HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Because 1970 will be an important year for all Texans, and it is necessary that all voters be registered by January 31, 1970, to vote in next year's elections, this space is being devoted to information on voter registration.

It is imperative that all voters qualify themselves to voice their opinions in the many elections which will come up in 1970.

This information on voter registration was prepared by Martin Dies Jr., Secretary of State, and forwarded for publication.

The registration period; the voting year.

—The period for registering to vote in the 1970 elections begins on October 1, 1969, and ends on January 31, 1970.

—The 1970 voting year begins on March 1, 1970, and ends on February 28, 1971.

Necessity for registration: The general rule is that no one can vote without having registered. A former exemption for registration for persons over 60 years old who did not live in a city of 10,000 or more inhabitants is no longer in effect. The only major exemption to the general requirement for registration is for persons who are absent from their county of residence in active military service.

Qualifications for voting. The required qualifications for voting are:

1. Citizen of the United States.
2. Over 21 years old on the day of the election.
3. Resident of the State for at least one year immediately preceding election day.
4. Resident of the county for at least six months immediately preceding election day—required for voting in local elections but not required for voting on statewide offices and issues. (Residence in the city for six months is required for voting in city elections).

Persons convicted of a felony who have not had their right of suffrage restored and persons who are under an adjudgment of mental incompetency cannot vote.

Who is eligible to register during the October 1 - January 31 period: Any person who already fulfills the requirements stated above or who will fulfill them before the end of the 1970 voting year on February 28, 1971, may register during the regular period. Persons registering before they meet the age or residence requirements cannot vote until the requirements are met. Their registration certificates will show the date on which they will become eligible to vote.

Who must register during the regular period: All persons already meeting the requirements for voting listed above must register by January 31, 1970. They cannot register after that date.

Persons who will become 21 years old by January 31 must register by that date and cannot register later. (Persons becoming 21 after January 31 may register during the regular period, and may also register at any time afterward but must have been registered for 30 days before they can vote on the registration.)

Persons who were residents of Texas on October 1, 1969, must register by January 31, 1970, regardless of whether they will have met the one-year residence requirement by that date and regardless of whether they will have lived in the county of present residence for six months. (Persons moving into Texas after October 1, 1969, may register during the regular period, and may also register at any time afterward but must have been registered for 30 days before they can vote on the registration.)

Where to register: A person must register as a voter of the county and precinct where he has his permanent residence (domicile). He makes his application for registration to the county tax assessor-collector of that county. The application may be made either by mail, on a voter registration application form which can be obtained from the assessor-collector's office, or by personal appearance in the assessor-collector's office or before a deputy who has been authorized to serve at some other location.

There is no charge for registration. (Persons in Winters and North (Continued on page 8))

HUNTER'S REWARD—Ricky Baker, left, downed this 8-point buck with an arrow a few days after the bow hunting season opened in this area. The buck was killed Saturday afternoon on a deer lease in Coleman County, Baker said. Baker, an employee of Dry Manufacturing Co., said he had been practicing with a bow only a few days, and that the shot, from 35-40 feet, was a "lucky one." The arrow hit and went completely through the neck of the deer, and can be seen in the picture. Others on the hunt were Danny Davis of Winters, a student at Angelo State College, and Butch Grant of Winters. (Staff photo)

Blizzards Play In Hamlin On Friday

The Winters High School Blizzards will be on the road this week, going to Hamlin Friday night for their second District 7-AA conference game and their fifth game of the season. Kick-off at 8 p. m.

The Blizzards, their reserve forces strengthened by the raise of "B" team members to varsity status, will be out for their first win of the season. The light-weight, inexperienced Winters team has met with defeat on their four previous outings this season. However, in their 7-AA opener against Anson last Friday night, the Blizzards gave a good account of themselves and showed the results of intensive training.

The Hamlin Pied Pipers have a season record of 3-1. They wiped out Merkel 29-0 last Friday night in their district opener.

The Blizzards and the Pipers have played one mutual oppo-

Blizzards Lose Homecoming Tilt To Anson, 25-12

Before a homecoming crowd Friday night the Winters Blizzards discovered that even black and red tigers know how to fight as they fell 25-12 to the Anson Tigers. A Tiger named Eddie Limer was responsible for the biggest part of Anson's points.

Winters made the first debit on the scoreboard in the first quarter when halfback Mike Mathis went over for a TD. Anson tied the score later in the same half as Limer ran 18 yards for the Tiger's first score. Neither team was able to add an extra point.

Coming back in the third quarter with new vigor, Limer added two more touchdowns. He was also able to kick one extra point.

Winters scored again in the fourth quarter as Arlon Barnes pushed his way over the last few feet for 6 points. But as the clock showed less than one minute in the game the Tigers decided to increase their score once again. Sid Middlebrook came down the middle of the field for the final Anson tally.

