at Texas A&M University, Dr. Horace R. Byers, academic vice president, has announced.

Winters students earning the honor are Michael L. Deike, senior plant and soil science major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz F. Deike, Route 3, and Fred E. Minzenmayer, junior agronomy major, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Minzenmayer, Route 1.

The undergraduate honor is awarded to students who have excelled academically at A&M. Dr. Byers explained, by earning at least a 2.25 grade point ratio (out of a possible 3.0) during the most recent semester of the regular school year.

Teachers Will Attend TSTA Meet March 7

Students of Winters' schools will have a holiday Friday, while most of the local teachers attend the annual convention of Mid-Texas Education Association, District XV, Texas State Teachers Association to be held in Brownwood, March 6-7.

Nearly 2000 teachers are expected to attend the convention, which will be held at the Brownwood Coliseum.

District XV is composed of Brown, Coke, Coleman, Comanche, Concho, Crockett, Erath, Irion, Kimble, McCulloch, Mason, Menard, and Runnels Counties.

The first general session will open at 9:30 a. m. Friday morning, March 7. Theme for the convention will be "All Eyes Are on Education." Registration will be in the foyer of the Coliseum for those who are not pre-registered.

The House of Delegates was scheduled to meet Thursday, March 6, at 6:30 p. m. at Chisholm's Restaurant, in Brownwood.

The Friday morning session will begin with the presentation of colors by Boy Scouts, and the Brownwood High School a Capella Choir will present a Patriotic montage.

Lions Club Will Hold Light Bulb Sale Next Tuesday

The Winters Lions Club will hold their annual light bulb sale next Tuesday, March 11.

Sales committees have been assigned to two sections of the city, with one group under the leadership of H. M. (Jiggs) Nichols to canvass the west side of town, and the other group with Ted Meyer chairman to work the east side of Main Street.

Light bulb sale committee members are Marshall Wharton, Buford Baldwin and Gattis Neely.

Many of the Lions Club members who will be selling light bulbs will be wearing organization vests for identification.

Proceeds from the light bulb sale are used for the several projects sponsored by the Winters Lions Club, including purchases of glasses, help in crippled children's work, and sponsorship of the Boy Scouts.

Ernest M. Cathey Commissioned

Ernest M. Cathey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Rufus M. Cathey, Wingate, has been commissioned a second lieutenant in the U. S. Air Force upon graduation from Officer Training School (OTS) at Lackland AFB.

The lieutenant, a 1961 graduate of Winters High School, received his B. S. degree in civil engineering from Texas Technological College in 1967.

Lieutenant Cathey, selected for OTS through competitive examination, is being assigned to Mather AFB, California, for navigator training.

SCS Experimenting With 65 Grass Strains, Local Ranchers Cooperate

Seed from 65 select grass strains are being planted in Texas and Oklahoma this spring for field evaluation as part of a search for superior plants that will solve specific soil and water conservation problems.

