HOME TOWN Talk

If you want to have some fun, go home with a jingle in your jeans, or just plain want to get rid of something you no longer want or can use, start laying plans now to take part in the second annual Flea Market, scheduled for June 23-24 and sponsored by the Chamber of Commerce.

Anybody can get in the act—it's just one big garage sale, we understand. Find a location to set up shop downtown, and dig around in the attic, the cellar or the garage, for those odds and ends you've been wanting to get rid of. Or you home gardeners, if you've raised more than your wife can can or freeze, perhaps you can set up a fresh vegetable stand some place.

If you don't want to set up a stand, perhaps you can sell peanuts and popcorn—or lemonade—up and down the street. There is no limit to what you may be able to sell—or buy—if you decide to get in on this Circus of Fun. The point is, this is a community affair, and a lot of enjoyment and activity can be had just through a little effort.

Also, merchants are not excluded in this. They are urged to take part in this event—there should be pretty good crowds in town during most of the day on both days.

Within the next few days, Winters Country Club will begin a concentrated membership drive, a good time for those people who play golf but who are not members, or those who would like to take up golf, to become a part of an active and growing recreational organization.

Winters Country Club has grown considerably within the last few years, and is now undergoing further growth. The golf course itself has been in a continuous state of improvement, with good greens maintained, brush cleared in strategic places, trees planted, and bridges crossing the creek running through the golf course rebuilt and repaired.

On top of that, work was to commence this week on a big improvement and enlargement on the club house itself. More space will be added, and accommodations will be improved and added.

All this has been done—is being done—by the members themselves. There have been no subsidies or long-term loans the membership could use to make improvements and make the Country Club grow. These members have realized the particular value of the club and facilities to the community, not only for their own enjoyment, but for the enjoyment of others as well. They have given a lot of time and support to not only keep the club going but to make it grow.

The Winters Country Club is a valuable asset to this community. It provides a place for recreation not only for golfers in many families, but also for non-golfer members of many families. It is one of few organizations, outside the churches, which caters to family togetherness. It serves as a place for relaxation for hard-working businessmen, and a place where visitors may relax.

One of the first things a business or individual considering location change asks is, "What about recreational facilities?" The Winters Country Club fills a big part of that bill.

So if you are not now a member of the Country Club, or if you have been a member but have dropped out, you might well consider becoming a member during the upcoming drive. If you play golf, the facilities are there; if you don't play golf, the association with other members will be worth your while. What's more, you will be investing in a worthwhile project which has real meaning to the community.

EVANGELIST AND MRS. BILL HAYES

Evangelist Bill Hayes In Revival At Assembly of God June 20-25

Evangelist Bill Hayes, a recent graduate of Southwestern Assemblies of God College at Wapakoneta, will be guest speaker at the Assembly of God, 304 Wood, during a revival beginning June 20 and continuing through June 25.

Mrs. Hayes will provide special music in each service.

Born in Chicago, the Rev. Hayes has been active in church service since 1958. His ministry has also included two years as Evangelism Director of the Teen Challenge Center in Chicago, a youth work among drug addicts, gang members, etc.

While attending college, the

Prior to going to Southwestern, the Rev. and Mrs. Hayes traveled in seventeen states, holding revivals. During this time, he conducted the first revival in the history of the Idaho State Penitentiary, and was featured speaker at a Youth Convention in the Idaho District. ## County's Oil and Gas Production Accounts For Big Share of Economy

Sale of Rannels County oil and gas production accounted for $7,287,406 of the county's economic output for 1971, according to a study by Texas Mid-Continent Oil & Gas Assn.

In producing 1,949,677 barrels of crude oil and 2 billion cubic feet of natural gas, the county ranked 117 in Texas. Value of its crude oil was $6,862,863; natural gas value was $424,543.

The county is among 190 Texas counties with oil and gas production value topping $100,000, although 211 counties produce oil and gas.

"Rannels County oil and gas wells made a significant contribution to Texas' share of the nation's energy needs last year, but growing demand is sapping reserves in Texas faster than they can be replaced," Robert A. Buschman, Association president, said. "As fewer new fields are discovered, due to less drilling, the continuing strong economy and tax base of many Texas counties may now depend on updating Texas oil conservation laws to encourage wider use of new recovery technology," he said.

The Association study showed that Rannels County farmers, ranchers, and other royalty owners received $910,926 as their share of the production.

The county's wells generated $315,692 in crude oil production taxes for state government and $31,841 in state taxes on natural gas. Oil and gas producers spent $2,613,337 in drilling 45 wells in the county last year, $1,028,688 of which was lost in drilling 24 dry holes.

Texas Employment Commission figures showed 92 oil and gas industry employees in the county last year, with an annual payroll of $664,120.

A processing plant also added to the county's economy. The Oil and Gas Journal lists one natural gasoline plant, with a daily capacity of 1.1 million cu. ft.

Carla Walker On Dean's List At Abilene Christian

Carla Walker, 1970 graduate of Winters High School, has been named to the Dean's Honor Roll for the 1972 spring semester at Abilene Christian College.

She is among 409 students who were enrolled in 12 or more hours and who earned at least a 3.5 grade average out of a possible 4.0.

