HOME TOWN Talk

BY R. C. THOMAS

"Texans, who have taken pride in their schools for many years, probably can sit by now, apparently helpless(?), and watch while local school control is snatched from their hands, and the whole public school structure, as they have built it and have known it, crumbled into the dust.

They have had their wrists slapped, figuratively, because they have sinned all these many years in the manner in which they have financed operation of their schools. A court has decreed that the method of local taxation for locally-controlled schools — which somehow has worked—is unconstitutional, in that some students in some districts have not had as much spent on their education as students in other districts, because of financial inability, or, more aptly, public unwillingness to part with another dollar for school purposes. This is discrimination, it has been said, and therefore unconstitutional. The decision, which is expected to be upheld all the way to the U. S. Supreme Court, has caused nothing less than chaos to enter the school finance picture, and it will take more-than-level, non-politically-oriented heads to straighten out the mess.

The State Legislature has been given two years to come up with an alternative finance plan for our school system; a plan which will provide an equal amount to be spent on each child, regardless of unwillingness or more-than-willingness on the part of separate district taxpayers.

Most know what this means, the high-sounding claims by politicians to the contrary notwithstanding. The school finance problem will become a political issue, especially in this election year. Our school children will become mere political pawns; the politicians will play football with this one, to the ruin of the locally-controlled school district. This is as sure as the Divine origin of little apples.

Also, if an equal amount must be spent on each child for education in Texas, it stands that the same rule must apply nationwide. (Today, education! Tomorrow, breakfast cereals!) The result, complete federal financing, and consequently complete federal control. And then when absolute control is handed to the bureaucrats, a rapid and certain deterioration of our American-type educational system will begin.

For years there have been individuals and groups who would drastically change our time-proven school systems—"progress" they call it—to take control away from local people. Up to now, they have been successfully fought off — or perhaps "ignored" off. But it appears things are going their way, after all.

It cannot be claimed that the school financing methods we have known and used through the years are without fault. There are many discrepancies; much unfairness exists in many instances. But, even in the face of these faults, they have worked—a great nation stands to prove it. Admittedly, it has also been a method which has allowed, in many cases, the actions of many to be decided by the unwillingness on the part of a few to meet their obligations and responsibilities. But corrections should and can be made, if we will only take the time and effort. They haven't been made up to now, perhaps because we have many times chosen to sit on our hands, and let someone else do our thinking for us. We have allowed our politicians and bureaucrats to call the tunes, while we have listened to different drums—or, sadly, have refused to listen at all. Now, they've apparently got the ball, and are on a down-hill run. And it's going to take some doing to make a permanent, clean tackle.

Good Weather Favors Stock Show Saturday

Unusually good weather favored exhibitors, viewers and livestock at the annual Junior Livestock Show here Saturday, in contrast to wet-cold weather which has prevailed during so many such shows in past years.

Favorable weather conditions, combined with livestock-handling efficiency on the part of exhibitors, judges and sponsors allowed completion of judging and award presentations earlier than usual.

Rex Marks, Winters High School Student, showed his Hereford steer to the grand championship in that division, and also won the overall showmanship award and the sheep showmanship award.

Ronnie Moore received the showmanship award in the steer show. The showmanship award in the swine division went to David Carey.

Leslie and Ricky Dunlap won the herdsman award given by the Runnels County Farm Bureau. The show was sponsored by the Winters Livestock Association, which paid about $1200 in prize money. The Chamber of Commerce also paid about $1200 in prize money, made up by sales of shares in the show to individuals and firms of the community.

Judges and others connected with the showing of livestock expressed much satisfaction regarding the manner in which the show was conducted, and the overall efficiency shown in every department.

Judges were Dennis Ellebracht, vo-ag teacher at Anson, cattle; L. R. McDaniel, vo-ag teacher at Robert Lee, lambs and swine; and Stanley Blackwell, vo-ag teacher at Winters, rabbits and chickens.

LESTER L. JERNAGAN

Retires After 28 Years With Humble Oil Co.

Lester L. Jernagan of Winters has retired from Humble Oil & Refining Company, after 28 years of service. At the time of his retirement, he was assigned as a pumper at Winters, located in the Midland District, Midcontinent Production Division.

At a dinner held recently in honor of his years of service, he was presented retirement mementos by Operations Superintendent E. L. Walling.

