HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Winters should be bombed—or sprayed or something—to eliminate the hordes of mosquitoes, which are just about to chew up the whole community.

Recent rains have left conditions ideal for mosquitoes, and they have multiplied and multiplied. This year, they're not your ordinary, run-of-the-swamp mosquitoes, either—they're big ones, with bills long enough to penetrate the heaviest clothing. A shirt or dress is no protection at all from these mosquitoes, when they're out for blood. And mosquito repellent doesn't seem to worry them in the least.

The rains left puddles of water in low areas, filled empty cans and other water-holding debris thrown about the community. The grass and weeds have been allowed to grow up in too many places, and have been left standing. These are the conditions which breed mosquitoes. And if we let them continue, we're in for a long, hot, mosquito-bitten summer.

City crews probably will be spraying within the next few days, in an effort to kill these mosquitoes. But they can't reach every spot which has become a breeding ground. That's where the rest of us come in—we will have to cooperate, individually and collectively, by cutting as much of the tall grass and weeds as we can, cleaning up the trash heaps, and eliminating as far as possible all mosquito breeding sites. We won't get them all, of course, but we can help cut down on their numbers.

If memory serves well, it seems that for several years we have all been warned that "one of these days," we were going to be faced with an energy-fuel crisis. Many of those who were making those predictions through the years were scoffed at—the supply of oil was unlimited, was the reply. Just go out and drill a hole and start pumping. And the know-how and imagination of the experts would somehow get the refineries built and the tanks filled, and there would never be a worry.

But now those who were giving the warnings are having the last laugh... if we can laugh at the predicament we are now in.

Reminds us of the parable in the 25th chapter of Matthew. As we remember the story, there were these ten young ladies who had to make a trip, and had to carry lamps with them. Five of these ladies were smart ones, and took plenty of oil for their lamps; but the other five, well, they were so busy having a good time they forgot to take extra oil.

When the ten ladies got to the meeting place, they all went to sleep, waiting for the time. At midnight, someone said, "It's time to go." Then the ones who hadn't taken extra oil for their lamps begged the other five, "Let us borrow some of your oil, our lamps are going out." But the wise ones with the oil said, "No, indeed, there is not enough for you and us. Go to (Continued on page 8)

Early Report Shows

$15,335 Shortage In Collector's Office

A preliminary report by a private auditing firm indicates a shortage of $15,335.83, for a two-year period, in the funds of the Runnels County Tax Assessor-Collector's office, County Judge Elliott Kemp said Tuesday.

The audit of the Tax Assessor-Collector's books covered the calendar years of 1971 and 1972, Judge Kemp said.

The auditing firm of Ben M. Davis-Kinard & Co., of Abilene, was employed by the Runnels County Commissioners' Court several weeks ago to examine the books of the county tax office, following disclosure of alleged discrepancies in the records. The Commissioners had received a request for an audit of the records of that office from Jack Farmer, who assumed the office of Tax Assessor-Collector January 1, 1973.

Judge Kemp said the final report from the auditing company is expected to be received within the next few days, at which time a complete report will be made public.

The preliminary report Judge Kemp said, alleges shortages in the following funds of the tax office:

- Ad valorem tax fund, $8,563.25.
  - Auto registration, $4,523.33.
  - Beer and wine licenses, $1,263.50.
  - Liquor licenses, $985.75.
- Pannell Legg Jr., of Ballinger, was County Tax Assessor-Collector during the period covered in the audit. He was defeated in his bid for re-election to office last year by Jack Farmer, of Ballinger.

Two Burglaries Net Thieves $230 In Cash

Burglars broke into two Winters businesses sometime Sunday night, and took cash and checks amounting to $338.65, along with some credit cards, according to Winters police reports.

The Conoco self service station on South Main Street was entered through the one door in the office, and a clasp was knocked from a safe. $230.00 in cash, and several checks and credit cards were taken in that theft. The door had been pried open with some type of flat tool or heavy screwdriver, Chief of Police Joe Stevens said.

Burglars also pried open the kitchen door of Huffman House Sunday night. No loss has been noted in that break-in. Clifford Huffman, owner of the restaurant, said he had had some wrapped frozen meat in a sink, thawing, but it had not been touched.

Police suspect that the two break-ins were committed by the same person or persons, in that each occurred sometime Sunday night, and method of entrance was identical in each instance. Investigation continues.

Winters police over the weekend also apprehended an adult male suspected of child molestation.

GOLF WINNERS — These ladies won top honors in their respective flights in the Ladies City Championship Golf Tournament which was completed at the Winters Country Club Thursday of last week. They are Mary Bauer, La Juan Sprinkle, Joyce Bahlman and Linda Dry.

Mrs. Bauer, defending her City Champion title, won first place in the Championship Flight, to retain the title.

Mrs. Sprinkle was the leader in the first flight, to keep her place at the top in that category.

Mrs. Bahlman took top honors in the second flight, while Mrs. Dry was third flight first place winner.

In other competition, Marlene Wood was closest to the hole in that contest; Louise Davis hit the longest drive; and Carolyn Black had the least number of putts.

Following the play, a salad supper was served, with the following golfers and guests present: Mary Bauer, Joanie McAdoo, Marlene Wood, La Juan Sprinkle, Lois West, Sandy Griffin, Carolyn Black, Diana Billups, Louise Davis, Joyce Bahlman, Jean Owen, Jerry Dry, Bonnie Dry, Linda Dry, Lilly Heath, Melba Emmert, Jackie Heath, Margaret Speer and Lucille Hill.

According to County Judge Kemp, the Commissioners' Court has made no plans regarding the alleged shortages, other than applying for recovery from the bonding company.

The Commissioners' Court recently adopted a resolution asking the legislature to dissolve the office of County Auditor, action which grew out of the disclosure of alleged shortages, it was reported. The resolution pointed out that "it has become necessary for the county to expend unnecessary funds to hire an outside audit, and it appears such audit by trained specialists will be preferable, and at considerable savings when performed on a regular basis." The resolution will be presented to the next regular session of the legislature, which will be in 1975, or perhaps included in a special session, if such session should be called in the interim, Judge Kemp said.

The County Auditor's office is non-elective, with auditors appointed by the District Court. Price Middleton of Ballinger is presently serving in that capacity.

