HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

They're not all hippies and protesters, destructive mobsters and wild-eyed militants looking for another building to burn. Only a small minority are such, contrary to what some vote-happy and power-hungry politicians and fast-talking TV commentators would have us believe.

Most of them—by far the largest majority—are honest, hard-working students, in the colleges and universities to get an education, and do not get mixed up in the campus disorders. At times their sincerity shines through in some of the most humorous ways. For instance, Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Cook this week received a letter from their son, Larry, a student at the University of Texas. Although he does not wear his hair abnormally long—certainly not down around his shoulders, a style which has become associated with the revolutionaries—he sought to further convince the folks of his earnestness by enclosing, without a word of explanation, a few locks of his hair. Might say it was his way of protesting the actions of the hoodlums who would tear down the university and what it stands for.

In many instances, especially within the last few days, the sincere students have found their search for education interrupted by a few—some students and even non-students who hang around the universities—whose sole purpose in life is to destroy everything in sight just because it doesn't suit their fancy, who have been allowed to roam at will and have, at last, partly succeeded in what they promised to do if not given their way—close the campuses. The serious students have become pawns in this deadly game, and are not only having their education interrupted and interfered with, but have been put in the position of being tarred by the same brush some of the public use to mark the militants and malcontents.

It's refreshing to hear, for a change, from some of the students who are seeking an education and are not out to destroy the nation and the system. Mrs. Bub Phillips of Wingate this week received a letter from her son, James Hardy Bryan, a graduate of Winters High School, who is attending Arizona State College at Tempe. He says, "All is okay here except for the demonstrations on campus, and I hope they will be over some day. . . . The violence on college campuses over the nation has increased greatly over the past two weeks; here is no exception. Protesters have been marching here for about four days and making a great deal of noise. It grew worse Thursday and a faculty meeting was called to discuss it. They are considering closing the university for a couple of days and possibly for the semester. Indeed, that would be an idiotic thing to do because rather than having 500 people protesting they would then have 2500 screaming. If they were to close it for the remainder of the semester then we would lose all our credits gained this semester, not to mention the money that it has cost to go to school."

"So far no damage of importance has been found here but that doesn't mean it couldn't happen. In any case, I'll just keep my distance."

The revolutionaries and their politician-backers claimed to be stunned when President Nixon the other day referred to the building burners and violence-prone "students" as a bunch of "bums!" The President should contact President Harry Truman who could give him a true description.

Tornado Season Is Here; People Should Know, Heed Safety Rules

The sky grows dark and threatening, and off in the distance a dull roar can be heard as a funnel cloud dips from the sky.

A tornado has formed and threatens damage to life and property.

That sort of scene, according to the Texas Safety Association, occurred 127 times in Texas during 1969. The statewide safety group points out that the tornado continues to be Texas' top weather story.

Tornadoes can occur at any time of the year, but they occur most frequently in Texas between March and October. During May of last year 65 tornadoes were reported in the state.

The damage from the 1969 storms amounted to $2,341,750 and there were three deaths in Texas. Already in 1970, many lives have been lost due to tornadoes.

The U. S. Weather Bureau, State Civil Defense and Disaster Relief, and the Texas Department of Public Safety have prepared a list of rules to follow in case of a tornado disaster. It has been pointed out that to know—and follow—these rules may mean the difference between life and death.

Here are the tornado safety rules:

1. The safest place to be during a tornado is in a cave or a storm cellar. When time permits, go to a tornado cellar, cave, or underground excavation which should be kept fit for use, meaning free from water, gas or debris, and preferably equipped with a pick and shovel.

2. If you are in open country, move at right angles to the tornado's path. Remember that tornadoes move ahead at about 25 to 40 miles per hour as a general rule. If there is no time to escape, lie flat in the nearest depression such as a ditch or ravine to avoid injury from being hurled through the air.

3. If you are in a city or town, seek inside shelter, preferably along the inside walls on the lower floors of a steel reinforced building. Stay away from windows.

If you are at home in a frame house, the southeast corner or the lowest floor (preferably a basement) offers greater safety. People living in brick or stone houses should find other shelter, such as a storm cellar or the southeast corner of a frame house.

If time permits before a storm strikes, turn off the gas and electricity. Windows and doors on the north and east sides of the house may be opened to help reduce damage to the building from outdoor pressure differences.