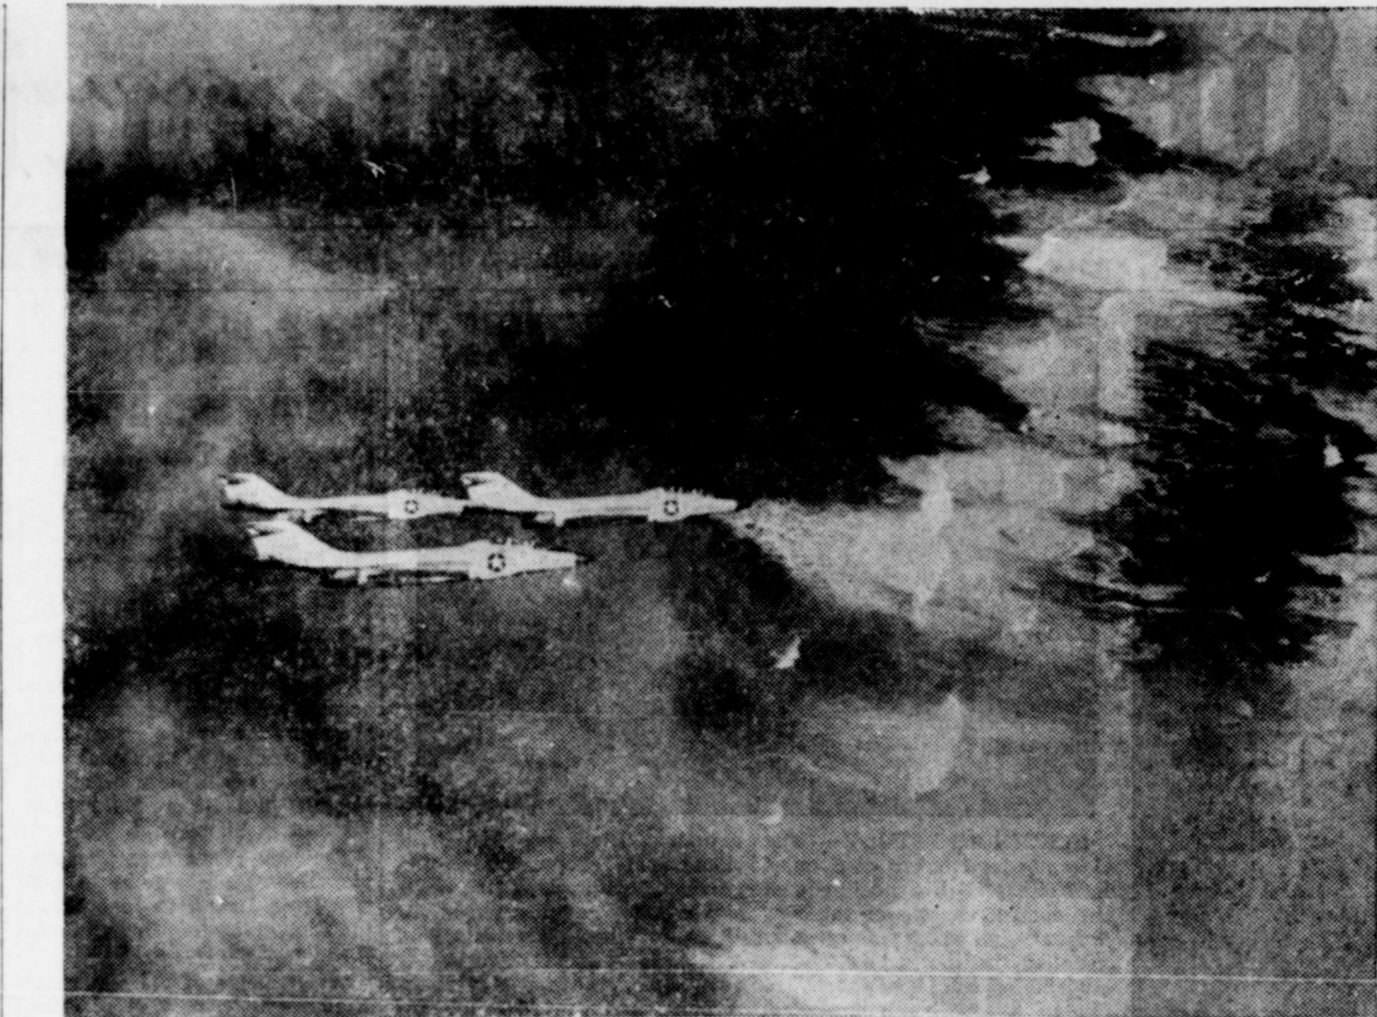

H. N. Smith of Temple, State Conservationist for the Soil Conservation Service, reports that about 6,000 pounds of seed from the 65 strains are being planted this year. The seed was grown at the SCS plant materials center at Knox City from grasses selected in Texas and Oklahoma.

"We are making progress in finding superior grasses adapted to a wide range of soil and climatic conditions," Smith said. "The individual problems, however, are so varied that it's a tedious job. In fact, we are now evaluating some 1100 strains of more than 100 different grasses at the plant center."

Woodrow Hoffman, District Conservationist with the Runnels County Soil Conservation Service, said the following grasses from the plant material center are being evaluated in the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District:

Inland saltgrass on the Lee Jost farm in the Offen Community; Lehman Lovegrass on the Preston Barker ranch east of Winters; sand lovegrass on the Earl Barr ranch southeast of Ballinger; cane bluestem on the Hugo Vogelsang farm east of Norton and Jack Cervenka farm near Maverick; caucasian bluestem on the Clyde Flanagan farm east of Ballinger; and Kleingrass on the H. Giesecke ranch southeast of Ballinger.

To illustrate some of the problems the SCS is trying to help solve, Smith cited a few examples:

Blue grama is a top grass on certain drouthy range sites in the western portion of Texas and Oklahoma and should be used in range seedings in that area. The only blue grama seed on the market, however, is harvested on the High Plains and it is not well adapted to other areas.

Twenty native selections of blue grama are being evaluated at the Knox City center to try to find a better, more widely adapted strain. Two selections one collected at Aspermont and one at Wourika, are showing promise but further evaluation work is needed.

A search is also underway to find a strain of western wheatgrass, a valuable winter grass on bottom land, for planting in Central Texas. Again, the only seed available is from the High Plains and is not widely adapted.

Selections from Tahoka and Floydada are looking good but evaluation work is incomplete.

Work is also underway to find a grass that will thrive on land high in salt content. Such a

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

Austin, Texas—Gov. Preston Smith handed the 61st Legislature a $261.5 million new revenue program to balance his general revenue budget recommendations totalling more than $1.4 billion.

Reaction varied widely, though few expect the $148.8 million direct biennial tax bill submitted by the governor in his message to the joint session will pass as proposed.

Ninety per cent of $138 million in general fund spending which Smith recommended over the Legislative Budget Board's $1.1 billion appropriations bill would go to education. Teacher pay raises — $1,266 a year for B.A. teachers and $1,580 for M.A. holders—would take $220 million over next two years.

Smith suggested ways in which the extra money could be raised, some of them already controversial.

One of those was the so-called "Cavness plan," advocated years ago by Former State Auditor C. H. Cavness and now sponsored by his son, Rep. Don Cavness of Austin.

It proposes to divert all but 27 1/2 percent of the revenues from the public school lands into day-by-day state aid to schools. This would pull an estimated $71.6 million in two years which otherwise would go into the permanent school fund. Under present law, all the income from school oil and gas leases goes into the permanent fund and is invested. Income from the investments is distributed among schools on a per capita basis.

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler and the School Land Board have come out against the proposal to spend 72 1/2 per cent of the income.

Smith's other revenue proposals are these:

An increase from 11 to 14 cents a package in taxes on cigarettes, to raise $45 million in two years.

An increase in the tax on other tobacco products, to raise $6 million.

Extension of the sales tax to cover services such as laundry, dry cleaning, repairs, parking and cable TV, to raise $48.8 million.

Extension of the sales tax to cover wine, beer and liquor, to raise $40 million.

Extension of the sales tax to the purchase of cars and other equipment bought for rental purposes, to raise $9 million.

Putting an additional state fine of $10 on all moving traffic law violation cases, to raise $38.5 million.

Raise a not a r y, corporation charter and uniform commercial code fees, to raise $2.6 million.

Increase fees paid to the Secretary of State, to raise $2.6 million.

Remainder of Smith's revenue would come from the $58.5 million surplus.