Miss Walker, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Carlos C. Walker, Route 2, Wingate, is a junior home economics major.

Winters Country Club Enlarging Club Building

Concrete flooring was poured this week on an extensive enlarging project at the Winters Country Club house.

Bill Griffin, president of the Country Club, said an additional 1700 square feet of floor space will be added to the present building. This area will be roofed, with a temporary screen. Plans call for eventually replacing the screened area with glass, and to move the pro shop to another part of the building.

Most of the work on the expansion program is being done by members of the Country Club.

The board of directors of the Country Club recently approved increase of green fees for non-members to $2.00 for weekdays, and $2.50 for weekends and holidays. They also approved a two-week family membership plan for out-of-town guests of members, for $5.00 for the entire family.

Directors of the Country Club organizations also expressed thanks to members for their response to a letter questionnaire which was mailed several days ago.

Second Annual Flea Market Set For Friday and Saturday, June 23 and 24

The Chamber of Commerce is again sponsoring a second annual giant "Flea Market" in downtown Winters, Friday and Saturday, June 23-24.

This "Flea Market" will be open to all individuals, clubs, organizations or churches who would like to participate, it was announced.

Many Winters merchants also will be featuring "Flea Market Specials" during the two days.

Anyone who has anything they would like to sell—antiques, furniture, sporting equipment, household goods, clothing, and the like—are invited to set up stands on vacant lots, parking lots and on sidewalks in front of vacant buildings.

There is no limit to articles put up for sale. However, the Retail Trades Committee of the Chamber, promoting the event, has suggested that permission be obtained from property owners for use of premises for sales stands. Several property owners have expressed willingness to let stand operators use their property for the "Flea Market."

The Retail Trades Committee has selected "Winters Flea Market—It's A Circus," as their slogan for promotion of this event, which they plan to organize into the biggest such affair in this section of the country. Many individuals and organizations, who took part in last year's Flea Market, are expected to participate again this year. There probably will be several refreshment concession stands in operation, in addition to merchandise and goods stalls, operated by clubs, organizations, individuals, and even businesses.

There will be no registration requirement or fees to take part in this "Flea Market," promoters said. "Just find your vacant spot, arrange your goods and start selling, trading or buying," they said.

Ag Agent Says Crop Conditions Looking Good

Rannels County Agriculture Agent C. T. Parker said Tuesday that crop conditions in all parts of the county are "looking good."

He said that cotton and milo are "all ages and sizes," and that with favorable weather—rains—prospects are as good at this time of the year for a good crop as they have ever been.

Screwworm Problem Not Big In Area, But Two Cases Have Been Confirmed

While some other areas of the state have been reporting heavy infestations of screwworms among livestock, the problem has not developed to real seriousness in this area, C. T. Parker, Rannels County agriculture Agent, said this week.

Parker said two cases of worms have been confirmed in the county this year—one in the northeast section of the county, and one in the southeast section. Sterile male flies were immediately dropped in these areas, Parker said, a precaution which has been more workable than any other.

Parker urged all livestock owners to be on the lookout for

Winford Reel Opens Shell Service Station

Reel's Shell Service Station, 200 North Main, opened for business Thursday, operated by Winford Reel.

Reel has been in the service station business for 17 years, and operated the station at that location for many years. He is a native of Winters, and has lived here all his life. He is married to the former Clemmie Joe Wilson. They have three sons, and are members of the Southside Baptist Church.

Reel invites all his old customers and friends to visit him at the North Main location.

Six Flags Band Patches Now Available

Kirke McKenzie, director of the Winters High School Blizard Band, said this week that band students who are eligible to wear the Six Flags band patches on their uniforms, may obtain them at his home or at the Municipal Swimming Pool, where he is manager this summer.

ATTENDS MEETING — Laverne Willingham and Mary Jo Kemp of Ballinger, office secretary for the Rannels County Farm Bureau, inspect a County Farm Bureau Office Manual with Mrs. Creola Webbe of Waco, TFB assistant secretary. The office manual was one of the items discussed at the two-day area training workshop for county FB office personnel held at Lubbock June 5-6. The session was one of three such sessions being conducted across the state by the Texas Farm Bureau structure and history, membership and financial records, office procedures, county Farm Bureau newsletters, and current FB programs and activities.

Housing Corporation To Be Formed Next Thursday

Another big step toward relieving the shortage of rental housing in Winters will be taken next Thursday.

The special Chamber of Commerce committee named several months ago to study feasibility of forming a non-profit corporation to obtain loans to build rental housing here has completed preliminary work, and has called a public meeting to be held at the City Hall at 7:30 p. m. June 22. At that time, steps will be taken to form a formal organization and elect permanent officers and directors.

The new organization will then be in a position to apply for a corporate charter, and then to make application for long-term loans from the Farmers Home Administration to build rental housing units.

Members of the steering committee have said it is very important that Winters' businessmen attend the meeting. They said that adequate rental housing is "most important" to the future of all business in Winters, with the steady industrial growth here, and probability of even greater growth if adequate housing can be obtained for additional work forces.

Memberships in the proposed rental housing corporation will be solicited at the Thursday night meeting, and members of the steering committee will explain details of the proposal and report on work which has already been accomplished on the project. They have obtained suggested plans for housing units, and have consulted representatives of the Farmers Home Administration, and report the FHA has indicated approval of loans for such an undertaking.

