A gift tea at the Educational Building of St. John Lutheran Church was a recent compliment to Mrs. Roy Minzenmayer. Mrs. W. W. Ahrens greeted guests and presented the honoree. In the receiving line with the honoree were the bridegroom's mother, Mrs. A. C. Minzenmayer, his grandmother, Mrs. William Minzenmayer, and sister-in-law, Mrs. Lee Minzenmayer.

Susan Launa Brand, George A. Mostad Married In Abilene Church Saturday

In ceremonies at 7 o'clock Saturday evening, December 19, in Aldersgate United Methodist Church in Abilene, Susan Launa Brand of Abilene became the bride of George Alan Mostad of Winters.

Officiating was Dr. S. B. Thompson of McMurry College, Abilene.

The bride is the daughter of Lt. Col. (Ret) and Mrs. Elias B. Brand of Abilene; the bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Clayton F. Mostad of Winters and the late Mr. Mostad.

Ceremonial organist was Marvin Gregory of Stamford, and Maelynn Cator of Gruver was soloist.

Karen Simpson of Abilene was maid of honor, and bridesmaids were Jean Blakeney and Nancy Holzmann, both of Abilene, and Mrs. Jerry Perkins of San Antonio. Marianne Mostad, sister of the bridegroom, was flower girl, and Perry Bedford was ring bearer.

Candlelighters were Cathy Colburn of Winters, and Karen Mostad, sister of the bridegroom, also of Winters.

Best man was Tommy Antile of Winters, and groomsmen were Rick Robinson of Winters, Randall Boles of Abilene, and Mike Bedford of District Heights, Maryland. Ushers were Gary Don Pinkerton of Winters, Dewane Bundas of Wingate and Roger O'Neal of Girvin.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a satrapeau gown with pearly Chantilly lace motifs heavily accenting a high neckline edged in lace, with an empire bodice and bishop sleeves. Chantilly lace was continued on an A-line skirt. She wore a laced mantilla over a chapel length veil, falling from a tulle open crown pill box. The bride's bouquet was of white carnations, white roses and stephanotis, carried on a white Bible.

The bride's attendants wore gowns of Cotillion blue imported velveteen with heavy lace trim. Their headresses were velveteen Dior bows, and they carried bouquets of white carnations.

The bride's parents hosted a reception in the Fellowship Hall of the church following the ceremony.

Mrs. Cayton F. Mostad hosted the rehearsal dinner at Lav-ender's Cafeteria in Abilene. The bride is a graduate of Abilene Cooper High School, and is a junior student at McMurry College. She will enter Texas Tech University in January. She is a member of Delta Beta Epsilon social club and has been on the dean's list. She has been employed by the English Department, McMurry College.

Mr. Mostad is a graduate of Winters High School, and is a senior student at Texas Tech University. He is on the dean's list at Tech, and is a member of the Mechanized Agriculture Club.

The couple will make their home at Lubbock.

Taos Indians Have Observed Yuletide For Centuries

One of the most colorful celebrations of Christmas in America has been the rites conducted by the Taos Indians in New Mexico.

Commemorative Indian dances originated long before Spanish priests brought the Roman Catholic religion to the isolated pueblos of New Mexico in the 1600s. But with their conversion to Catholicism, the Indians blended the new and the old, and the outgrowth was the Christmas dance.

The practice of Christmas dances originated when Spanish explorers and priests asked the Indians to perform whatever dances they thought would be appropriate for the religious holiday.

Customarily, either the Deer dance or the Matachines dance is performed on Christmas day.

According to the Indians, the Deer dance was chosen hundreds of years ago because the Indians thought the deer was one of the animals that might have been present when Christ was born.

The Matachines is a dance honoring the mother of Christ. According to an Indian spokesman, the dance was developed by the Indians from their interpretation of Spanish Catholic teachings about the Virgin Mother.

Religious events are plentiful in the predominantly Catholic state, although many of the services are no different (save for the setting, the adobe buildings and the cultural heritage of the people) from services held elsewhere.

Visitors now have to look long and hard to find any shepherds' watch-fires twinkling on the hills to light the path of Mary and Joseph. Once, such fires were common.

Also on Christmas Eve, the Indians of Taos customarily stage a procession lined by bonfires and by lighted pine faggots attached to long poles. Downtown Santa Fe is also usually ablaze with candle and artificial light during Christmas week.

Subscriptions by mail only. CALL 754-4786 or 754-4543, Smith Drug Co.

America's Settlers Celebrated In Their Own Way

During the early 17th century any formal observance of Christmas was ruled out by the rigid code of Puritanism. Yuletide festivity was forbidden as emanating from the Devil. And the Devil was very much a personage in those days. This rule persisted until 1681 when it was repealed. Probably the influence of the Dutch and German settlers had prevailed, and their customs of Christmas feasting and gaily softened the hearts of the strict Puritans.