The final score for the Blizzards' initial district game was 25-12. They will meet the Pied Pipers of Hamlin this Friday in Hamlin.

Health Career Program At WHS Thursday, Oct. 16

The Texas Health Careers Program will stage an assembly program at Winters High School at 2:30 p. m., October 16, it has been announced.

Utilizing a 16mm film sequence and live stage presentation, this assembly is designed to introduce students to the opportunities which await the health-care professional of tomorrow. The need for health manpower in Texas is great, it was stated. Statistics indicate that 50,000 qualified health personnel will be needed by 1975 to fill vacant paramedical seats.

Speakers for the Health Careers Assembly will be Spencer Guimarin and Gerald Spraggins, RN. Guimarin, director of the Texas Health Careers Program, has traveled throughout the State with his message of challenging, rewarding careers in health care. Almost 120,000 secondary students were introduced to health careers during the 1968-69 academic year alone.

Spraggins, first male graduate of the Methodist Hospital School of Nursing in Dallas and a veteran of Vietnam, served as nursing consultant at Health Career Days and was featured as "Lucifer" in the Texas Health Careers Program Caravan before joining the staff on a full-time basis.

The Texas Health Careers Program is affiliated with the Texas Hospital Association.

Friday Last Day To Register For PP&K Contests

Friday, October 10, is the last day boys 8 through 13 may register for the Punt, Pass and Kick contests to be held on the Winters football field Saturday, October 11. The contest is being sponsored locally by Dale's Ford Sales.

This competition, now in its ninth year, is open to boys 8 through 13, and is free. The boys will be competing for 18 handsome all-metal trophies to be awarded during the local competition.

Everything is free and each boy gets a copy of the PPK Tips book which contains stories and tips by Don Meridith and Mike Clark of the Dallas Cowboys and Billy Lothridge of the Atlanta Falcons, and an introduction by Don Shula, the coach of the Baltimore Colts.

Contests will be competing against boys in their own age group in three football skills—punting, passing and kicking. Gold trophies will be awarded to the first place winners of each age group, silver to the second place winners, and bronze to the third place winners. There is no body contact and participation does not affect a boy's amateur standing.

Boys may secure information and registration slips at Dale's Ford Sales.

'Coming Home Queen,' 'Homecoming Queen,' Crowned Last Friday Night

Mrs. John (Mildred) Gardner was named "Coming Home Queen," and Miss Brenda Byrns, high school senior, was named "Homecoming Queen," during halftime ceremonies at the Winters-Anson football game Friday night.

The Coming Home Queen was elected by the board of directors of the Ex-Students Association, and the Homecoming Queen was elected by the student body of WHS from a slate of four senior girl nominees.

The presentation of the two queens was the highlight of the Friday - Saturday homecoming celebration sponsored by the Ex-Students Association. The ex-students had dinner at the school cafeteria prior to the football game Friday evening, and a fellowship hour was held at the cafeteria following the game.

During the halftime activities, the two queens were introduced to the crowd of football fans.

Mrs. Gardner was escorted onto the field by David Dobbins, vice president of the Ex-Students Association and presented a bouquet by J. J. Briley of Dallas, a member of the WHS Class of 1919, this year's 50th Anniversary Class. Mrs. Frances Campbell, the 1968 Coming Home Queen, presented the new queen with the sash.

Miss Byrns was one of four nominees for Homecoming Queen, who were introduced. Identity of the Homecoming Queen was kept secret until the last moment. Miss Byrns was escorted by Reece McCuiston; Randall Sneed, president of the Student Council of WHS, presented Miss Byrns with a bouquet.

The other three nominees, all seniors, were Miss Phyllis Smith, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truett Smith, escorted by Bill Baldwin; Miss Janice Pierce, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pierce, escorted by Donnie Kilough; and Miss Pamela Smith, also a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Truett Smith, escorted by Johnny Allen.

Mrs. Gardner was born in Winters and has lived here all her life. She attended Trinity University in Texas. She was married in 1938, to John G. Gardner, also a graduate of WHS. They are the parents of a son, Gray of Houston, and a daughter, Ginger, of Dallas. Mrs. Gardner for a number of years has been manager of Spill Brothers Co. and Spill Funeral Home, businesses established by her late father, Albert Spill, in 1905. She is a member of the Presbyterian Church, and is active in all phases of community life.

Winters To Get Housing Money

Winters is definitely assured a 46-unit low rent housing development, it was revealed Tuesday.

Telegrams from Senator John Tower and Congressman Omar Burleson to The Winters Enterprise Tuesday announced a $757,975 Department of Housing and Urban Development contract to the City of Winters for a housing project. Thirty of the units will be designed specifically for the elderly, with the remainder for low-income families, it was stated.