Governor urged the following for education in addition to the teacher pay hike:

Vocational and technical education improvements totalling $25 million more than previously recommended; $12 million to hire more teacher aides; $16 million increase for special education of handicapped; $5 million to conduct a pilot eight-week optional summer school program; $3.3 million for teacher sick leave; $12 million more for junior colleges; $3 million to develop regional educational closed circuit television systems; $8.3 million each for new medical schools in Houston and Lubbock; $7.3 million for new dental school in San Antonio; $600,000 to expand Baylor dental and medical units and $500,000 for studies measuring results of public education.

Governor thinks $11.7 million more is needed for medical assistance programs; $6.5 million for a 3.4 percent state employee pay raise; $3 million more to pay employee group insurance premium; $2.2 million more for his own office; $1.8 million to implement water planning; $200,000 for Water Rights Commission; $200,000 each for urban studies at Arlington and Houston; $300,000 for Parks and Wildlife Commission and $300,000 for centralized services. Department of Public Safety would get $8.5 million more from special funds to hire more personnel, build additional facilities and improve communications.

But on one of the big issues of the legislative session, increased appropriations for higher education, Smith stood pat with the Legislative Budget Board recommendations. This is $73 million less on the seven "formula" items. College presidents told the appropriations hearing that they simply cannot handle the flood of new students without the $73 million.

On the proposals of Gov. John Connally's Committee on Public

School Education for consolidation and tax equalization, Governor Smith drew a middle ground. He advocated a state stamp tax on real estate transactions as a way of studying the variation in assessment bases for local school tax purposes. He referred to the rural school consolidation proposals in critical terms, but did not come out against it or suggest to the Legislature any decision on the recommendations for consolidation.

LEGISLATION MOVES ON Governor Smith has signed into law bills to raise state employee retirement benefits an average 10 per cent and to raise from five to six and a half per cent the maximum interest rate on state and local bonds.

Senate passed 30-0 and sent to the House a compromise workmen's compensation reform bill, raising top benefits from $35 to $49 a week for injured or ill workers. Senate also passed a proposed constitutional amendment to authorize appropriation of funds for gubernatorial election and inauguration, bills to create separate boards of regents for East Texas State and West Texas State universities, authority for county commissioners to furnish free office space and telephones to legislators in their home districts and tax exemption for 500 non-profit rural water cooperatives and nursing homes.

House lagged far behind the Senate but did complete action on the bond interest bill, create a commission to operate the Fleet Admiral Chester W. Nimitz Museum in Fredericksburg and pass a bill to permit local libraries to join in a statewide network for exchange of books and service.

Liquor-by-the-drink constitutional amendments landed on Senate and House calendars with favorable committee reports and predictions of support by two-thirds of law-makers. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes appeared to be taking a personal hand in steering the senate legislation.

Meanwhile, the Senate Constitutional Amendments Committee unceremoniously killed another familiar measure—San Antonio Sen. V. E. (Red) Berry's proposal to legalize horse race gambling in Bexar and Harris counties.

Constitutional amendment to remove welfare ceiling has cleared Senate Committee.

Bill is pending in Senate to rename Corpus Christi State School for the late Sen. Bruce Reagan who handled legislation creating it.

COURTS SPEAK Texas Supreme Court has set a March 26 hearing on the suit challenging constitutionality of the state's Sunday closing law. Spartan's, Barker's, Shoppers World and Globe Stores won a verdict in San Antonio District court that the law is invalid.

High Court left in effect the decision of Amarillo Court of Civil Appeals that the "reasonable doubt" rule applying to adult criminal trials also must be adhered to in juvenile delinquency cases.

Supreme Court held that a district court jury or judge should pass on whether an Amarillo television broadcast improperly termed a Berger man a supermarket bandit. Suspect was freed before the broadcast on his arrest.

Electric company is not liable for punitive damages in the accidental electrocution of a young woman who was boating on Lake Jacksonville, Supreme Court concluded.

AG OPINIONS

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin gave this advice to Governor Smith on when state appointments come due:

When board or commission has staggered terms, the legislature meant terms of members to begin on effective date of act. . . But when law set up a single position and did not specify date of terms, term begins on the date first appointee took office.

In other recent opinions, Martin held that:

Regulations for ambient air quality could not be the same or as strict in metropolitan areas as in an area with no industry, but emission of polluted matter into the air should be more rigidly controlled in a metropolitan area of industrial production than in an area where little pollution exists from emissions into air.

It is contrary to public policy for a member of board of trustees of a community center to be a stockholder of corporations contracting with the center, but there is no conflict of interest for mere employees of facilities in a contract between facilities and center.

Abandoned county road right-of-way property should be offered at private sale to adjoining or abutting property owners. If they don't want it, property can be sold at public auction after advertisement.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Smith nominated Brig. Gen. Ross Ayers of Friona as adjutant general of Texas to succeed Maj. Gen. Thomas Bishop.

Smith also appointed Lester Boyd of Vernon and Leslie H. True of Dallas to State Board of Corrections and reappointed

James M. Wirtham of Livingstone to a new term.

Smith selected Dr. David Wade of Austin as director of comprehensive health planning for state.

Lieutenant Governor Barnes named to the Youth Advisory Committee Andrew Jefferson of Houston, Judge Scott Moore of Fort Worth, Luster Gollaher of Dallas, Dr. Robert Rynearson of Temple, Dr. R. L. Deter of El Paso, Raul Garcia of San Antonio, Judge Arthur Tips of Wichita Falls, Larry Fultz of Houston and Judge Truman Roberts, Hamilton.

SHORT SNORTS

Governor Smith approved a contract by which Texas A&M and 11 other state agencies will make a four and a half year study of marine resources of the Gulf of Mexico. . . Attorneys Jim Greenwood of Houston and Don Nobles of Austin are nominees for president-elect of State Junior Bar of Texas; Charles Bonniwell of Corpus Christi and Robert R. Sanders of Amarillo are vice-presidential nominees; and Joe D. Clayton of Tyler and Bob J. Suovik of Abilene are secretary-treasurer nominees.

