HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Many people, when the subject of the proposed North Runnels County Hospital District is mentioned, immediately conjure up visions of a big bond issue, a tremendous tax increase and construction of a big new hospital beyond the requirements of the community, with many rooms which might remain empty, and a constant fight to gather more money to keep it up.

To put it simply, this is not the case with the proposal to create a hospital district in the two north precincts of Runnels County. Far from it. No one we know of has made any proposal to jump in now and build a big hospital, or even a little hospital, for that matter. The sole idea at the present time behind the proposal to create a hospital district is to put the community in a better position to plan for the future; to provide more adequate hospital facilities for the protection of the health of ALL the people in the community.

When the North Runnels County Hospital District is created, the Winters Municipal Hospital immediately becomes the property of the new district. This is specifically set out in the legislation which authorizes creation of the district. These facilities have already been bought and paid for, and with this advantage, the people of North Runnels County—ALL the people—will be in a better position to provide even more adequate facilities.

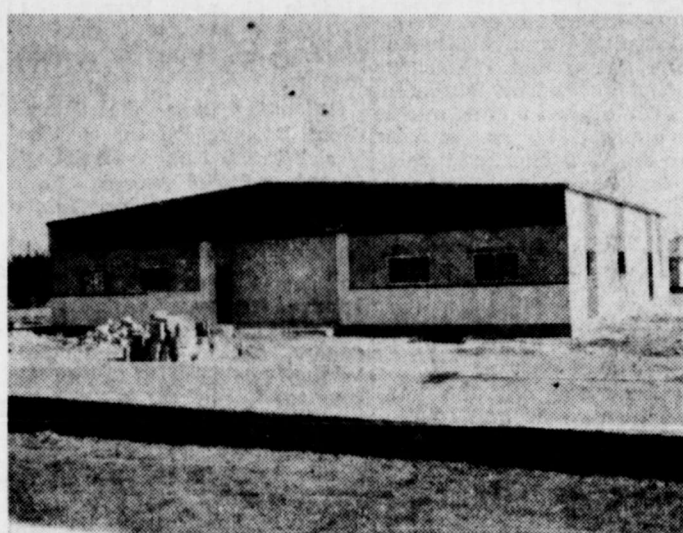

Further, creation of a hospital district in these two precincts puts the people of the community in a better position if at any future date there is an opportunity to take advantage of offers of assistance from the Federal or State governments. There are no plans at the present time to apply for such assistance; but let's face it, when the opportunity arrives it would be disastrous if we were not ready to use the advantage. This has become a part of the American scene, and there is little likelihood that the scene will change.

Some use the argument that in many instances "patients are carried on to a larger hospital anyway." True, in many instances. In this age of specialization, there is no one hospital center in the country which can offer specialized care and treatment for every illness or injury which might arise. Even the hospitals in the larger cities cannot provide everything, and send many of their patients on to hospitals which are equipped for a given care or treatment. However, there are many, many instances where proper care and treatment could be provided at home, and at much less expense and worry, if local hospitals had just a little more equipment available—and this a combined community could furnish. If a person is ill and requires hospitalization, but does not require certain highly specialized treatment offered in the large medical centers, it is generally agreed that the person—and the person's pocketbook—will be less troubled if he can be treated in a local hospital, close to friends and family.

These better facilities can be provided by a combined community. And the mere presence of better facilities is a much better attraction to doctors who are looking for a community in which to practice. Our own local doctors are doing and have been doing an outstanding job; but it is a generally known fact that they need assistance in caring for the health of the community. We could, by defeating the district plan, work a good horse to death and find ourselves afoot. The community owes our doctors more than that.

Dollars and cents! For those who shudder at the thought of added "high taxes," without giving a thought to what would be the situation without doctors and hospital facilities: The cost to each individual would be much less than "coffee money," if a comparison is wanted. And would certainly be much less the cost of going to or transporting a patient to a distant hospital for treatment of an illness or injury which could very well be treated locally, given adequate facilities. A person with property actually valued at

Let's Take Care Of Our Own People!

AN EDITORIAL

Next Tuesday, August 26, voters in Commissioners' Precincts 2 and 3 will make a decision: Will provision be made for the future to provide a well-equipped hospital to take care of the needs of residents of the entire North Runnels County area, or will they have to look elsewhere for medical treatment and hospital facilities?

The election next Tuesday may be one of the most crucial North Runnels Counties will have to face in a long time. The result could well spell the difference in having and not having adequate medical and hospital facilities, and even in this age of fast communication and transportation could have a direct bearing with the health and welfare of every resident in the area.

One misconception concerning this election should be clarified: It has not been the intent of those working for creation of a hospital district to immediately try to build a large hospital. That would be up to the people of the district in the future, naturally. Those promoting the project, who come from a wide area of the affected precincts, believe we should "take care of our own"; that is, provide adequate facilities within reach of everyone in North Runnels County. They have believed, too, that providing those facilities is the only possible way to interest additional doctors in settling in this community to take some of the load off the fine already overworked-doctors we have. When the time comes for these doctors to retire or slow down, the community then could be left without doctors.

When the North Runnels County Hospital District is formed, the present Winters Municipal Hospital will be transferred to the District. This will give ALL the people in the District an opportunity to have a voice in the operation of their hospital, through their directors. The District will be "in business" from the beginning, with a fully-staffed hospital already in operation. An ideal foundation upon which to build for the future, if such is the desire of the people. This hospital is paid for and is not weighed down with debts. Another valuable asset.

An initial board of five directors to administer the affairs of the District will be appointed by the Commissioners' Court. These directors will serve until April, 1970, at which time five directors will be elected by the people of the district. The three receiving the highest number of votes in the election will serve two years, and the other two shall serve one year. Thereafter, all directors shall serve for a period of two years. In this manner the hospital district will be under the control of the voters. Directors will be unpaid.