4. If you are in a school and the building is of reinforced steel construction, stay inside, keep the children away from windows and remain near inside walls on a lower floor when possible. Avoid auditoriums and gymnasiums under all circumstances. In schools that do not have reinforced construction, children should seek shelter in a ravine or a ditch when storm cellars are not available and a tornado has been reported or seen.

5. In factories or industrial plants, a lookout should be posted immediately upon receiving a tornado warning. Advance preparations should be made for shutting off electrical circuits and fuel lines if the tornado approaches the plant.

6. Above all, keep calm. Persons have been killed by running out in to streets and by turning back into the path of a tornado.

Even though a warning is issued, the chances of a tornado striking one's home or location are slight. As a rule, tornadoes cover such a small area that relatively a few places in a warned area are directly affected.

7. Keep turned to your radio or television station for the latest information when tornado warnings have been issued. Do not call the Weather Bureau, except to report a tornado, as your call may tie up telephone lines urgently needed to receive special reports, or to relay messages to radio stations for broadcast to thousands in the critical areas.

"Tornado forecasts" are issued by the Weather Bureau for a relatively large area in which weather conditions will be favorable for one or more tornadoes to develop.

A "tornado alert" occurs when one or more weather stations locate an area of turbulence or cloud formations which indicate the probability of a tornado.

"Tornado warnings" are announcements that a tornado has been sighted and reported. The warnings tell where and when the tornado has been reported and lists the names of communities toward which the tornado is moving.

Alton Pierce Signs With McM. College

Alton Pierce, graduating senior from Winters High School, has signed with McMurry College, Abilene, where he has received an athletic scholarship. It was revealed this week.

Pierce is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Pierce of Winters. He will participate in football and track at McMurry, and is expected to be played as a split-receiver, or in the defensive secondary.

The WHS graduate-elect is a three-year football letterman, was football co-captain, named All-West Texas end, was a basketball starter, and won the District high hurdles championship in track.

Jerry Awalt Helps McM Indians To Track Honors

Abilene—Quarter-mile Jerry Awalt is only a freshman for the McMurry College Indians, and coach Ronnie Giles is tickled to death.

Awalt, along with some other quick teammates, led the Indians to a fine fifth place finish in the grueling 10-team battle for the Lone Star Conference Track and Field Championships in Alpine Saturday afternoon.

Awalt ran the second leg of the mile relay in 49.0. The unit surprised a lot of folks by taking second place in a near record time of 3:13.7. Southwest Texas State won in 3:12.2. The Indians were without their ace 440-yard dashman, Larry LeFebvre, a victim of a groin pull the week before the LSC meet.

It was the second fastest time ever recorded by an Indian mile relay.

In all, the Indians won the 100 and 220 and the pole vault. Robert Bradley breezed to a 9.4 in the century, tying the LSC record.

Parris, the nation's leading vaulter, went a record 16-6 1/4. Awalt and his teammates go to Billings, Mt., June 5 and 6 for the NAIA Outdoor Championships.

Awalt is a graduate of Winters High School, where he lettered in football and track.

"Tornado!" Air Horn Will Give Warning Here

For several years Winters has had a tornado warning system, but luckily it has been on a standby basis only.

A giant air-operated horn is located at the City Light Plant, with compressed air tank constantly "loaded" against the time it may have to be used. The horn was installed about five or six years ago.

City officials remind residents that the air horn will be used to give warnings of possible tornadoes, or approaching storms. A continuous blast on the horn will be a warning for everyone to take cover.

In addition, in event of an approaching storm, the fire siren will be sounded to call firemen to the station. Firemen then will fan out over town to give warnings.

During threatening weather, radio-controlled police and city vehicles will be dispatched to the edge of the city to watch conditions and will warn the City Hall of impending dangers.

City officials have asked that residents refrain from calling the fire station or the City Hall during times of danger, in order that lines may be kept open for official use.

Such systems which are in readiness in Winters have been credited with saving many lives in other cities, during the past few years, officials pointed out, and the City of Winters will continue to update the system when possible.

County FM Roads Due For Extensive Work In 1970

The Texas Highway Commission has approved development of two Farm to Market Roads in Runnels County as part of the 1970 Texas Farm to Market Road Program.

