The Winters High School Blizzard Band has done it again! Under the direction of Band Director Kirke McKenzie, and meeting the high standards set forth by the University Interscholastic League for sightreading and concert playing, the band Friday at Brownwood was awarded the coveted Sweepstakes trophy—about the highest honor any high school band can receive—one of only three bands in Class AA at the Brownwood meet to make the grade. The band last November had won a Division I for marching prowess, and last week's contests rounded out the perfect UIL series for the Blizzards.

This is the second time in three years the Blizzard Band has won the Sweepstakes trophy—they won the award in 1971, and missed the top honor by only a few points last year.

Winning of this Sweepstakes award demonstrates the top ability of the young musicians who make up the largest band Winters High School has ever had. Many of these young people—most of the senior and junior members—were winning their second Sweepstakes trophy. And the performance of the younger members of the band who will have two or three more opportunities before the end of their high school careers, leaves promise of continued top quality performance.

The uniqueness of the UIL contests lies in the fact that the high school musicians are not in competition with other bands, a fact that demands even greater performance. In band-against-band competition, a usually high performance band, if it happens to be "down" during a given week, could be defeated by an inferior band, a thing that happens in sports events very often. In sports, for instance, each competing team can play a below-normal game, but one will come out winner. Not so in band Sweepstakes events. In a sense, in UIL Sweepstakes contests, the bands do compete one against the other, but only to the extent of trying to keep abreast of the other band. Importantly they are judged against the high musical standards of the UIL, which can be tougher than direct competition.

For that reason, the Winters High School Blizzard Band deserves recognition from the entire community. They have met the challenge and been found equal. But it has not come as easily as it perhaps sounds; there has been a lot of work put forth by the individual band members, and the director. They worked toward a goal, and perhaps to some extent have sacrificed some of their own time in order to meet the qualification demands of a top-notch band. They found their reward.

The band program is an important one in the make-up of the school, the same as any other extra activity program, athletics, literary, etc. Whether or not these young people ever touch another horn after their graduation from high school—and most of them will not—is of no event. The program itself, the demand for self-discipline and self-sacrifice, the learning to work as a team as well as individually, the striving toward a goal, is an important part of the learning and growing up process. We would hate to think of a situation devoid of these extras which make for a rounded high school career, it would be bland and staid and uninviting.

The entire community is proud of the band, as well as the other "extras" which go to make up a first-class school system.

Winters Blizzard Band Sweepstakes Winner

The Winters High School Blizzard Band Friday completed contest requirements in Brownwood, winning Division I ratings in sight reading and concert playing, and emerged with a University Interscholastic League Sweepstakes trophy.

The Blizzard Band had won a Division I in marching last November to go with the two firsts awarded in Brownwood to win the Sweepstakes trophy.

Brady and Ranger were the other Class AA schools to win Division I ratings in Brownwood to go with earlier marching wins for Sweepstakes awards.

The Winters band has won the sweepstakes award several times during the past few years.

Cemetery Working At Pumphrey Sat.

All persons interested in the Pumphrey Cemetery are invited and urged to attend a cemetery working there Saturday, March 31.

Work will begin at 8 a. m.

ROCK FESTIVAL — There was no ear-numbing squealing during this "rock festival," held on the Winters Country Club golf course Saturday, only the sound of real rocks grating against shovels and hoes as members of the club gathered to clean the rocks off the fairways. About 50 people—men, women and children—responded to the written invitation to attend the "rock festival," and started working about 10 a. m. Saturday morning. They took time off for lunch at the club house at noon, and by night had raked, gathered and hauled away "several tons" of rocks before nightfall. The work was completed Sunday.

Winters State Bank Offers "SOS" Service

The Winters State Bank entered a new era of customer service this month, according to Woodrow F. Watts, bank president, by purchasing exclusive Runnels County rights for a specialized banking service—Special Organization Service (SOS).

The new SOS is a service designed specifically to help "organize and direct people in gathering basic information in their personal affairs, such as estate planning, investments and survivorship," Watts said.

Millions of people, especially families after loss of loved ones, simply are not aware of all the benefits to which they are legitimately entitled, Watts said. Survivors are generally least aware of credit life insurance and the full range of social security benefits. Services of attorneys, CPSS, and life underwriters are required in matters involving legal questions, accounting requirements or insurance claims. The SOS checklist and forms, plus the personal guidance will help customers collect many dollars in benefits due them, Watts said. For instance, old discarded insurance policies could mean money to someone, he pointed out, and SOS will help to find out.