The district will have the authority to issue and sell bonds and to levy a tax, not to exceed 75 cents on each $100 valuation of taxable property in any one year. This would be the maximum, set by law; however, it is anticipated that the actual rate would be much lower than the allowable. As far as is known, there are few such districts which levy the maximum. Valuation of the district would be based on county valuation, which is somewhere in the neighborhood of 15 percent. Therefore, a piece of property with actual value of $10,000 would be on the tax roll at $1,500. If the board saw fit to levy a 25 cent tax the total cost would be only $3.75 per year.

Such a rate would not work a hardship on anyone, and would be a small price to pay for providing adequate hospital facilities for residents of the district.

Voters of North Runnels County are urged to vote FOR this measure. It is the only practical way to solve the problems which affect the entire community.

Hospital District Election Tuesday

Qualified property-owning taxpayers of Commissioners' Precincts 2 and 3 in North Runnels County will vote next Tuesday August 26, on the proposed North Runnels County Hospital District.

Four voting boxes have been assigned for this election, which was called by the Commissioners, and will determine the desires of North Runnels taxpayers regarding formation of a hospital district. Boxes will be at Crews Community Center, Winters City Hall, Wingate School, and the Baptist Church Annex at Wilmeth.

All residents of Commissioners' Precincts 2 and 3, who have property rendered for taxation, will be eligible to vote in this election.

The election for actual creation of a North Runnels County Hospital District climaxes many months' work on the part of many residents of the area, who have seen a need for a hospital. A bill was passed by the State Legislature during the last regular session authorizing the creation of such a district, and directing the Runnels County Commissioners to call a local election on the question upon presentation of a petition from residents of the proposed district. A petition was presented to the Court, and July 18, the Court ordered the election.

Proponents of the measure point out that there is a great need for a hospital district in North Runnels County. At the present time, the Winters Municipal Hospital serves the area, but still is under the supervision of and financed by the City of Winters.

In the event the taxpayers vote for creation of the North Runnels County Hospital District, the Winters Municipal Hospital then will be transferred to the District, under provisions of the legislation authorizing formation of the District.

Legislation calls for the transfer of all assets and liabilities, and bonds due and outstanding. Winters City officials have pointed out that there are no bonds or debts outstanding on the hospital. The only liabilities would be the current costs for operation, which are handled on a month-by-month basis.

Assets, which would be transferred to the North Runnels County Hospital District, would be the hospital building and grounds, and all equipment. In addition, the Municipal Hospital owns additional land which could be used for expansion, if the people of the district decided to expand in the future.

An initial board of directors for the North Runnels County Hospital District will be appointed by the Commissioners' Court. Subsequent boards will be elected by taxpayers at regular elections.

Legislation authorizing creation of the Hospital District also authorizes the District to levy a tax not to exceed 75 cents on each $100 valuation.

Presiding judges, and alternate judges, for the four polling places in next Tuesday's election will be Noble Faubion and Marion Woods, Crews; T. H. Worthington and W. T. Billups, Winters City Hall; D. B. Vick and Ruby Folsom, Wingate; E. F. Albro and Mrs. J. B. Denson, Wilmeth.

Footballers Started Practice Monday, Fans To 'Meet the Blizzards' Saturday

Sixty-six potential 1969 Winters High School Blizzards showed up at the field house Monday morning, WHS Athletic Director Jerry Gibson said, and two-day practice sessions were started immediately, to continue through the rest of the week.

The first week of pre-school practice will be culminated by a "Meet the Blizzards" night at Blizzards Field Saturday, August 23, and fans have been invited out to get a first public glimpse of this year's Blue Bunch in action during a Blue vs. White scrimmage. Coaches and players will be introduced to fans, and the coaching staff will give demonstrations of teaching and training practices.

The cheerleaders also will be introduced during the evening, and will give demonstrations.

Little League Assn. Asks Help From City Council

A delegation representing the Winters Area Little League Association met with the Winters City Council Monday evening, seeking help in improving and maintaining the Little League baseball parks.

Lloyd Gilbert, acting as spokesman for the group, pointed out to the Council the advantages of the Little League program, and asked the City's help in installing a better watering system on the ball parks. Initial cost of installing pipe would be comparatively low, he pointed out; the biggest problem would be in maintenance of the grounds. He also said that work should be started immediately on improving the Little League grounds so that grass would have time to take root and begin to grow before baseball play begins next spring. He said if work was postponed until next year, it would be impossible to play on the fields.

The Council took the requests and recommendations under advisement, and will meet with the Little League group on a later date to determine what can be done, Mayor Wade White said.

Winters Hit By Small Twister Friday Evening

A small twister hit the downtown section of Winters about 5:15 p. m. Friday of last week, doing some damage to power lines and poles, unroofing a parking lot shed, and causing other damage to buildings.

A shed in a parking lot north of the 100 block of West Dale was unroofed. The twisting wind carried tin and timber east and deposited some on top of buildings on the west of Main Street, and into the street. One 2x6 timber was carried over the buildings on the west side and went through a plate glass in the door of the Baldwin building on the east side of the street.

Buford Baldwin, one of the owners of the building, which is vacant, said he had just been doing some remodeling and repair work on the building following the June 12 hailstorm, and the glass in the door was the only good glass in the front of the building.

A City power line pole behind the Winters State Bank was snapped in two, shutting off power in parts of the downtown area. Other lines belonging to the City Electric Department and the West Texas Utilities Company were blown down and power was off in some sections of the town for quite a while, but no major damage was reported. A few television antennae were broken off or damaged.

George Brown said maize was blown down in a field on his place north of Winters, and reports were that maize in several places was blown down. Bill Byrns said the roof of a hay barn on his place north of Winters was blown off.

Varying amounts of rain fell during the quick-rising storm. Up to an inch was reported in downtown and south Winters, while only .68 of an inch was measured in the north section. To the southwest of town, some of the parched farmlands received from 1 to 1½ inches of rain.

Student Council Sponsoring Annual Coke Party Tuesday

The Student Council of Winters High School will sponsor a coke party at 8 p. m. Tuesday, August 26, honoring the new students, freshmen and teachers. The party will be held at Blizzards Field.

