HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

The people of half of North Runnels County—making up most of Precinct No. 3 area-wise and tax-wise—stand to lose their last shred of hope for local representation on the county level, if they fail to go to the polls and vote in the Primary Election Saturday of next week, May 6!

Pat Pritchard of Wingate, incumbent County Commissioner from Precinct 3, is a candidate for re-nomination and re-election to that office, and in his candidacy rests the final note of any strictly local voice in county affairs for this precinct—roughly one-fourth of the area of the county. If the people of the precinct fail to return him to office, representation on the county level will be over-balanced to favor Ballinger and the south part of the county; the entire section of North Runnels will have only one voice in County Commissioners' affairs, and only one on the County School Board!

This is the result of the re-districting action taken last summer, which re-arranged the Commissioners' precinct lines so that three of the four county precincts were extended to include large parts of Ballinger. The re-alignment, done in the name of the courts' "one-man, one-vote" rulings, threw a heavy concentration of Ballinger votes—and a small area of land—into Precinct No. 3, creating an actual threat to local representation for residents of the rest of the precinct. This threat became a reality, as we all know, in the recent County School Board election, and the heavy number of votes from the Ballinger area defeated a bid for local representation on that board.

This same thing could happen in the Commissioner's Precinct voting Saturday of next week, unless ALL the voters of the larger—north—part of Precinct No. 3 go to the polls and prevent it. Failing, the people of the area, which includes a portion of Winters, will find they have no direct local voice in county affairs, even though they carry a more-than-large share of the financial burden.

Several factors have contributed to the growth, Woodrow Watts, president of The Winters State Bank, said, the most important being the enlargement and healthy condition of the local economy.

Deposits At Bank Reach New High

Deposits in the Winters State Bank as of April 18 were at an all-time high, according to a report of condition as of that date.

The report of condition published this week subsequent to the call of April 18 shows that total on deposit on that date was $8,715,367.55.

This amount is more than twice that on deposit as of March 26, 1962. Report on that date 10 years ago showed $4,339,954.24 on deposit. The 1972 total also is considerably higher than the total deposit in 1968. On the same date—April 18—in 1968, total deposits were at $5,339,368.73.

Pat Pritchard has been an able representative of the people of old Precinct No. 3, and will continue to represent them fairly if returned to office in the new precinct. The people need to return him to office if they expect to retain some measure of local control over the manner in which their county affairs are conducted. After all, they are paying for it!

Jack Martin Gets High DeMolay Award at Odessa

Jack Martin of Winters received a high honor from the Odessa chapter of the Order of DeMolay during a special ceremony at Odessa Saturday.

The Odessa chapter presented Martin with a 50-year DeMolay service emblem, said to be the first such emblem presented in Texas. DeMolay is a Masonic order for young men.

Taking part in the presentation ceremony were grandsons of Martin, Wayne, Paul and Mark Frost, all members of the Odessa DeMolay chapter. Presentation was made during an open meeting of the order and was a complete surprise to Martin, who with Mrs. Martin was visiting a daughter, Mrs. J. F. Frost, and family in Odessa.

A second modern emergency vehicle has been added to the ambulance department of Spills Funeral Home in Winters. The addition makes the local service equal to any such service in the area, Mrs. John Gardner, manager of the company, said.

The new ambulance, a 1972 Chevrolet Zephyr, delivered last Friday, is fully emergency equipped, air conditioned, and has an integrated public address system for traffic control, and electronic twin sirens and emergency vehicle lights. The ambulance can accommodate three litter patients at one time.

The other ambulance in service, a 1970 Chevrolet, is identically equipped. Radio control may be added in the future, it was stated, perhaps to tie in with a central station in the New North Runnels Hospital. Spill's operates the ambulance service on a 24-hour basis, and the second vehicle will provide uninterrupted service, Mrs. Gardner said. The ambulances will be available for emergency use, transportation of patients, locally and out of the area.

Mrs. Lena Wheat Gets Award For S. Army Work

Mrs. Lena Wheat of Wingate Tuesday was presented a plaque in recognition of her work in the Wingate Community for the Salvation Army.

The presentation was made at the Tuesday noon meeting of the Winters Lions Club, by Jim Stroher of Abilene, Service Unit Representative for the Salvation Army in a 37-county area.

W. M. Hays, treasurer of the Winters Salvation Army Service Unit, introduced Stroher, in the absence of the chairman of the local unit, Ted Meyer, who has been ill. Mrs. Wheat's son, Gene Wheat, is president of the Winters Lions Club.

"Sno-Men" Make Last Appearance At Lions Club

The "Sno-Men," a stage band group from the Winters High School Blizzard Band, and "The Jubilee Road," a country-western group made up of members of the Sno-Men, presented their last public concert at the Tuesday meeting of the Winters Lions Club.

The group is under the direction of Kirke McKenzie, Blizzard Band director.

Featured during the concert was Brenda Smith, twirler with the Blizzard Band, who twirled batons and sabers during two numbers.

McKenzie said the name for the country-western group was taken from a street, Jubilee Road, located in Nashville, Tenn., world's capital of country-western music. Although many young people—and adults as well—enjoy country western music, McKenzie said, "only a few know the music. This is one group which really knows the music and enjoys performing."