Three locations, on Parsonage and Murray, Mulberry and Pecan, and Concord and Walnut streets, have been proposed for the project, it was stated by a spokesman for the Winters Housing Authority. Surveying of the tracts has been completed, and appraisal should be completed within the next few days, it was said. Following that, negotiations will be made for purchase of the land for bids for construction of the 46 units to be issued shortly thereafter.

Homes, which will consist of single family and duplex units, will be designed by Fitch & Hol-dridge Associates of Houston. The development will be built and maintained under the control of the Winters Housing Authority, members of which were appointed by the Winters City Council. Members of the Authority are B. J. (Jake) Joyce, chairman; J. P. Dry, vice chairman; and Gattis Neely, Ralph Lloyd and Ted Meyer. Buford Baldwin, Winters City Secretary, is temporary secretary. It is understood that a permanent executive secretary will be named at a later date.

Record Crowd At Livestock Assn. Barbecue Monday

A record crowd attended the annual membership barbecue sponsored by the Winters Livestock & Agricultural Association Monday night, according to F. R. (Phil) Anderson, secretary of the association.

Anderson said a head count showed that 770 persons were fed barbecue and trimmings in the new Winters Community Center. This is 170 more than were served at last year's event, which was a record to that time.

In past years the annual barbecue has been held in the stock show barn, but was moved to the Community Center this year.

Anderson also said that the membership drive of the organization is still on. There now are 390 members, and the list is growing every day. Membership dues are $5.00 per family. The money is used to produce the annual FFA-4H livestock show here in January each year.

Anyone interested in joining the association may do so by contacting Anderson or any of the directors.

AIRLINES—IS THE FOG LIFTING?

By Babson's Reports, Inc.
Wellesley Hills, Mass.—Plagued by the weighty restraint of inflating costs, the nation's airlines continue to suffer from a severe profits squeeze. Thus far in 1969, reported earnings of nearly every airline have nose-dived. The outlook for the remainder of the year does not indicate any significant rebound.

There were some extraordinary reasons for this poor performance, including the 21-day labor strike against American Airlines. Nevertheless, the main causes of this lackluster earnings picture have been rising expenses, inadequate fares, and declining load factors. Revenues have continued to trend upward, but costs have risen faster. As a result, profit margins have been subjected to an intense squeeze. In short, the airlines are in a period of profitless prosperity.

Help From Fare Boosts
Earlier this year a fare increase of 3.8 percent was authorized. Despite this advance, several airlines reported lower 1969 second-quarter earnings than in the corresponding period last year. Three major carriers were forced to omit quarterly dividends on their common stock. Primarily, this was due to increased expenses, but, also, traffic did not grow to the degree anticipated. Furthermore, this profit decline is being accentuated by the huge capital outlays for new jumbo jets and supporting ground equipment.

In the future, these new jets are expected to provide major cost reductions and allow productivity gains. However, some airlines are having difficulty arranging financing for this equipment. Western Air Lines, a financially hard-pressed carrier, canceled a $150-million aircraft order. To stop further deterioration of the airlines' finances, the industry requested and received a second fare increase this year. Although this increase amounted to 6.35 percent, it is still not sufficient to allow an adequate rate of return.

Intense Competition Rules
Why the airline industry's floundering fortunes? The fierce competition that exists between the carriers is a major cause. In an attempt to gain a greater share of the market, the airlines add more, costlier, and bigger planes to their fleets. They also provide more services, try to lure more travelers with economy plans.

But the fact is that there are too many carriers serving the same routes. The CAB, which is responsible for route awards, seems to grant new operating territories to satisfy every line's demands as much as possible. This type of policy inevitably leads to smaller and smaller pieces of the pie until each of the carriers is left with only a few crumbs. Under these conditions, there is an awkward period when profits from lucrative routes dwindle to marginal proportions because traffic simply cannot grow fast enough.

Emphasis on Boosting Profits
Airlines are pursuing another tactic which could enhance their profitability. The holding company concept recently employed by the nation's railroads to facilitate diversification is being adopted by some airlines. United Air Lines has already established such a corporate vehicle to facilitate non-airline ventures. This provides an easy way to separate airline activities from related ventures such as hotels, car rentals, and restaurants—which are peripheral to passenger and freight transportation.

Drownings Take
Needless Toll

Drownings in Texas have reached 465, according to figures compiled by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

"With the present frequency of drownings, we should soon be matching last year's total of 486," says R. G. Mauermann, deputy director of the Department.

Swimming incidents continue to be the major cause of drownings, according to Mauermann. He says swimming in unfamiliar waters and overextension of the victim's abilities led to several recent tragedies.

