HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

If you can imagine a community totally lacking some type of coordinated and cooperative group or organization, working collectively for the good of the community, you can readily picture a community with few prospects for future growth—or few prospects of even maintaining what it has. No matter what individuals may accomplish for themselves, if there is no welding of community interests, even in the smallest degree, such an area becomes—or remains—a disconnected group of islands of immobility.

Communities are built and maintained not by separate individuals, but by groups of individuals, collectively. Few individuals, no matter what their aims or resources or talents, have functioned and prospered alone, minus influence of some kind from outside sources. Sources which provide the "climate" in which the individual can operate successfully.

The Winters community is no exception. No matter what high goals we as individuals set for ourselves, our existence would be short indeed if we were forced for some reason to go it alone. We need the "climate" provided by the collective interests of the entire community even to exist, whether we care to recognize it or not. There are so many things which must be done on a collective basis that without some type of coordinated community effort we soon would find ourselves as individuals bogged down and unable to continue.

The Winters Chamber of Commerce provides one focusing point for collective community action, and an important one. Whether or not we have taken the time to recognize it, the fact remains that the work of the chamber, no matter how seemingly insignificant in some areas at times, has provided a "climate" in which we can operate. The chamber has provided a rallying point for the energy and talents of many individuals, a reservoir from which we can collectively draw to maintain our present status and possibly progress to better and greater things.

Some of us at times take it for granted that the things which have been done or are being done to maintain and build this community have come about automatically. This would be far from the facts. There is no single thing which has grown of itself; some individual or group of individuals have provided the talents and efforts.

The list of individuals who have worked separately and in groups for the progress of this community is long. They have been persons who have realized that without collective interests and coordinated efforts, this community could not long stand as such. When things needed to be done, they have not taken the easy way out to "Let George do it," but have pitched in and done the jobs themselves. This week could well be called "Chamber of Commerce Week" in Winters; a time when we all could take a second look and offer our efforts and talents, even in a small way. We could all become "Georges" and become a part of the action.

At one time farming consisted of "40 acres and a mule," and a man did well if he was able to feed himself and his family. In 1971, the story is far different. Farming is a business, and agriculture is a highly advanced industry employing the best brains among many disciplines. A successful career in agriculture must start at an early age.

"Insta-Site" Program May Help In Seeking Industry

A computer "printout" of information concerning Winters as a site for industrial development, and vital to prospective industrialists seeking new locations, was presented to the Winters Chamber of Commerce Monday evening by a representative of the Texas Industrial Commission.

The presentation was the culmination of nearly a year's work toward incorporating pertinent industrial location information on Winters into the nation's most sophisticated computerized site location data bank.

Called "Insta-Site," the Industrial Commission's computer program has already received two distinguished awards from the Southern Industrial Development Council, a professional society covering sixteen Southern states.

E. H. Sheffield of the commission staff Monday night presented the massive 88-page printout containing 1444 items of information on the Winters area, to members of the Industrial Commission of the Chamber of Commerce and other members of the chamber.

Sheffield presented several citations to Winters citizens from the Texas Industrial Commission and Governor Preston Smith for having made a "significant contribution to Texas' industrial development." Several Winters people about a year ago were asked to help compile the information contained in the analysis report. This information was forwarded to the Texas Industrial Commission and fed into a computer. Participation of local leaders in gathering information for "Insta-Site" means that information of Winters' industrial assets will be instantly available to all industrial firms considering new plant sites in Texas, Sheffield said.

As soon as the Chamber of Commerce has reviewed the information and suggested any changes necessary, an up-to-date computerized Community Analysis Report will be available that shows how Winters compares with other cities of similar size on the factors that

Church of Christ Sponsors New Spanish Program

The Winters Church of Christ has announced a new church-sponsored daily Herald of Truth radio program in Spanish, Bob Bates, minister of the local church, has announced.

The program series is entitled "La Busqueda" (The Quest). It is broadcast Monday through Friday over about 25 stations on the RPM radio network at 6:30 a. m.

Glen Owen of Abilene was named director and speaker of the outreach in Spanish. Herald of Truth and La Busqueda are produced by the Highland Church of Christ in Abilene and are supported by Churches of Christ around the world. An extensive correspondence course program is planned and is being written specifically for the Latin Spanish speaking people in Mexico, Central and South America, and in the United States, Mr. Bates said.

Owen, a native Texan, attended Abilene Christian College and then preached for congregations of the Church of Christ in Fargo and Iowa Park, Tex. He and his family were members of an original group of 13 families who moved to Brazil in 1961 for evangelistic work.

Fluent both in Spanish and Portuguese, Owen has had several years experience speaking over radio networks in Brazil.