Jernagan's hometown is Bristol, Okla. He joined the Humble Company in Hobbs, N. M. Following an assignment in Eunice, transfers took him to field locations at Odessa, Bronte, Ft. Chadbourne, and in 1957 to Colorado City. Four and a half years later he moved to Winters.

Retirement plans for Mr. and Mrs. Jernagan are to maintain their home at 311 Tinkle Street in Winters.

Steering Committee For Rental Housing Named

A first step toward providing additional much-needed rental housing in Winters was taken by the board of directors of the Winters Chamber of Commerce last Thursday night.

The board named a steering committee to draw up plans to form a non-profit organization to investigate possibilities of obtaining loans to construct a project of rental housing units in Winters.

The committee planned to meet this week to organize and begin work on this project.

It has been proposed that a non-profit corporation be organized to obtain long-term, low-interest loans to build several rental units, in an effort to ease the critical rental housing shortage here. A nominal initial fee would be the only requirement for membership in the corporation; to be used to set up the corporation; actual money for construction of rental housing units would be obtained through a loan.

It has been pointed out that it is possible — and feasible— for such a corporation to obtain a 50-year, 3 1-2 percent interest loan from the Farm Home Administration to be used to develop a rental housing project. The corporation would be strictly a non-profit organization.

Named to the steering committee are Hal Dry, Rev. Walter Probst, Woodrow Watts, C. R. Kendrick, George Beard, Nolan Bahlman, D. C. Bissett, Raymon Lloyd, and Mrs. Emma Marks.

The steering committee is not an integral part of the Chamber of Commerce organization, it was pointed out. The Chamber board served only as the appointing medium, and the steering committee and the final non-profit corporation will be independent of the Chamber of Commerce.

Shortage of rental housing in Winters has been a problem for some time, sponsors of the project have pointed out. The local industrial community, along with other parts of the community, have been in a state of expansion for some time, and are on the threshold of even further growth, it was stated. However, lack of suitable housing for additional work forces, and even present workers, has proven a problem. Many people now employed locally presently commute from other towns in the area, it was said, and a survey recently indicated that many would move to Winters, if rental housing could be provided.

Bank Deposits At New High

Deposits in The Winters State Bank, as of Dec. 31, 1971, were at an all-time high, according to a statement of condition released this week.

The statement showed a total of $8,043,380.54 on deposit in the Winters bank, compared to $7,299,508.52 for the same date of the previous year.

Loans also showed an increase — $2,996,230.22 as of Dec. 31, 1971; $2,916,258.95 for the previous year.

Total assets have climbed almost a million dollars during the past year, according to the statement. As of Dec. 31, 1971, total assets were $8,933,085.14. This figure had passed the $8 million mark — $8,135,794.12 — for the first time in the history of the bank as of Dec. 31, 1970, and has continued to climb.

Woodrow Watts, president of the Winters State Bank, credited a big portion of the increase to "diversified agricultural efforts" locally. A major factor has been a strong increase in livestock prices during the past several months. Livestock men have been realizing "some of the highest livestock prices in years," it was indicated. This fact has helped to bridge the gap created by the low crop production in this area the past year, caused at first by dry weather, and then finally by unusually wet weather the last part of the season.

Another factor, and a most important one, in the local economic situation has been the ever-increasing industrial growth and expansion in this community, Watts pointed out. Local industry, which has realized phenomenal upward changes in the past few years, continues to maintain its "strong support in the stabilization of the economy of the community," he stressed. This situation re-emphasizes the desirability of a broad-based economic structure for communities such as this, with agriculture, industry and petroleum and petroleum-oriented enterprises forming an "economic partnership."

Annual Report of Audit Indicates City In Good Financial Condition

Revenues and expenses for the City of Winters, for the fiscal year ending September 30, 1971, were about the same as those reported for the previous fiscal period, according to a report of audit released this week. The report indicates that the City of Winters remains in "a sound position," according to city officials.

Income from taxes (penalties and interest included) were up a bit over the previous year, $92,642.41 to $87,462.84, but expenses in the General Fund also showed a like increase in most instances, leaving the balance practically unchanged.

Total operating revenue for the city's electric power showed only a few dollars increase over the past year — $150,949.06 to $150,774.27 — with operating expenses at $117,578.57 to $109,324.04. Line and plant maintenance items showed several thousand dollars increase.