Small children who wander away from their parents also accounted for several deaths. Mauermann says Texans with private swimming pools or other bodies of water near their homes should be extra cautious.

Boating accidents have taken several lives this year. "The really tragic thing about boating accidents is that it would take so little effort to prevent a swamped or overturned boat from becoming a fatal situation," says Mauermann. "If the operator insisted that everyone in his boat wear a life jacket, most of these lives would be saved."

Looking Ahead
Despite the gloomy near-term outlook, prospects for the 1970s seem brighter. Capacity additions are expected to be less than traffic increases, allowing load factors to bounce back. Due to the industry's leverage factor, traffic gains above the break-even level permit larger amounts of revenue to flow through to operating profit. There is a good possibility that next year could see some earnings turn-arounds. Hence, current problems of the airlines should diminish in intensity during the decade ahead. The bulk of the industry's problems seem already to have been discounted by the stock market.

WASHINGTON
"As It looks from here"
OMAR BURLESON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—There was this Cat—really, man a Cat—the four-legged kind. His name is not known but this particular Cat is entitled to a capital "C" anyway.

Now this Cat may not be too different in appearance from other Cats. What distinguishes him is that he has a regular job.

It has been said that no one really owns a cat, meaning that cats go where they please and tolerate those people who do the most for them. Seemingly not entirely true with this Cat.

Bruce owns this Cat. Bruce is the Lady's first name. Like the Cat, her last name is not known.

She lives in the heart of New York City with two cats—a boy Cat and a girl cat. The boy Cat is the star in this story and hence the reason to use the big "C" in referring to him. He's the main subject because he holds down this job. He may not contribute much to Bruce's support but there is the lady cat and cat food is expensive.

Bruce holds a position at the executive level in a big organization with offices in mid-town Manhattan. She also has the job of seeing that her Cat gets to his place of employment on time.

Reports are that she sets aside a period at about 11:00 o'clock each morning to leave her office, get a cab and go for Cat. She takes him to work, after which she has her lunch and returns to her office.

According to those who know Bruce and her daily routine, she leaves her office for the day around 5:30, arriving home at about 6:00 o'clock. Her Cat is either there waiting to be let in or if not there he arrives a few minutes afterwards. Like most of us he may be late to work but seldom late in quitting.

His work-day is five hours. It is not clear whether he is paid by the hour, or if he works on a commission. This part is not important either. What is important is that he is soon to lose his job.

Imagine the shock and dismay of that household when the Cat has to solemnly announce to Bruce that he is being dismissed. He has been faithful, done his job well and produced according to expectations. Did he goof off—let his employer down—lose his temper and scratch someone? None of this. Is he being replaced by some new-fangled mouse trap installed by the bakery? Automation is disrupting a lot of jobs nowadays you know. This doesn't seem to be the case either.

Finally the truth is out. Ole Cat's job is being abolished because of the Government's rat eradication program. It is not management's decision to let Cat go. Evidently they were doing pretty good on a day-to-day operation but with no permanent solution. So the Government takes over the problem and the Cat is out of work.

Should he be entitled to unemployment compensation? The House Ways and Means Committee of the Congress has just begun hearings (not on the Cat's problem) on proposals to revise the unemployment compensation laws.

The administration recommends covering an additional 5.2 million employees, including 400,000 farm workers. They say this added coverage will include all but 11 million in our entire work-force. Of these, about 2 million are agricultural workers and another 2 million are in domestic employment. The remainder are employed in public institutions, non-profit organizations, state and local governments.

The Labor Department proposes to pay for the additional cost by raising the wage base income from $3,000 to $4,000 for tax years 1972 and 1973 and then to $6,000 beginning in 1974.

Some advocate the Federal government taking over the whole operation, including the administration of the Unemployment Program. The States now run the system under "guidance" of the Federal Government. Qualifying requirements are generally set by the States and differ from State to State. Uniformity by the States is being fixed by Federal law.

New York State is rather liberal in granting Unemployment Insurance, even to those on strike. Even so, it is doubtful Bruce's Cat can qualify. Should the Federal Government take over the whole thing—he might.

There is little change for people to get together as long as most of us want to be in the front of the bus, the back of the church, and the middle of the road.

Strange how much you've got to know before you know how little you know.

CAPABLE COURTEOUS

Pheasant Season Holds Promise For Hunters

The 1969 pheasant season in the Panhandle will open on Dec. 13 for nine consecutive days, closing Dec. 21, says Jack Parsons, wildlife supervisor for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

Dick DeArment, project leader, kept careful statistics of last year's hunt for the big birds and found that they weighed in excess of two pounds each, well worth the work and walking involved.

Statistics compiled for the first two days of the hunt were conservatively expanded for an annual estimate of date on hunter and hunted in the three million acres of six Panhandle counties.