Services will be provided at the Center to clients referred to the Center by Runnels County, according to James Young, executive director of the Center. There is no cost to the county industrialists look for in locating new plants. Using the Report as a guide, Winters leaders will be able to plan effective measures to spur local economic growth, Sheffield said.

"The next phase in the development of the computer program is match Winters' plant location resources with a profile of the location requirements of all types of expanding industries," Sheffield pointed out.

"This will enable us at the commission to help you concentrate your industrial development on companies you have the best chance of attracting to Winters," he continued.

This information used to take from four to six weeks to provide for industries seeking new locations, Sheffield said. With the new computer program, the information is available immediately.

After the information is matched with the profiles of plants seeking new locations, Sheffield said, "the final job of selling the community to the industry is up to the community." He suggested organization of an industrial foundation to obtain land or options in the event an interested industry might require help in this area, as one step, and also suggested that an industrial team be organized and undergo specialized training offered by the State Industrial Commission, in order to be able to make an attractive presentation to an inquiring industry.

Sheffield explained that the Industrial Commission has an advertising program in progress and that response has been good in attracting new industry to

Heart Fund Drive To Begin Here Monday, Feb. 22

This is "Watts' first time to seek election to a Winters public office. He is president of the Winters State Bank, and is a past president of the Winters Chamber of Commerce.

TB Tests March 5, Reading and X-ray Set for March 8

Plans are being finalized for the mass tuberculin skin testing survey in Winters, planned for Friday, March 5.

All residents—children and adults—will be given an opportunity to get the tests, at no charge, and are being urged to take advantage of this opportunity.

Mrs. Fred (Merle) Young, School Nurse, and Mrs. Raymond Lloyd, Director for Runnels County for the Big Country Tuberculosis and Respiratory Disease Association, are coordinating the program locally, working with representatives of the Texas State Department of Health, Division of Tuberculosis Control, Region XI.

The skin testing survey will be held Friday, March 5, from 1 to 7 p. m. in the Winters Community Center. The Winters schools are cooperating in the effort, and will send notification and permission blanks home with school children, and schedule times for students to take the tests.

All adults also are being asked to take the tests.

The skin tests will be read Monday, March 8, from 1 to 7 p. m., also at the Community Center.

Mrs. Young said that those persons showing a positive reaction to the skin tests will be sent to the North Runnels Hospital for chest X-rays.

A chest clinic, with a doctor from the Control Area in charge will be held Tuesday, March 9, from 10 a. m. to 2 p. m., for those persons who had chest X-rays taken. Reports on X-ray tests will be made at this time.

There will be no cost to the individual for any of these tests—skin tests or X-ray tests. The cost is being borne by the Texas State Department of Health.

Two Registered Nurses from the Region office will give the skin tests, and they will be assisted by local nurses, it was stated.

Fort Worth Singer To Entertain At Chamber of Commerce Banquet Here

Francine Morrison, called "Fort Worth's best known religious singer," will provide music during the annual membership banquet of the Winters Chamber of Commerce Friday night.

Miss Morrison, who "has friends from Tulsa to Tel Aviv and points in between," is working through the Central Texas Annual Conference of the United Methodist Church to establish a project of assistance at the Gatesville State School.

She spends much of her time singing at the school—in between other engagements. She is a spiritual and gospel singer, and recently flew to Warwich, N. Y., for the National Conference on Youth Rehabilitation of the National Chaplains Association.

She sings classical music, or spirituals like "Deep River" or "He's Got the Whole World in His Hands," or rousing gospel hymns, with the same sincerity and a big, warm, glowing voice that holds audiences enthralled, and inspires choirs to new heights when they sing along.

She has refused offers to sing in nightclubs: She takes it for granted that her voice is a "God-given thing, and I intend to use it to praise God."

Classes are held on Monday and Thursday evenings, from 7 to 9. Instructor is Manuel Esquivel Jr.

Youth Rally of Baptist Assn. At Bronte Saturday

Roy T. Routh, Engineering Technician IV, said that the traveling public will be routed through construction and on independent detours where required at structure sites. AUSTIN, Tex. —Legislators have cleared major emergency finance hurdles and are moving to other fronts to hold down the size of the tax bill.

A $34.9 million appropriation bill to avert reduction in aid to needy families with dependent children passed both houses and went to Comptroller Robert S. Calvert for certification.

Before he would accept the bill, Calvert advised passage of another which would realign priorities in the state's massive omnibus tax clearance fund. In effect, this would permit turning over to welfare some $35 million that normally would go to the teacher retirement fund between April and August.

Teachers association and retirement fund leaders had no formal objection to the latter, although it would cost the retirement fund an estimated $100,000 to $600,000 in short-term interest. However, the fund will be repaid in full when the ultimate new tax bill goes into effect on September 1.

