HOME TOWN Talk

By R. G. THOMAS

When we read about all the trouble on university and college campuses over the nation, of the student (so-called) take-overs of university administration offices and buildings, and the general disruption of the educational process, most of us wonder, aloud and silently, "Why don't they do something about it?" meaning, of course, why doesn't someone else pull our chestnuts out of the fire. And if we aren't very careful, many of us tend to use the same brush in painting the portrait of all young people, even though we know that the militants and the discontents who are causing all the trouble are only a small minority. But we allow them to get all the publicity—more correctly, we insist they get the publicity because we like the excitement, and demand that the information media print and screen only the excitement, not what we mistakenly consider the humdrum activities of the majority of the young people who are trying to be decent. We've brought it upon ourselves by our attitudes.

There are many hundreds of thousands of young people over the nation who have decided to "tell it like it really is," to counteract the bad publicity, to show they want to build up the nation and not tear it down. It's the Up With People movement, dedicated to plain and solid patriotism and respect for their fellow man. In Sing-Out groups, they appear before the people, and in song and music and words and actions, they relay the message.

From 100 to 120 of those young people will be in Winters next Monday evening to sing and shout their message. They'll do it in the high school auditorium, under auspices of the Winters Lions Club. The Sing-Out San Angelo group—"We are moving and we won't stand still," affirms one of their songs. "They'll explode onto the stage, racing to their places like a football team after a half-time pep talk. They'll come through the audience, spreading their exuberance; they'll ask the audience to join them in patriotic proclamation; they'll praise the power of ordinary citizens! Every song makes a tuneful pitch to patriotism, a challenge to worthier living or higher national goals.

You may not understand their rock-and-roll tempo, but you'll understand their enthusiasm in Singing-Out their feelings.

Admission is only 50 cents for adults, and 25 cents for students. Nobody makes a profit from this, either—neither the sponsoring Lions Club nor the adult advisors, who get no pay for their efforts, nor the young people. They've got a message, and they're giving their time and talents to get it across.

Don't miss it! 8:30 p. m. Monday at the High School Auditorium.

Now that April 15 (celebrated around the country as shearing day, when the sheep are fleeced), has passed, and we have finally reached the realization that little bit of change we had in our pockets really wasn't ours after all but was earmarked all along for Uncle Sam, we can look at a few figures and perhaps not run the risk of blowing our cool! For instance:

Tax Foundation, Inc., an independent research organization, estimates that in 1955, taxes—federal, state and local—taken from the average American family amounted to $1,897. Last year the tax take was $3,957! For 1969, add another $370!

In short (and ain't we all), the average earner will have had to increase his income by $2,030 in those 13 years... just to stay even! So if the average householder gained only $2,030 in income during this time, he's still standing with both feet in a hole! Except our congressmen—they just increased their own pay by 41 percent!

Residents Asked To Contribute To Brush Control

Landowners in Runnels County and throughout Texas are being asked to contribute to the Brush Control and Range Improvement Association, according to C. T. Parker Jr., Runnels County Agriculture Agent.

Hugo Vogelsang of Ballinger, BCRIA chairman in Runnels County, said the organization was established last November by Texas landowners to mount a more effective campaign against brush and improve rangelands through research and education.

Vogelsang said the goal is to obtain 1 cent per acre, each year for five years, from Texas landowners to finance the stepped-up research. Contributions, which are tax deductible, he said, may be made by sending checks to Hugo Vogelsang, 608 McCarter Drive, Ballinger, or by leaving a check at the Runnels County Farm Bureau office or the Winters State Bank. In addition, he said, there will be workers in each community giving their time to this cause.

Tickets for the "Up With People" program may be obtained from any member of the Winters Lions Club, or at the door.

The Sing-Out San Angelo group is from 100 to 120 strong, and will present a two-hour program of patriotic and thought-provoking songs and speeches. The Rev. Gene Schweizer of San Angelo, cast director for Sing-Out San Angelo, told Lions Club members Tuesday that the cast of the Up With People show "do not walk onto the stage—they 'explode' onto the stage, and all over the auditorium," brimming with the exuberance which is a trade mark of Up With People casts all over the U. S.

