HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Some of the best and most active ambassadors Winters has ever had will be on the road again Friday, as the Blizzard Band goes to Cisco for the UIL concert and sight reading contests.

This band — 93 members strong — will be trying for a sweepstakes trophy. If they win first division in both contests, they will have it—they've already sacked up a first division in marching. They've got the talent, and they've got the will, so they stand a good chance of bringing home the trophy.

It is expected that a large contingent of Blizzard Band followers will be going to Cisco to give support to the bandsters. If you can get away, it would be well worth your time to go—you'd enjoy it, and it'd give the musicians a lot of encouragement.

Saturday of next week—April 3—will be one of the most important days of the year for Winters and North Runnels County. Election Day.

Winters voters will elect a mayor and two aldermen; Winters Independent School District voters will elect three members to the board of trustees; Wingate School District voters will name three members to the board of trustees; and voters of the two precincts in North Runnels County will elect three members to the board of directors of the North Runnels Hospital District.

There will be no contest in the Winters City election, in the Wingate School Board election, or the Hospital District election. The only contest will be in the Winters School District election, with three candidates for one place on the board. (Candidates for the other two places have no opposition). However, that is not a "race" in the usual sense—there apparently is no issue involved—each of the candidates for that place has offered his services to the community, and the school district is richer for it. Election of any one of these three men would be a credit to the school board. The district is fortunate to have such qualified men ready and willing to accept the tremendous responsibilities connected with running of our schools.

So... even if there are no big issues to be resolved, it is very important that we begin now to make plans to go to the polls next Saturday, and not use the excuse that it won't matter if we go or not. Our showing up at the polls in good numbers would be evidence of our interest in the various district and city governing bodies. Those people elected need all the support we can give them.

Little pebbles often make big splashes in a pool. So it was this past weekend, when the Runnels County Archery Association held their annual archery tournament here.

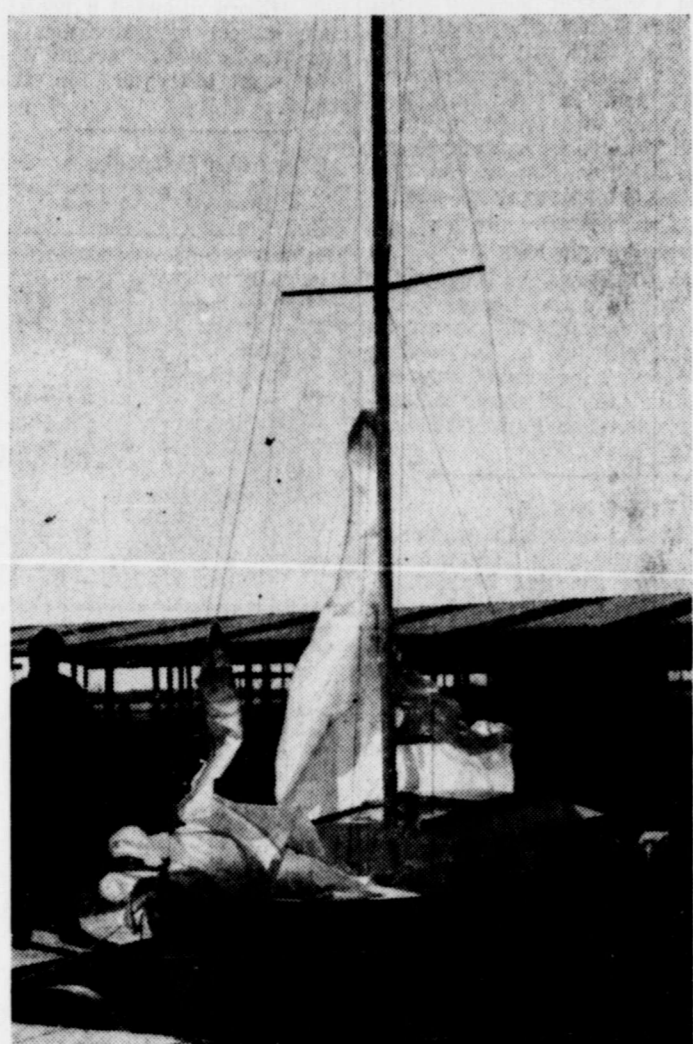

There are only six members in the RCAA, but they conducted one of the biggest archery tournaments to be held in this part of the country. Ninety-six archers competed in the tournament... and most of them brought their families, so there was an unusually large crowd of visitors here for the weekend. There were many campers and trailers set up at the archery range at the Winters City Lake and many stayed in the motel. At least 250 visitors hit Winters for that tournament. That's more than 40 visitors for each member of the local organization! Just think what they might do if they were bigger!

If other organizations in the community could draw comparable crowds of visitors, it would be a sackful. An organization of say 50 members... and 40 visitors for each member.