The quickest way to take the starch out of a man who is always blaming himself is to agree with him.

Omar Burleson, M. C. 17th District, Texas

Washington, D. C. —A question often asked is "What would happen to our economy should 'peace break out'?" It is a good question and, of course, one to which thought and study has been devoted by responsible governmental agencies.

From these sources, together with some economists and political leaders, it is the general opinion that the demands on some programs such as urban renewal, housing, and highway building and the like, would in a short time, about fill the gap if spending was provided for these purposes. More important, at least for the immediate years following cessation of hostilities in Southeast Asia, is the refurbishing of our military machinery.

In many categories we have depleted surplus military materiel which must be replaced. Supplies, training and equipment of our Armed Forces would likely continue at a high rate, even if at a slower pace, should hostilities suddenly end.

From the economic standpoint this is important to our State of Texas. Our State is the second largest recipient of Government spending in the Nation. According to Mr. Walter E. Moore, Editor of the Texas Almanac, U. S. spending in Texas totaled $12,019,066,463 in the Fiscal Year ending last June 30th. It is the biggest business in our State.

Defense spending of $6,064,962,000 in the year 1967-68 amounts to approximately one-half the total according to Mr. Moore's research. The Department of Health, Education and Welfare ranked next with an expenditure of $1,751,000 (in round figures).

There is no comparison that any industry as a whole is near the Government when it comes to supporting our Texas economy.

Based on this arithmetic, the United States Government is spending around $1,000 per head in our State. Although accurate estimates are a little elusive, Texans pay something like $6 billion to the Federal Government in taxes. The State's income actually depends more on grants from Washington than upon any single State tax. So, in the economy as a whole, twice as much is spent in the State by the Federal Government than is collected in taxes.

In road building, the various programs of aid and welfare, in education and many other activities, Texas shares well in total expenditures by the Federal Government.

As is clear, Military expenditures is the large item. There is a reason for it, which is not always as political as we are often accused by other areas of the Country. First, we have natural resources to support these activities. Second, we have a favorable climate, both weatherwise and in attitude influencing to locate in the State. Next but not least, we have comparative stability in the labor market. Lastly but not conclusive, there is "elbow room" and opportunity to expand.

These are not the total assets to be offered by our citizens but enough to not only attract defense contracts and military installations but also private industry which must be looked to for the long range future.

This situation is on the mind and under consideration of not only officials of the Federal Government but by our State leaders to maintain conditions conducive to continued expansion of our industrial base. A looming factor is the need for an adequate water supply which may be the key to the future of our State's economy. In this balance of our economic needs, a careful look-see must be given to the major facets of our economy; namely, industry, agriculture, military and national defense activity. A stable labor situation will continue to be a great influence on the total outlook.

General Meeting Of WSCS Held In Church Recently

The general meeting of the Woman's Society of Christian Service of the First United Methodist Church was held in the church parlor recently with the president, Mrs. John Schaffrina, presiding.

Mrs. H. O. Abbott led in prayer, and the group sang a hymn. In the business session, Mrs. Eva Kelly, coordinator, reported on the studies the Wesleyan Service Guild was having on the Book of John.

Mrs. Roy Crawford urged all members to attend the World Day of Prayer held in the Presbyterian Church with the Methodist women in charge of the program.

Mrs. W. T. Nichols was in charge of the program on "Hunger in the U. S. A." Mrs. Abbott, Mrs. Vada Babston and Mrs. W. F. Lange presented parts of the program.

Mrs. J. P. Dry gave the meditation, and the benediction was given by Mrs. Glenn Bowman.

Others present included Mesdames Gattis Neely, August McWilliams, Thad Traylor, Nan Wright, E. H. Baker, W. W. Parramore, Elmo Mayhew, E. W. Bridwell, Frank Mitchell, M. E. Leeman, Alma Daniel, D. A. Dobbins, J. D. Vinson, W. T. Stanley, M. L. Dobbins, and Paul Gerhardt, and Miss Frances Stricklin.

Parking "Fine": $2,500
Late for an appointment, George hastily parked his car in a pedestrian crosswalk. The possibility of a fine for illegal parking was not enough to deter him.

But to his dismay, the "fine" turned out to be $2,500. A pedestrian, forced to detour around his parked car, was knocked down by a passing truck—and George was held legally liable for the accident.

That is not an isolated case. Generally speaking, whenever you park your car illegally, you can be held responsible for all the foreseeable consequences. This may include not only injuries to pedestrians but even collisions between two other cars.

For example: When two cars collided at an intersection, a court put the blame on a truck driver who had parked too close to the corner—blocking the STOP sign from view. An oncoming motorist, who had no reason to expect a stop street, had driven squarely into the path of another car.

In fact, you run the risk of liability whenever you stop your car in an improper manner, even if you are not violating a specific parking ordinance. Take this situation:

A motorist on the highway, catching sight of some deer in a meadow, stopped to watch. But he neglected to pull off the road first. As a result, there was a chain collision of cars behind him. Finding the man liable, the court said:

"The right of a motorist to enjoy the beauties of nature does not warrant stopping his automobile in the midst of traffic to satisfy his artistic and poetic proclivities."

On the other hand, the motorist who stops improperly is not

JUNIOR LEAGUE BASKETBALL

First round play in the Winters Junior Basketball League was completed Saturday morning March 1, and left the Lakers and Hawks alone at the top of the standings. In Friday night's games the Lakers downed the Bullets in a thriller, 26-25 and the Hawks defeated the 76'ers 15-12. In the other Friday games the Knicks knocked off the Celtics 24-12.

In the Saturday morning games the Hawks defeated the Knicks in another cliff-hanger 35-33 in overtime, the 76'ers defeated the Bullets 35-18 and the Lakers downed the Celtics.

Bob Colburn, Tommy Antilley, Biff White and Robert Moore, WHS varsity basketballers officiated the games.