J. S. Snell, district engineer of the Texas Highway Department, said the estimated cost of the two roads is $298,400.

Approved projects are described as follows:
—From State 158 and FM2111 at Valley View, south to FM 2133, a distance of 6.3 miles.

—From proposed FM Road, 1.2 miles south of Valley View, east to State 158, a distance of 1.0 mile.

This work will be under the supervision of W. B. Hoppe, senior resident engineer, of Runnels County.

Work authorized in this county is part of 543.1 miles of Texas Farm and Ranch to Market Roads earmarked for development in the new program. The program includes 144 projects in 109 counties. Estimated cost of the overall program is $22 million.

New construction totals 377.6 miles with an estimated cost of $18.2 million. The remaining $3.8 million represents additional financing on 165.5 miles of previously designated roads.

The additional new mileage brings the designated Farm and Ranch to Market network in Texas to 39.8 thousand miles. This one and one-half times the total combined total of all State-maintained highways in the six New England states. Originally planned to help "get the farmer out of the mud," the network has enhanced the social and economic well-being of millions of rural Texans.

In the new program, 77 percent—213 miles—of new mileage is used by school buses. Sixty-seven percent—207 miles—is included in rural mail routes. But the system has not benefited just the rural resident, says the Highway Department. Many Farm and Ranch to Market Roads provide access to recreational areas for urban and rural residents alike.

Many industries are served by roads in the Farm to Market network. The system has been credited with opening up new areas for industrial growth, facilitating movement of raw materials, employees and finished products.

Eddie E. Loehman Is Radio Operator In South Vietnam

Army Specialist 4 Eddie E. Loehman Jr., 20, son of Weldon Stuteville of Big Spring, recently was assigned as a radio operator with the 45th Engineer Group in Vietnam.

Seal Coating Of Streets Is Half Finished

The giant project to seal coat many of Winters' asphalt paved streets was about one-third completed by the first of the week, and it was expected that it would be to or past the halfway mark by the middle of this week, according to City sources.

Several of the streets which had been marked for seal-coat repair will have to have extensive sub-surface and surface repair before a seal coat can be applied, it was understood. These areas will be the last to be repaired, because of the condition of roadbed bases caused by the unusual wet weather during the past several months.

The sewer project to connect Winterhaven Addition on the east edge of the city is almost completed, and should be finished within the next few days, it was stated. A lift station is being constructed to connect the addition to the main sewer lines.

P. O. Designates Box Improvement Week, May 18-23

The Post Office Department designates a week during May each year when patrons on rural routes are encouraged to examine, and when necessary, improve the appearance of their mailboxes. The week of May 18-23 has been selected this year, according to H. M. Nichols, Winters Postmaster.

The purpose of Mail Box Improvement Week is to call attention to the need for providing mail receptacles which are designed to protect the mail from the weather, and which are neat in appearance, conveniently located, and safe to use. Neat, attractive mailboxes will make a significant contribution to the appearance of the countryside.

Mailboxes that meet the above four important requirements contribute to a more efficient delivery operation, and the result is an improved service to the entire route, the Postmaster said.

Be numbers have been assigned in the Winters area. The name of the owner and the box number must be shown on the side of the box visible to the carrier as he approaches, or on the door where boxes are grouped. If patrons do not know the number assigned to their rural boxes, they are asked to check with the carrier who will provide the number.

Baptist Church Collecting Food For Storm Victims

Winters First Baptist Church is collecting food and cooking utensils to be taken to Lubbock to help victims of the "killer" tornado which struck that city last week.

Those wishing to donate to this project may bring items to the church, to be sent by truck to Lubbock as soon as possible.

Ballinger-Winters CC Boards

Joint Meeting Termed Success

"Closer cooperation—and a working-together for the good of the community"—was stated as a goal during a meeting of members of the board of directors of the Winters and Ballinger Chambers of Commerce Monday night.

Although the two cities will and should—continue a competitive spirit, a basic "community responsibility" attitude should be recognized in all areas which affect the two cities and the county as a whole, it was determined at the dinner meeting.

Jim Cowlishaw, president of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, led the Winters delegation, and said discussions were held concerning the need for additional vocational training in the schools; promotion of Elm Creek Water Control District, and possible recreational possibilities connected with this project, and on other subjects.