Jubilee Road members are Jay Hefflin, lead guitar and vocalist; Scott King, bass; Jerry Mack Jackson, traps; Lisa and Lesli Bishop, vocalists and piano; and Tjesia Sharpes, vocalists.

Blizzard Band musicians making up the Sno-Men stage band are:

Flutes: Maurine Riess, Trish Hill, Barbara Fahey.

Clarinets: Ginger Fahey, Lea Mostad, Paul Gerhardt.

Bass Clarinet: Kay Schwartz.

Alto Sax: Lou Ann Cole, Suzanne Russell, Robbie Morrison.

Tenor Sax: Benji Lee, Kandy Rougas.

Baritone Sax: Robert Engert.

French Horns: Keva Harrison, David Carey.

Baritones: D u s t y Nichols and Marvin Clark.

Little League Organized At Monday Nite Meeting

A complete re-organization of the Winters Little League Association was accomplished Monday night, as about 170 people interested in the program met in the Community Center to make plans for the season.

Charles (Chili) Black, athletic director of the Winters Schools, was elected president of the Association, succeeding Darrell Compton, who was named some time ago but who is moving from the community.

James Spill was elected vice president, and Gayland Robinson, secretary-treasurer.

Other officers named at Monday night's meeting are John McAdoo, player agent; Lynn Billups and Pat Wood, umpire committee; Jerry Whitlow and Leonard Bowden, grounds committee; and Bill Robinson, purchasing agent.

The Winters Little League Association includes teams from Winters, Wingate, Lawn, Tuscola, Bronte and Robert Lee.

Work was begun immediately to complete plans for the season, assignment of teams and managers, and scheduling of games. Play will not begin until the last week of school, it was understood, but practice probably will begin within the next few days.

A draft of players and team assignments will be made within a few days.

Organization of the Little League program for this year had gotten off to a slow start, but Monday night's meeting produced an unusual amount of enthusiasm, backers said. It is expected that more parents of Little League players will become involved in the program and planning, they said.

A ladies Auxiliary, to promote concession stands and do other work within the Association, probably will be formed, it was stated.

President Black will make additional announcements of plans as they are developed.

LL Mothers To Form Auxiliary Next Thursday

Mothers of Little League baseball players, and other women interested in promoting the Little League program, will meet next Thursday, May 4, in the City Hall. The meeting begins at 7 p. m.

All women interested in helping with this project are invited and urged to attend the meeting.

Runnels Baptist Men Will Meet Monday In Ballinger

Runnels Association Baptist Men will meet Monday, May 1, at the Seventh Street Baptist Church in Ballinger, at 7:30 p. m.

The program will be given by Robert Wood, of Texas Parks and Wildlife Department, and the Rev. Gene Rotramel, pastor of the host church. Curtis Jones is director of Baptist men for the host church.

Parents of children who are not enrolled in kindergarten or the first grade this year, and who did not attend the Round-Up meeting Tuesday, are asked to contact Mrs. Young at 754-4037 to make appointments for health interviews. FFA Parent-Son Banquet Scheduled Next Tuesday In Community Center

The annual Parent-Son banquet of the Winters Chapter of the Future Farmers of America will be held in the Winters Community Center at 8 p. m. next Tuesday night.

The banquet is an annual affair to honor parents of FFA members, directors of the livestock show and their wives, members of the school board and their wives, and members of the high school faculty and their wives or husbands, and other supporters of the FFA program, and Honorary FFA Members.

Because a complete list of persons who have been named Honorary FFA Members during past years is not available, sponsors have issued a blanket invitation to them to attend the banquet.

Master of ceremonies for the banquet program will be Ronnie Moore, chapter president.

Awards to FFA members will be presented during the evening and film highlights of the year's activities will be shown.

The FFA Sweetheart, Wandrea Parrish, and the two FFA Queens, Gayla Springer and Janice Stevens, will be recognized at the banquet.

Two Winters VICA students won third place in State Meeting, Dallas

Two Winters High School students, competing against students from 3-A and 4-A schools from all areas of the state, last weekend won third places in their respective contests at the State VICA meeting at the Memorial Auditorium in Dallas.

Larry Calcote won third place in the Technical Information test for Diesel Mechanics.

Van Springer won third place in the Technical Information test for Small Engine Repairmen.

The two Winters students were the only students from 2-A schools competing with contestants from 3-A and 4-A schools.

Guest speaker at the convention was H. Ross Perot.

Calcote is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Calcote. He is president of the Winters VICA Club and his training sponsor is E. E. Thormeyer of Farm Equipment.

Springer is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leon Springer and is parliamentarian of the local VICA Club. His training sponsor is W. M. Hays of Western Auto Store.

The two VICA members were accompanied by Dallas by Robert Statham, club adviser.

The Vocational Industrial Clubs of America (VICA) is a national organization of youth preparing for careers in industry. These students are studying in more than 100 different trade and industrial curricula—throughout the United States, while the purpose of the instructional programs of vocational education is to give the students skills to enter the labor market. Statham said, VICA clubs give them opportunity to develop their fullest potentials in citizenship, leadership and character. VICA youth activities also foster a respect for the dignity of work, said Statham, promote high standards in trade ethics, workmanship, scholarship and safety, and develop patriotism by practicing democracy.

