HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Bill Shoemaker, Baptist preacher at Spearman and formerly of Winters First Baptist Church, sent this clipping:

Remember the July heat wave?

An anonymous reader recalls having heard an elderly customer in a hospital elevator remark: "It will take two winters to cool us off."

It never takes two winters in the Panhandle. One October will do it every time.

Speaking of weather, somebody else said it: Our usual unusual weather has been more unusual than usual.

Coffee drinkers the other day were discussing the many changes which have come about in the diets of most of us who have been around for more than three decades. Many of the items which are on the super market shelves today and which many take for granted were not even on the scene a few years ago. Frozen foods and TV dinners, for instance, we take as a matter of course these days, and there are those latercomers who can remember nothing else.

Mention a taste for turnip greens-mustard-collards in some circles these days and you immediately become dated-if not suspect. Or lamb's-quarter (we can't find that in the Webster's, but there is listed a "lamb's lettuce" or "corn salad," which may be the same thing). And we have known cooks who could take a handful of tender leaves of the common old careless weed, treat them as turnip greens, and turn out a meal to stick to your ribs. And poke salad. A n d dandelion greens. There are many others, some regional, some universal-or used to be.

Then there are some these days who would look down their noses at anyone who would mention a liking for cottontail rabbit-or even young jackrabbit. But that one probably could tell you of times when rabbit was many times the main course, and was the only meat available.

But we're all too busy running these days... to take the time to pick and wash turnip greens, cut a hunk of salt pork for the pot. Or to boil red beans all day, seasoned with salt pork. The super market shelves and the frozen food cases are too handy.

Perhaps many of the pills which beset our times would be cured to some extent if we could return to some of the basic diets which sustained many of us a few decades ago.

Paul Harvey, noted news commentator, said in his talk Friday at the dedication of the Douglas MacArthur Academy of Freedom at Howard Payne College, Brownwood, that if twelve hippies had been parading around outside the coliseum protesting, "national television would have covered the event. But as it is, all you get is me."

Sad, but true. Although the event of the dedication of this real-American type addition to the Brownwood college campus was given wide and heavy publicity in state and area newspapers, and could have been used by national television as an example of "basic" America, it was ignored, largely because there was no "gimmick" (i.e., long-haired, dirty, yowling hippies). Thus, it provided nothing for national television to focus upon, lacking the bizarre, the out-of-stream and against-everything-decent attitude toward which the medium appears to be oriented. It is a sad commentary of a medium which could be used so much to weld this country together but is being used as an instrument to tear it apart. It is focused so much upon the acts of dissension of a small minority that to the unsuspecting it would appear that outlandishness is the trademark of the majority. And some politicians are playing the scene for all it is worth, in seeking to feather their own nests at the expense of the country as a whole. Greater harm and destruction could yet be done if the majority, who have been reluctant to act, do not soon take the initiative and resume control.

Ocie Hunt is shown with part of his collection of old eyeglasses, sunglasses, lenses and frames, which he reworks into New Eyes for the Needy.

Don't throw away old eyeglasses and sunglasses. These can be used to provide the precious gift of sight to the needy who cannot afford it in this country and areas of the free world.

Upon specific requests, New Eyes ships re-usable glasses to such areas of the free world as the Philippine, France, Oman, Arabia, Labrador, India, Africa and South America.

Any individual or organization wishing to contribute to this worthwhile cause may send the glasses and other precious metal scraps such as old watches, broken or outdated jewelry (costly, real or antique), dentures with bits of gold, damaged silver, etc. The metal framed glasses and metal scrap are sold to a refinery and the redeemed cash is used by New Eyes to purchase new prescription glasses and artificial eyes for the poor in the United States. The reusable plastic framed glasses are tested, classified, and sent broad to medical missions to provide better vision for the poor of the world. Sunglasses are sent to leper colonies.

Send by parcel post to: Ocie Hunt, 105 W. 3rd, Sweetwater, Texas 79556. Wrap glasses individually, and put them in a sturdy box. Please include a return address, including your zip code number, so your package can be acknowledged.

The Billy Graham movie, "The Restless Ones," which had been scheduled to be shown at the First Baptist Church Monday, October 27, has been cancelled, due to conflicts with other activities.

The movie will be re-scheduled, and announcements made, the Rev. Harry Grantz, pastor of the First Baptist Church, said.

