HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

When it comes to weather, it is practically impossible to please anyone. When there is a change—no matter how small—from anything to something else, it always comes at the wrong time, too late or too soon, or not enough, or too much.

Take the time back in August, for instance. When August was trying to act like late September and October, and we were getting beautiful rains, there were many of us who were not one hundred percent pleased at the timing; there was grain to get out of the fields; cotton started needing sunshine; gardens got too much water and literally boiled to death. Most of us went around making comments about "Fall in Summer," and even though most of us were enjoying the coolness, and the showers, there was a tinge of slight dissatisfaction apparent in our comments and actions. After all, we weren't prepared for that kind of weather in August—and anything most of us aren't prepared for, or don't understand, we grow dissatisfied with.

Then along comes September, and though most of us have been around here long enough to know better, we began to try to fool ourselves into the belief that here was the beginning of Fall, and the weather would be likewise. What happens? We get a spell of hot, sizzling August weather, the kind we should have gotten back a month ago. And again, refusing to be pleased with—or even graciously accepted—the weather we were presented, we start making wry comments, showing our ever-present subconscious displeasure at anything thrown at us, weatherwise. Secretly, though, most of us relish the idea of being able to hang onto our two favorite whipping boys—the weather and politics.

The long Labor Day weekend was ideal for those who enjoy water sports and outdoor living activities. There is a good representation of that hardy type right here in this community. It seems that half of Winters was camped in one camping area at Hords Creek Lake over the weekend, roughing it with their campers, gas and electric cook stoves, electric percolators, electric blankets, electric lights, electric refrigerators, etc., etc.

They had their boats down there, too, and were putting them to good use, pulling blist.

Revival Meeting At First U-M Begins Sunday

Services will be held each weekday morning, continuing through Thursday, at 7 a. m., with coffee, juice and donuts served before and after each morning service.

Evening services will be held each weekday through Thursday at 7:30 p. m., with a fellowship following each service. A nursery will be provided at each evening service.

This first bale, which was ginned from 2210 pounds of stripped cotton, weighed 550 pounds; 800 pounds of seed were caught. The cotton was planted

May 1, and received only 1 and 3-4 inches of rain after planting, until August, when 7 inches was received.

This cotton was raised on the Tinkle place southeast of Winters, owned by Mrs. Vida Tinkle. McKnight has farmed this place 38 years. He has farmed in the Winters area for 42 years, and produced a first bale about 30 years ago, he said. (Staff photo)

Blizzards Play In Hamlin Friday

The Winters High School Blizzards, after a few weeks of hard and hot training, and two scrimmage outings against outsiders, will open the regular football season on the road, going against the Pied Pipers of Hamlin Friday night.

The Blizzards, lacking somewhat in experience but loaded with determination, open the fall season against an also-young team which is short on experience. Few returnees grace the line-up of the Pipers.

The Winters Blues bested both opponents in pre-season practice scrimmages, and this week are working out some of the kinks which showed up in those sessions, along with developing a defensive—and offensive—attitude which will be necessary against Hamlin. The Pipers will field a "better than average" quarterback, leading a team with speed and passing ability. They pass about 45 percent of the time, and depend on speed to get them down the field. The Pipers had a bad year last year—2-8—and can be expected to reverse the 21-0 shellacking they took at the hands of the Blizzards last year.

Coach Chili Black said the entire coaching staff was pleased over the condition of the team in the scrimmage against Breckenridge Saturday night. Although outweighed about 15 pounds, man against man, the Blizzards scored three times against Breck, while allowing only one cross-over for the visitors—and this by the defensive team on a pass intercept. Better ball handling is being sought—100 percent efficiency is expected by the coaches in this area—but the difference in size turned out not to be a factor in the Breck scrimmage.

Coach Black said that probable starters for the Hamlin outing have already been picked, but that most all members of the team probably will see action Friday night. There will be nothing definite about the lineup picture until the first district games come up in a few weeks, the coach said.

This year the Blizzards will sport a "monster" defense. The "monsters" were formerly referred to as cornerbacks, but under the defensive game plan this year will be given more freedom.

J. P. Dry Named County N. F. I. B. Chairman

J. P. Dry of John's International, Winters, has been appointed chairman of the Runnels County chapter of the National Federation of Independent Business, according to V. J. Millsman, district manager.

The Federation is a 50-state non-profit organization with the largest individual membership of any business organization in the nation, creating a close working relationship between independent business at the grass roots, and members of Congress.