New Revenue

City Budget Hearing Set For Next Monday

Winters' City Fathers apparently will have a bit more to spend — and from a new source — on service, maintenance of city streets and other essentials, during the next fiscal year, beginning Oct. 1, 1972.

A new item appears in the revenue column of the proposed budget for the next fiscal year, and will have an effect on spending for the next year, and in years to follow.

A public hearing of the proposed budget for 1972-73 fiscal year will be held at the City Hall Monday, June 19, at 7:30 p. m.

The new 1 percent City Sales Tax, which was approved by Winters voters in the April city election, will go into effect October 1, the beginning of the next fiscal year.

Basing their estimate on State sales tax information for the city, the Winters governing body has estimated that the City should receive at least $25,000 from the sales tax during the next fiscal year. This will be added to the General Fund, according to city officials, and will be used to support income from ad valorem taxes and other revenue. The amount to be received through the sales tax will be used where it is needed, officials said; there are few areas where statute prohibits use of sales tax monies.

The extra money will come at a time when it is sorely needed, according to officials, because of the increase in the cost of most everything needed by the city: higher prices for materials and labor, and other increases.

The proposed budget, which will be discussed Monday night at the public hearing, is based on taxes of $1.50 per thousand, at 50 percent evaluation, plus the expected added revenue from sales taxes. Officials have pointed out that approval of the sales tax has prevented any increase in property taxes, which probably would have become necessary.

According to a budget information sheet distributed several days ago by the city, estimated revenue for the next fiscal year for the General Fund is $232,985.00. The General Fund is operating in the current year with $208,561.00 estimated revenue.

Estimated expenses for the General Fund for the next fiscal year are $222,720.00; current year estimate of expenses, $207,775. Most every department in the General Fund shows an increase in estimated expenses over the current year. In the Street Department, for example, amount estimated for salaries has increased from $19,437 proposed for the current year to $23,100 for the next year. (This increase alone accounts for increases in other items such as workmen's compensation and liability insurance, and payroll taxes.) Also, estimate for material for building and repairing streets has been almost doubled for the next year, except for seal-coating streets, which was cut.

Revenue funded departments such as the electric and water departments are treated separately in the proposed budget. Officials estimate an increase in income for the electric department, to $166,850 for next year over $162,000 for the current year's budget.

The water department also is expected to see an increase in revenue, estimated at $75,100 for next year above $73,900 for the current year, with like increases in the expense column.

City officials have urged everyone to attend the hearing on the proposed budget next Monday night, and to enter into discussions concerning the fiscal policies of the city.

Ag Instructor To In-Service Course, Tarleton

Stanley Blackwell, vocational agriculture teacher at Winters High School, attended a two-day in-service workshop at Tarleton State College June 7-8.

The workshop was for vocational agriculture teachers who supervise teachers in agriculture education.

Dr. Bill Irick and Dr. Johnny Johnson of the Tarleton agricultural faculty conducted the workshop.

The theme of the workshop was to prepare supervisors for their role of working with prospective teachers. Activities included the evaluation of the 1971-72 student teachers, a review of the statewide agricultural education student center plan and the development of a design for in-service education for supervising teachers.

Fifty-two Tarleton State College seniors in agriculture education qualified for teaching positions during the last school year.

AF Thunderbirds To Perform At Dyess June 17

Hundreds of years ago when thunder cracked in the skies over North America, red men would raise their heads and search for the Thunderbird. Today, when thunder cracks in the skies, men still raise their heads and search for the Thunderbird, but now in a different form.

The Seventh Annual Dyess Open House, June 17, will bring the famous Thunderbird into the view of the public in the form of the Air Forces' official aerial demonstration, the United States Air Force Thunderbirds.

But the Thunderbirds are just part of the events scheduled for the day. The gates to Dyess will open at 10:30 a. m. at which time the general public will be able to go to the flight line and view many of the different types of aircraft employed by today's military force. The aircraft will be on display and a crew member will be available to answer questions and explain the mission of his particular plane.

Also scheduled for the day's events will be a performance by the Dyess AFB Patrol Dog Team. The team will demonstrate how the dogs are trained and put them through their paces including a simulated attack by a penetrator.

On hand to provide the music for the day will be the 502nd Air Force Band from Keesler AFB, Miss. The band will play a wide selection of music for the general public's enjoyment.

The 96th Strategic Aerospace Wing and 463rd Tactical Airlift Wing, both stationed at Dyess, will perform aerial demonstrations. The 96th SAW will use its B-52 Stratofortress and KC-135 Stratotanker and the 463rd will employ the C-130 Hercules and C-7A Caribou.

Following the wing demonstrations the Thunderbird narrator and inspection party will inspect the Thunderbird aircraft. At 3 p. m. the flight line will take on an awe of excitement as the Thunderbirds start their engines and prepare for take-off.

Once airborne, the "Ambassadors in Blue" will perform loops and rolls highlighted by their famous "Bomb Burst" and "Crossover." Once they land the public will have the opportunity to meet the Thunderbirds and inspect the aircraft.

For those who want to make a day of it, there will be refreshment stands located throughout the show area along with many other displays.