WASHINGTON, D. C.—Spring comes a bit later in this area than it does there at home. During the past week the whole place has put on new clothes. The leaves are not all out but they show up almost overnight. Flowers and blooming trees are everywhere.

It suggests that our generation has inherited a very beautiful world. We have also inherited oceans and streams filled with fish and tidal waters have teemed with lobsters, crabs, oysters and clams. Unfortunately, some of these things are greatly diminished simply because we have not taken care of them.

From near Washington on a clear day the Blue Ridge Mountains loom in the background and the hills seem to command man's tenderest care. But the uglifiers have their way—there in a mountain run a rump-sprung easy chair, its rusty coils appearing almost obscene, and spring asters and jonquils grow up amid a bed of beer cans.

Not long ago a visitor to Athens stood on a street corner uneasily contemplating what to do with his after-breakfast cigarette, which had now burned down to the filter.

The busy sidewalk was immaculate. According to his description, the gutters looked as if they had just been combed and brushed. He said that every place he traveled in Greece he had seen the same tidiness. Finally the tourist pinched out the cigarette on his shoe, dropped the butt in his camera bag and soon returned to America remembering with admiration the cleanliness of Greece.

The Greeks are not alone in keeping things orderly. It appears in Finland, Sweden and Denmark. The small towns of Switzerland and Holland make us ashamed of our own outdoor clutter.

This same American told the story of Vice Premier Pattakos who once had his limousine pause in traffic behind a taxi occupied by a British lady. She tossed an empty cigarette package out the window. The Vice Premier asked the taxi to stop and personally escorted the lady back to the cigarette package lying in the street. Picking it up he handed it to her. "But I don't want it," she protested. "Neither do we," said Pattakos.

Everyone has seen our high-way employees trying to keep the rights-of-way free of rubbish of one sort or another. They do the best they can but have a hard time keeping up. Our affluent society, like some beast, slouches across the land and leaves its ugly spore behind: beer cans, milk cartons, paper cups, brown bags, paper—plain junk.

Some have speculated on the melancholy tale that one day in some ultimate madness, man will blow this earth to smithereens and leave a dead planet hurtling through space. Thousands of years will pass before new archeologists will appear on the scene from a different galaxy to shift the ashes of

STOCK MARKET

by BABSON'S REPORTS INC.

Wellesley Hills, Mass. — The White House continues to study the feasibility of the value-added tax (VAT), a system being used increasingly to raise government revenues in Europe. Latest word is that Administration aides feel the President is favorably inclined toward the idea and may submit it to Congress after the election in November.

BASICALLY A SALES LEVY

In essence, VAT is a general sales tax, though it differs from any such imposts now in effect in the United States. It is collected—bit by bit, proportionate to the value added—as products pass through the various manufacturing and distribution stages. Each seller receives credit for the tax he has paid to the manufacturer or processor from whom he bought. So in the end it is the consumer who bears the full brunt of the levy.

In order to tone down this blatantly regressive feature of VAT and make it more palatable to consumers, a system of personal-income-tax credits and rebates would be set up. Also, stress would be placed on VAT's overall revenue-raising potential, along with the proposal that these revenues be earmarked for support of public elementary and secondary education.

"ADVANTAGES" CITED
VAT has a number of facets likely to pique the interests of Senators and Congressmen and ultimately incline them in favor of enacting it. For one thing, it is an indirect levy unlikely to set off the great hue and cry that would be raised if income-tax rates were to be lifted appreciably or current deductions phased out. It scoops up large sums (best estimate is that a 1% levy would bring in about $5 billion), requires only minimal enforcement apparatus. And—a very important point at this time—it encourages exports, which could help right our lagging foreign trade balance.

In addition, VAT—which presumably would be advanced as a partial substitute for onerous corporate income levies—has considerable appeal for businesses, especially those engaged in large-scale import and export operations.

the world that was. In it they will find the ruins of great highways, tall buildings and evidence of all the things which now and in the future have existed. They will be able to determine the cycle of the seasons and to know that a short time before this season of the year a lot of ugliness was buried beneath the snows. They will also determine the beauties of spring time and the abuses that man has heaped on it.

In their searches and analysis they will read a meaning into the legend embossed upon these objects—a statement of man's fleeting impact on the ages: "No deposit, no return."

SOME OBVIOUS DRAWBACKS

On the surface VAT would appear to be a relatively simple, straightforward system of raising the added revenues that Uncle Sam so urgently needs. But when you get down to the nitty-gritty, you discover that it could be extremely complex and its impact on various segments of the economy uneven.

VAT is often referred to as a "neutral" tax, the implication being that it is neutral as between management and labor and between various types of companies and industries. This would be true if all goods and services were to be taxed at a uniform VAT rate. However, this has not been the case in Europe, where rates differ from

HEALTH FOR ALL

THE HOOKED GENERATION

More and more young women are getting hooked on cigarettes. At earlier and earlier ages. In 1970, the percentages of girls in the 12-to-18 bracket who smoked had shot up to 11 percent, 3 full points higher than in 1968. And the sharpest increases were at very young ages: 13, 14 and 15.

SHOWDOWN NEXT YEAR

The Research Department of Babson's Reports feels that the big hassle in Congress over VAT won't come until some time in 1973. Despite its potential as a revenue raiser, VAT faces hard going in both Houses; it will be hotly assailed for its discrimination against middle-income people.

