HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Strange things happen in the visitor center of the Texas Highway Department in Austin. Recently, a man arrived equipped with a metal detector which he proceeded to use on the lawns around the fish pond. He put his equipment to work where groundskeepers deposit sediment when cleaning the pond, and he dug up quite a fistful of change. It seems Capitol grounds strollers believe the pond is a wishing well. Another young man called and said he had a 12-inch goldfish he wanted to donate to the state. But the strangest call to the center was from a man who asked to speak to "Eminent Domain."

It has been suggested in suspected quarters—and believed by those of little backbone and faith—that we are living in a "sick" society, suffering from something for which there is no cure. That's questionable, of course, for each age has been plagued by its own brand of "sickness," as a study of history will verify, if we only take the time to understand. This age in which we are living is not so peculiar as we would sometimes like to pretend, in spite of everything going on. There are ills, naturally, but they are not incurable—even incapacitating—if we will only use our heads in seeking the cures. The trick is to refuse to knuckle under to any of this "sickness" which we are told surrounds us—and the medicine needs to be distasteful only to the germs which cause the illness.

Perhaps, however, one of the causes of some of the little ills with which this country and this society are said to be infected, is the fact that America has "moved off the front porch." We, as individuals, and thus society, have withdrawn into our own little cubbyholes of self-sustained security, and have refused to acknowledge the fact of neighborhood. Except that it be of profit to us in some manner or other.

Time was when the front porch, with its front porch swing, its front porch rocking chair, and front porch steps and railing, was the focal point of much of our lives. It was there, of an evening, when household and yard chores were finished, we congregated, seeking the coolness of early evening. It was from there we greeted, with genuine interest, our neighbors on either side; or called greetings to others who strolled past. We were concerned with their problems and relished with them their good fortunes. We knew them.

Take a look at most of the homes (houses) which have been built during the past couple of three decades, however. That front porch is missing. There's only a stoop leading to a closed door. We have moved into the house, curtained the windows and glued ourselves to an electronic gadget called television. We have shut out our neighbors, and any visitor is likely to be resented for his interference with our favorite program. At best, we have moved into the back yard, clustered around our "outdoor" living apparatus, much of the time behind protective fences.

We have "moved off the front porch," and therefore have almost ceased to function as a nation of neighbors: As a result, we have grown to suspicion any word or action which does not fit into our conformed daily life. To cure some of those "ills" which seem to beset us, perhaps we need to raise the shades, open the front door, and "move back to the front porch." We need to become "neighbors" with our neighbors again. We need to break out of our shells and build some speculative front porches.

Marijuana Big Problem, Local Lions Club Told

Traffic in and use of marijuana and other narcotics has created a big problem for law enforcement officers, especially in the larger cities, Winters Lions Club members were told Tuesday. And use of the narcotic has become a problem in some high schools and even in junior high schools, they were reminded.

Larry Faulks and Pete Hernandez, special agents in the Narcotics Division, Abilene Police Department, told Winters Lions Club members that use of marijuana has even reached down into some junior high schools in Abilene and other places, and is a big problem in high schools and colleges. "And even in the business world," they said.

During the program they presented at the Tuesday luncheon, the Abilene police officers said they had, during the past year, made a good many "busts" of young people involved in possession of marijuana and other narcotics, and they have knowledge of users and passers of illegal drugs, but that evidence is hard to obtain.

Officer Faulks said that he had talked to young high school, college and junior high school students who were known to have smoked marijuana, and that the young people all expressed the belief that its use is not addictive, and that they could quit at any time they desired. However, he said, invariably marijuana smokers graduate to some type of stronger drug, and become "hooked."

Not only is traffic and use of marijuana becoming serious and more widespread, the Abilene officers said, there also is a growing usage of drugs of other types, such as diet pills, LSD "speed," and many others. He exhibited a hypodermic needle which he said had been used to give shots of diluted diet pills to 25 young people on one night—without a thought to sterilization.

Faulks said that there probably is marijuana growing now in this section of the state, and they expect to find it at any time. Officer Hernandez burned some marijuana leaves in a can and let Lions Club members sniff the odor so they would be able to recognize it. They also reminded Lions of some of the symptoms developed by users of drugs. A general lack of interest in surroundings, a change in personality, and in school, a sudden lowering of school grades, he said, should be viewed with suspicion by parents or teachers.

Faulks said that many junior high, high school and college students, and even persons in the business world, use not only marijuana, but all types of drugs—"anything they think will give them a kick." He said (Continued on page 8) to call an election for such creation, upon presentation of a petition signed by 50 or more property-owned taxpayers in the two commissioners' precincts affected. The petition was to have been in circulation last week, but technicalities delayed its preparation. The committee working on this project said the petition should be ready for signatures this week.

Bill Baldwin To Legion's Boys State In Austin

William Don Baldwin of Winters is attending the twenty-ninth annual American Legion Boys State in Austin this week.

Boys State is sponsored by the Department of Texas, American Legion, and held on the campus of the University of Texas. 750 boys from all parts of Texas were registered for the annual event.

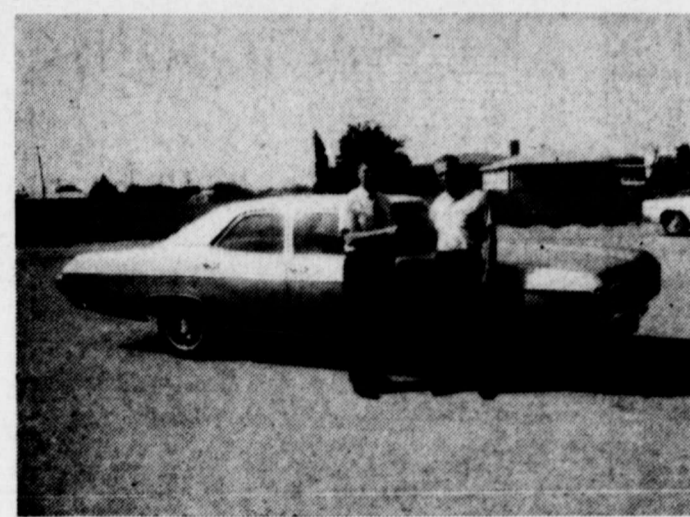

Baldwin, sponsored by the local American Legion Post, is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Buford Baldwin of Winters. He will be a senior student in Winters High School next fall, and has been a member of the football team, track team, member of the Future Teachers Association, and is vice president of the student council.

