HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

All regional historical volumes usually are filled with names, dates, places, statistical figures, and chronological data, binding the beginning to the present. The text of a large number of them, however, is so definitely confined to those areas, so uncolorful, that a study of them—or even a quick reference to them—becomes a chore and is undertaken only because of the importance of the information contained therein. These volumes have their rightful place, and they become valuable and ready references for the serious historian as well as the history buff, and the genealogist. The material is often so dry—however important—that only the serious student of an era or an area attempts to digest the information from cover to cover. It is unfortunate that this is true in so many cases.

Not so with "Runnels Is My County"! This latest volume by Winters' own Charlsie Poe departs from the methodical plodding of the historian and traps with novelistic fascination the interest and imagination of even the most cursory reader.

Mrs. Poe's book contains all those names, dates, places and historical necessities wrapped up in most other volumes of the same type, yes. Want to know when a certain oldtimer came to Runnels County? The answer probably is in this book. When was the county established? Organized? Where was the first county seat? Economic facts: Locations of certain communities and their beginning and end. Turn through the pages of this new book and the answers are all there, to be sure.

But there is something more in "Runnels Is My County" than cold, dry historical statistics. The author gathered all this material—eight years in the gathering—and has woven them into a fabric of facts which becomes hard to leave alone once the front cover is opened. Utilizing the skill she has used in feature-article writing for many publications, and further developed in her first book, "Angel To The Papagos," Charlsie grasps the reader by the lapels and demands his undivided attention while she tells the story of Runnels County.

The reader, if he is not a serious student of such history, may not at first reading fix in his memory the exact date such-and-such happening occurred (confirmation can come later, if need be) but he will know that it did occur, and under what circumstances, and he will be delighted with the manner in which the story is told. The historical facts are there, but are so laced with interesting "facts before the facts" that they make delightful reading.

"Runnels Is My County" is well-balanced with loads of photographs, too, of early-day personalities and latter-day residents, and places. First reading of the book is a continuing process of turning from the pages of words back or forward to the pages of pictures.

Charlsie says in her preface, "My purpose in writing this book is to provide youth with a knowledge of their rich heritage in order that they may understand the present and to give them direction for the future. Also to provide the joy of reminiscence for those who have lived this history."

"With the effort to portray the colorful life and progress of the early days, we have also tried to show the courage, dynamic spirit and great physical effort of the pioneers."

You—wherever you are and wherever your roots—will be delighted with this book. It's dog-

Riess Radio-TV Will Hold Grand Opening Friday and Saturday

Riess Radio-TV, on West Dale Street, successors to Main Radio-TV, will hold open house during their Grand Opening Friday and Saturday of this week. Refreshments will be served all day both days, and door prizes will be given.

Riess Radio-TV is authorized dealer for Zenith color and also black and white television, stereos and radios, Arvin radios and other sound equipment, and will handle several brands of small kitchen and home appliances.

The service department of Riess Radio-TV will service all makes of television, color and black and white, radios, stereos and sound equipment. They also have a tape and record department.

Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Riess, formerly of Sanderson, purchased Main Radio-TV from Ralph and Raymon Lloyd in June. Mr. Riess was formerly a principal in the Sanderson schools, and Mrs. Riess was a teacher aide in the Sanderson Junior High School.

Lawrence Barber, radio-television technician, is also formerly of Sanderson, where he was a junior high school math teacher and coach.

Mr. and Mrs. Riess have two children, Andrew Jr., a junior student at the University of Texas at El Paso, and Maurine, a junior in Winters High School.

Winters Blizzards Blasted Hamlin 21-0 In Season Opener Here Friday Night

The Winters Blizzards blew the Hamlin Pied Pipers' horn Friday night as they defeated the Hamlin team 21-0.

After receiving the kickoff the Pipers managed to keep the ball for the greater part of the first quarter. But the Blizzards first lit up the scoreboard in the second quarter after Hudon White recovered a Hamlin fumble 38 yards out. Jerry Mack Jackson moved the ball forward one more yard and then Mike Mathis came around the right end to score. David Harrison added an extra point to make a 7-0 lead for the Blizzards at the half.

Another fumble recovered by Blizard Danny Reel midway in the third quarter started the drive for the next score. Von Byrd traveled 11 yards for the second tally and Harrison booted another extra point.

The final touchdown came with a minute left on the clock as Ronnie Wilson took a quarterback sneak over the goal line.

With a season-opener win under their belts, a learning and teachable—but wary—team of Winters High School Blizzards go out of town for their second game Friday night, going against Merkel at Merkel. Kick-off will be at 8 p. m. for this non-conference contest.

