HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

The battle has been joined, between those who are truly concerned about the security of this Nation in one line, and those in the other line who believe, or for political purposes pretend to believe, that there is no threat to the security of the Nation, and who would scrap existing defense mechanisms and work for the defeat of any planning for future defenses of any kind.

There are those who bask in the sunshine of Freedom bought by the blood of others, who have never, because of political or family position, been closer to the action than the front pages or the television screen, and yet claim for themselves a generalship greater and more knowledgeable than that of the men who have spent lifetimes in training for the moment they are called upon to defend the lives of those very ones who would criticize them. There are those who would, for present and future political advantages, shout their criticisms from the rooftops and arrogantly ignore the morale problems created by their actions and words. They are the tearer-downers, not the builders.

In this vein of thought, attention is called to the weekly column by Congressman Omar Burlison, "As It Looks From Here," elsewhere in this issue. There's nourishment in what he says.

The scientists say that the cells of the human body are constantly changing; that about every seven years the body is made up of entirely new cells.

Interesting! That means that none of us are the persons we started out as, and as the years piled up, we have changed and, according to the number of years we have lived, have been several different persons. Now we have an excuse for what we are, presently. It's not our fault. Before the last change we may have been better—or worse. Perhaps that is the reason some of us don't know if we are coming or going!

Whether a man ends up with a nest egg or a goose egg depends on the chick he marries.

Read this sentence: "Finished files are the result of years of scientific study combined with the experience of years." Now read it again (only once) and count the 's' in the sentence. How many were there?

A person of average intelligence will find three. If you found four, then you're above average. If you got five, turn up your nose at almost anybody. If you got all six, then you're a near genius, and shouldn't spend time taking tests like this. Suppose you didn't find any—not even the first one at the very beginning of the sentence? Well, you shouldn't have started in the first place!

Council Adopts Budget For the Year 1969-70

Following an announced public hearing Monday night on a proposed budget for the next fiscal year for the City of Winters, the City Council adopted a budget for the year beginning Oct. 1, 1969 and ending Sept. 30, 1970.

Even though the hearing on the budget was widely announced, and copies of the proposal were distributed throughout the city several days, no one attended the public hearing, except members of the council.

The budget as approved by the Council at the Monday night meeting is the same as had been proposed and publicized.

A total of $505,385 for all departments of the city is expected to be received during the next fiscal year, according to budget figures. Broken down, this includes $205,245 for the General Fund, largest fund within the City's structure; $150,040 for the Electric Department; $62,850 for the Water Department; and $87,250 for the Municipal Hospital. This last figure is after $5,000 reserve for bad debts has been deducted from the total estimated revenue of $92,250 for the hospital. Estimated expenses for all departments total $507,863, broken down to $204,621 for the General Fund, $149,552 for the Electric Department, $62,323 for the Water Department, and $91,467 for the Hospital.

Winters Archers Won High Places In State Meet

Several members of the Runnels County Archers Association of Winters won high places in the shooting contests during the state tournament of the Texas Field Archery Association at Buffalo Gap Saturday and Sunday.

Richard Egbert was first in men's Class D bare bow, and Mrs. Marvin Clark second in women's Class B barebow. Floyd (Butch) Grant was third in men's Class D, bare bow.

There were 350 archers from all over the state entered in the contests, the largest number of shooters for a state tournament in the past several years.

The contest to select Miss Archery of Texas was held during a coffee on Friday at the Ramada Inn in Abilene. Miss Diane Gavle Tyll of the Abilene Archery Club was selected Miss Archery of Texas. Mrs. Marvin Clark of the Runnels County Archery Association was state chairman for the Miss Archery pageant, with Ray Reeve of Abilene as co-chairman. Marvin Clark attended the meeting of Delegates Friday evening, representing the Winters club, and Richard Egbert and Mrs. Jerry Whitlow attended as alternates.

Others from the RCAA shooting but not in line were Marvin Clark, Mrs. Jerry Whitlow, Mrs. Richard Egbert, Mrs. Floyd Grant and Marvin L. Clark.