At the annual Boys State, following registration, each citizen was assigned to one of two political parties—the Nationalist or Federalist. Each citizen then functions as a member of his party; he attends its precinct, county and state conventions and votes in its primary.

In Boys State, the American Legion provides the type of program where the young citizen has the opportunity to learn for himself that his government is just what he makes it. The boy "learns to do by doing."

Highlight of Boys State will be a trip to the Capitol on Friday morning where each elected Boys State Official will be given an opportunity to serve in his respective office for a day, followed by the Governor's Ball Friday evening.

Boys State enrollment this year brings the total to 14,154 high school boys who have attended since 1940, when Boys State was first inaugurated in Texas.

Board Hires Four More Teachers For 1969-70 Year

The Board of Trustees of Winters Independent School District Tuesday evening confirmed employment of four more teachers for the next school year, Superintendent Carroll Tatom has announced.

Mrs. Kirke (Carolyn) McKenzie has been employed as a music teacher in the Elementary School.

Mrs. Harry (Margie) Grantz will be a sixth grade teacher.

Mrs. Ernestine Geistmann, who taught at Winters several years ago, and has since taught at Eola, Temple and at Miles for the past six years, has been employed as a sixth grade teacher.

Mrs. Joe Burroughs of Coleman has been employed as a senior English teacher. She has taught in the Coleman school since 1949.

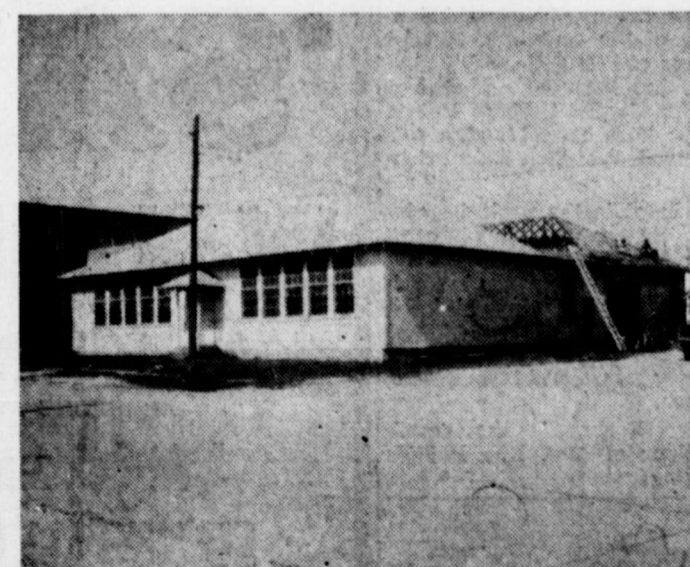

The School Board also accepted resignations from Miss Rita Schwertner, high school math teacher, and Miss Connie Breeding, second grade teacher.

Also during the Tuesday night meeting, the School Board accepted bids to sell three old school buses for $1191.

Winters Lions Cut 45th Birthday Cake Tuesday

Tuesday, June 10, was the 45th birthday of the Winters Lions Club, and club members cut a birthday cake during the regular noon luncheon.

Mrs. Agnes Lawrence, president of the Women's Industrial Club, represented her organization in the surprise presentation of the birthday cake to the club. The Winters Lions Club was organized June 10, 1924, by the San Angelo Lions Club.

Third Time Around: School Building Used Twice, Now Implement Shed

Once a modern school building in a thriving farming community, the Vocational Agriculture building of the Winters High School has been sold to David Carroll for an implement shed and will be replaced with a more permanent type department in keeping with other buildings on the campus.

The three room building was erected in 1925 to replace a smaller school in the Poe Community west of Winters. This structure was in use until the school was discontinued in 1936, and remained vacant.

On June 7, 1948, the building was moved to the Winters

Rains Call Halt To Busy Farmers

Rains Tuesday of last week called a temporary halt to farming operations in North Runnels County, but the weather turned good toward the end of the week and many farmers got back in the fields by Sunday. Many combines were in operation Sunday, as well as planters.

But combiners and planters had little time to re-group before more rain hit Sunday night, causing another stoppage in all phases of farming. Accompanying the rains were high winds, which did some damage to ripe grain.

Rain which fell Sunday night or early Monday morning measured 0.41 inch, bringing the total for the month to 1.45 inch.

Row-croppers, who still are attempting to get milo and cotton in the ground, are experiencing another set-back, with the normal deadline for planting rapidly approaching. As C. T. Parker, Runnels County Extension Agent, said Tuesday, "There has been too much rain in many parts of Runnels County this year."

Although conditions—even between rains—look good from a distance, seepage in grain and row-crop fields is causing considerable trouble, making plowing or grain cutting near impossible. This was a condition even before Sunday night's rains. One combine operator, who had been operating a few days since the rains of last week, said after Sunday night's rains it would be impossible to get his machinery out of the field for a few days.

There is good hope for the grain which was blown down by the high winds Sunday night, according to most sources—if no more moisture is received, most of the grain can be picked up, it was stated. But if more

Lions Club Sends Local Boy To Children's Camp

Alexander de la Cruz, nephew of Mr. and Mrs. Joe de la Cruz of Winters, will begin a two-week session Sunday at the Texas Lions Camp for Crippled Children through the efforts of the Winters Lions Club.

Owned and operated by the Lions of Texas, the camp is located three miles southeast of Kerrville, just off Highway 27. It covers 500 hillside acres and has 16 permanent masonry buildings, a large swimming pool, and amphitheatre. More than 700 blind, deaf, mute and crippled boys and girls of Texas enjoy the facilities of the camp each summer free of charge. Lions club members provide transportation to and from the camp.

Campers are divided into two age groups with three sessions each summer for those seven through 11 years of age, and two sessions for those 12 through 16. Camp activities include hiking, handicrafts, games, outdoor camping, nature study, singing and swimming. All campers shed their braces, crutches and wheelchairs for daily personal swimming instruction in the large pool designed especially for handicapped children. The camp is staffed with highly trained personnel with a ratio of approximately one staff member to each two campers.

