HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

"A properly designed air transportation system can stop and possibly reverse the exodus of people from small towns to large cities, the director of the Texas Aeronautics Commission said Wednesday.

"Adequate airports and routes for small towns that would attract commerce and industry could more evenly distribute Texas Population, Charles Murphy told the Chamber of Commerce aviation committee during a luncheon at the Houston Club.

"The TAC regulates... and has responsibility for public airports in communities under 50,000.

"Murphy noted that people migrating to large cities because of the jobs and opportunities available there. Thus population concentration in turn creates problems for these cities.

"At the same time industry does not locate in the smaller communities often because of little or no air transportation facilities. Murphy said that historically first the railroads and then the highways opened up the country. We've barely scratched the surface of using air transportation."

The above is quoted from an article in the March 12 Houston Post. At first glance, this article appeared to be just another bit of interesting information about Texas and one of many things happening in Texas; a subject far removed from the local scene.

But on a more thorough reading, it finally dawned on us—this fellow Murphy was talking about Winters! "Communities under 50,000" is the key phrase, and it unlocked some through channels. So much of the time when we think of air transportation, we think of the busy airports of the larger cities, where the bulk of the air transport industry is located. We are too prone to think of flying activities on, around and from airports of the smaller cities as "cowpasture aviation," existing mainly for the hobbyist and weekend. Therefore, these smaller airports become "step-children" when it comes to planning. This attitude is a carryover from the early days of aviation, and from the post-WWII flying-bug flurry when so many small-community airports opened only to die aborning. At that time the smaller airports existed primarily for the weekend; and under those conditions their positions were shaky to say the least.

Circumstances are different now—there's been a great change, especially for Winters and communities the likes of Winters. Although admittedly too small for elaborate airport layouts, this community others like it have a need for some sort of air transport facility. Fortunately, this has been seen to, in Winters, in a milk but adequate manner. A landing strip has been provided, along with limited facilities, but with promise of more.

Why should Winters provide these admittedly limited—and likewise admittedly adequate (for the present)—facilities? The answer is simple: The economy of the Winters community is conglomerated: agriculture, oil and industry. More and more all three fields are becoming dependent on air travel; not the cross-country jet systems, but the company-and personally-owned small-craft systems, capable of short, economical and convenient flights.

Since the Winters landing strip was opened for use months ago, use of the facility has increased almost monthly. Most of these flights have been "on business" trips; in fact, executives of one of Winters' most important industries regularly flies in to attend to business (Continued on page 8)

STATE CAPITAL NEWS

AUSTIN—With a total of 901 new plants, Texas has earned No. 1 rating among the states in industrial development for 1967—its best in its history.

Gov. Preston Smith announced that Dun and Bradstreet Corporation, in a report published by the Fortune Magazine marketing research staff, bestowed the recognition.

Number of new plants in Texas last year exceeded California's by 42 percent. California was in second place. Texas is the only southwestern state to rank in the top ten of new industrial locations.

Only six other states now exceed Texas' overall total of 15,576 manufacturing plants. Number increased by six percent during last year.

Smith credited the increase to efforts of the Texas Industrial Commission and "the close-knit alliance between local, regional and state development groups and the partnership of industry and government that we have in Texas to promote a better life for all citizens."

Top ten states invested $7.9 million in programs to attract industry last year. Texas spent only $385,570—or less than five percent of the total. State's share of the 3,813 new plants nationwide was 24 percent.

"For an investment of one half the average, Texas has been able to accomplish nearly three times the results," Smith boasted.

Other states among the top ten were Georgia with 609, Illinois with 290, Alabama with 289, Indiana with 240, Florida with 224, Minnesota with 224, Ohio with 212 and North Carolina with 189.

SAFE DRIVING PROGRAM PUSHED

Governor Smith pledged all the influence and prestige of the governor's office to curb highway traffic accidents. His "Drive Friendly" program calls for:

- Operating vehicles responsibly.
- Obeying all traffic laws.
- Respecting state and local police officers.
- Being generous with the right of way.
- Keeping vehicles in good operating condition.
- Avoiding driving while unfit (particularly when drinking).

Elm Creek Board Plans 'Water' Meeting 8th

Members of the board of directors of Elm Creek Water Control District Tuesday night made plans for a dinner meeting for Wednesday, April 8, to which members of soil conservation district boards, water authorities, and water control districts and other officials have been invited.

W. M. Hays, chairman of the Elm Creek board, said primary reasons for the meeting would be to discuss all phases of water and soil control applicable to this area, "stimulate ideas concerning methods of conservation, build coordination between all boards and districts, and inform all interested persons of the present status of the proposed project to construct water retardation dams on Elm Creek and its tributaries by the Elm Creek Water Control District."