The Rev. Schweizer, pastor of the Lakeview Methodist Church in San Angelo, as cast director of the San Angelo group, is one of four adults who travel and work with the young people. The others are Mrs. W. D. Parleer, music director; Bill Humphrey, business director; and Mayor W. D. Knox (USAFRet), finance director.

'UP WITH PEOPLE'

Sing-Out San Angelo is one of many groups of young people between 15 and 21 throughout the United States in the "Up With People" movement, which was started by responsible high school and college young people in 1965 to tell the rest of the world that the "hippies, the yippies, the rioters and militant revolutionary gangs" do not truly represent the youth of America. There are 20 such groups in Texas; the San Angelo group is said to be the largest such organization in the South and Southwest.

Nationwide, there are three full-time traveling casts, with 180 youths in each. These have inspired and trained more than 100,000 youth throughout the world into organizing local Sing-Outs.

The Rev. Schweizer said that "Critics have reached for superlatives to describe this different type of youth, ready to work for the stuff of which this nation is made. The late Walt Disney called their production 'the happiest, most hard-hitting way of saying what America is all about that I have ever seen or heard.'"

Sing-Out's electric appeal can be ascribed to two factors: its music and the enormous gusto of its performers. The songs in the repertoire are originals—many written by the Colwell Brothers, a trio of folk-singers who have written more than 300 songs and sung them in 48 languages around the world. The favorites are "Up With People," plugging brotherhood and praising the power of ordinary citizens, and the rousing "Freedom Isn't Free," with its toe-tapping chorus, "You got to pay a price, you got to sacrifice for your liberty;" and "Which Way America?"

In their singing and their talks, Sing-Outers make a tuneful pitch to patriotism, a challenge to worthier living or higher national goals. They are the answering voice of youth to the rioting mobs which have plagued the nation in the past several years.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C. — The Department of Justice has available to it several laws which could be invoked to seek indictments against instigators of disturbances on college campuses. Laws related to interference with military recruitment are a case in point.

Primarily and essentially, the responsibility for the maintenance of order on college campuses is that of the school's administrators and trustees. The least desirable remedy is the Federal Government's intervention but some may be necessary.

The prevalent excuse for the Militants' behavior is opposition to ROTC programs and military recruiters on college campuses.

This becomes a direct Federal problem. —General Leonard Chapman, Commandant of the Marine Corps, has made public the fact that some college administrators not only are failing to control student take-over but are denying recruiters facilities to obtain volunteers. Both the Army and Air Force are having the same experience.

Militant students on many College Campuses are protesting the maintenance of courses for officers training. Of course, our enemies are the benefactors of this conduct.

There seems to be an attitude on the part of some college and university officials that the anti-war protesters should not be dealt with instantly, even when buildings are seized and the campus authorities are threatened unless student demands are met. It is obvious that in a great many instances if protesters were not against the Vietnam war and research in connection with defense preparations, some other excuse would be found, but this is the one in which the Federal Government has a stake.

The opportunity is at hand for the Federal Government to ask for indictments and tell these revolutionary students that, when a nation is at war, their conduct is aiding and giving comfort to the enemy. Even the Supreme Court has recently said that "demonstrations" can not be viewed as free speech when violence or the use of force is involved. This is "the law" and those students who insist that they can impair our military position by force and violence should be shown otherwise.

To bolster present law, several of us in the Congress have introduced legislation to cut off Federal funds to any college or university in the Land where rioting and disorders are taking place if, and only if, responsible officials of the institution sit back and make no effort to restore order immediately.

There are two approaches to this problem. We can do nothing, or a realistic approach can be made to help a few timid or indecisive administrators in these colleges and universities face up to their responsibilities. It must be they and not their students who run the campuses. The sheep dog would have to be very smart and his shepherd pretty stupid, if the dog had to

Henry L. Sanders Died Saturday, Funeral Monday

Henry L. Sanders, 80, died at 6:45 p. m. Saturday at the West Texas Medical Center in Abilene following an illness of about a year.