Standings after the first round are:

TEAM	WON	LOST
Hawks	2	0
Lakers	2	0
Knicks	1	1
76'ers	1	1
Bullets	0	2
Celtics	0	2

Albert Black of the Knicks leads the scoring parade with 30 points in two games for a 15 point per game average.

Friday's schedule includes 76'ers vs. Lakers, Hawks vs. Celtics, and Knicks vs. Bullets. Saturday morning the Bullets play the Celtics, the Hawks take on the Lakers and the 76'ers oppose the Knicks.

Dale Sewing Club Held Meeting In N. Ueckert Home

Mrs. Norbet Ueckert hosted the regular meeting of the Dale Sewing Club in her home Tuesday evening of last week.

Members made a quilt for the hostess.

Fertilize Your Farm Pond Now

Now is the time to start fertilizing your farm pond, according to Dwane Smith, fisheries biologist for the Texas Parks & Wildlife Department.

Smith says pond fertilization should be completed before the hot weather starts.

Ponds are fertilized so they will contain enough food for small fish when they hatch or are released. Fertilizer will stimulate a plankton bloom which is desirable for bass fry.

The growth of aquatic vegetation may be controlled by proper use of fertilizer. A control program should be inaugurated before weed growth starts in the spring.

Once a program of fertilization has started it should be pursued to the end, according to Smith. Smith says a good rule of thumb in determining how much fertilizer to a pond is this: When you can see your fingernails with your arm submerged to the elbow, add fertilizer. Then wait a week or two for the next test and if more fertilizer is needed, add it. The amount of fertilizer needed will vary from pond to pond.

The County agricultural agent will know what kind of fertilizer the surrounding land needs. Chances are that the same fertilizer will work just as well in your pond.

YOUR REPRESENTATIVE IN AUSTIN

By REPRESENTATIVE LYNN NABERS

Sunday afternoon I took advantage of a cold and rainy day to catch up on some much-needed rest. As I sat in an easy chair reading the newspaper, I could feel the stiffness in my muscles from a particularly grueling week of long hours of meetings and late hours of studying bills. My attention was drawn to an article written by a columnist who thought the 61st Legislative Session was moving too slowly. I thought back thru the week remembering how frantically I had raced from one meeting to another and how I had felt there were just not enough hours in the day. Things certainly had not seemed slow! As I thought on though, I realized that it could appear that things were going slow. The big controversial bills such as appropriations, Liquor - by - the - drink, compulsory consolidation in the field of education, etc., were all still ahead of us. These bills are the ones that will directly affect all Texans and naturally they are watched with growing concern. But, for every such "big" bill as these there are thousands of other bills that must be studied just as carefully. These seemingly "less important bills" may not affect every person throughout the state but to those whose lives, businesses, and districts they touch, they are every bit as important; and, they must be given time and study and debate that they deserve!

This past week the Criminal Jurisprudence Committee of which I am a member, had public hearings on a bill to stiffen the penalties for drug abuse. At the present time, it is almost impossible for law enforcement officers to catch and properly prosecute violators of drug traffic who are guilty of forging, altering, or misusing doctor's prescriptions. The bill we considered makes it a criminal violation to misuse prescriptions or even be in possession of an altered or forged prescription. In effect, the bill makes it a criminal violation to "attempt" drug misuse. The type of drug violation dealing with prescriptions usually involves sleeping pills, tranquilizers, stimulants, etc., whose abuse is not as widely publicized as the more well known marijuana or heroin. However, misuse of these more common drugs was referred to a sub-committee for more study and I was named to the sub-committee.

Another sub-committee that I was appointed to this week is working on the repealing of certain statutes which have been held unconstitutional by the Supreme Court. These statutes are those that deal with segregation in public places. This bill was referred to the State Affairs Committee for public hearing and then referred to sub-committee.

Still another of my sub-committees this week considered a bill to change some holidays that fall in the middle of a work week so that they would always be recognized on a Monday of that particular week. The thinking behind the bill was that such an arrangement would create better employee-employer relations and increase the efficiency of work weeks in which holidays fall. If this bill passes, workers will be assured of five three day weekends during the year in addition to the regular Christmas, New Years, Fourth of July and Thanksgiving holidays.

The House of Representatives passed House Bill 141 this week. This bill makes it a misdemeanor for persons to disturb or disrupt classes, destroy property, block entrances, or prevent use of facilities on the campuses of higher education. Such a violation can carry with it a fine and a possible jail sentence. The bill has now gone to the Senate for their consideration.

James R. Carlisle Died Saturday, Funeral Monday

James Roscoe Carlisle, 77, died at his home in Winters at 9:25 a. m. Saturday following a heart attack.

Funeral was at 10 a. m. Monday from Spill Memorial Chapel, with the Rev. Harry Grantz, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and the Rev. J. S. Tierce, retired Baptist minister, officiating.

Graveside services were held at 4 p. m. Monday at the Godley Cemetery near Cleburne.

Pallbearers were Ralph Lloyd, Howard Worthington, Bernice Gardner, Jack Harrison, H. P. Witkowski, Chester Busher, Joe Baker and Walker Tatum.

James Roscoe Carlisle was born Oct. 15, 1891, at Lewisville, the son of the late Dr. and Mrs. W. R. Carlisle. He lived in the Central Texas area for many years.

He married Sarah Elizabeth Vickers March 13, 1917, at Godley.

Mr. Carlisle operated a department store in Eastland and Farmersville for many years. He later worked at the Buckner Orphan Home. In 1961 he and his wife moved to Winters, where he has been employed as a bookkeeper for several businesses.

He was a member of the First Baptist Church and for several years was a Sunday School teacher for the Business Men's Class.

Survivors include his wife; a daughter, Mrs. Henry H. McCreight of Winters; two brothers, O. E. Carlisle of Farmersville and T. E. Carlisle of Corsicana; and a grandson, Hank McCreight of Winters.