Of course, it isn't figured that way, but it just goes to show that the size of organization has nothing to do with success. It's something to think about, at least!

Singing At Shep Saturday Night

Prof. Thomas Mayhew Built Boat In Carport In Spare Time At SFASU

Building a 21-foot sail boat single-handedly is no small feat, but to build one in your carport in your spare time is surely a rare deed.

But the persistence of Thomas Mayhew, assistant professor of music at Stephen F. Austin State University, Nacogdoches, has paid off and now he is the proud possessor of his own sailboat, built with his own hands.

Mayhew is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Elmo Mayhew of Winters, and a graduate of Winters High School.

He caught the sailing bug while he was teaching in Wisconsin. The state has many lakes and he said it was just natural to be lured to the "sea" and specifically to sail boats. This is his third boat, but the first one he has built himself.

Twenty-one feet long and six feet, nine inches wide, the displacement of the craft is a little over a ton. The boat is basically of wood with fiberglass covering. The 30-foot mast is of hollow spruce. "The rigging distributes the weight so that a huge amount of weight can be applied in a downward direction," he explained about the hollow mast.

"It's taken me a little over two years to build it, off and on—mostly off," he said. "My

Former Resident Completes Quilt After 39 Years

In June of 1932, many friends of Mrs. W. J. Hickam pieced quilt blocks and presented them to her on her birthday. They teased her, she said, saying she would never finish the quilt.

She tucked the blocks away in a cedar chest, where they lay for 39 years—until this year, when they were brought out and finished into a quilt... and the quilt was entered in a hobby show and won a blue ribbon!

Mrs. Hickam (formerly Eva Burns of Winters) is now a resident of Beaumont. She is a sister of Ralph Burns of Winters.

At Beaumont, the Women's Auxiliary to the Jefferson County Medical Society, sponsored an annual hobby show for senior citizens, March 18-19. Cash prizes were offered in at least 10 categories.

Mrs. Hickam said "While quilting this, I had many happy memories. I laughed and cried a little too."

Cancer Crusade To Begin Here Thursday, April 1

"People really believe health is beautiful and that's why we urgently need volunteers for the American Cancer Society's 1971 education and fund raising Crusade," said Mrs. Bill Bell, chairman of the local drive, which will begin April 1.

"We believe that people-to-people contact—folks alerting their relatives, neighbors and friends to cancer's warning signals and helping to raise fighting funds—is part of the combination that will increasingly turn the tide against these dread diseases called cancer," declared Mrs. Bell. The other part is the dedication and skill of thousands of physicians and researchers searching for causes and better treatment, she said.

There is a greater challenge this year than ever before, Mrs. Bell said, "for we must reach out to people never contacted before. Every house and apartment in the Winters area must be visited in Crusade 1971, beginning April 1. Everyone with even a few hours to spare can help."

Workers will distribute life-saving leaflets telling how one can protect himself against cancer. Clothes hanger covers will be distributed through Bahlman Cleaners during the Crusade.

"Everyone who believes health is beautiful is needed by the North Runnels Cancer Society Unit. You can call 754-5210 to help," Mrs. Bell said.

Winds, Dust Fail To Daunt Archers In Sunday Tourney

High winds and dust Sunday failed to smother the spirits of 96 archers from over the state, as they participated in the fourth annual invitational tournament sponsored by the Runnels County Archery Association of Winters.

The shoot was held on the RCAA's five-star course south of the Winters Lake dam. Walt Wesley of Plainview was high scorer in the men's division, with a total of 789. Mary Newell of Fort Worth was high in the women's division with 678. Marvin (Buster) Clark of Winters high in the youth division, with a score of 620.

About 60 campers and trailers of all types were parked and staked down in the camp area of the RCAA course, Saturday night, and motel rooms were filled as approximately 250 people from out of town attended the tournament.

Ronald Rugh, SCS, Receives Award For Safe Driving

Ronald E. Rugh, range conservationist with the Runnels County Soil Conservation Service, has been awarded a five-year safe driving award.

W. W. Hoffman, county soil conservationist, said, in presenting the award to Rugh, "This kind of outstanding safe driving record doesn't just happen. It's the result of careful, defensive driving. You have set a day-to-day driving example that all of us should try to follow."

The award for the excellent safety record was approved by Clyde W. Graham, SCS State conservationist. The Soil Conservation Service is cooperating in the "Zero In On Federal Safety" program whereby Federal agencies are placing emphasis on eliminating causes of employee injuries during calendar years 1971 and 1972.

Announcement was made last week that Rugh has been transferred to the Mason SCS office, and will report there in April.