Tuesday Rain Halts Harvest

Hum of combines in wheat and oat fields in the Winters area was beginning to reach a high point Monday... but rain in the pre-dawn of Tuesday brought harvest activities to a sudden and sodden halt. Harvest had only started in the area a few days ago, in earnest, and combines were beginning to cut a wide pattern in this year's grain crop when it happened.

It has been estimated that between 20 and 30 percent of this crop had been cut when the rain came. Quality of the grain being cut and brought in to Winters elevators was beginning to improve as harvest progressed, it was stated. And production has been better than had been earlier anticipated. Early-maturing varieties of grain were hurt considerably by rust, but late plantings were standing up very well. Production has been reported to be from 20 to 30 percent on wheat, better than had been anticipated, with only a few fields with lower yields. Grain had been running fairly dry, too, before the rain hit, grainmen said.

Rains which came Tuesday morning were slow, with no accompanying wind, so not too much damage is expected from these showers.

Combines are expected to return to the fields within a few days, if the weather holds out, and the peak of the season is expected within a few days following.

Results of the tournament were:

City Will Buy Air Conditioners For Civic Center

Winters City Council Monday night approved a proposal to purchase and install evaporative air conditioners in the City's new Community Center.

The Council allocated $1200 to be used to purchase and install the air conditioners and necessary duct work.

It is expected that the air conditioners will be purchased immediately and work started on installation so that the Community Center will be air conditioned by July 1, ready for the hot summer weather.

Furniture for the Center has been ordered and should be received within the next few days. City Secretary Buford Baldwin said. The city ordered 34 tables and 300 chairs to go in the new Center. Kitchen facilities, including refrigerator and stove, already have been installed.

The new Community Center already has been used for banquets, family reunions and other purposes, and with the addition of the furniture and air conditioners, it is expected to be in use quite frequently. List of reservations for use of the Center is growing daily, it was said.

ACJ Enterprises is a "merchandiser" of grain, and is not engaged in speculative operations. Alderman-Cave will continue buying local grain as has been the practice of the company in the past, it was stressed. ACJ Enterprises deals only in large orders. ## "Head Start" Program In Winters School Begins Monday, 50 Registered

All is in readiness for the summer "Head Start" program in the Winters school, according to James Jones, director of the project. The program will begin next Monday, June 8, with a short session to last only about an hour and a half.

The summer program will continue through August 1.

Director Jones said parents of children who are registered are requested to bring the children to the school cafeteria at 8:30 Monday morning. At that time parents will receive a briefing on the program, arrangements will be made for transportation for the pupils who do not have rides, and refreshments will be served.

Regular classes for this summer's program will begin at 8:30 and last until 12, at which time children will be served a hot noon meal in the cafeteria, and be ready to return home with their parents at 12:30. Children will also be served a mid-morning snack.

Jones and teachers and teacher aides attended workshops in Brownwood May 24 and May 31, in preparation for this summer program.

A total of $19,809 has been allocated for use in the 1969 Head Start program. Jones reported. Of this amount, $11,468 has been granted by the Federal government, with the Winters school providing the remainder. The local portion will be "in kind" funds, that is, cost of use of school buildings and facilities, and other costs.

Teachers employed for Head Start program this summer are Miss Sarah Parker, Mrs. Velma Hart and Mrs. Orvie Harrison. Paid aides will be Mrs. Nadine De La Cruz, Miss Sandra Beard and Miss Joan Ahrens. In addition, there will be several unpaid aides, mostly members of the Winters High School chapter of the Future Teachers of America.

City Sponsoring Summer Recreation Program For All Age Groups

The City of Winters is sponsoring a summer recreation program, for the benefit of both adults and children, with a full-time activities director.

The program was started this week. Facilities of the Winters schools are being used, to be open from 1 p. m. to 9 p. m. each weekday except Wednesday, when they will be open from 1 p. m. to 6 p. m.