All high school students and teachers are invited to the casual affair.

OUTDOORS IN TEXAS

BY VERN SANFORD

Artificial baits, designed to tempt fish and fishermen, come and go. What is the rage today may only be an also-ran tomorrow.

Right now the headline grabber for big bass is the plastic worm. A short while ago it was the Rapala and its many imitations.

Some lures, like the Heddon Chugger, stand the test of time. This is a great compliment for most baits go through a period when they produce best, then suddenly they lose their appeal to a newcomer.

One reason, no doubt, is that fish become conditioned to certain baits. When the lure is something new, bass are uninhibited. They strike like crazy! But the more they see of the bait, the less inclined they are to hit it. That is, unless the fisherman catches the bass in one of those rare moods when they'll hit most anything.

We once read of a unique test made in a fish hatchery. One lure of only one color was used. On the first day the bass struck the lure as if there would be no second chance for a meal. On the second day its appeal was almost as good.

Then results started diminishing. More and more casts were required to induce a strike.

After a month it was virtually impossible to take a bass on the bait. Yet only a small fraction of the total bass in the pond were ever hooked and released.

Another contributing factor is that fishermen are a fickle bunch. Few can stick with one lure exclusively.

Perhaps the answer is that one day, when nothing seemed to work, an angler tied on an odd-looking creation that he had been carrying around for ages in his tackle box. To his great surprise, it caught fish.

Quickly this information passes on to other anglers. They try the lure. Simply by exposure, the bait is presented to a lot of fish and it stands to reason that some of them will hit it. Its popularity grows as more and more people use the lure. Before we know it, we have a rage on our hands.

As this indicates, these fads often are started innocently enough. Believe it or not one of the hottest salt-water baits on the Texas coast right now is the plastic worm. Yes — the plastic worm — and in salt water!

No one knows for sure where the "plastic-worm-in-salt-water fad" started. T-Sgt. Phillip Scudder III of Orlando, Fla., claims he originated the idea. Until some rebuttal is sounded, we'll take his word for it.

Says Scudder, "In October, 1966, I was wading the flats of East Bay near Panama City, Fla., when I noticed several dead marine worms floating in the water. These worms were as long and as large as a pencil and of very flimsy texture.

"Gathering the few that I could, I used them under a float and fished them as you would any bait. Having good luck with these and unable to locate more, I substituted a plastic worm.

"Nearest imitation to the marine worm I could find was a yellow plastic worm with small black dots. I tried this worm under a cork with little success. So I removed the cork and simply cast the worm out and retrieved it slowly along the bottom, using a tiny sinker for a weight.

"Right away I began to get strikes. But I caught very few fish since they were only grabbing the end of the long worm. Remedying this was simple: I merely pinched the worm off two inches below the hook. The birth of the salt-water plastic worm as we know it today occurred at that moment."

Thus a new rage was born. Today the plastic worm is noted as one of the very best baits for salt water, just as it is a top producer in fresh water.

Wonder what the rage will be next year, or the next?

HEALTH LETTER
Today it is no fun to have TB. But it need not be tragic. Drugs can cure—even prevent—TB. But first the disease must be diagnosed. Unless it is discovered and treated, TB takes a terrible toll.

There are no symptoms in the earliest stage of active TB. You can be sick with the disease—and spreading your germs to others—without knowing it.

As the disease secretly progresses, you develop symptoms. Weakness, fatigue, irritability. Your pulse rate may become rapid. You may have a low-grade fever, and eventually, night sweats.

Weight loss and shortness of breath are signs of well-developed disease.

Taking a tuberculin skin test is the first step to avoid the terrible toll. The results of the test tell you if there are TB germs in your body. And your physician can give you the results in two or three days.

If your reaction to the test is positive, you may take other tests to determine if you only have been infected or have active disease. If the tuberculin and other tests show that you only have a tuberculous infection, taking pills will prevent active disease from developing. If the tests show you have active disease already, your doctor will prescribe pills to cure it.

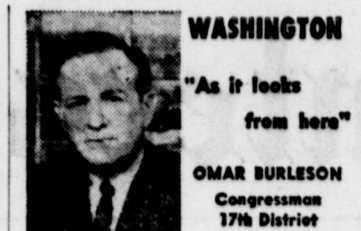

Having TB need not be tragic today. But it sometimes is. Last year, nearly 6,500 people died from TB.

Having a tuberculin skin test with your yearly medical check-up makes a lot of sense.

Happiness consists more in small conveniences or pleasures occur every day, than in great pieces of good fortune that happen but seldom to a man in the course of his life.

Nothing more impairs authority than a too frequent or indiscreet use of it.

Cotton can take fast dyes.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—A new administration must necessarily "feel" its way into policy and programs. For months now the legislative waters have been fairly calm on the surface with some churning just under the surface.

More recently the political seas show signs of becoming choppy. In several major pieces of legislation, the margin of votes in both the House and Senate has been extremely narrow.

The extension of the President's tax program originally passed the House by a margin of five votes. The Senate passed the first phase of the ABM by only one vote. The only major bills passing by a substantial majority were those dealing with the extension of Federal Aid to Education and the so-called Tax Reform Bill. Those continue in the legislative process and probably will not come into final action until late in the year.

The congress is now going into a short recess but it can be expected that after Labor Day the tempo will increase considerably.

On the legislative griddle will be the appropriation bills for all the Departments including funds for the Anti-Ballistic Missile System which will be a continuing issue for a long time to come.

The tax reform bill will be in the Senate committee for what they promise to be thorough hearings, with action hoped for in October.

In both houses of congress, the extension of the Voting Rights Act of 1965 will be the principal civil rights legislation and is billed as a hot issue.

The President has sent a message to Congress recommending early action on a start to solve the problem of public transportation.

The administration is asking for a revamping of the Welfare Program which has already stirred up controversy.

Major proposals are pending in the areas of law enforcement, foreign affairs and anti-trust legislation. Central to the matter of law enforcement, is legislation known as "Organized Crime Control Act of 1969." The details of which have yet to be spelled out.