Your Social Security

"Persons who become disabled in 1972 may need more than 5 years of work credit under social security to qualify for disability benefits," J. M. Talbot, social security manager, announced today.

Mr. Talbot explained that anyone who becomes disabled in 1972 who was born before 1930 will have to meet two work requirements. First, the individual must have 20 quarters of coverage during the 40 quarter (or 10 year) period ending when that person becomes disabled. Secondly, he must be fully insured. According to Mr. Talbot, this means the person will need a total of at least 21 quarters.

"What this means is that in addition to having 20 quarters in the 10 years before the disability a person will also need one more quarter which can be at any time since social security began in 1937," Mr. Talbot stressed. He emphasized that this requirement applied only to people born before 1930 who became disabled in 1972.

"Persons born in 1930 or later will need to have only the 20 quarters during the 10 years before the disability began or, if they are young enough, even fewer credits than this," Mr. Talbot added. "If a person has enough quarters and is unable to work because of a condition that will last at least one year, he can be paid monthly social security benefits for as long as

Walleye And Striped Bass Doing Well

San Angelo—Two introduced fish species are alive and well in Texas waters.

Walleye and striped bass have received special attention from Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists, and the early reports are encouraging.

Some 5,000 walleye fingerling and one million fry were recently placed in the San Angelo Reservoir. Biologists say that the growth rate of the fish in the reservoir has been phenomenal.

Tiny fish stocked last year are well above one pound and one taken last week was over two pounds.

The growth rate of the striped bass in Spence Reservoir has been better than expected and Texas Parks and Wildlife biologists look upon the lake as a source of potential brood fish.

petition with AT&T and Western Union. MCI recently filed a proposed securities offering with the SEC, and will be a publicly traded firm once its common stock is sold. Microwave data transmission offers huge potential for transmission companies and suppliers of related devices. It should unscramble telephone-telegraph delays and lower sending costs.

More Competitive Market
American Telephone, with its near-monopoly over voice communications, has operated microwave networks on a limited scale for years. As long as there was no challenge from outsiders or any real pressure for alternative systems, AT&T saw no need to innovate or institute a public microwave network. MCI fought for six years before the FCC ruled that it could build and operate a public microwave network. It now has two systems and plans networks that will eventually serve 41 states through 17 affiliates (to be 20 per cent to 51 per cent owned). Since then, the FCC has been deluged with applications from other non-telephone firms. Among them is Datron—a subsidiary of University Computing Corp., a publicly traded firm—which may get approval next. Glimpse At Potential Business

Computer manufacturers will derive an enormous impact from the growing data communications market. In 1970 there were 7,000 computers—some 13 percent of which were adaptable for communications transmission. By 1975 it is estimated that there will be 66,000 such adaptable computers, or a total of 60 per cent of all those installed.

The data transmission market is expected, conservatively, to expand from a 1970 estimate of $250-$500 million to at least $2 billion by 1980. Some experts talk glowingly of a market topping $10 billion. Auxiliary or peripheral devices making data transmission possible even under current telephone systems will figure importantly in microwave communication between computers. These accessory electronic marvels represent fast-growing sectors, and the market should reach $500 million by the end of the present decade.

Chief Contenders
Besides Western Union, MCI, Datron, and the telephone companies, those corporations with real depth in this burgeoning business include Collins Radio, General Electric, Martin Marietta, Microwave Associates, Milgo Electronics, Raytheon, Sanders Associates, Watkins-Johnson and Varian Associates.

These companies produce components and peripheral devices, or they are turnkey contractors.

The Research Staff of Babson Reports recommends Raytheon as a seasoned company with expanding competence in data communication. Raytheon built, supplied, and was the turnkey contractor on MCI's initial microwave network between Chicago and St. Louis. Moreover, Raytheon will be a principal supplier for Datron, and expects to sell hardware to several new microwave data transmission firms whose applications are new pending before the FCC.

Our second recommendation is (in grade) of AT&T, which offers a high secure return and potential for good long-term ap-

Austin—"Leadership is hell." That quote from a political leader came to mind during the 6th annual National Governor's Conference in Houston last week. It's darned tough to serve as a public official these days.

Not just presidents, vice-presidents and candidates for president have their lives threatened—but governors and candidates for governor face physical threats these hectic days in America's political history.

This fact was brought to mind by the extremely tight security measures at the host hotel for the National Conference for state chief executives.

Security police, Texas Rangers, and state patrolmen almost outnumbered the governors, aides, newsmen and guests who were allowed to observe the proceedings at the important annual function of state heads of government.

Mrs. George Wallace, wife of the Alabama Governor, had six security men surrounding her when she moved around the corridors of the hotel.

When Vice President Spiro Agnew arrived, Secret Service men were all over the place. Even the hotel employees wore photo ident badges—reminiscent of defense plant and Navy installation days of World War II.

We heard no complaints—except from one elderly hotel janitor who kept picking up walky-talky conversations between the security police on his hearing aid.

The three-day program of the state's chief executives was an "economic war" of sorts.

Principal topics of the conference revealed that financial problems are their top concerns—as they reviewed revenue sharing with the Federal government, financing of elementary and secondary education and funding the "war" against crime and drugs.

