HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

More high school graduates than ever before are going on to college. It not only has become the "fashionable" thing to do, but it is becoming more and more the "necessary" thing to do. Demands of a fast-moving space-age society are many, and a better education is one of them.

"Putting a kid through college" still is as tough a job as it has ever been—maybe more so—even in an affluent society. And for many more families than we maybe want to realize, it still is a touch and go situation. There are still as many, or more, students "waiting on tables" to put themselves through college, even though we maybe don't hear as much about it these days.

But there is one area which has made it possible for many more to go on to receive a college education than would be possible otherwise. That is the area of scholarships. They are granted for about everything these days, and there would be few who could not obtain a scholarship of some type if they have a deep-seated desire to continue their education.

College scholarship opportunities totaling more than $138,000 in new grants and $98,000 in renewals are available to participants in University Interscholastic League activities.

Applicants must graduate from high school during the current year, compete in UIL State Meet academic contests or rank as runners-up in regional meets and submit College Entrance Examination Board scores, along with completed application forms, before June 1.

Scholarships are made possible by eight foundations and numerous individual awards administered through the Texas Interscholastic League Foundation.

Rodney J. Kidd, retired director of the University of Texas Division of Extension's Bureau of Public School Service, notes that athletic coaches roam the countryside to find "blue chip" athletes, but often "blue chip academic champions" have been forgotten.

"Many talented Texas high school graduates are long on talent, but short on cash," Kidd says. "Herein lies the need for Interscholastic League Foundation. We want to make sure that every talented youngster has the opportunity to develop his talent to the fullest."

Recently passed consumer protection legislation has been described as a bulwark between the public and some of the dangers, "hazards, ruses and abuses" in the marketplace. "Editor & Publisher" observes, "... one would gather that the majority of manufacturers and retailers have been and are dishonest. It is a libel on everyone who participates in our vast manufacturing and distribution system including advertising. We wonder how we got to be a nation of 200 million healthy, vigorous and prosperous people with all that going on."

Another factor is developing which probably will result in additional unjustified official criticism of the free marketplace and the retailers of the nation. This has to do with the matter of rising prices—inflation. The tax surcharge, supposedly levied as a curb to inflationary pressures may have just the opposite effect of raising prices at the retail level, and putting an upward pressure on the cost of living. Taxes are a major cost of doing business. The retailing industry operates on slim profit margins and higher tax costs mean higher prices. In addition, employees, thinking in terms of take-home pay, will press for wage increases to make up for additional tax deductions. Retailers will be subject to this tax and wage pressure and do little but pass it on to their customers in the way of higher prices.

The high cost of government has brought higher taxes and caused the current $25 billion plus deficit in the federal budget. It is the real danger which all of us consumers face. The smoke screen of official criticism and vociferous concern for the consumers' welfare should not be allowed to obscure this fact.

Winters Delegation Meets With House Committee On Hospital District Bill

A "baker's dozen" delegates from the Winters area appeared before a committee of the Texas House of Representatives Monday in Austin, seeking committee and House approval of a proposed bill which would open the way for creation of a hospital district in North Runnels County.

Introduced to the committee by Representative Lynn Nabers, 64th District, who is sponsoring the bill through the House, the delegation pointed out the necessity of a hospital district in North Runnels County, and presented the committee with petitions containing more than 700 signatures of people in the area who are supporting the proposal.

Woodrow Watts, president of the Winters State Bank and recently installed president of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, was spokesman for the group in their presentation to the House committee. He pointed out that the steady growth of Winters and North Runnels County called for creation of such a hospital district, and that the combined strength of the agricultural, oil and industrial economy in the area showed a very favorable source of support.

The Winters delegation was the largest group to appear before the House committee Monday seeking approval of a so-called local legislative bill.

According to information received from members of the delegation, the bill will be referred to a sub-committee, and then presented to the House of Representatives for final consideration. It is expected that the bill will see clear sailing in the House, and on into the State Senate.

Senator David Ratliff of Stamford will sponsor the bill through the Senate.