Jerry Gibson, athletic director for the Winters Schools, will be the director for the program, which is being sponsored by the City of Winters with the cooperation of the Winters School. The school athletic facilities will be used in the program.

Coach Gibson said facilities will be open from 1 to 4 p. m. each day to school age children (ages 6 to 12), both boys and girls. Teen-age girls and women will also be admitted at this time.

From 4 to 9 p. m. each day teenagers and adults will be admitted. This period will be cut to 4 to 6 p. m. each Wednesday. All adults, men and women, are invited and welcome to participate in this program.

Activities will consist of organized games of all types for all participants, including softball, volleyball, soccer, basketball, touch football, ping pong, kickball, etc.

In addition there will be available facilities for weightlifting, exergenie, running and jogging programs, trampoline, parallel bars, medicine ball, and tumbling.

Coach Gibson pointed out that this program is not restricted to any group — "Everyone, 6 to 60 is invited to participate in this program, which will be a healthful activity for all," he said. There will be no charge for this program.

Petitions Being Circulated

Hospital District Election Sought

Petitions are being circulated this week asking the Runnels County Commissioners Court to call an election for the purpose of creating a North Runnels County Hospital District, pursuant to authority granted by a bill, HR 145, recently passed by the State Legislature and signed by Gov. Preston Smith.

HR 145 specified that such a petition be signed by at least 50 qualified electors, but the committee members circulating the petition state that many times that minimum number of names are expected to be on the petition.

The legislation states that an election may be initiated by the Commissioners Court, and when and if so ordered, must be held not sooner than 20 days nor more than 35 days from the time the election is ordered by the Court.

HR 145 only authorizes the calling of an election; actual creation of the hospital district will be determined by the qualified voters within the proposed district, which will comprise all of Commissioners' Precincts 2 and 3. At the election, to create the proposed district, HR 145 specifies that "there shall be submitted to the qualified property taxing electors of said district the proposition of whether or not North Runnels County Hospital District shall be created with authority to levy annual taxes at a rate not to exceed 75 cents on the $1000 valuation of all taxable property within such district."

The legislation gives the Commissioners Court authority to appoint the first five-man board to govern the district. Subsequent boards will be elected by the people of the district.

Upon creation of the District, all assets and liabilities of hospitals in any city or town in the district will be assumed by the District.

Winters City Council Monday night ratified the legislation, and began legal preparation to transfer all assets and liabilities of Winters Municipal Hospital to North Runnels County Hospital District, in the event the voters create the district.

Preparation and circulation of the petition is being conducted by a committee appointed by the Winters City Council several months ago. Members of the committee are Nelan Bahlman, a city Alderman, and Ted Meyer and T. A. Smith. This committee did the work in drawing up the necessary boundaries of the proposed district, and submitted the proposal to State Representative Lynn Nabers, who sponsored the bill through the Texas House, and to State Senator David Ratliff, who sponsored the bill in the Senate.

The piloting committee has pointed out that only resident citizens, who are property-owning taxpayers within the boundaries of the proposed district, may sign the petition. The same qualification is necessary in voting in any election for creation of the district, they stated.

The first five-man board of directors appointed by the Commissioners Court will serve on the board until the first Saturday in April of the year succeeding the year of the district's creation, at which time five directors shall be elected by the qualified voters of the district. At this election, the three directors receiving the highest vote shall serve for two years, and the other two directors shall serve for one year. Thereafter all directors shall serve for a period of two years. Each such director must at the time of his election or appointment be a resident of the district, own land subject to taxation therein and be more than 21 years of age.

The board of directors shall manage and control any and all publicly-owned hospitals and hospital facilities of the district.

The legislation authorizing formation of a hospital district is the culmination of many months' work on the part of many people in the area, who are interested in providing hospital facilities to everyone within the area.

THE APPAREL INDUSTRY

Once a drab and unappealing segment of American business, the apparel industry has gradually gained a greater measure of investment interest. In the past ten years, it has shed its ugly duckling appearance and taken on a more sophisticated stature. During this period, consumer outlays for apparel have fared better in relation to the trend and total volume of disposable income than they have in the past.