BABS TATUM... To "Miss Texas" Pageant

Babs Tatum Will Represent Wayland College at "Miss Texas" Pageant

Miss Babs Tatum, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walker Tatum of Winters, will represent Wayland Baptist College at the Miss Texas Pageant in Fort Worth, July 16-21.

Miss Tatum, who completed her bachelor of arts degree in physical education at the college in December, won her title as Miss Wayland College in a field of 20 contestants in November. As in the Miss Texas Pageant, she was judged in evening gown, swimsuit and talent competition in the two-day Wayland pageant. She was named on the first night as preliminary talent winner.

Judges for the Miss Wayland pageant were from the Miss Texas Pageant board of directors.

She is a graduate of Winters High School, where she was a standout basketball player. During her college years, she has been a member of a vocal group which has toured several states; the group has appeared in Winters two times within the past several months.

Since she won her title, Miss Tatum has undergone a rigorous training program in preparation for the state pageant. She has made some personal appearances for civic clubs, school groups, church groups, and banquets. In April she was a featured performer in a variety show which included the reigning Miss Texas, Mae Beth Cormany, Bellinda Myrick, Miss Texas of 1971, Miss Dallas, Miss Haltom - Richland Area, Miss Fort Worth, Miss Hurst-Euless-Bedford, Miss West Texas, Miss West Texas State University, and Miss Lubbock.

Miss Tatum will be representing, not only Wayland College, but Plainview and her hometown of Winters. Merchants of Plainview have provided most of her wardrobe. She will be honored on July 13 with a city-wide reception sponsored by the Women's Division of Plainview Chamber of Commerce. College personnel will gather to honor her at a reception send-off on the same day.

Accompanying Miss Tatum to Fort Worth will be her manager and chaperone, Mr. and Mrs. Joe Provence of Plainview. She will be honored on July 14 with a patio party at the home of Provence's parents, Mr. and Mrs. E. E. Provence of Arlington.

Registration for the Miss Texas Pageant is on Sunday, July 15, with rehearsals scheduled for the 16th and 17th. Competition gets underway on July 18 with the girls divided into three groups. The some 65 young women from across Texas will compete in either evening gown, swimsuit or talent competition on the first night and rotate competition in the other categories on the 19th and 20th. On July 21, the 10 semifinalists will be named in a statewide telecast of the pageant and these 10 will go through all three competitions.

The new Miss Texas will be crowned during the finals on July 21.

Winters' Low-Rental House Project Practically Full, Light Turnover

Only two small units of Winters' 46-unit low rental housing project were vacant the first of this week, with applications on hand to fill these, according to Oliver Wood, executive secretary of the Winters Housing Authority.

Wood said turnover in the rental property has been comparatively light, since it was opened a few months ago. He said there have been only four turnovers during the time since the project was opened, and he expected two more by the first of July. However, he said, these units should be filled immediately from the long list of applicants he has in the office.

Of the 46 units, 30 are for the elderly and 16 for low income families. Wood said there are about twelve single persons living in the one-bedroom units near the business area, with about 40 in this particular part of the project. In the multiple-bedroom units in the northeast section of town near the school,

"Red Hot Bargain Days" Here Friday and Saturday

Winters merchants are going all out in establishing a "precedent in pricing" during their "Red Hot Bargain Days," Friday and Saturday, June 29-30.

The sales event is being sponsored by the Winters Chamber of Commerce, and promoted by the Retail Sales Committee of the chamber.

Theme of the special event is "Save gas and money, trade at home," and local merchants will be offering outstanding special bargains on all types of merchandise. They have pointed out that by trading at home, residents of the community can not only save money in actual purchases, but can conserve gas during these critical times of fuel shortages—in addition to "preventing wear and tear on the nerves caused by heavy traffic and crowded city stores."

Some of the merchants will have special sales merchandise in special sidewalk displays, while others will have their special bargains throughout their stores. No pattern of promotion has been suggested by the Retail Sales Committee, and each merchant will act individually on his own promotion.

Glen D. Green Retires From SCS After 30 Years

Glen D. Green, conservation technician with the Runnels County Field office of the Soil Conservation Service, retired Friday, June 23, after 30 years of service.

Green began work with the Soil Conservation Service in his home town of Floydada in 1943. He worked at several locations prior to being transferred to Ballinger in 1951.

During Green's 22-year tenure in Runnels County, the Runnels County Soil and Water Conservation District has grown from infancy to more than 1,000 district cooperators. More than 5,000 miles of level, cloud-end terraces, of which 600 miles are parallel, have been built in that time, in addition to more than 500 acres of grassed waterways, and more than 700 farm ponds constructed by district cooperators. Many of these accomplishments have been due to Green's untiring and dedicated effort in providing technical assistance to our cooperators, Harvey Kahlden, District Conservationist, said.

Green and his wife, Dorcie, live in South Ballinger. They have five daughters, Janice, Jo Ann, Mary Lynn, Glenda and Pam.

GRANDSON GRADUATES

Neal Reed Garrett, grandson of Mr. and Mrs. George M. Garrett and great-grandson of Mrs. Fred Tinkle, graduated from Arlington Heights High School in Fort Worth, with honors and in the top five percent of his class. He has been accepted for enrollment this fall as a pre-medical student at Texas Techn Lubbock.

73 Wheat Crop 80 Percent Out, Overall Yield Said About Average

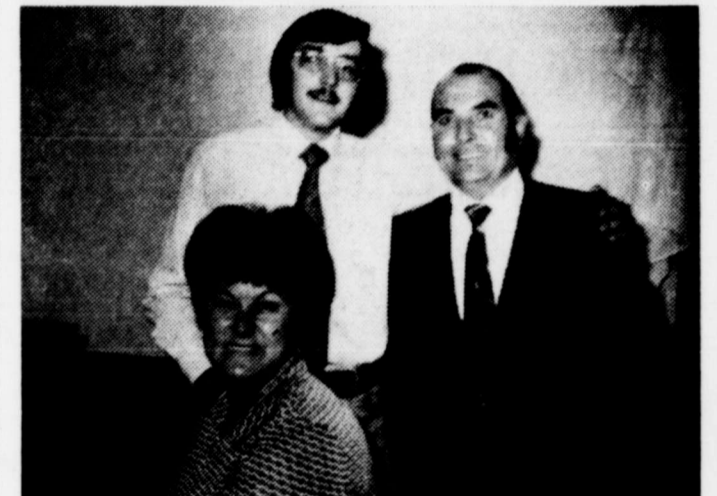

The 1973 wheat crop in North Runnels County, and adjacent areas, which has been termed "Good," "Questionable," and "poor," at different times during the last few months, is about 80 percent harvested, it was estimated this week.