With this new SOS service to be offered by The Winters State Bank, Watts said, selected bank personnel who have been trained in special sessions by professional teachers in the field of life insurance, social security, veterans, civil service and many other benefits, will be advisors. SOS advisors assist persons in gathering the detailed information needed and locate the proper procedures and places to file claims.

Miss Estella Bredemeyer, vice president and cashier of the Winters bank, completed the professional training program sponsored by Special Organization Service Inc. in December, and is now qualified to act as an advisor in this special service.

The SOS service is available to anyone, without charge, the bank president said. Also, he said, the bank's advisors are kept up to date by special monthly bulletins, and also may contact the SOS office direct for aid on specific customer questions.

"The Winters State Bank is happy to make this service available to the people in our community and the entire Runnels County area," Watts said. "SOS is a courtesy service available to you regardless of your location or banking connections."

The Winters team will play on the local field, or at Wingate, Riess said.

A series of 30 games is being scheduled, with top teams to advance to state playoffs. Riess said. The National Baseball Organization, it was said, and all players are amateurs. The NBO takes up where Little League leaves off, he said.

The hanger covers are part of the publicity for the upcoming Cancer Crusade.

Elm Creek Control District Given Priority By SCS

The Elm Creek Water Control District was given approval of priority for planning last week by the State Soil and Water Conservation Board, W. M. Hays of Winters, chairman of the board of the district, has announced.

Elm Creek District, which is located in northern Runnels and southern Taylor counties, was one of six conservation projects in Texas given approval of priority for planning by the State Board.

Hays said that the approval was allotted last Thursday and had been anticipated for several months.

"Approval for priority planning," Hays said, "guarantees a planning party will come out and go over the watershed, checking soils and locations for dams, selecting sites and recommending them to the district."

The State Soil Conservation Service office in Temple will set up dates for a planning crew for the field inspection of the district, according to Joe Antilley of Abilene, chairman of the five-member state board.

There are three crews in the state, it was stated, and might be late fall or early next year before the crews get to the Elm Creek project.

After examination of the watershed by a crew, which takes three to four months normally, but might take longer in this case because of the size of the district—nearly one-quarter million acres—funding by Congress is necessary.

Although many fund avenues have been closed by the recent Administration curtailment of programs, Hays said a few days ago, it is strongly believed that by the time the project is ready for submission of applications for financial assistance, these programs again will be open.

When completed, the Elm Creek project will be multipurpose—serving as a flood prevention system, recreation, and possibly supplying water for Winters and Ballinger.

The district approved a $300,000 bond issue last October to support the project, Hays said, after a hearing in September showed unanimous endorsement of the project by those present.

The district covers the watershed of Elm Creek, which flows into the Colorado River near Ballinger. The area runs from north of Bradshaw in south Taylor County, to Ballinger at the south, and includes the areas of Winters, the Winters Lakes, and the Crews community.

Commissioners Ask Audit Of Tax Collector's Office

In a reconvened meeting on March 19, the Runnels County Commissioners' Court adopted a resolution calling for a complete audit by an outside auditor to clarify and bring up to date the records in the County Tax Assessor-Collector's office, following reports of an alleged shortage of funds in that office.

According to the minutes of the meeting, ex-Assessor-Collector Pannell Legg Jr., had appeared before the Court on a previous date and had confirmed knowledge of a shortage.

The Commissioners previously had received a request from Jack Farmer, present Tax Assessor-Collector, for an audit of the records of that office. The minutes of the meeting reflect that the Commissioners requested the County Auditor to "give such assistance as necessary," the Court "having no legal grounds to order an outside audit" under the circumstances at that time.

A check of the tax records by the Commissioners revealed the final Dec. 31, 1972, report from Pannell Legg Jr., outgoing Tax Assessor-Collector, to show receipts for that month of $22,108.60, none of which was shown to "have been received into the Runnels County treasury on the 13th day of March, 1972, when the inquiry began."

County Commissioner Pat Pritchard, Prec. 3, said the resolution asking for an outside audit had been presented by the Commissioners' Court to County Judge Elliott Kemp, and a notice of such intention will be publicized for two weeks before such action is taken.

From bank statements available, according to the minutes of the March 19 reconvened meeting, Tax Assessor-Collector Pannell Legg Jr., showed a balance on March 13, 1973, of $13,473.34. "Leaving a balance due the County of $8,635.26."