A voting privilege is given to each business and professional member of the Federation, whose opinion is polled by ballots regularly on bills and issues affecting independent enterprise at national and state levels. Votes are tabulated by Dry who serves on a voluntary basis, and are forwarded with signed ballots to Congressman Omar Burleton in Washington, D. C., and to Governor Preston Smith. Through this vote, on issues of paramount interest to the small businessman, the Federation position is stated.

Mrs. Hill has been employed by Dry for 13 years. She was the second employee to be hired by Dry Manufacturing Co., when the plant was opened in 1958 on Tinkle Street, in the building now occupied by a department of General Aviation Industries. She has operated a rivet machine during her entire employment.

She is a member of the Southside Baptist Church. Mrs. Hill was born in Oxford, Miss., the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Pennington. She came to Texas when she was three years old, and her family settled in this area. She attended school in Crews, Goldsboro, and Winters. Her father was in the meat market, grocery and cafe business in Winters for many years.

When asked about her plans for the immediate future, Mrs. Hill said, "That's the sixty-four dollar question." First, she said, she will visit a brother in Austin.

Joe Kilman Named Executive V-P of Savings and Loan

First Savings of San Angelo has named Joe Kilman, a veteran savings and loan executive from Dallas, as executive vice president.

Kilman's position is a new one created by the board of directors, Frank A. Hoke, board chairman, said. The appointment became effective September 7. The new executive had been with Oak Cliff Savings of Dallas since August 1963. First Savings was purchased in July by the 8.8 Corporation, a wholly-owned subsidiary of Oak Cliff Savings.

Kilman joined Oak Cliff Savings as a loan officer in its Preston Center office. In March 1967 he was promoted to branch manager of the association's Richardson office, the position he held at the time of his move to San Angelo.

While serving as Richardson branch manager, Kilman was active in the community. He served as chairman of the membership committee and chairman of the Contact Club, both of the Richardson Chamber of Commerce, and he served as secretary-treasurer of the Richardson Division of the Home and Apartment Builders Association of Dallas County.

He was a seven-year member of the Richardson Jaycees holding numerous offices including a directorship, first vice president and general chairman of the 1970 Richardson Community Fair which is sponsored annually by the Jaycees. He was named Most Outstanding Chairman by the Texas Jaycees for his work on the Community Fair.

He was also nominated for the Distinguished Service Award by the Richardson Jaycees.

Kilman is a graduate of the Executive Development School conducted annually by the American Savings and Loan Institute at the University of Georgia. He served as president of his graduating class. He also holds a graduate diploma from the Dallas Chapter of the American Savings and Loan Institute.

A native of Temple, Kilman graduated from Baylor University in 1957 with a Bachelor of Business Administration degree. He served in the U. S. Army for two years.

Hospital Fund Now $36,930

The special North Runnels Hospital equipment fund reached $36,930.00 this week, as more families and firms signed pledges. A total of $2,530.00 has been pledged or contributed since last week.

The equipment fund campaign was organized about three weeks ago to raise money to buy furnishings and equipment for the proposed new North Runnels Hospital. The board of directors of North Runnels Hospital district announced three weeks ago that a bond election would be called within a short time to build the hospital to replace the old hospital now being operated by the district. A petition asking the board to call the bond election has been in circulation the past several days, and more than 300 people of North Runnels County had signed the petition by Tuesday afternoon. The petition is still out, and will be presented to the board next Monday, September 13.

Winters Lions On Record For Bond Issue For Hospital

The Winters Lions Club Tuesday noon went on record to support a bond issue to build a new North Runnels Hospital.

Following a meeting of the board of directors of the local Lions Club, at which the board recommended that the club take action in favor of the hospital bond issue, the club as a whole voted to work for the bond issue and the hospital.

The Lions Club also voted to designate all profit from the annual chili supper, which will be held at a later date, to the special new Hospital Equipment Fund.

Ted Meyer, chairman of the hospital equipment fund committee, said that more than 600 special letters were mailed Tuesday to North Runnels County residents, seeking pledges to the equipment fund. He expected these pledges and contributions to start coming in within the next few days.

Those making pledges or making contributions since last week are:

Long Distance Rates Affected By Price Freeze

San Angelo — President Nixon's wage-price freeze will delay inauguration of new long distance telephone rates for calls within Texas.