Workouts this week have been directed toward overall buildup and strategy, with some emphasis in areas which have revealed some inconsistency. Coach Jerry Gibson said this week the coaching staff has been "real proud" of the Blue team for last week's win. The squad is further along than at first thought, and mental attitude still is good, it was indicated. The Blizzards are off to a good start this year, and the season looks promising. Action of the second offensive squad in last Friday's encounter with Hamlin was very good, coaches said. Hamlin was a strong team and a good test.

Merkel, erstwhile district-mates of the Blizzards, are fielding a tall, rangy—good and tough—team this year. The Badgers are a little heavier than the Blizzards, and feature, a fine running back in the person of Tommy Anderson (No. 33), who is capable of and liable to give anyone a lot of trouble.

Local Merchants Hit By Bogus Bill Passers Monday

Four Winters merchants Monday were victimized by passers of counterfeit $20 bills, and authorities have two suspects in custody in San Angelo, the Winters Police Department said.

At least two men were involved in allegedly passing the bogus bills in Winters, Chief of Police Joe Stevens said. He said they had purchased "small articles" in each of the stores and paid for them with bills which turned out to be counterfeit. The bills were said to be "good" imitations of genuine $20 bills, although they were slightly smaller.

When the bills were found to be counterfeit, Winters police immediately notified U. S. Treasury Department agents. Chief Stevens said he had been informed that two persons suspected of being involved in the passing of the bogus bills were in custody in San Angelo Wednesday morning.

FFA Officers Were Elected At WHS Tuesday Morning

Officers for the 1970-71 school year for the Winters chapter, Future Farmers of America, were elected by the local chapter members Tuesday morning.

Ricky Marks was elected president, and Ray Cooper, vice president.

Other officers elected were Ricky Dean, secretary; Sherrill Alexander, treasurer; Ronnie Moore, sentinel; and Lynn Giles, reporter.

Stanley Blackwell, WHS vocational agriculture teacher, is chapter advisor.

Cindy Davis Was Miss WT Fair Candidate

Cindy Davis, a Winters High School senior and Sweetheart of the WHS Future Farmers of America chapter, was one of the candidates for Miss West Texas Fair in Abilene Wednesday night.

The daughter of Mrs. Billy Howard, Miss Davis was FFA Queen for two years, is a cheerleader, and was a candidate for Glacier Queen last year. She was named class favorite during her freshman year.

Mrs. M. G. Perry Received Master's Degree From ACC

Mrs. M. G. (Cassie) Perry of Winters was awarded a master of education degree at the summer commencement of Abilene Christian College.

The commencement exercises were conducted August 14 in the ACC Mood Coliseum Auditorium.

Mrs. Perry is a teacher in Winters Primary School.

Publisher of New Book Is Native Of Runnels County

Lorieta Hall Naylor is the petite, charming, energetic president of The Naylor Company of San Antonio, the regional publishing firm nationally renowned for volumes of historical interest. A native Texan, the publisher has contributed to the literary heritage of her own region through the myriad volumes on Texas and the Southwest produced annually by the company.

One such volume, RUNNELS IS MY COUNTY, by Charlsie (Mrs. George) Poe of Winters, gives details of the growth of Mrs. Naylor's native county as well as details in the lives of the first pioneers including Mr. and Mrs. John S. Hall and Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Rodgers, grandparents of the executive.

One of the first women publishers in the nation, the then Rita Hall began her career, while still a student, as a hostess for Courtesy Welcome Service. She soon became co-owner of the firm. Eventually she bought the company and continues to operate this service for the residents and business leaders of San Antonio.

During these years, the publisher was also employed by Dairyland Creameries (Now Foremost Dairies) to conduct sales and promotion campaigns. In addition, Mrs. Naylor lectured to public schools and to PTA groups in the metropolitan area as a part of a health education program under the auspices of the San Antonio Board of Education.

Mrs. Naylor first joined the Naylor Company as Director of Promotion and Publicity and was soon named vice president of the firm. She took over the Southwest's largest regional publishing house in 1955 upon the death of her husband, the late Joe O. Naylor.

Her experience as a former staff member of the San Antonio Light, where she wrote regular shopping and fashion columns, helped contribute to Mrs. Naylor's success as a publisher. For several years, the executive has travelled extensively throughout the nation, working with major wholesalers, jobbers and the firm's sales representatives. Newsweek magazine testified to the soundness of this unusual family's success when it said, "Naylor concentrated on books with a Texas or Southwest flavor and has sold a million copies of them." Volumes with the Naylor imprint have also been written up in such publications as Life, Reader's Digest and the New Yorker.