In the water department, water sales, tapping fees and other income showed an increase over 1970. Here again operating expenses showed a like increase, with very little change from the previous year.

Protection Is Big Business

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., January 1972. Serious crime in America has continued to rise year after year, particularly in the suburbs and rural areas. It is little wonder then that the protection industry — those firms that supply armed guards, armored cars, burglar alarms, protective weapons, photographic security systems, etc. — is a large and growing business. Annual spending on such equipment and services is in excess of a billion dollars, and further strong gains are looked for in coming years.

Uniformed Guard Service

There are several sizable companies involved in the uniformed guard service area of the protection industry. The two largest are Pinkerton's Inc. and Burns International Security Services. Others include Baker Industries, Wackenhut Corp., Globe Security Systems (70 percent owned by Walter Kidde), and Bell Television which controls Holmes Protection Inc. For the most part these companies have made good progress in recent years, and further gains are expected. In this group the favorite of the Research Staff of Babson's Reports is Burns International.

Burns Int'l Security Services

A brief rundown will show that this fast-growing acquisition-minded company has a good record and a promising future. It provides a full range of protections, but the bulk of its revenues comes from uniformed guard services. In recent years expansion has been in the area of electronic alarm central stations, which have fine potential. At mid-1971, twenty-one such stations were in operation, the majority of them on a profitable basis.

In 1970 earnings rebounded well from the dip experienced in 1969 — $1.16 per share versus $1.01. For the 1971 first half, results about equaled those of the 1970 first half. However, in the second half profits were lower due to controls over prices plus write-off costs of some central stations. This year and beyond, though, we anticipate a resumption of the uptrend. Stock looks like a good rebound candidate.

Armored Cars

Two companies are dominant in the armored car section of the protection industry—Baker Industries (which provides armored cars under the Wells Fargo name) and Brinks Inc. (80 percent of its outstanding stock owned by Pittston Company). Baker offers a full range of protective services and some protective products in addition to armored cars. The company has a good growth record and promising future prospects. Since February 1971, the stock of Brinks has been available over-the-counter. But there are only 500,000 public shares outstanding. Pittston, however, is listed on the New York Stock Exchange. The bulk of its profits comes from coal operations, as well as transportation, warehousing and oil distribution.

Protection Equipment Companies

Protective equipment covers a wide spectrum—from helicopters used by police departments to locks for windows and doors. Obviously, many companies are involved in producing some type of protective equipment, but there are few that have major interests in this field. For example, American District Telegraph is a leader in electronic detection devices, i.e. automatic camera systems for banks and stores, alarm devices, etc.; A-T-O Inc. makes sprinkler systems, burglar alarms, gas masks, and other security products; Diebold Inc. is the leading maker of bank security systems such as vault doors and linings, and safe deposit boxes; and Federal Sign & Signal manufactures emergency vehicle warning lights, sirens, bullhorns, and electronic devices for clocking speeding cars.

In firearms, Colt, Remington Arms, and Bangor Punta (through its Smith & Wesson subsidiary) are important participants. Bangor Punta also produces traffic safety equipment as well as chemical Mace. But its primary business is recreational and industrial products.

Ralph Novak's National Scene

A New National Crisis

By RALPH NOVAK

(CEF)

What is likely to become 1972's big national problem is prowling somewhere just over the horizon, waiting to join our growing list of burning issues. The new entry is public school financing, a problem that affects people in two vital areas: their budgets and their children.

Criticism of American schools has outrun the multiplication tables in recent years, touching all the grades from kindergarten through graduate school, all the subjects from algebra through zoology. And, while there is evidence that money alone cannot help the schools in most cases, there is growing unrest in school districts with low per-pupil expenditures.

The immediate impetus for the aroused interest is a recent ruling by the California Supreme Court that said the traditional principal means of financing elementary, junior and high schools—the property tax—is unconstitutional because it discriminates against children who live in poor districts.

How far this doctrine will be extended legally is still uncertain. But it has had considerable psychological effect already and is likely to have more. Lowering property taxes, or at least avoiding future increases, is an understandably popular idea and even though the new money will have to come from other taxes it seems less painful when those taxes are collected at state and federal levels and a decreasing role for overburdened local taxes seems inevitable.