JUNIOR LEAGUE BASKETBALL

The second week of play in the Winters Junior League Basketball left no team unbeaten. The 76'ers knocked off the previously undefeated Lakers in the first game Friday, 19-16, and then the Lakers upset the Hawks 20-19 Saturday morning. In other games the Hawks beat the Celtics 32-28, the Bullets swamped the Knicks 28-10 and beat the Celtics 18-14. The last game Saturday morning was a real cliff-hanger. The 76'ers tied up their game with the Knicks with three seconds left on the clock on a basket by Ray Powers and then got another basket from Powers and two from Randy Awalt in an overtime to hand the Knicks their second shutout 40-34.

Standings after two weeks play are:

Team	Won	Lost
Hawks	3	1
Lakers	3	1
76'ers	3	1
Bullets	2	2
Knicks	1	3
Celtics	0	4

Albert Black of the Knicks picked up 25 points in the two games to increase his point production to 55 for a 13.8 average. Other high point men in week-end play were Jerry Mack with 20 points in two games, Luther Smith with 11, Joe De La Cruz with 16, Raymond Ortiz with 16 and Stanley Tatom with 23.

Friday's schedule includes Lakers vs. Knicks, Hawks vs. Bullets and 76'ers vs. Celtics. Saturday play has the Bullets playing the Lakers, the Celtics vs. Knicks and the Hawks taking on the 76'ers.

Winters Lions To Sponsor Polio Booster Project

Children and adults who received polio vaccine during the immunization program in 1963 may receive booster vaccine Friday, March 28, or Sunday, March 30, according to Lee Harrison, president of the Winters Lions Club.

The Lions Club is sponsoring another program to immunize everyone possible against polio. School children will receive their booster vaccine on March 28, and adults and pre-school age children will receive it March 30.

According to Harrison, those children who received the complete series in the original program need take only a booster at this time. Those who have not had any of the vaccine may take the first of the series on March 28 or March 30, and then take the second on May 16 or 18. Date for administering the third and last immunization will be set later, Harrison said.

The vaccine will be provided by the State Department of Health. No charge will be made for the vaccine, although donations will be accepted by the Lions Club to help defray expenses, Harrison said.

Survey Indicates Winters Continues Growing

Annually, the Area Development Department of West Texas Utilities Company conducts comprehensive surveys of cities and towns serviced by the power company, and releases results of the survey to city governing bodies, chambers of commerce and the general public. In addition, the information is channeled to individuals and companies which have an interest in the particular towns or areas or which may have potential interest.

The reports cover a wide subject area, including labor, present industry, taxes, transportation facilities, utilities, basic economy, climate, community facilities, utilities, basic economy, climate, community facilities, and industrial development programs.

In the latest report release a few days ago, information indicates that Winters remains on a growth-oriented course, with unlimited potential.

Some of the information, such as the labor market, is compiled from a county-wide angle; however, most of the information in the latest report is based strictly on the separate Winters community. The county labor force, according to the report, is 4880. The Texas Employment Commission maintains current data on available labor.

Information on present industry is confined to Winters, rather than a county basis. Industrial firms and the number of employees at the time of the survey is listed: Dry Manufacturing, 228; Pan American Industries, Inc., 101; Alderman-Cave Milling & Grain Co., 53; General Aviation, Inc., 17. A total of six manufacturing industries employ 315, all non-union, according to the report. Ad valorem tax rate per $100 current value in city limits is $1.7780.

The all-important availability of transportation is pointed out in the report, which lists one major railroad line, four major motor freight lines, and one bus line. Air transportation is available within 43 miles, with one major airline and one air taxi line located in Abilene.

UTILITIES
The report shows that Winters is well-served with various utilities, including two 69KV lines for electricity (the City owns a municipal power plant, which is in addition to the WTU power available); one gas transmission line with 1050 BTU rating; 13 long distance telephone circuits. Water for the city of Winters is from a city-owned surface lake, with system capacity of 3 million gallons daily, and sewer system capacity capable for additional use.

BASIC ECONOMY
The WTU report shows agriculture, oil and gas and manufacturing are the major resources to the basic economic growth. Effective buying income per household for the county is listed at $5,457, with retail sales per household, for the county, $6,848.

COMMUNITY FACILITIES
There are ten Protestant churches, and one Catholic church in Winters. Two financial institutions, a state bank and a savings and loan association, provide resources totaling over $41.5 million.

Government of the City of Winters is under general law, with a mayor and five aldermen. There are 16 county peace officers, three City officers, and 31 volunteer firemen with four pieces of equipment. Tax collections for the City of Winters are above average, with 99 percent collections. Also, the City departments follow a master city plan with building codes and city zoning. (Comprehensive planning for further development and growth recently was completed by a company of trained planning engineers.)