City Discussing Land Fill Refuse Disposal Method

Winters' City Council has been discussing inauguration of the "land fill" method of disposal of trash and refuse, to replace the old open dump ground now being used.

It is anticipated that within the next year, all open dump ground method of disposal will be outlawed by the State, according to City Secretary Buford Baldwin, and the City is making an intense study of the land fill method which probably will be required for cities the size of Winters.

When and if the City does change to the land fill method of disposal, it will require additional earth-moving equipment, Baldwin said. Officials now are discussing purchase of a bulldozer, which would be needed. However, no immediate action is expected, and it may be several months before definite steps are taken, it was stated.

In the land fill method, deep ditches are dug, and trash and refuse is dumped into the ditches and then covered with earth. In most localities using this method, the ditches are filled over two or three times a week, and in some instances, daily. Also, in some places, the areas which are used are converted into parks and the like, after the ditches have been filled.

The land fill method is said to eliminate burning and otherwise "open rotting" of refuse, and also contributes to more healthful conditions by destroying breeding places for rats and other rodents and flies, and eliminate the unhealthy smoke and odors connected with the open dump ground.

In using the land fill method, after the refuse is dumped into the ditches heavy equipment is rolled over it to mash and condense it before dirt is pushed into the ditches.

There also has been some discussion of prohibition of burning refuse within the city limits, but nothing definite has been done about this, it has been stated.

The City also is advertising for bids to purchase a new street sweeper, City Secretary Baldwin said.

Also, in a recent meeting of the City Council, a representative of a paving company met with the Council to discuss paving and seal-coating some of the city streets. The Council was advised to wait until spring to begin this type of project so that work could be done during more favorable weather. It is not advisable to begin asphalt paving and seal-coating during cool or cold weather, the Council was told.

Winters High School has been assigned to District 8-AA for the next two years by the University Interscholastic League. Assignment will be for football, basketball and other UIL recognized competition.

Other schools in the district will be Ballinger, Coleman, Cisco, Clyde, Comanche, Eastland and Hamilton.

The announcement of the new assignment was made last week by Bailey M. Marshall, state director of athletics for UIL. Classification assignments are set for a two year period, 1970-71, and 1971-72 school years.

Re-alignment of district was made necessary due to re-classification of many schools in the state, it was understood. Enrollment figures used to determine assignments were from the 1967-68 and 1968-69 school years. Schools with an average attendance of 230 to 399 are assigned to Class AA districts.

Blizzards Go To Merkel Friday

The Winters Blizzards, still seeking a district win, go to Merkel Friday night to meet the Badgers, also seeking a win in district play. Kickoff time 8 p.m.

This game has been referred to as one in which "anything could happen," as each of the squads will be out to move out of the loss column. The two teams are fairly evenly matched, in the opinion of some observers.

Ray Cooper Injured In Haskell Game

Ray Cooper, defensive middle guard on the Winters Blizzard football team, received severe injuries to his right ankle during the Winters-Haskell football game last Friday night.

Cooper was taken from the field to the North Rannels Hospital during the game, and then transferred to Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene, where surgery was required.

The WHS senior received a badly dislocated ankle, torn ligaments, and a small bone in the ankle was broken, it was reported. Treatment included insertion of a pin in the ankle, which will remain for at least six weeks, it was said. He will be in a cast for at least another six weeks.

Cooper is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Cooper. He was returned home Tuesday of this week, but will not play football again this year.

Football Coach Jerry Gibson said Cooper's loss will be greatly felt by the Blizzard team. In games this year, he has achieved from 15 to 17 tackles during each contest, and figured in many other plays each game.

WHS Students Attended TALA Meet, Coahoma

Seven members of the Winters Teen Age Library Association attended the annual convention of the Texas TALA, District III, at Coahoma High School Saturday.

Registration at 9 a.m. was followed by musical entertainment provided by Big Spring High School.

In the presentation of candidates for district office, Roger Nichols, of Winters, introduced Kathy Wolford, also of Winters, a candidate for district vice president.

Winters representatives attended each of the six workshops for presidents, vice presidents, scrapbook, story hour, bulletin board and sponsors.

During the luncheon hour, Big Spring merchants sponsored a fashion show.

The House of Delegates assembled in the afternoon, with Louise Meyers, president of the Blue Northern Library Club of Winters High School acting as spokesman for the Winters group.