Cowlishaw said directors and members of the two Chambers of Commerce pledged continued support of the schools in advancing vocational training.

Cowlishaw said it is hoped that periodic and regular joint meetings of the two groups can be arranged.

P. O. Window Service Hours To Be Changed

Changes in the window service hours at the Winters Post Office were announced Tuesday by Winters Postmaster H. M. Nichols.

Saturday window service will be discontinued at the facility effective Saturday May 23, the Postmaster reported.

Effective the same date, there will be no parcel post delivery on Saturday. Mail will be boxed as usual on Saturday, a n d city and rural carriers will make regular deliveries.

"The need for Saturday service has declined at this office," Nichols stated. "It is felt that our manpower can be utilized more efficiently by this action."

The postmaster said the new service policy would better meet the public's needs and help achieve greater efficiency and economy in the local postal operations. Stamp vending machines in the Post Office lobby will not be affected, he said.

Saturday mailing should be put in the drop box on the Post Office parking lot by 2 p.m. in order to make the dispatch for that day, Nichols said.

City Budget Hearing Set Monday Night

The Winters City Council will hold a public hearing on the proposed city budget for the next fiscal year, at the City Hall, Monday, May 18, at 7:30 p.m. The proposed budget is $1,000,000 for the year beginning Oct. 1, 1970, and ending Sept. 30, 1971.

The Council, according to the public announcement on the hearing, anticipates that the proposed budget will be met with the current tax rate with no increase in taxes.

Several copies of the proposed budget have been distributed to businesses and offices throughout the city for study by the public. The Council said, "We are asking your help, your cooperation, and suggestions on planning this program for the coming year. We would appreciate you offering them at the public budget hearing."

Senator Tower Says Cambodia Action Toward Peace In Southeast Asia

In his weekly "Report to Texans," Senator John G. Tower reminds Americans that the action in Cambodia is not a "new war," and is not another Vietnam, but an action designed to protect the lives of American soldiers in Vietnam. The following is the text of his newsletter:

I know that all of you are concerned about recent developments in Southwest Asia. We all want peace in that part of the world and we want to arrive at a time when U. S. involvement there can be brought to an end. Our involvement can be attributed to some mistakes we have made in the early and mid 1960s but Monday morning quarterbacking will not help us now.

What will help us now, is continuation of our current program of Vietnamization in which we are turning over the bulk of the fighting in South Vietnam to the Army of South Vietnam. As the Army of South Vietnam improves its capabilities to defend the populace and as the enemy becomes less capable of carrying on militarily, we will be able to withdraw our troops. I am confident that we will be able to complete the planned withdrawal of 150,000 GIs by next Spring.

A significant liability in the completion of this withdrawal are the enemy sanctuaries in Cambodia of which we have heard so much during the last ten days. These sanctuaries have existed for some time, but our diplomatic relationship with a neutralist government in Cambodia prevented us from moving earlier to deny the enemy use

WINGATE

Mr. Childers and Mr. and Mrs. S. Morris have had relatives visiting recently.

Granny Sliger was laid to rest in Wingate cemetery Thursday. Some of the out of town relatives and friends attending were Mr. and Mrs. Reed, Mr. and Mrs. Clive Pierce of Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Craver, Abilene, Mr. and Mrs. Willie Brown and son, Abilene; Mr. and Mrs. Norris Mosley, Abilene; Jack Hall of Abilene, a nephew. Two other nephews named Hall. We failed to get all the names.

Wingate school had their program for the entire grades Friday evening. It was enjoyed by all. Eighth grade graduation will be May 21st.

Homecoming is the first Sunday in June at Wingate school. Bring a basket lunch.

Mr. and Mrs. L. C. Briley and Bryan of Midland and Gene and Jeanie Wheat, Bill and Dug, were Saturday evening guests of these sanctuaries. Recently, however, the Cambodians have exhibited an interest in chasing the Communists out of their country and this development has enabled us to move against the sanctuaries.

The combined U. S. and South Vietnamese action now going on in Cambodia is nothing more than a search and destroy mission. It is similar to the missions which the allies have been carrying on inside South Vietnam for some time.

The action in Cambodia is not a new war. It is not "another Vietnam." And it is not an invasion of Cambodia. We have no desire to occupy Cambodian territory. It is a tactical maneuver. We are temporarily striking a border that the North Vietnamese have crossed with abandon for years.