Each two-week session during the summer is climaxed on the final Friday night with an Awards Night Program in which trophies and certificates are awarded to outstanding campers in various categories.

Mutt Colburn Is New Maintenance Super At School

James C. (Mutt) Colburn has been named maintenance supervisor for the Winters Public Schools, Carroll Tatom, superintendent of schools, has announced.

Colburn succeeds A. L. (Shorty) Mansell, who is moving to Abilene. Mansell has been maintenance supervisor at the local school for the past seven years.

Colburn for several years has been employed by G. W. Strake, oil operator, in the Winters area.

rain comes, there will be a big loss.

County Agent C. T. Parker said Tuesday that "up" cotton is looking good over most parts of the county. But the old milo is "just sitting there," he said, and wet weather is preventing needed plowing. There will be "all ages" of cotton and milo this year, he said, and late milo runs the risk of a bout with insects.

Although this is not known as a big "oat" country, grainmen said that what oats have been received have been of good, heavy quality. "The best oat crop since '58," is the description of this year's crop.

On the other side of the coin, ranchers are happy over the conditions of pastures. Many of the old timers, according to County Agent Parker, are reporting the "best pasture conditions ever." This condition, plus a healthier price on livestock, he said, makes this facet of the local economy look much brighter.

Cost of Money Hits New High, Now 8 1/2 Percent

The cost of borrowing money reached a new high Monday when major banks across the country increased their prime lending rate to 8 1/2 percent.

An increase from the previous 7 1/2 percent high had been expected by some in the banking community, but the size of this week's increase was a surprise to many.

The immediate effect of the increase in the prime rate—the interest banks charge their biggest and best customers—will be to make it more costly for large corporations to borrow.

Other rates, such as interest rates to consumers, small businessmen and farmers are scaled upward from the prime rate.

Woodrow Watts, president of The Winters State Bank, said Tuesday that the Winters bank "is trying to ride out the crest of the high rate increase," and that adjustments locally will be made "only when it becomes necessary to maintain position and operate in the present money market."

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON

Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C. —On May 30, 1916, President Woodrow Wilson issued a proclamation designating June 14th as "Flag Day." The date chosen by Wilson was not without reason.

On June 14, 1777, The Continental Congress adopted a resolution, which for all intents and purposes, originated the official design of our U. S. Flag. The resolution provided, "Resolved that the Flag of the United States be made of 13 stripes alternate red and white, that the union be 13 stars white in a blue field representing a new constellation."

Observance of June 14 as National Flag Day stems from that action by the Continental Congress meeting in Philadelphia on this day in 1777.

Many people lay claim to originating the idea of "Flag Day" to be celebrated on June 14th. Organizations of "Fathers of Flag Day" and "Mothers of Flag Day" are numerous. Doubtless President Wilson was influenced by these groups to issue his proclamation but the date itself had been historically established.

A school teacher from Fredonia, Wisconsin probably deserves the greatest credit for his campaign to designate a day to especially honor the flag. In 1885 Bernard Cigrand arranged for his students in a small country school to put on a program called the "Flag Birthday." It was held on June 14th. From then on, both during his teaching and after retirement, Mr. Cigrand devoted his time and energies to having a special day set aside to honor the flag of our country. From what is known of this man, he thought that even then too many people took our heritage for granted and failed to appreciate to the proper degree the significance of the flag.

History is a little uncertain as to who actually proposed the original flag. There is disagreement on who conceived the design and even whether Betsy Ross, at the request of George Washington, sewed the first flag together in June, 1776, in her house at 238 Arch Street in Philadelphia. There is even a question about where the flag was first flown. During the early part of the Revolution George Washington used the "Grand Union Flag" which bore the British Cross of St. George and St. Andrew on a background of blue with 13 red and white stripes representing the Colonies. It was meant to symbolize unity among the Colonies and to bolster the morale of his soldiers.

The British Crosses represented the relationship to the Mother Country and even though the Revolution was on and fighting in progress, the flag was used as long as there was hope for reconciliation before all ties were severed.

After several months of fighting, hope of averting total war was finally abandoned.

It may have been soon afterwards, that George Washington, Robert Morris and the uncle of Betsy Ross' husband, George Ross, asked her to sew a flag of a certain design representing the independent colonies. There seems to be no official data to prove where the flag was first flown or its dimensions.

The record is made clear some 37 years later when Francis Scott Key, a prisoner aboard a British ship in Baltimore Harbor, wrote a poem describing the attack on Fort Mchenry. He immortalized that particular flag as the "Star Spangled Banner."

Regardless of a lack of documentary proof as to who actually designed and put together the original American flag, Betsy Ross is fixed in our minds and tradition as the seamstress. In 1952 the U. S. Post Office Department supported official recognition by issuing a Betsy Ross Commemorative Stamp.

As strongly steeped as we are in tradition and as loyal as we may be to history, the importance of who did what and when, pales in significance with the meaning of the flag. Like Mother's Day, Father's Day and other specially designated dates, every day should be one to honor the flag of our country. But a special day brings it to our special attention and tends to generate new inspiration during the days in between.

Art Fair Honors Gay Vendra Rogers

The art work of Gay Vendra Rogers was on display Sunday when Mrs. William Kasson of 1107 Sparks Street, Midland, held an Italian Street Fair Party and supper in the yard of her home, honoring and in recognition of the artistic productions of the sophomore high school student.

Miss Rogers, 15-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Elwerd Rogers of 1704 College St., Midland, has been an art student of Mrs. James Cobb at Edison Junior High School and a private student of Mrs. Elda Prickett.

Included in the work done by Miss Rogers are the illustrations for two children's books, "Jack the Easter Bunny," which has been completed and "The Littlest Raindrop" near completion. Captions for the picture-story books were written by Mrs. Kasson.

Miss Rogers is the granddaughter of Mrs. Bub Phillips of Wingate.

Sheep and Lamb Numbers Continue To Drop In Nation

Sheep and lambs on the nation's farms and ranches have declined by more than a third since 1960 and three-fifths since 1942. On January 1, 1969, John G. McHaney, Extension economist at Texas A&M University, said the number was down to 21.1 million head, 5 percent below a year ago.