The City of Winters maintains a 22-bed municipal hospital, with two physicians. For recreation, the City maintains a city park, a swimming pool, two lakes for fishing. There also are available a theatre, a golf course, and all types of sports and hunting in the area.

Winters Independent School District maintains a primary and elementary school and a highly credited high school, and is located within 43 miles of three colleges, with another college within 52 miles. Those persons who would like to have a copy of the latest WTU report on Winters may obtain it at the office of the Chamber of Commerce or at the local office of the West Texas Utilities Co.

Boating Safety Begins On Road

Boating safety should begin before you start on that long ride to water.

The Watercraft Safety and Public Relations Divisions of the Pennsylvania Fish Commission offer the following suggestions to their boaters. The suggestions are just as applicable to Texans.

"If you are among the growing ranks of 'highway sailors,'" the Commission says, "you have to think twice about safety.

"Both your car and boat trailer should meet minimum safety standards. Besides owning the right equipment, this includes periodic maintenance to insure proper performance.

"Let's start our safety check with the towing vehicle and hitch. If you tow a load over 2,000 pounds, (including trailer, boat, engine and assorted gear) give some thought to heavy duty springs and shock absorbers.

"Never attempt to trailer a rig that weighs more than the towing vehicle. You could find yourself in a situation with the tail wagging the dog."

"Heavier rigs also require heavy duty hitches. For loads under 2,000 pounds, a standard bumper type hitch works well. For loads over 2,000 pounds, select a frame hitch.

"Before checking out the trailer, it's wise to mention the trailer 'tongue,' which is connected to the hitch. The tongue anchors the trailer to the car and should carry a portion of the weight. This is usually referred to as 'tongue weight' and is figured at 5 to 10 percent of the total load. Probably the easiest way to make sure you have enough weight on the tongue is to measure the distance between the ground and the top of the hitch. It should be between 15 and 19 inches high. Too much weight on the tongue will cause the car to squat and raise the front wheels. Too little tongue weight will cause trailer sway. Both situations are potentially dangerous.

"When checking your trailer make sure it can safely carry the weight of the boat, engine and gear. Your owner's manual will give its maximum capacity. Adequate tire pressure is another important safety check. Generally, trailer tire pressures are greater than that of the towing vehicle. A typical four tire carrying a load of 700 pounds per tire would have a

The New Black Gold Rush

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass. Just as Prudhoe Bay, Alaska, was familiar mainly to geographers until recently, so Melville, Bathurst, and Prince Patrick now share the same degree of relative obscurity. These are three of the larger Arctic Islands of Northern Canada at about the latitude of Greenland. Just as Prudhoe Bay gained overnight fame due to a major oil discovery, the Arctic Islands too may soon reveal a jackpot of oil reserves. Two exploratory wells will be drilled soon on Melville Island by Panarctic Oils, Ltd., a combine of 21 participants, including the Canadian Government (45 per cent interest).

Potential Yields

Showing exceptionally favorable physical characteristics for oil production, the Arctic Islands and their offshore areas could hold an estimated 50 billion barrels of oil and 300 trillion cubic feet of natural gas. Land areas to the south in the Canadian Yukon and Northwest Territories could hold an equal amount of oil and gas. These reserves approach the total production of petroleum to date in United States history! Such tremendous quantities of oil and gas, together with Alaskan crude, could easily alter patterns of production and distribution on a worldwide basis. Even now Venezuela is anxiously viewing its North American market in the light of potential Arctic oil.

Strategic Location

Today, well before commercial production of Northern Alaskan and Arctic Island oil will begin, studies of markets for the huge reservoir of black gold are taking place. If we examine a polar projection of the world, we note the dream of early mariners, the Northwest Passage. From the Arctic Islands it is possible to reach both the Pacific and the Atlantic by water routes, and the Islands are well centered in relation to the major world petroleum markets. Shipping distances compete favorably with those from the Midwest and South America: Japan—4700 miles; Western Europe—3700 miles; U. S. West Coast—4600 miles; U. S. East Coast—3600 miles.

However, fabled as it has been in maritime history, the Northwest Passage has not proved a feasible route for general shipping. Obviously, it is a question of ice; thick polar ice, locking the straits for over half their length for more than eleven months of the year.

rating of 50 pounds. Check with your marine dealer, owner's manual or tire company chart to make sure you inflate tires correctly.