While these measures were moving methodically through the House and Senate, the House passed a bill to establish a $185 million bond plan to finance construction on eight new college campuses. Bonds would be repaid from tuitions, and would cost taxpayers little.

Final approval of the plan in the Senate would relieve the tax bill of a heavy load in order to build new institutions already authorized by the 1969 Legislature.

Still another potentially important money bill won quick Senate approval. It would require all cities and counties, population 10,000 and above, to report to the state all welfare spending for the medically needy. If federal officials will agree, Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes proposes subsequent legislation to require all these local funds be routed through the state treasury, where hopefully they would attract an extra $100 million in two-to-one matching federal aid.

Gov. Preston Smith nominated Lester Clark of Breckenridge to succeed David E. Clemens of Mineral Wells on the Texas Water Quality Board.

Dr. Charles Max Cole of Dallas was named to succeed the late Dr. Noble Price of Lamesa on the State Board of Health. Smith also sent these additional appointments to the Senate for confirmation:

Stephen Willis Simmons of El Paso to succeed Jamie C. Boyd as 34th district attorney.

Elo J. Urbanovsky of Lubbock and Gene Ray Hendryx of Alpine to the Texas Conservation Foundation.

Dr. Denver Fred Wendorf of Dallas, Dr. William Curry Holder of Lubbock and Dr. William W. Newcomb Jr. of Austin to Texas Antiquities Committee.

J. Wonne Hand of Dallas, James M. Ray of Austin and Dr. Bobby Gene Smith of Arlington to the Crime and Narcotics Advisory Commission.

Edwin A. Flieller of Floresville to the San Antonio River Authority board of directors.

Warren Woodward of Dallas and Truett Smith of Wylie were selected Texas Industrial Commission vice chairman and secretary-treasurer.

THE FAMILY LAWYER

Oust Student Demonstrators? May a college student be suspended or expelled from school for taking part in a campus demonstration? The question arises nowadays with growing frequency, and courts are beginning to lay down some guidelines in this sensitive area.

To start with, students have the same freedom of speech, press, and assembly as everyone else in the community. They do not bargain away their constitutional rights just by enrolling in college. Take this case:

A state college decided to nip trouble in the bud by requiring permits for any and all "parades, celebrations, and demonstrations." When students staged a peaceful demonstration without a permit, they were promptly suspended.

But in a court test, the permit rule was struck down as a violation of the freedom of assembly. The court said:

"Colleges, like all other institutions, are subject to the Constitution."

But if colleges are subject to the Constitution, so are students. If college powers are limited, so are student rights.

In another case, some students were suspended for forcibly blocking access to the campus placement office. In court, they invoked their freedom of speech, arguing that blocking the office was simply one way of expressing their opinions.

But a court decided that freedom of speech did not stretch that far. The judge said:

"They have rights guaranteed by the First Amendment. Those rights, however, are not a license to trample upon the rights of others, the enjoyment of which is equally precious."

Likewise, the Fourteenth Amendment — against discrimination — does not prevent the college from exercising reasonable flexibility in meting out punishment.

In another case of student violence, the college imposed tougher penalties on graduate students than on undergraduates. This was challenged in court as discriminatory, on the theory that students who commit the same offense should get the same punishment.

However, the court decided the school's "discrimination" was reasonable enough under the circumstances. The judge said it made sense to expect greater responsibility from older students than from younger students.

Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow Watts Will Be Honored At Open House Sun., Feb. 28

The board of directors and the staff of The Winters State Bank will host an open house Sunday, February 28, from 2 to 4 o'clock, honoring Mr. and Mrs. Woodrow F. Watts, at their home, 502 State Street.

Everyone is cordially invited.

Texas fishermen are migratory. Greenery on the other side constantly beckons.

Actually, most of us can catch more fish within a few miles of our own home, but there is something in distance that thrills us. Perhaps it's the scenery.

When it comes to scenery, there is no view more spectacular than that around Hells Canyon, on Snake River. This stream finds its headwaters in Wyoming, then moves westward across Idaho to become the boundary between Idaho and Oregon. That's Hells Canyon country!

Here the Idaho Power Company has constructed three dams—Brownlee, Oxbow and Hells Canyon. All three are on that wild stream that eventually finds its way to the Pacific.

Hells River Canyon is the deepest in Idaho. At the crest, where the Seven Devil Peaks overlook the country at around 12,000 feet, there is almost perpetual snow. Down in the canyon, however, it gets hotter than the proverbial hinges.

We flew there last summer with another Texas outdoors writer, L. A. Wilke. Purpose was to get in a bit of fishing and sight seeing, but it was too hot to fish much. However, after less than an hour of casting below Oxbow Dam in the middle of the day we did catch a string consisting of rainbow, small-mouth bass and squawfish.

