HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

The following in George Dolan's column in The Fort Worth Star-Telegram is a natural, so though we'd clip it and help to spread a little humor along the way . . . we can all use a bit these days:

A man and his cousin had made plans to go bird hunting on a Saturday. But, late Friday, the man learned that he would have to work all day Saturday.

His cousin showed up as scheduled. "You go ahead and take the dog," the man said. "I have to work today."

"But I've never been hunt-his cousin protested. "I don't know where to find the quail." "Look," said the man, "that bird dog can do everything but walk on water. You don't have to find the birds—he'll find 'em for you. He's a champion."

The cousin took the dog off to the fields, and the man went to work.

That evening, when the man returned, his cousin was sitting on the front porch.

"How many birds did you get?" the man asked.

"None."

"Didn't you go hunting?"

"Yeah, but there was something wrong with your dog."

"Like What?"

"Well," explained the cousin, "we started out hunting and the dog ran off from me. Then he stopped sudden-like and his tail shot straight out, his right foot and leg raised off the ground and he just stood there and quivered like he had the St. Vitus dance. I kicked him in the ribs every time he did it, though, and I think I've just about got him cured."

A federal official, commenting recently on the gasoline shortage, listed some of the practices which could help in cutting down on use of fuel, and thus keep us all on the road just a little longer:

—People should purchase more small cars, for a gasoline saving of 9.5 percent.

—Reduce fuel consumption of half of the highway vehicles by 30 percent, thereby saving another 12 percent in gasoline.

—Reduce top speeds on trucks and cars to 50 miles per hour, saving 2 percent.

—Improve traffic control and save another 3 percent.

—Persuade central business district commuters to use public transit, a saving of 1 percent.

—Bicycling or walking on all trips of less than two miles, another 2 percent saving in gasoline.

Our own local expert, who is about as expert as any in the business, figures further reductions in fuel consumption could be made by:

—Car pooling by mamas and papas to Little League baseball games, saving at least 5 percent.

—Buying enough bread to last a week, thereby eliminating the daily "bread run" to the grocery store, 3 percent saving.

—Require double- or triple-deck parking by the young folks, a tremendous saving figured at about 10 percent.

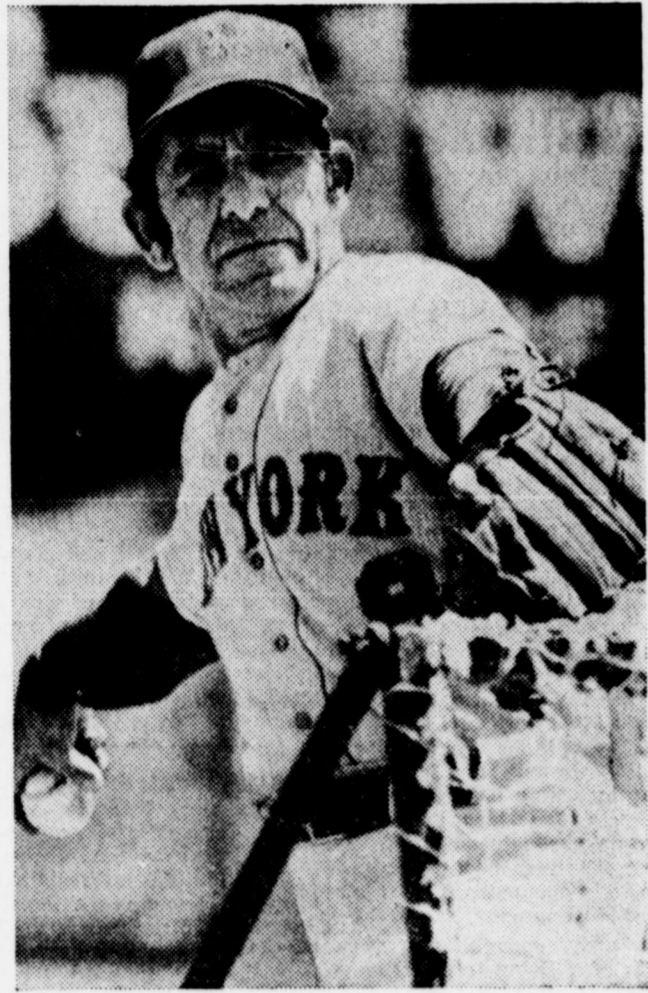

—Required closing of all lovers' lane parking places (an uncalculatable saving!).