Most of the decline, he noted, was in breeding ewes, four percent for the nation and about seven percent for stock sheep in Texas. The number of replacements was also down in Texas and the nation by 5 percent.

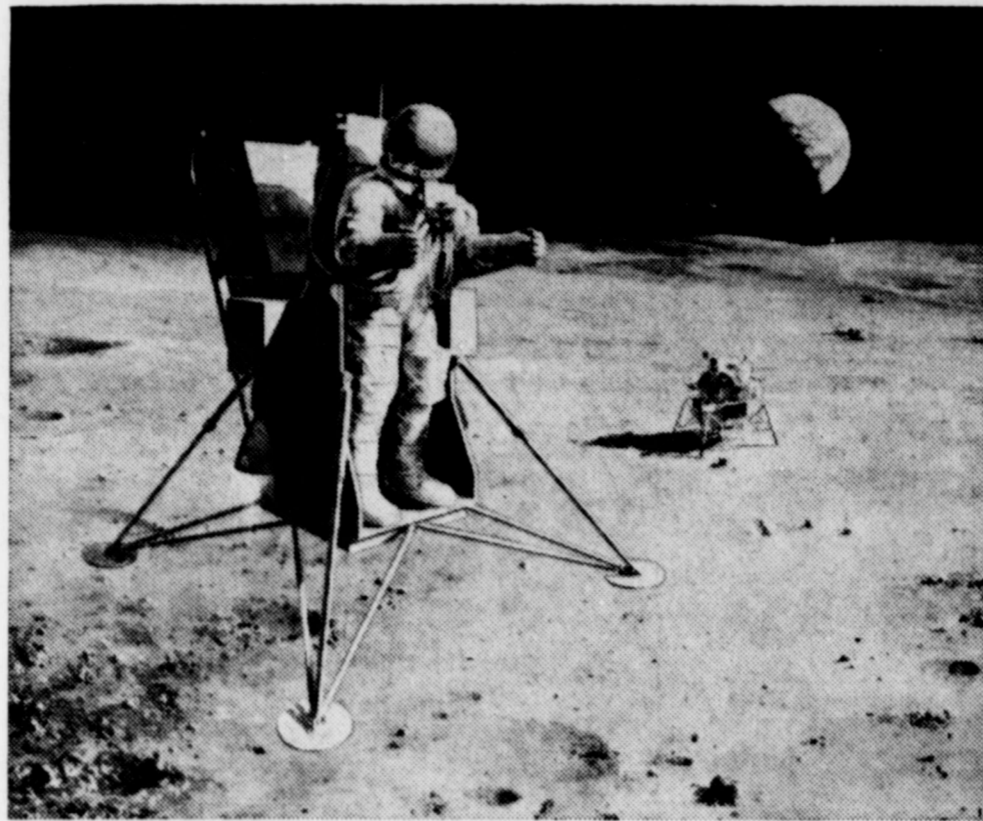

Considering supply and price trends for red meat in general, the economist said the outlook for lamb prices seems favorable. Lamb prices will continue to be influenced by supplies and prices of other meats; however, the effect will be lessened as the relative supply of lamb is reduced, he said.

Lamb slaughter in the summer and fall of 1969 is expected to continue below last year due to the smaller lamb crop this year. McHaney noted that slaughter supplies in the second half of 1968 are likely to be lower than a year ago. The shift to earlier lambing in some Western States probably will lessen second half slaughter and there is also the possibility that some producers may begin herd rebuilding in 1969, he explained.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN — Millions for welfare, billions for water, and trillions for wages. These three "Ws" point up the money problem presently facing the State.

Final decision, of course, rests with those who eventually pay the bill—the people of Texas. Their decision as to whether they are willing to foot the bills with additional taxes will come through the ballot when they vote for or against constitutional amendments at the special election on August 5.

As for welfare . . . the welfare groups face a do-or-die effort to boost the welfare benefits ceiling from $60 million to $80 million a year. If that amendment fails, as a similar one did last November, the Legislature will have no opportunity to re-submit the increase before 1971. That means that benefit payments to the ever-growing list of recipients will decrease accordingly.

As for water . . . a massive statewide campaign is shaping up to sell Texans on a $3.5-billion revenue bond program that will be needed to bankroll the nation's largest state water development plan. A constitutional amendment on the Aug. 5 ballot would authorize bonds—to be repaid by water users—to take care of the state's share of a $9 billion Texas Water Plan—the largest and boldest of its kind ever proposed.

As for wages . . . legislators and legislative leaders have a special interest in amendments to increase their salaries and to provide for annual sessions. Under one amendment the lieutenant governor and the speaker could be paid up to half the governor's salary ($50,000). Senators and representatives could be paid as much as district judges receive from state funds ($18,000). Legislators already have passed an act raising their own pay. But it goes only from the present $4,800 to $6,800. Even this raise is subject to passage of the amendment.

TO DO OR NOT TO DO Gov. Preston Smith is keeping to himself his decision on calling the Legislature back into session.

His "D-Day" is June 22, a Sunday. That's the last day for him to sign, veto or let become law without his signature, the $2.8 billion spending bill and the $61.9 million teacher pay bill.

Smith said if he signs the budget measure, the teacher pay raise is "dead" because there is not enough money for both.

Governor surprised teachers by criticizing the teacher pay bill. Earlier he had been critical of the Legislature's decision to vote a one-year appropriations bill instead of the traditional two-year bill.

Board for Mental Health and Mental Retardation had rebuffed that new schools be built at El Paso, the Rio Grande Valley and Northeast Texas.

A last-minute change also reduced the allocation for air pollution control work by $60,000 a year.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes hopes that the governor will let the appropriations bill become law. He thinks that a year's wait will show that smaller taxes will be needed than if the Legislature levied them this year.

COURTS SPEAK

Reversing itself, the State Supreme Court ordered a new trial in a Houston-Pasadena land annexation dispute which dates back to 1965 overlapping annexation ordinances of the two cities.

In other recent action the Court: —Reversed an $11,500 damage verdict against Coca-Cola bottlers in a Pittsburg, Texas, suit by a woman claiming injuries when a bottle exploded.

—Concluded that a Lubbock woman could not claim she was entitled to full widow's benefits since divorce proceedings were in progress though not finally settled when her ex-husband died.