District III officers were elected, to assume duties June 1, 1970. They are: Linda Baker, Big Spring, president; Lucretia Drake, Coahoma, vice president; Randall Treadwell, Eastland, recording secretary; Concie Lane, Colorado City, treasurer; Glenda Brazelton, Sweetwater, parliamentarian; and Carolyn Barta, San Angelo Central, historian.

Winters members attending the convention were Miss Meyers, Martha Porter, District II and Winters historian; Kathy Wolford, Roger Nichols, reporter of the Winters club; Rosa De La Cruz, Judy Hodnett and Brooks Parks. Mrs. Charles Kruse Jr., advisor, also attended the meeting.

TO LUBBOCK

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Baker visited Lonnie Collinsworth Sunday in Lubbock where he is in the hospital under intensive care.

The Merkel Badgers are playing their second year in Class AA football; Winters defeated them at Winters last year. Next year, Merkel will remain in District 7-AA, while Winters moves to 8-AA, but the two teams have contracted to meet in non-conference play on September 18, at Winters.

Winters and Merkel have met three common opponents this year-Clyde, in pre-conference games, and Hamlin and Haskell in the district. Merkel defeated Clyde. Merkel lost to Hamlin 29-0; Winters dropped their contest 26-14 to Clyde. Merkel lost to Hamlin 3-2 in a squeaker. Merkel took a 47-0 loss from Haskell; Winters lost to Haskell 48-0.

Coach Jerry Gibson said his Blizzards will miss the action of Ray Cooper, who was injured in last Friday night's game with Haskell. A big strength for Winters' defense in games this season, Cooper has been credited for from 15 to 17 tackles each game, and has been in on the action on many others. He will see no more action this year, and his loss will be felt by the Blue Bunch, the coach said.

Some changes have become necessary in the Blizzard lineup for this week, because of injuries and changes in assignments.

WATER POLLUTION CONTROL

The market for water pollution control has been estimated at $26 billion to $29 billion over a five-year period. However, present appropriations for the war on pollution are but a trickle because of the enormous spending on Vietnam, and there is no assurance that the cessation of hostilities would mean that water pollution control would be the first order of business for the government. Also, technology in this area is by no means perfected, and further developments seem to be awaited despite the pollution 'crises.'

The Culprits

The three major sources of water pollution are agriculture, industry, and municipalities. Anywhere from 30 percent to 90 percent of the water for irrigation is consumed. The remainder is polluted by irrigation return and by fertilizers, herbicides, pesticides, and soil erosion. Over 40 percent of the country's total water use is accounted for by farming. Industry accounts for 50 percent of the total water usage, but by 1980 this may rise to 65 percent. Of the water used by industry, 47 to 48 percent is returned to the water supply and used again. Two-thirds or more is used for cooling. Industry, it is estimated, discharges twice as much organic waste into water courses as municipalities. Municipalities are discharging raw, untreated sewage into water courses at an incredible rate per year. Usage of water by the nation's communities accounts for a mere 7 to 8 percent of total water use, but contributes heavily to the overall water pollution problem.

Cleaning Up the Mess

In order to control or reverse water pollution, three processes can be utilized: (1) Settling, screening, and straining pollutants; (2) coagulation, precipitation, and other chemical processes to remove 90 percent of the organic compounds; (3) distillation, reverse osmosis, electrolysis, and coagulation to ferret out the inorganic materials. Boiling these techniques down to size, companies involved in water treatment through specialty chemicals, water servicing, and processes of desalination (desalting) should be the most immediate beneficiaries of the water pollution programs when spending is accelerated, particularly those in the indus-

Wm. S. Baxter Died Friday In Nursing Home

William S. Baxter, 86, died at 8:03 p. m. Friday in Merrill Nursing Home, following an illness of several months.

Funeral was at 2:30 p. m. Sunday in Spill Memorial Chapel, with the Rev. Glenn Bowman, pastor of the First United Methodist Church officiating, assisted by Rev. Virgin James, pastor of the Southside Baptist Church.

Burial was in Lakeview Cemetery under direction of Spill Funeral home.

Mr. Baxter was born June 1, 1883, in Searcy, Ark., and married Ila Lee Mullens Oct. 1, 1905, in Center Hill, Ark.

In 1914 he moved to Commerce, and in 1924 came to Rannels County, settling in the Franklin Community.

He farmed in the Winters area until 1940, when he moved to Winters, where he was a carpenter for several years.

He was a member of the First United Methodist Church.