Book trade publications and large metropolitan daily newspapers consistently review Naylor titles and some of them have been translated into foreign languages and several have been reprinted in paperback. Two are printed in braille. Schools, universities and libraries throughout the United States contain volumes printed by The Naylor Company.

Prominent in state, national and civic organizations for many years, Mrs. Naylor is a member of the San Antonio Historical Society, Texas State Historical Society, San Antonio Conservation Society, a past president of the Texas Women's

Runnels County Day Set For Saturday, Sept. 19th

MRS. CHARLSIE POE

Charlsie Poe Spent Eight Years In Research and Writing Runnels History

"Runnels Is My County" did not "just happen." The new book, a complete and authoritative history of Runnels County, is the end result of more than eight years of painstaking research and writing and re-writing by the author, Charlsie (Mrs. George) Poe of Winters.

Charlsie already had started research on the book when her first book was published. The first, "Angel To The Papagos," was published by The Naylor Company of San Antonio in 1963, and is a fascinating, true story of a white woman who runs a trading post on the Papagos reservation in Arizona.

Even before that, Charlsie was no stranger to the writing world. She had had several articles in publications of the Southern Baptist Convention, and from 1955 to 1959 wrote feature articles for The Abilene Reporter-News. She also has been, for many years, a frequent contributor to The Winters Enterprise. She was responsible for much of the historical material published in a special edition of The Enterprise in 1965, on the occasion of the 75th Anniversary of the founding of Winters.

Highlight of "Runnels Day," Saturday, September 19, observing the 90th anniversary of the organization of Runnels County, will be the release of the historical book, "Runnels Is My County," latest book by Charlsie (Mrs. George) Poe, of Winters.

Special programs have been built around release of the book in each of the county's four towns. The observance is under auspices of the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee.

The first program of the day-long observance will begin at Winters—at the Chamber of Commerce office on West Dale Street—at 10 a. m. Saturday. The Winters High School Blizzard Marching Band, under the direction of Kirke McKenzie, will parade downtown and present a concert at the chamber office. The invocation will be given by the Rev. Harry Grantz, pastor of the First Baptist Church, and a welcome address by Mayor Wade White.

Rankin Pace, chairman of the Historical Survey Committee, will give a response, and introduce guests. Special music, "Runnels Is My County, My Home Sweet Home," with music composed by David Guion and lyrics written by Loyd Roberson of Winters, will be presented by Mrs. Kathrine Freiberger, niece of Guion.

In 1927 she married George Poe, son of early-day Runnels County residents. They lived on his father's farm east of Winters until 1949 when they moved into Winters. Mr. Poe served on the city council for four years and was mayor of Winters for four years.

Mrs. Poe has spent twenty-five years as superintendent of the Intermediate Sunday School Department of the First Baptist Church. During World War II, when teachers were scarce, she substituted in the elementary grades. She also taught for five years in Winters High School, teaching American government and general math.

She has been president of the Band Mother's Club and the PTA, and for six years was president of the Woman's Missionary Union of the Runnels Baptist Association. She has also been president of the Diversity Club.

Several magazines have published articles by Mrs. Poe. Home Life Magazine ran "She Helped Tame the West" and the Baptist Standard has published some of her writings.

She is a member and secretary of the Runnels County Historical Survey Committee.

Mr. and Mrs. Poe have two children, Charlsie Jeannine of Long Beach, Calif., and Dennis Clifford Poe. Dennis' wife, the former Rhyenell Compton, also comes from pioneer stock. Her great-grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Davis came to Runnels County in 1902. They have three children, Clifford, Gregory and Perry.

Johnnie Frierson To Canada For Oil Co.

Johnnie Frierson and John Ehrlie of Pan American Oil Industries of Tulsa, Okla., left by plane for Calgary, Alberta, Canada, Sunday afternoon where they will train personnel of the company on the use of the computer system. They will be in Calgary for two weeks.

Frierson is the son of Mrs. Virgil Frierson of Winters and the late Virgil Frierson. His wife is the former Barbara Kay Minzenmayer of Winters. They have two sons and a daughter.

FIRST BALE—Thad Traylor produced the first bale of cotton from the 1970 crop to be brought to Winters Warehouse. The cotton, grown on Traylor's farm east of Winters, was ginned by Planters Gin Co., Wingate, and brought to the Winters Warehouse Wednesday of last week. The 563-pound bale was ginned from 2250 pounds of raw cotton; 820 pounds of seed were caught.

The observance will be presented to the author by Mrs. Joe Naylor of The Naylor Company, San Antonio, publishers. Charlsie Poe then will make presentation of gift books, and prize book to the winner of the antique window display contest.

An autograph party will follow, and a no-host luncheon will be held at Huffman House in Winters at 11:40.