Yet when all the chips are down, the expanding need for revenue and the fact that VAT is less regressive than most levies will outweigh its obvious inequities. It will pass, and won't bite too hard at first. But eventually the base will be upped as new social programs pyramid, and must be funded by taxpayers.

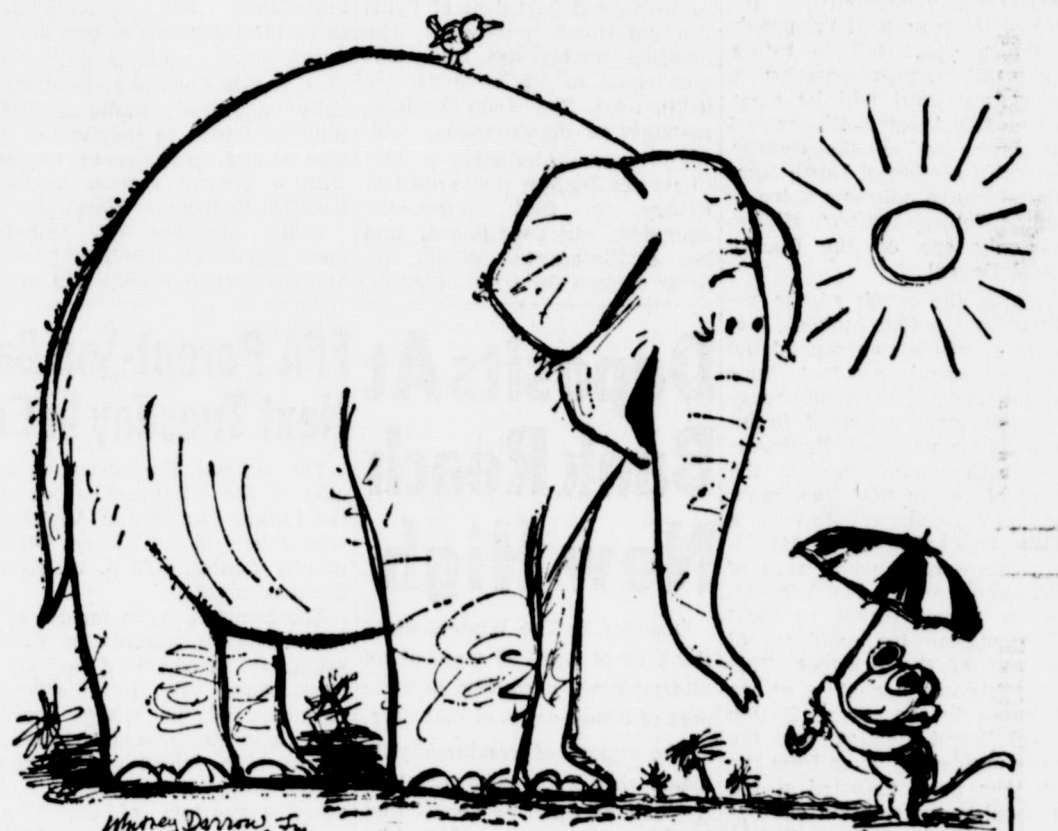

The social pressure to smoke is strong in many young circles. How one comes across to others is uppermost. One 15-year-old said, "Smoking is an activity that affects everything you do socially. If a stranger sees you smoking he gets a completely different impression of you than if you're not smoking. It's not good for you but it makes you 'dangerous.' Nowadays almost everyone knows smoking is bad for you. But girls really need that chance to show they're tough and not afraid of the world."

Trying to look cool is one big reason for teenage smoking. But, more surprisingly, so is parental example. Several studies show that girls tend to follow their mothers' smoking behavior and disregard their fathers'. Between 1955 and 1970, the rates for women smokers increased; the rates for men actually declined.

Changing the swinging, cool image of the smoker—created by billions of advertising dollars over decades—is no simple assignment. But your local tuberculosis and respiratory disease association is trying. It's a matter of life and breath.

Nan Wright Is Speaker At WSCS Meeting

Mrs. Nan Wright, of Brownwood, deaconess for the Brownwood District United Methodist Church, and formerly of the Women's Society of Christian Service of the First United Methodist Church, Tuesday.

Mrs. Wright spoke on the emerging changes of missionary work. She said that young people have different attitudes about the work of the church, and emphasized several points using interviews of young people wanting short-term commissions in the church. One change, she said, was that her type of work was being dropped and also the purpose of community centers had expanded beyond being just a building where meetings or classes could be held.

She said that new ideas of missions were that peoples' needs had to be met "so that each person can realize his own worth and then be able to accept God's love and redemption." Although social changes cause controversy and dissension, she said, the church's mission "is to people, and sometimes risks must be taken in social change." She said young applicants for missionary work are ready to create a "life-style" of service to others. "They are ready to commit themselves to service of all kinds even if their work is not continued in the church-related activities," she said.

An opening hymn was led by Mrs. Roy Crawford with Mrs. M. E. Leeman accompanying at the piano. Mrs. M. L. Dobbins, president, read names of missionaries and their work. The Rev. Bob Sanders led in prayer.

Information on the School of Missions which will be held in Georgetown July 24-27, was received from the District president.

Mrs. Dobbins presented Mrs. Wright with a token of appreciation from the members and then presented her a new church directory from the Rev. Sanders.