Host Governor Preston Smith and his staff and a hospitable Houston made the serious problems easier to study with a well-rounded entertainment program for the Governors, their families and staffs. An outdoor pool-side Texas western party, (appropriately by the world's largest swimming pool, according to the hotel staff), an excellent transportation organization delivering guests to all Houston entertainment and tourist facilities—and a formal ball with Duke Ellington's Orchestra completed the lighter side of the serious meet.

Other important topics of interest to Texans covered at the Conference were: diversification of industry to rural areas, a resolution requesting the appointment of a farmer as next Secretary of Agriculture of the United States; a NASA economic impact report for the states and the role of the states in national growth patterns.

National political intrigue made the Conference more interesting with visits from Sen. George McGovern and Sen. Hubert Humphrey—and the appearance of Mrs. Wallace.

SPECIAL SESSION MEETS
The Legislature convened in special session at midweek under lame duck leadership in both houses and the governor's office.

Gov. Preston Smith, defeated in his bid for re-election, pledged to offer a 1973 budget that would require no new taxes and indeed to allow no consideration of taxation.

IL Gov. Ben Barnes, also defeated for governor, said Smith should show lawmakers how he proposes to trim appropriations.

House Speaker Rayford Price was defeated in his home district, as was Rep. Bill Finck of San Antonio, chairman of the budget-writing House appropriations committee.

Legislative Budget Board—which includes Barnes, Price and Finck among its members—calculated that even a "tight" 1973 budget would require $89.2 million in new revenue.

After a day-long session, the Board concluded its staff would just have to get together with Smith and see what he had on his mind.

The LBB staff-drawn budget called for $828.2 million in spending during the next fiscal year—or $89.2 million less than the revenue forecast.

Virtually certain to land on the special session agenda is new state officials' code of ethics legislation. Barnes said he will press for such a bill, and a House committee prepared its own version.

LEGISLATURE ALTERED
Primary elections assured a drastic shakeup among rank and file members of the legislature as well as the top leadership.

There will be at least 76 new members in the House of Representatives—a majority. The turnover rate is the highest since 1953 when 88 freshmen representatives took office. The November general elections may remove a few more of the incumbents, and no more than 74 present House members are assured of returning.

The Senate turnover rate is almost as high. At least fifteen of 31 senators will be freshmen next year, and Republicans conceivably could gain another place.

Former House Speaker Gus Mutscher was among the veteran incumbents defeated.

—A university shuttle bus driver may be under 21.

SHORT SNORTS
More than $8.9 million in bonds for construction at state universities in San Marcos, Huntsville, San Angelo and Alpine were sold to Texas Commerce Bank of Houston and another $5 million will be sold later this summer.

The State Department of Public Welfare will conduct a re-certification drive to survey every applicant for Aid to Families with Dependent Children benefits in an effort to "cleanse" Texas assistance rolls of ineligible recipients, according to Welfare Commissioner Raymond W. Vowell.

An Austin district court ordered the State Democratic Executive Committee to apportion senatorial district delegates to the national Democratic convention, after its chairman made the allocations without committee approval.

The Parks and Wildlife Department outlined plans to spend $1 million for improvements, including a lodge, baseball field and tennis courts at Lyndon B. Johnson Park near Stonewall.

September and October trial dates have been set for two present and two former state legislators charged with wrongdoing.

Calvin Guest of Bryan was new gubernatorial nominee Dolph Briscoe's choice for chairman of the June 13 state Democratic convention in San Antonio.

The Texas Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation approved allocation of $3.77 million for construction and renovation of facilities at Rusk, Terrell, Big Spring, Corpus Christi, Kerrville and Vernon.

Dr. Truman G. Blocker, Jr., of Galveston was named interim dean at the University of Texas Medical School at San Antonio after Dr. F. Carter Panmill was removed.

Revenue from cigarettes jumped from $15 million to $21.1 million from May 1971 to last month.

An application has been filed for a state bank in Presidio. The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a death penalty in a Fort Worth murder case in which the defendant had refused to consent to a search of his business or home.

Our secretary can type 100 words a minute—not necessarily in any order that makes sense.

What in the world did businesses do for excuses about billing before they invented computers?

Show us a girl who has everything and we'll bet there are a few things she can still think up to want.

Those who boast of kids who play the violin at 3 tempt us to brag of granddad, who fiddled with his whiskers at 90.

Palo Duro Canyon Is Quite Spectacular

Canyon — When famed cattle baron Charles Goodnight moved his herd over a little rise in the Texas Panhandle in the 1870s, he almost had a stampede on his hands.

The cattle were suddenly confronted by Palo Duro Canyon, and they panicked. In fact, the mules pulling the chuck wagon were so frightened that they nearly dumped the entire wagon, cook and all, into the 1,000-foot canyon.

Palo Duro Canyon, located 12 miles east of the City of Canyon, is indeed a spectacular site to behold after crossing mile after mile of the monotonous rolling plains of the Texas Panhandle.

The canyon is 120 miles long and is 40 miles wide at its mouth. Because of the canyon's breathtaking scenery and its colorful history, more than 15,000 acres of it have been made into a state park.

The canyon has been in the making for 90 million years through the action of wind and water on rock. At least four geologic ages or eras are exposed by the canyon's eroded formations.