Dr. Harold V. Webb, executive director of the National School Boards Assn., has proposed that local taxes be used to supply 20 per cent of school budgets, with the states and the federal government dividing the rest equally. President Nixon's Commission on School Finance is reportedly drawing up plans for a national sales tax—something on the order of 3 per cent—that would raise $7-billion to $10-billion a year, which would bring the federal share of national school costs up to 20 per cent.

Once the theorizing has ended, the practical problem of setting up some sort of equitable distribution of local-state-federal shares of school costs is going to create a political battle of Super Bowl proportions. And that isn't even taking into account the turmoil that will be aroused by those who believe education should be locally controlled, especially those people who live in prosperous communities and can now afford to provide better—or at least richer—schools for their children.

It is something to think about for those who are tired of worrying over Vietnam, the environment and inflation.

officials may revoke the license of anyone unfit to handle a car. But they may not classify a person as unfit without good grounds. Even a physical disability may not be enough to disqualify a driver if the disability can be kept under adequate control.

For example: A man had diabetes. But his condition was such that the possibility of insulin shock was slight. And if shock did occur, it would give him enough warning to allow him to pull over to the curb. A court held that his license could not be revoked.

Another man occasionally suffered from double vision. But he could clear it up instantly just by shutting one eye. His license, too, was held not subject to revocation.

However, a court refused similar help to a woman afflicted by heart trouble, high blood pressure, and partial paralysis on one side. Seeking to have her license restored, she recalled that she had driven for 30 years without an accident.

But the court, noting the very real possibility of sudden trouble, said her good driving in the past was no guarantee against bad driving in the future. As one judge put it: "The purpose is not punishment of the driver but the protection of the public."

A public service feature of the American Bar Association and the State Bar of Texas. Written by Will Bernard.

narily fix the precise moment when he lapses into unconsciousness. But it is not true that ordinarily sleep comes unheralded. It lies within his own control to keep awake or cease driving.

Background factors, contributing to the danger, are also taken into account. One driver had been at the wheel continuously for 18 hours; another was exhausted from overwork; a third had kept going after twice almost "fading out." In each case, when the driver dozed off, he was held liable for the results.

Suppose it is the passenger, not the driver, who falls asleep. Does the law frown on that too? Occasionally the passenger does have a duty to stay awake — when he has some special reason to think that the driver needs watching. But as a rule he may nap at will, putting his trust in the driver to take care.

In one case a woman in the back seat dozed off and slumped against the driver's seat, pushing it forward and knocking his hands off the steering wheel. In the crash that followed, the driver was injured.

Could he collect damages from the woman on the theory that her falling asleep was an act of negligence? A court said no, because a passenger could scarcely be expected to anticipate such a freakish accident just from falling asleep.

"(She) was required to exercise foresight," said the court, "not clairvoyance."

TOO OLD TO DRIVE?

As auto accidents go, Mrs. Martin's collision with another car was nothing special. But soon afterward, bad news arrived in the mail.

"Your driver's license has been revoked," said a notice from the Traffic Bureau. Mrs. Martin, an ardent motorist, decided to put up a fight. Challenging the Traffic Bureau in court, she pointed out that the collision was in no way her fault.

"Even so," countered a Bureau spokesman, "this woman has already passed her 77th birthday. That alone is enough basis for us to revoke her license."

But the court disagreed. Ordering the license restored, the court said advanced years alone are not enough reason to take away a person's right to drive.

Record Pompano Hits the Books

Austin — One of the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department's "open" saltwater fish records has been filled by a 6 pound, 1 ounce pompano caught by a Dallas woman fishing from the jetty at Port Aransas.

Mrs. Jerald Feldman caught the fish on a live shrimp April 23, 1971. It was 19 1/4 inches long and had a girth of 16 inches.

The department's Texas Game Fish Records Committee took over maintenance of the state's fish records in late 1970. The pompano was one of the categories without an official entry.

Fish submitted as state records must be weighed on scales certified for trade and witnessed by two persons, one of whom must be a disinterested party. Pictures and length and girth measurements are also required by the committee.

Many Rules Are Changed For Vote Registration

There have been many changes made affecting Texas voters, regarding times of registration and age of prospective voter.

Under the new regulations, all citizens who wish to vote in 1972 must be at least 18 years of age, and must be registered at least 31 days prior to the election in which they wish to cast a ballot.