Funeral services were held at 2 p. m. Monday from the Winters church of Christ with Glenn Gray, minister, officiating. Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery under direction of Spill Funeral Home.

Henry L. Sanders was born in Forney, Texas, Aug. 28, 1888. In 1905 the family moved to Rannels County in a covered wagon, settling on a farm east of Winters.

He married Jessie Lee Lambert in 1914 in Winters. During World War I he served in the army, and following his discharge he returned to Winters where for 25 years he was superintendent of the Winters Water Department. He retired in 1944 and moved five miles west of Bradshaw where he farmed and ranched until the time of his illness.

Mr. Sanders was a member of the Winters Church of Christ and for the past 30 years had been an elder of the church.

Survivors are his wife; one son, Gilmore L. Sanders of Winters; two brothers, Roy Sanders of Abilene and Alex Sanders of Wilson; two sisters, Mrs. Jim Pinson of Forney and Mrs. Catherine Jackson of Tyler; and four grandchildren.

Palbearers were Jim Jones, George Beard, E. E. Vaughan, Bill Wilson, R. O. Hood and Jess Wetzel.

★ MOVIES ★

"Lady in Cement"

The scene is Miami, teeming with killers, blackmailers, topless bikinis, girls, cops, cement blocks. And Frank Sinatra is right there in the middle of the action, heading the cast of "Lady in Cement," the 20th Century-Fox presentation in Panavision and Color by De Luxe showing Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre. Sinatra plays a private eye who becomes involved with a curvaceous heiress in the shape of Raquel Welch and an ex-convict played by Dan Blocker, who is making his motion picture debut.

Go-go girls, dope peddlers, ex-Mafia chiefs and hoodlums of a dozen varieties race an irrevocable screen in the Aaron Rosenberg production. Made entirely on location in the Miami area, "Lady in Cement" burned up twenty-six different locales in six weeks of frantic film-making.

A quaint sandy spot in the area, known as "Shrimp Road," was the site of film action unmatched since the days of San Francisco's earthquake. Dan Blocker, that docile "Hoss" of TV's "Bonanza," put on a one-man show. Pretty well shattering his TV image, Blocker takes on hoods and cops alike in his role as Larry Gronsky.

decide what time to put the sheep up at night. The right to legitimate dissent and discussion on our campuses is an important tool in the process of learning but dissent becomes an enemy of education when it denies the learning process to those who are not dissenting. Militant students protesting for absolute freedom deny freedom to those who are enrolled in the institution for the simple purpose of getting an education.

It is to be emphasized again that the Legislation introduced is not to say that the Federal Government should walk onto any campus and apply its police powers. This can and should be done by the people charged with the responsibility of running the institution and teaching our young people. If this responsibility is not met by the proper officials, then it seems not only right but the responsibility of the Federal Government to look for a better place to spend the taxpayers' money to assist in educating our young people.

This in itself should be enough to apply the pressure of withholding funds but, in addition, the bombing and arson aimed at ROTC and selective service recruitment is a criminal act which should be dealt with. There is no guesswork at the intent of the Students of a Democratic Society which is the core of the revolutionary tactics on many campuses. In January they passed a resolution, a part of which states "students alone can not and will not be able to bring about the downfall of capitalism" but could advance this objective by stepping up disruptive demonstrations on college campuses, by attacking police institutes, centers of counter-insurgency, and "the repressive nature of America's police, courts and military."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Murder by Automobile
Although cars kill more than 50,000 Americans every year, we seldom think of a car as a murder weapon. Nevertheless, with growing frequency, motorists are being convicted of the crime of murder by automobile.

The key ingredient, upping the offense from mere manslaughter to murder, is malice. And a jury may find malice by logical deduction from the circumstances of the killing. For example:

A man who was rebuffered by his girl friend pushed her out of the car, ran her down, then backed over her prostrate body. In this behavior a jury found ample evidence of malicious intent, and brought in a verdict of murder by automobile.