Palo Duro, a Spanish term meaning "hard wood," refers to the canyon's supply of strong cedar (juniper) brush from which the Indians made their arrows.

Probably the first European to visit Palo Duro Canyon was Francisco Vasquez de Coronado, who is generally believed to have been in the canyon in 1541.

The canyon was one of the last strongholds of the warlike Great Plains Indians until after 1874 when General Ranald MacKenzie defeated a large force of marauding Comanche Indians in the canyon, making it safe for permanent Anglo-American settlement.

The first rancher in Palo Duro Canyon was Goodnight, who, in partnership with John Adair of England, started the first cattle ranch in the canyon as well as the first ranch in the Texas Panhandle, the famous JA Ranch which is still in operation in part of the canyon.

The extraordinary terrain of the canyon is reason enough to visit Palo Duro Canyon State Park. It is, after all, a geological wonder.

But there is also a man-made attraction which has drawn visitors from all over the world. It is the outdoor stage production "Texas," a musical drama depicting the early settlement of the canyon area.

"Texas" is held in an outdoor amphitheater of natural stone. It is a drama of man's struggle with the elements while trying to settle the untamed portions of central and northern Texas. Since its beginning in 1961, success of the drama has been as spectacular as the country and history on which the story is based.

Pulitzer Prize winner Paul Green wrote the script, and the music was scored by Hollywood composer Isaac Van Grove. Some of the cast are students, some are housewives and many of the feature performers have professional backgrounds.

Lights playing against rugged canyon walls and special sound effects are used to heighten the drama's excitement. On stage a panorama of Panhandle history unfolds as settlers, cowboys and Indians play out the day-to-day conflicts of that colorful era.

Angelo Hatchery Stocks Fingerlings

San Angelo—The San Angelo Number One Fish Hatchery did a land office business in May, according to Al Pettit, hatchery superintendent for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department.

The hatchery shipped 12,000 sunfish, 37,000 crappie and 44,000 bass fingerlings to public lakes and reservoirs in the West Texas area.

Crappie and sunfish are not available for stocking in private farm and ranch ponds but the hatchery stocked 20,575 bass in private waters last month. The bass were from three to four inches long.

Class of 1972 Buys Gym Mat For Rickey Dean

The Senior Class of 1972 of Winters High School has purchased a gymnasium mat as a gift of the class to Rickey Dean.

Rickey's continued improvement in physical condition has brought about new exercises and the gym mat is a necessary part of the exercise program.

Rickey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Hollis Dean of Wingate, was injured last year in a fall from a horse. He suffered partial paralysis, and had been in hospitals in Abilene and Houston for several months before returning home several weeks ago. He will attend Winters High School next year, as a senior, still confined to a wheelchair.

Jimmy Sims was president of the Class of '72.

Galveston—Texas has a new State Fish Record for flounder. Jefferson D. Huddleston of Galveston caught an 11-pound, 2-ounce flatfish in the Galveston West Bay on May 9.

Huddleston's fish usurps the old record of 10 pounds, 5-ozs., set in January of this year.

The record flounder was caught at night on a rod and reel with live shrimp as bait.

Pheasants Victims Of Plains' Apathy

San Angelo—Can a beautiful bird which has found acceptance elsewhere overcome apathy in the Texas Panhandle?

This is what Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists are wondering about the ring-neck pheasant.

Proper agricultural techniques could turn much of the Texas Panhandle into prime pheasant habitat, but so far only a few landowners are making an effort to follow biologist's suggestions on how to provide for pheasants.

The biologists think part of the apathy is due to the fact that pheasant leases, of yet, do not bring in a lot of dollars. But they believe there is a potential for landowners to make some money on their leases if they will just provide the habitat to insure the birds can survive.

A few pheasants were in the Texas Panhandle 20 years ago, and they increased their range as crop irrigation increased.

Pheasant habitat crested as a result of the tapping of the Ogallala formation for irrigation and the subsequent expansion of croplands. Birds from Kansas, Colorado and Oklahoma were attracted, and populations were given an added boost by private releases.

Because of the irrigated corn, wheat, grain sorghum, sugar beets and other crops which provided a patchwork of food and cover, there were enough pheasants for a limited 1958 season.

Later, all Panhandle counties along the northern tier had a population of interest to hunters. By 1971, the high plains had an open season on cock birds only.

Populations are considered to be moderate to light, but biologists say there could be a much larger population if landowners would leave food and cover instead of plowing it under.

Hunters killed approximately 12,000 pheasants in 1970, but the number dropped to around 7,000 in 1971.

Dairy Products

That special day for Dad is just around the corner. And the lady of the house, well aware of the old adage that the "way to a man's heart is through his stomach," is probably already planning the menu for that special dinner on June 18th.

If Dad has a "sweet tooth," something extra special in the way of dessert should be in the offering. Right in line with a special dessert idea is the plentiful supply of milk and dairy products reported this month by the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture's Marketing Service. For milk is the key to many special dessert concoctions to please Dad and the rest of the household, too.