—Requiring (during school months) all kids living within four miles of school to walk to school, saving at least 15 percent in gasoline consumption (to say nothing of the wear and tear on mamas' nerves, and also allowing more parking spaces around the schools for those who have to drive in from the country).

—Requiring residents of all communities to do at least 10 percent of their shopping in their home communities, another gasoline saving of about 26 percent.

—Reducing two-car families to one car (pop would have to walk to work most of the time, creating another market for hides and shoe leather, and mom would have to resign from some of her clubs), a saving of roughly 25 percent.

Our local expert figures that if his suggestions, plus those of the Federal expert, were followed to the letter, there would be no gasoline shortage, and those of us who want to go fishing or on vacation could do so without worrying about running out of gas 100 miles from nowhere.

IF THIS DOESN'T look like a pitcher to you, don't be alarmed. It is Yogi Berra, onetime catcher extraordinaire, pitching batting practice for the New York Mets, whom he now manages.

Ray of Hope Seen For North Runnels Rural Water System

A slight ray of hope beamed through the dismal financial blackness surrounding the proposed North Runnels rural water system, along with other Federally-financed projects, with the recent announcement of the lifting to some degree of the fund cut-off and proposed channeling of funds to the states. C. T. Parker, Jr., Runnels County extension agent said this week.

Parker, who was instrumental in organizing the North Runnels Rural Water Supply System, Inc., said reports have been received that the frozen funds will be forwarded to the states, and probably will be assigned by the governor's office. There is still no assurance that the North Runnels corporation will receive funding for the proposed project, he said, but at least there is more hope now than at any time since all Federally-financed projects of this type were cut out completely some months ago.

The North Runnels corporation proposes to build a pipeline distribution system through out most of this area, to provide water to farmers and ranchers. It was planned to apply to the Farm Home Administration for funds to build such a pipeline system, Parker said. Plans had been turned over to engineers for final route planning, which was necessary to reach a cost estimate, when the fund freeze was put into effect.

In the beginning of the proposed project, landowners of the area to be covered deposited with the organization $100 for each meter, or outlet, they would require on their property. From this sign-up, engineers made preliminary planning maps to determine an established pattern for main pipeline routing. About 500 landowners in the area have signed up for participation in the project.

A source of water supply was sought, and the City of Winters and the City of Ballinger each indicated a willingness to provide the water which would be needed. Each city, Parker said, could easily supply the water from lake sources. No decisions had been made nor contracts signed when the fund-freeze struck, it was said. However, it was stated, a joint source would be entirely feasible.

While attending Hardin-Simons University, Miss Kirksey worked three years as secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Abilene.

After graduation from H-SU, she went to Florida as a youth director in G.I. Auxiliary camps. She met missionary Catherine Chappell, director of the Rio de Janeiro Center, whose work appealed to her.

Returning to the seminary at Fort Worth for the second year, Miss Kirksey took courses in social work. Although she had dreamed of being a missionary to Brazil since she was 13, she was required to have two years practical experience in the states before appointment.

So, she gladly accepted the opportunity to begin a week-day program in the Ervay Baptist Center of South Dallas.

It came as a real surprise to Miss Kirksey to learn that she would be considered a home missionary, and she went through the appointment procedure with the Home Mission Board.

After three years she resigned and became a student at Carver of Missions and Social Work, Louisville, Ky., where she received the master of arts degree.

Miss Kirksey was appointed to foreign mission work in March of 1963, while still a student at Carver School. When she learned that Catherine Chappell needed an assistant at the center in Rio she was happy to go to this field of service.

Since 1970, Miss Kirksey has been director of the center and Miss Chappell, who also teaches in the school, continues to assist.

A new building for the center-ground will be erected upon Miss Kirksey's return to Rio. She said that it had been made possible by the generous Lottie Moon Christmas offering made by the Baptist Churches of America.

Miss Kirksey of Throckmorton, native of Abilene, will return to Brazil in July where she is director of Casa Batista da Amizade (Baptist House of Friendship) in Rio de Janeiro.

Nearing the end of a year's furlough, Miss Kirksey spoke at the First Baptist Church in Winters last Wednesday night. She told of her work in Brazil since her appointment by the Foreign Mission Board in 1963. She began her work following a year's initial language study in Campinas, Sao Paulo.