Even if a driver has no specific intent to kill anybody, he may still commit murder—if his conduct is reckless enough to imply malice.

Thus, in another case, a man decided it would be great fun to drive up close to pedestrians and make them jump. After playing this little game several times, he misjudged his distance and struck down an innocent victim.

Tried afterward for murder by automobile, the man pleaded a lack of any intent to kill. But the court found him guilty as charged.

"Malice," said the judge, "does not necessarily mean an actual intent to take human life. It may be implied, as when an act is done so recklessly as to manifest depravity of mind and disregard of human life."

Still, however wrongful a driver's conduct, he is not guilty of murder if there is no causal connection between his bad driving and the accident itself.

Suppose, for instance, that a drunken driver is traveling down the street when he suddenly has a blackout. If the car jumps the curb and kills a pedestrian, solely because of the blackout, the driver could not be convicted of murder. True, a jury might find malice in the way he was driving. But, if the blackout would have resulted in the accident anyhow, then the bad driving could not be the cause of death.

What if the seller of the food, as part of his sales message, gives his customers a specific assurance of safety? That could increase the likelihood of his legal liability in case of a mishap.

Thus, in another chicken bone case, the injured victim won a verdict because the product had been sold as "boned chicken." The processor argued that "boned" meant only that major bones—not all bones—had been removed. But the court replied: "The fragments of bone that remained would be 'bone' to anyone who might attempt to swallow them. 'No bones' would mean to a buyer that no bones whatever would be found."

When walleyes become prevalent enough in Texas for lifting restrictions on catching them, they will be ideal for the night fisherman. They like to chase minnows into the shallow water in the cool of the evening.

By VERN SANFORD

Austin, Texas. —Nine proposed constitutional amendments, headed by a recommended boost in the welfare ceiling from $60 million to $80 million and a $3.5 billion water bond proposition, are ready for an August 5 ballot.

Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. supervised drawing to determine ballot positions as soon as the legislature cleared the measures.

Here are the amendments as they will appear on the ballot: HJR 3—to delete obsolete provisions from the constitution. HJR 9—to authorize a $3.5 billion water revenue bond issue for financing the state's share of a $9 billion statewide water plan.

SJR 31—to raise the present $4,800 a year salary of state legislators to the state-paid maximum level of district judges ($18,000) and give the lieutenant governor and house speaker half the pay of the governor (about $20,000 a year).

SJR 4—to exempt non-profit water supply corporations from taxation.

SJR 8—to raise the public welfare outlay limit from $60 million to $80 million a year.

HJR 7—to raise the constitutional interest rate limit on some state government bonds.

HJR 4—to provide for assistance payments to survivors of volunteer firemen, police and Texas Youth Council employees killed on duty.

HJR 50—to authorize an additional $200 million in Texas Opportunity Plan student loan funds.

HJR 8—to provide for annual legislative sessions.

Voters last November rejected a raise in the welfare ceiling to $75 million (which has resulted in two cuts in benefit payments) and a hike in lawmaker pay to $8,400 a year.

Legislative Action
The controversial constitutional amendment to legalize sale of liquor-by-the-drink in Texas has been cleared for statewide vote on November 3, 1970.

House voted 101-44 for submission of the issue approved by the Senate last month.

House passed a bill to comply with the federal law and provide mandatory inspection and regulation of livestock slaughtering housed by the State Department of Health. Bill by Sen. Jim Bates and Rep. Rayford Price already had passed the Senate but since the House added two amendments—to define legally "inedible animal product"—and to allow "overtime fees" for inspections—the bill went back to the Senate for approval of the amendments.

House also completed action on its $5.7 billion budget bill, moving it to conference committee to resolve differences with the Senate's $5.8 billion version. Major interest centers on House riders, including proposed withholding of funds for largely-Negro Texas Southern University Law school and a curb on use of helicopters by Department of Public Safety for traffic policing.