Mrs. A. W. Hancock underwent lung surgery in West Texas Medical Center in Abilene this week.

Clyde Dunn is home following surgery in Hendrick Hospital.

Mrs. D. R. Heathcott was hostess to a tea Friday to honor Mrs. Emma Doggett on her birthday. Several were there and she received some nice gifts. In the Irvie Talley home Sunday were Melva and Glyndol and children of Abilene.

The W. N. Bagwells have returned from a visit to Pecos and Odessa. They visited their son, Ray and family, and Mrs. W. L. Burns in Odessa and with their daughter, Arlee and family in Pecos.

In the Edwin Voss home were Bro. and Mrs. Bowman of Winters, Mr. and Mrs. Andy Danner and Jo Ann, Midland; Lucille Briley from Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Vanner Voss and Ervin, San Angelo; and Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Phillips of Wingate.

March third the Wingate Gator Tops club met for their regular meeting, with Mrs. Alpheus Hill presiding. Weights were recorded by Mrs. Wayne Owens.

Those present were Mrs. Richard Beck, Mrs. James Williams, Mrs. Ed Donica, Mrs. W. O. Middleton, Mrs. Joe Bryan, Mrs. George Cave, Mrs. E. F. Albro, and Mrs. Pat Pritchard.

Mrs. W. O. Middleton is queen this week.

The program was presented by Mrs. E. F. Albro. Her topic was "What Tops Means to Me."

Mrs. Pat Pritchard read poems. A new contest started and will end the day of Gator Tops anniversary luncheon, on March 24.

U. S. Border Patrol Seeks Applicants

The U. S. Border Patrol of the Immigration and Naturalization Service has an urgent need for physically fit young men desiring a career in Federal law-enforcement work. This is a career opportunity for those who like action and outdoor work.

The Border Patrol is the mobile, uniformed enforcement branch of the Immigration and Naturalization Service. Its principal purpose is to prevent the smuggling and illegal entry of aliens into the United States. The border patrolmen, called Immigration Patrol Inspectors, work along international boundaries, although their duties are not necessarily confined to these areas. They work in jeeps, cars, on foot, in boats and even in airplanes. Officers investigate violations of the immigration laws and frequently make arrests. They are often required to work irregular hours, under all weather conditions. These duties demand mental alertness as well as exceptional physical vigor and stamina. Applications are now being accepted for the civil service examination for Immigration Patrol Inspector which will be held Saturday, April 12.

Information concerning the patrol inspector position may be obtained from the U. S. Immigration & Naturalization Service, P. O. Box 2539, San Antonio, Texas 78206.

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

By Babson's Reports, Inc.
Wellesley Hills, Mass.

REVIEW OF THE PAPER INDUSTRY

Manufacturers of paper and pulp showed an improved performance last year over the depressed results of 1967. Total production of paper and paperboard for 1968 was 49,200,000 tons, a very healthy 7 percent gain of the 46 million tons produced in 1967. While profits for the industry were adversely affected by higher taxes and increased costs, many paper companies showed improved earnings last year. Few, however, equaled their 1966 highs.

Looking Ahead

The outlook for paper and pulp production in 1969 is clouded somewhat by the possibility of an economic slowdown, and it is likely that profits will remain under pressure from higher costs and lingering overcapacity problems in certain lines. Nevertheless, prospects for the industry over the next few years appear brighter now than they have been for some time.

One of the big problems the industry has had has been the tendency to build too many plants. If one company built a new paper mill in a new area, competition was sure to follow with two more! The eventual result was excess capacity, price weakness, and declining profit margins. Lately, however, there have been indications that the industry managers are going to follow a more enlightened approach to profits.

Also, assuming a reasonably strong economy, there should be a much better supply-demand relationship for paper in the future than has been the case in the past. While demand will be growing, projected capacity increases for the next three years will decline to 3,900,000 tons. This is down from an 8.5 million ton rise for the preceding three-year period, 1966-68.

Broadening Profits Base

Paper company managers are also attempting to reverse the declining return on invested capital by diversifying into the more profitable areas of the business, e. g., disposables and nonwoven materials, and more effectively utilizing their substantial acreage, e. g., real estate development and mineral exploration. Though it will be some time before these efforts pay off, they do indicate a more aggressive approach to profits. The Babson staff feels, in view of the industry's improving prospects, that paper stocks should be held, and periods of price weakness could be used for selected purchases.

for the controversial "Sentinel" antiballistic missile system from $960 million to $1.8 billion. Major participants in this program will be Raytheon, General Electric, McDonnell-Douglas, Martin Marietta, Sperry Rand, Burroughs, Hercules, and Thiokol. The intercontinental missile programs will receive substantial increases for the advanced versions of the "Minuteman" missile (the II and III versions) and the "Poseidon" submarine-launched missile. Boeing is the prime contractor on the former and Lockheed on the latter.

In addition, the new Navy fighter (F-14) to replace the canceled F-111-B, will require outlays of almost $500 million (for two versions). Grumman Aircraft was recently selected for the F-14A model. An Air Force model, the F-15 supersonic fighter slated for operation in the mid-1970's, will constitute a sizable award for one of the three companies (Fairchild Hiller, McDonnell-Douglas, and North American Rockwell) now hotly competing for production contracts. Of great significance is the fact that the research authorizations are expected to be almost as large as the production funds. Finally, a $2.4-billion shipbuilding program (almost twice as great as the average of the last five years) is also proposed. This includes such multi-diversified companies as Litton Industries

The Aerospace Industry's Role

Sales for the aerospace industry were around a record $30.1 billion for 1968, slightly better than the $29.2 billion estimated to be spent for Vietnam in the fiscal 1969 year ending June 30. Because only about 10 percent of the aerospace industry's sales is geared to the Vietnam war effort, the staff of Babson's Reports feels that the impact on the defense companies would not be as severe as many investors imagine. Moreover, these firms have been building systems readily adaptable in time of peace to extensive programs in transportation, medical systems and public health.