The Ballinger program will begin at 1:30 Saturday afternoon, in the Community Room at the First National Bank. County Judge W. H. Ramey will give the welcome address, and special music will be presented by Mrs. Freiberger and Mr. Guion.

Charlsie Poe will hold an autograph party following the main program in Ballinger.

At Rowena, the celebration will be held at the ODH's Hall at 3:30 Saturday afternoon, with Arnold Holubeck, president of Rowena Lions Club, giving the welcoming address, and Rankin Pace responding. Mrs. Rodney Watson will introduce guests.

Mrs. Poe will hold another autograph party at Rowena. Special features of the Rowena program will be piano selections by Mary Joan Franke, pioneer costumes showing, and antique show.

The Miles program will be held at 5 p. m. in the West Texas Utilities building, with Mayor Willie Kesting giving the address, and response by Rankin Pace. Mrs. Dalton Lacy will introduce guests, and Mrs. Freiberger and Mr. Guion will present special music, followed by an autograph party.

Director Reports To Band Boosters

Both high school and junior high school bands have grown in number of musicians, Band Director Kirke McKenzie told members of the Band Boosters Tuesday afternoon. There are 97 members in the high school band.

The Band Boosters met Tuesday afternoon in the Homemaking Cottage and discussed plans for the year. Mrs. A. N. Blackerby, president, pointed out that all persons interested in the bands—not only parents of band students—are invited to attend Booster meetings, and to work for the band.

Refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Griff Brown, Mrs. Melvin Williams, Mrs. Raymond Burns and Mrs. Dennis Poe.

Twenty attended the meeting.

Flinty desert rat Jason Robards and his true love Stella Stevens, a former tart who has become a rich widow, are reunited in director Sam Peckinpah's comedy-drama, "The Ballad of Cable Hogue."

"The Ballad of Cable Hogue," the Warner Bros. film which shows in Technicolor Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre, tells the story about those individuals for whom life is a constant battle for survival. It is a warm, human story about love. Within the story's framework there are both comic and sad moments as well as episodes filled with dramatic action.

Set in the West at the moment when the stagecoach was about to be replaced by the "horseless carriage," the film stars Jason Robards, Stella Stevens and David Warner.

Slam Pickens, Strother Martin, L. Q. Jones, Peter Whitney, R. G. Armstrong co-star and Gene Evans, William Mims, Kathleen Freeman, Susan O'Connell, Vaughn Taylor and Felix Nelson also appear in important parts.

Former Winters Man Died In Coleman Monday

Sam Cooper, 86, a former resident of Winters, died at 1:15 p. m. Monday in Holiday Hill Rest Home in Coleman.

Funeral was held at 3:30 p. m. Tuesday in Stevens Memorial Chapel with the Rev. R. E. Streetman, former pastor of First Baptist Church in Coleman, officiating, assisted by the Rev. Bill Merritt, pastor of First Baptist Church.

Burial was in Coleman Cemetery.

Mr. Cooper was formerly secretary of the Winters Chamber of Commerce, until 1932, when he moved to Coleman.

He was born Sept. 18, 1883, in Logan County, Ark. He was married May 9, 1906, to the late Frances Adelyn Thomas in Fisher. They had lived in Coleman since 1932.

Mr. Cooper was a retired Coleman Chamber of Commerce manager and Central Colorado River Authority manager. He was a member of the First Baptist Church of Coleman, where he was a deacon for many years.

Survivors include a daughter, Mrs. Fred (Peggy) Garrett of Coleman; a son, Carroll W. Cooper of Arlington; one brother, Charles A. Cooper of Fort Worth; six grandchildren; and six great-grandchildren.

Students On SS Must Notify Office

If you will soon be 18 and are receiving social security checks, notify your social security office if you plan to stay in school full time, advises J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

Social security checks for a child usually stop the month before he attains 18. Checks can be paid after age 18, up to age 22, however, as long as the child is unmarried and is a full-time student.

To make sure the checks will continue, notify the Social Security Administration that the child plans to remain in school full time — either high school, college, or a recognized trade or vocational school. The best time to do this is two or three months before the child turns 18, Mr. Talbot said.

The Social Security Administration encourages anyone who has questions to call or write the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3508) in San Angelo, or see the representative when he is in your area.

Lake O' the Pines Gets 84,000 Catfish

AUSTIN—The Texas Parks and Wildlife Department recently released approximately 84,000 channel catfish, from four to six inches long, into 18,000-acre Lake O' the Pines.

The release was made in an effort to offset lack of natural reproduction in the lake, according to Bob Kemp, the Department's fisheries supervisor in Tyler.

The fish, reared at the Department's Jasper Fish Hatchery, are a portion of 200,000 channel catfish scheduled for release into the northeast Texas lake according to Kemp.