Favorable Fundamentals

Several factors have accounted for the improved image of the apparel industry. The most important factor has been the remarkable growth of personal income, particularly with respect to income per capita and per family unit. As the decade of the 1960's drew to a close, consumer expenditures for clothing burgeoned. The progress of income growth and the accompanying expansion of buying power via consumer credit altered the pattern of consumer spending to the degree where an increasing proportion of discretionary consumer buying power has been flowing into the apparel field. The affluent environment has made it possible for most consumers to maintain larger wardrobes, and has encouraged greater fashion consciousness.

Long-Term Outlook

However, the over-riding consideration is that apparel manufacturing enjoys the status of being a business which is basic to consumers. Looking ahead, the industry is not likely to lapse back to obscurity.

The fundamental social and economic progress of this nation, though not without problems, bodes well for the continuing affluence of the buying public.

Quail Cannot Live On Grass Seed Alone

San Angelo—A rather elderly, gray-bearded fallacy about the ability of bobwhite quail to subsist on large quantities of grass seed alone should be a candidate for the graveyard of myths and misconceptions, according to Jack Parsons, regional wildlife supervisor in San Angelo for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

An examination of thousands of quail crops, at various times of the year, over a 15-year period in the West Texas Rolling Plains shows grass seed alone on a par with a lettuce salad in the feed bowl of a mountain lion.

In West Texas, investigations prove that weed seeds are the first choice on the menu. Grass seeds are strictly on the minus side of the ledger.

During fall and winter months weeds make up about 60 per cent of the diet. A maximum inclusion of 10 per cent and usually less than six per cent of grass seeds of seven species are taken, making grasses almost incidental to a quail's pantry preference.

An exception is deed from fringed leaf paspalum which grows only in sandyland pastures. When available this seed has been known to make up 20 per cent of a quail's diet. It is however, an erratic seed-producer.

Foods derived from woody plants comprised the balance of the crop contents.

The bobwhite cannot live long without cover, any more than can live without food. His cover requirements, like his food requirements, are specialized and a pure grass stand offers little or no shelter.

To destroy all woody plant life and to kill out the all important weed crop, Parsons contends, is to empty the pantry for the birds.

In many cases the birds are much like their human counterparts. Proper diet food must be available to prevent malnutrition or starvation. Grass production alone simply will not support quail, and to attempt to maintain birds during the fall and winter months with such a practice is a sure method of quail eradication.

Ideas must work through the brains and the arms of good and brave men, or they are no better than dreams.

Moreover, the years ahead will see a significant increase in the 15-30 age group, which wields much power in terms of demand and fashion receptivity.

AUSTIN — Texas lawmakers have written the record of the 61st regular session, but their toughest job—levying the taxes to pay for what they have ordered—remains to be done.

In adopting a $2.8 million one-year state budget (for 1971), they invited a special session to complete appropriations for 1971 and to decide on the inevitable major tax bill. Legislative leaders, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes and House Speaker Gus Mutscher, claim the latter will be smaller if the finance showdown can be delayed until next year.

Gov. Preston Smith, who holds the key to the timing of the special session, has made clear from the start that he feels the Legislature should face up to a biennial budget and the raising of needed revenue. He could veto the single-year bill and call another session immediately—or accept it and schedule the remaining financial work whenever he pleases.

Many all-time legislative records have topped at this session. Certainly, the 61st session passed more legislation than any before it, and it was committed in advance to spending more money.

A multitude of laudable ends were obtained. Giant strides made in the field of education. Teachers got a $61.9 million pay raise. Overhauls were ordered in the field of vocational and technical education. Three new medical schools, a dental and two nursing schools were authorized. Also, three new universities, plus an experimental upper-level branch college in Laredo. Never have so many new higher educational facilities been launched in a single session.