Combining should be completed within a few days, given favorable weather.

Yields this year have been described as "fairly satisfactory," in spite of the setbacks which have been experienced by grain growers. Wheat has averaged about 20-25 bushels, it is estimated, while oats production has averaged about 50 bushels.

This year's small grain crop has been termed "about average"—or perhaps a little lower than average, because of several factors, it was noted. Total production was expected to be lower than usual because of the smaller number of acres planted. Then weather has played a big role. Some areas of the county were unharmed by heavy rains, hailstorms and windstorms at critical times, while others experienced almost total destruction from the weather. This condition is experienced almost every year to some degree, it was pointed out.

The wheat cutting period this year has been longer than usual because of weather factors, combined with the fact that

Winters Lions To Miami For Convention

Three members of the Winters Lions Club are attending the annual convention of Lions International in Miami this week. The convention runs from Wednesday through Saturday.

Delegates from the Winters club are Homer Hodge, Rankin Pace and Dr. T. L. Russell. Wives of the delegates accompanied them to the convention.

Will Speak At Assembly of God Sunday, July 1

The Rev. Victor Ostrom, sectional Christian Education director for four counties in North Central Texas, will be the guest speaker at the Assembly of God Church, Sunday, July 1, for both morning and evening services, according to the Rev. Charles Steinberg, pastor.

Services will begin at 11 a. m. and 7 p. m.

The Rev. Mr. Ostrom has been an Assembly of God minister for 25 years, beginning at the age of 15. He attended Tarrant County Junior College in Fort Worth, Southwestern Assemblies of God College in Waxahachie, and Southern California College in Costa Mesa, Calif. He has served as pastor of College Hill and Bethel Assembly of God churches in Fort Worth; First Assembly of God in Pawhuska, Okla.; Sunny Side Assembly of God, Van Buren, Ark. He served Casa View Assembly of God in Dallas and West Side Assembly of God in Garden Grove, Calif., as associate pastor and director of Christian education.

He served as a youth director in North-Central Oklahoma for three years and a Boy Scout trainer for two years. He is past president of the Mid-Cities Ministers Association in Tarrant County and has also served as treasurer for the Ministers Association. He is presently serving the Haltom-Richland Area Chamber of Commerce as a membership coordinator.

He presently resides in Fort Worth with his wife, Florence and two children, Vicki and Bruce.

Dinner, Special Program, At First Baptist Sunday

The congregation of the First Baptist Church will hold an old fashioned "dinner on-the-grounds" and a special afternoon program, Sunday, July 1.

Sunday school will begin at 9:45 a. m., followed by morning worship at 11. Dinner will be served at noon.

A special program has been arranged for the afternoon, and the public is invited to attend.

MILO CONDITIONS GOOD

Conditions are reportedly favorable for milo production in this area, grain men suggested. Moisture levels are good, and overall, the recent hailstorms have not caused as much damage as had been expected, even in face of the total destruction some farmers received. Most of the late planted milo which had been hit is expected to go ahead and make a good crop, and it should not be too many weeks (Continued on Page 8)

Did you ever have a doctor tell you you've got a heart ailment? Well, I have. Not bad, but the sort of thing that sounds a warning, you know!

Feeling a bit weary one day I casually dropped by the Capitol Physician's office for a brief checkup. I was soon receiving a cardiogram (EKG, they call it). Dr. Cary didn't seem to like what he saw, and promptly ordered another EKG.

In 20 minutes I was on my way to a hospital!

"Doctor," I protested, "I'm not sick, I have no pain!"

"It's a matter of precaution," the M. D. explained.

"But Doctor," I persisted, "Surely not now . . . My full committee meets tomorrow on our big annual $20-billion military procurement bill. It's the big day of the year for me. I'm Chairman of a subcommittee that for 6 weeks has been holding hearings on 3 sections of the big bill . . . I've got to make that report myself . . . Can't you give me a couple of days? . . . I feel fine."

"Nope," said Dr. Cary. "Your health comes first," and by then I was on my way.

Forty minutes and one more EKG later I managed to call my office and explain my whereabouts.

After getting settled in the Coronary Ward at the Naval Medical Center, between blood tapping and EKGs I got to thinking about some commitments.

"Doctor," I ventured, "next Friday I'm due at the big Scottish Rite banquet in San Antonio. I promised 6 months ago I'd be there. And the next day after that, I'm due in San Angelo for the Fiesta del Concho. I'll be out of here by then won't I?"

"I don't know but I advise you to cancel."

"Well," I implored, "I'm the luncheon speaker at the Convention of the Reserve Officers Association in Las Vegas on June 15. It's really a big event, and I very much want to attend. I hear I'm to receive a national honor."

My two doctors consulted a moment and said, "You've had no heart attack, but you need to get some rest. You've been pushing too hard. You should get some rest and get away from this place for awhile—too much tension!"

"Well, you're the doctors," was all I could think of to say. You know, when he starts talking about your heart you don't argue with a doctor.

Whitewings Pouring Into Valley

Edinburg — Whitewing doves continue to stream back into the Texas Rio Grande Valley and already their numbers are close to the total breeding population of last year.

According to Parks and Wildlife Department biologist Phil Evans of Edinburg, there are now some 424,000 whitewings in the brush and citrus trees of the Valley.

"We expect another 60,000 to 100,000 birds before the flights are over for the summer," said Evans.

Last year, department censuses accounted for a total of 475 whitewings.

Evans attributes the large influx of doves to record reproduction last year.

"Each pair of nesting birds produced three young during last year's breeding season," said Evans. "Excellent rain in the Valley in 1972 produced good food and nesting habitat."

Evans is not making any predictions for this year's reproduction because the rains have been less frequent than last year and sudden drought could cause the range conditions to rapidly deteriorate.