Thirty members were present.

Grant Jones On Campaign Trail, Here Tuesday

Grant Jones of Abilene, candidate for the 24th District Senate seat, came out slugging against his opponent, Tom Moore of Waco, as he bus-toured several cities in the Big Country area—the western end of the sprawling district—Tuesday.

Jones accused Moore of being "an ineffective representative who ranted about reform but, first chance for meaningful reform, lined up with the old Mutscher gang."

The campaign bus, loaded with about 40 campaigners, visited Winters about 3 p. m. Tuesday. Another tour will follow later in the eastern end of the district, the Waco-Gatesville and Killen area.

Aboard the bus were McMurry College's Agape (Happiness) Singers, who enlivened the trip with improvised political songs in a sidewalk concert, as campaigners fanned out to distribute campaign material.

Rep. Jones, in talks before sidewalk crowds in the cities along the route, charged that Moore, a House member from Waco, "is good at high school-type oratory, but so alienated his fellow House members that he was ineffective in legislation for his constituents." He said that Moore preached reform—while one of his kinsmen was on the state payroll." He said that Moore made much of his opposition to former House Speaker Gus Mutscher, but "When the sweeping reforms came with a new speaker in the special session, he voted with Mutscher and Tommy Shannon."

Jones said Moore "talks economy" but last year spent $19,000 of House Expense money.

Rep. Jones was the record low spender on personal expense accounts, and cited among his accomplishments as a House member a series of reform bills aimed at protection of insurance policy holders and the tuition equalization bill which has benefited private colleges.

Rep. Lynn Nabers Named To House Rules Committee

Rep. Lynn Nabers of Brown has been named by House Speaker Rayford Price to a 21-member panel of House members to study further revision of House rules and procedures to bring about additional reforms.

Price said the interim committee will study all of the proposed rule changes that the Speaker has made, plus all proposals by other members of the Legislature.

The Speaker said Rep. Nabers was appointed to this important committee because of his knowledge of the Rules and House procedure.

Representative Guy Floyd of San Antonio, House sponsor of the joint rules adopted unanimously in the recent special session, was named chairman of the Interim Committee on House Rules and Procedures, and Representative Fred Agnich of Dallas was appointed vice chairman.

Price said the panel represents a cross-section of the Texas House of Representatives, both by area of the state and by political philosophies.

"I have purposely named members from all areas and all philosophies to insure that all rules proposals will get a careful study," Price said.

"We have already made a good start in reform rules with

Fire Auxiliary Elects Officers

The Firemen's Auxiliary elected officers and made plans for the actions we took during the special session, but there is still more to do," Price said. "I want this special committee to make a careful study of all possible beneficial changes and make recommendations to the next special session this summer."

Price said he wanted the committee to recommend definite proposals for consideration in the special 62nd Legislative session and other possibilities that should be studied before the next regular session in 1973.

the year, during a meeting Tuesday evening in the home of Mrs. Marvin Bedford.

Members attending the meeting were Mesdames Marvin Bedford, Billy Harper, Buddy Miller, Johnny Merrill, Robert Carey, L. E. Bowden, Jerry Chambliss, Leroy Chaney, Jerry Whitlow, and Robert Bailey. The next meeting will be held May 22 at 7:30 p. m.

STATE Capital NEWS

By BILL BOYKIN

AUSTIN—Atty. Gen. Crawford C. Martin jarred legislators with an opinion that they are prohibited from hiring not only their own relatives but those of other lawmakers.

The opinion, requested by new House Speaker Rayford Price, thus declared illegal a long-standing practice which, only within the last few weeks, has attracted widespread critical attention.

Meanwhile, State Sen. David Ratliff of Stamford, whose family hiring practices and son-and-daughter job swapping with another legislator triggered a threatened investigation, said he may resign.

More than 40 legislators freely admit relatives were on the state payroll (usually in the Senate for House members' kin-folks and in the House for the Senate kin) during the last five years. Many of the cases involved nothing more than legislators' children working as pages, but combined salaries of the improperly-hired totaled more than $120,000 since 1967.

Martin said an article of the penal code forbids a member of one house of the legislature from hiring a relative (within restricted degrees by both blood and marriage) of a member of either house when the employee is paid from public funds.

Lt. Gov. Ben Barnes issued prompt orders that any Senate employee related to a legislator will be dropped from the payroll immediately.

House Speaker Rayford Price said he also plans full cooperation.

With one state representative indicted for allegedly using state postage stamps to buy a pickup and another known to have leased furniture for his state office from his own firm, the House Administration committee also proposed new limitations on lawmakers' expense accounts.

NO NEW TAXES—SMITH
Gov. Preston Smith, in a state wide campaign speech via television, threatened to veto any tax bill passed by the legislature in special session this summer.

"I will present a budget that will require no new taxes, and I will use every available authority of the governor's office to insure that such a budget is enacted by the Legislature," said Smith.

Smith claimed he is the only candidate for governor who "can and will insure that taxes will not be higher in 1973."

Financial observers are waiting to see how the governor is going to shave the 1973 budget by an estimated $150 million to avoid another tax bill. He may rely on increased federal revenue sharing or an increasing-improved revenue picture.