Blizzard Band To Contests Friday

The 93-member Winters High School Blizzard Band will travel to Cisco Friday, to take part in the annual University Interscholastic League concert and sight-reading contests. Band bus will leave the band hall at 11:40 a. m., and the band is scheduled to play at 3:30 p. m.

Sixteen area Class AA schools will take part in Friday's contests. However, bands will not be competing against one another, but will be contesting standards.

The Winters band will be working for a sweepstakes trophy, but will need to win first division in both sight reading and concert to make that goal. UIL band contests are divided into concert, sight reading and marching. The Blizzard band won first division in marching at Brady last November.

For their concert numbers, the band has chosen "Bandera March," "Festival," and "Joint Narrative."

The Winters High School Band won two first divisions in last year's UIL contests, a first in marching and a first in concert, but failed to win a sweepstakes trophy by getting a second in sight reading.

Class AA schools will play Friday, with Class A and B performing Saturday at Cisco.

The Winters Band Boosters are organizing a delegation of Winters fans to accompany the band to Cisco Friday. Anyone needing a ride to Cisco may call Mrs. A. N. (Betty) Blackberry, 754-4410.

Other area Class AA schools in Friday's contests at Cisco will be Eastland, Hamil-

Local Sixth Grade Students Write Letters To Vets

Students of the sixth grade class of Winters Elementary School gave the "Cheer A Veteran" project, sponsored by the Veterans of Foreign Wars, a big boost by writing letters to many hospitalized veterans recently.

This is the second time these students have participated in a letter-writing project to wounded veterans. In December, Christmas letters and cards of cheer were sent to the U. S. Naval Hospital on Guam, where Lt. Dickie (Hale) Gehrig and husband, Lt. Bruce Gehrig are stationed.

The students' letters were filled with personal news of themselves, their families and school activities, and many expressed personal patriotic appreciation. The letters have been sent to the Veterans Administration Hospital in Houston. Many of the students included pictures of themselves, Bible verses, bookmarks and other information. Many wrote several letters making a total of 69 letters.

Winters Post 9193, VFW, and its Ladies Auxiliary, sponsors the "Cheer a Veteran" project locally.

One excerpt from a letter of response from the Gehrigs after the last letter-writing project said, "It is awfully hard these days for these boys in the service—and that is what they are, 18, 19 and 20 years of age—especially when they read in the paper that the war they are fighting is wrong and that they are labeled as murderers. These Marines and sailors have been in Vietnam and risked their lives because they feel they are doing what is right—serving their country. So it certainly is a joy to them to hear from some students who are grateful for what our servicemen are doing."

The students' teacher, Mrs. L. E. Geistman, has expressed much pride in the interest her students have taken in this patriotic program.

Protest Moving Of Draft Office To Brownwood

A loud protest has been made from Runnels County regarding the recent decision of the Selective Service to move the area draft board office from Coleman to Brownwood.

County Judge Elliott Kemp, along with a member of the Runnels County Draft Board, Wade Carter, and Mike Zuniga, attended a meeting in Coleman Wednesday to protest the moving of the office.

Judge Kemp said this move "will cause undue travel hardships for inductees from Runnels County, and will cause the secretary, who lives in Coleman, to drive to Brownwood each day to work. A part time employee was the only savings to be shown" by such a move, the County Judge said.

The move would "also be contrary to recent proposals to do all possible to encourage people to immigrate away from the over-crowded metropolitan areas," Judge Kemp said.

Letters have been sent to all Senators and Representatives, Judge Kemp said, protesting the move, and the County Judge has called Senator John Tower requesting the office be maintained in Coleman.

...about your SOCIAL SECURITY

First checks to include the new 10 percent monthly benefit increase authorized in legislation acted upon this week by Congress will reach 26 million social security beneficiaries on June 3. Robert M. Ball, Commissioner of Social Security, said today that the regular June 3 checks covering benefits for the month of May will reflect the new higher monthly amount. Separate checks, scheduled to reach beneficiaries later in June, will cover the amount of the increase for the months of January through April. Ball emphasized that social security beneficiaries do not need to get in touch with a social security office to get the checks. The payments will be mailed to beneficiaries automatically.

It will take a little over one month, Ball said, to refigure the benefit amounts for all beneficiaries, including the adjustments are required in a typical month, he said, for such reasons as the death of a beneficiary, the remarriage of a widow, a child's attainment of age 18, a beneficiary's earnings, etc. The refiguring of benefit amounts is scheduled so as to avoid delay in the regular delivery of the April 3 and May 3 checks, he said. Those checks will be for the amounts payable to beneficiaries before enactment of the 10 percent increase.

By the first of May, the new records will have been produced

Robert C. Simpson Killed In Hunting Accident Friday

Robert C. (Bobby) Simpson, 50, prominent rancher and farmer of the Wilmett community, was accidentally killed sometime Friday when a rifle he was carrying was discharged as he was crossing a fence.