In the matter of foreign affairs, Congress has before it the Administration's request for $2.6 billion in foreign aid. The figure is the lowest request in the history of the Foreign Aid Program but stands a good chance of being further cut by the Congress.

An issue not surfaced as yet is continuation of the present restrictions on trade with communist countries. Some support relaxations of trade but seemingly the Administration is in a wait and see attitude as to what may develop towards agreement on nuclear arms limitation and communist nations' actions and support of North Vietnam.

The reorganization of the post office department, partially placing it in the hands of a Government sponsored corporation, has many facets and no hard and fast proposal has yet been developed to the point of submitting it to a vote. At the present, there appears no solid reason to believe this issue may finally come to a vote in this Session although sentiment could change.

Fairly soon after Congress returns from its recess, legislation overhauling the Electoral College System may come before the House of Representatives. The Bill produced by the Judiciary Committee provides for the direct popular vote of the President and Vice President. No doubt there will be long and vigorous debate on this and alternatives which doubtless will be proposed.

Numerous bills will be before both houses of Congress on consumer matters, including safety of products. An attempt will be made to control smut mail.

Many matters of legislation involving education, health facilities and health insurance, monetary matters, natural resources and conservation, veteran affairs and agriculture will be subjects of continuous Committee hearings. A number of measures being developed by the Committees will not be presented for action in this first session of the 91st Congress but will go over to 1970. A major agricultural bill will likely come in this category.

By reason of the recess, this release will be suspended until the Congress is back in session in the first week of September.

The Things We Say

By RUBY SHANNON

When I teach literature to high school students, a day seldom passes that I do not stop and explain a term or way of life that is not familiar to our modern youth. "Churning" was mentioned in one story, and I learned that not one of my students had ever milked a cow, much less churned butter. In the same story, a character said that he "had no more use for a Bible than a hog has for a sidesaddle."

That expression was delightful to explain, for as a child I used to ride the hogs that ran outside on open range in Arkansas, but never with a sidesaddle, of course!

To buck me off, the hog would turn round and round, and if that didn't do the trick, it would head for a stream of water and lie down, and I soon learned that I jolly well better jump off or be crushed or drowned.

I suppose a museum is about the only place you can find a sidesaddle today, but I remember seeing one that belonged to a neighbor years ago. It was somewhat like any other saddle except that it had the "back" placed on the right side of the horse, and the lady who rode it hung both her legs off the left side of the animal.

It was thought unladylike to straddle a horse before the turn of the century, and so the sidesaddle was invented to permit little Victorian tomboys the privilege of riding.

Funeral Thursday In Spill Chapel For Mrs. Herrman

Funeral services were held at 10:30 a. m. Thursday in Spill Memorial Chapel for Mrs. Lee Herrmann, 87. Mrs. Herrman died in Simmons Hospital at Sweetwater at 3:20 Wednesday following an illness of several months.

Officiating was the Rev. Glenn Bowman, pastor of Winters First United Methodist Church. Burial was in the Crews Cemetery under direction of Spill Funeral Home.

Mrs. Herrmann was born Lillie Henry, March 11, 1882, in Lavaca County. At an early age the family moved to Bell County, and she was married to Bob Cox in Bell County in 1900. He died in 1904. On Nov. 5, 1908, she was married to Lee Herrmann in Lampasas. The family lived for a number of years at Nix, Texas. In 1916 they came to Runnels county, settling on a farm in the Crews community.

In 1920 they returned to Lampasas where they lived until 1944 when Mr. and Mrs. Herrmann moved to Winters.

Mr. Herrmann died in 1963. Mrs. Herrmann has been making her home in the Morris Nursing Home at Roscoe since October, 1962.

She was a member of the Methodist Church.

Survivors are a daughter Mrs. T. O. Buckland of Midland, and four grandchildren and eight great-grandchildren.

Pallbearers were Thad Traylor, Marvin Traylor, Arthur Bates, Chester McBeth, Winford Reel and Raymond Phillips.

During the next 50 years, if adequate water is available, the population of Texas will triple to more than 30 million people.

Whatever you do, if you do it hard enough you'll enjoy it. The important thing is to work and work hard.

Striped Bass Grow In Navarro Mills

Austin — The 31,500 striped bass stocked in Navarro Mills Reservoir on two dates in June, are now averaging four inches in length, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists.

Approximately 25,000 of these salt water transplants, averaging 1.7 inches, were released into the 5,000-acre lake June 5, and another 6,500, averaging 2.4 inches, were released June 24.

Biologists report the fish have moved from three to four miles from the released sites and are now feeding on small forage fish.

Georgia holds the fresh water record for striped bass, with one which weighed 63 pounds.

The Family Lawyer

Defending Your "Castle"

More than three centuries ago, England's Lord Coke proclaimed that "a man's house is his castle." It still is. Generally speaking, you have a right to repel an unlawful intruder, using as much force as is necessary—including even deadly force. For example:

A home owner, hearing someone pry open his kitchen door in the middle of the night, grabbed a gun and went to investigate. Entering the dark kitchen, he demanded that the intruder identify himself. When the man instead began to move forward menacingly, the home owner fired a fatal shot.

Although brought to trial later on a homicide charge, he was found not guilty. The court said that, considering the threatening circumstances, he was within his legal rights in defending the sanctity of his "castle."

The doctrine is not meant to protect your home merely as a pile of bricks and mortar, but rather as a personal haven of safety for you and your family. Therefore, it applies just as much to premises you rent as to premises you own.

Furthermore, you may act not only against an intruder but also against a visitor who refuses to leave when you tell him to.

On the other hand, you must not in any event use more force than reasonably necessary under the circumstances. Take this case:

A man talking politics with a visiting neighbor became incensed and asked him to leave. The neighbor arose to go. But he did not move fast enough for his erstwhile host, who speeded him along with a vicious kick. Result: the home owner was held liable for assault and battery. The court said the kick was simply not justified by the circumstances.