All registrants, regardless of age, may vote in any election held after March 1, 1972, provided they have a valid registration certificate dated at least 31 days before the date of the election. Previously, the 18-21 year old group could vote only in national elections.

Only the registrant, his or her spouse, father, mother, son or daughter may register for other members of the immediate family. This does not include in-laws, according to the law. The registrant signing for an immediate family member must be a qualified voter before he can register for another person.

If a voter has moved to a new county after having registered in another county, they must re-register in the new county of residence in order to be eligible to vote after having completed the six-months residency requirement.

Registration made this year will be in effect for a period of three years. If a voter casts a ballot in either a primary or general election, he will be automatically eligible for an additional year.

There is no need to register each year, unless the voter moves to another county or another precinct.

Voters may register at any time during the year, with no deadline. But in order to vote in any given election, the registration certificate must be obtained more than 31 days prior to that election.

There is no charge for voter registration, which is accomplished through the tax assessor-collector's office in the county of residence.

Fish Ponds Can Supplement Farm Economy

Primary purpose of a farm pond is to supply water for livestock, Ken Schrank, Soil Conservationist with the Runnels County Soil Conservation Service, said, but fish production should not be overlooked.

A good fish pond can help the farm economy as well as furnish many hours of family pleasure. Schrank also said that commercial catfish farming is becoming a big business and many ponds are constructed primarily for the purpose of fish production.

It doesn't matter if you plan to raise fish for family fishing or for commercial fish production, Schrank said, pond management is very important if the desired results are to be obtained. A fish pond should be managed one of three ways: By feeding, by fertilization, or by a combination of the two. Some ponds may have a weed problem—if so, the application of fertilizer will cause the water to become cloudy, therefore cutting out the sunlight, and without sunlight, water weeds will not grow. At the same time, the fertilizer will promote the growth of a vast number of desirable small plants. Fish do not eat the fertilizer, or small plants to any extent, but they eat the insects and other small animal life that feed on the tiny plants. A satisfactory fertilizer is one that contains about 8 pounds of nitrogen, 8 pounds of phosphorus, and two pounds of potash per hundred pounds. If you plan to feed, only a very small amount, if any, should be fed during the cold winter months. When the water temperature reaches 55 degrees F., food should be increased.

A good catfish food should contain approximately 30 percent to 45 percent protein, not less than 5 percent crude fat and 10-15 percent fiber. Feed should be made into pellets that will remain together for at least 10 minutes after being put into the water. Feed only the amount the fish will eat at one time. Decaying food in the water may cause bacterial diseases or oxygen depletion, and result in a fish kill.

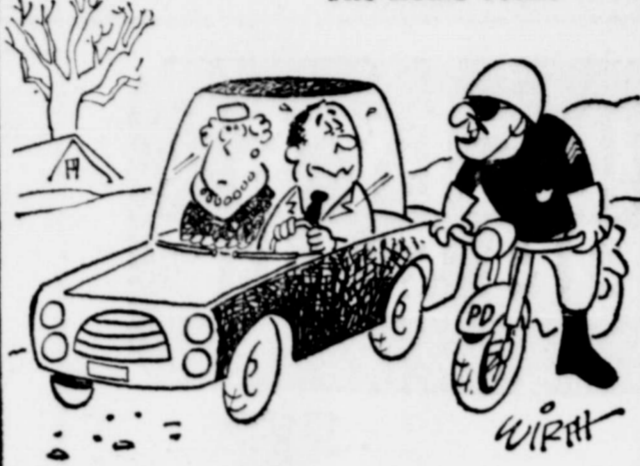

Experience will show the correct amount to feed at one time. However, approximately 3 percent of the body weight per day, 6 or 7 days a week is a good rule of thumb. All food should be consumed within one hour.

Happy Homemaking

By BARBARA BAKER

If you want to hold your pattern and fabric smooth and firm when planning or cutting, use little bags (about 2 inches by four inches) filled with beans for weights.

To clean fashionable fake furs, try rubbing cornmeal into the fabric, then rolling the garment into a sheet and letting it stand a couple of hours. Then shake and brush.

Fold a washcloth in half and sew across the bottom and along one side. About one-inch down from the opening, sew on a tie string on one side, long enough so it will tie completely around. Put your small pieces of bath soap into this sack and use to shower with.