Aerospace Investment Vehicles

Boeing Company . . . As the leading producer of commercial aircraft, the company derives over half its sales and the bulk of its profits from this sector. Thus, it is less vulnerable than most defense contractors. But it is prime contractor for the Minuteman missile programs and has an important role in other missile and space projects.

North American Rockwell.—Through mergers, this giant contractor has become one of the most diversified companies in the business. Management expects the corporation to benefit rather than suffer from termination of the Vietnam war. Like Boeing, North American Rockwell has a sizable and growing commercial product mix and looks forward to generating significant earning power over the longer range.

Peace And The Defense Stocks

Wellesley Hills, Mass. With de-escalation of the Vietnam conflagration possible in 1969, what lies in store for the defense oriented companies? Since the Paris peace talks began there has been very little momentum on either the upside or the downside, for the stocks of these companies. What can the aerospace industry (chief defense suppliers), and particularly its shareholders, expect from any cessation of hostilities?

Fiscal 1970 Budget Shows Stabilization Effects

The defense budget, as proposed by President Johnson just before he left office, shifted from a defensive Vietnam posture to a strategic emphasis. Sizable expenditures for new missiles, planes, and ships were requested, as well as large outlays for research. The Babson's Reports' staff feels this is the clue to the future for defense companies.

Defense spending should continue high for some time after the war's end because of the need for inventory replenishment. Also, maintenance of a high level of post-Vietnam spending for the funding of certain deferred or stretched-out programs (due to the more pressing war needs) should militate against any notable reduction in defense business. Carrol Tatom Guest Speaker At Diversity Club

"Federal Aid To Texas Schools" was the subject of the guest speaker, Carrol Tatom, when the Diversity Club met February 27 in the home of Mrs. John Q. McDams.

Winters School Superintendent Tatom told the group that "our democratic form of government does not guarantee security, but guarantees opportunity." As local districts fail in their responsibility to provide equal and adequate opportunity, he said, "an invitation exists for the Federal government to enter the field of education."

Federal support, without Federal control has been evidenced in three major programs, Tatom said. "The first program was the Smith-Hughes Act that initially provided home economics and vocational agriculture programs for local districts. A second major program was the National Defense Education Act of 1959 that provided financial support to those areas of the school curriculum deemed essential to our national defense. The third program is the Elementary and Secondary Education Act of 1964 which provides local school districts direct financial aid to initiate and innovative programs to help the educationally deprived child."

The Winters schools will receive some $53,147 in Federal support during this 1968-69 school year, Superintendent Tatom told the members of the Diversity Club.

Mrs. Paul Cozy presided for the business session, when it was voted to send a delegate to District convention in San Saba March 7-8. Mrs. Joyce Krause led the Pledge to the Flag, and Mrs. Z. I. Hale read the American Creed.

Special guests attending were Mesdames Carrol Tatom, Rankin Pace, C. C. Chapman, Elo Michaelis, Grover Davis, Lawrence Chapmond, George Ross, Raymond Henslee, W. A. Forgy from Ballinger, and the Rev. Roy L. Crawford.

Members attending were Mesdames Paul Cozy, Woodrow Watts, Earl Roach, Roy Crawford, George Garrett, James Glenn, Z. I. Hale, C. R. Kendrick, Joyce Krause, Clarence Ledbetter, M. E. Leeman, C. E. Sewell, J. E. Smith, J. B. Whitlow, Roy Young and the hostess.

The next meeting will be a Friendship Tea in the home of Mrs. C. R. Kendrick on March 13.

George Garrett presented a program on the history of Runnels County to members of the Junior Culture Club at a meeting recently in the home of Mrs. Paul Michaelis. He distributed place mats showing historical markers and points of interest in Runnels County. Garrett had designed the place mats for the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee.

Miss Nancy Grundy was co-hostess with Mrs. Paul Michaelis. Mrs. Wayne Solomon, club president, presided for the meeting, and roll call was answered with important events in Texas History.

Mrs. Jerry Gibson and Kay Green were welcomed as new members, and the club accepted the resignation of Mrs. Boyd Bedford.

Refreshments of cake decorated with a flag and punch with cherries in the ice cubes were served to Mesdames Gayland Robinson, Johnny Weems, Bobby Blackwood, O. J. Murray, Douglas Cole, Cecil Hambricht, Bill Chapman, Jerry Gibson, Wayne Solomon and Kay Green and the hostesses.

Sylvia Jean Tinney, Clyde L. Lawler, Plan April 19th Wedding In Winters

Mr. and Mrs. Lester S. Tinney are announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Sylvia Jean, to Mr. Clyde Leonard Lawler. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Virgil Lawler of Junction.

Miss Tinney is a graduate of Winters High School and attended Angelo State College. She is presently employed by Dry Manufacturing Company.

Mr. Lawler is a graduate of Junction High School and attended Sul Ross College. He is employed by the Texas Highway Department in Junction.

The wedding has been set for April 19, at the First Methodist Church in Winters.

Mr. and Mrs. Clem Rozmen Observe Twenty-Fifth Anniversary Feb. 21

Observing their twenty-fifth wedding anniversary, Mr. and Mrs. Clem Rozmen were honored Sunday February 21, at open house in their home, from 2:00 to 5:00 in the afternoon.

Hosts for the reception were their children, Mrs. Jerry Marks, Pauline and Dennis Rozmen.

Guests were greeted at the door by Pauline and Dennis Rozmen, Mr. and Mrs. Rozmen, Pauline also registered the guests.

The dining table laid with white lace over green, was centered with a large cabbage leaf and a display of gifts.