"Some of the birds have already produced the first fledglings," he said, "the first peak of production should come in mid-June with another peak forecast for July."

It takes 15 days to hatch a whitewing egg and another 15 days to fledge the young birds.

If there are no rains in the next three weeks, there could be less nesting than last year.

Evans is optimistic about September whitewing hunting.

He will reserve any final opinions about hunting forecasts until late August when his crews run their fall flight counts along the river.

The problem of holding birds on this side of the river for Texas hunters could also be alleviated this year.

Webworms Can Defoliate Pecan Trees -Action Needed To Prevent Loss

The webworm has returned to area pecan trees presenting owners with the threat of unduly silk webbing, foliage destruction, and possible complete loss.

Agriculture Commissioner J. C. (John) White advises, "If pecan tree owners want to have a productive yield, now is the time to act."

The webworm could stay indefinitely if not burned off or the branch cut off. While the webworm is not feeding on the leaves of the tree, the web it spins serves as its home. "It can completely defoliate a tree if not kept under control," Commissioner White said.

There are some insecticides which can be used to successfully combat this pest, the commissioner said. They include lindane, toxaphane, chlordane and sevin.

"It is vital that home owners use the insecticides in the quantity specified on the container," White warned. "Because misuse could be dangerous to other wildlife."

"The Federal Environmental Pesticides Act of 1972 set out firm rules on how pesticides are to be applied in control of pests. It is a matter of federal law this year," the commissioner continued.

During its life cycle the webworm goes through four definite stages of development, with each cycle lasting approximately 45 days.

The adult fall webworm deposits its egg on the underside of the leaf in clusters of 500-900 which hatch in seven days. The larval stage is the destructive stage of the webworm's existence. The larva feeds for three to four weeks on the leaves,

BIRTH ANNOUNCEMENT

Mr. and Mrs. John Craven of Round Rock announce the birth of a daughter, Sunday, June 24, at 8:31 p. m. in Winton Hospital, Austin. The baby weighed 8 pounds 7 ounces. She has been named Sonya Lynn. Maternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Deward Awalt of Albany, formerly of Winters. Paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Craven Jr., of Winters. Maternal great-grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Carl Baldwin of Winters and Mr. and Mrs. Joe Awalt of the Pumphrey community. Paternal great-grandparents are Rev. and Mrs. William H. Craven Sr., of Whitwell, Tenn.

which supply nutrients to the pecan. If not controlled, entire trees can become infested, and all leaves eaten off, thus paving the way for complete loss of the tree, it was said.

When branches which are covered with the web are cut from a tree, they should be burned immediately, without allowing the worms or larvae within the web to be scattered, it has been advised. If web sacks are burned while still on the tree, care should be taken to prevent further damage to the tree by burning too much of the foliage of healthy, unaffected branches.

Webworms were a menace to pecan trees in Winters last year, and this year promises to be a repeat, if steps are not taken immediately to eradicate this destructive pest, it was stated.

... about your SOCIAL SECURITY

Starting July 1, Medicare coverage will be extended to 1.1 million disabled people under 65. Disabled people who have received social security disability payments for 2 years or more will be able to get help from Medicare in paying their hospital and doctor bills and other covered services, according to J. M. Talbot, social security manager. Medicare was previously available only to people 65 or over.

"Those eligible for coverage," Mr. Talbot said, "will include disabled workers, disabled widows and disabled dependent widowers between 50 and 65, disabled mothers 50 or older who get social security benefits because they have young or disabled children in their care, and people who get benefits because they were disabled before age 22."

Effective January 1973, a child disabled before age 22 may now qualify for social security benefits on the account of a retired, disabled, or deceased parent-worker, according to J. M. Talbot, social security manager. Previously, a child had to be disabled before age 18 to qualify for disability benefits on a parent's account.

In many cases, a child's dependency on the parent is extended beyond age 18 because the child spends additional years in school and has no regular earnings before his twenties. Extension of the age to 22 recognizes this dependency.

For more information, contact the Social Security Office at 3000 West Harris Avenue (P. O. Box 3808) in San Angelo, Texas, or see the representative when he is in your area. Persons who are unable to meet with him are encouraged to call the office in San Angelo. Residents of Winters may call toll free by dialing "Operator" and asking for "Enterprise 2058."

BUSINESS and the STOCK MARKET

by BABSON'S REPORTS INC.

UNABATED DEMAND FOR FERTILIZERS

Wellesley Hills, Mass. — The current heavy demand for fertilizers in both domestic and foreign markets has created substantial shortages in many sectors. Furthermore, even where supplies are available shipments are being hampered by a serious dearth of railroad hopper cars as well as a shortage of fuel. Despite heavy rains, flooding, transportation difficulties, and the fuel insufficiencies, fertilizer sales are expected to shatter all previous records during the present crop year. In fact, consumption of some 8 per cent to 10 per cent more fertilizer is anticipated.

As a result of the powerful demand, shipments of most types are far in excess of production, thereby pushing inventories down to new low levels. Paced by larger crop plantings and heavy export orders, 1973 should be a banner year. Fertilizer statistics for calendar 1971 and 1972 showed a healthy advance in sales and a marked rise in net income. Both research and development and general operating costs declined during those years while profit margins increased. Producers, however, are still mindful of the deep deficits in 1968 and 1969, and are seeking further gains before building new capacity.

ROLE IN FOREIGN TRADE

Agricultural exports in fiscal 1973 (ending June 30th) will total about $11.1 billion while imports are estimated at close to $6.8 billion. Obviously this is one of the few sectors of the economy where America enjoys a trade surplus. Although these results were aided by the $1 billion of grain shipped to Russia, our exports of farm products have been steadily rising over the past few years.

The American farm business is the world's leader in production of food and, now that the U. S. Government has cut farm program subsidies, and provided for the release of some 40 million acres, further notable increases in exports should follow as a consequence of the potential step-up in farm output. In particular, expansion is anticipated for such basic crops as corn, soybeans, and wheat. In summary, the 1980 forecast of U. S. exports amounting to $18 billion, and imports of some $9 billion may appear to be overly optimistic, but the experts are steadfast in pointing out the potential of agribusiness and its immense importance to our balance of trade. Fertilizers as well as other agricultural chemicals and equipment will be required in considerably greater volume.