L. L. Porter, traffic director of General Telephone, said lower rates for customers who dial their own intrastate long distance calls would have gone into effect September 1. But the rate changes were coupled with higher rates for persons placing long distance calls through the operator, causing conflict with the wage price guidelines.

"The change in rates would have brought customer dialed station-to-station calls within the state in line with already established lower dial-it-yourself rates and calling periods for interstate calls," Porter explained.

He said the long distance rate changes would be delayed until termination of the wage-price freeze.

"No one knows at this time what guidelines will follow the 90-day freeze," Porter said. "But we hope we will be able to pass this planned savings to customers who dial their own long distance calls, while placing the higher cost of operator assistance calls onto the customers who use this service."

Winters High School Students To Hear Program On "This Atomic World"

Atomic energy and its uses will be demonstrated September 16 at Winters High School.

A program titled "This Atomic World" will acquaint Winters students with basic principles of nuclear energy, its sources and roles in agriculture, industry, medicine and research.

The Atomic Energy Commission-designed program will be conducted by Orlan L. Ihms (sounds like seems).

Using student terms, Ihms will explain structure of atoms, nuclear reactor operation and such concepts as radiation, fission and fusion.

He will use special equipment to demonstrate sources of radiation and how nuclear energy is harnessed to generate power. Use of radioisotopes for life processes study, disease diagnosis and treatment, also will be graphically portrayed.

A chalkboard talk to Winters High science classes will go into additional detail on atomic structure, radioactivity, radiation biology and nuclear science careers.

Texas A&M University will present the program in cooperation with Oak Ridge Associated Universities, a non-profit educational and research corporation of Southern colleges and universities.

Ihms trained in AEC and Oran labs at Oak Ridge, Tenn. He holds bachelor and master's degrees from Texas A&M.

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON

Congressman
17th District

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Members of Congress returning to Washington this week after an August recess, bring back a common comment. People back home are disturbed about a great many things — inflation, schools, crime and drugs, the war—to mention a few.

Justified or not, it seems we are mired in an age of disbelief which is eroding our will as a Nation and as individuals, not only to succeed but to survive.

Sons do not believe fathers, blacks do not believe whites and vice versa. Stockholders do not believe corporate executives, and citizens have grave doubts about their government at all levels. Even clergymen are doubted because of the militant acts of a few.

Does this sense of despair and skepticism really matter? It certainly does if we believe that this country was built on self-confidence, a pride in its past and a faith in the future. A great nation without self-confidence is as unlikely to continue its greatness as a businessman who is without determination.

As has been said in this space before, likely Government has promised too much to too many. When these expectations failed to materialize in a short time, many people seem to lack the maturity to deal with adversity.

Black leaders castigate the whole system of government as racist because inequalities and prejudices persist. The fact that great comparative gains have been made is overlooked.

Civil libertarians characterize our Government as "repressive." They ignore all evidence that never in history has there been a freer age than this.

Many of the young disparage society as "unresponsive." The fact is, never has a society been more oriented towards child welfare and the young than today.

In short, there seems to be missing in our society that sense of proportion upon which all good and healthy conditions depend.

Our rivals on the world scene—the Russians and Red Chinese—are able, determined, thrusting, and are evidently endowed with a strong sense of purpose.

of destiny, and, yes, patriotism. They have their problems, no doubt about that, but their national and international goals and ambitions appear to be intact, unneaten by the cancer of disbelief.

No suggestion or even inference is being made that we should blindly trust all the cliches and slogans which constantly bombard us—it is our inherent right, duty and responsibility to seek truth on which to base our trust. In fact, the acceptance of "everyone knows" such and such may be contributing to our disturbance. A recent development may be a good example. Since Rachel Carson's book "Silent Spring" "everyone has known" that DDT is an awful thing. Now Dr. Philip Handler, President of the prestigious National Academy of Sciences says that no harm to humans has been proved and "the tales of damage to fish and wildlife appear to have been woefully exaggerated." A dozen or so top ranking scientists support this opinion. In this instance "what everyone knows" is wrong. The application can doubtless be made in many other correct situations.

Ben Johnson once observed that "next to truth, a confirmed error does well."

Back to our doubts, fears and distrust, just maybe we need to recapture what seems to be our last innocence. Putting it another way, maybe our sophistication has run away with us.

Referring to us as a nation, Emerson said, "We should have reached a maturity to prove that we are capable of listening, not only to what the hours tell us, but what centuries whisper."