Our maneuver will be completed in seven weeks if not earlier. The advent of the rainy season will make it impossible for us to continue longer.

Our mission is to destroy enemy supply depots, military operations headquarters and other enemy installations and facilities. The enemy has built extensive and complex war support facilities in these sanctuaries.

For years the enemy has used Cambodian territory as staging areas for his forays into South Vietnam. Some of these staging areas are only as far from the South Vietnamese Capitol of Saigon as the distance between Fort Worth and Dallas. We have given the enemy this sanction by our previous unwillingness to strike into Cambodia. As a result, we have left ourselves in an untenable military position. Now we are denying the enemy this sanctuary.

It will take the enemy possibly six months to rebuild his facilities. With the advent of the rainy season, his ability to rebuild will be greatly hampered. His efforts towards rebuilding will dictate that his incursions into South Vietnam be reduced. Reduction of these incursions will result in a saving of American lives. Let me repeat. Our denial of unrestricted use of sanctuary to the enemy will result, in the final analysis, in a saving of American lives.

As a member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, I met earlier this week with the President and I have been kept informed of developments in Southeast Asia by the Pentagon. I am convinced that our decision to cripple enemy communications and logistics support in the jungles barely within the Cambodian border will hasten our ability to withdraw from Southeast Asia consistent with our current Vietnamization program.

Our effort in Cambodia has already met with a degree of success. We have overtaken more than a million tons of rice, hundreds of thousands of rounds of ammunition, and a large number of weapons and vehicles. More than 2500-3000 Communists have been killed. Facilities abandoned by the Communists have been destroyed. This has been accomplished in the first days of our mission and I am confident that many more enemy supplies and facilities will be found and destroyed.

When we decided to enter Cambodia on our temporary mission, we did have other alternatives. We could have continued to hold our defense lines along the Cambodian border and allow the enemy to continue to attack us, inflict casualties, and retreat to sanctuary. Or we could have opted out and withdrawn all our troops from Southeast Asia. This latter course would constitute surrender and undermine U. S. credibility worldwide. The former would have meant increased American casualties and possibly denied us the ability to meet our phased withdrawal goals.

I believe both these alternatives would have been devastating, and I believe they were both unacceptable. I believe the logic of the President's action in Cambodia against the Cambodian sanctuaries, is unassailable.

Land Bank Cuts Interest Billing Rate On Loans

James M. Cowser, assistant manager of the Federal Land Bank Association of San Angelo, has received word that The Federal Land Bank of Houston has reduced the interest billing rate on variable rate loans to 8 1/2 percent.

The variable rate loan plan, which was introduced by the Houston Bank last July, lets the interest rate "float" over the variations in the money market. In large measure, therefore, the rate in any specific year will reflect the changes in the price which the Bank must pay for the money it makes available for farm mortgage loans, Cowser said.

"Recent improvements in the money market have made this reduction possible," Cowser stated.

Waterways Being Sprigged To Grass

Grass sprigging of waterways got off to a good start this week in the Runnels Soil Conservation District.

One of many farmers sprigging this week is N. L. Faubion of the Crews Community. Faubion is sprigging a 13 acre waterway to Bermudagrass through his Great Plains Conservation contract on this place. Glen Green, Conservation technician with the local Soil Conservation Service said Faubion started out right with a firm clean seedbed is important in getting seedbed. Green said a clean Bermudagrass established as the weeds grow faster than the grass. When weeds are not controlled, the grass will grow up competing for sunlight instead of spreading on the ground. As this could cause a seeding failure, weeds should be controlled until the grass is well established either by spraying with chemicals or shredding.

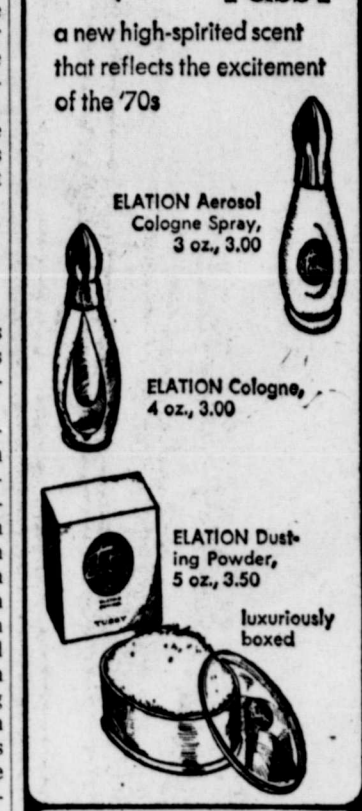

The Federal Land Bank of Houston makes long term real estate loans on farm and ranch lands throughout Texas. On January of this year, the Bank had slightly over one-half billion dollars in volume of loans outstanding. The local association makes and services loans in Runnels, Coke, Tom Green, Irion, Sterling, and Reagan Counties.