—Turned down a Fort Worth minister's claim that he had a lifetime contract as Mt. Zion Missionary Baptist Church pastor.

—Held that producing and selling state aggregate products is not liable for sales taxes an transportation costs of moving material from plant site to delivery point.

—Stood firm against appeal of a Port Arthur widow who claimed a Houston law firm got her to sign an agreement for its services in a damage suit while she was still in a state of shock over her husband's death.

—Refused to disturb a Third Court of Civil Appeals ruling on condemnation proceedings involving mineral and oil rights for the Robert Lee Reservoir despite the attorney general's charge that it will vastly increase the cost of reservoir and highway development in the state.

county district board of managers without waiving his right to state compensation, says Atty. Gen Crawford Martin.

A specialized motor carrier means any of a variety of vehicles as defined in Texas statutes, not just those certified by the State Railroad Commission, said Martin in another opinion. He also defined "base municipality" as referred to in transportation statutes as "any municipality to which other municipalities are immediately contiguous."

Treasurer Jesse James asked Martin to rule on the constitutionality of giving cigarette tax stamp purchasers 15 days to pay. (They are now on cash basis). Decision bears on whether revenue is available for teacher-pay raises.

Formation of non-profit food cooperatives of ultimate consumers does not violate Texas anti-trust statutes, Martin concluded.

Tells How To Remove Mildew

If you find mildew spots on your clothing, remove them by these suggestions from Mrs. Hazel Roberts, Extension clothing specialist.

If clothes are dry, brush off surface growth of mildew. If stain remains, washable clothes should be laundered at once with soap and water. Rinse well, Mrs. Roberts says, and dry in sun.

If stains remain after washing, dip white cotton rayon or linen in a dilute solution of chlorine bleach. Rinse thoroughly and dry in sun.

For colored fabric, the specialist suggests you first test the bleach on a sample of the cloth to be sure it will not change the color.

Hostess, Sponsor For '69 Texas Cowboy Reunion

Mrs. Ray Kinney has been named Official Hostess and Missy Watson the Official Sponsor for the 39th annual Texas Cowboy Reunion to be held on July 3, 4 and 5 in Stamford. There will be three night performances and a matinee on the afternoon of the 5th.

Mrs. Kinney, wife of the owner of furniture stores in Stamford and Abilene, is very active in civic, social and church work. She has two children, Susan, age 8 and Andy, age 5. She and Mr. Kinney will ride in a convertible in the opening day parade and be introduced from the Judge's stand at each show. They will also be honored with several parties before the rodeo.

Missy Watson, daughter of Mrs. Hubert Watson and the late Hubert L. Watson will ride her thoroughbred mare, Lady Meredith, in the parade and the grand entries. To set the clover leaf pattern for the visiting sponsors, which pattern was innovated by her father during the ten years he was sponsor chairman, she will ride a quarter horse named Tinker and owned by Gene Bounds. Missy is very active as a junior in Stamford High School where she will be the representative to the Student Council on which she has served the past three years; is a member of the National Honor Society, Fine Arts Club, Pep Squad, girls' tennis team and was a member of the band. She excelled in canoeing, sailing and golf at the camp she attended in Missouri the past six years.

These two will assist in registering and entertaining the sponsor contestants during the three days of the show.

FROM ALBUQUERQUE

Mr. and Mrs. F. B. James of Albuquerque, New Mexico were over night visitors Saturday in the home of Mr. and Mrs. M. H. Hogan. They were enroute home from Arlington where they had visited his father, John James, in the Masonic Rest Home.

TO CALIFORNIA

Mrs. John Tharp and granddaughter, Bertha Mae Yates, are spending a two weeks vacation in Chula Vista, California with Mrs. Tharp's daughter, Mrs. Bill (Stella) Merrifield and family.

Buying Abundant Texas Produce

Fresh produce floods the markets as items are hauled from Texas truck farms. To insure best values in buying fresh fruits and vegetables, here are suggestions from Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist.

Buy only fresh fruits and vegetables needed. Never buy more than you can properly refrigerate and use without waste.

Even under ideal storage conditions most fresh fruits and vegetables retain top quality only for a few days. Always sort vegetables before storing. Discard or use at once any bruised or soft ones; do not store them with the sound, firm ones.

Low prices on fresh fruits and vegetables does not necessarily mean a bargain, the specialist advises. Unless the price is low because of over-abundance, the so-called bargain may be undesirable. Frequently poor quality items can be bought at a reduced price, but be sure the waste in preparation doesn't offset price reduction.

Size, too, is not a reliable guide in selection. Large-sized fruits aren't always best or most economical. Buy the size suited for your purpose.

Learn to distinguish between defects that affect appearance and those that affect edible quality. Some items with an attractive appearance may have relatively poor eating quality because of the variety or because it is overmature. On the other hand, adds Mrs. Clyatt, poor appearance may be due only to color or superficial blemishes which don't affect eating quality.

Buy fruits and vegetables in season. Quality is usually higher and prices more reasonable than for out-of-season items.

Rough handling in the process of selection causes spoilage and waste for which consumers as a group must pay.

CARD OF THANKS

We would like to take this opportunity to say "Thank you" to the many friends that have sent food, gifts, flowers, and cards—but most of all their prayers while Lance was in the hospital and since he has returned home. Thank you again for your concern and kindness. —Obie Dee, Rozanne, and Lance Bradford.

Folks used to say we'll pay you a penny for your thoughts. Now it costs $25 an hour to get a psychiatrist to listen to them.

Moving Families Get Tips On House Hunting

College Station, June—Finding a suitable place to live perplexes the moving family.

Would-be home buyers may be wise to rent, Mrs. Jane Berry, Extension housing and home furnishings specialist, suggests, until they learn about cost, value and features of housing in various areas.

Housing affects job satisfaction, good family relationships and tolerance of family members, points out the specialist.

Where supply of available housing is low, the prospective homeowner should not feel compelled to buy "anything that's available" just to have a roof over his head.

Renting and the inconvenience of another move could well be worthwhile if it means getting the right house in the right location at the right price, Mrs. Berry stresses.