"Many of the 100,000 channel catfish stocked in Lake O' the Pines last year were taken by rod and reel fishermen and trawliners this summer," said Kemp.

Ray Guevara, USN, Gets Promotion

SN Ray Guevara, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Guevara of Winters, recently was promoted to E-3, and will be eligible for third class in about six months.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

Austin, Tex. —Just when highway construction in the state is at an all-time high, the Texas Highway Commission has cancelled the regular December lettings of highway contracts.

Commission blames the contract moratorium on the recent holdback of part of Texas' apportionment from the Federal Highway Trust Fund. Action came at a time when, because of favorable weather, highway construction was at its highest. For the past two months, payout for construction completed by Texas Contractors has set new records in dollar volume.

Contractors were paid $42.6 million in July for work completed in June and $46.3 million in August for work completed in July. Payments represented work on 501 contracts in June and 593 contracts in July.

Federal Aid Highway Act of 1968, as approved by Congress, provides that states should receive $5.4 billion for the 1971 fiscal year from the Highway Trust Fund. Amount allocated, however, was reduced by the Administration, Highway Commission Chairman Dewitt Greer said, to $4.6 billion nationally and resulted in a reduction of the Texas share from $275 million to $210 million—$65 million less than was expected.

Proceeds in the Federal Highway Trust Fund are derived from special taxes levied on motor vehicle users. Fund was set up in 1956 to provide a stable source of revenue for the construction of National System of Interstate and Defense Highways.

Cancellation of the December bid letting is the first since World War II Greer said. The Commission Chairman said the reduction has come because the condition of the finances of the Federal Government has required that it borrow money from the Federal Highway Trust Fund for government operations.

eration even though the trust fund was established for the specific purpose of building the highway system from highway user revenues.

Greer said the "motor vehicle users of this country, who pay these dedicated taxes, have every right to expect that the Federal Government return to the highway system these revenues, in accordance with agreements made 14 years ago."

HOSPITAL TROUBLES IN TEXAS

State Rep. R. H. "Dick" Cory and House Speaker Gus Mutscher made a trip to Washington seeking better interpretation of recent Social Security regulations which threaten to close 158 of the state's hospitals.

Most are in rural areas and are having extreme difficulty complying with new regulations such as the one requiring them to have registered nurses on duty around the clock. A Texas nursing shortage of 10,000, plus the difficulty of finding nurses willing to live in smaller communities, contribute to the problem.

Hospitals which do not comply with the regulations are in danger of having Medicare payments terminated, which would in turn force them to close their doors. Representative Cory, who is chairman of a special Speaker's Committee on Texas Health Care, noted that Texas, because of sparse population in wide areas of the state, has 40 per cent of the nation's Class 7C hospitals.

Another fear of the Committee is that if the small hospitals close their doors many physicians will move away due to lack of hospital facilities.

IMMUNIZATION LEGISLATION UPCOMING

Gov. Preston Smith says he'll ask the 62nd Legislature, which convenes in January, to pass legislation requiring immunization against several communicable diseases before a child may enter Texas schools.

Governor proposes compulsory immunization against polio, measles, whooping cough, tetanus and — in the wake of the epidemic in San Antonio — protection against diphtheria.

Smith said figures available to him for 1968, the latest year for which complete data is available, indicate that Texas has the highest incidence rate in the nation for measles and polio, the second highest for diphtheria and the fourth highest for whooping cough. Tetanus is not an epidemic disease, but a single injection generally immunizes against diphtheria, and whooping cough and tetanus.

ATTORNEY GENERAL OPINIONS

A non-profit, charitable organization which conducts a driver training program must be licensed to do so by the Texas Department of Public Safety, says Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin. The exceptions are training or classes conducted by colleges, universities, high schools and junior high schools for regularly enrolled students.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that: "A county may extend City-County Health Unit services to a city within county boundaries, even though the city does not participate in the unit; however, the county may contribute only those services normally made available by the county unless the city wishes to join the City-County Health Unit."

"Justice of the Peace is not entitled to collect a fee for actions transferred or dismissed without trial from his court."

WASHINGTON "As it looks from here" OMAR BURLISON Congressman 17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C. — The idea of a "revenue sharing plan" between the Federal Government and the States is gaining momentum.

While the President has vetoed several over-spending measures passed by the Congress, it is inconsistent for the Administration to press for two level spending programs. One is already in the mill, namely, the costly Welfare Program and the other, Tax Revenue Sharing, is being pressed for action.

Serious flaws are obvious in any revenue sharing plan. The main flaw is that the Federal Government has no revenue to share in the first place. With deficits running into the billions and with a public debt of $390 billion, how is it that we can piously say we can share anything with local governments.