The dinner meeting will be held at Huffman House at Winters at 7 p. m.

Those invited to attend the meeting include board members of the Runnels Soil Conservation District, Taylor County Soil Conservation District, members of the boards of Valley Creek Water Control District and Willow Creek Water Control District, County Water Authority board members, Soil Conservation Service personnel from Runnels and Taylor counties, county commissioners and officials of the two counties, members and employees of the State Water Board, and city officials of Winters and Ballinger.

Hays said at least 50 persons are expected to attend the dinner meeting.

STATUS OF DISTRICT

At the regular meeting of the ECWCD Tuesday night, Woodrow Hoffman and other members of the Soil Conservation Service of Runnels County, and personnel of the Taylor County SCS, reported on the status of basic conservation practices on land in the Elm Creek District. Hoffman said that at the present time, basic conservation practices are being carried out on at least 50 percent of the total land area. The Taylor County SCS technicians said that 63 percent of the District's land situated in that county is under basic practices, while Hoffman said that 47.4 percent of the area in Runnels County is under conservation control.

It was explained that in order for a water retardation dam project to be initiated by ECWCD, at least 50 percent of the total 245,991-acre area must be included in SCS basic conservation practices. This goal has now been realized, Hoffman said, and the District is free to go ahead with planning.

Hays said that the State Water Board, and other agencies which will be involved in the project, are being contacted and more advanced planning will now get underway toward actual beginning of the program.

Major Realignment of Wallace-Murray Corp. To Promote Earnings

A major realignment of Wallace-Murray Corporation's divisional organization, designed to promote its long-term earnings objectives, was announced today by Fred R. Raach, president and chief executive officer of the company.

At the same time, Mr. Raach, president and chief executive officer of the company.

At the same time, Mr. Raach announced the election of Raymond F. Richard as a group vice president of the corporation. Mr. Richard was formerly vice president-operations of the Cummins Engine Company. He joined Wallace-Murray March 1.

In the new alignment, the corporation's 14 operating divisions, which produced revenues of $238 million in 1969, will be organized into four product groups. They are the building products, cutting tools, power components and custom metal products groups. Mr. Raach said, "We are confident that these new product groupings will help the corporation meet its goals of growth and increasing profitability while providing increased energy between divisions with similar markets."

Two group vice presidents, reporting to the president, will oversee the operations of the four groups. Charles V. Myers, presently a group vice president, will oversee the building products and custom metal products groups and the company's two Canadian divisions. Mr. Richard will be responsible for the cutting tools and power components groups.

Mr. Richard, 43, is a native of Fitchburg, Massachusetts and a graduate of Dartmouth College. Starting his business career with General Electric, he was a plant superintendent with Bucyrus-Erie from 1954-57; a management consultant with McKinsey & Co. from 1958-61; vice president-operations for Marion Power Shovel from 1961-62 and worked for four years as a private consultant and later with Fairbanks-Morse, Inc. before joining Cummins in 1966 as director of manufacturing. For several years, Mr. Richard served as vice president and managing director—international manufacturing for Cummins before being named vice president-operations.

The new building products group, which Mr. Myers will be responsible for, includes the Eljer Plumbingware Division; William Wallace Division, manufacturers of gas vent systems and metal chimneys; Lawton Division, suppliers to the mobile home industry; and Dry Division, manufacturers of registers, grilles and diffusers for heating and air-conditioning.

The Canadian divisions include Selkirk - Metalbestos, manufacturers of gas vent systems, industrial chimneys and fireplaces and Simonds Canada Saw, which makes saws, machine knives, grinding wheels and other cutting tools.

The custom metal products group includes Simonds Steel, a leading manufacturer of custom-made alloy, tool and specialty steels and the Illinois Gear Division, which makes metallic and non-metallic custom industrial gears.

The cutting tools group, which Mr. Richard will head, is composed of Simonds Saw, a leading manufacturer of industrial saws, machine knives and other cutting tools; Atrax, which makes solid-carbide drills and knives; Heller Tool, which manufactures files, hammers and special tools and Simonds Abrasive, which makes grinding wheels and abrasive grains.

The power components group includes the Schwitzer Division, manufacturers of automotive and diesel engine components, including turbochargers, superchargers, cooling fans and vibration dampers; and Fayette Tubular Products Division, which makes fluid power devices for automotive air-conditioning and hydraulic components for motor vehicles.

In total, the four product groups operate 31 plants in the U. S., Canada and overseas and employ over 10,000 people.

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON

Congressman
17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C. — Mr. Daniel P. Moynihan, Counselor to the President and a holdover from the previous Administration to President Nixon that some "benign neglect" should be applied to matters involving "Civil Rights."