The plenty of the new land provided abundant foodstuffs for the holiday table. And the woods' greens, boughs and assorted cones were used for decorative trim.

In 1804 the explorers Meriwether Lewis and William Clark rested from their journey westward to celebrate Christmas Day somewhere in the vicinity of what is now Bismarck, North Dakota. Captain Clark wrote in his journal, "We enjoyed a merry Christmas during the day and evening until nine."

In northeastern Wyoming it was rumored that one of a pioneer's Christmas trees had a calming influence on a wounded Sioux Indian who burst into a widow's cabin seeking help and food. She was decorating a small tree for her two children. Its beauty aroused the Indian's curiosity and through sign language, the woman was able to explain in part some of the tree's significance. She fed and cared for the Indian and was able to take him back to his tribe. It is part of the legend that he, having learned the spirit of Christmas, rewarded her with many gifts.

Language was given us that we might say pleasant things to each other.

The best rose bush, after all, is not that which has the fewest thorns, but that which bears the finest roses.

First Christmas Toast Results In Marriage!

One wonders at the forcefulness of the weaker sex, on occasion, especially when a member of the so-called stronger sex is under the spell of spirits.

The wassail bowl and the Christmas toast were both started in the same gesture, so the tale goes, by the daughter of an early Germanic chieftain, then on a campaign in Britain. Offering a garlanded bowl of wine to her father's princely host, she said "Wassheil," or "Here's to you." The prince responded gallantly and, one thing leading to another, they were soon married.

For the common people of the Middle Ages, wassail was a mixture of hot ale, sugar, nutmeg, and ginger. The nobility, however, used the finest wines in the cellar. In later times, a popular base for the wassail bowl was Spanish sherry grown from the grapes of Andalusia and fortified with brandy.

The word "toast" however, emerged from the fact that early wassail bowls sometimes had pieces of toast (as well as fruit) floating around in the top.

In medieval days the wassail was often accompanied by roasted peacock, re-stuffed in its feathered finery, and with a small fire (lighted brandy) playing about its nostrils. Her ladyship always served this dish herself.

Santa Rides White Horse In Holland, No Reindeer

Donner, Blitzen and all of the rest of that squad of flying reindeer which Dr. Clement Moore immortalized in his famous poem might get "in Ditch" with the children of the Netherlands who traditionally get a different image at Christmas. And the timing is different. Christmas comes twice a year for the children of Holland. They get their presents on the evening of Dec. 5 or the following morning. Three weeks later, with the rest of the world, they celebrate the festival, in a religious way.

St. Nicholas (the originator of all the Santa and Snowmen figures all over the world) arrives in Holland from Spain in the middle of November. From then until Dec. 6, the Saint's birthday, Ditch children may put their shoes by the fireside every evening, together with a carrot or a slice of bread for the white mare which the saint traditionally rides over the roof-tops in Holland.

In the morning, if the children have behaved themselves, they may find a little toy or some goodies in their shoes.

From the middle of November the misty Ditch air is filled with the sound of children's voices singing the traditional St. Nicholas song, completely secular. After Dec. 6 there is a switch-over to Christmas carols.

San Souci Club Christmas Party Tuesday Evening

Members of the San Souci Club were entertained in a Yuletide setting for the annual Christmas party Tuesday evening in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Bill Minzenmayer. Co-hosts were Mr. and Mrs. George Poe.

Throughout the party rooms, festive holiday arrangements were used. A bowl of glass grapes with candles and small sparkling lights among cedar twigs on the table at the entrance, and the fireplace mantle held green holly, poinsettia and ornamental tapers.

A turkey dinner was served from a large table laid with a Christmas cloth and centered by a candle log with pine cones, greenery and poinsettia.

Following an evening of games, the group gathered around a Christmas tree to sing carols and exchange gifts. All decorations on the tree were handmade by members of the family. They consisted of many bottle caps of varied shapes and colors, red birds, doves, and ceramic angels.

These attending were Mrs. M. E. Leeman, Messrs. and Mesdames J. W. Bahlman, Raymond Lloyd, Harry Herman, B. T. Gardner, LaDell Davis, Fred Young, Mr. John Norman and the hosts.

School Lunch Program Revised, More Free and Reduced-Price Lunches

In compliance with new regulations of the National School Lunch Program, the Winters Public Schools have adopted regulations providing more free or reduced price lunches for school children than have been available in past years.

Application forms have been sent to parents of all school children, and application forms are available at the principals' offices and at the school business office.