"Underinflated tires cause trailer sway which, in turn, causes poor highway handling, excessive tire wear and excessive wear on wheel bearings. The latter should be checked periodically for proper lubrication. A 'dry' bearing can cause the wheel to lock and ultimately rip it from the trailer while you are traveling down the highway at 50 miles per hour. Need we say more!

"Don't forget the more obvious aspects of trailer safety. Before each trip make sure the hitch is connected properly and the safety chains attached. Secure the tie-downs, load equipment properly and test the brake and directional lights. Once out on the highway continue to think twice about safety! Remember there are two of you!"

ALEXBOW

The solution, then, must be unconventional use of a conventional tool. It has been proposed that large supertankers (up to 250,000 DWT) reinforced and equipped with an Alexbow ice plow, could economically transport Arctic and Alaskan oil to world markets. An Alexbow ice plow is a fairly new concept in ice-breaking. A conventional ice-breaker progresses through heavy ice, mostly by riding up on it and breaking through by sheer weight, opening a passage-way.

An Alexbow ice plow, on the other hand, is, in fact, a plow-shaped ship's bow which forces the ice up and to the sides as the ship "plows" ahead. This action creates a relatively ice-free lane for following vessels. The ultimate in Arctic shipping, also under study, would be shipment of oil from Prudhoe Bay, Alaska, to Western Europe by a route passing close to the North Pole and north of Greenland.

Caution Is Needed

Many companies — mostly Canadian, hold interests in the Arctic Islands. Some have shown substantial advances in the price of their shares as the exploration and development program has progressed. But no wells have as yet been completed. While there is every indication that oil and gas are there, production and marketing problems may not be resolved until the mid-70's. Much the same holds true for the Alaskan North Slope, although production may develop by 1970 or 1971.

Focusing On Photography

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass. Taking pictures is not only a pleasurable hobby — it's also a big and still growing business. In the period 1961 through 1966 the photography industry in this country grew at an average annual rate of about 15 percent — or twice the annual rate of the Gross National Product. In 1967 the value of photographic merchandise shipments advanced to about $3 billion, and last year it was even higher.

Bright Future

Aided by more leisure time, the increase in the teenage population, higher disposable income, new product developments, the emphasis on color, more extensive traveling by the public, and wider use of photography in education, business, and the sciences, the photographic industry could sustain a growth rate of 10 percent to 15 percent per annum during the coming decade. Amateur photography, which consumes nearly 40 percent of photo merchandise produced in the U. S., is booming. More expensive color photography has been expanding at an extremely rapid pace. Nearly 75 percent of all amateur still pictures are now in color.

The rapid increase in picture taking over the past decade has come about largely because of the simplified instant loading cameras, instant print cameras, an affluent consuming public, and the dynamic "youth" market. The overseas sector has also been an area of strong growth, and in the future may outstrip the domestic advance.

Many Participants

The three dominant companies in this industry are Eastman Kodak, Polaroid, and Bell & Howell. But there are other large firms that have an important stake in photography. For example, about 10 percent of Minnesota Mining and Manufacturing's sales come from photographic products. GAF Corp. derives nearly 25 percent of its sales from photo products. Berkey Photo fast-growing film producer, distributor, and processor, had sales last year of over $125 million, while Technicolor's 1968 revenues exceeded $116 million.

There are also numerous smaller companies with important interests in some area of the industry. A few such are Ehrenreich Photo-Optical, Perfect Film & Chemical, Pako Corp., Fox Stanley, Viewlex, Argus, AIC Photo, Fotochrome, DeJur-Armsco, and Interphoto.

Looking At The Leaders

EASTMAN KODAK is far and away the industry's leader. About 80 percent of its 1968 sales of over $2.6 billion came from photographic equipment and supplies, which included the Instamatic still and Super 8 movie camera lines, film projectors, and color processing services. Kodak also produces synthetic textile fibers, chemicals, and plastics.

This company has one of the finest growth records of any industrial firm, reflecting astute management, aggressive policies, well-accepted product line, and new product developments. Kodak's future growth should be augmented by its overseas business. Hence the Babson's Reports staff feels that Eastman Kodak may be purchased for POLAROID has compiled a tremendously impressive growth record largely because of its frequent introduction of new products. Research and development have been the company's strong points. Polaroid plans to introduce an entirely new product line of cameras, including a low-cost color model which will be priced under $30.