The second glaring flaw is the lack of any proposal to phase out any programs while phasing in unlimited sharing with the States. At this point it appears that it will be just another layer of programs piled onto the thousands which already exist.

There is no indication of any link with this plan to the concept of a balanced budget. Revenues collected by Washington would automatically be returned to the States and localities no matter how astronomical the Federal deficit may be. If such a plan should be adopted, at the very least there should be included a provision that no revenue sharing would be available unless Congress first balanced the budget. Such a requirement might have the effect of stopping a lot of dreamed up Federal programs and to eliminate old ones which have blatantly failed.

Many Federal programs now require certain matching funds from the States or local governments. A good question is, what happens if local governments were to use their tax sharing money to match Federal grants under old programs. There is no question that the Federal Treasury could be bled white with its own money.

Another glaring defect is that local officials, not having the responsibility of imposing taxes for the money they spend, could easily be less prudent in their spending. There should be no division of responsibility as between the authority which impose taxes and the authority which spends the money.

There is no question that local governments, from city to the State level, are having a difficult time in finding sources of tax revenues. The National Governors' Conference has been on record since 1965 in support of the principle that the Federal Government share a portion of its tax revenue with the States. During the Governors' Conference just closed they reaffirmed their stand to "employ every means available toward the immediate and favorable enactment of revenue sharing." States and local taxing bodies are limited in most instances in the amount of tax they can impose and in the case of the State of Texas, we are on a pay-as-you-go basis, but the Federal Government can continue to turn the crank and add to its debt, the interest on which is now approximately $17 billion.

The problems in meeting the needs and demands of our time are not going to be solved by trying to pass the buck from one level of government to another. Problems will not be solved by greater centralization of taxing power in Washington.

A better answer is provided in H. R. 10580. This has been a subject of previous releases but in essence it simply provides that no taxes be collected by the Federal Government for education and welfare and that the sources of revenue for this purpose be reserved for the States. In turn, the States would levy, collect and administer these programs out of the taxes which the Federal Government does not collect in the first place.

(NOTE: The Bill referred to above, H. R. 10580, was introduced by Congressman Omar Burleson on April 28, 1969.

COUNTY AGENT'S WEEKLY NOTES

Green bolls belong in the field and not in cotton trailers heading for the gin.

As harvesting and ginning gains momentum in Runnels County, farmers should be on the lookout for green bolls mixed with high quality cotton because lower returns are almost always the result, county agent Parker said.

Green bolls add nothing to cotton quality and very little to total weight. They distribute green pigments among mature fibers in the bale and cause a reduction in uniformity of the product which is so important to spinners.

The immature bolls that are not removed, he continues, are often chopped apart and the wet fibers are mixed with the mature fibers. Some of these "green" fibers are later thrown out by the extracting saws in a lint cleaner, but not before they have done their damage to the high quality lint.

Parker reminds producers to always be sure that the condition of the crop is at its peak at harvesting time. Overall maturity and humidity conditions in the field should be closely checked.

The green boll separators on the stripper should be adjusted to remove as many rejects as possible. The modern, high efficiency vertical type boll units will do the job nearly 100 percent if properly adjusted.

If, under conditions which can't be avoided, green bolls are included in the stripping operation, the ginner should be notified at the time the cotton arrives at the gin.

The modern gin is equipped with machines to remove green leaves, green bolls, sticks, stems, dust and trash, but it can do the job better if the ginner can adjust for the extra load, Parker points out.

Small grain diseases can be largely solved by planting disease resistant varieties or seed treated with a chemical fungicide.

The treatment process is simple and cheap and excellent insurance against crop losses from seed-borne disease, advises Parker.

Application of seed treatment fungicides may be made in homemade treaters or by commercial seed treatment plants. Regardless of the equipment used, it is important to get uniform coverage of the seed with the recommended amount of the material, emphasizes the county agent.

Improper coverage of the seed or the use of rates lower than those recommended greatly reduce the value of the practice, says Parker.

Because all seed treatment chemicals are poison, they must be handled with care. No more seed should be treated than will be planted. Treated seed should never be fed to poultry or livestock or mixed with untreated seed which may be fed or sold. Strict compliance with the label instructions is a must when handling chemicals.

Pvt. Louis Sneed Graduates From Chaplain School

Pvt. Louis Question Sneed Jr. of Rt. 1, Winters, was one of 18 enlisted men who graduated August 21 from the Chaplain Enlisted Assistant Technicians Course at the U. S. Army Chaplain School, Fort Hamilton, Brooklyn, New York.