COUNTY AGENT PARKER'S COLUMN

Extra care of roses during late summer when the weather is hot and dry can mean more beautiful blooms this fall, reminds County Agent Parker.

Check the mulch applied in the spring. Make certain it is still at least an inch or two thick. Water the rose garden thoroughly every 10 days or more often if needed. Soak the soil to a depth of 8 to 10 inches. Frequent light waterings encourage shallow roots and make the plants more susceptible to disease.

A preventive spray program should be continued for the control of black spot. Heavy dew in the morning will encourage this disease just as is the case with frequent showers in the spring, says Parker.

The rose plants should be sprayed with a fungicide containing maneb or folpet every 10 to 14 days until the first killing frost. The plants need as many leaves as possible to build up food reserves and promote larger flowers and more intense color for the fall bloom. Good food reserves will also help the plants withstand severe winter weather.

The county agents suggests a close examination of the plants at this time to determine if replacements are needed. Many excellent rose varieties are now available and it's a waste of time and effort to keep plants which do not live up to your expectations. Mark those selected for removal so they can be easily located when planting time rolls around.

While lime, phosphate, and potash can be fall applied for next spring's crops, fall use of nitrogen should be restricted to those fall-growing crops which need it — small grains and grass pastures. Small grains should receive 50 to 80 pounds of nitrogen per acre at seeding and an additional topdressing of 50 to 80 pounds per acre in January or February. Permanent warm-season grass pastures should receive up to 70 pounds of nitrogen topdressed per acre by Sept. 1 in order to produce fall growth and extend the grazing season longer into the winter.

Nitrogen is used most efficiently by row crops when it is applied close to planting time, adds the county agent. Nitrogen applied too far ahead of the plant use period will be subject to losses when moisture and temperature conditions are higher than normal. If conditions are unsatisfactory for applying nitrogen at planting time, applications can be sidressed up to 30 days after planting.

Details for taking soil samples and submitting them to the nearest soil testing laboratory are available at the county Extension office, said Parker.

Those tragic tractor accidents can be avoided, stated Parker.

Many deaths have occurred across the state during the summer, and others can follow unless safety precautions are rigidly observed. "Tractor overturn can be prevented," says the county agent, "but if it does happen, the operator will have some protection if the tractor is equipped with a protective frame, safety belt, or crush-resistant cab."

To help prevent needless accidents, he recommends these safety rules:

Slow down the tractor when turning, near ditches, working on slopes, and on rough or muddy ground. Operate implements and machines at the recommended speed, but cut speed for bad conditions.

Axles are not drawbars—wrapping a chain or cable around one for a hard pull can result in a backward tip. Hitch only to a drawbar set 13 to 17 inches above ground and the lower the better.

Engage power smoothly. Avoid abrupt turns and jerky starts and stops, especially when tractor stability is affected by the front end loader, manure spreader, or other equipment.

Inclines, up or down, call for caution. Shift to a lower gear downhill and a power gear going up, especially heavy pulling rolling loads.

Good feeder pig production practices are just as important in periods of lower prices as they are during periods of higher prices.

When feeder pig prices are lower, many swine producers have the tendency to neglect basic management practices and try to reduce production costs," explains Parker.

Cutting corners on management and necessary feeds will reduce litter size at weaning, lower the thriftiness of the pigs, and lower the pig's weight at sale time. In addition, unthrifty pigs are far more likely to take scours and other diseases. All of these conditions lead to lower profits.

July feeder pig prices show a definite drop in dollars per head for pigs grading Number 4 and Utility, Parker added. The extra money received for higher grading pigs, accompanied by larger litters, will more than pay for extra production costs.

"Feeder pig producers should develop a high level of management that will keep them in the feeder pig business," Parker

CARD OF THANKS

We desire to express to our kind neighbors and thoughtful friends our heartfelt thanks for their many expressions of kindness during our stay in the hospital and since I have come home. A special thanks for the lovely flowers, cards, food and visits. —Mrs. Lillie Osborne and Selma. Itc.

Doing is a great thing. For if, resolutely, people do what is right, in time they come to like doing it.

"A producer who tries to be in business when prices are high and is forced out of business when prices are low will never make a satisfactory profit from feeder pig production."

STATE CAPITAL HIGHLIGHTS

By BILL BOYKIN, Texas Press Association

AUSTIN—Gov. Preston Smith sprang one surprise after another in announcing appointments to key state positions. One of the biggest was selection of his longtime legal aide and top political campaign worker Robert D. (Bob) Bullock, formerly of Hillsboro, as Secretary of State, succeeding Martin Dies Jr.