If there is anything that will start an argument among fishermen it is the color of the lure a bass will strike when its hungry.

Of course, there still is the old school of anglers who believe a bass strikes only when it is mad. Perhaps this is true sometimes. But a bass has to eat and he's not mad as often as he's hungry.

Same is true of other fish, too. For instance, there is the lovely rainbow trout. About the only time we see them in Texas is when trout ponds are provided at some of the sport shows. Then the fishermen (usually the youngsters) get 10 minutes time to try to hook them for the price of a half-buck. Usually these trout are brought in from Arkansas or Missouri.

Aided by the new line, plus its probable entry into other fields such as slides and copiers at some later date, Polaroid's growth prospects remain good. Polaroid traditionally sells at a very high multiple of earnings and is very volatile, but it is a good long-term holding.

BELL & HOWELL's common stock is now priced well below its former high due largely to a temporary flattening in the company's earnings. In the future, Babson's Reports expects a recovery in earnings as B & H benefits from some of its late developments. These include a new method of adding sound to home motion pictures; a new fully automatic focusing system for home movie cameras; a new electro-static copier; several new cassette audio tape recorders; and a new color television camera. Bell & Howell may be bought for appreciation.

Of course there is fishing for free in the Yellowstone and other rivers of the area. They, also, are stocked each season with catchable size trout. So, the visitor can take his choice of fishing one of the streams, or go to one of the commercial ponds, where the catch is certain.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C. —It is almost axiomatic that one invites controversy when discussing religion or religious institutions unless in the confines of his own. It may, however, be acceptable to consider what appears to be non-religious aspects of an organization related to many of our churches.

Dr. J. Lester McGee of Centenary United Methodist Church of St. Louis feels that words from some pulpits and some religious teachings outside doctrine is partly responsible for riots and disorders.

As Dr. McGee is quoted: "We are seeking to reform the World rather than to convert the individual person. No, I don't think we are trying to reform the World, we are just doing our best to conform to the World. Many preachers have been finding of late that the gods of big Government, civil disobedience and the 'new morality' have feet of clay. Meanwhile, the moral fabric of our society has been torn asunder and a secularized church is baffled before the evils of our time."

Many devoted Christians were shocked recently at press reports that "a study committee of the National Council of Churches has reported that violence is an acceptable tool for use by victims of injustice."

Apparently some of the most active and dedicated promoters of big Government, civil disobedience, the "new morality," and the various social action groups were formed within or attached themselves to, the broad category of religion.

Over a period of time, the official publications of the National Council of Churches reveal that their "General Board" has issued policy statements on most controversial issues of the day. It is hardly likely that any real effort is made to learn the views of the millions of members whose churches are identified with the Council. The record indicates that the Council has supported practically all big Government spending schemes of the most liberal nature, such as an endorsement of the guaranteed annual income for everyone as a "matter of right." They have also called for legislation for the purpose of the "reallocation of national resources" to the "poor and powerless."

The council has a very active lobby in Washington and exerts its pressures on Congress for big increases in programs which have failed to reach goals to any appreciable degree. The Council has recommended huge increases in foreign aid spending, most of which they would channel through agencies of the United Nations. Incidentally, it is the agency offshoots of the United Nations which have blurred and distorted its original intent of keeping World peace. Many of these organizations within the United Nations are like barnacles on the ship of good intent.

The Council favors admitting Red China into the United Nations and would reduce and weaken United States military strength in areas near communist China. At the same time they recommend "an increase in and tightening of economic sanctions and political pressures" against little Rhodesia who is trying to mind its own business.

The National Council through its "Youth Ministry" seems to take pride that they were at the Democratic Convention in Chicago and took part in the riots. In explaining their presence they say they assumed a new role—"not as an observer or a reconciler or even a 'presenter' but one who identifies with and joins the cause." The Kerner Commission, in a milder form than the Council, found that "white racism" was a major factor in recent city riots. The Council goes further. They contend that white racism and white resistance to black attempts to gain power "are the foremost cause of the 'crisis' in our Nation." The group supported the so-called

Literary, Service Club Wins Honors At Convention

Mrs. J. S. Tierce, president of the Literary and Service Club, and Mrs. W. B. Worthington, treasurer for 1969-70, attended the Heart of Texas District of The Texas Federation of Women's Clubs ninth annual convention, in San Saba March 9.