Although the latter is an edible fish, and a distant member of the salmon family, it is something like our own carp. Up there it is called the tourist trout. This because it is so easy

Pedernales Falls Park Plan Gets Public Hearing

AUSTIN—The future of one of Texas' most beautiful and unique state parks comes under public scrutiny soon when the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department holds public hearings on the master planning and first stage development of Pedernales Falls State Park.

The hearings will start at 1:30 p. m. Feb. 24, in Room 117 of the Sam Houston State Office Building in Austin.

Because of the unique nature of the park, the master plan was prepared by a team of persons from many professions and disciplines, according to the department.

Information on the features of the park which are most valuable and worth conserving were gathered and carefully analyzed by the planning team. Emphasis will be on economical, long-lived, maintenance free, structurally sound and durable development, according to the department.

A distinction between conservation values and development values has been made in the master plan. The recreational values and scenic values tell planners where visitors are most likely to go in the park, according to the department.

By placing development in the lightest conservation development areas and in reasonable proximity to recreation and scenic areas, the department says it has arrived at a rational land-use concept.

The department says Pedernales Falls State Park offers a unique opportunity to establish an appropriate architectural character indigenous to the Texas Hill Country. The department wants to arrive at a theme compatible with the virgin beauty of the park and carry out a total design theme through the park encompassing any physical improvement from the largest structure to the smallest signpost.

It is far easier to deal with an educated man than with an uneducated one.

22 inches in length have been taken. My largest one was around 15 inches. Full information and maps of the area can be had by writing to the Idaho Power Company, Boise 83707.

Eddie Little, 66, Died In Austin Last Thursday

Eddie Little, 66, noted photographer, died at Shoal Creek Rehabilitation Hospital in Austin about 9 p. m. Thursday of last week after a long illness.

Funeral was at 2 p. m. Saturday in Main Street Church of Christ in Winters, with burial in Fairview Cemetery under direction of Spill Funeral Home.

Mr. Little, who had gained national prominence in photography career as a hobby. In less than 20 years he rose to become one of the state's most respected portrait artists.

He started in photography in 1919, when his wife, Ruth, bought him a camera so he could take pictures to go with articles she was writing. He began to take pictures for the public, and the first "Little Studio" began in a closet under the staircase in the Little home.

Reading everything he could and talking to everybody he could about photography, Little gradually gained prowess and fame as a photographer.

He attended his first photographers' convention in 1933, an award given only to the top few pictures exhibited at the state convention.

He served for 12 years as a director of the Texas Association, and chaired countless committees in both the Texas and Southwest Photographers' Associations.

In all, he exhibited over 150 prints at conventions, including about 15 prints at the National Photographers Association Convention.

In 1962, he received the National Award, presented by the Professional Photographers of America in recognition of service to the photographic profession. He remains one of only a few Texans to receive the award.

Little and his wife appeared on many convention programs throughout Texas, New Mexico and Oklahoma, and he collected over 25 merits toward the professional photographers degree of master of photography.

In 1965 and 1967 he received the award for the best portrait of a woman at the Texas Professional Photographers convention.

He and his wife helped organize the Central and West Texas Photographers Association, and he served as the group's first president. Three times he received the organization's award as winner of the annual print contest.

Little suffered a stroke in April of 1968, and had been bedridden since.

He had been in an Austin hospital since undergoing surgery in November.

Mrs. Little died October 28.

Little was born in Houston Feb. 18, 1904, and grew up in Corpus Christi. He attended high school at Corpus Christi, then attended the University of Texas two years before receiving his degree from Rice Institute in 1927.

Little was a postal employee in Corpus Christi when he was married to the former Ruth Jones of Winters in 1936. The couple moved to Winters in 1939, where he served as a rural mail carrier until his retirement.

He was a past president of the Winters Country Club, and a member of the Winters Lions Club. He was a member of Winters Church of Christ.

The Littles had two sons, Lt. Cmdr. Harvey E. Little of the U. S. Naval Base, Philadelphia, and Bill of Austin. There are three grandchildren.

He is also survived by two brothers, George, of Riverside, Calif., and Charles of Houston.

Pallbearers were Jesse Wetzel, Dr. Loyd Downing, Rankin Pace, E. E. Vaughan, Earl Roach and Mel Thurman.

Boat Owners Should Keep Number Paper

AUSTIN—Boat owners should make sure they have their certificates of number aboard when they go boating on public waters, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

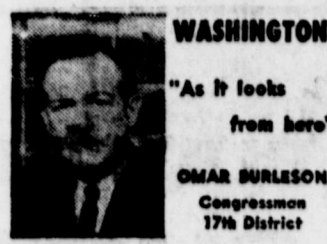

Department officials warn that sometimes lienholders will keep the certificate as part of their mortgage holdings, leaving the boat owner open for prosecution. Lienholders are expected to allow the boat owner to retain the certificate.