Prospective home buyers need to concentrate on getting good value, even if it means purchasing slightly more than they need or can afford. A banker, lending institution or private appraiser can provide information on the value of the property. The selling price should be closely in line with the appraisal.

June Is Dairy Month, Butter Use Suggested

College Station, June — To celebrate June Dairy Month, add flavor to your cooking with butter-flavored butter.

These suggestions come from Gwendolyn Clyatt, Extension consumer marketing specialist for Texas A&M. Garlic Butter: blend together 1/4 cup softened butter, 1/2 minced garlic clove and one tablespoon prepared mustard.

IN DEIKE HOME

Weekend guests in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Fritz Deike were Mr. and Mrs. Ross Russell of El Paso, Mitzie Russell of Fort Worth and Michael Deike of College Station. Other guests on Sunday were Mrs. O. K. Paschal, Sharon Schwertner of Hatchel, Mr. and Mrs. Kobert Paschal, Keith and Janie of Shep and Jay Davidson of Winters.

BABSON'S POINT OF VIEW

THE AUTO PARTS INDUSTRY

Wellesley Hills, Mass. —Aided by continued growth of the replacement parts market and the fast selling pace of new automobiles, the auto parts industry registered significant gains during 1968. Other factors which favorably influenced results in this field were expanded government safety programs, good foreign demand, increased efficiencies from recent capital programs, a better price structure, and a sizable volume from non-automotive products.

With many of these favorable trends continuing into the current year, most companies within the industry have recorded further gains during the first quarter of 1969.

Mixed Sales Picture

The near-term outlook, however, indicates that the smart gains of 1968 will not be matched in the current year. Although sales for the first half of 1969 will probably be ahead of the same year-earlier period, the sales pace may prove difficult to maintain in the second half. The letdown will probably occur in the original equipment market—an area sensitive to economic changes.

Although new car sales continue at a brisk pace, heavy dealer stocks make automobile production schedules vulnerable to future cutbacks. At the same time, anti-inflationary moves taken by the Federal Reserve and the new administration may soon begin to show results. Consequently, some slippage in shipments of auto accessories to the original equipment market seems likely in the second half. To some extent, however, this will be offset by continued growth in the replacement market and further penetration of foreign markets. Thus, full year results will probably present a mixed sales picture.

Outlook For Earnings

Profits to a great extent will resemble the trend of sales, but full year results should show some further gains over 1968 results. However, rising costs and continuation of the surtax will be restraining factors and most gains will be slim. Companies heavily dependent on shipments to the original equipment market will be vulnerable during the second half of 1969 and into the opening months of 1970. Profits of these companies could be caught in a squeeze of rising costs and slower sales.

The Longer Term

Looking ahead, the trend of both sales and earnings, although subject to fluctuation, should be up. The original equipment market will be influenced by the cyclical swings of new motor vehicle production while the replacement market faces a continuation of steady growth.

In the years just ahead, auto sales and production will be favorably influenced by rising disposable incomes, the trend toward multi-car families, a steadily rising scrap rate, and anticipated growth in family formations. Other influencing factors will be style changes, con-

Senior Citizens Need Better Diets

Senior citizens need better diets. Recent research on 300 older persons points to five major deficiencies: calcium, Vitamins A and C, Niacin and the proper intake of calories.

In the study, 40 percent said they took vitamins no matter what they ate. Nutritionists tell us that this may be a waste of the food dollar and could be harmful, points out Miss Bell.

Studies in some states reveal that elderly people exist on such low incomes that they were unable to have all the proper nutrients.

Miss Bell, a specialist with Texas A&M, pointed to common problems in older people's diets. They forget to eat or eat very little. Very limited meals of "tea 'n toast" or "bread 'n butter" may occur often.

Others have dental problems and the need for various kinds of textures in food is important. Weight watching, special diets and wise spending of the food dollar give special concern to senior citizens.

Above all, said Miss Bell, following the Basic Four Food

sumer trends regarding optional equipment, government safety requirements, new technology, and the degree of integration by motor vehicle producers.

Demand for replacement parts is primarily dependent upon the number of motor vehicles in use. This segment of the parts business has been in a steady upturn, and since 1944 registrations of privately owned vehicles in the U. S. have tripled. The longer term outlook for this market is further enhanced by state inspection requirements and adoption of new products as standard equipment.

Nut Casebearer Controlled By Spraying

Insecticide applications for pecan nut casebearer control has started in the Texas pecan belt. The pecan nut casebearer is Texas' most costly pecan pest. Extension entomologist at Texas A&M University.

The first generation larvae of the pecan nut casebearer, he adds, feed on and cause the shedding of the small nutlets about the time of pollination. A single larva frequently destroys all the nutlets in a single cluster.

Timing the insecticide application has always been the key to effective control. The greenish-white eggs are laid on the nutlet tips. Eggs assume a reddish appearance in two to three days and hatch in 4 to 5 days. The young larvae feed on buds for 24-48 hours before entering the developing nutlets. To be effective, recommended insecticides must be applied before the larvae enter the nutlets, emphasizes the entomologist.

Timing insecticide applications has been based on finding eggs on the nutlet tips. This method has been effective, but

Disabled Workers Should File Soon For SS Payments

Disabled workers should file their social security applications early, according to Ted F. Moellering, social security district manager. Although benefits for disability cannot be paid until after a worker has been disabled for six months, an application can be filed any time after a disability begins.

Mr. Moellering explained that the process for determining eligibility for disability benefits can sometimes be rather long and complicated. Therefore, no one should delay applying until the six months waiting period expires. Applying early permits the claims process to begin so that a decision can be made early enough to mail the first check on time.

Recent developments in banding trees to catch the overwintering larvae have improved timing of applications.

H. D. Agent's Column

What's in store for June? Foodwise, there will be lots of milk and dairy products. June is the traditional time when milk production reaches its peak—assuring an abundance of such dairy foods as butter, cream, cheese and yogurt.

Also reported plentiful during June by the Consumer and Marketing Service are canned tomatoes and tomato products, canned and frozen sweet corn, rice and turkeys.

"Well above normal" is the indication on cold storage holdings of turkeys. And all sizes are on hand. You'll find large birds just right for oven roasting. Smaller sizes are ideal for the outdoor grill.