According to reports, he had been hunting a bobcat on leased ranchland eight miles northeast of Bronte on the Copeland Ranch when the accident occurred.

He had left his home early Friday morning, and was found about 4:30 in the afternoon with his foot caught in the fence and a bullet hole below the heart.

Justice of the Peace Cecil Kemp of Bronte ruled death by accident.

He was found by Mrs. Flossie Elmore, who was visiting on the ranch and had gone fishing.

STATE Capital NEWS

By VERN SANFORD

AUSTIN—Welfare beneficiaries late last week got the bad news they had been expecting—there will be substantial cuts in their assistance payments on May 1.

Level of aid will be reduced to Aid to Families with Dependent Children by about one-third, according to Welfare Commissioner Burton G. Hackney. Board of Public Welfare scheduled a meeting Monday (March 22) to place its inevitable approval on the reduction.

"The hard fact," said Hackney, "is that no more state money is available under the present constitutional ceiling on welfare expenditures. The Legislature has appropriated all that it can appropriate."

Average AFDC grant last month, based on PWD's formula of 75 percent of "budgeted needs," was $118.

Hackney estimated the average level will drop on May 1 to about $80 a month.

In addition to steep cuts, about 4,500 families will be dropped from the rolls altogether, since at the newly-contemplated 50 percent level of "budgeted needs," they will no longer be eligible for aid. Their income will meet the "standard of need" PWD must recognize with the limited funds available.

As of last month, there were 87,616 Texas families with 263,809 children receiving AFDC benefits. Rolls for the last five months have been increasing at a rate of almost 11,500 a month, according to Hackney.

A proposed constitutional amendment to increase the $85 million a year ceiling on aid to aged, blind, disabled and AFDC will be voted on May 18.

Almost simultaneous with PWD's announcement of the cut (actually first predicted by Hackney last November 12), Texas Citizens for Welfare Reform announced start of its active campaign to win approval of the amendment (Proposition 3) on the May 18 ballot.

SENATE PASSES LIQUOR BILL

Senate voted 22-7 approval of the local option liquor-by-the-drink bill and sent it to the House.

Biggest battle in the Senate was whether retail package stores or wholesalers would sell to bar operators. Package stores won out, over the protest of Sen. Joe Christie of El Paso, author of the bill (SB 346).

Measure now calls for $2,500 license fees for mixed beverage licenses, with $2,500 first renewal fees after one year, $500 thereafter.

TAX HEARINGS BEGIN

Hearings on the tax bill were due to begin in the Senate late this week and continue probably through most of next week.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes called on all interests to present their case and on all senators to ready their amendments or substitutes for the House-passed $492.5 million sales tax-franchise tax-tuition increases.

Barnes expressed hope for more orderly floor consideration of amendments with revenue estimates and amendments prepared in advance rather than at the last minute as usual.

OIL ALLOWABLE SAME

For the third month in a row, Texas Railroad Commission set the oil production allowable at $2.1 percent of potential. That will allow maximum production of 3,763,658 barrels a day in April. Actually, about 3,411,000 barrels probably will be the output.

Oil company executives said all evidence points to the need for a big effort to locate "massive new supplies of crude."

AG OPINIONS

Texas Water Quality Board cannot force the owner of a solid waste disposal dump to post bond for a license, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin has held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded that: —Galveston County contract for delinquent tax collection is not invalid because the attorney entering it is a law partner of a state legislator.

—Legislature would have to vote authority for a county to lease its property.

—City and County may cooperate to establish an ambulance service by joint contract.

—Juvenile court has jurisdiction to declare males delinquent after 17th birthday and females after 18.

—Sheriffs are not bound to furnish auditors a monthly inventory of supplies, menus and bills for feeding prisoners.

—Highway Department can award federally involved highway contracts which do not contain the general prevailing rate of per diem wages in view of the presidential emergency proclamation.

—Ward County may maintain a golf course on land owned by the city of Monahans.

—If county commissioners make final selection of a bank as the county fund depository, selection may not be retracted.

—Contract for delinquent tax collection entered by commissioners without notice to the county attorney should not be approved.

—Estates of regular state "hourly employees" are entitled to recover for accrued vacation and sick leave.

—Executive director of the Community Action Council at Beville is eligible to serve on the Bee County College governing board.

—Term of office of a Texas Rio Grande Compact Commissioner may be extended beyond two years.

CLUBS VIOLATE LAW

Many of the 1,811 private bottle clubs violate Texas law, Alcoholic Beverage Commission has reported.

ABC auditing chief said 197 violations were observed by agents last month in 427 clubs checked, although most can be corrected by warnings.

ABC Chairman Tom Gordon of Abilene promised February checks were the beginning of its crackdown.