A master water plan got all the legislative support it could expect. Workmen's compensation laws were updated. Sweeping controls were approved over air and water pollution. A constitutional amendment to legalize the sale of liquor by the drink was submitted, along with many other proposed changes in the constitution. State employees got a 6.8 percent pay raise.

Texas' 61st Legislature was a busy, productive session. It was a liberal-spending one with the bills yet to be paid.

"The citizenship of Texas will applaud our work at this session and give us their full support when we return to appropriate and finance the second year of the biennium," concluded Speaker Mutscher.

LAW ENFORCEMENT PLAN ADVANCED

Texas' new State Criminal Justice Council has recommended a comprehensive $1.1 million law enforcement plan that covers a wide scope of activities.

Governor Smith will analyze it before it goes to the U. S. Department of Justice for approval and funding under the Federal Omnibus Crime Control and Safe Streets Act of 1968. Funds for a two-year operation must be committed by June 30.

Texas received $234,000 for riot control and $830,350 in planning money six months ago.

Council voted priority funding to these programs: Prevention of Juvenile delinquency, education and training in all elements of the criminal justice system, regional and statewide information and communication systems, community relations programs, experimental and demonstration projects to test and evaluate new approaches to solving problems in criminal justice system.

Approved funds will be disbursed to 21 geographical planning regions of the state. Congress now is considering funding which would provide Texas more than $11 million in action money, plus planning aid for next year to develop a long-range plan and begin putting it into effect.

COURTS SPEAK

An order by the Midland District Court to jail nine union members for picketing the Texaco plant at Port Arthur was invalidated by the State Supreme Court. House of Representatives followed up in a matter of hours by passing a bill directing that lawsuits to halt picketing and strikes must be filed in the counties where the labor dispute arises.

Supreme Court ordered an Austin trial before August 1 of Clyde Durbir Jr. charged with killing two University of Texas students early this year.

Third Court of Civil Appeals affirmed a lower court condemnation award of $247,526 against Austin in connection with Decker Lake and a park area east of the city.

BEAUTIFUL, BEAUTIFUL TEXAS

Governor Smith will keynote a one-day workshop June 11 to stimulate the preservation and enhancement of natural beauty in Texas. This second annual clean-up and beautification conference of the Beauty Texas Council will be held at the Villa Capri Motor Hotel in Austin.

Beauty Texas Council was organized in 1967 to combat the litter problem and to advise and act as a coordinating agency through which business and industry, government, public and private organizations may work together to solve the problems of Texas beautification.

ATTY. GENERAL RULES

A person not registered as a voter is ineligible for election or appointment as an independent school district trustee. So advises Attorney Gen. Martin in ruling on a Spring Creek school election issue. A similar opinion was returned earlier following a Honey Grove controversy.

In other recent opinions, Martin held that: —Texas Foundation School Fund Budget Committee must include cost estimates for the school program training all prison system inmates over and under 21 years of age who are not high school graduates.

—A bill providing for private road construction and maintenance in counties of 10,000 to 10,050 population is unconstitutional as a local and special bill.

—Bexar County is required to advertise for competitive bids on all purchases including road machinery, although some emergency buying is expected.

—State funds cannot be used for payment of group insurance policies for legislators and their dependents.

—An act to prohibit corporations from engaging in farming or ranching (allowing a 10-year period to sell interests) would be unconstitutional.

—State treasurer must publish information on unclaimed funds over $50 held and owing by life insurance companies.

Conservation, Resource Development Tied To Local Economic Growth

Conservation and resource development is tied to economic growth. Harvey Kahlden, Soil Conservationist with the Runnels County Soil Conservation Service, reminds that a proper mixture of resources, people, and investments results in job creation, higher disposable income, higher quality food and water, better homes, schools, highways and community facilities.

Kahlden said resource planning must be long range and based on a sound evaluation of existing physical, social and economic conditions. He said in planning one must consider the needs of agriculture, industry, business, and other interests of people that are in keeping with accepted land use and resource capabilities.

Adequate soil and water information is vital during planning as the base for choosing among land uses. Kahlden said at the present time we have adequate land for all purposes, but we need to be selective in determining the most appropriate uses of land.