Rice Cream with Strawberries is a real Father's Day treat: 2 cups whole milk, 1-4 cup uncooked rice, 2 tps. unflavored gelatin, 3 T. sugar, 1-4 tsp. salt

1 cup whipping cream, 1 cup fresh strawberries, sliced, 3 T. sugar, 1-2 tsp. vanilla

Heat milk in the top of a double boiler. Add rice and cover. Cook over boiling water, stirring occasionally, until rice is tender, about one hour. Mix gelatin, 3 T. of the sugar and salt. Add to rice mixture, mix thoroughly and cool.

Whip cream until stiff. Combine strawberries and 3 tablespoons of sugar. Fold strawberries, vanilla and whipped cream into rice mixture. Chill 1-2 to 2 hours, then serve. Makes six servings of about 3-4 cup each. One cup of sliced fresh peaches may be used instead of strawberries and add 1-4 tsp. almond extract.

To make an ordinary dessert special, top ice cream or plain cake with this Mocha Dessert Sauce:

WASHINGTON

"As it looks from here"

OMAR BURLESON

Congressman
17th District

Washington, D. C.—It is a popular thing nowadays for politicians to talk about closing "tax loopholes." The only thing is that it never has been quite determined just what a loophole is.

Over the years the congress has written into the tax laws certain types of deductions from income tax, which may be taken for various things, including contributions to charitable and philanthropic institutions. This is sometimes lumped in as a loophole with the 50 some odd exemptions now permitted by law.

There is an impression going around that if all these allowances were done away with, everybody's taxes would be lowered. Mr. Edwin S. Cohen, Assistant Secretary of the Treasury for Tax Policy, and an authority on our tax structure, says this is hardly true. As a matter of fact, according to Mr. Cohen, it would not make any big dent in the individual's tax to the Federal Government. The chairman of the Ways and Means Committee, which has jurisdiction over all tax matters, has introduced legislation which, in a period from 1974 through 1976 would in effect remove 54 exemptions now on the tax books. After the tax exceptions are eliminated those thought to be justified would then be re-enacted. This is a sort of negative approach and one which would greatly upset every individual business and corporation with plans for the future based on their tax liability.

In place of this type of proposal another bill has been introduced in the last few days which simply commits the Ways and Means Committee to study and examine the exceptions now permitted with the view of seeing which should be repealed and which should be maintained in the law.

It is being said by quite a few Members of Congress and some candidates running for President that the rich do not pay their share of taxes and that they are able to take advantage of "tax loopholes," whereas the smaller taxpayer is unable to do so.

WEARING THE same No. 44, swinging the same powerful swing, the Atlanta Braves' Henry Aaron continues to close in on Babe Ruth's career record of 714 home runs.

An example of a tax loophole is investment in municipal bonds which bear a much lower rate of interest than other similar investments and on which interest is tax free. This arrangement permits cities, towns and districts to issue bonds and sell them at an interest rate much lower than otherwise would be the case if the interest income was taxable to the purchaser. As a result, people who have voted the bonds on themselves can be charged a lower rate than otherwise would be the case. Many wealthy people invest in these bonds but their income from interest is less.

Of the 54 items which may be considered as tax loopholes are the special exemptions for the aged and the blind. Billions of dollars are given to foundations engaged in charitable and educational activities. Certain allowances are made as incentives for economic expansion. An example of this latter is the oil, gas and other minerals depreciation allowances and intangible drilling costs because of the big risk of the venture. The tax deduction is to encourage exploration to increase reserves.

Even the personal exemption of $750 per dependent comes within the exceptions. Out of between 75 and 80 million individual tax returns, there are 106 cases with income of $200,000 and on which no taxes at all were paid in 1970. The Internal Revenue still has some of the cases under study but the great majority of them have been checked out and found that the deductions appear to be within the law. Twelve of these cases involve individuals with adjusted gross income of $8.5 Million, whose principle deduction consisted of charitable contributions totaling $4.2 Million. Another 17 individuals paid no 1970 Federal income tax because their deductions for State and local taxes exceeded $4.1 Million, the amount they otherwise would have been charged.

Another 11 persons had losses in 1969 far exceeding the tax to be paid by them in 1970. Another group paid taxes on foreign investments to foreign countries in excess of taxes due on other investments in this country. The income of a number was from tax-free municipal bonds. Whether all deductions permitted under the law are justifified many times depends on whose "loophole" it is and how much of it is to be closed.

It is perfectly well that the Congress and the Treasury Department should keep a close and continuous look at the various deductions now permitted under the law. At the same time, Congress should be thinking about means of cutting tax rates by reducing expenditures to the extent of maintaining a balanced budget.

West Texas Turkey Looks Good

San Angelo—It takes rain to grow turkeys in West Texas' Permian Basin.

The resident fowls have slaked their thirsts and are working overtime to make up for last season's poor hatch, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife biologist George Litton of Sweetwater.

Officials are optimistic about this year because, like most other wildlife in the Permian Basin, the turkey flocks thrive in direct proportion to the amount of rain and vegetation. Observers driving census lines in the area report large numbers of nesting hens and some birds that have already hatched their young.

County Agent's Column

Control Grubs In Lawns
Early summer is the time to treat lawns with insecticide to control white grubs.

County Agricultural Agent Parker says white grubs are the larvae of several species of May and June beetles. They are whitish to gray, have brown heads, and usually lie in a curled position. Grubs feed on grass roots an inch or two below the ground. As they cut off roots, the lawn will gradually die out in irregular spots.