Gordon said most of the violations are due to failure of club owners to understand the law. Commission approved a regulation dealing with standards of identity, labeling and advertising of liquor.

APPOINTMENTS

Gov. Preston Smith reappointed Walter M. Mischer of Houston and Fred W. Shield of San Antonio to the Texas Board of Corrections.

Smith also reappointed Wilfred S. Maskinon of Baytown to the Credit Union Commission and picked Jim R. Williams of San Antonio as a new member.

Charles R. Woodburn of Amarillo, Dan Lester of Jefferson, Phillip C. Bowen of El Paso and Mrs. D. J. Sibley Jr. of Austin were named to the Texas State Historical Committee, and Mrs. Frank M. Covert III of Austin and John C. Caldwell of Albany were reappointed.

STUDY DROUGHT PROBLEM

Governor Smith led a state-federal delegation to Alice late last week to investigate the increasing drought problem in South Texas.

Governor met with local officials, farmers and ranchers. He was accompanied by Agriculture Commissioner John C. White, disaster relief officials and legislators.

Smith said he is exploring the possibility of requesting that the region be designated a disaster area for federal aid in the form of low interest rate loans and emergency livestock feeding programs.

SHORT SNORTS

Governor Smith in ceremonies at Texas Tech University, Lubbock, signed a bill authorizing $185 million revenue bonds program for building eight new higher education facilities.

Nineteen criminal justice grants totalling $514,769 were approved to fight crime. Biggest ones went to Amarillo ($112,362) and Bowie County ($62,256).

Senate passed and returned to the House with amendments a bill increasing tuitions of out-of-state students in Texas tax-supported colleges from $200 to $500 a semester. (Students already enrolled would be exempt.)

ESPALIERED PLANTS

(Pronounced es-PAL-yeed)
The training of trees and large shrubs to grow on a trellis or wall is a hobby which appeals to the advanced gardener. It requires many years of care to develop a large espaliered tree or shrub. Fruit trees are especially adapted for use as espaliers, however, many of the ornamental plants with colorful fruit such as the pyracantha are also very effective.

The espaliered plant requires much less area than does a free standing tree or shrub and is a very effective way to screen or protect a wall from the full heat of the sun. The plant can be fastened directly to a masonry wall; however, it is better to use a wood trellis to hold the plant four to six inches from the wall. This provides better air circulation and results in less heat damage to the plant. An east or north exposure is usually best for espaliered plants.

A relatively simple method of supporting espaliered plants against masonry structures is the use of galvanized or aluminum wire strung between eye screws anchored in plastic or lead plugs inserted in holes drilled into the mortar joints. The desired pattern is established in wire and the plant fastened to the wire using plastic plant tie.

There are many forms for training espaliers; however, in most cases they are trained to grow so that all branches form a vertical plane. The plant may be trained to a single shoot, or to two shoots lying in opposite directions, mostly horizontal, which case it is called a cordon. The cordon is usually trained along a horizontal wire or low wooden fence. Other methods include the fan-shaped espalier and the gridiron espalier which are both suitable for growing against a wall.

The training is started when the plant is very young, preferably a one-year whip or at most a two-year old budded or grafted fruitstock. It is important to start before the trunk has produced a stiff trunk and large side branches. Prune the whip back to within a foot or two of the ground. Allow only those side shoots to develop which are growing in the proper position and direction to produce the desired effect.

The selected lateral shoots are tied to the support as they grow and the side shoots developing from these are pinched out except those wanted for additional arms in the framework or those retained as fruiting spurs.

The espalier form most frequently used is the gridiron in which three buds are allowed to develop from the cut-back whip. One continues as a leader and the other two are trained as horizontal cordons until they reach the point where the outside verticals are desired. The tips are then allowed to turn upward and form two outside verticals. If the seven-branched-gridiron is wanted the leader is pinched to develop side branches at two more levels before the leader is allowed to develop as the central riser. Each of the other horizontal pairs is allowed to develop until they reach the point where the vertical branches are wanted. It may require two to three years to obtain the desired structure. The side shoots on the lateral canes must be continuously pinched back to form fruiting spurs over the entire framework. Another name for gridiron system is the candleabra.

It is frequently necessary to resort to root pruning once the general framework is developed. This is especially true where the soil is unusually fertile and it is difficult to control the growth of side shoots.

To be effective a uniform balance of growth must be maintained over the entire plant. This requires constant observation and careful pruning. When tying the branches in the desired position use cloth or plastic strips to avoid girdling. These ties must be watched carefully and when they become tight, they should be cut and retied.

While the producing of an espalier is rather time consuming, the end results are very rewarding and forms an interesting accent or conversation piece in the landscape.

ROSE PRUNING

Roses should be pruned in late February or early March. The amount of pruning needed is determined by the type of rose, the variety and the results desired.