THE FERTILIZER MIX AND PROFITS

While it is true that nitrogen, phosphate, and potash nutrients (principal fertilizer products) are sold and applied both individually and in combination, mixed or multinutrient fertilizers still account for the bulk of sales. Nevertheless, it should be noted that the direct-application materials are growing more rapidly than the mixtures owing to the fact that they can be applied separately as needed rather than once a year. The most rapidly growing products of all are the ammonium phosphates. Bulk blending by the retail distributor is gaining in importance as are the liquid mixtures because of the greater ease in handling and the saving in price.

RECOMMENDATIONS

The Research Department of Babson's Reports feels that the principal investment vehicles for participation in this revitalized industry are the common stocks of International Minerals & Chemical, the world's largest producer of fertilizers, and Monsanto Company, a diversified chemicals and a leader in herbicides. The former is speculative grade, the latter conservative; both are traded on the New York Stock Exchange. Other major producers of fertilizers among chemical firms are Allied Chemical, W. R. Grace, Freeport Minerals, Stauffer Chemical, American Cyanamid, and Texasgulf. There are still several large oil companies in fertilizers, as well as Borden and U. S. Steel.

Mowing a pasture can boost forage production, by giving the better forage plants a chance for re-growth.

Mowing especially helps to control weeds and boost grass quality by keeping new and tender growth going on.

Stemmy, mature grasses and unsightly weeds can cut pasture production by 50 percent or more. They reduce both the quantity and quality of forage grasses.

Hot, dry summer weather often keeps stockmen from mowing. This problem can be eliminated by mowing only a part of the pasture at a time. Wait until the mowed section has recovered before mowing other parts of the pasture.

Mowing height is also important. Tall weeds can be eliminated from forage being saved for hay or later grazing by setting the mowing height above the forage. When grazing is continuous, set the mowing height at two or three inches.

Chemicals are also a good method of weed and brush control.

COW-CALF INVESTMENT

Major aspects to consider in cow-calf operations are investment costs and annual costs.

THE WINTERS ENTERPRISE
Winters, Texas
Friday, June 29, 1973

Estimates of the costs vary for intensified operations and the more extensive ones. Intensified operations general can be found over much of Central Texas and East Texas and the Gulf Coast area, including the Lower Valley. More extensive operations are found in the western areas of Texas, where several acres of land may be required to carry a cow unit.

The total annual cost with a 7 percent interest charge for land and improvement for an intensified operation is $140 to $179.50 per year per cow unit and $166 to $213.50 for the more extensive operation.

For intensified operations, land and improvement costs at 7 percent interest range from $35-$56 for producing a calf to weaning age, while other costs will range from $105 to $123.50. Land and improvement costs for the more extensive operations range from $70-$105 with other costs totaling from $96.50 to $108.50.

Producers should estimate total investment costs per cow unit at $980-$1300 for intensified operations and $1500-$2000 for extensive operations.

For livestock operators both owning and renting land and making new land purchases, the estimated costs will depend on interest and rental payments.

FARMLAND PRICES ON UPSWING

Higher prices for farm products and generally improved economic conditions raised farm real estate prices during the year ending Nov. 1, 1972.

Overall, the United States average per acre value of farmland increased 10 percent in the 49 contiguous states. This was well above the six percent annual average increase since 1960.

In the Southwest, increases in farmland averaged from 8 to 13 percent. Louisiana was the leader with a 13 percent gain. Texas followed with a 10 percent increase. New Mexico and Oklahoma had eight percent gains, while Arizona reported a nine percent gain.

Increases of 14 percent and more were reported by 14 states, including Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri, Kentucky and Virginia.

The upward trend should continue through 1973 in response to favorable farm income and a strong nonfarm demand for farmland. The actual rate of increase will depend on credit availability and interest rates on long-term credit.

New Life Jacket Rules Effective October 1st

Austin.—As of Oct. 1, 1973, recreational boatmen will be required to comply with new personal flotation device (PFD) regulations, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department officials.

PFDs are classified into one of five performance types, and certain types are acceptable on boats of specified sizes.

On recreational boats 16 feet and longer, there must be a Coast Guard approved wearable device for each person aboard the boat. In addition, one throwable device (such as a buoyant cushion or ring buoy) must be carried on the boat.

On boats under 16 feet in length, and all canoes and kayaks, the familiar buoyant cushion will continue to be acceptable equipment as long as there is one cushion per person on board the boat. However, officials recommend the use of a wearable personal flotation device even on these smaller boats.

An aim in life is the only fortune worth finding; and it is not to be found in foreign lands, but in the heart itself.

Clean your finger, before you point at another's spots.

Mrs. Juanita O'Connor's Weekly Home Demonstration Agent's Column

SPRING SALADS

Like Spring, a salad is gay in color and flavor and crisp in texture. Salads are indeed a mainstay of our warm weather menus. But a salad can also be the first dramatic starring attraction at a special occasion meal. Shimmering molded salads are a case in point.

An artistically garnished molded salad is one of the most handsome dishes a host or hostess can set before spring or summer party guests. It makes a lovely welcome neighbor gift or thank you for dinner gift. It is just right for the church supper or after the bridge game buffet. And it will make a sprightly addition to the family dinner table as well.

One of the secrets to molding a pretty salad lies in its garnish. And garnishing is a technique made much easier with the use of tangy and colorful pimiento-stuffed green olives. Olives are not only an attractive and elegant garnish, but they are also a logical and practical one, since the lovely green fruit is such a versatile salad ingredient.

Get Ready Now For Canning

This week isn't too soon to get things ready for canning, according to Mrs. O'Connor.

For one, if you don't have a pressure canner, consider borrowing one—or buying a second-hand canner. However, make sure it's in good working order.

All canners should be checked each year before use, with emphasis on certain areas. Examine the cover and rubber gasket for damage.

Clean openings of the safety valve and petcock—which closes the valve—by drawing a cord through them.

Have the dial pressure gauge checked for accuracy by an appliance dealer or the manufacturer.

Weight gauges, in contrast, require only cleaning. Also, wash the canner itself. Covers with gauges attached should be wiped clean with a cloth—not submerged in water.