REVENUE-SHARING AIDS CITIES, COUNTIES

A federal revenue-sharing bill approved by the U. S. House Ways and Means Committee last week would provide $202 million a year to Texas cities and counties.

Allocation of the funds would be retroactive to Jan. 1, 1972, if the bill becomes law.

Enthusiasm of some city officials for the revenue-sharing plan was dampened by an apparent provision that states participating would have to adopt state income taxes or receive a lesser amount than those who do not levy taxes on income.

DROUGHT GETTING WORSE
A Texas climatologist reported spring drought conditions are getting worse over most of Texas.

Agriculture Commissioner J. C. White said the drought already has cost agricultural producers hundreds of thousands of dollars.

There was little rain anywhere except in North Central Texas. Climatologist Robert Orton said there is a moderate drought in the High Plains, North Central Texas, East Texas, Trans-Pecos, and the Edwards Plateau.

The Low Plains and the Upper Coast still are listed in a state of mild drought.

South Central Texas, Southern Texas and the Lower Rio Grande Valley have not entered the mild drought category.

ALLOWABLE STAYS UP
The Texas oil production allowable for May will stay at 100 per cent due to increasing demands.

A Railroad Commission order last week retained the April maximum after major buyers of crude asked for an increase in output of 83,312 barrels a day or a total for next month of more than 3.6 million barrels.

Ten of the 16 big buyers requested the same amount as April. Five asked an increase, and only one said less oil is needed.

The April 100 per cent figure was the first wide-open allowable since 1948.

Careful study will be continued to prevent waste, Commission Chairman Byron Tunnell said.

NEW DEADLINE FIXED

April 30 is a new tax deadline for about 72,000 Texas employers.

Wage reports must be filed by then with Texas Employment Commission for purposes of unemployment taxes during the first quarter of 1972.

Employers have been notified by mail and sent forms and instructions.

Reports must include wages paid and names of employees, along with taxes due. Employers brought under coverage of the Texas Unemployment Compensation Act are mainly those who have one to four employees.

New employers receive a tax rate of one per cent, which may scale downward after two years depending on unemployment experience. Some non-profit, charitable and educational organizations are subject only if they have four or more workers.

COURTS SPEAK

The U. S. Supreme Court upheld a Massachusetts law requiring the state's public employees to take a "loyalty oath" that they oppose overthrow of the government by illegal force.

The State Supreme Court in a Tarrant County case upheld minimum filing fee and petition requirements for getting on the Texas primary election ballot as set by Secretary of State Bob Bullock.

The High Court also found the legislature cannot exempt non-profit water supply corporations from property taxation. A corporation in Williamson County sought exemption from Leander school district taxes.

Third Court of Civil Appeals held Southwestern Bell Telephone Company owes all the taxes on telephone pole rental payments which it paid under protest—plus more.

AG OPINIONS

A prohibition against a person who holds any state or local office of profit or trusts from serving as chairman or a member of any political party executive committee is unconstitutional, Attorney General Martin held.

In other recent opinions, Martin concluded:

—County party executive committee or primary committee members are not entitled to compensation for expenses of attending their official meeting.

—The filing deadline for independent school district trustee is midnight of the 31st day preceding the election, not counting the day of the election.

—A justice of the peace may order removal of a finger from a dead body for identification purposes, but only the county health officer or a duly-licensed and practicing physician trained in pathology can do the amputation.

HEALTH COLUMN

"Look, Mom, . . . no cavities!" That's the sound most parents hope to hear when dental health checkup time rolls around every year. Of course, most of us are not that fortunate, and we have one or two cavities that require dental treatment.

But what if the story is "hey, Mom, I've got five cavities" and the child's indigent parents cannot afford dental health care?

That is a problem State health officials have been concerned about for some time. As a result, a project has begun in East Texas to deal with that problem and other dental health problems, including the need to educate children of all socioeconomic groups on proper dental health care techniques.

That project is known as the Dental Health Education Trailer, a specially-built and equipped mobile dental health clinic. The mobile clinic is currently operating in the City of Marshall in East Texas, primarily in conjunction with the public school system, but also Project Head Start Programs and other such programs. It is being used as an educational tool and not as a treatment facility.

The program is having great impact on the dental health of Marshall school children in grades kindergarten through sixth grade. Although the real measure of the program will not be in until it has been in effect for two or three years, State health officials expect to see a significant reduction in the tooth decay rate of the school children on a yearly basis. Oral hygiene practices were greatly improved in just a few weeks after the program was instituted.

So far the program has reached some 2,000 children in five different Marshall schools, and over 100 teachers have been trained in proper dental health education. These teachers see that the dental health education begun in the mobile dental health clinic continues on a daily basis in the school system. Students, who are taught proper toothbrushing and flossing techniques and tooth care, practice these methods every day in the classroom.

This summer when school is out, adult education will join special low-income socio-economic areas of town as the focus of the program. Health officials have arranged with several industries in Marshall to utilize the dental health education aspects of the service and apply it to adults—to their employees.

"Man in the Wilderness"

Heralded and celebrated for previous film roles as a rugby player, captain of a whaling ship, a debonair spy, a king with a song on his lips, and a lordly savage, Richard Harris portrays a character entirely different from any he ever essayed before in the Warner Bros. survival epic "Man in the Wilderness," which shows Friday, Saturday and Sunday at the State Theatre. Teamed for a second time with producer Sanford Howard in a follow-up to the highly successful "A Man Called Horse," Harris plays Zachary Bass, a blasphemous frontiersman, embittered by the tribulations that have haunted his steps from orphanage to whaling ship to the brink of death in the snowy glades of the uncharted Northwest Territory.