Nor may you arbitrarily widen your legitimate circle of defense. In another case a girl's protective father saw, approaching the house, a youth whom he had ordered to stay away. The father opened his front door, stepped outside, and shot the caller in the arm. Here too the home owner was ordered to pay damages.

"A man's house is his castle," said the court, "but he has no right to go (outside) and attempt to kill a man who has done no act indicating the intention of making forcible entry."

Highway Use Tax Due For Many Trucks

Owners of large trucks, tractors, or buses may be required to file a Federal highway use tax return, Form 2290, this month, Ellis Campbell, Jr., District Director of Internal Revenue in Northern Texas, has announced.

The tax year begins July 1 and runs through the following June 30. Subsequent returns may be required concerning vehicles used for the first time on public highways after July.

IRS Publication 349, Federal Use Tax on Trucks, Tractors, and Buses, furnishes detailed information on this subject and may be obtained by dropping a post card to Supply, Internal Revenue Service, P. O. Box 1738, Dallas 75211.

Ideas must work through the brains and the arms of good and brave men, or they are no better than dreams.

Austin, Tex. — Legislature is roaring through the final full week of a called special session with accomplishment of its major goals—adoption of a budget and a tax bill—in sight.

Senate scored a major breakthrough on its tax bill after a four-hour floor debate and days of gloomy predictions of a deadlock.

Here are how tax bills passed by the House and Senate stacked up, pending conference committee adjustment:

SENATE—An increase in the sales tax rate from three to 3.25 per cent with the levy extended to beer-liquor and telephone-telegraph services; four cents a pack increase in the cigarette tax, from 11 cents to 15 cents; 50-cent raise in corporation franchise tax rate (to $3.25 per $1,000) with base for computing the tax expanded to include 25 per cent of out-of-state sales; boost in the natural gas production tax from seven to eight per cent and addition of a new documentary stamp tax of 50 cents per $500 value on land transfer documents.

HOUSE — An increase in the sales tax rate to 3.5 per cent; a new services tax of the same amount on telephone and telegraph, professional entertainment, auto, appliance and jewelry repairs, parking, laundry and dry cleaning; a five cents a pack raise in the cigarette tax and a 10 cent transactions levy on sale or purchase of stocks and other securities.

Total yield of the House bill was calculated at about $325 million. Senate bill originally was figured at $360 million, but a delay in its effective date may reduce the take sharply.

Senate bill would share with those cities levying a local option sales tax the new income from tax on telephone and telegraph and alcoholic beverages. House bill did not propose such sharing from services levy.

Differences in the $1.2 billion Senate and $1.1 House general revenue budgets also are being hastily adjusted.

WELFARE BENEFITS TO RISE

Proving that what comes down eventually will go up, state welfare benefits will increase September 1.

Aid to Families with Dependent Children (AFDC), sharply reduced May 1 due to fund shortages, will rise at least 50 per cent.

Maximum grants to the aged also will increase from $110 to $125 a month. Aid to the disabled maximums will go up from $84 to $100 and aid to the blind from $96 to $110.

Increases were made possible by voters' August 5 adoption of the constitutional amendment to raise the welfare spending ceiling from $60 million to $80 million a year.

Public Welfare Board authorized an increase in AFDC to 75 per cent of budgeted family needs. AFDC checks were reduced May 1 to 50 per cent of budgeted needs.

New level of assistance will represent a 30 per cent increase over the average AFDC grant as of Jan. 2, 1968, effective date of a federal requirement that by last July 1 amounts used to determine needs in the AFDC program must reflect regular cost-of-living increases.

PRIVATE CLUB RULES STAND

An Austin district court has refused to block Texas Liquor Control Board from enforcing new rules for private clubs of effective September 1.

Club operators asked the Board for a delay pending their appeal, but the Board said its rules appear clear enough and will be enforced pending an adverse court order.

Primarily at issue are sections of the rules which would require that club guests be personally introduced by a regular club member or accompanied by a member and that bills incurred be sent to and paid by a member. Latter would ban cash sales by clubs.

LCB member Joe Budeet Jr. of Kerrville told complainant club operators they may be needlessly "gun-shy." Agency said Budeet, is not interested in making unwarranted arrests and prefers a "warning system" to a "complaint system."

"The Board has no desire to be punitive," said Chairman Tom Gordon of Abilene. "But it is our duty to enforce the Texas liquor control law . . . and that is precisely what we intend to do."

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Preston Smith named Joe Frazier Brown of San Antonio as executive director of Criminal Justice Council in his office.

Council met last week to consider $1.1 million in action grants to implement the state's war on crime.

Smith appointed to the new Polygraph (lie detector) Examiners Board San Antonio Police Sgt. Gene Ralph Danish; Hyden Allen Albert of Austin, supervisor of Texas Department of Public Safety polygraph section; Bobby Harvel Musser of Houston; James Davidson Williams of Dallas; William Dodge Starcher of Lubbock and Dee Estes Wheeler of Fort Worth.

Dr. Billy R. Walker, Ph.D., of Abilene was named Saturday as superintendent of San Angelo Center for Mentally Ill and Mentally Retarded. He has been assistant superintendent of Abilene State School since 1967.

DPS promoted to Texas Ranger captains Sgt. Bill Wilson of Austin and Sgt. J. F. (Pete) Rogers of Houston. Wilson will command Company B in Dallas, and Rogers Company C in Lubbock.

ATTORNEY GENERAL RULES

State Board of Insurance can consider insurance company investment income in setting out-of-pocket premium rates, Attorney General Crawford C. Martin has held in a new opinion. But Martin said he could offer no advice as to whether the board should take investments into consideration in rate making.

In other recent opinions, Martin held that:

New theft-of-fish law may be enforced by Parks and Wildlife Department officers if the offense is committed in their presence or view and fish taken from the fish farm have value in excess of $200. Otherwise, enforcement lies with regular peace officers.

Dimmitt Feed Yards, Inc., a custom cattle feeding lot, is not obligated to furnish to county tax assessor a list of the names of those owning cattle located within its confines on January 1.