Remove the gasket and wash it. Turn it over before returning it to place. Remember—good canning jars are necessary. Often second-hand jars have nicks on the rims—resulting in imperfect seals which can allow foods to spoil. Also, jars in which food comes from the grocery may present similar problems. They aren't designed for home canning—so may fail to seal properly, the agent added.

Tuna Olive Mold

2 envelopes upflavored gelatin
2 T. sugar
¼ tsp. pepper
¼ c. water
¼ c. cider vinegar
1½ c. mayonnaise
Two-thirds c. chopped pimiento-stuffed olives
½ c. finely chopped onion
1½ c. finely diced celery
2 cans (7 ounces each) tuna, drained, flaked.

Stir gelatin, sugar, pepper, water and vinegar together in 3 quart saucepan; allow to stand for 2 minutes. Place over low heat, stirring constantly, until gelatin dissolves. Remove from heat and stir in mayonnaise. Meanwhile, oil a 9x5 inch loaf pan. Stir chopped olives, onion, celery and tuna into thickened gelatin mixture. Carefully pour mixture over olive design in pan. Chill 4 hours or until serving time.

At serving time, unmold onto serving plate. If desired, garnish mold with whole small olives, chicory lettuce leaves and cherry tomatoes.

Creamy Burger Filling

1 lb. ground beef
½ c. chopped onion
1 c. dairy sour cream
2 T. flour
1 T. prepared mustard
¼ tsp. pepper
1 T. Worcestershire sauce
1 tsp. salt
1 tsp. hot pepper sauce
1 clove garlic, minced
Brown ground beef and onion. Drain off excess fat, if necessary. Add remaining ingredients. Stir over low heat until warmed.

Antelope Increase In Trans-Pecos Area

Austin — The antelope population in Texas' Trans-Pecos area has shown a healthy increase, according to Texas Parks and Wildlife Department biologists, but antelope in the Permian Basin haven't fared so well.

In the nine-county Trans-Pecos area, adult antelope buck numbers are up by six to seven percent, and doe numbers are up by 11 to 12 percent.

Summer Recreation Program At Humble Building

The Community Action Agency is sponsoring a summer recreation program for persons of all ages, and has prepared the Humble Building on Wood Street.

Special games and classes are held for children 5 to 14 each weekday morning from 10 a. m. to noon. The Center will be open from 1 p. m. to 5 p. m. every day for all ages, and young people 14 and over are invited to attend special recreational programs from 7 p. m. to 10 p. m. Monday, and from 5 p. m. on Thursday.

Adults are invited to attend programs on Friday night, for music, games and other activities. A film has been provided for ceramic classes, which will be available to all ages in July.

Youth Center To Be Open For Two Saturdays' Trial

The Youth Center, operated by the Community Action, in the Humble Building, will be open for the next two Saturday nights, June 30 and July 7, from 6 to 11 p. m., on a trial basis. If the arrangement proves workable, CAA spokesmen said, the project will be continued through the summer.

The Center is under the sponsorship of the Winters Youth Council, which was organized in February of this year. Games, music, and other entertainment are provided, free of charge to all young people. An adult supervisor will be present at all times the Center is open.

Ralph Novak's National Scene Are Black Films a Polish Joke?

By RALPH NOVAK

NEW YORK (CEF) Since America's movie makers discovered that black is bountiful, we have been besieged with films about black detectives, black gangsters, black cowboys, black vampires, black singers, black presidents and even black Negroes.

But the ultimate black film is the forthcoming "Black Whitey," the story of a black man who becomes the leader of a white citizen's council in a small Southern town.

"Black Whitey" is "absolutely unmeaningful," according to producer Kareem Jabali Abdul Hajib Schultz. "It is a good hard core black exploitation film."

"That's why we had such a hard time getting a lead actor, dig? We tried to get Sidney Poitier, James Earl Jones, Sammy Davis Jr., Jim Brown, even Satchel Paige. All those dudes turned us down as soon as they found out about the scene where the blacks get their revenge by training a flock of ravens to drop huge watermelons on white neighborhoods. Heavy stuff."

Schultz finally had to settle on the little known Agamemnon Carrithers, until just recently the postman who delivered mail to Schultz's Blackety-Black-Black, Inc.

Schultz admits that he himself has risen meteorically. "It all started when I changed my name (it used to be Kareem Jabali Abdul Hajib O'Rourke), Man," he said. "Then I learned to lay the soul handshake on the brothers and say 'Man' all the time, Man, and walk despite the 19-pound medal I always wear around my neck."

"Then pretty soon I was making token guest appearances on TV shows and once I got like $49.95 together I decided I was ready to produce my own stuff, you know. It only cost $207.43 to make 'Black Whitey' and I figure we'll get a return of about 44,750 per cent."

Schultz insists his movie has something for whites, too. "We tried to get in all the names blacks call whites," he said. "And we put in a lot of heavy dancin' and love-makin' and jumpin' high, plus a far-out musical score by Nwambe Tomegbe, cause we know how the white folks like that kind of stuff."

Schultz admitted later that "Nwambe Tomegbe" is an alias for Guy Lombardo but then he shrugged and said "don't mean nothin'."

He concedes that the black film market is played out now but he has new plans.

"I'm goin' to get me a crewcut wig, bleach my skin white and change my name to Kareem Jabali Abdul Hajib Skoronski," he says. "I can see it now, 'Polackula,' 'The Legend of Polack Stan,' 'Polish Caesar,' 'Super-pole'..."

Lots of bass fishermen consider trolling as a lazyman's method of angling.

Well, I guess they are right. It's easy to troll, it's fun, you stir up enough breeze to keep cool and more often than not you catch fish (even with artificial bait).

But, the best luck we've had in trolling has been with live minnows and a minnow sock.

You may never have heard of a minnow sock. They are seldom seen in Texas. It's a Canadian invention, and very popular in the Provinces.

Anyway, I'm sure you've seen Japanese handcuffs, and a minnow sock works on the same principle. For those who don't know—the Japanese handcuff is simply a wicker tube with a criss-cross weave. Trick is to insert the middle finger of one hand into one end of the wicker tube and the middle finger on the other hand into the other end of the tube. And that's it.

Principal Attends Meeting In Austin

George Beard, principal of Winters Elementary and Junior High Schools, attended the annual state summer workshop of the Texas Elementary Principals and Supervisors Association in Austin, Wednesday, Thursday and Friday of last week.