One of a party of expeditionaries trapping and stealing furs in the land of the hostile Arrikara Indians (circa 1820), Bass is mangled by a grizzly bear and left to die by fellow trappers fleeing the renegade Redskins. His indomitable will, leathered by hatred, fans the flickering spark of life.

...about your SOCIAL SECURITY

To social security beneficiaries, the 3rd of the month is important. That's the day their monthly benefit checks usually arrive, according to J. M. Talbot, social security manager. "Getting the right check, to the right person, in the right amount, and at the right time is a goal diligently sought by workers in the various social security offices of the Nation," he said. "However, each month some beneficiaries do not receive their checks on time because they have not kept social security informed of their correct address."

Mr. Talbot urged every beneficiary to notify the social security office as soon as possible when moving. If a change of address notice is given early enough in the month, the next check should arrive at the new address on time. It also makes good sense to advise the post office of the move in case social security doesn't have enough time to change the address before the check is mailed to the former address.

For more information, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo. Residents of Winters may call toll free by dialing "Operator" and asking for "Enterprise-2058."

TO FILL YOUR SILO WITH HIGH GRAIN SORGHUM SILAGE... PLANT NK 300

The truth is, it's pretty hard to beat corn for silage—but it's being done with NK 300. Farmers in this area are reporting that Northrup King's NK 300 produces more grain than corn and more tonnage, too.

NK 300 Sorghum is hard to beat. Here's why:

1. Strong seedling vigor gets plants off to a fast start.
2. Strong, sturdy stalks stand for a safe harvest.

3. Long broad dark green leaves produce silage high in protein.
4. Large well filled heads produce heavy yield of good grain.

The cooler the home, the warmer the marriage.

Marriages may be made in heaven, but it's hard to keep them heavenly when it's hotter than blazes. That's where central gas air conditioning comes in. It can bring you together. All summer long. As close as you want. All summer long. And it won't cost you much either. In fact, if you have gas heating in your home, you could easily have half a central air conditioning system already. Because you may be able to use the duct work and furnace blower you already have. That saves about fifty percent on installation costs.

That's just part of the savings. Gas costs less to operate than electricity. And you get special low rates during the long hot summer months. But you'll save more than money with gas. You'll save time and energy, too. Because with central gas air conditioning there are fewer moving parts. Fewer breakdowns. Fewer repairs. This summer, have central gas air conditioning installed. For love's sake.

Plan on plenty of chicken during May. Broilers are featured on the May plentiful foods list of the U. S. Department of Agriculture. Broiler production is expected to be around 7 percent above last year's levels.

Other foods reported in abundance this month include milk and non-fat dry milk, fresh potatoes, frozen french fries and instant mashed potatoes, canned peaches, canned fruit cocktail and eggs.

Milk production will be at or near its peak during May, so look for ample supplies. Near-record storage stock of potatoes coupled with early and late spring crops from Texas, California and Florida should assure most attractive prices on potatoes and potato products.

Stocks of clingstone and free-stone peaches packaged in retail-sized cans are heavy. Canned fruit cocktail inventories continue high. Almost 10 million cases of retail-size cans were on hand the first of January.

Through its Plentiful Foods Program, USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service keeps consumers and all segments of the food industry informed about foods expected to be abundant and in need of marketing help. The monthly list is compiled by USDA commodity specialists from fact-finding sources in government and the food industry.

COUNTY AGENT'S WEEKLY NOTES

HANDLE POWER TOOLS WITH CARE

Skilled, experienced craftsmen as well as hobbyists are often injured because they fail to realize the potential dangers of the power tools they use. County Agricultural Agent Parker offers the following suggestions regarding the safe use of power tools:

Know your power tools, read the owner's manual carefully, and review it from time to time. Keep guards in place and in working order. Be sure to ground all tools. Tools that are equipped with three-prong, grounding plugs should be plugged into three-hole, grounding electrical receptacles. If an adapter is used to accommodate a two-prong receptacle the adapter wire must be attached to known ground. Never remove the third prong, warns Parker.

Remove adjusting key and wrenches before turning on tools. This is a good habit to form. Keep your work area clean because cluttered areas and benches invite accidents.

Never use power tools in damp or wet locations and keep your work area well lighted. Children and visitors should be kept a safe distance from the work area. Put tools away after using or lock the workshop when it is not in use.

Don't force your power tools, advises Parker. They do a better job and are safer at rates for which they were designed.

Keep tools in good condition. Follow instructions for lubrication and changing accessories. Keep blades, bits and cutters sharp. Be sure the tool is disconnected before servicing or hanging accessories.

Use the right tool for the job. Remember loose clothing or jewelry can get caught in moving parts. Use safety glasses and use a face or dust mask if a cutting operation is dusty. Don't overreach and maintain firm footing and good balance at all times. Always be sure the tool is "off" before plugging in the cord.

WATER ACCORDING TO SOIL TYPES

Due to the lack of spring rains, most homeowners are getting into the regular routine of watering their lawns and gardens. The key to watering for lush, green plant growth all summer is to base your watering schedule on the type of soil.