On the first two days the feathers flew, and 6,159 hunters bagged 4,248 cock birds. It might appear that some of the flying feathers were on birds untouched by the sprays of shot. The extended estimate of statistics at the end of the season reveal that approximately 26,000 hunters dropped 18,000 of the bombshell birds in the bag, a hunter success of 0.69 birds per hunter.

Biologists say the birds are in good condition, and are not presently suffering from any apparent food shortage. Bag limits on pheasant this year will be two cocks per day, four in possession after the first day's hunt. Head and feet must remain attached to the carcass.

Mrs. Ella Deaton, Mother of Local Resident, Died

Mrs. Ella Deaton, 79, resident of the Williamsburg Nursing Home, died at 9:15 a.m. Tuesday last week.

She was the mother of Eli Deaton of Winters.

Services were held at 3:30 p.m. Wednesday in Elliott's Chapel of Memories in Abilene, with the Rev. Gerald Cates, pastor of Highland Park Baptist Church, officiating, assisted by the Rev. R. M. Parsley. Burial was in Hamby Cemetery.

Mrs. Deaton was born Dec. 24, 1889, in Mississippi. She came to Texas in 1892 with her parents and settled in Collin County. In 1901, she moved to Abilene and in 1905 she married W. H. (Bill) Deaton.

Mrs. Deaton was a member of College View Baptist Church. Mr. Deaton and one daughter, Hattie Deathridge, preceded her in death.

Survivors include one son, Eli of Winters; two daughters, Mrs. C. E. McClatchey of Abilene, and Mrs. Mattie Box of Vogel; a brother, E. D. Phillely of Breckenridge; four grandchildren, Charles McClatchey of Anson, Donna Risley of Bedford, Su Figueroa of Cheyenne, Wyo., and De Ann Deaton of Winters; and four great-grandchildren, Trina and Carla McClatchey, SuWana Risley and Sophia Figueroa.

The Forest Service reports last year 4,232,000 acres burned from a total United States forested area of 1,165,039,000 acres. In 1967, the acreage burned was 4,658,586 acres.

"Double-Barreled" Hunting Safety Urged By TSA

Austin—With duck, deer and many game bird seasons at hand, Texas sportsmen are urged to take a "double barreled" approach to hunting safety by the Texas Safety Association.

"Duck hunters in particular should be aware of the necessity for safe boating habits as well as proper gun handling," said George Wm. Perry, Dallas, president of the state-wide safety association.

Heavy hunting and hip boots can prove to be an anchor, making boating mishaps doubly dangerous. Some insulated hunting jackets quickly become saturated with water, hampering even the strongest swimmer. Hunters using small, unstable duck boats are urged to wear a life preserver.

Hunters were also advised to know the capacity and performance characteristics of their boat. "If waves are too high, stay ashore. Remember that besides passengers, you are carrying a heavier load in guns, ammunition and clothing," Perry said. "It would be better to leave a friend behind on the shore than leave him behind in the lake."

Boating safety rules should be combined with proper gun handling—the second "barrel" of hunting safety—to increase the sportsman's changes of not only bagging his limit this season, but bringing himself back alive.

Hunters, except duck hunters in blinds, should wear bright red or reflective orange caps and jackets to make identification easier for other hunters. Each year hunters are killed when mistaken for a deer, quail or even a rabbit, Perry said.

All hunters are reminded to be sure of their line of fire. This is particularly true when hunting in underbrush, as bullets fired from high-powered rifles can travel great distances. Shooting at sounds in deep underbrush is the sure sign of a "green-horn". A hunter should fire only when positively sure his target is legal game.

When the hunt is over, hunters should make sure their guns are unloaded. Loaded guns should never be carried in a moving vehicle, as rough riding, a playful dog or an accident can cause a gun to discharge.

All hunters—on land or the water—are advised to avoid drinking alcoholic beverages before and during the hunt, as well as afterwards on the road home.

Alcohol and gunpowder—just as alcohol and gasoline—do not mix safely, the safety official concluded.

TO AWAKEN SMALL TOWNS

Governor Smith announced a "Texas Communities Tomorrow" program to revitalize the small towns in Texas.

Aim is to provide a central source through which small towns can get information on governmental aid available to them and to help find technical and financial know-how for improvement programs.

Most "hometowns" are "becoming crowded cities" or "are decaying into nothingness," complained the governor.

Today nearly 50 per cent of the Army ROTC alumni had or are top executives of corporations; 12 per cent have their own business; 10 per cent are in education; 10 per cent hold local, state or federal government positions; 9 per cent are lawyers; 6 per cent are bankers, and the remaining 3 per cent are found in other occupations.