Mrs. Beard accompanied Principal Beard to the Austin meeting.

You're handcuffed then and there, my friend, because it's impossible to get your fingers out. The harder you pull the tighter they fit. A handcuff without keys. How's that for cleverness?

The minnow sock is not made of wicker but of nylon fishing line. You slip the head and body of the minnow into the sock—leaving the tail free to wiggle. Outside the sock is a hook, positioned alongside the live minnow. You simply tie your fishing line to the eye of the hook, add enough lead weight to the line to keep the bait down to the preferred depth—and a trolling you go.

Don't let the fact that "socks" are not available keep you from trolling. There's an even lazier way to catch fish. Simply rig up your gear as you would for casting the plastic worm, drive your boat into the wind over some likely area, then drop the bait down to the bottom, cut off your motor and let the wind blow you over the hot spot. You'll find that float fishing with the plastic worm often works when nothing else will.

It's easier on the angler, easier on the boat and easier on the purse. But it gets hot as Hades in the summertime when the sun bears down.

However, the fish are cool. They're right down there on the bottom—away from that hot summer sun. So go after 'em!

The Revenge Of The Red Man
The American Indians wrecked by the white man are having the last laugh in the Great Beyond.

Tobacco is the Indian revenge. Before Columbus, tobacco was unknown to the white man. But explorers soon saw that Indians smoked the leaf in a Y-shaped pipe called a tabaco. Each end of the double-forked pipe was inserted into a nostril. In some places, though, Indians smoked tobacco leaves rolled with husks of corn. The white man sampled the stuff, liked it, and thereby put a curse on coming generations.

The Indians smoked for ceremonial purposes and as a symbol of goodwill. They also believed that tobacco had medicinal values. It was, in fact, primarily for this reason that explorers carried the weed back to Europe. The brainwash took so well that by the middle of the seventeenth century, a London doctor wrote a whole book on "The Wonderful Virtues of Tobacco." The overzealous physician recommended a drop of tobacco juice in each ear to cure deafness, a green tobacco leaf flat on the head to cure headache, and a tobacco leaf tied over a tooth to cure toothache. For a cough, he advised boiling tobacco leaves, shaking the syrup, and putting the mixture on the stomach.

Doctors have learned a lot more about the effects of tobacco over the last three centuries. Now they know that smoking is

Contract for Lifetime Care

"You get everything I own. In return, I get complete care for the rest of my life."

In effect, this was the agreement that an elderly widower made with a retirement home. And when he died a few years later, the management put in a claim for his remaining assets.

However, the man's relatives went to court with an objection.

"This was gambling, pure and simple," they argued. "No one knew how many years he would live. No one knew how much property he would have when he died. And gambling contracts are illegal."

But the court saw nothing illegal about the contract. Finding it no more of a gamble than an insurance policy, the court said the law had no objection so long as both parties understood what they were doing.

In most cases, contracts for lifetime care have been upheld as lawful and reasonable. Courts say they serve a useful purpose for those who want the security of a safe haven in their declining years. Nor does the contract become invalid just because it happens to work out better for one side than the other.

In one case, a retirement home got a financial windfall because a relatively young resident, after paying a large membership fee, died within a few months.

In another case, a retirement home tried to back out of its contract after paying hospital expenses for an ailing resident for more than four years.

But in both cases, despite complaints, the courts ruled that a deal was a deal and had to be carried out.

Still, a contract might be invalidated by deception. One retirement home carefully avoided telling an incoming resident that he was signing over all of his property.

In this case after the man died, his property was held to belong to his children, not to the home. The court said it could not fairly enforce an agreement on which there was no "meeting of the minds."

Former Winters Student Conducts Show In California

James H. Bryan, son of Mrs. Bub Phillips, Wingate, will conduct the musical production of "West Side Story" at the Orange Coast Community College near Los Angeles, Calif.

He graduated from Winters High School in 1960, and received his bachelor of arts degree from the University of Texas at Austin. He earned his master of music degree in conducting at Arizona State University.

Nor does the contract become invalid just because it happens to work out better for one side than the other.

In one case, a retirement home got a financial windfall because a relatively young resident, after paying a large membership fee, died within a few months.

In another case, a retirement home tried to back out of its contract after paying hospital expenses for an ailing resident for more than four years.

But in both cases, despite complaints, the courts ruled that a deal was a deal and had to be carried out.

Still, a contract might be invalidated by deception. One retirement home carefully avoided telling an incoming resident that he was signing over all of his property.

In this case after the man died, his property was held to belong to his children, not to the home. The court said it could not fairly enforce an agreement on which there was no "meeting of the minds."

AUSTIN — Experts offer little hope for an early easing of the energy crisis, and Railroad Commission Chairman Jim Langdon warns a lot more oil and gas is being used than is being found.

A House committee studying the crisis heard a national authority's grim opinion that "there is no way out."

Dr. John McKetta, past chairman of the National Energy Policy Committee, said President Nixon should declare a national emergency, since it's too late for problem studies in the area.

Langdon told the same committee legislative efforts to cope with the problem will be frustrating because solutions must be sought at the national level.

Although the state regulatory agency has been permitting 100 percent production for more than a year, Langdon said Texas as producers are still falling short of demand for oil by 400,000 barrels a day, or roughly 10 percent.

Atty. Gen. John Hill termed the situation "extremely critical," and said no other matter should receive more attention today.

As the commission set the July oil allowable at 100 percent for the 16th straight month (with buyers seeking a record 3.8 million barrels a day), Langdon issued a new warning that only nine million barrels of oil a month are being added to Texas supplies while 105 million barrels are consumed in the same period.

"Unless this trend is reversed, the Texas oil and gas industry is in the process of self-liquidation," said Langdon.

Texas crude oil stocks as of June 8 were 94.7 million barrels, a decline of 7.2 million from 1972.

Langdon asked for reports at the July commission meeting on the amount of oil companies discovered in 1972, and "some-where along the line," he said, he will want to know "what it will take to find more" — and whether the industry will really be "able to stay in business."

BRISCOE'S REQUEST TO PRESIDENT NIXON was backed by U. S. Sen. John Tower. Designation would make the flood victims eligible for long-term loans from the Small Business Administration.