Mrs. Baxter died in 1960.

Survivors include two sons, Jerrel of Fort Worth and Hershel of Monroe, La.; four daughters, Mrs. Jesse Horn of Plainview, Mrs. Dick Seaborn of Friant, Calif., Mrs. Mack Bullard and Mrs. Marvin Seals, both of Winters; 23 grandchildren, a number of great and great-great-grandchildren.

TO DALLAS

Mr. and Mrs. Joe Irvin visited Mr. and Mrs. Jack Davis in Dallas last week. They all spent several days in Eureka Springs, Ark., and attended the Fall Festival.

Prime Participants

The Research Staff of Babson's Reports has concluded that the industrial waste water treatment and household conditioning segments of this fragmented field offer the largest market and growth potential. Thus, we would focus upon specialty chemical companies with large research and development emphasis and a high degree of consultation and technical service. Chemical use in water is expected to double in five years and double again in the following five years, providing a 15 percent annual growth rate.

Attractive Investments

The leaders in the field, favored by the Research Staff of Babson's Reports are Nalco, Culligan, and Betz Laboratories. In the fast-breaking technological field of desalting, Aqua-Chem—the largest factor in water purification—is an interesting investment. Although these companies concentrate mainly in the high-potential water treatment business, they are risk situations, selling at relatively high price-earnings ratios, reflecting their leadership in the field, popularity and growth potential. We, therefore, advise purchasing a package of two or more companies. In our judgment, near-term opportunities for investment purposes are limited. We believe that investors should seek only long-term capital gains—two or more years—in select companies, with in-depth capabilities in the water-treatment sector of this emerging field.

Veterans' Widows May Be Eligible For VA Pension

Veterans' widows have been reminded that if they have a limited income they may be eligible for a Veterans Administration pension.

Under current law, according to Jack Coker, manager, Waco VA Regional Office, qualified widows of wartime veterans who have died of causes not related to their service are eligible if their income is no more than $2,000 if they have no children, and no more than $3,200 if they do.

If a widow does not qualify for a pension because of a high income or because she remarries, her children may still be eligible to receive pensions.

Pensions are based on need, Coker explained. Compensation is paid to the survivors of veterans who die of service-connected causes, and the income of the survivor has no bearing on eligibility or the amount paid.

Persons seeking further information were urged to contact their nearest VA officer, Coker said.

The Family Lawyer

Aunt Minnie, vacationing at a mountain hotel, picked out a rocking chair on the front porch and sat down. Unhappily, she failed to notice that one of the runners was missing. Result: she fell off her rocker and suffered injury to her back.

In due course, she sued the management for damages.

"Not liable," pleaded the management in court. "She would have seen the condition of the rocker had she just taken the trouble to examine it."

But Aunt Minnie collected, the court saying the defect was not that easy to see. The judge said a guest was entitled to assume, without making an inspection, that all the rocking chairs on the porch were kept in reasonably safe condition.

In fact, this applies to all seating facilities—in hotels, restaurants, and shops—which the public is invited to use. Nor is it merely a matter of maintenance. Even the design of such facilities must take safety standards into account.

Thus, in another case, a store incurred liability by providing an ultramodern, but unstable, chair for its customers. When a woman sat on the front edge of the chair, it tilted her off to the floor.

In holding the store liable, the court denounced "new-fangled creations which are designed more to please the eye than to provide the stability one expects to find when reposing the anatomy upon a chair."

When the management pointed out that the woman was overweight, the court replied:

"A large woman is as much entitled to a safe chair as a small one, and is much more in need of it."

Nevertheless, a customer cannot expect precautions that are beyond reason. Take this case: A man was trying to sit down at a bar when the stool skidded out from under him. In a damage suit afterward, he insisted that the stool should have been bolted to the floor.

But the court said the use of free-standing stools was to common a practice to be condemned as unsafe. Requiring such stools to be bolted down, said the judge, was simply asking too much.

Blizzards Lose To Haskell Indians, 7-AA Leaders

The Blizzards quickly learned why the Haskell Indians are dominating 7-AA last Friday as they went down 48-0 to the powerful Indians.

Speed, ability, agility — you name it and the Indians displayed it. With a fantastic quarterback leading the way the Indians went down the field in only six plays to score their first TD. Right halfback Charley Franklin went over the last few yards for 6 points and Lanny Everett also scored a TD in the first quarter as he lunged forward for one yard and a score. The PAT attempt failed.