Grubs hatch from eggs laid in the ground by several different kinds of tan to dark brown to green beetles commonly called May or June beetles. Since the beetles are attracted to lights, lawns near street lights or lighted patios often become infested, says the Agent.

Treatment should be based upon finding grubs in the lawn. Make a close check by cutting the turf and removing four to six inches of the underlying soil. Lawns can be damaged when two or four grubs per square foot are found.

Aldrin, chlordane, dieldrin or heptachlor can be applied as either granules, wettable powders or sprays. If grub control is difficult with these insecticides, diazinon should be used.

Mow the lawn just before applying the insecticide, suggests Parker. Once the insecticide is down, water the area heavily. If grubs are already present, several waterings may be necessary to wash the insecticide into the infested area. Two or three weeks may be required to bring a heavy infestation of large grubs under control.

June Garden Check List

1. Watch for symptoms of powdery mildew on crapemyrtle, roses, evergreen euonymus, and other susceptible plants. Control with Karathane, folpet, wettable sulfur or Par-non.

2. Provide supplemental irrigation for your choice plants. The hot, dry winds, summer weather can be damaging to many plants unless extra moisture is provided. Light summer showers can be misleading the amount of moisture they supply. It is usually much less than it appears.

3. Do not allow mum plants to become tall and leggy. Pinch out the tip of each stem as soon as 3 or 4 sets of new leaves appear.

4. Bearded iris need fertilizer after blooming.

5. Check plants closely for spider mites. A hand lens is helpful in checking for the troublesome pest. When used as directed on the label, these trouble makers can be controlled with one of the following: Kelthane, diazinon or cygon.

6. If you want attractive roses this fall, don't let up on black-spot controls just because the weather is dry and hot.

7. If your petunias are getting tall and unattractive, cut the plants back to 5 or 6 inches, wait and fertilize for a new crop of flowers which will usually appear within a few weeks.

8. This is a good time to make cuttings of your favorite plants, using mature wood of the current seasons growth. Four or five inches of a damp peat & perlite mixture in a plastic bag is excellent for rooting a few cuttings. Tie the top shut & place in a north window out of direct sun light until rooted.

Pre-Packaged Eggs
Nature's own "pre-packaged product" is a good thing to have around.

For eggs are one of our indispensable food items that can be served in literally hundreds of ways. Eggs are the main dish for any meal. They tie in nicely with meat or cheese. They are good in salads, sandwiches and custard. Eggs give the fluffiness to angel food cake, sponge cake and hot breads. They thicken puddings and sauces and bind together the oil and lemon juice or vinegar in mayonnaise.

For cake making, eggs and other ingredients should be at room temperature so they will combine well. Egg whites also whip up more quickly and to greater volume when they are at room temperature. When beating egg whites, add a pinch of salt to help hold volume in the finished product.

When a recipe calls for just the egg whites and you need to save the yolks for later use, put the yolks in a jar and cover with a little water, cover tightly and refrigerate. This prevents the yolks from drying out.

Creamy Egg Sandwich Filling
3 hard cooked eggs, finely chopped
6 oz. chive flavored cream cheese
2 T. mayonnaise

1-2 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
1-2 tsp. salt, 1-8 tsp. pepper
1 tsp. prepared mustard
Combine all the ingredients. Blend well and chill. Use 1-4 cu for each sandwich. Makes 1-2 cups of sandwich filling.

This Jellied Egg Rind filled with chicken or crab salad and served with tomato slices is a real warm weather treat:

1 T. unflavored gelatin
1-2 cup cold water
1-2 cup boiling water
2 T. lemon juice
2 drops tabasco sauce
1-4 tsp. salt
2-3 cup mayonnaise

6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
1-3 cup sliced olives
1-4 cup chopped celery
1-2 tsp. grated onion
2 T. chopped parsley
Several leaves of salad greens
Soften the gelatin in cold water. Dissolve in boiling water. Blend in the lemon juice, tabasco sauce, salt and mayonnaise. Chill until thick but not set. Blend in remaining ingredients except salad greens and mix well. Pour into a one-quart mold and chill until set. Unmold on salad greens. Makes six servings of 1-2 cup each.

Egg Salad Toastwich
6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
2 T. mayonnaise
1 T. prepared mustard
1-2 tsp. salt
1-4 tsp. pepper
12 slices of bread
2 eggs, slightly beaten
1-2 cup milk, 1-2 tsp. salt.

Combine chopped eggs, mayonnaise, mustard, pickle, parsley, 1-2 tsp. salt and pepper. Mix well. Spread the mixture on 6 slices of bread and top with remaining slices. Blend beaten eggs, milk and 1-2 tsp. salt. Dip each sandwich in mixture. Cook on a hot greased griddle until brown on one side, turn and brown other side.

When raveling any hand-knit garment, wind the crinkly yarn on a wire coat hanger with the curved ends pushed in. Then suds the wood (still on the hanger) and hang by the hook to dry. Rewind and reknit. Wool so washed has no tangles and is like new.

If you like to knit socks, knit the toe with a different color yarn. When a hole appears, it is quite simple to ravel these stitches and re-knit a new toe instead of darning.