Among other major measures cleared by the legislature were: HB 117, making Texas governmental units (except school districts) liable for damage suits due to negligent acts of personnel; SD 5 and SB 6 permitting criminal misdemeanor prosecution of corporations for air and water pollution.

When the Supreme Court ruled the existing law on dangerous drugs out, Rep. Jack Ogg of Houston introduced a bill to ban the use of LSC and hallucogenic drugs. Ogg's bill provides for a jail sentence from 30 days to two years for the use of those drugs—or a fine of up to $3,000.

Approval by Rep. Bill Healy of Paducah would allow students who graduate from an accredited Texas law school and have already gained a bachelors degree to not have to take the bar exam before practicing. Bill is in a subcommittee of the House State Affairs Committee.

Bill by Rep. Grant Jones of Abilene was given a favorable report by the House Judiciary Committee. It would keep any facts of settlement of a claim from being admitted into evidence in lawsuits involving personal injury damages arising from the same occurrence.

Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur has five bills to update and fortify the workmen's compensation laws. Four bills deal with compensation for employees of Texas A & M, Texas Tech and the U of T system. Last deals with municipal employees. All are in subcommittee for further study.

Senate has knocked a farm workers' exemption out of the $1.25 minimum wage bill by Sens. Joe Bernal and Jim Bates. Amendment by Sen. Jack Hightower would have exempted all farm workers except those that do piece work. Bill went to the House.

CONGRESSIONAL REDISTRICTING
Anticipating U. S. Supreme court orders that Texas must redistrict congressional districts to "mathematical exactness" after that court ordered the state of Missouri to do just that, Governor Preston Smith asked the Legislature to create a 7-man fact-getting committee and present them to the 1971 Legislature. Committee will be headed by Secretary of State Martin Dies Jr. and will include three state senators and three House members.

Governor said he had been assured 1970 federal census statistics would be available in November of 1970 on computer tapes and proposed a committee budget of $225,000 which would include data computer rents.

He reasoned that this preparation would enable the 1971 Legislature to redistrict realistically. In case the state is ordered to redistrict before the 1970 census, Smith said the committee would have current information ready for legislative use in a special session.

PUBLIC EDUCATION
A survey of public opinion on proposals by the Governor's Committee on Public School Education, including the controversial consolidation recommendation, was made at the request of Sen. A. R. Schwartz of Galveston, and the committee learned that big school districts liked its ideas, but small districts didn't.

Survey showed "substantial support" for the committee proposals among school districts with more than 1,500 enrolled—in which more than 82 percent of Texas school children are attending, and some support among school districts with less than 250 children, with less than 4 percent.

Among the 325 responses from school districts of less than 1,500 enrollment, 176 favored consolidation; 142 opposed it, and 7 were neutral; 142 were for a kindergarten program, 168 against, and 15 neutral; 136 for summer schools, 160 against, and 29 neutral; 95 for guaranteed free adult education, 206 against, and 24 neutral.

OIL ALLOWABLE SOARS
Texas Railroad Commission issued its May oil proration order, with the market demand proration factor at 53.8 percent, designed to provide allowables of 3,746,706 barrels a day and estimated actual production of 3,355,462 barrels a day, the highest in a year.

This would be an increase over the April order of 195,612 barrels in allowables and 119,123 barrels of actual production.

APPOINTMENTS
Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin ended the controversy over appointments by former Gov. John Connally by holding that three University of Texas regents were properly named on January 10. Governor Smith, who thought the appointments should have been left to him, accepted the ruling.

Smith announced these appointments: Dr. Charles H. Brown of Wichita Falls, Dr. Emerson Emory of Dallas and Mrs. H. E. Butt Sr. of Corpus Christi (reappointment) to the Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation.

C. L. Cooke of Fort Worth and C. Truett Smith of Wylie to Texas Industrial Commission. Kenneth E. Esmond of Odessa and Dr. John R. Bradford of Lubbock to State Board of Registration for Professional Engineers.