The four-tiered white cake, served on the tea table, was decorated with silver horseshoe with the numerals "25" in the center of the horseshoe. Mrs. W. D. Waggoner presided at the table and ladeled punch. She was assisted in serving nuts, mints and cake by Mrs. M. E. Mitchell and Miss Elsie Lee Sanders.

Mrs. Rozmen was born in San Saba and was married in 1944 to Clem J. Rozmen in Houston. Mr. Rozmen, owner of Clem's Welding Shop, was born at Black River Falls, Wisconsin, and came to Texas in 1938, locating in Houston where the couple lived until 1951, when they came to Winters.

Mr. and Mrs. Rozmen are the parents of five children, Joey, who is in the Navy Reserve stationed in Guam, Larry with the U. S. Marines, is in training at Camp Pendleton, California and his twin sister, Linda, now Mrs. Jerry Marks, who is a ward secretary at the Ballinger Hospital, Pauline, a senior in Winters High School and Dennis an eighth grade student in Winters School. They also have a granddaughter, Shannon Rozmen of Houston.

Winters May Get Land-Fill Type Refuse Disposal

Although under present State statute Winters is still permitted to burn refuse gathered from the business and residential sections of the city, this condition may not continue for very much longer, it was suggested this week.

Burford Baldwin, City Secretary, reports that towns under 5,000 population are exempt from the statute prohibiting the burning of garbage and refuse. Larger cities must dispose of their trash by burying in land-fill projects or some other manner, he said.

Baldwin attended a meeting on garbage disposal in Abilene a few days ago, and said that from information received there, indications are that "certain" State departments and commissions will be pushing for stronger legislation which will force all towns to adopt such waste disposal systems as the land-fill method. It is believed in most circles, he said, that this will receive favorable reaction in the legislature.

Blizzardettes Lost To Girls From Comanche

The Winters High School girls' basketball team, district champions, hit a snag in bi-district play against the Comanche girls Tuesday night in Brownwood, and dropped their first "counter" of the season.

Final score was 58-52 for Comanche, who will go to regional playoffs Saturday in Lubbock.

Winters netted a one-point first quarter lead, but Comanche came back to take a 17-point advantage in the second period and held the lead for the remainder of the game.

The Blizzardettes won the district championship with a perfect 10-0 record. During the entire season, the Winters girls played 28 games and lost only four, counting the Tuesday night bi-district game.

FB Sponsoring "Local Affairs Project" Contest

Farm Bureau members in Runnels County have an opportunity to win either cash prizes or valuable items of merchandise if their ideas for local affairs projects are selected in a state-wide contest for such ideas, according to Hugo Vogelsang of Ballinger, president of the Runnels County FB.

The Texas Farm Bureau is sponsoring a contest to bring in ideas for improving rural living and-or agriculture. Cash prizes total $500 with another $500 worth of merchandise being offered. This includes ten $50 cash prizes for the ten best ideas and 25 items of merchandise (each worth at least $20) offered for the next best 25 ideas.

Vogelsang said the 35 winning ideas will be printed in brochure form and made available to county and community Farm Bureaus for their consideration. Rules of the contest specify that only Farm Bureau members can enter. The idea should be explained in approximately 100 words or less. Entries should be typewritten.

The idea need not be original, Vogelsang said. It can be some project or activity that is being carried on in a community or neighborhood now. It can be something that needs to be done, and can apply to a local neighborhood.—An example would be a campaign to vacnate all dogs for rabies, or perhaps to control rodents or other predators. Any idea might be a winner, Vogelsang said.

Deadline for getting the ideas into the Runnels County FB office is March 12. The address is P. O. Box 540, Ballinger. Entries will be forwarded on to the Texas FB office in Waco for judging.

WHS Represented At J-School Day At Angelo State

Winters High School will be represented at the six annual Journalism Day observance at Angelo State College March 15, which will coincide with the organizational meeting of the West Texas Journalism Education Association.

JoNell Simmons, editor of The Glacier, WHS annual, and Weldon Middleton, sponsor of the annual, will attend the event. Other students interested in journalism also may attend.

Journalism Day is for the region's high school and college journalism students and their teachers and advisors.

The West Texas Journalism Education Association will be devoted to the improvement and standardization of journalism education in the public schools.

Programs for the two groups will overlap during the all-day gathering on the ASC campus. Mrs. Maxine Henthorn, head of the college's journalism department, has announced. Mrs. Henthorn also is interim president of the WTJEA.

Featured speakers for the Journalism Day phase of the program will include Jerry Conn, assistant press secretary for Gov. Preston Smith; Jack Nixon Jr., editor of West Texas magazine; and John Emmerich, editorial page editor of the Houston Chronicle.

Seeking VISTA Workers For the Hill Country

Applications are being taken for a VISTA supervisor to work over a 16-county area, it was announced this week. VISTA—Volunteers In Service to America—is a part of a Federal program to work with the underprivileged.

The supervisor being sought will work out of the central office, Hill Country Community Action Program in San Saba. Selection will be made by the central board March 10 in San Saba. Those interested in applying for the position are asked to contact A. H. Floyd in Brady.

Mrs. Willie Mae Cole of Ballinger is in Denver taking a six-week training course. She will be a VISTA worker in the area.

Historical Grave Marker Awarded

An official Texas Historical Grave Marker has been awarded to Runnels County by the Texas State Historical Survey committee, Rankin Pace, chairman of the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee, has announced.

The marker will be for the grave of the late James Petty Flynt, and will be placed on the grave in Evergreen Cemetery, Ballinger.

Flynt was sheriff of Runnels County from 1908 to 1914, and from 1920 to 1924. He was first elected at the age of 30. He was the last man to hold the combined post of tax collector-sheriff in the county.

His activities as a law enforcement officer included Texas Ranger service during World Wars I and II. He was elected secretary-treasurer of the Runnels County Fair Association at its organization in 1911, and also served with the State Game Department from 1924 to 1940. In 1899 he married Carrie Jane Patterson. They had seven children.