Supplies of canned tomato and tomato products processed from the very large 1968 crop will continue to pressure markets. Canned tomatoes provide an instant vegetable for hurry-up meals. Tomato sauce adds special flavor to a variety of foods.

Frozen stocks of sweet corn are expected to continue to run at a high level. Canned sweet corn on hand is estimated at more than 32 million cases of 24 No. 303 cans—indicating plenty of corn for your cooking needs.

Be sure to add rice to your June shopping lists. Rice offers a different accent to mealtime. You may want to add rice to your list of breakfast cereals. A little cream and sugar creates a treat the whole family will enjoy.

Remember the June plentiful foods list when you shop this month. Foods termed "plentiful" usually indicate good selection and attractive cost.

Condensed Milk, Buttermilk: Mention milk to most people and they think of the fluid that comes in bottles or cartons. Milk comes in many other forms though. Some of these have more nutrients added and some are virtually fat-free. Part of the liquid has been removed from some and nearly all the liquid has been removed from others.

A sweet treat in the line-up of dairy products is sweetened, condensed milk. This is a concentrated milk containing 42 to 44 percent sugar—the perfect ingredient for desserts, candies, salad dressing and other meal-time fare.

EDUCATION

Members of the Coordinating Board for State Colleges and Universities decided to wait until its next meeting to take action on a request by Texas A. & M. to expand its forestry program into a full undergraduate-graduate program.

Board gave El Paso permission to go ahead with its junior college election. Sen. Joe Christie, head of the college steering committee, made the final presentation to the board—and got a nod from the members and a congratulatory handshake from Chairman Tom Sealy.

Consideration of a common calendar for all state-supported colleges was put off until the next meeting.

SOIL CONSERVATION . . . We believe that the local Boards of Supervisors of conservation districts and water control and improvement districts should have a voice in retaining qualified personnel at the local level.

"Swiss Family Robinson"
For all those who can't afford a personal one these hectic days, Walt Disney has the perfect paradise island setup in his classic feature motion picture, "Swiss Family Robinson," in Panavision and Technicolor, based on the timeless, world-famous story by Johann Wyss.

Disney brings to life on the screen one of man's oldest dreams—the escape to a faraway island from the realities and pressures of everyday living, no matter what period.

Like Wyss, Walt chose the day of Napoleon and selected a family fleeing the oppressions of an ominous dictatorship in the Eighteenth Century Europe. But Disney's picture is happy, lively, full of action and humor, a story that for an afternoon or evening will get anyone away from the stress of living in our automated age.

"Valley of the Dolls"
For more than a year, "Valley of the Dolls"—Jacqueline Susann's best-selling novel—has been the talk of the country.

Now, under the skilled aegis of Director Mark Robson and Producer David Weisbart, this frank and fascinating contemporary entertainment has come to screen life. Twentieth Century-Fox is releasing this Panavision, DeLuxe Color attraction for Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the State Theatre.

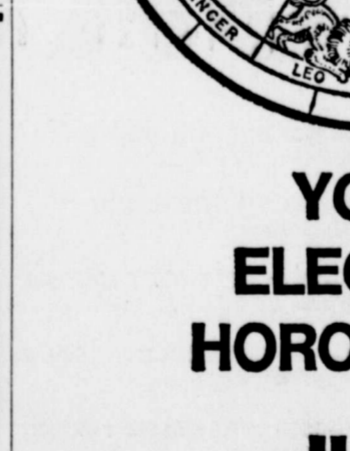

Cast as "the dolls" are: Barbara Parkins, star of TV's popular "Peyton Place" series for three years, playing Anne Welles, the well-bred New Englander who arrives in New York with bright-eyed innocence. Patty Duke, Oscar winner for "The Miracle Worker" and star of her own TV show, in her first adult part—the irrepressibly talented singer, Neely O'Hara. Sharon Tate, lovely, blonde star-to-be with three as yet unreleased major films, portraying Jennifer North, the body beautiful and the girl vulnerable. And Susan Hayward, five-times-nominated Oscar winner back for her first made-in-Hollywood film in four years, starring as long-time Broadway star Helen Lawson.

Also starring are four hand-some leading men who provide the romantic interest, and problems, for the "dolls": Paul Burke, Martin Milner, Charles

John Mills visited an exact replica of the treehouse at Disneyland with his wife Mary and daughter Hayley. "Swiss Family Robinson" stars Mills, Dorothy McGuire, James MacArthur and Janet Munro.

Drake and talented newcomer, Tony Scotti. Essentially, the story focuses on four women caught up in the heady world of show business and follows their lives as the tensions and disappointments increase, and some of them turn to pills and stimulants for "escape."

There is little chance for people to get together as long as most of us want to be in the front of the bus, the back of the church, and the middle of the road.

Cynthia Kay Pinkerton, Jimmy Brock Hatler Engagement Told

Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Pinkerton are announcing the engagement of their daughter, Cynthia Kay, to Mr. Jimmy Brock Hatler, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hatler.

Miss Pinkerton is a graduate of Winters High School. She was a member of the Student Council, Future Teachers Association, and drum major of the Blizzard Band.

Mr. Hatler is a graduate of Pine Tree High School at Longview and student at Angelo State University. He is presently employed at General Aviation.

An August wedding is planned.

To many anglers fail to get the full benefit of their fishing tackle. Why? Because they don't use it enough.

Many times you can't get out on the water when you want to. But there's always the backyard.

Try it sometime. It's known as dry casting... and there are extra dividends.

Most of the best casters spend long hours dry casting. It serves many purposes, not the least of which is getting acquainted with their fishing equipment.

Since most of us must make a living we can't always get on the water every time we would like to. Also most of the fishing we do is in the daytime.

But you can practice casting anytime—day or night. Some of it you can do in the house. That is if the Mrs. will let you get by with it.

In addition to getting acquainted with your tackle—getting the feel of it and knowing just what it will do—you can develop accuracy that will save many a plug for you.

There isn't a fisherman who hasn't at one time or another hung a plug in the top of a tree. But the man who spends a few hours' practice casting is less likely to spend his fishing time climbing trees.

Tree hanging also is an excellent way to break a rod.

A fisherman I know was in the boat with a companion who had a brand new rod. He made a cast with his buddy's rod. But something slipped... and the lure dangled from the top limb of a pecan tree.