The fabulous Franklin scored again in the second quarter from the 20-yard line. Then Ivy grabbed up a Blizzard pass and Bobby Aycock took the ball the last yard to score again. The kick failed.

Almost repeating this scene, Everett robbed the Blizzards of another pass and scored with but a few seconds until the half. Aycock added two points for the PAT.

Franklin returned after the half to score two more touchdowns in the third quarter on a 50-yard run and a 27 yard run. Ivy kicked one extra point.

The last score came as the Blizzards were caught in the end zone for a 2-point safety. This made the final score 48-0.

The Blizzards lost not only the game but also lost Ray Cooper for the season after he sustained a leg injury in the first of the game and was rushed to Abilene for surgery.

Having four more games to go in the season, the Blizzards will play Merkel on their field this Friday night.

AROUND THE 7-AA FOOTBALL LOOP

It is bound to happen—when two teams are even-Stephen and give them, somebody's gotta give. That's what happened last Friday night when Ballinger and Hamlin met at Ballinger.

Ballinger went into the game favored by most everyone, and came out on the small end of a 25-7 "upset". Stats indicate that the game was a good one, with Ballinger edging on rushes —208-188—and Hamlin superior in the air—113 to 54. Hamlin scored once in the first, twice in the second, and again in the third. Ballinger got their loner in the third, but the Bearcats were unable to add the rest of the night.

This win kept the Pied Pipers in partnership with Haskell for the 7-AA lead — the only two teams without a loss in district thus far. Ballinger will go to Haskell this week, while Hamlin will be at home to the Coleman Bluecats. Coleman has a 1-2 for district; has been defeated by Ballinger and Stamford, and took Anson.

Haskell—now 6-0 for the season, and 3-0 for conference—kept the top spot in 7-AA Friday night by rolling past Winters 48-0. The Indians scored midway in the first, then kept rolling to score in every period but the fourth. The Blizzards played football, but were unable to withstand the steamrolling of the league-leading Indians. Winters got to within a yard of counter territory one time, but had a pass stolen by Bobby Aycock of the Indians, who ran 89 yards before he was stopped on the ten to set up another score. Winters goes to Merkel this Friday.

Stamford hit the Merkel Badgers 27-7 Friday night, to keep Merkel in the no-win column. This was Stamford's second win in conference play. Stamford goes to Anson this week. Coleman chalked up their first district win Friday night, beating Anson 29-22. The two teams now are 1-2 in conference. Cole-

Fire Insurance: A "Good Bet"?

Suppose you notice a neighbor's children have a habit of playing with matches. Could you, if you were so inclined, take out a fire insurance policy on your neighbor's house? It would be a "good bet," because of the relatively strong chance of a fire.

But the law would not recognize such insurance, because you do not have an "insurable interest" in your neighbor's house. That is, destruction of the house would not hurt you at all. The insurance thus would be gambling, pure and simple. And, as one court said, it is "a fundamental postulate of all insurance that it must not be a mere bet."

It isn't only that the law frowns on gambling. There is another reason for requiring an insurable interest: to keep you from temptation. If you have fire insurance on a house in which you have no real stake, you might be tempted to burn it down.

Of course, you have an insurable interest in your own home. But as a rule, that interest ends when you sell the property. Take this case:

A woman sold her house, but continued to "hold over" her fire insurance. Sure enough, the house did burn down a few months later. But a court ruled that the woman could not collect on the policy.

"She suffered no loss," said the court, "because the property destroyed was not hers." On the other hand, you may have an insurable interest in a piece of property even though you don't own it—and never did. For example:

A man took out fire insurance on a house he was occupying as a tenant under a four-year lease. When this house burned down, he demanded payment on his insurance policy—and a court upheld his claim. The judge said a leasehold, too, is a valuable property interest, an interest that fire insurance could protect.

But the tenant could collect only to the extent of his leasehold interest, not for the full value of the house. In short, fire insurance is not supposed to let you make a profit.

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON

Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—The so-called "Vietnam Moratorium" started last week, and reportedly to continue until the middle of November, can have no other effect than grave damage to the United States. At a minimum, the publicity these activities are receiving will encourage the communist North Vietnamese to continue and intensify their intransigence already demonstrated in the months of futile talks in Paris.

Many times in our history as a nation, we have had to decide between the easy way and the honorable way.