Mrs. Tierce gave the report of the years work of the Literary and Service Club to the convention. She also received the awards for the club. They were:

A certificate for 100 percent subscriptions to the Texas Clubwoman; a second place award for International Hostesses; and following first places: Historical Markers, also Monuments and Buildings; Home Life-Family Living; International Affairs-Latin American Scholarships; Texas Heritage-Indian Affairs-The Big Thicket.

The most outstanding award was the first place in the "Club Yearbook." Mrs. Charles Kruse has served as vice president of the Literary and Service Club for 1968-69 and as program chairman. She and her committee composed of Mmes. H. M. Nichols, Carroll Tatom, Floyd Sims, and Loyd Roberson did an outstanding piece of work in assembling the year book. The book has been sent to Austin to be judged in the state contest.

Mrs. Pearl Eoff Honored On Her Birthday Sunday

Mrs. Pearl Eoff of Winters was honored Sunday with a birthday dinner in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wood in Abilene.

Relatives present for the occasion were the honoree, and Mrs. M. L. Eoff, Mr. and Mrs. Pete Eoff and Zane all of Winters; Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Porter and Martha of Crews; Mr. and Mrs. Vernon Wood and Phillip, Mrs. Bernice Porter, Pam and David, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Rogers and Keith, Mr. and Mrs. Willis Knight, Sandra and Kathy, Mr. and Mrs. Don Qualls and Melissa, all of Abilene.

Mr. and Mrs. Jimmy Porter, Mrs. Laura Stanley, Carl and Christy of Winters; Mr. and Mrs. Terry Knight, Lubbock, Mrs. Martha Brewer of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Bob Branham and sons, John, Pete and Joe of Moran.

"Poor Peoples March," on Washington last year.

Dr. Arthur S. Flemming, Council President, has labeled "police repression of social dissent" as "pagan." The policy line of the Council is "voluntary compliance" with those laws which he favors. This line is followed up with one which would permit drafttees to seek "exemption from a particular war" and that there should be no requirement of proof that objection to serving in the Armed Forces be based on any religious belief.

Evidently the Council is substantially financed from outside its affiliated churches.

Observers conclude that it espouses causes of the liberal left much louder and more effectively than that of the church bodies it supposedly represents.

The Council is only one of a multitude of organizations representing a philosophy—a point of view—calculated to influence our Nation's affairs. If we, as citizens, dislike Federal legislation produced under these pressures, it is an indication we have lost control, by default, of the institutions we support. To whatever organization we belong, participation is necessary if we expect to shape and influence its policies.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

Austin, Tex. —Thwarted in one effort to keep down the size of the 1970-71 tax bill by school fund diversion, Gov. Preston Smith took a new approach.

He called on Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin to rush an opinion as to whether income from state-owned submerged lands (bays, river banks etc.) can be used for current school spending.

Martin earlier held unconstitutional the governor's plan to get $71.6 million in state land revenue bound for the sacrosanct permanent school fund by constitution but by statute in 1939 and 1941. So, if the Legislature can dedicate money from those oil-rich lands, Smith feels it can "undicate" as well.

"If 72 and a half per cent of the royalties involved were utilized, it would mean approximately $52 million which the taxpayers would not have to produce to meet anticipated revenues needed to finance state government during the coming two years," Smith maintained.

He asked Martin for an early ruling in preparation for a supplemental message to the legislature in which he will spell out alternative sources for the $71.6 million item invalidated by the attorney general's March 3 opinion.

Smith first said he has two alternatives: budget-cutting or a reinforced revenue plan. He decided he didn't have much fat left to trim in his budget and settled on alternative money raisers.

Legislature Acts

Legislature finally reached its full complement, with the election of Rep. John H. Poerner of Hondo, a Republican, to fill the vacancy created by the death of Rep. D. C. Howard of Uvalde. And the lawmaking process continues.

Legislators have completed action on the workmen's compensation reform bill, which raises benefits to injured workers from $35 a week maximum to $49. Measure went to the Governor for his signature following House passage 146 to 1. Senate acted earlier.

One of the session's most important measures, a proposed constitutional amendment raising the water bond ceiling to $3.5 billion to finance the state's share of the $10 billion Texas water plan, passed the House 131-15 and went to the Senate.