Instead of pulling on the line and breaking it, he gave about three yanks with the rod and it snapped... much to his chagrin and expense.

Later on his comrade hung his plug in a tree in much the same manner. He put his rod down on the cowl of the boat, intending to pull on the line. Just then a fast boat passed. Its wake rocked his boat and the rod went into the water. So there he was... his rod in the water and his plug in a tree. It can happen to anyone! In fact, it has happened to nearly everyone.

Recently one of the best fishermen I know was out after trout in Laguna Madre. He was sitting in the front of the boat, looking back. A trout hit and took off for deep water in front on the boat. My friend tried to stop the run with his rod without turning around. It bent and then snapped at the ferrule.

While backyard casting will not eliminate all the hazards of fishing, it will give you certain practice in handling the equipment which will pay off.

In the first place you need to start out right. If you are not sure of the correct hold, you can find illustrations in most fishing publications or the little booklets that accompany your rod and reel. Study these instructions first. Then follow them. They were prepared by men who really know.

After you learn to cast right, then you can begin deviation for convenience.

Learn to cast with a flip of the wrist. Most rods today have plenty of quality built into them. Used properly, they will throw a plug as far as you need to, without the necessity of your giving it a push with your body.

Dry casting can stop or prevent you from being a sidewinder—one who holds the rod out to one side and swings the whole arm and sometimes the whole body. That is a dangerous fisherman to be around. There just isn't room in a boat for two of this kind.

Practice over and over the art of using your wrist to develop rod action. If too many years of the wrong type of casting make it almost impossible for your casting arm to quit working, try casting with the other arm.

One man used a short steel rod for many years, with heavy line and a slow reel. This caused him to cast with his body. No one ever was able to teach him otherwise.

Then someone suggested he try left-handed casting. Much to his amazement it worked from the start. Now he is a proficient left-handed caster. He learned to do it right by practicing in the backyard.

Mrs. Collinsworth Retired After 22 Years As Teacher

Mrs. Evelyn Collinsworth, the wife of Gerald Collinsworth of Lubbock, has retired after teaching in the Wilson Elementary School for more than 20 years. She had taught both, first and second grade, in the Lubbock School.

Her husband was reared in Winters and is the brother of Mrs. V. E. Colburn. She had taught in the Wilson Elementary Schools for 22 1/2 years. Native of Abilene, she met her husband while they were attending McMurry College.

After their marriage Mr. Collinsworth was superintendent of schools in Rotan until he entered the U. S. Air Force during World War II. Mrs. Collinsworth returned to Abilene to teach second grade until he was discharged from the service. He is a retired Lt. Colonel and the couple plans to travel to Europe, especially England where he was stationed with the U. S. 8th Air Force.

Mrs. Collinsworth began her teaching career at Wilson Elementary when her husband became associated with the Veterans Administration office when it opened in Lubbock after World War II. He plans to retire within a few months and they will move to a new home in Abilene.

Evelyn Collinsworth plans to enjoy her retirement doing crafts and paint landscapes in her favorite media, water color.

In tribute to her, fellow teachers praise her ability for "pulling creativity out of little children," for her beautiful control of her classroom, with even larger groups working quietly, for being among the first to get school projects completed and "doing it right."

Perfecting all-cotton durable press is a major objective of the industry.

Art Guild Is Formed Here, Classes Offered

An art-oriented club, the Winters Art Guild, has been organized here by local amateur artists, who will also sponsor art classes to be taught by a professional instructor.

A group of amateur artists met at the Winters Library Saturday evening and organized. Mrs. Gayle Gardner was elected chairman of the Guild; Mrs. M. D. (Doc) Johnston, co-chairman; and Mrs. Ray Alderman, secretary-treasurer.

The new organization plans to meet each first Tuesday, at the Legion Hall, to study, discuss and promote amateur painting.

The Art Guild also will sponsor art classes, to be taught by Franklin M. Walker of San Angelo, a professional art instructor who maintains a studio in San Angelo. He is a graduate of the California School of Fine Arts, and has studied under Robert Wood and other famous artists.

The first meeting for forming an art class will be at 5 p. m. Tuesday, July 1, at the American Legion Hall. All persons interested in studying art are invited to attend. After classes are formed—only 10 members will be accepted in each class—Walker will give instructions once each week, on Tuesday. If more than 10 persons are interested in the art lessons, additional classes will be formed, it was stated.

The newly organized Winters Art Guild will meet at 7 p. m. Tuesday, July 1, following the first art classes. All persons interested in art are invited to attend.

Water Right Claim Must Be Filed By September 1

The Texas Water Rights Commission announced today that final notice of the recording deadline under the Water Rights Adjudication Act of 1967 has been given. Everyone who is using water from a public stream who does not claim under a certified filing or a permit from the State must record his claim by September 1, 1969. Users of water for domestic and livestock watering purposes are exempt from this requirement.

Failure to timely record the claim will "extinguish and bar" the claim of water right according to Section 4 of the Adjudication Act. All affected water users who have not already filed their claim are urged by the Commission to do so as soon as possible.

Valid claims will be recognized to the extent of maximum use of water without waste during any year between 1963 and 1967. Where the user was in the process of constructing a system or had facilities to use a larger amount of water on the effective date of the Act than he had actually used, use from 1965 to 1970 may be recognized.

More information and forms for recording claims under the Water Rights Adjudication Act may be obtained from the Texas Water Rights Commission, P. O. Box 12396, Capitol Station, Austin, Texas 78711.

Marijuana--

the drugs are smoked, taken orally, injected into blood-streams with a needle, or even "taken through the eyes." He described one case of a college student who had taken one type of drug by mixing with an eye wash and putting it in his eyes.

The Abilene police officers said one problem police officers have faced is the widespread publicity given many people who have stated that there is no danger in the use of marijuana. This has proven to be false, Officer Faulks said, because once a person becomes a marijuana user, he reaches for even stronger drugs.

Faulks said that the place to begin the fight against drug addiction is in the home and in the school, with the facts of the dangers clearly demonstrated to young people who might be faced with the temptation and opportunity to "experiment" with drug use.

If you don't want your children to hear what you are saying, pretend you are talking directly to them.