Superintendent Carroll Tatom said that the new program allows consideration of unusual hardships or circumstances which affect the family's ability to pay for lunches, such as death, illness, disasters, and seasonal employment. Families whose income ranges from $1,200 to $5,800 per year are eligible for free or reduced price lunches according to a scale of family size and number of children in school.

Supt. Tatom said completed applications, signed by an adult member of the family, should be brought, if possible, to his office for processing. If it is not possible to bring them, he said that applications may be mailed or sent by school children.

The new lunch program is in full compliance with federal and state regulations and is to become effective immediately.

When all is summed up, a man never speaks of himself without losing thereby. His self-accusations are always believed; his self-praise disbelieved.

We cannot always oblige, but we can always speak obligingly.

"COUNT YORGA, VAMPIRE"

"Count Yorga, Vampire," American International's latest horror epic, was shown by invitation to the UCLA Cinema Department, and was accorded stunned by steady applause. Even the college students who considered themselves worldly-wise were full of questions for producer Michael Macready and writer-director Bob Kelljan. Their chief concern seemed to be whether there are such things, really, as vampires today. Color film shows Sunday and Monday at the State Theatre.

"BLOODY MAMA"

"Bloody Mama," American International's hard-punching movie of the life and time of the Ma Barker gang, shows Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday at the State Theatre, with Shelley Winters starring in the title role. Roger Corman, whose credits include such exciting films as "Wild Angels" and "The Trip," directed "Bloody Mama" on locations in the Ozarks, the original home of Ma Barker and the four sons who accompanied her on a spree of murder, robberies, rape and kidnappings that took them to the top of the FBI's "most-wanted" list back in the early 1930s.

"MEDIUM COOL"

When Academy Award-winning cameraman Haskell Wexler set out to direct and photograph Paramount Pictures' "Medium Cool," it was with the determination to bring to the screen a film which would be the first of its kind to be produced in America. Never before had so complete an attempt been made to mix theatrical and actual events within the framework of a single motion picture.

The background is Chicago in the summer of 1968 when the eyes of the world were focused on an unforgettable segment of American history: the Democratic Convention. Wexler mixed reality and theatricality to tell his story, utilizing actors and non-professionals. Not one studio scene was used for the entire film and the characters responded with an authenticity which could never have been achieved on sound-stages.

To give new cotton draperies a trim, tailored look, pin pleats vertically at the bottom hem. Tie the pleats loosely together with a lightweight cotton cord and let them "set" for four or five days.

For rainy days indoors, make a sheet playhouse for the children. Simply drape an old cotton sheet over a card table. First you can cut out windows and a door, and let children decorate the "walls" of the fabric house with crayons or water colors.

HOME TOWN

Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

The amazing thing about the story is its persistence and agelessness. Time has been unable to affect it, to erase from it the glow of eternal light. In a reading of the history of mankind, just about the time you reach the chapter which would indicate that man is about to discard it, it takes on a new meaning for that generation.

If one segment of society seeks to bury it, it suddenly makes its appearance in another society, stronger than ever. It clings in the face of adversity and a dark desolation, and throughout the ages man has found in it an indescribable peace. Tides of discontent have been unable to wash it from the minds of men, when these men seek a final and lasting peace of mind; armies have been unable to destroy it, though this too has been tried.

It is the story of a town, not much different from hundreds of other towns in the land of Palestine; of drab houses facing smelly and narrow, sun-baked streets, ageless. Of an animosity between races, of men of one race hating those of another. A story of crude shelter, a travel-weary couple; a quiet night lighted by a million starlights; a night that suddenly fervently seeking something upon which to establish a lasting hope.

It is the story of a happening that has shaped the lives and consciences of perhaps more men than any other since the dawning of time. It is a story that, when remembered and recognized on at least one day out of each year, serves to help men of little faith to regain a particle of hope in a seemingly otherwise hopeless world.

It is a story which serves as a connecting link to reality to men facing untold dangers and Opinions—alas that the strangest are often the wrongest.

Loneliness in a hostile clime far from their home-hearth; as well as to men experiencing a tribble loneliness all too apparent in the mingling and jostling and thoughtlessness of faceless throngs in the asphalt and concrete jungles.

It is the Story of Christmas, and a promise and a hope for all mankind . . . if only it is recognized and accepted for what it is.

U. S. Freedom Christmas Gift December 1776

Our religious freedoms are sometimes lightly regarded by certain Americans today, but back in the days when our country was very young, the freedom to worship as we pleased was one of the hard-fought victories of the Revolution.

The foundation for the preservation of the freedom to celebrate such beliefs as Christmas—this was the gift to our country on that very day in December 1776.

It happened when George Washington and his men won the battle at Trenton . . . that was the beginning of a long line of victories that eventually led to ultimate victory and total independence, along with complete religious freedom.