A doorknob is a good place to keep rubber bands in the home.

To save time and bruised fingers when hammering a curtain rod bracket to a window frame, clear tape it on first. Drive the nails, then remove the tape. The bracket will not slip and will be just where you measured for it.

Strictly Fresh

Why do the supermarket packers always put the canned goods atop the egg cartons?

Whatever its faults, the Establishment has the wherewithal to insure that those who would have no establishment are supplied with the requirements for keeping their rebellious selves from starving.

These days, about the only thing you can't get on time is a meal in a restaurant.

Anyone who thinks breaking a mirror isn't bad luck hasn't had to shell out for a new one recently.

A cynic is a fellow who knocks opportunity.

Never feed more than 30 pounds per acre per day. Catfish grow rapidly during the first few months. Under optimal conditions, channel catfish generally double their weight each month until hot weather in July and August, when growth slows.

According to Schrank, a channel catfish can take 1½ pounds of commercial feed and produce one pound of meat, or one ton of feed, costing less than $100, will produce 1,333 pounds of meat worth $400 to $800. No other farm animal is this profitable.

If you would like more information on fish pond management, contact the Runnels County Soil Conservation Service office.

Time To Plan Brush Control

Gerald W. Merz, Range Conservationist, with the local Soil Conservation Service, assisting the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District said today, that landowners in the District need to start planning their brush control practices for 1972.

This planning should be done early and with consideration for several items, Merz said. Some of these items are: (1) Which pasture to treat, (2) What type of brush control to use, (3) Whether or not seeding is needed and if so, what kind of grass seed to use and how much should be put out, (4) How long will pasture need to be rested, and (5) Consideration for wildlife habitat.

Once the rancher has decided these things, he is ready to get started, Merz said, but if he can not or will not rest the treated area for a reasonable period of time following treatment, the rancher may as well not spend this time and money.

Without the proper follow-up management, including proper grazing use and frequent de-ferrals, the brush control and seeding will not bring about any lasting improvement, Merz said.

"THE DESERTER"

During the settlement of the southwestern border states in the 1880's, the Apache Indians made the white man suffer for his conquest of their lands. Led by proud warrior chieftains who showed no mercy to the enemy, they burned, ravaged and slaughtered the intruders and vanished into sanctuaries of the mountains.

The United States Cavalry, under-manned and unaccustomed to fighting this type of war, was powerless to curtail the slaughter.

This is the background for Paramount Pictures' "The Deserter," a Dino De Laurentiis Production produced by Norman Baer and Ralph Serpe and directed by Burt Kennedy from a screenplay by Clair Huffaker.

"The Deserter" showing Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre, is the story of a grief-stricken Army Captain who, having lost his wife in an Apache raid, deserts into the hills to carry on a one-man vendetta against the Indians.

Bekim Fehmiu, who made his international screen debut in Paramount's "The Adventurers," heads the cast which includes Richard Crenna, Chuck Connors, Ricardo Montalban, Ian Bannen, and John Huston, as General Miles.

Pheasant Hunters Not Too Successful

San Angelo — The nine-day Texas Panhandle pheasant harvest was down from last year, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials. Hunters this year took approximately 7,000 birds compared to 12,000 last year. Biologists for the department blamed the decrease in harvest on a number of things including a lower population of birds this year and rain and snow before and during the season. The bad weather before the season prevented farmers from turning under the large tracts of crop stubble, and during the season, hunters had a difficult time driving to hunting areas due to the mud. Only 35 percent of the hunters this year got birds compared to 57 percent last year.

Unwelcome Buck Lands In Motorist's Lap

Denison—You've heard of bees in the bonnet, ants in the pants and bats in the belfry. Are you ready for a deer in your lap? Bob Magouirk, superintendent of Eisenhower State Park, escaped serious injury recently when his car struck a seven-point buck crossing U. S. Highway 75 near here. The struggling animal shared the front seat with Magouirk after crashing through the windshield. Luckily, the thrashing buck expired at about the same time Magouirk got the vehicle stopped. The driver was treated at a local hospital for minor cuts and released.