Miss Kirksey has been visiting in the home of her cousin, Mrs. Lee Harrison and Mr. Harrison in Winters. She is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. E. Kirksey of Throckmorton.

Miss Kirksey told her audience last week, "The goals of the Friendship House, or community center, are to evangelize and to help the people help themselves in solving their problems of daily living. We also train girls of the neighborhood to organize the weekday programs of their local churches."

"Our program includes 'head start' classes for five-year-olds, Bible clubs for children and youth, and various other classes for teenagers and women. The center has an evangelistic service one night a week each week and there is a nurse on the staff," she said.

The center, which celebrated its 15th anniversary on its present site in 1971, is a department of the Girls School which is a social work department of the Baptist Institute of Religious Education in the city of Rio. These students assist with work at the center which is for all religions and all races.

While attending Hardin-Simons University, Miss Kirksey worked three years as secretary of the Junior Chamber of Commerce in Abilene.

Vaughan had served on the City Council for six years, and had not run for reelection in April.

Bank Deposits Up $1 Million Over Last Year

Deposits in The Winters State Bank have increased about $1,200,000 since mid-year 1972, according to a financial statement released this week.

Loans also were up, $700,000 more than a year ago, and total bank resources increased by $1,300,000, according to the report. Total assets as of June 29, 1973, totaled $10,623,897.16, compared with $9,288,279.12 in 1972.

Woodrow F. Watts, president of the bank, said the growth is evidence of a solid economic structure locally, with strong and growing livestock, agricultural and industrial activities. The local situation is a reflection of the nationwide pattern of a strength in the economy, which continues to gain, it was indicated.

Elm Creek District To Get Federal Work Plan Aid

Water Usage Hit Million Gallons Monday

The hot weather being experienced in this area is beginning to make itself noticed, according to W. D. Waggoner, superintendent of the City Water Department.

Water consumption in Winters Monday, July 2, reached and surpassed a million gallons daily for the first time this summer. Waggoner said. A total of 1,047,000 gallons was metered through the filtering plant Monday.

But the water department is expecting consumption to remain around the million-gallons-a-day mark for many days, and preparations are being made to meet the demand. Waggoner said all filtering plant and the clarifying basin at the water plant have been cleaned, or are being cleaned, in anticipation of a long, hot summer. He said this probably would be the last chance before September to thoroughly flush and clean the system, because demand for water will be high during the next few summer weeks.

Waggoner said Winters has a plentiful supply of water at this time. He said the water ceased running through the spillway at the Winters lake some time Monday, July 2, following recent rains. He said this was the first time in 28 years he has been in the Water Department he has seen water going over the spillway on July 1.

The district also hopes to construct or sponsor construction of a multi-purpose dam on Elm Creek for the purpose of providing additional municipal water supplies for Winters and Ballinger, and possibly the rural water supply corporation which was organized for North Runnels several months ago. Such a structure also would provide recreational facilities in addition to retaining flood waters.

Hays said the authorization of the financial and technical assistance by the Soil Conservation Service is just another step in the long process of establishing a workable conservation and flood prevention system on Elm Creek and its tributaries.

The Watershed Protection and Flood Prevention Act authorizes the U. S. Department of Agriculture to give technical and financial assistance to organized groups of farmers living in small watersheds where floods, droughts and soil erosion are causing serious damage. Evidence of much damage from floods on Elm Creek was presented in a special public hearing held by the State Board last year.

Among the sponsoring organizations are the Runnels County Soil and Water Conservation District, the Middle Clear Ford Soil and Water Conservation District in Taylor County, the Commissioners Courts of Runnels and Taylor counties, and the Runnels County Water Authority.

Marine Second Lieutenant Donald L. Simpson, son of Mrs. R. C. Simpson of Route 3, Winters, has completed the Engineer Equipment Officer course at the Marine Corps Base, Camp Lejeune N. C.

A 1964 graduate of Winters High School, he is a 1969 graduate of Texas Tech University.

The course completed by Lt. Simpson trains officers in the supervision and coordination of engineer equipment maintenance, repair, operation and metal working activities.

The special fund to purchase equipment for the new North Runnels Hospital, now under construction, has reached $69,735.16, in pledges and contributions. Most pledges have been honored, Ted Meyer, chairman of the special committee, said, and contributions come in almost weekly.

The money which has been contributed has been placed on deposit, drawing interest. To date, Meyer said, $3,750.00 has been earned in interest.