A few days earlier, he selected another staff assistant, V. Larry Teaver of Lubbock, to the State Board of Insurance. Surprise here was that Teaver did not replace Durwood Manford, veteran member of the board.

Manford got a new six-year term and Charles D. Mathews, a Dallas trucking executive and attorney until two years ago, was moved from the board to an Austin district judgeship.

Teaver replaced Mathews when the freshman board member became judge of the new 200th Travis County district court.

Smith stirred some controversy by naming a successor to Brig. Gen. James M. Rose as assistant adjutant general of Texas for air. On recommendation of Maj. Gen. Ross Ayers, the state adjutant general, he picked Lt. Col. Belisario D. J. Flores of San Antonio for the Air National Guard command.

Smith's other appointments included:

—T. E. (Gene) Mitchell of Plainville as chairman of the Governor's Committee on Human Relations. Dies previously doubled in that job before his appointment to the Ninth Court of Civil Appeals at Beaumont.

—Robert W. Kneebone of Houston for a new six-year term as a member of the Texas Youth Council.

REDISTRICTING MOVES ON

A two-way legislative redistricting fight moved toward a Supreme Court decision last week.

Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin filed briefs in appeal from the August 2 Austin district court ruling that House of Representatives reapportionment this year is unconstitutional because it improperly violates county lines. Martin said the "one-man-one-vote" rule of federal courts eliminates state constitutional provision safeguarding county lines.

At the same time, 53rd District Judge Herman Jones refused to prevent the Texas Legislative Redistricting Board from apportioning the State Senate and said the Board may also do preliminary House realignment. Time for attack on board's work, concluded Jones, is when it finishes.

Rep. Fred Head of Henderson brought suit in Jones' court to prevent the Board from redistricting House and Senate. He contended new census data is not complete and that reapportionment should be left until 1973. Head indicated efforts will be made to get his suit before the Supreme Court at the same time as the attack on House reapportionment of the regular session.

TAX STUDY LAUNCHED

New Legislative Property Tax Committee began a four-year study of how property taxation can be made "fair, viable and efficient."

Sen Jim Bates of Edinburg was named chairman of the group and Jack Hart of Midland, staff director.

Hart noted a recent decision of the California Supreme Court may make the Texas committee's job more difficult. California held reliance on property taxes alone to finance public schools is unconstitutional.

Committee's work is being financed by a charge of $1 per delinquent tax receipt authorized by the Legislature this year. Among goals is computerization of ad valorem tax records on a statewide basis.

TEACHER PAY HIKE OK

Up to 90 percent of the 138,000 Texas teachers will get their pay raise as approved by the Legislature in spite of the 90-day wage freeze, under a Texas Education Agency ruling.

Ruling by State Education Commissioner J. W. Edgar is subject to approval by federal authorities. It would go to 1,200 local school districts on September 8 unless reversed in Washington, but is subject to further interpretation at local school board level.

Edgar said teachers had contracts prior to August 15, many were at work July 1, and others had reached an agreement and established eligibility to perform with a local school before the president's freeze order. Commissioner Edgar concluded that raises were in order also in local school districts which pay salaries above the state minimum where agreements were reached before August 15.

Texas Public Employees Association for exceptions from the freeze since the Legislature last June passed an appropriations bill calling for state worker pay raises.

AG OPINIONS

Appropriations bill limitations on extended state pay to aliens do not prohibit the Texas Industrial Commission from hiring a Mexican National to work in Mexico fulltime in a Texas Industrial Commission branch office there, Atty. Gen. Crawford Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

—A justice of the peace who is not an attorney must have served a minimum of two terms of four years each to be exempt from attending a 40-hour course of instruction for non-lawyers.

—Texas Rehabilitation Commission is authorized to deposit funds received from local agencies under a federal establishment grant in a local depository.

Martin said a governor's veto of funds for payment of court costs will handicap his office in prosecution and defense of state cases.

WATER PLAN ALIVE
Master $10 billion water plan to move surplus Mississippi River waters to Texas High Plains farms is still alive, according to Harry Burleigh, executive director of the Texas Water Development Board.

Burleigh urged campaign to win congressional support of plan in 1973, when federal agency water conservation report is due.