The Texas Water Safety Act requires operators of boats on public waters to have the certificate, or facsimile thereof, on board the craft at all times.

Motorboats do not require a certificate of title per se, but the certificates of number are required to establish ownership.

WASHINGTON
"As it looks from here"
OMAR BURLISON
Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C. —In Football the only sure way to break up a forward pass is to block the passer. Iran, one of the heaviest producers of opium has applied this tactic to dope peddlers with what they say is maximum effects.

Poppy farmers in Iran are under Government supervision. The acreage devoted to poppy raising is allotted and all production is sold to the Iranian Government at a fixed price. As would be expected there is also a large amount grown outside that allowed. It is sold illegally at a higher price than that sold under regulation. The same situation exists in Turkey, where there is even larger poppy production.

Poppies sold on the black market are crudely processed in clandestine plants in Iran and Turkey. The rough product is then taken to France where, again, it is illegally refined into heroin and other drugs for illicit sale, a large amount of which finds its market in the United States.

Our Country's Representatives have been in consultation with Turkey and Iran in efforts to curb the illicit traffic of drugs to this Country. A subsidy to the farmers of both countries to reduce acreage has been considered, with the U. S. contributing.

In the meantime, we are discussing with France her responsibilities of taking action against dope refineries. It seems some headway has been made but certainly more needs to be done.

Iran itself has a narcotics problem and has recently invoked the death penalty against peddlers convicted of a second offense. Iranian officials say that since a number of peddlers have faced a firing squad, their drug problem has come under control.

The drug problem in this country is common knowledge. Even one addict is a problem to someone—himself and to the family. Multiplied by two million or more—and no one really knows for sure—it becomes a crisis. To make the matter more sad and alarming is the fact that addiction has spread to grammar school children. This is known to be happening here in Washington and is declared to be the case in a number of our large cities.

Murder in the first degree, since about the beginning of time, has been the most serious offense under any kind of legal order. In this century the murder of the soul of a child might well be considered a more dastardly crime than the killing of the physical body of a man.

The Dope addict not only becomes the victim of the drug seller but a menace to all society. A victim in the awful grip of addiction is under compulsion to satisfy his habit which may run to a cost of $100 or more a day. As a result a huge percentage of the crimes of violence are committed to obtain money to buy drugs. Our Nation's Capital is an appalling example.

Vast sums of money are being spent for the care and treatment of narcotic victims. The numbers continue to grow—the results in treatment appear doubtful.

This is not a dissertation on the moral question of the death penalty—a subject of many dimensions. It is, however, an issue currently debated in many State legislatures. Also debated is the distinction for punishment between the possession of narcotics by the user and the possession by the dope pusher. There is obviously a great difference if it can be identified.

The observation of President Thomas Jefferson might be appropriate when he noted that "the choice of two evils is often a necessity of political life." The most severe penalty on the dope peddler, as between the conversion of school children to drugs, is the lesser of evils. It is not a matter of the care of the criminal but rising to the defense of children.

For Thousands of years, man has defined crimes against property and against his physical person. It remained for the soul.

State, Fed Agents Band 3,400 Geese

AUSTIN—It won't crowd the Apello program out of the headlines, but a new rocket device is proving to be out of this world for catching live wild geese.

Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists needed a record 3,400 snow, blue and Canadian geese for banding in the past few months with the gadget along the Texas coast.

The rockets are ignited with electric fuses and are powered by gunpowder in small canisters. The old style nets formerly used by biologists simply utilized lead projectiles fired from miniature mortars.

The new rockets are not only more effective, biologists say, but also quieter. "They don't even go 'bang' when they shoot," said one netter. "They just go 'whoosh' like little jets."

The biologists, aided by agents from the U. S. Bureau of Sport Fisheries and Wildlife, examined and tagged all the birds before releasing them. The tagging is a part of a nationwide effort to monitor migration patterns and determine annual kill.

The rockets are set up in baited areas where large flights of geese are anticipated. Biologists watch from concealment while

Lake Arrowhead Plans To Be Aired

AUSTIN—Plans have been drawn up for a top-notch water recreation spot near Wichita Falls, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The department plans to hold hearings Feb. 24 concerning first phase development and the overall master plan for Lake Arrowhead State Park located 15 miles south of Wichita Falls. The hearings will be in Room 117 of the Sam Houston State Office Building and will start at 10 a. m.

Lake Arrowhead is a reservoir on the Little Wichita River and covers approximately 13,500 surface acres and has 106 miles of shoreline.