The best time to hold on is when you reach the place where the average person gives up. Everyone hears only what he understands.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR DURLISON
Congressman 7th District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—The Ways and Means Committee of the Congress has launched hearings on our tariff and quota structure.

With the exception of some products, the United States is continuing to find itself in a growing deficit position in our trade with all countries of the world. Our trade with all countries, except Canada and Latin America, shows sharp disadvantages. For instance, our exports to Japan during the period from 1960 through 1969 rose 141 percent while our imports grew by 20 percent during the period from Germany rose about three times compared to growth in our exports.

Latin America being the exception, our exports during the same period grew by 36 percent while our imports rose only 19 percent.

In total world trade our exports for the 9-year period increased 84.6 percent while our imports went up 146 percent. One chief difference in imports from Latin America is the fact that raw materials and foodstuffs continue to be the main import. In cases of raw materials, the processing usually involves a couple of steps in its delivery to the U. S. It is simply the gathering of the product, its loading and unloading. On the other hand, the great increase in import value occurs in manufactured goods which require, in most cases, seven or eight different steps. The sharp difference is accounted for by the relative labor content in the two forms of products.

At the present time, about two-thirds of all our imports consist of manufactured goods. Just a few years ago, less than one-third were of this nature.

Another discrepancy in our balance of trade comes from the practice of basing the value of imports on the foreign price rather than the value when landed at our ports of entry. The result is an undervaluation of our imports by several billion dollars a year. Applying the true value on goods laid down in this country, our trade deficit is in the magnitude of five to six billion dollars in terms of competitive trade, instead of a surplus claimed by some of our free-trade advocates.

While it certainly would not be a wise policy not to have trade as free as possible with foreign countries, our commerce and labor in effect subsidizes foreign manufactured goods. In most instances, we simply can not compete with low wage rates of foreign nations. The vast majority of our wage earners have their pay set at a minimum by law which can not be lowered even if it were desirable to do so. This, connected with new productive capability in most foreign nations, creates disadvantages to our own manufactured products, growers, producers and labor. About the only major exports which have a favorable position in world trade is heavy machinery, automobiles, aircraft and computers. This is true simply because we have more advanced technology in these fields but the gap is being closed. In 1960, we exported almost five times as much machinery as was imported. This ratio was narrowed by about two-to-one during the last eight years. Import problems are occurring in agricultural products which if continued could have a most serious effect on our farmers and ranchers.

At first glance, it could easily appear that more imports would result in more competition and a lowering of prices to the consumer. This may be true in the early stages of some particular item but once the market is taken over, competition decreases and prices increase. As an example, there are advocates of permitting uncontrolled oil imports from the Middle East with the idea that the end product would be cheaper to U. S. consumers. In the first place, adequate and steady supply from this source is a dangerous assumption. Second, to become dependent on energy sources outside our own border would eventually leave us at the mercy of their own prices. Excessive imports will decrease incentive for additional discoveries which is absolutely necessary if we are to maintain our self-sufficiency.

On a relatively efficiency basis, the productivity of American industry continues to lead the world. The lead, however, is shrinking and low foreign wages combined with a growing ability to produce is closing the gap to a degree of deep concern. We must buy if we expect to sell but a better balanced position in world trade is needed.

This complicated subject will be a consideration of the Ways and Means Committee for several weeks to come.

Canned Peaches: Need a "peach" of an idea for dessert? Canned peaches fill the bill, says Mrs. O'Connor. Succulent canned peaches know no seasonality. They're right at home in your menu plans at any time.

Peaches are natural "go withers"—fitting in at breakfast, brunch, lunch, dinner and even snacktime. They add a cheer-up, perk-up note to breakfast cereals.