WATER STUDY

Rep. Bill Clayton of Springlake introduced a resolution creating a legislative - citizens study committee to take a full look at the Texas Water Plan, now that the voters refused to approve the $3.5 billion state bond issue to help finance the 50-year water program.

Committee would be composed of three private citizens, three senators and three representatives. They would investigate other possible ways of financing the state water plan. Opponents of the bond issue raised the question, that the effect of 67 reservoirs and two large canals on the ecology of the state had not been given enough consideration by the Texas Water Development Board. Committee would hold hearings over the state on that.

Recommendations would be made to the Legislature in 1971, thus making it possible for a new election to be held that year or in 1972 on a finance plan.

SHORT SNORTS

Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler claims sites of three Spanish shipwrecks off Padre Island—which may contain valuable treasure as did earlier site explored—have been plundered by "pirates."

Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System, said $14,000,000 worth of bonds authorized by the voters Aug. 5, at 5.41 per cent interest to provide money for students planning to enter college in September.

State Board of Insurance has warned insurance companies from "tacking on" unnecessary provisions to automobile policies after learning that some companies have been "declining" to write policies unless applicants purchased "additional coverages which provide no substantial benefit to them" since this, in effect, is "requiring a premium in excess of that prescribed by the Board" and a "violation of the automobile premium rating laws."

Water Rights Commission is investigating a complaint from landowners downstream from Stamford's city lake that Stamford is not releasing water into Paint Creek as required by the city's permit from the Commission.

About 10,000 Texans are driving "illegally" because they have circumvented the state's safety responsibility law, according to Southwestern Insurance Information Service.

RETURNED HOME
Cindy West, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Q. West, returned home Sunday from Denton where she has been employed during the summer months in the office of the Dean of Education at the North Texas State University.

Cynthia Kay Pinkerton, Jimmy Brock Hatler Wed At Baptist Church

Cynthia Kay Pinkerton, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. R. Pinkerton, became the bride of Jimmy Brock Hatler when they repeated their marriage vows at the First Baptist Church Saturday, August 16, at 6 o'clock in the evening. Parents of the bridegroom are Mrs. Joe C. Rogers of Palestine and J. W. Hatler of Pittsburg, Texas.

Willis G. Jernigan IV, of Mexico, officiated for the double ring ceremony before the altar decorated with an arch of gladiolas and lemon leaves, tall candelabras with white tapers and baskets of yellow and white gladiolas at either side of the arch. Small candelabras entwined with greenery and white satin bows, baskets of yellow and white gladiolas completed the setting for the wedding party. Pews were marked with tapers surrounded with alternating yellow and blue pom mums.

Mrs. Charles Blanton of Bowie, organist, played a medley of traditional wedding songs and accompanied the soloist, Dan W. Blanton of Grapevine.

Willis G. Jernigan V, of Mexico and Danny Blanton of Grapevine were candlelighters.

Kristy King of Longview was flower girl and Todd Pinkerton of Graham, was ringbearer.

Best man was Leroy Kettler and guests were seated by Gary Pinkerton, brother of the bride, Charles Blanton of Bowie, Ronny Gray of Abilene, and Danny Killough of Winters.

Groomsmen were Jon King of Longview and Jay Hatler of Palestine, brothers of the bridegroom, and Terry Rives of Winters.

Janie Paschal of Wingate was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Brenda Prime, Jean Mostad, and Glenda Cooper, all of Winters. They wore empire gowns of yellow chiffon over taffeta, floor-length, designed with lace collar and long see-through sleeves of chiffon. They wore lace daisies scattered through their sculptured curls and carried Colonial bouquets of yellow daisies.

Junior bridesmaids were Vicki Blanton of Grapevine and Kim Blanton of Bowie. The flower girl and junior bridesmaids wore dresses of pastel blue chiffon of similar design and carried nosegays of blue daisies.

Presented in marriage by her father the bride wore an empire designed wedding gown of silk organza with chantilly lace re-embroidered with pearls forming the scalloped neckline, the long sleeves and bodice were of chantilly lace and the A-line skirt featured triple borders of lace. The same lace design also edged the full-length mantilla falling to chapel length. She carried a cascade bouquet of white gladiolas centered with white orchid with streamers of white satin ribbon tied in love knots and lilies of the valley.

The reception, held at the Church of Christ Fellowship Hall, was hosted by the bride's parents.

The bride's table laid with white linen was centered with a white candelabra and arrangement of white and yellow roses

H. D. Agent's Column

Daily Bread in England:

Today's multitude of bread choices is a real switch from the bread situation in England in the 13th century.

An English law, the Assize of Bread, in 1266, provided that fine-ground wheat bread (white bread) was for royalty and the clergy. Bread made of whole wheat and part white flour was for the middle classes, and breads containing all of the bran was for "all inferior types of people."

Now you can have any kind of bread you care to buy and as much of it as you want. Bread today is much more nutritious than it was 30 years ago. In 1941, bakers and millers started adding certain nutrients to white bread and flour that were lacking in many U. S. diets. Lack of iron and three important B vitamins—thiamine, niacin and riboflavin—was the cause of widespread diseases such as beriberi, pellagra, and ariboflavinosis.

and votive candles. The four-tiered wedding cake decorated in the bride's chosen colors, yellow and blue was at one side of the centerpiece and the punch bowl at the other side. Individual tables laid with yellow taffeta held appointments of silver and crystal.

Members of the house party were Brenda Byrns, Prisi Sanders, Jill Hatler and Carla Davis. For a short wedding trip to Austin the bride chose a long sleeve yellow cotton print, trimmed in white organza, shoes and bag of matching color.

The bride is a graduate of Winters High School with the class of last May.

The bridegroom is a graduate of Pine Tree High School, Longview and is a student at Angelo State University.

Mr. and Mrs. Hatler will make their home at 801 Upton, San Angelo.

Grandparents of the groom, Mr. and Mrs. T. L. Hatler, hosted the rehearsal dinner in the Church of Christ Fellowship Hall.