Perhaps the word "neglect" was not the best choice, but, seemingly, what he was trying to say is that there has been too much rhetoric on the subject and too many promises.

The way things stand today there is an abundance of evidence that too many promises of everything has contributed to unrest, frustrations and disappointments among many people. Politicians and administrators, as a whole, have gone beyond the possible in promising Utopia for about everything. Regardless of Mr. Moynihan's admonitions there is not likely to be a letup in "tub pounding" for about everything which has an appeal to groups and individuals who have a special interest.

Dr. Anthony Downs Sr., vice president of Real Estate Research Corporation, a consultant to the Rand Corporation, Urban Institute, Brookings Institution and the Ford Foundation, has just released a paper through the U. S. Commission on Civil Rights, in which he says "almost every white American is a racist." Dr. Downs was a consultant to the Kerner Commission, composed of prominent citizens across the country, which says that the cause of civil unrest is failure to do away with poverty and lack of opportunity for minority groups.

How Dr. Downs concludes that about all whites are racists is not explained. How could he possibly know the hearts and minds of people who absolutely have no feeling toward another individual because of his race, creed or color? The fact that he makes such accusations suggests to those who feel some discrimination, that they react with force. This, in turn, encourages discrimination of one sort or another and polarizes a situation often leading to violent confrontations.

In part, Dr. Downs says that "all whites have contributed to a system that constantly produces racist effects..." He outlines objectives to combat racism: (1) to change the behavior of whites so that they will no longer consciously or unconsciously support racism and (2) to increase the capabilities of nonwhite groups so that they can overcome the handicaps racism imposes. He advocates a build-up of political power for the support of "black power" and "black nationalism." He wants legislation passed to give more power to minority groups, making it the self-interest of whites to support minority aims.

Not all nonwhites by any means agree with this position. Mr. Roy Innis, National Director of CORE (Congress on Racial Equality), for instance says that forced integration of public schools is not workable and is not a guarantee of an equal or quality education for all pupils, black or white. He says that segregation when properly defined, should be equated with inequality of education. He makes the point that segregation and separation are two different things and that nonwhite people should run their own schools and vice versa, letting white people make their decisions and black people theirs, and not having the whites making the decisions for both. He would, of course, require that Federal, State and local funds go to each school district under his plan on an equal per pupil basis.

The race question is not the only source of types of discrimination in this country. There has always been, there always will be, a selection on the part of any individual to choose his associates for whatever reason. Most of us want and expect everybody to love us—especially we politicians—but they don't. Rightly or wrongly, we simply may not like the way a person wears his hat or steps up on the curb. But, if this is discrimination, what government has a right to regiment us to the position which denies this right?

With the possible exception of Mr. Lincoln's Emancipation Proclamation, no president promised more or tried harder in behalf of the minorities than former President Johnson. For it, he was abused and condemned by many of these same. A good guess is that this was a greater influence in his not standing for another presidential term than the war in Vietnam. Probably it serves the example of the insatiable appetite for promises of immediate Utopia. A recent occurrence in San Antonio shows the courage of a man who refuses to indulge in

Deborah Kerr, married to a man she no longer loves, tries to resist the attraction of daredevil sky-devil Burt Lancaster in MGM's "The Gypsy Moths." The thrill-packed John Frankenheimer-Edward Lewis production reunites the memorable romantic team of "From Here to Eternity," with Gene Hackman, Scott Wilson and William Windom in co-starring roles. John Frankenheimer directed the big Metrocolor attraction.

Most Texas anglers are aware of the fact that cool rains and cold winds, which drop temperatures of lakes and streams, have an effect on fish.

Every angler should recognize that as temperatures decline, so does the metabolism of most game fish. Result is a slowing of the reflexes and a diminishing of the appetite. This doesn't mean that the fish stop feeding. No siree! It's just that they won't react to a lure that's moving too fast. So, slow it down so the fish can catch it easily.

Proper lures for you to use under such circumstances are baits that can be retrieved slowly. These include plastic worms, weighted spinners with a No. 5 blade, surface lures that make a commotion via a hollow head or spinners, and floating-diving lures.

Fish can be anywhere, depending on whether the water level is high or low. So try them in the boondocks, in deep channels, where streams flow into a lake, off rocky points, and in shallow bays or coves.

In cool weather fish begin bunching up, so when you happen onto such a spot... live it up... for that is the place you have been looking for.

Texas has 37 wood treating plants and is one of the leading states in the wood preserving industry. Properly treated poles, posts, and timbers will last 30 years or more even though exposed to moisture, soil, and insects.

★ MOVIES ★

"Yours, Mine and Ours,"

The old woman who lived in the shoe had nothing on Lucille Ball and Henry Fonda who have so many kids that they don't know what to do in the hilarious "Yours, Mine and Ours," which shows Sunday and Monday at the State Theatre in Color by DeLuxe and under release by United Artists, a Transamerica Corporation.