Hybrid tea roses should be pruned to six to eight inches above the bud union. Since these are grown primarily for specimen flowers, the severe pruning results in fewer flowers but the flowers are larger and have longer stems. When the hybrid teas are used for their massing effect in the landscape, they should be pruned to about 18 to 24 inches, removing all weak side shoots.

Floribundas are used primarily for their mass effect in the landscape and should be cut back to 18 inches, shaping the plants as they are pruned. Branches crossing through the center of the plant or those rubbing against other branches should be removed.

Climbing roses need pruning to remove those canes over three years in age. Remove these older canes as near to the base or bud union as possible. The general rule is to prune climber after their big flush of flowers in the spring.

Make all cuts on rose bushes to an outside bud and about 1/4 to 1/2 inch above the bud. Paint all cut surfaces with a good tree wound paint. This will prevent entry of boring insects and reduce disease and decay of the stems.

Seed Treatment:

Seed treatment has come a long way since the Middle Ages, notes County Agent Parker, when seeds were thrown through fires to control disease organisms. Chemicals are used today to treat planting seed to prevent damage by insects, fungi and bacteria. Most chemicals used for treating seed, such as phenol mercury acetate, are harmful to bacteria and fungi, and if misused can also be harmful to animals and humans.

To help prevent misuse of treated seeds and possible fatal results, the Federal Seed Act requires that seeds treated with mercurials and other similarly toxic substances be labeled accordingly. Explains the county agent.

The label must state the name of the substance used to treat the seed—either the commonly accepted coined name, the chemical name or a standard abbreviation of the chemical name. An example, BHC is the standard abbreviation for benzene hexachloride, which is the chemical name.

A label for treated seed must also contain an appropriate caution statement. Mercurials and similarly toxic substances must be labeled with the word "POISON" in red letters and with the skull-and crossbones symbol.

Other substances classified as "harmful" in the regulations are required to be labeled with the statement such as "Do not use for feed" or "Do not use for seed" or "Do not use for planting." Lawn seeds are not ordinarily treated but home gardeners should note that many vegetable seed are often treated with toxic materials to help insure stands.

The Food and Drug Administration of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare requires that food or feed grain seeds—wheat, oats, barley, rye, corn and grain sorghums—be colored an unnatural color if treated with a toxic substance, usually red.

So, whether you are a farmer or home gardener, C. T. Parker, advises it's a good idea to become a label reader and a careful user of treated seed.

Electric Fences:

Electric fences might be the answer to some of your fencing problems, suggests County Agent Parker.

They are inexpensive, easy to build, require little maintenance and are effective. But there are factors which should be considered before one is constructed. A primary factor is what will the fence be used for. Principal uses of electric fences are supplementary fencing and fencing marginal land which does not warrant an investment in permanent fences. They may also be used to discourage predatory animals and for placement inside bulbens for additional protection.

When using the electric fence, Parker warns that the following precautions should be taken.

Use only approved controllers. Although the fence requires low voltage, improper amperage can cause a fatal shock. Under no conditions should a home-made controller be used. Instructions which come with each controller should be closely followed.

The fence should be properly grounded and all connections to the posts should be insulated. For the fence to operate at its maximum level, a ground rod should be installed to provide contact between moist earth and the controller.

If the fence is to be used along a public road or near other areas of farm traffic, it should be properly marked with appropriate signs every 200 feet and gate openings provided with insulated rubber grips.

Your electric fence can be a helpful farm tool, if it is properly constructed and used in accordance with good safety practices.

Would you like to improve both the yield and quality of the fruit produced from berries, grapes and figs? Both can be achieved by controlling the diseases which are common to these fruits, says County Agent Parker.

Home gardeners and small home orchard owners as well as commercial small fruit growers can profit from a well carried out disease control program, explains the county agent.

Parker says that he has recently received from the plant pathologists of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service information on the common diseases of small fruit along with recommended control measures and spray schedules which he will be happy to pass along to interested persons.

A call or visit to Parker's office is all that is needed. He also adds that he has publications available on many other subjects which should be of interest to fruit growers or those who

Beauty of Plants Stressed During Garden Week

The beauty and utility of plants is one of the topics being stressed during National Lawn and Garden Week March 20-26.

Woodrow Hoffman, district conservationist, the local Soil Conservation Service, said the event is being sponsored by the U. S. Department of Agriculture and the national officers of garden clubs. Lawn and garden trade groups are also behind the effort.

This year's theme "Country Green for City Living" stresses the special values of rural plants which enhance outdoor beauty and improve the environment for rural and urban residents.

"Conservation farmers who plant grasses on depleted rangeland or idle cropland in the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District do a lot for outdoor beauty," Hoffman said. "In fact, sound soil and water conservation on the landscape is the key to a beautiful countryside. Any well managed grassland or farmland adds to the country green concept."