In their liveliest action, both houses voted out a bill to provide maximum fines of $200 and jail sentences up to six months for disruptive activities on school and college campuses. Bill went to conference committee for adjustment of differences.

Another bill cleared by both houses would permit Texans to buy rifles, shotguns and ammunition in adjoining states despite the federal gun law. Similar legislation is being considered in other states.

Senate passed a variety of bills including a Texas Meat Inspection Law (which is necessary to prevent federal regulation of meat), a trailer house uniform standards act, a 45-minute daily planning break for school teachers and extension of time for homecoming Vietnam servicemen (90 days after return) to renew their drivers' licenses.

House approved bills allowing persons between 19 and 21 to be licensed as cab drivers, protecting the rights of developers of new varieties of cotton, and requiring the labeling of eggs as to their state or country of origin.

Bills Introduced

Legislators kept dropping more and more bills into both the House and Senate hoppers, including:

A bill to require telephone companies to maintain a business office in every county seat where it provides telephone service.

Creation of a 50-member Governor's Committee on Human Relations "to recommend programs of action designed and intended to promote and obtain a better understanding and relationship between the various groups."

Establishing a Texas Board of Examiners in the Fitting and Dispensing of Hearing Aids to license and regulate all persons in that business.

Allowing haulers of agricultural products to get a permit to operate without having to serve their service would fit the "public convenience and necessity" which other truckers must show.

Creating the Legislative Modernization Committee to study and improve the legislative process.

Closely regulating when and how and for what purpose state law-enforcement agencies can use electronic eavesdropping or "bugging."

Requiring all elections in Texas to be with the use of voting machines, which the state would furnish but which would be stored and maintained by the counties.

Allowing school districts to increase the length of their school terms from nine to 10 months. Increasing the penalty for the crimes of rape, armed robbery and murder.

Providing state support for kindergarten programs voluntarily operated by local school districts for five-year-old children.

Requiring door-to-door salesmen to return a customer's money, if the customer demands it within three days after buying something which he did not solicit.

Establishing a Texas presidential primary to replace the existing system of a series of conventions and prorating the state's national-convention delegate votes according to the returns in the primary.

APPOINTMENTS

Former State Rep. Joe Burkett Jr. of Kerrville was named by Governor Smith to the Texas Liquor Control Board for a short term extending until November 11. He succeeds O. R. Crawford of Jasper who resigned.

Smith named Leslie R. Neal of San Antonio to succeed William E. Berger of Hondo on the Texas Water Rights Commission.

Governor appointed Tommy V. Smith of Austin as Commissioner of the Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Governor Smith appointed Dr. Albert B. Spires of Taylor to the State Board of Medical Examiners; James W. Throgmorton and Daniel J. Bromley Jr. of Port Arthur as branch pilots for Sabre Bar, Pass and Tributaries.

He reappointed Laurence R. Melton, Dallas, as chairman of the Committee for the Employment of Handicapped.

COURTS SPEAK

Supreme Court listened to arguments of two banks over which bank is entitled to administer $300 million estate of Sarita Kennedy East pending a decision on which will of the South Texas ranch owner is valid. Will contest itself will be heard in Kennedy County district court near Kingsville.

A 19-year-old San Antonio youth, hit by a taxi while trying to help a girl hurt in a previous traffic mishap, is not entitled to damages awarded him by the trial court, says the High Court. A merchant seaman seriously injured when he fell on an unsecured plate on a catwalk should recover $54,264 judgment, the Court found.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

To nobody's great surprise, Attorney General Martin declared unconstitutional Governor Smith's proposed diversion of money earmarked to the permanent school fund for current education spending.

Martin said legislation making air and water pollution misdemeanor offenses is unconstitutional as applied to associations and firms in that the constitutional reference applied only to individuals and private corporations. A variance by state agencies would be complete defense to prosecution.

Attorney General held as not qualified an applicant for registration as a professional engineer who holds only an agricultural degree from Texas Tech College prior to 1962.

BRUCellosis CHALLENGE

A McMullen County rancher is challenging the constitutionality of the Texas Animal Health Commission brucellosis program, which requires that cattle owners must sell any stock with brucellosis to slaughter houses.

R. J. Nunley got a temporary restraining order to stop the Commission from quarantining his cattle, which apparently have the disease. A Sinton court was to hear arguments on the issue.