While our decisions to stand firm in behalf of freedom and justice have not always been universally popular, they have always been supported by the great majority of the American people.

As has been said here numerous times, it is one thing as to whether we should have gotten involved in Southeast Asia in the first place and another to face the fact that we are involved.

The war in Vietnam has never been a popular undertaking and, in fact, it has taken us quite a time to realize it is actually a war. As a result, it becomes vague to many people as to what we are fighting for and, hence, the increased desire of many people with an honest opinion to get out. This attitude has doubtless motivated many people to support the so-called Moratorium.

On the other hand, it has provided a vehicle for those with a traitorous intent. If it were not the Vietnam Conflict, it would be something else.

The Moratorium demonstration started last week and continuing to the middle of next month, involves more than just the immediate withdrawal of troops from an anti-communist struggle. It also involves the defeat and humiliation of the United States, carrying with it the hope of total disruption within our country. These are the people who have wanted the communists to win on the battlefield but since they can not, they want to confuse and trick Americans into accepting a peace that amounts to victory for communism in all of Asia. They would shatter the morale and resolve of the American people which, if deep enough, could lay the groundwork for a real revolution in America.

Actually, those supporting the leftist causes are a small minority but it has been small groups which have overthrown other nations. The loud militant and superbly organized groups with their propaganda have been able to enlist the support of some who mistakenly think they are promoting peace when they join in these protests. It is cause to wonder if patriotism in our Nation is on its sickbed but there are mountains of evidence to indicate that this vocal minority does not speak for the tens of millions of silent Americans whose deep desire for peace burns as brightly as the fires of our fighting men's camps but who know that a peace without honor and justice is no peace at all.

While many college campuses and the streets echo the rabble of the dissenters, there are the voices of the quiet and the rational to give encouragement.

"FLOWER TOWER" was made from the old bell cupola of a rural school near Argyle, Wis. Mrs. Don Norland persuaded her husband to turn the cupola into a planter after remodeling the school into a home.

THE NEW LOOK of modern skyscrapers is replacing remnants of the Gothic style that once dominated lower Broadway in Manhattan, N.Y.

Publicity has been given to action of a representative group of college students in Abilene but it deserves to be repeated. The following telegram was sent to President Nixon on October 14:

"Dear Mr. President: As world citizens who are directly a part of the struggle for the control of men's minds, and more particularly as concerned collegiates who are attempting to interpret the world events which are shaping our destiny, we have become increasingly aware of the awesome responsibility which you share in making decisions which directly affect literally millions of lives. Naturally, we are concerned; indeed deeply troubled at the loss of lives on both sides of the present Conflict, as this sense of human concern is acutely heightened by our unique Christian commitment. We, the undersigned represent a significant portion of the 6,000 college students in Abilene, Texas who are convinced that there is a better way in prayer and we have covenanted ourselves together especially for this day October 15, in a concerted day of prayer in your behalf. Please know that we are continually praying for your wisdom, insight, and perception and ask the Creator that He aid you in bringing peace on earth once again. Respectfully, Christian Collegians Praying for Peace."

This message, with accompanying remarks, is being placed in the Congressional Record.

Mrs. Juanita O'Connor's Weekly Home Demonstration Agent's Column

A number of fall fabrics woven with heavy yarns ravel easily. The sewing machine can help prevent this raveling in several ways. Some machines have special patterns for overcasting or edging, says Mrs. O'Connor, and she suggests a blind hemming pattern to let the stitch overcast seam edges.

For this, reverse the usual procedure for holding fabric under the machine. Put the edge to be finished to the left of the needle and pressure foot instead of to the right side. Stitch one-fourth inch from the edge of seam. Adjust the machine for easy tension so the edge of the fabric is not curled from too tight tension. For a straight stitching machine, shorten stitch to 15 stitches an inch and sew a fourth inch from the seam edge. To slow the raveling process hand overcast or pink the seam. Whatever the finish, remember that seams should be flexible and not bulky, reminds Mrs. O'Connor.

St. John Lutheran Wednesday Circle Met at Church

Members of the Wednesday Study Circle of the St. John's Lutheran Church met in the education building for the Bible Study "How God Builds His Church," taken from the booklet entitled "Blessed to be a Blessing." Mrs. Robert Pruser led the study.