Contributions and memorials received since the last report are as follows:

Mr. and Mrs. Albert Wustinger $25.00
In memory of Mrs. Vernie Bourn 8.00
In memory of Mrs. Emma Adams 19.00
In memory of Ernest Adams 51.00
In memory of Mrs. Vickie Shaw's sister 10.00
In memory of Luvin Taylor 5.00
Previously acknowledged $69,617.16
TOTAL $69,735.16
Interest earned $ 3,750.00

It is hoped, he said recently, that tests will show that the first spraying program of the three-year project has had enough effect on infestation to justify continuation of the program.

The diapause program is jointly financed by the cotton producers and the State. If enough farmers wish to continue the program, Parker said, applications will be made for finances.

It is difficult at this time, Parker said, to determine how effective the first phase of the diapause program has been; this can be decided after a full production year. If the program is adopted again by area farmers, three aerial sprayings will be made this fall.

Several young people seen about town painting curb parking areas, street corner curbs, parking meters, and fire plugs, and chopping weeds, mowing grass and hauling brush, are all employed through a summer employment program for students, funded by the federal government, through the West Texas Council of Governments.

Seventeen young people, all students, from 14 through 19 years of age, are employed by the City of Winters and the Winters Schools. The City of Winters administers the program.

Eleven of the young people are working for the City, with six working at the school, doing light maintenance work and mowing grass and cutting weeds.

Some of the girls working for the City have been painting curbs and fireplugs, while the boys are cutting weeds and grass in town, and hauling brush and cutting trees and generally cleaning up at the Winters Lake. Others are working with the street department.

The program provides work for students during the summer, at no direct cost, except administrative, to the City and the schools. Age limit for those in the program is 14 through 22.

But Buford Baldwin, City Secretary, said none of those now assigned were older than 19, and all are students. One of them, he said, had dropped out of school previously, but plans to return in the fall.

U. S. Troops in Europe

By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., July, 1973. At a time when the U. S. and the Soviet Union are in the midst of delicate negotiations aimed to reduce troop levels in Central Europe, new efforts are being made in Congress to force upon the President a unilateral cutback, or perhaps even a large-scale withdrawal, that would greatly weaken his hand, and even imperil NATO unity.

Fear Lingers

Today Europe is a flourishing continent. Both the NATO countries comprising the Western Alliance and their Eastern counterparts in the Warsaw Pact are more prosperous and more powerful than ever before. Many regions—and many major industries—in the Western nations enjoy the fruits of economic progress, including a standard of living comparable to our own. West Germany alone is a nation of greater prosperity than was the whole of Germany before the war. France has again become a great power. Even in the satellite countries of the East, trade flourishes and living conditions are somewhat improved.

Yet the specter of fear lingers. For, although Moscow alternately tightens and loosens the reins on the Balkan States, she has not appreciably loosened her grip on East Germany and Poland.

NATO Strength

Pentagon studies released last month indicate that the armies of the North Atlantic Treaty Organization (NATO) could withstand a massive Warsaw Pact ground attack without resorting to nuclear warfare. Some Members of Congress interpret this conclusion as an argument in favor of bringing home a substantial number of the 300,000 U. S. troops still stationed in Europe as part of NATO's defense apparatus.

The Administration maintains, however, that the Pentagon's findings provide strong support for its position that current troop levels be maintained until the NATO and Warsaw Pact countries themselves reach agreement on mutual reduction of forces.

Important Leverage

Will anything come of the move in Congress to legislate a withdrawal of U. S. forces from Europe on the grounds that they are no longer needed there and that we cannot afford to keep them there anyway? Back in the spring, the Senate Democratic Caucus did pass a resolution calling for a substantial reduction in troops by the middle of next year. Although this approach has the strong approval of Senate Majority Leader Mike Mansfield, follow-up action by the House and Senate is doubtful.

Consensus on Capitol Hill does favor troop cutbacks, but a

Kimberly Miles and William Russell Will Marry Here August 11th

An August wedding is planned.

New Landing Strip Ready In Two Weeks

The new runway at the Winters Municipal Airport will be ready to receive planes "within a couple of weeks," depending on the weather, according to information received this week.

Construction crews have about completed spreading catclite on the new 2600 foot runway, readying for asphalt topping. However, it is not known when the topping will be applied. Even without the asphalt topping, the runway will be suitable for use, it was pointed out.