The park consists of approximately 524 acres along the north west shore of the lake. It was purchased from the City of the birds congregate, then when enough are in the trap they push a button and the rockets ignite. The nets are hauled from opposite sides over the unsuspecting birds. Many of the birds caught this winter already had been tagged. This is a bonus situation for the biologists, as the re-banded bird usually provides valuable information when recovered the second or third time.

Wichita Falls who limited the area to day-use activities such as picnicking and fishing.

According to the master plan, "A broad-based program of active recreation centered around the park's primary asset, water, shall be provided to meet the public's desire for outdoor recreation. This program should recognize and not exceed those limitations established by natural, cultural and aesthetic conditions."

The Phase I Development Program to be aired in the hearing will consist of the construction of a headquarters-fee sta-

STOCK MARKET

by BABSON'S REPORTS INC.
Copyright 1971

Stock Split Activity To Increase

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., February, 1971. Last year, due to the generally poor stock market atmosphere, stock-split activity was at one of the lowest levels in over a decade. The peak period for stock splits was in 1968-1969 when corporate earnings were generally rising, business for the most part was exceptionally good, and the stock market was soaring. None of these factors was present last year so stock splits slackened noticeably.

More Favorable Conditions
This year we expect that general economic conditions will be better than in 1970 and, thus, corporate profits are likely to be higher. Furthermore, the stock market, which has already had a sharp advance so far this year, should hold up reasonably well—barring some very adverse unpredictable event. If the above factors come to pass, then there will most likely be a good increase in stock-split activity this year as compared with last year. Actually, some well-known companies have already announced that they plan to split their stocks if holders approve. These include General Electric, Manufacturers Hanover Corp., and Texas Oil and Gas. Additionally, Walt Disney and General Foods are planning to pay 100 per cent stock dividends in March. Many others are likely to take similar action as their stocks move into higher price zones.

Improving The Marketability
There are various reasons why a corporation may decide to split its stock. However, of primary importance is the desire to improve the marketability of the company's shares by broadening the ownership base. A stock split accomplishes this as it increases the number of shares available and lowers the price of such shares. Thus a larger number of investors can participate in company ownership. As a general rule smaller investors tend to avoid higher-priced issues as they are not able to buy in round lots and are unwilling to buy odd lots because of the cost differential.

Selecting The Candidates
In recent years the most popular price level for stocks has been between $30 and $50 per share. More investors have purchased a meaningful number of shares in this general range than at higher prices. Thus good-grade issues priced at from $60 to $100 per share or higher can often be considered as stock-split candidates. However, there have also been

LBJ Reservoir Fish Kill March 27-28

MARBLE FALLS—The fishermen may outnumber the fish when Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists conduct a rotenone treatment to rid Lyndon B. Johnson Reservoir of rough fish on March 27-28.

Officials are predicting that hundreds of boaters will be on hand to try their skill with dip nets as the fish come to the surface for air.

The rotenone affects fishes' gills, so they come to the surface for air and eventually die if not pulled out of the water. As used, the rotenone is harmful to fish, and has no ill effect on man.

The fish caught during the operation, in fact, may be cooked and eaten with impunity. This should add to the lure of the two-day program.

The fish kill is aimed at ridding the lake of rough fish, but most of the lake's game fish also will be killed. But the subsequent restocking will give the lake a new start and will hopefully give game fish such as bass, crappie and channel catfish a statistical edge over rough species such as carp, buffalo and gar.

Net surveys since the early 1960s have shown a relative decline in the numbers of game fish in LBJ, while rough fish species have increased. Presently, surveys indicate that game fish (exclusive of sunfish) comprise only about 10 percent of the lake's fish population by number and about 15 percent by weight.

The rest are rough fish—mainly gizzard shad and river carpsuckers. In addition to the game fish date, the net surveys in 1964-66 indicated that commercial fishing for smallmouth buffalo did not improve the ratio between rough and game fish. Rather, removal of the buffalo appeared to open the door for a dramatic increase in populations of river carpsuckers and shad.

Marion Toole, the Department inland fisheries coordinator, said some of the details of the fish kill still are undecided. The exact type of rotenone to be used, for instance, will be determined later because of a strike at the manufacturing plant.

Another unknown factor at this time is whether funds and conditions will permit the use of helicopters in treating parts of the lake.

One thing that is certain, however, is a promise that game management officers will be on duty to check for water safety violations and game fish possession limits. The standard limit of 15 bass and 25 catfish per day applies to the fish kill.

Boaters will be instructed to stay clear of the immediate vicinity of the boats being used to distribute the rotenone. Fish catching can resume immediately after the Department boats vacate the area.

The Department workers will use two special barges and a number of smaller craft to spread the rotenone.