Mrs. Elby Miller gave the offering meditation and Mrs. George Pruser Jr. president, presided for the business session. Mrs. Robert Pruser, secretary read the minutes and Mrs. Delbert Kruse gave a report on the 1970 Bible Study and the subjects it would cover.

The members voted to sponsor a Halloween Carnival in the fellowship center of the church, Halloween night, October 31, at 7 o'clock. Each organization of the church is to be responsible for a booth. There will be no admission charge for those willing to attend, but a donation jar will be available for those who would like to help with the expenses.

The members also voted to buy new Christmas lights for the church tree. Plans were made for the quarterly WOC meeting to be held October 26, at 2 p.m. with the main part of the program to be the Thank-offering service.

The meeting was adjourned with members repeating the Lord's Prayer. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Elby Miller.

Internal Revenue Agents Required To Have College Degree

"Does that Internal Revenue employee know what he's talking about?" is a common question that taxpayers ask of their accountant, attorney or friend. The best insight into how much the tax man would know would come from a look at the (1) kind of education required, (2) type of training received after they are employed in Internal Revenue, and (3) experience required.

(1) Ordinarily Internal Revenue Agents, Revenue Officers and all of the professional and technical employees in Internal Revenue Service are required to have a college degree or the equivalent of a degree in experience at a professional level.

(2) When Internal Revenue recruits the young accounting graduate upon finishing college they are required to go to school for 13 weeks before they audit any cases. Then the young man or woman receives additional on-the-job training for another 13 weeks. Most Internal Revenue Agents are required to take additional advanced tax training of three to six weeks every few years. Constant on the job study is necessary since each case report prepared by an Agent must be supported by law, regulation, court decisions, or other applicable rulings.

Internal Revenue has one of the better training programs for their professional and technical employees out of all the public and private training programs for comparable large organizations.

(3) Finally, in looking at the experience of the Internal Revenue employee, each employee works only cases for which he is fully qualified. The new college graduate would not be assigned to audit a billion dollar

Dugan Barnett of Novice Died At Coleman Sunday

Dugan Barnett, 73, lifelong Novice resident and stock farmer, was dead on arrival at Over-all Morris Memorial Hospital in Coleman Sunday.

He was the father of Mrs. Charley Grohman of Winters. Funeral services were held at 2:30 p. m. Tuesday in Novice Methodist Church, with the Rev. Milton Allen, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Harry Hames, pastor of Novice Baptist church, and the Rev. Guy Purdue, pastor of Coleman First Methodist Church.

Burial was in Novice Cemetery. Born June 9, 1896, at Novice, he married Mary Lee Fonville in June 1923. A World War I veteran, he was a member of Novice Methodist Church.

Surviving are his wife; three daughters, Mrs. Charley (Patsy) Grohman of Winters, Mrs. Sarah Davis of Abilene and Mrs. Nena Wilson of Sweetwater; two sons, J. D. Sr. of Sulphur, La., and Glenn of Water Valley; 18 grandchildren; a sister, Mrs. Kathaleen Bailey of Ballinger; and a brother, Weaver of Sudan.

This type of case would be worked by a highly competent, senior, fully experienced tax man that knows how to get additional professional and technical support from the specialists such as engineers and the Counsel.

Of course the man working your case could make a mistake and could be wrong, but it is safe to say he sure should know what he is talking about.

Junior Culture Club Monthly Meeting Is Held Recently

Regular monthly meeting of the Junior Culture Club was held Thursday night, October 16, at 7:30 o'clock in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Rodgers with Mrs. Bud Busher serving as co-host with Mrs. Rodgers.

Roll call was answered by naming a composer. Mrs. Tommy Conczak was welcomed as a new member.

A discussion was held on a booth for the Halloween Carnival sponsored by the Junior Class on November 1. It was decided to have a booth and the president, Mrs. Lynn Billups appointed a committee to decide what to have and to find time schedule for working at the carnival.

The committee included Mrs. Dave Dobbins, Mrs. Gayland Robinson, and Mrs. Jerry Gibson. Mrs. Billups gave a report on the District Meeting of T.F.W.C. in Ballinger October 17. She urged as many club members as possible to attend. The three clubs from Winters are in charge of the coffee, beginning at 8:30 a.m.

Mrs. Tommy Russell gave the program on "Grande Canyon Suite." It was a very interesting program on musical instruments.