The new runway, longer than the present strip, is situated at a slightly different angle than the old one, running north-northeast, south-southwest. It will be suitable for use by all light aircraft, except in adverse weather. The old runway will be used as a taxi strip.

It is not known when hangar and service facilities will be moved to a new location on the east side of the field proper.

To be capable of respect is almost as rare as to be worthy of it.

majority of the Members side with the White House in realizing that our troops are a bargaining chip in the NATO negotiations with the Warsaw Pact nations. If we make any unilateral withdrawals, this leverage will be diminished and a stable balance of forces on the continent will be less likely of attainment.

European Security Conference
Our NATO allies in Europe appear to be cautiously optimistic as the first round of the European Conference on Security and Co-operation opens this week in Helsinki. We here at Babson's Reports feel that the preparatory talks went well and that agreement to accept the status quo of frontiers in Europe that has existed since the conclusion of World War II is virtually a fait accompli. But the Helsinki conference is not dealing directly with military matters.

The latter are being discussed in Vienna. The atmosphere in that city is less conciliatory, while the attitude of the USSR and the other Warsaw Pact countries is more militant. The truth is that the Soviets are dragging their feet on troop reductions, concentrating instead on diplomatic and trade detente. For the U. S. to reduce its NATO troop commitment in Europe at this time would be to play into Moscow's hands, weaken the NATO alliance, and even shorten the odds for peace.

AUSTIN—The last of 19 public hearings by the Texas Constitution Revision Commission were held in Waco and Austin last week.

It was the largest meeting with 34 of 37 commissioners attending.

Witnesses in Austin before the full commission and committees made recommendations for changes in the 98-year-old document.

Speakers, legislators and commission members agreed that it is going to be a tough job to write a new constitution that will be approved by the voters of Texas.

"You must write an intelligent document that can be understood by the man on the street," one speaker said.

Representative Bill Clayton, Spring Lake, reviewed his constitutional plan that was introduced in the last legislature. Clayton said that we need a short, concise document similar to the federal constitution that would also leave the presentation intact until changed by two-thirds vote of the legislature.

"There's going to be some knock-down, drag-out battles over sacred cows in the present constitution." Right-to-work, dedicated funds, the judicial article, state government financing, public school financing are some of the controversial topics which must be considered by the commission and then by the legislature.

Billy Gray, Texas Manufacturers Association, spoke for budget execution authority for the governor.

Other speakers during the final two days of public hearings in Austin and Waco spoke for: removal of sections that are statutory in nature, continuation of pay-as-you-go plan, stronger county government, fewer elected officials and more appointed.

officials, more power for the governor, life appointment for all judges, and many other major changes in the existing constitution.

ARTESIA HALL PROBE CONTINUES

The spreading investigation of Artesia Hall, a private institution for troubled youth near Cleveland, is receiving close attention of top state officials and legislators.

The institution June 21 was ordered by a court at Liberty turned over to the state for operation. Many students already had been withdrawn.

The facility has been the center of controversy after its founder and director, Dr. Joseph Farrar, 56, of Houston, was charged with murder in connection with the death of a 17-year-old girl. The girl died after allegedly drinking rat poison. Farrar was charged with refusing medical aid for 36 hours. He denies the accusation and another of beating of a boy.

Central to an investigation by the attorney general, Department of Public Safety, a House sub-committee and the Welfare Board is why the school was licensed in November 1971 despite unanimous objections by welfare case workers who inspected it.

At a meeting here last Friday, the State Board of Public Welfare ordered licensing of child care and placing institutions transferred to the state offices and made subject to board approval. Licensing is now handled at regional level.

Welfare Commissioner Raymond Vowel confirmed that numerous complaints were received about Artesia Hall over the last couple of years, and that welfare staff members were dispatched there "every other week".

However, the commissioner said, the complaints could not be substantiated.

The Board set another meeting for July 6 to further explore the case and possible recommendations for personnel changes.

CITY TAX REVENUE BOOMS

Nearly 700 Texas cities levying local option sales taxes collected $45.9 million during the quarter which ended March 31.

Comptroller Robert S. Calvert's newest report shows a total of $46.5 million collected.

before auditing expenses and the state's service fee deduction. Houston alone got more than $9 million from the levy and Dallas $6.3 million.

COURTS SPEAK

The State Supreme Court agreed to review a case involving closing of a portion of a street which a hotel operator claimed cost him loss of business.