Hoffman said Soil Conservation Service officials are using the occasion to invite the public to visit the SCS plant materials center at Knox City. Hundreds of plant selections are being evaluated at the center to try to find improved strains that will solve several conservation problems. He said the best time to see the plants is in late summer when most are in bloom or producing seed.

Several new grass strains are now in use across the country because of our plant materials work," Hoffman said. "Some of the ones being used in Texas include King Ranch bluestem; Grenville switchgrass; El Reno, Uvalde and sidecats grama; and Selection 75 Kleingrass."

The Kleingrass selection was released two years ago and has proven so popular that more than a million dollars' worth of seed was planted last year in Texas. According to Hoffman more than 1,000 acres of plain grass was planted last year here in the Runnels S & W C D. "However, some of the most fascinating work underway at Knox City is our work with plants valuable to livestock and wildlife which can be grown profitably for seed."

Hoffman said that his office gets questions nearly every week from people wanting to know what plants to include in grass plantings that will have special value for wildlife. Unfortunately, the number of plants he can recommend for seeding is limited. It's not because there is a shortage of plants that wildlife like — the problem is buying seed for these plants.

Hoffman explained that 53 selections of forbs and shrubs thought to have value for wildlife are being evaluated at Knox City. This is in addition to more than 400 strains of grasses, many of which are also useful to wildlife, which are being grown. Several legumes are also being evaluated.

He pointed out that many forbs (broad leaved, herbaceous plants) are not only good wildlife food but are equally useful to cattle, horses, sheep and goats. If ways can be developed to grow these plants profitably for seed production, it will make it more feasible to plant them.

Selections from two such forbs — englemannsdaisy and Maximilian sunflower — have shown up especially desirable at Knox City, Hoffman said.

Englemannsdaisy is especially desirable as a wildlife food because it is a cool season plant. A selection made in the Texas Hill Country has done so well that it is now being grown for seed increase at Knox City. Field plantings at several Texas locations including the Runnels S&WCD will be made this year.

"Another plant we have admired a long time is Maximilian sunflower," the district conservationist said. "We call this forb a climax plant, meaning it was present in the natural environment when the grasslands were settled. It is so well liked by deer and livestock that it's hard to find except in well managed pastures. If given a chance, it thrives in mixtures with other choice plants and produces a lot of forage."

The plant is native to a wide section of the state, it is a warm season perennial, and it spreads from both seed and rhizomes.

Hoffman named three other forbs that are showing up favorably at Knox City: bushsunflower, western indigo and half-shrub sundrop.

Canned Peaches: When Genghis Khan pierced the Great Wall of China in 1209, he found peaches growing there. These luscious fruits then followed caravan routes into Poland and Upper Silesia.

Actually, the peach has been a favorite of the Chinese people for centuries. Chinese writings, 3,000 years ago mentioned the peach as the symbol of longevity.

Appearance of Pork
What do you look for in buying pork? Appearance can serve as an important guide to quality, says Mrs. O'Connor. Look for meat, either fresh or cured, that has a high proportion of lean to fat and bone. The flesh should be firm and fine-textured.

In fresh pork, the color of the lean may range from grayish pink to red. Lean cured pork has a typical deep pink color. Pork is high in nutritive value. An especially rich source of thiamine (vitamin B1) pork also supplies other B vitamins and iron. It's a good source of protein, too. In addition, liver is an excellent source of vitamin A.

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

Wellesley Hills, Mass.—Canada, our neighbor to the north, is especially rich in natural resources. It is enjoying solid growth, with its Gross National Product—currently in excess of $80 billion a year—racking up regular gains. The long-term expansion pattern of the Canadian economy is a significant consideration—and a strong attraction—for some American investors who wish to achieve a measure of geographical diversification in placement of their investment funds.

Important Factors To Consider
American investors who are contemplating purchase of Canadian stocks should be aware of a number of inconvenient factors. For example, unless investors have access to the major financial publications or leading metropolitan newspapers, few market prices of Canadian securities are readily available. Also, not all Canadian concerns render cash dividends in American dollars. Hence, where payments are made in Canadian money, U. S. investors are obliged to have their dividends converted into American dollars.

In addition, investors this side of the border who purchase Canadian securities are subject to the U. S. Interest Equalization Tax, except in the case of Dominion issues which are traded on Frigidaire re-invents the washer and the dryer.

Never before so many improvements at one time! That's why we say "re-invented". Washers and dryers that do it all... up to 18 pounds. This new Frigidaire can wash 1 piece to 18 pounds—or any size load in between. No attachments to add or store. It has a huge lid and door openings to put all that capacity within easy reach. A fill and rinse system that sprays down from 12 pressurized water jets around the tub. Permanent Press Care. Simplicity to keep service to an all-time low... like the lift-off console that makes servicing quick and easy... if it's needed at all. For full details visit West Texas Utilities.