There's an unusually large amount of canned cling peaches on hand now. As a result, the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture's Consumer and Marketing Service is cooperating with the peach industry in promoting the plentiful supply.

The cling peach has an unusually fine close-textured flesh, a tight protective skin and a pit that clings to its brilliant golden flesh. All of these qualities make the cling peach ideal for canning.

Fish, Seafood: Spring's the popular time of year for firing up the outdoor grill. You'll find fish and seafood provide some delicious outdoor eating. What charcoal does for seafood is incomparable.

One of the important things to remember in cooking fish, either over the coals or indoors, is never overcook. Fish contains no tough connective tissue and cooks very quickly. Fish should be cooked only until it flakes

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

POLLUTION CONTROL
By Babson's Reports Incorporated, Wellesley Hills, Mass., May 14, 1970. Stocks of companies involved in pollution control were among the market's best performers during the closing weeks of 1969 and the first month of this year. Riding the crest of publicity surrounding the need for greater environmental control and reflecting investor enthusiasm over the industry's future outlook, most pollution control stocks surged upward in an otherwise drab market climate.

As a result, many issues within this group were selling at relatively high price-earnings ratios, and were vulnerable to profit taking. Thus, these same issues fell sharply when the market again weakened. At this time, investors may well considerably short of expectations without the spur of governmental legislation.

A CLOSER LOOK
The pollution control industry, like any other, has its own peculiar characteristics. Among the most significant of these is the problem of meeting highly specialized needs. Equipment must often be designed to fit rigid requirements of a particular industry, geographical location, plant size, specific pollutants, etc. To complicate matters further, acceptable standards which must be met are being continuously upgraded. This puts great stress on scientific expertise. Even more important, the industry is highly vulnerable to spiraling cost pressures which erode profit margins on fixed contracts with long lead times.

Investors considering pollution control stocks should also recognize that for many companies sales of such products still account for only a small percentage of total revenues. The bulk of revenues for many so-called pollution companies are derived from other and often cyclical areas. Therefore, these firms, despite above-average growth in pollution control sales, are still subjected to the restraining effects of the economic slowdown over the near term.

CURRENT ADVICE
The longer-term picture, however, is still bright despite the somewhat dull nearby look. The strong and growing support for pollution controls guarantees greater outlays by business or by the government over the years ahead. Thus, companies heavily dependent on business of this type should show above-average growth in the 1970s.

Nevertheless, in view of the currently unsettled market climate, the dependence on cyclical lines for many concerns, and the above-average price-earnings ratios commanded by many stocks in the industry, the Research Department of Babson's Reports does not advise purchase of most pollution control stocks at this time. However, investors who wish to participate in the industry's favorable longer-term outlook may consider purchase of American Air Filter convertible debentures of 1980, providing adequate yield plus the opportunity for capital appreciation.

Mr. and Mrs. Mord Tucker Will Note 50th Wedding Date Sunday

Mr. and Mrs. Mord S. Tucker will observe their Golden Wedding Anniversary with an open house, Sunday, May 17, in the Winters Church of Christ Fellowship Hall, from 2 to 4 o'clock in the afternoon.

Hosts for the occasion will be the couple's daughters and sons-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. G. L. Sanders, Mr. and Mrs. R. C. Duncan, and their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Mord S. Tucker, Jr. Co-hosting with their parents will be the grandchildren.

Friends of the family are invited to call during the afternoon.

Austin, Texas—U. S. Sen. Ralph Yarborough and State Land Commissioner Jerry Sadler were upset victims in the May 2 Democratic primary to Lloyd Bentsen and State Rep. Robert L. (Bob) Armstrong.

Scene of political action now shifts to the general election where Bentsen faces Republican Senate candidate George Bush. Gov. Preston Smith, unopposed in the Democratic primary, is confronted with GOP Paul Eggers. Bush and Eggers won nominations easily over Robert Morris and Roger Martin in the Republican primary.

Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin won third term nomination handsily over Judge David H. Brown and faces Edward M. Yturri, GOP, in November. Democrat Ben Ramsey had no difficulty with Connie Lawson and is unopposed in November. Truman Roberts defeated Earl W. Smith for Court of Criminal Appeals. James G. Denton appeared to be the Supreme Court contest winner over Matt Davis and Hawthorne Phillips. Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes, unopposed in the Democratic primary, is challenged by Byron Fullerton, GOP, in November. Four other GOP candidates will wage token campaigns for statewide office against Democrats.