County Commissioner Pat Pritchard, Prec. 3, said the resolution asking for an outside audit had been presented by the Commissioners' Court to County Judge Elliott Kemp, and a notice of such intention will be publicized for two weeks before such action is taken.

"Texas Industry Week," Salute To Industry, To Be Observed April 1-7

Communities throughout the state will have an opportunity to pay special tribute to local industry April 1-7 during Texas Industry Week.

The special week gives local communities an opportunity to recognize contributions industrial firms have made to the local community.

"Special events like Texas Industry Week go a long way toward making new manufacturers feel welcome and have a significant effect on attracting new industry to the state," Chester Wine of Corpus Christi, chairman of the Texas Industrial Commission, said.

In recent years, Texas has grown from a predominantly rural society to one with a booming industrial growth record. Last year a near record total of 355 new industrial firms moved to the state only 56 short of the 1968 total of 411 which made Texas the nation's leader in industrial growth.

"We can look with pride at our achievements, but we cannot rest on our laurels and expect to find a bed of roses in the future," Wine said. "Specific programs developed in recent years will give us the vehicle for future industrial growth, but only through our own initiative and hard work can we assure the continuation of this healthy growth."

Wine credited much of this growth to the Industrial Commission's active program of promoting the state's industrial advantages, and Texas' natural attractiveness as an industrial mecca.

"People are also an important part of this growth," Wine said. "Community leaders from over the state have taken advantage of the many development programs offered by the Industrial Commission and their investments are paying off in more and better paying jobs."

Internal Revenue Service Will Compute Your Tax

Dallas, Texas — Many taxpayers again may have the Internal Revenue Service compute their income tax and retirement income credit, W. T. Coppinger, IRS District Director for North Texas, said today. He said the IRS on request will compute the tax for persons with incomes of $20,000 or less, who take the standard deduction, and whose income is solely from salaries, wages, tips, dividends, interest, pension and annuities.

If the taxpayer also wants the IRS to compute his retirement income credit, he should include the basic information on Schedule R and attach it to his Form 1040, Mr. Coppinger said. He should also enter "RIC" on line 19, Form 1040. Instructions on Schedule R explain which items need to be provided.

For those persons who qualify, the IRS will compute the tax, whether the return is a Short Form 1040A or the regular 1040. The tax instructions explain what information should be entered on the return, Mr. Coppinger said.

After this information is entered on the return, the taxpayer should sign it and send it to the IRS Center in Austin, Texas.

He said the IRS will then compute the tax and send the taxpayer either a refund or a bill for the tax due, whichever is the case.

Going Boating? Watch the Weather

Austin—Texans, of all persons, should know how fast the weather can change in their state.

So it's surprising how many boaters are caught unaware when bad weather hits. They are lulled into a false sense of security by bluebird weather and then come limping into port under gale-force winds.

Clear weather where you live doesn't mean it's clear five miles out on the water.

Coastal boaters can watch for the flags or lights at weather stations.

A red flag accompanied by one pennant, two pennants or a square flag with a black center or two flags or the same design all mean one thing for the man in a small craft—take warning.

One red pennant tells the boater that a small craft advisory is in effect. Should you see such a flag, think twice about venturing far from shore if your boat is not equipped to handle rough waters and strong winds (18 to 33 knots).

At night, small craft advisories are signified by one red light above one white light.

Two red pennants warn of gale force winds and heavy seas (24 to 37-knot winds and 10-foot waves). At night such conditions are signified by one white light above a red light.

A single square flag with a black square on it also signifies storm warnings. Winds are rated between 43 and 63 knots and the small boater should stay in port. At night, two red lights would be shown if the same conditions prevailed.

Hurricane warnings are given by two red flags with black square centers. Hurricane winds are 64 knots or more. At night, these warnings are a white light between two red lights. No boater should be out during this time.

Weather conditions are printed in local newspapers and can also be obtained from television and radio stations.

Austin, Texas—Early senate approval was forecast by Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby for HB 3 to strengthen the open meetings law.

The bill was cleared by a criminal matters sub-committee of the Jurisprudence Committee last week.

The shield bill (HB 10) to protect newsmen from forced disclosure of information sources was due consideration in the criminal matters sub-committee this week. It will be expanded to include definitions contained in a U. S. Senate bill and probably amended to provide for a State Supreme Court mandamus proceeding to compel disclosure of information sources under certain cases, according to Senate sponsor, Sen. Chet Brooks of Pasadena.