Judge D. B. Wood of Georgetown as presiding judge of Third Administrative Judicial District.

Sen. Criss Cole of Houston will be delegate to 56th annual national convention of National Rivers and Harbors Congress May 13-16.

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

Change In U. S. Economy

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass. When this country was first founded ours was an agrarian society, meaning that most of our production and employment was in agriculture. In the late 1800's and early 1900's we changed over to an industrial society. Now, during the 1960's we have become the world's first service economy. This is with reservations, however. For while more than half of our work force is employed by the service segment of our economy, with production as the standard, we are still an industrial society.

Defining A Service

Defining the service sector is rather difficult. It is generally accepted that it consists of the intangibles — i.e., insurance, retail trade, finance; whereas the industrial sector produces the tangibles — automobiles, steel, and the like. Using a broad definition, the service economy is made up of a wide variety of personal, professional, and business services, retail and wholesale trade, repairs, finance, insurance, and government.

Service Productivity

Although the service economy has expanded greatly in terms of employment, it has lagged far behind both agriculture and industry in terms of productivity. Automation in the factory and on the farm has boosted productivity in these areas tremendously; but there has been only limited automation in the service sector. The computer has heightened productivity of the larger service industries, but has had little effect on the smaller-size businesses which make up over 90 percent of the total industry. And it is difficult to see how the local barber, beautician, or insurance salesman can improve on his output. Hence, while the service segment will undoubtedly enjoy improved productivity in the future, it will be limited.

Economic Significance

Employment and income in a service economy are quite different than in an industrial economy. Employment in the former is relatively stable when compared to that of the industrial worker throughout the business cycle. The consumer can put off buying a new automobile indefinitely, but cannot react the same way when he needs a doctor. In the future, the fluctuation of total unemployment will be milder due to the growth of the service economy.

Average wages in the service sector are lower than in the industrial. There are several reasons for this, among them productivity, unionization, and the general employment mix. There is very little organized labor in the basic service industry, owing to the characteristically small number of persons employed in each company. Recently, however, the services do seem to be getting more organized. Teachers, sanitation personnel, police, and firemen have joined forces to demand better wages. This trend has been gaining momentum, and the future results will be a closing of the gap between their wage structure and that for workers in industry.

That fact that the service industry does not require strong physical endurance has resulted in a high proportion of women and older people in the work force, who have historically faced wage discrimination. Recent regulations which forbid discrimination based on sex or age will bring higher wages for these people.

Service Industry Reaching Peak

Employment in the service area, which has grown rapidly over the past 30 years, will continue this trend but at a slower rate. Technology will advance productivity, but its potential is limited by the inherent personalization of the industry. Income has been improving and will continue to as long as the demand for services continues. People are demanding more and more different services — such as interior decorating, income tax assistance, and medical attention — which will account for most of the future growth in the industry. We are now a service economy in terms of employment and should remain so to an even greater degree in the future. But we will still be an industrial economy when production is the basis for comparison.

Rabbit reproduction is looked about, but a healthy pair of rabbits, where plenty of food is available, can produce as many as 20 offspring per year.

Junior Culture Club
Receives Three
Awards in Club Year

Awards presented the Junior Culture Club at the Heart of Texas District Convention for the year 1968-1969, were received recently by Mrs. Wayne Solomon, president of the local Federated Club.

Delegates and members of the club were unable to attend the district meeting to receive the awards personally. In a brief note written by Mrs. Alvin A. Stewart, president of the Heart of Texas District of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs, who sent the certificates to Mrs. Solomon, she complimented the Junior Culture group for doing so well during the club year.

One certificate was for one hundred percent subscription to the Texas Clubwoman magazine, signed by the State President, Mrs. Henry F. Shaper of San Antonio.

The club yearbook took first place in the Class A-1 division of the federated clubs of the district. The Junior Culture Club also took two second places; one in the International Clubs Department and one in the conservation department.

Winters has three women's club organizations who are members of the Texas Federation of Women's Clubs: The Literary and Service Club, The Diversity Club and the Junior Culture Club.