...about your SOCIAL SECURITY

Just what is an annual report? According to J. M. Talbot, social security manager, this is a report which many of our beneficiaries must complete and send to the social security office. This report is designed to inform us of a beneficiary's earned income for the most recent year and also advise us of what he expects to earn in the current year. In addition, there are questions on specific earnings for each month. Talbot said that this report must be completed and mailed to the social security office no later than April 15, 1972.

There is a special rule to help

Medicare beneficiaries in meeting the $50 deductible. If you have Medicare expenses in the last three months of a year which can be counted toward your $50 deductible for that year, they can also be counted toward the $50 annual deductible for the next year. This is called the carry-over rule. So, even if you have not met the $50 deductible before October, be sure to send in all the bills for covered services you receive in October, November, or December. The carry-over will be credited to your deductible for both years.

For more information, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet

BEDFORD INSURANCE AGENCY

Congratulations. You just saved $5 by doing your own income tax. And all it cost you was three long, sleepless nights. And a slight case of heartburn.

If you had gone to H & R Block, on the other hand, you could have relaxed while someone else figured out your return. Quickly and confidentially. Probably unlike any way you've ever done it before.

And, when you figure your own, you may be entitled to deductions you're not taking and taking deductions you're not entitled to. For instance, do you know all about deductions for child care or casualty losses? Or, that if your income increased over the last few years, you may save tax dollars by "income averaging"? And even if you did, would you know how to go about "income averaging" to begin with? Probably not. And there's no reason why you should. After all, you're an amateur when it comes to doing income tax.

You see, when it comes to income taxes, amateurs should depend on H & R Block. We have over 6,000 conveniently located offices manned by thousands of specially trained personnel. They're warm and friendly people who are anxious to help you. They'll sit you down over a free cup of coffee and show you some things about your income tax that you might never have known existed.

Furthermore, if your return is audited, we will accompany you, at no extra cost, to the Internal Revenue Service and explain how your return was prepared, even though we will not act as your legal representative.

This means that H & R Block is ready to offer you year round tax service for just one low fee a year, with no extra charge for audits and estimates.

H & R Block's charges start at $5 and the average cost was under $12.50 for the 7 million families we served last year.

Which is somewhat less than what you paid.

Not to mention the fact that aggravation isn't tax deductible.

And we are.

DON'T LET AN AMATEUR DO H&R BLOCK'S JOB.

Gas Drying Electric Drying

Either we're four times cheaper, or they're four times more expensive.

Gas drying is not only easier on your pocketbook, it also makes life a whole lot easier. For one thing, gas drying practically eliminates the need for ironing. The new gas dryers are so gentle that clothes come out almost wrinkle-free. Clothes are tumbled dry, then cooled, and gently fluffed. Automatically Pleats stay pleated. Creases stay creased.

Take a look at the new gas dryers at your gas appliance dealer. Then do something nice for yourself.

And your pocketbook.

All this for a cost of about a penny a load. (Or $2.00 a ton.)

Winters Schools Have Met All "Shots" Deadlines

In contrast with situations existing in some schools, the Winters Schools have had no problems resulting from state requirements that all students be inoculated against certain diseases.

Requirements included that students be inoculated by January 1, or at least be started on an immunization schedule. Some schools over the state were forced to send students home on the first school day of the new year because these requirements had not been met, it was reported.

This situation did not exist in the Winters Schools, according to Superintendent of Schools Carroll Tatom, because of a concentrated — immunization program which had been set up earlier in the year. All students have completed the series of shots, or have been started, and no students were prevented from attending classes, he said.

Supt. Tatom also said that as of January 1, there no longer is a requirement for smallpox vaccinations before entering school. This requirement, which had been on the books for many years, was suspended by the State some months ago.

Good Weather, 3671 Bales In

Favorable weather during the past few days has caused an increase in activities at the Winters Cotton Warehouse. 3671 bales of cotton from the 1971 crop have been received from North Runnels gins, with a promise of some yet to come.

With the good weather, more farmers have been able to get into fields to strip. Also, according to some farmers, some cotton which had been considered marginal, profit-wise, a few weeks ago, and which had been given up for lost, is being salvaged, because of the higher prices now being received.

Cottonmen have no way of estimating just how much more of last year's crop will be stripped, given good weather. Much had already been shredded, and many fields still are too wet and seepy to enter with cotton strippers and tractors. At best, completion of stripping in this area will last much later than in normal years.