Hearing was delayed until April 10 on HB 6 to broaden accessibility of information on government records pending a Legislative Budget Board estimate on the cost of the act to the state.

TAX BILL SEEN
Legislators will be forced to write a new tax bill due to demands of higher education and welfare, the chairman of an interim House Revenue and Tax Committee maintain.

If the regular session manages to get by with no tax bill, lawmakers will be called into special session to pass one, predicted Rep. Don Cavness of Austin. Rep. Joe Wyatt of Bloomington, co-chairman of the Committee, shared the gloomy forecast, adding that federal welfare guidelines will cost the state an extra $100 million a year.

Cavness also cited the estimated $28 million a year cost of an adult education bill and a $13 million-cost measure to insure teachers a duty-free lunch hour, plus the multi-million-dollar bilingual education bill.

Both lawmakers also referred to the federal case involving validity of the state's method of financing public school education.

Texas, the Committee found, ranks 40th among 50 states in tax load but has among the most regressive tax systems. The Committee recommended a permanent revenue and tax staff, increased use of bond income for appropriation, use of private collection attorneys and a monthly reporting option.

18-YEAR-OLD RIGHTS APPROVED
Full rights of maturity for 18- to 20-year olds received tentative senate approval by a 19-11 vote.

The Senate also passed legislation to slow creation of new state-supported colleges by requiring prior approval of the Coordinating Board, Texas College and University System.

Still later, senators voted to extend collective bargaining rights (but not the right to strike) to policemen and firemen. Local governing bodies would have an option to grant the rights or order elections on the issue.

CRIME RATE DOWN
Major crimes are on the decline in Texas, according to a new Department of Public Safety report.

Col. Wilson E. Speir, DPS director, said the number of crimes last year was 2.2 per cent below 1971 — the first measurable decline since 1954. Translated into crime rates, the 1972 figure was six per cent below the 1971 rate per 100,000 population.

The decrease, Speir said, was only the fourth since DPS began compiling its Texas Crime Report 30 years ago.

Decreases were noted in murders, aggravated assaults and thefts. Small increases were observed in rapes, robberies and auto thefts—with a larger increase in the burglary category.

The urban crime rate overall was down 5.7 per cent, with the rural rate off 5.8 per cent. Crime clearance rates remained at 26 per cent. Clearance rate for murder improved from 86 per cent to 89 per cent, with further improvements noted in robberies, aggravated assaults and thefts.

Many factors are responsible, said Speir.

The DPS chief cited improved law enforcement effectiveness through training, education, more personnel and better facilities, as well as improvements in other parts of the criminal justice system and "a growing awareness and concern on the part of the public that crime must be impeded."

The crime statistics break down to one major crime every minute, a murder every five and a quarter hours, a rape every three hours and 45 minutes and a robbery every half hour.

SHORT SNORTS
The House appropriations committee chairman has proposed a four-months' welfare budget until uncertain cost factors are decided.

A House-passed comparative Negligence bill has received approval of the Senate Jurisprudence Committee.

"Pete 'n' Tillie"

Walter Matthau and Carol Burnett are the stars of a poignant comedy with tragic overtones, told with pungent wit and an unerring comedic skill. "Pete 'n' Tillie," a Universal picture which shows Friday, Saturday, and Sunday at the State Theatre. A Martin Ritt-Julius J. Epstein production, photographed in Technicolor and Panavision, it co-stars Geraldine Page, Barry Nelson, Rene Auberjonois and Lee H. Montgomery.

Based on the novella, "Witch's Milk," by Peter De Vries.

Oscar Award winner, Edith Head, is represented in the film in Miss Burnett's wardrobe. The 45 wardrobe changes which Miss Head designed, reflect the various changes in style which occurred from 1962 to the present. During this period, skirts went from super long to minis and hot pants, from drab to bizarre. Miss Burnett's role calls for everything from household casual to semi-formal evening wear.

"Pete 'n' Tillie" is rated "PG" —Parental guidance suggested. Some material may not be suitable for preteenagers."