Animal Health Commission is concerned because, if the brucellosis-control program is ruled unconstitutional, then other states likely will prohibit the importation of Texas cattle.

BOLL WEEVIL BEATEN?

If experimentation underway in Dickens, Motley, Briscoe and Hall counties proves successful, Agriculture Commissioner John White says the dread boll weevil may become as extinct as the dinosaur.

High Plains cotton farmers are getting the help of an experimental boll weevil trap coupled with poison-baited plants to eradicate the biggest trouble-maker in Texas agriculture history and one of the South's biggest economy-changers.

Experiment will be carried out April 1-June 30. Cotton plants used will be grown in Brownsville. Weevils used to bait thermal traps will be flown in weekly from Mississippi laboratories.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas Aeronautics Commission has certificated a new 2-flight-daily airline to connect Abilene, San Angelo and other West Texas cities with Austin, San Antonio and Dallas—Fort Worth.

Railroad Commission has allowed a Rio Grande Valley group three weeks in which to submit evidence against a proposed gas rate hike.

House State Affairs Committee has recommended creation of a new University of Texas at San Antonio and a medical school at Texas Technological College at Lubbock.

State Board of Education plans to overhaul the public schools' social-studies curriculum to emphasize properly the contributions of minorities in American history by two approaches: First, the Texas Education Agency will change the regular history courses to give proper representation to minorities; second, the TEA will include in its overall social-studies sequence for high schools elective courses on American Indian, Mexican-American and Negro American studies.

State Highway Engineer J. C. Dingwall named veteran highway engineer Sam Huff to head a new Highway Dept. division combining the major accounting and finance activities of the department.

Second annual Governor's Conference on Industrial Expansion will be May 7 in Austin and is expected to draw 1,000-1,500 industrial leaders.

Highway Commission has promised serious study to building a $30 million bridge connecting Galveston Island and Bolivar Peninsula.

Sen. Don Kennard of Fort Worth, Senate president pro tem, will be governor for a day on April 19.

State also must provide 18 medical doctors between July-January, as well as one doctor of osteopathy and two optometrists during the same seven-month period.

Trouble is opportunity in work clothes.

The Family Lawyer

Missing and Presumed Dead
One fine morning Watson kissed his wife, departed for the office... and dropped out of sight. Years passed with no clue to his whereabouts. Finally Mrs. Watson, despairing of his return, put in a claim for her missing husband's life insurance.

But the insurance company refused to pay off without "proof of death." Mrs. Watson promptly took the matter to court.

"Seven years have gone by without any sign of my husband," she argued. "Surely he must be dead."

This made sense to the court, which ordered the insurance company to pay her claim. The judge said:

"A normal person will not, if alive, remain away from his home for seven years without communicating with his family or friends."

By and large, courts follow this "seven-year rule." That is, they accept a presumption of death after seven years of unexplained absence.

But the absence must indeed be explained. The presumption does not apply if there is some other logical explanation, besides death, for the person's disappearance.

Thus, another wife's attempt to collect her husband's life insurance was denied, even though she had not heard from him for eight years. The court noted that the missing man had abandoned his family once before, that he was a fugitive from justice, and that his girl friend had vanished at the same time—all good reasons for him to "lie low."

Nor does the presumption of death apply if there has been no reasonable effort to locate the missing person. For example, a court refused to presume that an absent husband was dead, when it appeared that his wife had not even bothered to ask her in-laws if they knew where he was.

Suppose that, after the presumption has been accepted and the insurance paid, the "dead" man turns up alive. In a case where that did happen, the wife was required to refund the money to the insurance company.

The court could see no justice in letting her keep both her husband and his life insurance.

VA Says Benefits Are Tax Exempt

The Veterans Administration reminded veterans today that benefits are generally tax exempt and need not be reported as income on federal or state income tax returns.

Except for interest earned on GI insurance dividends left on deposit with VA (which is a reportable item), all proceeds from GI insurance policies are tax exempt.

Other major items of income that need not be reported include educational assistance allowances, pension and compensation payments, subsistence payments to vocational rehabilitation trainees and grants for special automobiles and "wheel chair homes" for the severely disabled.

Also tax exempt are all benefits to surviving dependents of deceased veterans and compensation allowances for dependents of disabled veterans.