Also, remember, West Texas Utilities offers you free normal 220 volt wiring if you are a WTU residential customer and if you purchase an electric dryer from a local dealer or WTU.

HEALTH FOR ALL

In the past ten years the mortality rate from emphysema and chronic bronchitis has more than quadrupled in the United States and continues to grow faster than for any other disease.

Pulmonary or lung diseases are the second most common cause of disability in Texas. Until 1967, no intensive treatment and rehabilitation program existed for the Texan who had chronic obstructive lung disease manifested by difficulty in breathing.

Dr. George A. Hurst, who heads up a pilot rehabilitation program for the State Health Department in East Texas, calls the rapid rise in lung diseases a "seriously developing public health problem."

That is why the Pulmonary Rehabilitation Program was initiated in 1967 at the East Texas Tuberculosis Hospital near Tyler. It marked the first time there had been such an organized program in Texas—a pilot program to help people with chronic breathing trouble due to emphysema, chronic bronchitis, and obstructive asthma. At the Tyler hospital, a multi-disciplined approach utilizes the services of three physicians in different aspects of the rehabilitation program. Vocational counselors, psychologists, physical therapists and social workers also pool their specialized knowledge in an intensive program to aid the patient.

The patient undergoes an intensive series of medical, physiological, psychological, social and vocational evaluations. He begins various medical treatments, breathing training, and a graded exercise program designed to improve pulmonary functions and increase physical ability to the maximum. Teaching the patient to care for himself and to be a productive member of society is as important in the program as the medical treatment itself.

QUILTING PROGRAM

An old fashioned quilting program will be held at the Humble Building, at 2 p. m., March 29. Ladies interested in quilting for the needy families of the Winters area are invited to be present. For further information call the Multi-Purpose Center, 754-4443.

CARD OF THANKS

I would like to thank all those who were so thoughtful during my stay in the hospital and since I have returned home. Thanks for the beautiful cards, visits, gifts and prayers. —Mrs. Richard Dendy. Itp.

TO RANGER, CLYDE

Mr. and Mrs. G. W. Scott Jr., visited with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Scott of Ranger and Mr. and Mrs. Winford Hogan and boys of Clyde over the weekend.

FROM DALHART

Harris Mullin and son Kendall of Dalhart, former residents of Winters, visited friends in Winters last week.

There were 21,116,000 out-of-state and foreign visitors to Texas last year, and they spent $1,469 billion, according to State Highway Department calculations.

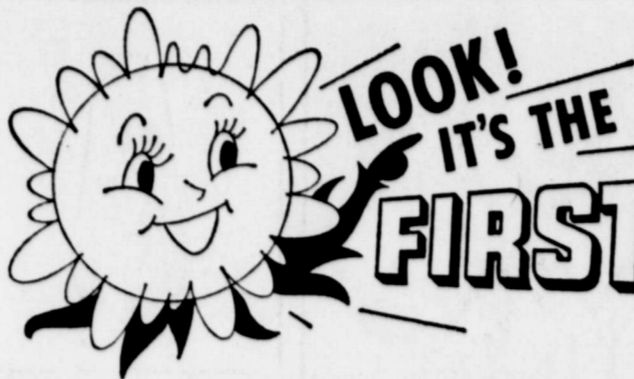

FROM MIDLAND

Mr. and Mrs. Kenneth Marks, Jamie Leann, John David and Lane of Midland, spent the weekend in the home of his mother, Mrs. E. L. Marks.

ings were hurt by the cost squeeze and the effects of the "floating" Canadian dollar. Sales and profits prospects for 1971 are brighter, and in 1972 the Matagami Lake zinc-silver-copper property should start to produce earnings. Abitibi's common is now near 7 (Toronto, Montreal and Vancouver), more than 50 percent below its peak. Alcan Aluminum Limited is a prominent supplier of the light metal to world markets. It has materially increased its smelter capacity and its fabricating operations. In 1970, Alcan's output was adversely affected by lower than anticipated shipments, some price softness, and a labor tie-up at its British Columbia plant. Over the longer term, Alcan Aluminum is well situated to benefit from its improving competitive position. The common of Alcan, currently near 23, is down 46 percent from its 1966 peak on the New York Stock Exchange.

Gemstar Limited is a diversified company, the most important parts of which are in housing and land development, cement, and building supplier. A subsidiary produces industrial chemicals and fertilizers. 1970's earnings fell sharply below those of 1969, but a good rebound is expected for 1971. Thus, we feel that Gemstar's common, near 12 at this writing, is reasonably priced on the New York Exchange.