Governor Smith Salutes Texas Four-H Clubs

College Station. — Governor Preston Smith in an official memorandum said, "Texas 100,000 4-H members are observing National 4-H Club Week, Oct. 5-11. "The purpose of 4-H work is to give equal training to the Head, Heart, Hands, and Health of Texas young people and to help prepare them to be better leaders and citizens who will fit into society where their life's work may take them. "4-H is a part of the educational program of the Texas A. & M. University Cooperative Extension Service and is supervised on the local level by county extension agents along with the help of 19,000 local volunteer 4-H leaders who are outstanding men and women in their local communities. "Texas 4-H members, working with over 202,529 educational learn-by-doing projects, apply the latest research and scientific information to their work, keeping records, arranging exhibits and giving demonstrations as means of passing information learned to others. "The leadership and citizenship training which 4-H members receive is a valuable asset to our democratic way of life. "The governor urged all citizens to support and encourage the work of the "To Make the Best Better" organization. "The state 4-H Club leaders say that National 4-H Week observances are being held in many local and county clubs, and are hopeful that parents and other interested persons will attend. "It's a real opportunity to see 4-H members in action and to learn firsthand of the many worthwhile training experiences offered to youth through the program," they noted. "They point out that 4-H programs have changed through the years and now include projects and activities for rural, suburban and urban youth. Local county extension agents or local leaders can supply information on how to start a 4-H Club in your neighborhood.

Sgt. Neill Brown Crew Member On AC-119 Gunship

With U. S. COMBAT AIR FORCES, Vietnam—The Viet Cong, no longer able to count on darkness to protect his movements in Vietnam undoubtedly dreads the night and more particularly the "Shadow" which Sergeant Neil L. Brown and his fellow airman cast. Sergeant Brown, son of Mr. and Mrs. George D. Brown of Route 1, Winters, is a member of the aircrews in the AC-119 "Shadow" gunship unit that recently became operational at Tuy Hoa Air Base. Flying the Korean War workhorse as a charger in Vietnam, the sergeant and fellow crewmen are airborne at dusk to pound the enemy despite his protective night cover. The modified Air Force cargo transport is equipped with an automatic flare launcher that releases 2.5 million candle power flares, turning night into day. A 1.5 million candle power strobe light is also part of the night observation system. Punch to the gunship operation is provided by four miniguns capable of firing a total of 24,000 rounds a minute and which may be directed by a computerized fire control system. The gunship, initially flown in Vietnam by mobilized Air Force reservists, offers a greater versatility for combat action than its predecessor, the AC-47 Skytrain and one of the weapons most dreaded by the Viet Cong. Sergeant Brown flies aboard the gunship on armed reconnaissance missions to attack enemy supply and infiltration routes and to provide close air support for allied ground forces. He is assigned at the coastal air base 230 miles northeast of Saigon as a member of the 17th Special Operations Squadron that flies the AC-119 from several locations. The sergeant, a graduate of Winters High School, attended Cisco, Texas Junior College.

Former Winters Man Gets Award At Webb AFB

Allen Gerhart, formerly of Winters, who for the past 17 years has been employed at Webb Air Force Base, after serving seven years in the US Air Force, has been awarded a Special Act of Service award as the result of accomplishments of the aircraft paint team under his leadership.

Gerhart went to Webb AFB as an airman when the base was reactivated in 1952. When his enlistment terminated in 1954 he became employed as an aircraft paint and corrosion control supervisor.

Gerhart is the son of W. F. Gerhart of Winters. His wife is the former Ruth Watson of Winters. Her mother, Mrs. A. W. Watson, lives at 509 Meeks in Winters. They have two children attending Big Spring High School. A son, Michael, who is 16, is a member of the Big Spring football team, and a daughter, Brenda, is a member of the Honor Society.

Gerhart received the Special Act of Service award for his "guidance which enabled the (paint) team to completely re-finish over 100 T-38 supersonic aircraft without a single defective paint job. This is an exceptional accomplishment when considering the complexity of the finishing operations required," it was stated.

The Special Acts award presented to Gerhart was one out of three given at Webb AFB since 1952. Gerhart also was awarded the Sustained Superior Performance award for his technical knowledge plus "his ability to analyze the daily problems connected with his shop. Under his leadership, the corrosion control shop functions as a team to provide first class service not only to T-37 and T-38 aircraft, but to aircraft repair and flight line activities."

THE FAMILY LAWYER

RIGHT TO PICKET

Picketing, it seems, has never been as popular as it is today. What is the law's attitude toward this widespread activity?

In the first place, the right to picket has a firm foundation in the freedom of speech guaranteed by the Constitution. Picketing is a form of expression, calling the attention of the public to some grievance or some program. In this aspect, picketing is just as privileged as any other manner of speaking.

Take this case, for example: Residents of a certain block decided to picket a new tavern that had opened nearby. Their signs, bearing assorted slogans, expressed displeasure at having this kind of an establishment in their midst.