YOUR REPRESENTATIVE IN AUSTIN

By REPRESENTATIVE LYNN NABERS

The Criminal Jurisprudence Committee, of which I am a member, heard testimony this week on the "implied consent" bill. This bill provides that everyone holding a Texas driver's license would hereafter be required to submit themselves to a blood or breathalyzer test should they be suspected of driving while intoxicated. It provides further that in the event a person refuses to submit to a test such evidence could and would be used against him in his prosecution.

Presently, our law states that it is a privilege to hold a driver's license and be allowed to operate a vehicle on public roads. Persons applying for licenses are expected to abide by laws governing driving in the state. If this bill becomes law a person will hereafter be giving his "implied consent" to such regulatory measures as the tests mentioned when he applies for and receives a license to operate a vehicle in the state.

Should Texas fail to pass the "implied consent" law millions of federal dollars previously spent in the state would be lost. Texas would no longer be eligible to participate in the interstate system operated by the Bureau of Public Roads. Federal law provides that states participating in the program of "matching funds" must have the "implied consent" law.

It is common knowledge now that the "liquor-by-the-drink" bill has passed both the Senate and the House and will go to the people in the form of a constitutional amendment on Nov. 3, 1970.

What is not common knowledge, however, is the fact that if this amendment passes, the Texas legislature will have the power not only to regulate the manufacture, sale, possession and transportation of intoxicat-

Car Seat Belts Could Have Saved 10,000 Persons

Do you gamble with your life when you head out onto a city street or highway in your automobile?

You may be doing just that if you don't hook up your seat belt, says the Texas State Department of Health. Prevention of accidents is a function of the health department through the division of Civil Defense and Traffic Safety.

With summer vacations just ahead, now is the time to start thinking about safety and working toward good seat belt habits, say spokesmen of the Department.

Traffic claimed 3,481 persons in Texas last year and the injury total was placed at 216,972. Nationally, 53,100 persons were reported killed in traffic accidents in 1967, last full reporting year. Of these victims, 35,300 were drivers or passengers in automobiles. If all these persons had been using safety belts, the National Safety Council estimates that at least 5,000 to 10,000 of them would still be alive.

Some people feel they don't need safety belts for low speed, "neighborhood" driving. But studies show that nearly half of all fatal accidents occur at impact speeds of 40 miles per hour or less and that three-fourths of all traffic accidents happen within 25 miles of home, said the Department of Health.

The main advantage to wearing a safety belt is that it can help prevent the "second collision" when car occupants are thrown around inside the vehicle during an accident. After the car stops suddenly, people without safety belts continue traveling in the direction the car was moving and ordinarily strike part of the interior. The driver moves forward in a seated position. His legs which are sometimes trapped under him may be turned, twisted and fractured. His abdomen and chest may strike the steering wheel and column. His head may hit the windshield or his face strike the steering wheel.

The right front seat passenger, who doesn't have the steering wheel before him, crashes into the windshield and instrument panel during a collision. Safety belts can minimize such collisions inside the car, the experts said.

Along with the use of safety belts, the State Health Department advises the use of safe driving habits. Don't drive while drinking or while sleepy or tired. Obey all traffic laws and don't speed to reach your destination sooner. Be especially alert and slow down at night or in bad weather.

Soft-skinned Squash:

Have you noticed that local produce markets have a lot more summer, or soft-skinned, squash on display than a few weeks ago?

The reason, of course, is that we are entering the warm-summer season when delicious and nutritious summer squashes come into their own—right along with other fresh garden produce. Already, the winter's edge is off price tags and you have a much wider selection of varieties.

When you talk about squash varieties, some authorities say you have almost 900 choices. Many of these are available every month of the year. One category is the winter, or hard-skinned, varieties like the Acorn or Hubbard. These are good for baking and they store quite well.