Nineteen of them!

Ten of 'em are Henry's by a previous marriage, the "yours" of the title eight of them are Lucille's by a previous marriage, and one, the "ours" of the title, are theirs. That it all adds up to some pretty high comedy is not hard to imagine.

The story is based on the highly-publicized marriage of Warrant officer and widower Frank Beardsley, U.S.N., played by Fonda, and Mrs. Helen North a widow played by Miss Ball, residents of northern California, who met in a naval dispensary accidentally and knew that it was love.

"The Gypsy Moths,"

The one condition that would drive Scott Wilson out of the acting profession would be to find himself "typecast."

"I'd rather wait a year between pictures," says the new young star, "than to do the same thing over and over again. After you've done a character, you've done him. You look around for something else."

Wilson has made four movies so far and all of them were top-flight productions: "In the Heat of the Night," "In Cold Blood," "Castle Keep" and his current "The Gypsy Moths," in which he stars with Burt Lancaster and Deborah Kerr.

Each role has been different and each time he has had a different director, something that pleases Wilson enormously. "So far, I've had four of the best directors—Norman Jewison, Richard Brooks, Sidney Pollack and John Frankenheimer—and I've learned something from each of them," he says.

In "The Gypsy Moths," directed by Frankenheimer, Wilson plays the youngest member of a troupe of skydivers who travel around the Midwest putting on thrill shows.

Gene Hackman of "Bonnie and Clyde" and Scott Wilson of "In Cold Blood" portray the other two members of Lancaster's sky-diving troupe. And, in addition to Deborah Kerr, the "Gypsy Moths" cast features William Windom, Sheree North and newcomer Bonnie Bedelia.

DISCRIMINATION

Title insurance companies operating in Texas have been ordered by the State Board of Insurance to revise their "chain of title" reports to make sure they are not violating the federal civil rights act.

Order requires title insurance policies, when referring to deed restrictions, to omit references to color, religion or national origin. Those restrictions have been held invalid by the courts.

matters. And others—industry, agriculture and oil—have benefited from the existence of the airport. Also, ambulance flights have originated here. This is substantial; there's a need for such service, and it is likely to increase. Many of the flights we might notice from the Winters airport are, certainly, pleasure flights. But we should remember, also, that many mean more money in the pockets of us all.

As that man Murphy said, "first the railroads and then the highways opened up the country. We've barely scratched the surface of using air transportation." This is no longer "cowpasture aviation" romance, but economic face.

Working Woman May Receive Social Security At Age 62

Many people do not understand that monthly social security benefits can be paid when a working woman dies or becomes disabled. While adding to family income, she provides social security protection for herself and her family, according to Joe Trevino, social security assistant district manager.

"A woman with her own work record," Mr. Trevino said, "can receive social security at age 62 whether or not her husband has retired because her benefits will be based on her work. The single girl has the same social security protection.

If the career woman becomes disabled, she can receive disability benefits based on her own work even if her husband is continuing to work at his usual occupation. In addition, her children under 18 or students under 22 can receive benefits even though the father continues to provide a family income.

Survivors benefits may be paid at the time of her death to her children under 18, or under 22 if they remain in school. A dependent husband can receive benefits based on his wife's work when he is age 62.

The newest benefit a working woman gets through her social security contribution is Medicare benefits available at 65.

resounding reasons why you should buy a new Chevrolet instead of a new something else:

- 1 Higher resale value. Year after year. No other car in Chevrolet's field gives you as much back on your initial investment.
- 2 Deep down value. Exclusives like flush-and-dry rocker panels and an extra set of fenders keep Chevrolet looking good longer.
- 3 Smooth, smooth ride. Because of Chevrolet's computer selected springs, Full Coil suspension and advanced body mounting system.
- 4 Impressive styling. The impression is that it's an expensive car, if you want to make an impression.
- 5 Massive interiors. Result? Room to stretch out or to sit tall. Chevrolet has more front leg room than any other car in its field.
- 6 Side-guard beams. Chevrolet puts more between you and the outside. Steel beams built into every door.
- 7 A finish that lasts. It's unfortunate other cars in Chevy's field don't have a Magic-Mirror finish because it sure keeps its shine.
- 8 Exceptional engines. Chevrolet's standard 350-cubic-inch V8 runs on regular fuel. Plus there are five more engines available.
- 9 Tremendous selection. Of colors. Of accessories. Of engines. Of transmissions. Of fabrics. And of models. There are nine big Chevrolets alone.
- 10 America's favorite. Something a new "something else" can't claim. If actions speak louder than words, doesn't this say something to you?