Nowadays you hear a great deal about retirement. More and more employees are being included in retirement programs.

Retirement means many things to many people, but have you ever noticed that when a man retires from long and faithful service his fellow employees usually give him fishing tackle? He is quoted as saying that now he is going to spend all the time he wants trying to catch that big fish. But it doesn't always work out that way.

Other things come up and before long our retired brother is working on another parttime job. Or he's just sitting around the house getting in mama's way.

There are many exceptions, of course. Lots of retired people get real enjoyment out of their retirement. I have a neighbor like that. He's not an avid fisherman, but he catches more catfish on a trotline than anybody I know. That's his hobby. He enjoys setting out trotlines in the lake where he has a retirement cabin.

Another friend spends all his time chasing around over the country sampling different fishing holes. He has been in a half-dozen states already this year. He says he knows Texas fishing is best, but he just likes to see how they do it in other places. Might learn something you know.

I've talked to scores of retired people about what they like to do. It seems that fishing is the one thing most prefer.

Fishing is a great tranquilizer. A tormented man can find peace while fishing. A happy man can find the next thing to heaven.

There are many quotations about fishing. Perhaps the best known is the one which says "Allah does not deduct from the allotted time of man those hours spent in fishing." At least that is a good philosophy because it will help keep a retired man on his feet; and point him in the right direction.

The man who has learned to take his retirement with grace also has learned to fish the patient way. He is more likely to want to just sit in the boat, smoke his pipe and watch the dragon flies as they flit about his bobber.

Or, if he is a caster, he becomes more deliberate. He hasn't necessarily slowed down. He just gets more enjoyment out of soaking up the pleasure of his surroundings.

Count me among the millions looking forward to retirement. Personally, there could be nothing grander than spending a good part of my retirement time on the water. And especially so with a good fishing buddy.

I greatly enjoy watching the squirrels on the bank, the turtle on the log, the snake as it works its way through the water and the big bass as it guards its nest on a shallow-water gravel bed.

Also I enjoy teaching young boys and girls to fish. It teaches them patience, courtesy, cooperation, fellowship and a host of other codes of companionship.

There still is a place in this world for the senior citizen. The man who has reached the Golden Years is a useful man. He's a happy man. He's earned his right to relax and enjoy himself. He's to be envied.

So "happy fishing" for the man who is to retire. May he continue to receive rods, reels and tackle boxes with the well-wishes of his fellow workers.

Urge him to use them often and get full enjoyment from the cleanest, finest outdoors sport within the reach of mortal man.

Laffin' is the sensation of feelin' good all over but showin' it in one spot.

Strange how much you've got to know before you know how little you know.

Accepting good advice is but to increase one's own ability.

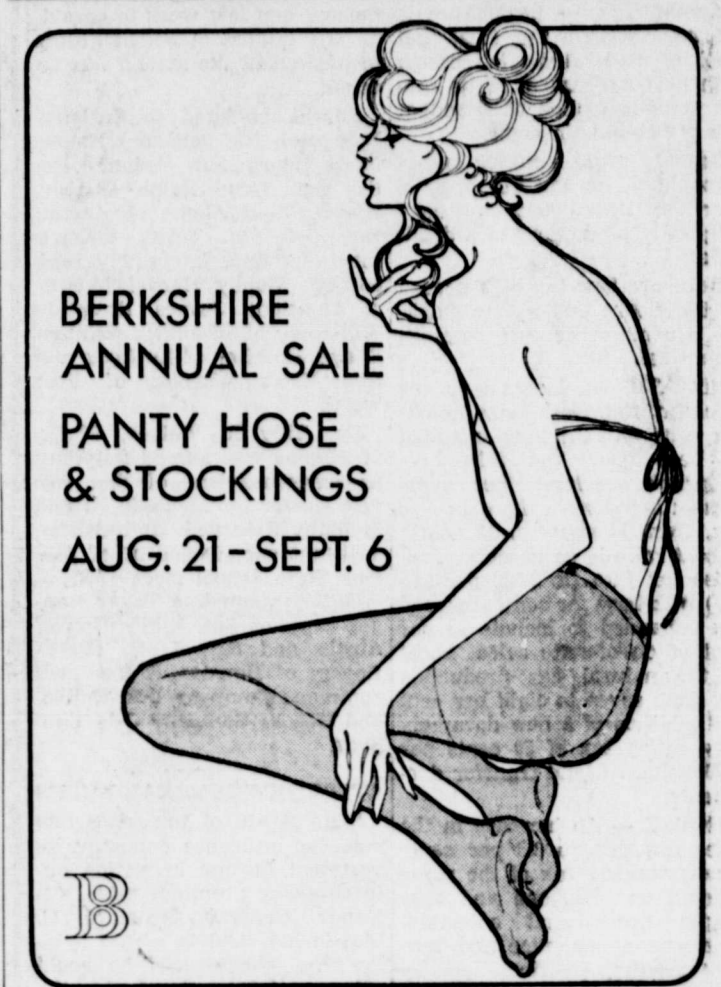

A jest that comes too near the truth leaves a sting behind.

If we could only make our hands move as actively as our tongues, what wonders we could accomplish.

Years and years of happiness only makes us realize how lucky we are to have friends who have shared and made that happiness a reality.

Turn that frown upside down and make the world happy.

Cotton soaks up moisture.

"Destroy All Monsters"

For generations motion picture audiences and devotees of imaginative literature have been captivated by thrilling tales of prehistoric monsters which once dominated the world and with science fiction sagas of space age conquests of the future.

Noteworthy among the scientific literary minds which have projected such fictional tales of past and future are Jules Verne and H. G. Wells. The uncanny vision of these writers has proven factually prophetic since space and ocean depths conquest is now a reality. Today's newspapers likewise every once in awhile turn up a story on some prehistoric monster which still exists and has been seen in some corner of the world by one or more eye-witnesses, such as the perennial Scottish Lake monster.