The High Court agreed that a Bexar County district court should try a $294,943 damage suit brought by the State Insurance Board receiver on behalf of two defunct San Antonio insurance firms.

In still other cases, the Supreme Court ruled: —That a single guaranty agreement can apply to all bank notes a borrower may have.

—A Matagorda County tractor driver who had his leg crushed on the job can't collect workmen's compensation because he didn't file his claim in time.

—Damages awarded an Abilene truck driver can be reduced because of a showing that he had opened a sliding door of his truck before the accident in which he was injured.

—A new trial should be held in a damage suit resulting from death of a Houston man crushed between two rocks.

—A nearly-six-months' delay has been granted for appeal of former House Speaker Gus Mutscher's conspiracy-to-accept-a-bribe conviction.

—A U. S. Supreme Court decision striking down state aid to parochial schools prompted a request for an attorney general's opinion as to the Texas tuition-equalization grants in private colleges.

AG OPINIONS

A prison sentence to be imposed and the manner it is to be served is determined by statutes existing at the time of the crime, and any effort to invoke statutes later enacted is imposition of an unconstitutional ex post facto law, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In another recent opinion, Hill held abolition of the office of county school superintendent in a county may not be accomplished by a special or local law.

SAFETY DRIVE LAUNCHED

City and county officials were urged by the Governor to give top priority to a cooperative all-out attack on the rising traffic toll.

The $1 million joint effort, to be known as Project SAVE, will be launched July 1, in San Antonio, Dallas, Denison, Garland, Grand Prairie, Greenville, Irving, Mesquite, Plano, Port Arthur, San Angelo, Sherman, Texas, and Tyler, and counties of Harris, Cameron and Hidalgo.

Traffic safety coordinators will be employed in participating communities, paid by funds provided by the governor's office of Traffic Safety Administration. Funds will also go to deployment of traffic officers on an overtime basis in selected areas at selected times to police selected violations with or ginal emphasis on alcohol-related offenses. APPOINTMENTS Robert R. Shelton of Kingsville was named vice-chairman of Texas Criminal Justice Council.

Governor Briscoe named as new judges Raymond Justice of Houston (domestic relations court, effective January 1), and Sam M. Paxon of El Paso (210th district, effective January 1).

He selected David D. Adams of Nacogdoches as 145th district attorney.

Briscoe placed Fred Wulf of Brady on the Legislative Property Tax Committee.

COUNTY AGENT'S WEEKLY NOTES

Black Spot Attacking Roses
Black spot, a fungus disease, is appearing in many roses this year due to high humidity and rainfall, says County Extension Agent Parker.

The disease causes dark spots on either side of the leaf with chlorosis, or yellowing, of the surrounding leaf area. The darkness of the spots and yellow margins distinguish black spot from other diseases which also cause black spots.

Black spot, which may weaken plants and make them more susceptible to other disorders, causes premature leaf drop and sometimes severe defoliation. Continued attack results in unattractive plant foliage as well as reduced size, number and quality of blooms.

Rose varieties may vary in susceptibility to black spot but none are completely immune, warns Parker. Hybrid teas are generally more susceptible than others.

The first step toward controlling black spot is sanitation. If only a few leaves show symptoms, remove and burn them. Remove all diseased leaves from around plants, particularly at the end of the growing season since the fungus overwinters in such leaves. The canes are also a frequent overwintering place so it is sometimes wise to prune them back before new growth starts. However, do not cut too close to grafts.

Many commercial fungicide preparations are also available to control black spot and other rose diseases. Follow a regular spray program throughout the growing season with maneb, benomyl, chlorothalonil or folpet. Sulfur dust is also effective but may cause plant burns when applied at temperatures above 85 degrees.

Use Vegetable Matter Grass For Compost

Home gardeners can make good use of vegetable matter, grass clippings and other refuse left after harvesting and mowing to build a compost pile. Composting has two advantages—it disposes of unwanted plant matter and at the same time, it provides a mixture high in organic matter that is good for the soil in gardens, flower beds and other locations.

To compost plant material, all that is needed is a three-sided structure made of wood, chicken wire or hardware screen. One end is left open for convenience in turning the mixture from time to time.