The treatment of LBJ Reservoir was made feasible when the Lower Colorado River Authority (LCRA) lowered the level of the 6,300 surface-acre lake a total of 31 feet to repair flood gates and build facilities for a steam electrical generating plant. The reservoir has shrunk to about a sixth of its former size, or approximately 1,000 surface acres. Refilling is to begin in April.

many instances when stocks priced under $60 have been split. The split ratio will not necessarily be 2-for-1, but may be any multiple or percentage. Stock splits are usually accompanied by a dividend increase. This is almost always the reason why a stock invariably advances in price upon the announcement of a stock split.

Galveston Park Plan To Get Hearing

AUSTIN—A master plan to help Texans have fun and sun in the surf is scheduled for a public hearing soon by the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The master plan and first phase development of Galveston Island State Park is the subject of the hearing to be held Feb. 26, at 1:30 p. m. in Room 117 of the Sam Houston State Office Building in Austin.

The plan may be seen prior to the hearing at Parks and Wildlife Offices in the John H. Reagan Office Building in Austin.

Galveston Island State Park is located approximately 12 miles east of the downtown area of the City of Galveston. The 1,920-acre park has approximately 8,000 feet of beach frontage. Other areas of the park include salt flats, marshes and bayous. According to the department, these areas are suitable only for wildlife and marine life propagation, and no development for these areas is planned.

Since adjacent subdivisions have disturbed all the land surface and the marshes, the park will be the only natural area on the island in a few years, according to the department.

For development purposes the site was broken down into three categories—minimum disturbance potential areas, moderate disturbance potential areas and maximum disturbance potential areas.

Consideration of potential disturbance to natural areas along with other planning phases is necessary to ensure development of an outdoor recreation park to its most desirable state, according to the department.

The development, when complete, will provide coastal recreation facilities for both day and overnight visitors.

The Gulf Area will provide facilities for 2,300 day users and 1,680 over-night users.

Exotic Seafood Recipes For the Adventurous

If you have inclinations toward being an adventuresome cook and hostess but are just a little afraid to step into the world of the culinary unknown, here is an exotic recipe that doesn't take exotic skills. Curry dishes whisper of the mystical orient, but in essence this recipe is fish cooked in a cream sauce with an interesting combination of spices.

When you are entertaining special guests and really want to put on a show, get out the chafing dish for this recipe. You remember your chafing dish—it's that beautiful wedding gift of copper or silver that hasn't been used yet because you're not quite sure how to use it. If that's the case it might be a good idea to have a "dress rehearsal" for just the family. Since the chafing dish uses a gentle source of heat it may take 45 minutes or even longer to do the cooking in it. If you don't have that much time the recipe can be prepared on the range and the finished mixture transferred to the chafing dish to keep it hot. Redfish would be an excellent fresh finfish to use, or you might substitute peeled, de-veined shrimp or flaked crabmeat. Any of these cook quickly, and their flavors blend well with the sauce.

To make this dish truly authentic, serve traditional condiments such as toasted slivered almonds; chutney; fresh grated coconut; chopped, hard-cooked egg; fresh pineapple chunks; and crisp bacon bits.

Curried Fish or Shellfish
1 pound fresh fish fillets;
fresh peeled shrimp or flaked crabmeat

- 1/4 cup butter or margarine
- 1/4 cup minced onion
- 3 teaspoons curry powder
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1/2 teaspoon ginger
- 1/2 teaspoon salt
- Dash pepper
- 1 teaspoon lemon juice
- 1/4 teaspoon grated lemon rind
- 1 can (3 ounces) sliced mushrooms, drained
- 3 to 4 teaspoons flour
- 2 cups milk or half and half cream
- 1 tablespoon diced pimientos
- Hot rice, biscuits, or patty shells

Melt butter or margarine in blazer pan of chafing dish over direct low flame. Stir in seasonings and onions. Cook, stirring constantly, until mixture is thick and smooth. Stir in lemon juice and rind. Fold in fish or shellfish, mushrooms and pimientos. Cook until seafood is done. Fish will flake easily when tested with a fork and shrimp becomes tender. Makes six servings.

Lake Colorado City Plan To Emphasize Water Recreation

Lake Colorado City State Park a new 575-acre site located approximately seven miles west of Colorado City, should offer plenty of much-needed water oriented outdoor recreation for West Texas, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department. The department has formulated plans and will hold public hearings concerning the first phase development and the master plan for the park Feb. 24 in Austin. The master plan may be viewed by the public at the John R. Reagan Office Building in Austin prior to the hearings.

Lake Colorado City State Park is located on the shores of 1,618-acre Lake Colorado City.

The first phase development plans call for a residence for the park superintendent, a headquarters building, restrooms, roads, parking, picnic sites, shade shelters, campsites, swimming beach, water system and a pier.