Private Sneed is the son of Mr. and Mrs. L. Q. Sneed of Winters, and graduated from Winters High School. He received a bachelor of arts degree from Hardin-Simmons University, Abilene.

During the four-week course, the student soldier who has already graduated from Basic and Advanced Combat Training Courses at various Army Posts throughout the country, is taught the many skills needed to assist the Army Chaplain in his mission to serve the moral and individual needs of the soldier, enlisted or commissioned. Four classes of approximately 25 student teachers taught concurrently with one class graduating each week.

The enlisted course includes subjects ranging from History and Missions of the Army Chaplaincy and Fundamentals of Leadership to Combat Operations and Military Weddings and Funerals. The last week of instruction is conducted in Audio-Visual techniques at the U. S. Army Signal Corps Audio-Visual School at Fort Wadsworth, New York.

Two other courses of resident instructions are also taught at the Army Chaplain School: a nine-week Chaplain Officer Basic Course for newly commissioned chaplains and a 34-week—Chaplain Officer Advanced Course for experienced chaplains with over five years of active duty Army service.

NOTE

There will be a musical of country singing and playing at the Blackwell Community Center Tuesday September 22, at 8:00 p. m. Everyone is cordially invited to attend.

Special Song Written For Runnels County Day Celebration Sept. 19

A Runnels County native and a late-comer who has chosen Winters as his home, have collaborated in composing the music and writing the lyrics of a special song for Runnels County. The song will be presented publicly for the first time Saturday morning in Winters during the first of a day-long "Runnels Day" celebration.

David W. Guion, of Dallas, who was born in Ballinger before the turn of the century, and who has many original compositions to his credit, composed the music for the special song, and Loyd Roberson, who has lived in Winters for about 20 years, wrote the lyrics.

The song will be presented during the first part of the "Runnels Day" celebration Saturday by Mrs. Kathrine Freiberger, a niece of the composer. The song is also reproduced in the new book, "Runnels Is My County," by Charlsie Poe of Winters, which will be released during the program here Saturday.

Lyrics of the song:

"RUNNELS IS MY COUNTY,
MY HOME SWEET HOME"

Words by Loyd E. Roberson
Music by David W. Guion

I've been a lot of places;
I've seen a lot of things,
But none compares in beauty
With Runnels peaks and plains.

The handclasp of a neighbor,
So firm, so strong and true,
When friendly help is needed
Is there to strengthen you.

Thru ninety years of struggling
We've seen our dreams come true:

As Runnels stands undaunted
Past glories she'll renew.

Chorus:

Oh, Runnels is my county,
Yes Runnels is my home.
Blessed with the finest people
I have ever known
Endowed with nature's bounty
I've no desire to roam,
For Runnels is my county,
My home sweet home.
(By permission of the writer)

LOYD E. ROBERSON

Loyd E. Roberson, author of the lyric "Runnels Is My County," has been writing songs, both music and words, for many years.

As a youth he studied music, theory and voice and was a member of various bands. This early training and his musical interests led him into directing church choirs. His efforts with Lighthouse keeper's house, replica of the original built in 1825, will open this year at Cape Florida State Park on Key Biscayne. Tower was built in 1845.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our appreciation for the prayers and many acts of kindness shown during the illness and death of our loved one. We are thankful for the food, floral offerings, memorials and visits. A special thanks to Dr. Rives and Merrill Nursing Home for their wonderful care, to Bro. Grant and Bro. James for the lovely service, and Spill Funeral Home for their kindness. May God bless each of you. —The Family of Mrs. John S. Sanders. ltp.

church music resulted in the publication of hymns and other religious songs in books, pamphlets and sheet music.

His first novelty song to be recorded was "My Father Was A Confederate, But He Wore A Union Suit," the latest, "Up With the Mini Skirts, Down with the Taxes."

Mr. Roberson is music leader for the Intermediate Department of the Winters First Baptist Church, and at present these boys and girls are learning his latest song, "All You Need Is Jesus." He has written several choruses just for this group.

Mr. and Mrs. Roberson have lived in Winters 20 years. He is presently a sales representative for John's International of Winters. Mrs. Roberson was for many years a teacher in the Winters Public Schools.

DAVID W. GUION

Pianist-composer David W. Guion was born Dec. 15, 1892, in Ballinger, and is of French Huguenot descent. His grand father, John I. Guion, was Governor of Mississippi. His father, of the same name, was a distinguished Texas lawyer at the turn of the century. His mother, Armour de Fentresse, or Norman descent, was a gifted pianist and singer.