Members present were Mesdames Paul Michaelis, David Dobbins, Jim Cowlishaw, Elmer Phillips, Billy Joe Colburn, Tommy Russell, Gayland Robinson, Johnny Weems, Doug-

Proper Care Can Double Pasture Carrying Capacity

Would you like to buy some grassland for 30 dollars an acre? According to Woodrow Hoffman, District Conservationist with the local Soil Conservation Service, this is possible by reclaiming the land one now has. Many landowners, he said, here in the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District have proved this many times by more than doubling the forage production on their pastureland.

Hoffman said a pasture with a heavy cover of brush and needlegrass and red gramma will do good to produce 1,000 pounds of usable livestock feed per acre. While if one takes the same pasture and treats it by controlling the brush, seeding it to better grass, and practicing good management it will produce 3,000 to 5,000 pounds of good livestock feed per acre.

The brush control and seeding will cost from 20 to 30 dollars an acre while the management will cost one nothing but some good thinking and action.

We recommend that the state allow each school district to purchase liability and medical insurance on school buses when the school board so recommends and that the cost be paid out of local funds.

Students May Get SS Benefits Until 22nd Birthday

Many children receiving social security benefits will be age 18 sometime this year. Ted F. Moellering, social security district manager pointed out that the benefits will end unless the child is going on to school this fall.

Children who are full time students can continue to receive their social security benefits to age 22 if they are full time students. But the social security office will need to have a report now if benefits are to continue uninterrupted.

So if you are one of those going to college or in high school, notify the social security office. They will need to know what school you are attending.

College Night Program Slated In Abilene High

Junior and senior students of Winters High School who are planning to go to college, and the parents of these students, will have an opportunity to meet and talk with representatives from various colleges at a College Night program at Abilene High School on Tuesday night, October 28, at 7:30 p. m. Letters have been sent to the principals of high schools within a 70-mile radius of Abilene issuing an invitation to the college-bound juniors and seniors and their parents to attend this meeting.

Representatives from 26 colleges and universities will participate in College Night. There will also be representatives from Air Force, Army and Navy ROTC to provide information about these programs.

Each student and parent will have an opportunity to attend three different discussion groups to obtain information about three different colleges in which they are interested. The college representatives will discuss such matters as entrance requirements, application procedure, estimated yearly cost, courses of study or fields of specialization offered, type of housing available, financial aid, and opportunities for social development.

This is the fifth consecutive year that College Night has been co-sponsored by the Parents Clubs of Abilene High School and Cooper High School. Each year hundreds of students and parents throughout the area have attended in order to secure first-hand information about colleges early in the school year.

Cut Building Costs By Careful Site Selection

If you're planning a new farm building, proper selection of the site can reduce the cost, says W. S. Allen Extension agricultural engineer at Texas A&M University.

If a level, well drained site is available, it will be a big aid to keeping costs a minimum. There will be little or no need for such equipment as bulldozers, earth movers and backhoes; and saving will also be possible on foundation materials, says the engineer.

If possible, he adds, do the grading before starting construction. This allows the equipment to proceed without hindrance, and it reduces costly hand labor that might be necessary to reach the areas the equipment could not get to if construction were going on.

When fills are necessary, says Allen, make sure that adequate and properly reinforced foundations are provided. He advises thoroughly packing fills within buildings or lots where concrete floors or pavement will be used. If such precautions are not taken, he warns, settling will cause the concrete to crack and be uneven.

He explains that earth spread and packed in shallow layers will settle less than earth dumped in greater depths and packed only from the top. Moist earth, he says, packs better than dry earth.

Allen advises using sheep-foot or wheel-type rollers to pack the earth as it is spread.

Submarine Vets Group Seeking WW II Crewmen

The Submarine Veterans of World War II are seeking information of Naval veterans who served aboard submarines during the war, and are planning a 1970 State Convention in Bandera on May 29, 30 and 31.

The veterans meet annually to visit, tell stories, and honor those of their ranks who did not return.

Harold White, vice commander of the group, said, "We are trying to contact all World War II sub vets—crewmen and relief men. We would like anyone having knowledge of any of these people to contact: Harold White, Rt. 1, Box 105, Bandera, Texas 78003."

Having only one membership requirement — that you be a

World War II submarine veteran—the organization is strictly a pleasure group which has no axe to grind, no political goals, no civic works, and no money-raising—except a scholarship fund for children of sub vets, White said.

In looking for a record turnout in 1970, White says, "We hope all the old pig boat boys will come and meet their old shipmates and have some real fun."