And, there are the summer varieties that fit so nicely into spring and summer menus. These are the kind that are being so abundant now. Popular summer varieties include the yellow straightneck and crookneck, and the cucumber-like Zucchini. Another popular summer squash is the white Scallop.

They're coming now in increasing abundance from early spring garden areas in Texas, Louisiana, Florida and California.

It undoubtedly was the summer varieties that led the Indians to name this cucurbit "askutsquash," which means "eating raw or uncooked." They enjoyed this nourishing, native-American food long before the white man settled here.

We usually eat cooked squash. We can boil, bake, saute, or fry it. But a good rule is: "Don't cook it too much." If cooked too long, the mild, delicate squash flavor can become strong and undesirable.

Summer squash, especially the yellow-meated types, are a rich source of Vitamin A. They also furnish other vitamins such as vitamin C and Niacin.

In selecting summer squash at your market, Mrs. O'Connor suggests that you pick those whose skin looks fresh, is free from blemishes, and is so tender that it would puncture easily. The best squash is firm and fairly heavy for its size.

But if the rind is hard, the seeds may be large and rough and the flesh may be stringy. And avoid squash when the stem is hard and dry, blackened or shriveled. These are signs that the squash no longer is fresh. When you get your squash home, give it the same care you give other fresh vegetables of this kind. Keep it in the refrigerator, in a moisture-proof container, and don't buy so much at one time that you cannot use it all fairly soon.

To make the most of the delicate flavor and color of summer squash, you may want to serve it with butter, salt, pepper, minced parsley, paprika, bacon bits, or tomatoes. Quick cooking, in a small amount of water, preserves flavor and food value. Squash will cook tender in 15 minutes. Peeling is not necessary. Summer squash can be fried quickly. Use thin slices rolled in corn meal or a batter. Drop into sizzling fat. The slices will turn golden brown almost instantly. Raw Zucchini squash is good, sliced in tossed salads. Zucchini slices also serve well as dippers with your favorite dip.

Mrs. E. Martinec Reviewed Book At Club Meeting Thur.

Concluding the last regular program of the 50th anniversary of organization of the Literary and Service Club, a guest tea Thursday afternoon at the United Methodist Church featured Mrs. Edward Martinec of San Angelo in a book review.

Mrs. Martinec reviewed "Home is Where You Hang Yourself." Speaking as Cynthia Lindsay, the author, she said that the book was advice to women, but it would not be taken because we are women! Frequent chuckles from the audience proved delight in her expert presentation.

Mrs. T. H. Worthington registered guests. The table featured an arrangement of white lilac and iris.

Mrs. E. E. Thormeyer was at the piano during the tea hour.

Mrs. James Tierce, president, Mrs. Floyd Sims, program leader for the day, and Mrs. Martinec formed the receiving line. Mrs. Glenn Bowman presided at the tea table. Other hostesses were Mrs. Loyd Roberson and Mrs. Elo Michaelis.

The tea table was laid with fuchsia cloth and crystal appointments. A pyramidal floral arrangement of crabapple, orchid lilacs and iris was used on the tea table.

Seventy guests registered, including members of the Diversity and Junior Culture Club and the following guests from Ballinger: Miss Ollie C. Crenshaw, Mesdames E. C. Grindstaff, Everett Grindstaff, Ralph Spreen and R. W. Ernschaw.

"Speaker's Day" Wednesday In Texas House

Austin—SP — Honoree G. F. (Gus) Mutscher turned the tables on House Members during the April 23rd "Speaker's Day" celebration by praising the members for "the great progress being made by the House for the people of Texas during the 61st Legislature."

Traditionally, the Speaker of the House is honored during each regular session with a "Speaker's Day" and past Speakers are special guests for the day. Mutscher chose to honor his House Members in "grateful acknowledgment of their support and loyalty" which he termed the keystone of the achievements being made during this session.

Speaker Mutscher singled out Representative Lynn Nabers of the 64th District for his aid in making this Speaker's Day such a memorable occasion. Representative Nabers was the escort for former Speaker Ben Barnes during ceremonies on the House floor Wednesday morning.