Guion lived in Ballinger, off and on, until he was 20 years old. After he was ten years of age he was sent to Jacksonville, Ill., to accept a scholarship in music, offered him by Whipple Academy of Illinois College. From there, he attended Polytechnic College in Fort Worth. He spent three years in the Vienna Royal Conservatory, studying piano under the world famous teacher, pianist and composer, Leopold Codowsky.

On his return from Vienna, Guion spent two years as director of music at Daniel Baker College at Brownwood. From there he went to New York City, devoting all his time to composition and all-Guion programs in concerts and on radio. He was then offered a position as instructor in piano at the Chicago Musical College, for five years. He returned to New York City and remained there for many years, maintaining a studio and composing and appearing in all-Guion programs on radio.

He staged a cowboy production at the Roxy theatre, appeared for eight years on the All Star radio program at Madison Square Garden. He also was engaged by NBC for 32 weeks, three times per week, in half-hour All-Guion programs,—"Hearing America With Guion."

In 1966 he returned to Dallas to live, when his fifty-acre estate in the Pocond Mountains of Pennsylvania was included in an area to be condemned to build a waterproject.

His father, Judge John I. Guion moved from Paint Rock to Ballinger the year the Santa Fe came to Ballinger. He bought a ranch, the T-O-Bar-G, on Los Arroyos, twelve miles out of Ballinger. The family lived in Ballinger on Murrell Avenue, where David was born. Guion Hall at Texas A&M is named for Judge Guion, who was president of the Board of Regents for 22 years.

We've been told there is an increasing need for a telephone answering service in Winters. Here, perhaps, is an opportunity to build a service business, for someone who has the time and location, and desire to add to income. If there is anyone who is seriously interested in such an endeavor, contact The Enterprise and we'll be glad to direct you to someone who can give you additional information.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

By Babson's Reports, Inc.

Wellesley Hills, Mass.—There are many important factors to consider when arriving at a decision as to whether to hold, sell, or buy a particular stock. The company's capitalization is one of them. Earnings, of course are probably the primary consideration. Nevertheless, at this stage of the market we believe it wise—when feasible—to avoid owning too many issues of firms that have an especially high percentage of their capitalization in prior claim bonds.

INTO FOCUS

When the Penn Central, the nation's largest transportation system, filed a bankruptcy petition a short time ago, the matter of corporate liquidity suddenly came into sharp focus. During the boom period of the sixties many firms borrowed heavily in order to finance expansion, develop new products, purchase new machinery, etc. Thus, they became what is referred to as "highly leveraged."

DUAL-EDGE SWORD

At times the leverage factor can work to the distinct advantage of the common stockholder, for once the profits of the company have risen to the point where bond interest and preferred dividend requirements have been met, all additional earnings spill over to the common stock. When earnings climb rapidly—as they do in the early stages of a business recovery—the effect on the common stock is magnified. Thus, it is usually a good investment to have some high-leverage common stocks during the early stages of a rising market.

Now, however, with the economy in a less-than buoyant phase, many firms that became heavily laden with debt during the lush years of the mid-to-late sixties are finding the going particularly rough. In other words the leverage is working in reverse. Actually, those companies that have had to float large amounts of bonds at extremely high interest rates over the past couple of years could very well feel the effects for a long time to come.

THE STALWARTS

Interestingly enough there are still a number of companies that have managed to remain debt-free. Granted, the percentage of such companies relative to all listed companies is very small, but several big-name firms are on the list. In most cases, their progress has not been hampered by their failure to issue debt. They have expended through internally generated capital. It is to be hoped that they will be able to continue doing so and still maintain ample working capital and satisfactory profits.

SELECTED DEBT-FREE FIRMS

We have tabulated below a number of selected issues that are regularly followed by the Babson's Reports Research Staff. None of them has any outstanding debt and hence they are not as vulnerable as are a good many high-leverage companies.

For purchase, the Babson's Reports Research Staff feels that those marked with asterisks can be acquired where they fit into individual investment programs. All of the others appear to be well worth holding at their recent levels.

HEIDENHEIMER'S

"RUNNELS IS MY COUNTY"

BY CHARLSIE POE

An authentic history of Runnels County and the people who built the county. Filled with known and little-known stories of the early days. Gathering material on the many facets of the development of the county, the author searched old records for historic fact; she talked with old-timers who remembered life as it used to be; she combed the county for an amazing collection of treasured photographs. And she presents it all within the covers of a single volume. Town by town, and community by community, Charlsie Poe reports in detail the county's marked progress in cultural, educational and religious endeavors — the introduction of civic improvements as time went on.

She looks back on a way of life that now seems quaint to this fast-paced generation. She tells of the tent shows and carnivals which drew country-wide audiences.

Collectors of Texana will welcome this book as a missing tile in the mosaic of county histories. The student of social history will find it an unimpeachable source of information.