He said a good conservation program will provide the things industries are looking for in a community, such as a dependable water supply, flood control measures, housing, a good school system, and recreation facilities.

Many industries have remained in communities only when assured by local leaders that problems of too much or too little water would be solved.

Mrs. Owen Parrish Honored At Surprise Birthday Party

A total of 504 years was represented when four sisters and two brothers surprised Mrs. Owen Parrish with a visit on her 89th birthday Saturday.

Those visiting Mrs. Parrish, the former Lela Humphreys, were Lula Smithson, 87, of Abilene; Lillie Dean, 85, of Amarillo; Laura Gannaway, 83, of Daltart; Bill Humphreys, 81, of Sudan; and Walter Humphreys, 79, of Abilene.

Mrs. Parrish also had both her children, Vester of Wingate and Mary Lou Newsom of Fort Worth, present for the day. Others attending were grandchildren, nieces and nephews.

Born May 31, 1880, on a ranch in southwest Taylor County, Mrs. Parrish has continued to live in the area except for a time when her children were in school at Wingate and the family lived there.

Her knowledge of the ranch where she lives dates back to 1871, when her grandparents, the Tom Thompsons, came from Alabama with their seven year old daughter who became the mother of Mrs. Parrish. Seven families came in a wagon train and camped together on Valley Creek to protect themselves from the Comanches.

Being the oldest of the family, Mrs. Parrish took care of the younger children after her father's death while her mother herded sheep and mended fences. She and Owen Parrish, the foreman on the Humphreys ranch, were not married until she was 31, as she would not leave until the children could care for themselves.

In the meantime, Mr. Parrish bought land and built them a home where Mrs. Parrish has continued to live with a housekeeper since her husband's death in 1961.

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON

Congressman
17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Following last week's comments on what happens "after Vietnam," it seems apropos to quote the eminent Chaplain of the United States Senate, Dr. Fredrick Brown Harris, answering the question: What is the religious justification of the right of self-defense against aggression? It was just two years ago that his statement on this question was published by U. S. News & World Report.

The wisdom of military preparedness is being challenged today by powerful and influential sources.

"There is nothing inherently good or bad about a sword," Dr. Brown says. "The quality of sharpened steel may depend on whether it is in the hands of a surgeon or a bandit. Earth's greatest Teacher admonished, 'Put up your sword; for he that takes it shall perish by it.' That sword was drawn in anger and vengeance. It was a bad sword. But Jesus also said, 'I am not come to bring peace, but a sword.' That sword unsheathed against evil was a good sword. All depends upon the purpose for which the blade is to be used.

"Without swords, coerced men are compelled to cry peace when there is no peace and to surrender the most heavenly things to the most hellish forces. There is a sword bathed in heaven. If swords are in the hands only of those who cannot be trusted with them, then the only peace possible between the lion and the lamb, which, it is proscribed, shall some day lie down together, is for the lamb to lie down inside the lion. There are present-day appeasers of evil who would label that arrangement peace. But a peace dictated by unethical force is the peace of slaves.

"A nation must be strong to make its word for peace effective. A peace gained by constant retreat because of the threatening blackmail of superior force is not peace, but war. It will be a day of mourning for all the free world if ever our nation, whose potential force is the greatest, refuses to back to the hilt its belief in universal brotherhood and to use its terrible swift sword against aggressors ready to pounce on new victims.

"There always is enough bod in the world to shatter any dream of an ethical peace, unless that ill will has a restraining fear of the power of organ-

Weather Is Big Factor In Turkey Population

The wild turkey population increases or decreases with the amount of rainfall received, according to Robert L. Cook, wildlife biologist for the Texas Park and Wildlife Department.

Years of ample moisture are marked by an increase in the number of turkey and the number goes down during extended dry periods.

During the dry years in the 50's, the wild turkey population appeared to crash and almost died out in some areas. But it bounced back to a high point in a matter of one year in 1957.