HOUSE SPEAKER PRICE DANIEL, Jr., leaving on a Caribbean vacation, named Rep. Carl Parker of Port Arthur as speaker pro tempore to preside over the House during his absence.

LT. GOV. BILL HOBBY appointed Sen. Nelson W. Wolff of San Antonio chairman of the Senate planning committee for the 1974 constitutional convention.

000 barrels a day, or roughly 10 percent.

Atty. Gen. John Hill termed the situation "extremely critical," and said no other matter should receive more attention today.

As the commission set the July oil allowable at 100 percent for the 16th straight month (with buyers seeking a record 3.8 million barrels a day), Langdon issued a new warning that only nine million barrels of oil a month are being added to Texas supplies while 105 million barrels are consumed in the same period.

"Unless this trend is reversed, the Texas oil and gas industry is in the process of self-liquidation," said Langdon.

Texas crude oil stocks as of June 8 were 94.7 million barrels, a decline of 7.2 million from 1972.

Langdon asked for reports at the July commission meeting on the amount of oil companies discovered in 1972, and "some-where along the line," he said, he will want to know "what it will take to find more" — and whether the industry will really be "able to stay in business."

BRISCOE'S REQUEST TO PRESIDENT NIXON was backed by U. S. Sen. John Tower. Designation would make the flood victims eligible for long-term loans from the Small Business Administration.

DISASTER AID SOUGHT
Extensive property damage due to floods in eight Southeast Texas counties led Governor Briscoe to ask that they be designated disaster areas.

Counties were Harris, Galveston, Brazoria, Jasper, Hardin, Liberty, Montgomery and San Jacinto.

Briscoe's request to President Nixon was backed by U. S. Sen. John Tower. Designation would make the flood victims eligible for long-term loans from the Small Business Administration.

tornado damage.

The Court of Criminal Appeals reversed a Dallas County conviction for flag desecration due to improper prosecution arguments and use of inflammatory words.

The Supreme Court upheld lower court findings that a Carizo Springs store clerk was entitled to no punitive damages due to being slapped by retired Texas Ranger Capt. A. Y. Ailee.

RIGHTS BILL SIGNED
Young Texans 18-20 will get full majority rights under new legislation which takes effect on August 27.

Governor Briscoe signed the bill, in spite of speculation he would veto it.

It permits the 18-20-year-olds to "enjoy all the privileges and responsibilities of adult citizenship," according to Briscoe's statement.

Among adult privileges which the new youth group will be able to indulge in is purchase, consumption and sale of alcoholic beverages.

Other bills signed near the deadline for approval or veto included family code revision, free kindergarten for all five-year olds, primary election proceedings and financing for 1974 and bail bond reform.

Altogether, Briscoe signed or allowed to become law with signature 659 bills passed by the Legislature this year and vetoed 29.

SHORT SNORTS
U. S. Department of Labor has awarded Texas a $1.4 million grant for an 18-month manpower program under the Criminal Justice Council.

Outcries for a special legislative session on public school finance increased during a House education committee hearing.

Texas will receive $3,562,143 in additional grants for 16 Texas school districts participating in an emergency aid program to prevent minority group isolation.

Former Lubbock Mayor Jim Granberry, a Republican, is the early-bird candidate for governor, although former Houston Sen. Hank Grover has made clear he will run too.

Former Secretary of State Bob Bullock jumped into the 1974 Democratic primary races first — as a candidate for state comptroller.

Rep. Joe Allen of Baytown asked for an attorney general's opinion on whether the House has an obligation to provide free space in the capitol for news reporters.

"OPEN" GOVERNMENT
Atty. Gen. John Hill spoke for "openness" in government at the Texas Press Association convention in Houston last week.

"It's not an easy policy for public officials and sometimes it's not the most efficient, but the legislature says that's the law and I plan to support it," he told 250 weekly and daily newspaper publishers.

before harvest of milo will begin, it was said.

Also, some of the cotton lands which were stripped by the hails, are being replanted to milo. This late-late planting should produce a fairly normal crop, given only half-way favorable conditions. Moisture conditions are good, and the biggest problems probably will be insects, which hit harder at the late crop, and extremely dry weather during the middle summer months. There should be plenty of time—110 days—for this later milo to make and mature, farmers and other grain men speculated.

If you could kick the person responsible for most of your troubles, you wouldn't be able to sit down for six months.

Price Freeze May Cause Food Shortages

Waco—The President's 60-day freeze on retail food prices is a "stop-gap measure that carries with it some real dangers for consumers as well as farmers," J. T. Woodson, president of the Texas Farm Bureau, said today.

"There is a real possibility that we may soon see shortages of milk, eggs, and meat if prices are too low for farmers to make a profit," the head of the state's largest farm organization said.

"Although farmers appreciate the President's exemption of prices of raw agricultural products, the freezing of prices at the retail level does affect prices all the way back to the farm," Woodson said.

Commenting on the cost-price squeeze, Woodson said that some producers have absorbed all the increased production costs they can handle.

"Farmers will not produce for very long when their prices are at or below the cost of production," he said. "When producers feel the pinch badly enough, it won't be long before the consumers will, too, in the form of empty grocery shelves and meat counters."

The farm leader said the only way that consumers can be assured of a bountiful supply of food at reasonable prices is to have adequate production and that this can only come from price incentives in the marketplace.

Woodson said that food prices are not out of line.

"The American consumer spends only about 16 percent of his take home pay on food," he said. "This is lower than any other nation on earth and lowest of any time in our history."

The Farm Bureau leader said that the "real culprit behind inflation is still wasteful and deficit spending by government."

the store and buy some for yourselves." So these foolish, forgetful ladies set out for the filling station to get some oil. When they had filled their tanks, and returned, they discovered the train had already left without them. They begged the station agent to stop the train and let them on, but he replied, "Sorry about that, ladies. You should have remembered to bring extra oil."

Looks as if we've missed the train in this energy-fuel situation, and many of us may end up sitting on the side of the road some place, with empty tanks. If we'd been a little smarter back there a few years ago and listened to some of the warnines, instead of taking for granted that we could go on having a good time forever, building a habit of using all the oil we pleased, perhaps we would have some oil for our lamps now.