FFA WEEK—Governor Preston Smith signs proclamation declaring the week of February 20-27 as FFA Week in Texas. In the proclamation, Gov. Smith pointed out that the importance of agriculture in this State progresses as Texas progresses. "It is vital to our well-being that we train skilled farmers and ranchers to provide a plentiful supply of food products in years to come and to train those who will provide services to the farmer and process and distribute farm products. The FFA is composed of students who are studying vocational agriculture in the public schools in preparation for careers in the various phases of agriculture and agribusiness."

Texas now has almost 1000 active FFA chapters with over 50,000 active members and more than a quarter of a million former members, the Governor said. During the past 41 years, the Texas Association, Future Farmers of America, has performed valuable services to our State by developing leadership, encouraging cooperation, promoting good citizenship, teaching sound agricultural techniques and inspiring patriotism among its members. Much has been done also in involving members in civic and community service projects aimed at improving their local communities, Gov. Smith said.

That is why there are such organizations as the Future Farmers of America, which will be observing FFA Week, February 20-27. The theme of FFA Week this year is, "Involved in America's Future." No theme could be more appropriate. Nothing is more closely involved with the future of the United States than the raising of the food and fiber for more than 200 million people.

The FFA is a national organization of 450,000 students studying vocational agriculture in 9,000 public schools—50,000 students in 1000 chapters in Texas. The foundation upon which it is built includes leadership, community service, scholarship, improved agriculture, citizenship, patriotism, etc. Young people in local FFA chapters are developing into the agriculture leaders of tomorrow.

Those engaged in agriculture are a declining percentage of the total population of the country. As the numbers of farmers shrink, the responsibilities of each agriculture producer become heavier. Today, on the average, every farmer feeds about 50 other people. Tomorrow this figure will increase, and the need for agricultural leadership and ability will grow. The FFA is to be commended for preparing young people for careers in the most fundamental of all enterprises—bringing forth the bounty of the land to supply the growing needs of our nation and the world.

NUMBER FOUR ON THE BALLOT (SJR 17)
Special Election May 18, 1971

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE LEGISLATURE OF THE STATE OF TEXAS:

Section 1. That Article III of the Constitution of the State of Texas be amended by adding thereto a new Section 49-d-1 to read as follows: "Section 49-d-1. (a) The Texas Water Development Board shall upon direction of the Texas Water Quality Board, or any successor agency designated by the Legislature, issue additional Texas Water Development Bonds up to an additional aggregate principal amount of One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000) to provide grants, loans, or any combination of grants and loans for water quality enhancement purposes as established by the Legislature. The Texas Water Quality Board or any successor agency designated by the Legislature may make such grants and loans to political subdivisions or bodies politic and corporate of the State of Texas, including municipal corporations, river authorities, conservation and reclamation districts, and districts created or organized or authorized to be created or organized under Article XVI, Section 59, or Article III, Section 52, of this Constitution, State agencies, and interstate agencies and compact commissions to which the State of Texas is a party, and upon such terms and conditions as the Legislature may authorize by general law. The bonds shall be issued for such terms, in such denominations, form and installments, and upon such conditions as the Legislature may authorize.

"(b) The proceeds from the sale of such bonds shall be deposited in the Texas Water Development Fund to be invested and administered as prescribed by law.

"(c) The bonds authorized in this Section 49-d-1 and all bonds authorized by Sections 49-c and 49-d of Article III shall bear interest at not more than 6% per annum and mature as the Texas Water Development Board shall prescribe, subject to the limitations as may be imposed by the Legislature.

"(d) The Texas Water Development Fund shall be used for the purposes heretofore permitted by, and subject to the limitations in Sections 49-c, 49-d and 49-d-1; provided, however, that the financial assistance may be made pursuant to the provisions of Sections 49-c, 49-d and 49-d-1 subject only to the availability of funds and without regard to the provisions in Section 49-c that such financial assistance shall terminate after December 31, 1982.

"(e) Texas Water Development Bonds are secured by the general credit of the State and shall after approval by the Attorney General, registration by the Comptroller of Public Accounts of the State of Texas, and delivery to the purchasers, be incontestable and shall constitute general obligations of the State of Texas under the Constitution of Texas.

"(f) Should the Legislature enact enabling laws in anticipation of the adoption of this amendment, such Acts shall not be void by reason of their anticipatory character."

Sec. 2. The foregoing constitutional amendment shall be submitted to a vote of the qualified electors of this State at an election to be held on Tuesday, May 18, 1971, at which election all ballots shall be printed to provide for voting for or against the proposition: "The constitutional amendment to authorize the issuance of One Hundred Million Dollars ($100,000,000) bonds to provide financial assistance to cities and other public agencies for water quality enhancement purposes, providing for the improvement and continuance of the water resources program, and establishing an interest ceiling on Water Development Bonds at 6% per annum."