Although Texans rejected $3.5 billion bond issue to finance state's share of giant project, it is believed much of the money can now be obtained from the federal government, Burleigh indicated. Two groups, West Texas Chamber of Commerce and Water Inc., are spearheading the new drive for financing.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas motor vehicle registrations topped $7.5 million mark for first time during registration year which ended March 31. Figure was 7,515,053, plus 120,295 exempt registrations.

New Texas Film Commission launched drive last week to get more movie production companies to work in state.

Top government and business leaders will brief Texas industrialists on economic and manufacturing developments at governor's conference here October 13-14.

Texans spent $283 million on new autos from 1,700 franchised dealers last year. All new car dealers after December 1 must have special license from new Texas Motor Vehicle Commission.

Leaving keys in a car is a misdemeanor under new state law. Overcrowding a car is also prohibited, as is failure to set brakes.

U. S. Attorney General intends to hold busing to "absolute minimum" in school integration, a state Republican official reported.

22 People Killed While Hunting

There were 87 reported hunting accidents in Texas, 22 of them fatal, during the 1969-70 fiscal year, according to the Texas Parks and Wildlife Commission. Of the 135 involved, 63 were under 21 years of age and 34 of those were 16 years of age, or younger.

Most hunting accidents are the result of careless, improper or inconsiderate use of firearms, the Commission said. They can be prevented by following these basic rules:

—Treat every gun with the respect due a loaded gun.

—Always point the muzzle in a safe direction.

—Be sure of your target and backstop before you pull the trigger.

—Keep your gun clean, in proper working condition, and use only the ammunition specified for your firearm.

—Always practice courtesy and self control in the field.

ering skiers all over, in and out of the lake. With all that activity, there always is a chance for at least slight accidents to occur, which, although serious at the time, take on a more humorous glow when considered in retrospect.

Take, for instance, the Winters citizen—who shall, for concrete reasons, remain nameless—who tried some real tough skiing. After sailing over the water on his skis for some time, he decided to head for a boat ramp, and released his tow rope. Making a beautiful approach, he was a picture of perfection—until the leading edge of one ski caught an edge of the ramp. . . . Those who were lucky enough to catch his act remember that he left the surface with the grace of a departing swan, sailed through the air all legs-arms-and-elbows, and made a ten-point landing on the concrete ramp, exhibiting all the grace of a gooney bird. For a finale, he cartwheeled up the boat ramp before coming to rest on the asphalt-gravel approach. He suffered a few painful bruises, which will remind him for some time to come of his lakeside performance.

There was a second episode which bears mention, also involving a respectable and dependable Winters citizen, whose identity also must remain unmentioned, because revelation of No. 1 must be accompanied by revelation of No. 2. This individual backed his boat trailer down the ramp—the same location—launched the boat, and with the confidence of a seasoned seaman boarded and started off across the lake. A couple of rope throws away from shore, he sensed a certain coolness around his ankles, and his boat was riding bow-high. . . . weighed down with about a barrel and a half of lake water, in addition to about 150 pounds of camp equipment in the stern. The horrible truth soaked in. . . he had forgotten to put the drain plug back in the boat! He quickly returned to the ramp and put the plug in. But he had to get up the creek with that equipment, and it was in the dead of night. Again he put out from shore, this time hauling half the water in Hords Creek Lake. After beaching up the creek and unloading, he started the return trip—only to find his motor wouldn't start. Campers along the shores of Hords Creek Lake probably will not soon forget the moonlit scene, as one small boat towed a larger, water-filled bow-high vessel back to the loading ramp. When next our boatman launched his boat, he found a pretty, long red ribbon tied to the steering wheel, down the length of the boat to the drain plug!

County Judge Is Named Food, Fiber Week Head

Runnels County Judge Elliott Kemp has been named chairman of the local Texas Food and Fiber Abundance Week observance which will be November 15-21, the week before Thanksgiving, according to C. G. Scruggs, Dallas, vice president and editor of The Progressive Farmer magazine and chairman of the statewide council promoting the special event.

Judge Kemp is expected to call on agricultural and business leaders in the county to work as a committee in promoting appreciation for the abundance of food and fiber from the state's farms and ranches.

Texas Governor Preston Smith and John C. White, state commissioner of agriculture, are honorary chairmen for the statewide observance. Leon Slaughter, Abilene, projects director for the West Texas Chamber of Commerce, is coordinator for the Texas Food and Fiber Abundance Council, a non-profit organization chartered in May, 1971, to "sponsor public relations programs designed to gain consumer appreciation for the abundance, quality and value of food and fiber."