CAPITOL PRECAUTIONS

Tighter security measures may be ordered for the historic state capitol—always wide open to visitors—in the wake of a violent anti-war demonstration there last week.

Three 82-year-old etched glass door panels were smashed when a mob of 200 obscenity-shouting youths stormed through the rotunda.

ution as a theory rather than a fact.

Per capita state aid to local districts was increased from $114.40 to $117.65 per student for the current school year. Board authorized application for $1.8 million in federal anti-poverty funds to help train 900 migrant workers for city jobs, approved a $2 million special vocation program for poor students and empowered the Texas Education Agency to seek a $50,000 federal grant to continue technical assistance to school districts with desegregation and other ethnic problems.

APPOINTMENTS

Governor Smith named Preston H. Dial Jr. judge of the vacant 175th district court in San Antonio after Dial was nominated for that post in the Democratic primary.

Randall B. Wood, native of Edom, is new director of elections in the secretary of state's office, succeeding Mrs. Mary K. Wall who retired.

Governor Smith has named R. L. Thornton Jr. of Dallas to board of regents of Texas Woman's University and Dr. Paul C. Witt of Abilene to State Board of Examiners in Basic Sciences.

Robert A. Hansen of Sioux City, Iowa, will become superintendent of Texas School for the Blind on June 1.

Fifteen-member state textbook committee has been picked and held its first meeting May 8 to begin a five-month series of hearings on new textbooks.

President Nixon appointed Byron Fullerton of Austin to national advisory council on education professions.

ATTORNEY GENERAL

State Credit Union Commissioner cannot enter a proposed truth in lending liaison agreement with the Federal Trade Commission, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held in a recent opinion.

In other rulings, Martin concluded that: State Comptroller can write rules by which Texas Tech University art works can be temporarily exchanged with other universities and museums.

Texas Tort Claims Act does not cover school districts except as to motor vehicles, but limitation does not apply to Junior College districts.

Penal code article pertaining to seizure and confiscation of devices prohibited in Espiritu Santo Bay, and other waters pending trial, and destruction of the prohibited devices on conviction for possession or use, is constitutional.

NURSING HOMES ASK RAISE

Nursing home operators, claiming they face financial crisis, want authority to levy a $25 a month supplemental charge for welfare patients in addition to the state allocation.

Plan seeks a six per cent increase in state payments for patients requiring skilled care or a total of $381 a month. State costs in other categories would decline if families pay the supplemental charge.

Meanwhile, State Board of Welfare, which took the request under study, heard new federal family assistance legislation backed by the president would cost Texas $57 million a year more than present program that only 12 counties grams.

WELFARE

State Board of Public Welfare have not decided on a course of action on the Dallas federal court order that 90 Texas counties must begin food-aid programs for the poor.

These 12 include Archer, Bailey, Blanco, Castro, Gregg, Kendall, Llano, Mills, Oldham, Parmer, Presidio and San Saba Counties. However, Blanco, Llano, Mills and San Saba County officials reportedly were working actively on the problem.

Another 31 counties had refused to operate food programs, so the State Department of Public Welfare planned to operate commodity programs at federal expense in Aransas, Baylor, Bosque, Bowie, Clay, Collin, Colorado, Coryell, Deaf Smith, Denton, Edwards, Ellis, Fort Bend, Gillespie, Gray, Grayson, Hood, Jack, Johnson, Kaufman, Kerr, Lamar, Randall, Refugio, Roberts, Rockwall, Rusk, Uvalde, Wheeler, Wise and Wood Counties.

WATER RIGHTS HEARING
Texas Water Rights Commission will present for consideration its proposed rules regulations and procedures for administering the state water rights adjudication law in a public hearing in Austin at 10 a.m., June 4.

Also to be considered are proposed rules to govern the operation of Amistad Reservoir near Del Rio.

Commission wants persons planning to comment on its proposals to file written statements before May 30, setting forth their reasons and any other pertinent information.

Copies of the rules may be obtained in advance by writing the W.R.C., Austin 78711.

It is a striking coincidence that American ends with "I can".

Idleness is only the refuge of weak minds.