In short order the tavern owner, fearful of the effect upon his trade, went to court for an injunction. However, the court decided the pickets were within their legal rights.

"The carrying of signs," said the court, "is a natural and appropriate means of conveying information on matters of public concern. . . . (The pickets) have simply chosen one means of expression rather than another."

But picketing does not consist of speech alone. It also involves action. And the speech aspect does not give any special immunity to the action aspect. Violence by picketing is just as unlawful as violence by anyone else. Pickets have no more right to block pedestrians than pedestrians have to block pickets. Moreover, even in its speech aspect, picketing is subject to the same limitations as any other kind of communication. Words that are libelous, or statements that incite to riot, are just as unlawful carried on a picket sign as shouted from a soapbox.

In sum, then, the Constitution does guarantee the freedom to picket—but only within fair and reasonable guidelines.

"The constitutional guarantee of liberty implies public order," said the United States Supreme Court, "without which liberty itself would be lost."

Health Column

Pills are part of today's world. People take pills to pep up. To calm down. To cure TB. To stop having babies.

Pills can be beneficial. But pills—especially those not prescribed by physicians—can have strange effects. Pep pills, for instance, can have a downbeat kickback. At least for rats. And probably for humans, too.

In experiments at Boston University, Dr. Aarje Latz gave amphetamines—pep pills—to rats for 10 days. The pills made the rats perform poorly on tasks they were trained to do. Their performance declined with each successive day on the pills. Even after the effects of the drug had worn off, the rats still performed badly. The letdown lingers.

Apparently the effects of some pep pills depend not only on the drug itself but also on the situation. Rats given small doses of dexedrine—another pep pill—may get sick and die if put in the company of other rats. But they seem fine if left alone. After taking the pills, they perform better on tasks if they are kept away from company.

The meaning for humans? Nobody knows yet. But pep pills probably have a de-nepping effect at parties, at least. The chemical reactions triggered in the brain by these pills are now under investigation at the University of Rhode Island. Pep pills are risky items.

Juicy Pears: Ancient Persian kings once gave the pear a special place in their courts. From the splendor of Persia's courts the pear was transplanted to northern Europe, where it became a favorite with the French nobility.

After sailing to America in the 18th century, however, the pear lost its royal perch and became a special favorite of almost everyone.

Pears are plentiful now, reports the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture. Overall pear production is expected to run about 16 percent more than last year. Bartletts account for about 70 percent of the nation's total pear supply.

Pears which are hard when you find them in the store will probably ripen if kept at room temperature, but it is wise to select pears that have already begun to soften to be reasonably certain that they will ripen satisfactorily.

Look for firm pears. The desired color depends on variety. For Bartletts, look for a pale yellow to rich yellow color. Anjou or Comice should be light green to yellow green. Bosc are greenish yellow to brownish yellow, while Winter Nelis should be medium to light green.

Avoid wilted or shriveled pears with dull-appearing skin and slight weakening of the flesh near the stem which indicates immaturity. These pears will not ripen. Also avoid spots on the sides or blossom ends of the pears, which mean that corky tissue may be underneath.

Fresh pears are fun to offer to the family in a variety of different dishes. Salads, stewed pears, baked pears, fried pears, pear jams and marmalades are but a few of the uses for this elegant fare.

Pears on a Stick: Closely akin to caramel apples, this treat is bound to be a hit with the children in your family. To prepare, melt caramel candies in top of a double boiler over boiling water. Insert a flat wooden skewer into the stem end of washed fresh pears, then slowly swirl the pear in the caramel sauce, spreading it with a knife to make sure the pear is entirely "hidden." Set pears upright in waxed paper lined baking pan and refrigerate until caramel is firm.

Try whole baked pears: Core fresh pears and fill the cavity with your choice of cranberry sauce; mincemeat; chopped dates, nuts and coconut; a fruit jelly or jam; crushed pineapple; or a peanut butter-honey mixture. Stand pears upright in a buttered casserole and add 1-4 cup water. Cover. Bake at 350 degrees F. for 30 minutes, or until tender. Serve pears hot with milk or cream.

Fresh Pear Honey is delicious on waffles. To prepare, wash, core, pare and chop fine about 8 cups of pears. Slice one scrubbed lemon into thin circles, then combine lemon, 5 cups sugar and 1 teaspoon ginger in sauce pan along with about 1-2 cup water.

Bring to a boil, then simmer slowly until thick. Use hot, cold or preserve for future use by pouring boiling hot into hot sterilized jars and sealing at once. Or allow to cool and pour into pre-portioned freezer containers. This recipe yields a generous quart of Pear Honey.