If the lawn has a tight, heavy or compact soil, water movement will be slow. So, waterings at a slow rate for a long period will be necessary to allow the water to move through the soil and to prevent run-off.

For lighter, sandy soils through which water moves rapidly, light waterings at more frequent intervals are usually needed. With heavy waterings, the water will only move thru the soil and beyond the root zone of plants.

Therefore, it's important to know the rate at which the soil in your yard or garden can take up moisture. Moisture penetration can be checked with a two-foot long steel rod about 1/2 inch in diameter. Bend one end of the rod to form a short handle. The rod should be easily pushed to the two-foot depth of the lawn if it has been watered properly. Deep watering will encourage deeper penetration of plant roots. Roots will move thru moist soil easily and will grow better. Thus the result will be more healthy topgrowth.

Keep lawn and garden soils moist to the proper depth and you can expect dividends thru-out the growing season. How to water to that depth depends on the soil type. You must be the judge.

Check roses for aphids. Roses serve as an ideal spring host for aphids, and increased populations of the insect have been noted recently in Runnels County. The tiny green to pale yellow colored insect pests feed on plant juices. Heavy infestations reduce plant vigor and growth. Aphids feeding on the buds may cause them to be deformed or to lose their natural beauty.

The Rights Of The Nonsmoker. Nonsmokers are learning how to defend themselves.

Remember just a few years ago when airlines passed out courtesy cigarettes? No longer. Today they're just as busy setting up no-smoking areas for complaining customers.

Cigarette smoke is more than an annoyance to nonsmokers. It can cause physiological distress in healthy individuals as well as in those with asthma and other respiratory illnesses. New research indicates, in fact, that the nonsmoker is affected by cigarette smoke in much the same damaging way as is the smoker himself.

aphid digestion, becomes evident on plant foliage as aphid numbers increase, points out the County Agent. The sticky liquid gives leaves a shiny appearance and enhances leaf disease problems. Sooty mold fungus will grow on honeydew and this gives plants a black appearance. The homeowner may want to wash plants after aphids are controlled to remove the sooty mold fungus growth.

Several insecticides are recommended for controlling aphids on roses. These include diazinon, dimethoate, lindane, malathion, and meta-systox-R. Di-syston 2 percent systemic insecticide for garden use as a soil treatment will also provide aphid control on roses. The Agent cautions homeowners to read the label on the container before use and to follow directions carefully.

Pool Company Has Merged Into Lone Star Gas Company of Dallas

The Pool Company, a San Angelo-based well servicing company, has announced an agreement to sell its assets to Lone Star Gas Company of Dallas.

The announcement was made last week at Lone Star's Annual Meeting in Dallas. Frank M. Pool, president of the firm he founded in San Angelo 25 years ago, confirmed the transaction.

Pool Company has a well-servicing agency in Winters.

Lone Star President W. C. McCord, terming the Pool Company "the largest oilwell servicing firm of its kind in the Free World," said, "This agreement with the Pool Company will continue Lone Star's growth in the expanding business of providing oil and gas production services to the petroleum industry, both national and internationally."

In an announcement to his employees, Pool stated, "The reason for taking this step is to strengthen not only the financial resources for the growth of this company, but also to broaden your opportunities and provide greater security for you and your families."

The value of the transaction between Lone Star and Pool is valued in excess of $6 million. With revenues of about $9 million last year, Pool indicated the demand for his company's services "has increased dramatically over the past six months."

In making the announcement to Lone Star shareholders, McCord paid tribute to Pool "for the position of leadership he has taken since founding the company. He and his firm are recognized for innovative technology in the design and manufacture of advanced well servicing equipment, in developing new job processes, and in pioneering automated work patterns," McCord continued.

McCord stressed that "this leadership capability can now be matched with Lone Star's financial strength to allow increased growth and expansion in the present decade."

"Maintenance of production in existing wells is among the more pressing problems facing the energy industry," McCord continued. "We think this new relationship places the Pool Company and Lone Star Gas in the vanguard of efforts to increase the total energy capabilities and reserves of this nation."

The Pool Company, which will operate as a subsidiary of the gas company, has 97 production rigs in West Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma, Kansas, Colorado, Wyoming, Montana, North and South Dakota, and California. Internationally, the firm has operated in Venezuela and currently has bids for production rig work outstanding in Ecuador, Australia, Iran, and Indonesia. Its extensive operations include well servicing work for virtually every major oil company in the U. S., according to Pool.

McCord stated that Pool will continue to operate the company as he has in the past, and that Mobile Well Service, Inc., an existing subsidiary of Lone Star Gas, will also be operated by Pool.

Records show Jones, now a candidate for the State Senate from the 24th District, has a balance of $32,119.36 in his expense account. It is money he could have spent, but has not. Accumulated since 1968. That's taxpayers' money!

Jones' opponent for the Senate seat, Rep. Tom Moore of Waco, is said to also have a surplus in his account, but only $735.03, a small percentage of Jones' total. As The Abilene Reporter-News has pointed out, "This is a clear-cut, convincing example of Rep. Jones' careful stewardship of tax funds. While this instance involves a relatively small sum in the context of total state spending, it is indicative of the practice he will apply to the really big issues of taxes and spending" as a Senator from the 24th District.