Law Enforcement Officials Say Autos Prime Targets For Thieves

(Second of a series of articles dealing with the fight against organized crime in Texas, released through the Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council. "Public awareness is vital to stamping out organized crime," say Attorney General John Hill and Colonel Wilson E. Speir, DPS Director, co-chairman of the Council. This series is part of a public education program developed by the Council, assisted by the Texas Criminal Justice Council, the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration, The Texas Department of Public Safety, the Attorney General of Texas, and local law enforcement agencies)

Organized auto theft and theft of personal and household property pour millions of dollars yearly into pockets of Texas mobsters.

Autos and other vehicles head the list, but thieves also make off with everything from television sets to hair brushes from Texans each year.

One officer recalled not long ago "the hardest thing I ever had to do in my life was go into the small home of a low-income family and take away the television set a hard-working mother had finally been able to bring home for the kids.

"She bought it from a shady dealer, and it turned out to be stolen goods."

The Texas Organized Crime Prevention Council, co-chaired by Attorney General John Hill and Colonel Wilson E. Speir, director of the Department of Public Safety, reports motor vehicles are prime targets for organized thieves.

Using Dallas as an example, criminals stole property valued at $15.7 million last year. More than $6 million of that total was cars—although ultimately $4.4 million worth of autos were recovered.

An end-of-the-year tally for 1971 estimated $50 million or more worth of motor vehicles were reported stolen in Texas.

That figure represents an estimated 48,323 vehicles stolen in the state during 1971.

Many average Texans conclude the absence of complaints means the absence of organized crime in the car theft racket.

Nothing could be further from the truth.

"At the present time, 80 to 85 percent of all stolen vehicles are recovered," said Colonel Speir, "but many of those not recovered are taken by professional thieves and organized theft rings."

Car theft, as a matter of record, often is the "kindergarten" for a young thug.

A canvass of some business areas of the city has been in progress for several days, it was noted, but the Cancer Crusade will begin in the residential areas and the rest of the business area on April 3, it was stated.

In announcing the kick off meeting and the Cancer Crusade, Mrs. Roach reminded that vital programs of research, education and service account for 9 cents of each dollar spent annually by the American Cancer Society.

"Cancer research, which has scored dramatic advances, last year received $24 million or about 35 percent," she said. These vital research projects and all ACS activities are financed by contributions from the American people during the ACS annual Crusade, and from bequests and legacies.

Public education programs received about 16 percent of $11.3 million, and another 10 percent or $7 million is devoted to professional education. Patient and community service received about 18 percent or nearly $13 million for easing the heavy burden cancer imposes on its patients and their families, Mrs. Roach said.

Another 21 percent, or some $15 million, supported fund-raising and management of the Society's activities.

Mrs. Roach said that more than $4 million from the 1973 ACS quota for Texas will remain in the state because of the M. D. Anderson Research Center.

Throughout the state, farm equipment is a popular target for theft rings. Peace officers in Texas and New Mexico recently seized $100,000 worth of farm tractors, truck tractors, and a big combine. Authorities believe the confiscated equipment was stolen from points throughout West Texas by a ring headquartered in the Texas Panhandle.

Less easy to identify and return are valuables stolen in home burglaries. For example, in a medium-sized North Texas City, residents of 481 homes reported being burglarized in 1971. Only 63 got any property back.

Merchandise such as television sets, watches, furniture and stereo sets usually difficult to identify. They're easy to transport and simple to market but extremely difficult to trace.

Such items find their way into pawn shops or to the "friendly neighborhood fence"—for the thief, that is — and are unloaded or resold.

Many homeowners now are using electric pencil devices to mark the more valuable items within their homes.

Of course, the more obvious precautions such as locking your car when you leave it or never leaving the keys in the ignition certainly should be practiced by all motorists.

This may not prevent your car from being stolen, but it makes the thieves' job more difficult and greates the chances of their being seen.

But progress is being made in the theft and burglary field, as far as most law enforcement officials can tell.

A more aware and better educated public holds the best promise for solutions to the problem.

"We may never wipe it out completely, but if the public will help, great progress can be made," Colonel Speir noted.

The next in this series of stories will deal with so-called "Victimless Crimes."

Meeting Friday At City Hall Will Kick Off N. Runnels Cancer Crusade

A meeting at the Winters City Hall at 5 p. m. Friday, March 30, by American Cancer Society volunteers will kick off the 1973 Cancer Crusade, Mrs. Earl Roach, chairman of the North Runnels Cancer Society Unit, has announced.

A canvass of some business areas of the city has been in progress for several days, it was noted, but the Cancer Crusade will begin in the residential areas and the rest of the business area on April 3, it was stated.