The effects of weather are exhibited in the hen-poult data of 1967 and 1968. In the dry year of 1967 there were 13 hens per poult in the Edwards Plateau. However, following the rains in 1968 there was one hen per six poult.

The turkey population for Texas was estimated to be 206,000 birds in the low rainfall year of 1967. During the more favorable moisture year of 1968 the estimate was 575,000 turkey.

The harvest for 1967 was listed as 10,000 turkeys or 5.04 percent of the population. The take during the 1968 season was estimated to be 24,412 birds or 4.24 percent.

The accumulated data about wild turkey for the past four years indicates that harvest has been fairly consistent, but the turkey numbers have fluctuated from 206,000 to 575,000.

ized good will. To weaken the national striking power is to vote to make it inevitable that the democracies shall be forced to do the bidding of oral perverts who have been allowed to fashion a preponderance of words.

"Of course, force never is the last word. At best, it but clears the way for the constructive agencies of friendship, god will and cooperation to do their healing work, so that at last swords can be turned into plowshares. But when you face men who have put the state on the throne, instead of God, you cannot conquer them by kindly example or a friendly smile. No gentle charms can stay the fangs of the cobra when it is ready to strike. To allow callous devilry—whenever it is powerful enough—to trample righteousness into the mire at will, while the forces of good stand impotently by, is a tragic travesty of justice and judgment.

"In England, before World War II, a group of influential clergymen, ignoring Germany's rearmament led a movement utterly to renounce the sword of defense.

"Declaring they were willing to risk all on meeting Hitler's threat with understanding and god will, they secured hundreds of thousands of signed pledges of a virtual refusal to take up arms. That futile policy, sincerely followed, helped to bomb the churches of which these preachers were the ministers and to fill the land with lamentations for the mangled and the dead. That crusade was a definite factor in Britain's unpreparedness when the foe struck. Time tragically proved it was no hour to exchange a clean sword for an olive branch.

"In America, a man stood up in a free pulpit to preach. He quoted detached sentences from the Christ whose hand held the lash when His Father's House was made a den of thieves, and whose eyes were often as a flame of fire. The preacher declared that evil, no matter how diabolical, was never to be resisted with any physical weapons. Rhetorically, he asked, 'What has a sword ever accomplished worthwhile?'

"In a pew was a worshiper in whose heart was an aching void and in whose home was a Gold Star, speaking of the valor of a young crusader who marched forth with a righteous sword and came not back. At the church door, following the service, that worshiper said to the clergyman: 'I can tell you one thing that the righteous sword has done.'

"'What?' asked the minister. 'Replied the listener with deep feeling: 'The sword in the hand of those who have resisted militant evil has given you the right to stand here today and to proclaim your convictions without fear of being liquidated.'

"The one who had publicly said that rampant evil was never to be resisted by force paled for a moment and then acknowledged, 'I am afraid I cannot refute that.'

"There is no refutation in God's world and man's for the flash of the righteous sword!" Without impugning motives of any man, it all devolves down to the question of appraising the kind of world in which we live. Should we trust those who have historically avowed to destroy our Nation or be prepared to defend ourselves at whatever cost?

It will be shown at the State Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday.

"Live a Little, Love a Little" . . . Some wise guys are lucky—the ones, for example, Elvis Presley decides to brush off rather than cool off.

Take it from Norman Taurog, a pioneer Hollywood director who recently guided Presley through MGM's "Live a Little, Love a Little," their ninth film together and who knows the star better than any film-maker in the business.

Says Taurog: "Elvis is as tough as nails. He insists on doing all his own fight scenes in his pictures. But I have never seen him belligerent. Occasionally, on a location some smart alec will get cocky and try to needle him but he invariably laughs it off.

"They don't know it," continued the director, "but those wise guys could be hurt. Elvis can split a brick with a chop of the hand, and I have seen him break three two-inch boards with a karate blow. He won't run from trouble but he never looks for it."

Presley's latest movie, "Live a Little, Love a Little," will be shown at the State Theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, July 5, 6, and 7.