DEMOCRATS

State Democratic Executive Committee has nominated Mrs. Carrin Patman of Ganado to serve as the National Democratic Committeewoman from Texas. She is the wife of Sen. William N. Patman and replaces Mrs. Lloyd Bentsen of Houston, who resigned the position. Mrs. Patman is the daughter-in-law of U. S. Rep. Wright Patman and the daughter of the late State Sen. Fred Mauritz of Ganado. She still has to be approved by the National Committee.

At the meeting, State Chairman Elmer Baum told committee members that Democrats have to overcome their biggest handicap—taking success for granted. He is organizing a future committee to act as an advisory group to chart new approaches "for a brighter future."

French Robertson of Abilene, executive committee finance chairman, told members that he is dropping the "card carrying" Democrat scheme to raise money. The party had been selling gold Democratic Party membership cards for $100 and other cards for $1, but Robertson said it wasn't raising enough money to continue the program.

HEALTH COLUMN

The "rest cure" for TB went out with the pill age.

Today treatment for TB focuses on isoniazid and the other pills that fight TB germs. But rest, especially deep sleep, has benefits unsuspected until very recently.

Research into sleep and dreams has turned up some surprising evidence. Some of it suggests that a special kind of emotional learning takes place during dreams. Dreams—in some way not yet understood—are part of the brain's effort to absorb and reorganize emotionally intense experience.

In one experiment, Dr. Ramon Greenberg, of the Veterans Administration Hospital in Boston, showed a gruesome film of an autopsy to two groups of subjects. Then he measured the emotional tension caused by the viewing. He allowed one group to get a good night's sleep that night. But he awakened the second group each time their brain waves indicated they were about to dream.

The next day all subjects were shown the film again. The first group, who had been allowed to dream, were much calmer the second time. But the other dream-deprived group showed just as much anxiety at the second viewing as at the first. Dreams, it seems, help digest the past.

Dreams occur during sleep at regular intervals, about every 90 minutes. The electrical waves of the brain become as active as when the sleeper is fully awake. These periods-called REM sleep because of the rapid eye movements that take place—last for 20 to 30 minutes at a stretch. They are now considered so important that ads for sleeping pills in medical magazines tell physicians how much REM sleep the pills will produce.

Rest alone does not cure TB. But sleep and dreams are part of healthy living.

Rannels County may register at the sub-office of the Rannels County Tax Assessor-Collector, on North Main Street, Winters).

Application through an agent: The husband, wife, father, mother, son, or daughter of a voter may act as the voter's agent in applying for registration if the relative is a qualified voter in the same county. Except for these listed relatives, which do not include persons related by marriage (in-laws), no one may act as agent for the voter in applying for registration.

Voter registration officially began October 1. If we value our way of life and our system of self government, we must demonstrate our concern by registering to vote. Without that voter registration certificate in hand, we will have no way of making our desires known at the polls. Register today, before the registration season grows short—it can become later than we think before we realize it.

AROUND THE 7-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

The eight teams in District 7-AA opened district competition last Friday night, with all efforts from here on aimed toward the conference crown for 1969.

On the surface, and without delving into the status and standings of the teams they played in non-conference games, Haskell, after their 35-16 win over Stamford, probably would have to be called the No. 1 team in the district at this time. In spite of the fact that Ballinger defeated a to-then undefeated team (Coleman), Ballinger had played only two pre-conference games, to Haskell's three. Stamford had a 2-1 record going into conference Hamlin, then, would be No. 3, with their win over Merkel—also undefeated in pre-conference games. Hamlin entered conference with a 2-1 record. Anson, the other 7-AA winner of the weekend, went into conference play with an 0-3 record, to rack up their first win of 25-12 of the season over Winters. Perhaps that's not the way to figure it, according to Mr. Hoyle, but that's the way one observer has them placed.

The whole complexion could change with this week's games, however. Anyway, it's too early in the season to be picking the District champions. Anything can happen, and usually does during the regular season . . . and, as usual, in spite of present standings and stature, any team in the district, under the right circumstances, is capable of defeating any other team in the district on a given night. This observer has been red-faced wrong many times in the past, so we're not about to count the hatch before the incubator gets warm.

There will be some good games over the district this weekend—in fact, four of them. So if you can't see your hometown team play, try to make one of the others—you'll enjoy watching some of the best AA high school football. Anson hosts Ballinger this Friday. Two undefeated in district, they've played no mutual opponents this year. Ballinger gets the nod on this one. Coleman meets Stamford at Coleman. No mutual opponents thus far this year. Coleman has the edge here.

Hamlin hosts Winters. One mutual opponent—Hamlin defeated Clyde 21-0, Clyde defeated Winters 26-14. Hamlin has the edge.

Merkel goes to Haskell. No mutual opponents thus far. Haskell should lead.