In addition to Slaughter and Scruggs, the other charter directors of the Council include Dr. H. O. Kundel, dean of agriculture, Texas A&M University; Dr. Wayland Bennett, vice president for academic affairs, Texas Tech University; and Don Blacketer, Honey Grove farmer. The latter three serve as vice chairmen. James L. (Curly) Hays, Abilene, West Texas Utilities Co., is treasurer of the Council.

A large number of professional people in agriculture-related businesses, organizations, state and federal agencies, news media, and educational institutions working in the Council.

The first organizational meetings of the Council were held in February in Fort Worth and Austin. Task force committees met in April in Austin, and the finance committee held its first meeting June 29 in Houston. Money to finance news releases, films for television and tapes for radio will come from voluntary contributions.

In the letter naming Judge Kemp as chairman of the county Food and Fiber observance, Scruggs pointed out that agriculture is today—and has been for many years—the number one industry in the State of Texas.

"In this day and age of confusion and confrontation, drugs, pollution, etc., all of us tend to forget that through the unparalleled efficiency of agriculture, America is the best-fed—and at the least cost—of any nation in the world," Scruggs said.

The Council state chairman said that even though a large part of Texas' population is now found in urban areas, the food and fiber industry of Texas figures strongly in the daily economic life of every Texan.

"Over and above that," Scruggs added, "the bountiful array of food and natural fiber available to all is a blessing which no other nation enjoys."

To call attention to these facts the week just before Thanksgiving—November 15-21—has been designated as "Texas Food and Fiber Abundance Week." County judges all across Texas are being asked to give leadership to the effort on the county level.

Beef Production For Future Is Looking Brighter

COLLEGE STATION—People in the cattle business can look to the future with optimism as beef consumption continues its upward spiral across the country, according to Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

The specialist refers to a recent U. S. Department of Agriculture research publication which states that beef now accounts for about two-thirds of all red meat consumed in the United States.

Says Uvacek, "Continuation of the present per capita trends is expected and this coupled with an increasing population will call for a third more beef by 1980. The average American today consumes about 114 pounds of beef annually."

The expansion of beef cow numbers may hold the real key to meeting this increased demand for beef, explains the specialist. Today practically all available calves are being used for feeders, and calf numbers will have to be increased to maintain the growth of the beef industry.

"Cattle feedlots over the U. S. handle more beef today than the entire cattle industry produced a scant 20 years ago," notes Uvacek. "Yet the industry still needs to increase its output by a third to keep pace with trends in population and per capita consumption over the next 10 years."

Farmer Users Of LP Gas May Get Special Permits

If you are engaged in farming, ranching, or other agricultural operations, and use LP gas in farm pickups and other vehicles, you can now secure an annual "Special Farm User Permit" for each vehicle, according to an announcement from the State Comptroller.

The Highway Tax Law for LP gas use has been simplified, it was stated, and for $60 a year for each vehicle, payable in advance, the State Comptroller will issue a decal to be affixed to each vehicle which will signify that the tax has been prepaid. All deliveries and sales to these vehicles will be tax-free, it was stated.

Vehicle owners will have no records to keep—no invoices, no fuel tickets, no monthly reporting—except the speedometer reading. The decal is transferable from one eligible operator to another, said the announcement.

The special permit and decal is available at the State Comptroller's District Offices in San Angelo and Abilene.

If farm vehicle owners elect to use the annual special farm user permit, they must secure a decal for each vehicle operated on LP gas. If owners discontinue use of the special permit for any reason, the Comptroller will refund the unused portion of the advance tax on a pro rata basis. If LP gas carburetion is installed during the year, the owner pays only for the months remaining in a calendar year.

A vehicle owner using LP gas which drives a preponderant mileage above the permit amount in any calendar year, he may be subject to an additional tax at the end of the permit year. Such an additional tax would be on an actual mileage basis, it was stated.

Both patrolmen are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Robert L. Hill, Route 2, Talpa, and are natives of the Wilmet-Winters area. Patrolman Gary Hill and his wife, the former Kay Rogers, live at 201 Live Oak, Ozona. They have a son, Michael Shane.

Student Council Sponsoring Ricky Dean Work Day

The Winters High School Student Council is sponsoring a work day on September 18th with proceeds to go to the Ricky Dean Hospital Fund. A senior member of the student council, Ricky received a broken neck in a fall from a horse late this summer. This was the second break for the former Blizzard footballer as he fractured his neck in a game against Comanche last fall.