In the current American International release "Destroy All Monsters," which begins an engagement on Thursday at the State Theatre, the film producer has ingeniously created a thrilling drama which for the first time combines a terrorizing account of world-wide devastation wrecked by the most famous of prehistoric monsters, and the space-age inventions of flying saucers, space ships which travel the universe and atomic weaponry such as only the future knows.

tres throughout the world. The 20th Century-Fox release can, among other distinctions, boast of being the top grossing black-and-white film in the annals of the motion picture industry. It will show Sunday, Monday and Tuesday at the State Theatre, featuring an incomparable cast of international stars.

"The Longest Day" is a dramatization of Cornelius Ryan's best-selling account based on exhaustive research and interviews with over 3,000 D-Day participants. Zanuck assembled 42 international stars for the most important of the 167 speaking parts and thousands of combat troops to re-stage on actual invasion sites a panoramic look at the events as seen through the eyes of the men who were there.

THE STEEL INDUSTRY

By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass.—Although most steel companies have reported both lower sales and earnings for the first half of this year, compared with the initial six months of 1968 (the year-ago period was inflated by buying in anticipation of a possible industry-wide strike), the industry still has performed somewhat better than originally expected. The high level of industrial activity so far this year has buoyed steel demand, especially in such important areas as automobile production, construction, and the capital goods field. At the same time, steel imports, reflecting the U. S. dock strike earlier this year and exceptionally strong demand in Europe and Japan, are well under the 1968 rate.

With steel demand continuing strong during the third quarter, second-half results, for most companies, should compare favorably with the depressed showing in the latter half of 1968 (when swollen inventories were being worked off). Consequently, full-year results for 1969 could approximate last year's level.

Change in Accounting Aided 1968 Results

On the surface, the combined figures of most of the steel companies for 1968 gave the impression that the industry had performed exceptionally well. On a 10.4 percent gain in net sales and revenues (as compared to 1967) the industry posted a 12.3 percent gain in net income. A closer look at the latter figure, however, reveals that much of the increase came as a result of a change in accounting methods as most companies switched to the accelerated method of straight line depreciation. Consequently, depreciation, depletion and amortization charges declined 19.7 percent from the year-earlier figure. Thus the gain in per share results, reported by many companies, was at least partially due to the new bookkeeping.

RENEWED OPTIMISM

Despite the frustrations of the past, there is a growing sense of optimism about the future of many steel companies. To a great extent, this is based on the industry's willingness to look at other areas which could provide greater growth. Diversification seems the most promising method by which steel companies can move out of the doldrums, improving both their financial results and their Wall Street image.

Looking at the steel business itself, there is also room for optimism. As mentioned earlier, foreign imports of steel are under last year's rate. Imports have been one of the greatest problems facing the steel industry in recent years, and any relief in this area could prove significantly beneficial to domestic companies. Also, the massive outlays on new plant and equipment should result in increased efficiencies in the future.

A CHANGE IN DIRECTION

Despite the massive capital outlays in recent years, the steel industry has not improved its return on investment to any significant degree. This has been a chronic problem for the industry. Recently improvement in this area has become the prime objective of management in many steel companies. More significantly, there is now a discernible trend toward diversification through product development, acquisition, or merger. In time, we feel that many steel companies will be importantly involved in other areas besides steel—areas which offer greater growth opportunities.

Cotton Harvest Pointers Given

This year's cotton crop defoliant and desiccant recommendations are in terms of spray formulations. Dusts have been discontinued.

Fred C. Elliott, cotton specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, says dusts have fallen into disfavor because of drift problems. Dew on cotton leaves also is necessary for a dust to be activated, he adds. Sprays can be applied by ground rigs or by airplanes, but Elliott urges growers to stagger applications in the case of large acreages.

"In other words, the application rate of defoliants or desiccants should be at about the same rate as the harvesting machinery will cover the field," he said. "This will avoid some of the greening-up that might occur if the whole acreage is defoliated at one time."

Harvest and chemicals are of two general types—defoliants and desiccants.

Defoliants prepare cotton for machine picking. There are chlorate and argano-phosphorus types. In 1968, there were 6,344 cotton picking machines operated in 93 Texas counties. They harvested 25 percent of the crop.

Desiccants prepare cotton for machines stripping. Of these, arsenic acid and Paraquat are the common kinds.

During the 1968 cotton season, 39,028 strippers in 165 counties stripped 75 percent of the Texas crop.

"When cotton is harvested by strippers before frost, use of a desiccant is a must," Elliott pointed out. "Desiccants may be applied for as little as $1 per acre, depending on crop conditions and material used."

The specialist emphasized that sprayers be carefully calibrated to avoid misapplication. "Ground sprayers should be checked to see that a uniform amount is being applied to each row, that nozzles and screens are not stopped up, and that calibration is not off due to excessive wear of the spray nozzles," he said.

Elliott added that county agricultural agents can supply information on a simple method for checking sprayer calibration.

More than half of the present $2.5 billion income from Texas farm marketings come from irrigated farmlands.

Home Town Talk--

$10,000, under the plan, would have that same property valued on the tax rolls, at 15 percent, or $1,500; at 25 cents per hundred—a big one-third of the allowable levy under the law, even—his cost would be under $4.00.

So . . . the proposed North Runnels County Hospital District would be a good buy in anybody's book, despite the hairy "high taxes" story which has been bandied about.

This question deserves our most positive consideration; we may not get another chance.

Carroll Wilder To Get BS Degree At McMurry

Carroll Lynn Wilder of Tuscola was among 78 seniors who graduated from McMurry College, Abilene, at summer commencement exercises Thursday, August 21, in Radford Memorial Auditorium.

Miss Wilder received a bachelor of science degree in Elementary Education. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Wilder. Her activities while at McMurry include TIP social club, Wah Wahtaysee, and Student Association.

Bishop Alsie H. Carleton, presiding bishop of the Northeast Texas-New Mexico of the United Methodist Church, delivered the commencement address. McMurry's president, Dr. Gordon R. Bennett, presided for the commencement service.

Vanity is the spice of life, but it takes monotony to finance it.