Tandy Medford, a student council committee member and a WHS cheerleader, in making the announcement of the work day emphasized that this is a student project involving all high schoolers and is merely sponsored by the student council. The goal is 100 per cent participation by all Winters High students.

Peanut Butter:

There must be something to it! The reason kids like peanut butter when it is so good for them, that is.

Millions of pounds of the nutritious, protein-rich spread are used in the National School Lunch program every year. Because of its popularity with youngsters and its high nutritional value, four tablespoons of peanut butter may be used to meet the protein requirement for a Type A lunch, as outlined by the U. S. Department of Agriculture. The Type A lunch is geared to provide a child with about a third of the nutrients that he needs daily to promote growth, physical development and well-being.

And just in time for another school year, USDA reports that peanuts and peanut products are in plentiful supply this month. It's a good time to stock up for home use, too. The children will look forward to an afternoon snack with the satisfying flavor of peanuts.

Greet them with Peanut Butter Brownies and tall chilled glasses of milk.

1 cup flour
3-4 tsp. baking powder
1-4 tsp. baking soda
1-2 tsp. salt
3 eggs

1-2 cup flour
1-4 cup butter
1 cup crushed peanut brittle

FIX-IT TIP

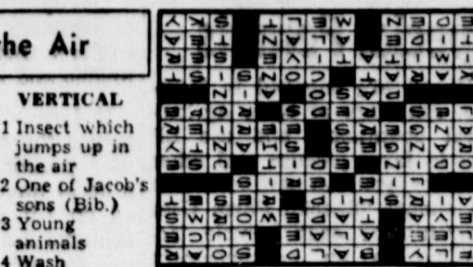

For working the soil, a gardener should get a spading fork (for turning the soil) and a spade (for turning and digging holes). Any deep digging calls for a long-handled pointed shovel. For leveling the turned earth, get an iron rake. A hand trowel is good for setting out small plants. For cultivating, you will need either a pronged cultivator or a hoe. You can get a combination hoe that has a wide blade on one side, a two-pointed blade on the other.

its new economic game plan. Much of this enthusiasm is attributed to the anticipated increase in loan demand and the lessened fear of disintermediation (withdrawal of funds to place in other higher-yield opportunities). The outlook for loans should be enhanced by the stable or generally lower interest rates resulting from this new program, permitting the S&Ls to compete more favorably for the savings dollar.

RECORD SAVINGS RATE

Savings deposits have been flowing in at a record rate thus far in 1971. While it is doubtful that such a pace may long continue, it has nevertheless placed the S&L industry in a strong position to cope with the expanding demand for mortgage loans.

This improved liquidity has allowed the Savings and Loans to repay the expensive Federal Home Loan Bank advances that were made during the tight money periods of 1969 and early 1970. The current rate of these FHLB funds is 6 3/4 percent, which is quite costly compared with the 5 percent paid on regular pass book deposits. Along with the decline in rates paid on term deposits, this resulted in solid first-half earnings gains for most S&Ls. We expect this upward trend to continue.

LOAN DEMAND PERKING UP

The substantial improvement in demand for mortgage loans in the past few months is in sharp contrast to mortgage demand last year, when business was flagging badly and rates on mortgage loans were historically high. There has been a considerable decline in rates from the peaks of twelve months ago, with chances favoring a sideways movement for the balance of the year. The increase in the volume of loans has, however, offset much of the decline in rates.

It is generally agreed that housing construction will be a significant contributor to the economic recovery. And, based on recent statistics for housing starts, residential construction appears to be heading upward. This should result in a higher demand for mortgage loans for the remainder of this year and into 1972. Over the longer term, the market for housing—which in turn governs demand for mortgage money—should show

In addition, last year the Federal Home Loan Bank created a secondary market for conventional loans with the formation of the Federal Home Loan Mortgage Corporation. Even more recently, it has proposed less stringent requirements on participation loans and has made provisions whereby S&Ls can make conventional loans with only a 5 percent down payment. These actions should serve to make the S&Ls more important factors in the mortgage market on a national scale over the years ahead. It also demonstrates the concern felt by the federal government for the housing market and how important the construction of residential homes is to the general recovery of the nation's economy. The Research Department of Babson's Reports recommends Imperial Corporation (NYSE) for its long-term appreciation potential.