Prepare the compost pile by alternating layers of vegetable matter or grass and soil, each layer being four-to-six inches thick. Sprinkle a commercial fertilizer such as 12-12-12 or 8-8-8 on each layer of vegetable matter at the rate of a half pound or one cup to each 10 square feet of surface area. The fertilizer speeds up the decomposition process.

Soil should always serve as the top layer of the compost pile. Leave it low in the center to catch water. Water a new compost pile thoroughly when completed and add water during long periods of dry weather.

Turn or mix the compost pile with a fork every few months to speed up the decomposition process, advises Parker. If watered and turned adequately, the compost should be ready to use in about six months. A commercial compost activator may be added to speed up decomposition. Compost is a cheap means of improving your soil as peat moss and humus is used.

Council To Call For Bids On Water Tower

Within the next few weeks, the Winters City Council will publish a call for bids for purchase and construction of a water storage tank, to be built in the north section of Winters, City Hall sources said Tuesday.

The new tower will replace the old tower which was removed about three years ago to make room for widening of North Main street, and will be located in the same vicinity.

Billy Jacob, engineer of Abilene, met with the Council Monday night and recommended the city purchase a storage tower with 200,000 gallon capacity. He also will draw up specifications for the new tower, to be available to bidders on the project.

George Buescher, financial advisor to the City Council, met with the council Monday, and regarding financing purchase of the water tower, and other water facilities. The council will take action on financing the tower within the next few weeks, sources said.

Beef Cattle Picture Is Cloudy

College Station — Just when the weather is beginning to settle after an unpredictable winter and early spring and the beef picture should begin to brighten for the producer, it's not happening.

"There are a number of things clouding the beef picture at a time when production should be increasing to meet the rapidly growing demand," points out Dr. Ed Uvacek, livestock marketing specialist for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. "Uncertainty for the future is stemming from consumer meat boycotts, a slowdown in marketings, severe late winter weather followed by spring flooding, a ban on the use of DES (diethylstilbestrol) as a growth stimulant, price ceilings and increased exporting of pork."

"All these things will influence the red meat supplies that will be available this year. It now looks like those supplies will be less than anticipated even though fed cattle marketings are expected to be five percent greater this spring than last and summer marketings should also be large."

The Texas A & M University specialist contends that higher feeder cattle prices and feed prices are limiting the fed beef output. Future production is being restrained by concern over feed supplies later this year, he points out.

Cow-calf producers should look for a slackening of feeder prices during the summer and fall, according to Uvacek. However, feeder prices will generally stay above the fed cattle market. The specialist advises cow-calf producers to keep an eye on the fed cattle market as changes there could be the key to changes in the feeder market. Higher finishing costs may push downward on feeder prices since price ceilings will not allow a pass-through to consumers.

School Board Meets Thursday

The Board of Trustees of Winters Independent School District will meet at 7:30 Thursday, July 12, in the school business office.

The change of meeting date, regularly the second Tuesday night of each month, was made necessary because of other conflicting meetings.

Superintendent To School Head Meeting, Austin

Carroll Tatom, superintendent of Winters Independent School District, will attend the annual superintendent's summer workshop in Austin next week.

The workshop is sponsored jointly by the Texas Education Agency, Texas Association of School Administrators, and the University of Texas.

Summer Tax-Saving Tips For Farmers

College Station — "The summer months offer farmers a chance to save on income tax by paying their children for farm work and combining vacation and business trips," says Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist in agribusiness management for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

"A farmer can deduct wages he pays to his children and still claim them as dependents as long as he provides over half of their support. The support test is not hard to meet if the children are living at home," explains the Texas A & M University System specialist. "As long as they earn less than $2,050, the children will not have to pay income tax. Also, dependent children working for parents do not have to pay social security taxes."

The arrangement should be set up with regular hours and regular paychecks. The amount of pay must also be reasonable and for work actually done, cautions the economist.

"A farmer can also deduct business-related expenses from business-vacation trips as long as business is the primary purpose of the trip," continues Hayenga. "Only the expenses of the farmer, not the entire family, are deductible. The round trip mileage between the farmer's home

HEALTH FOR ALL

CHAMELEON TACTICS OF THE FLU VIRUS

Flu viruses that cause worldwide epidemics may be earth-bound Andromeda strains that hide out, waiting for the right moment to burst forth on the world.

At a recent conference at the National Institutes of Health, Dr. Edwin D. Kilbourne—chairman of the Department of Microbiology at Mount Sinai School of Medicine in New York—compared the flu virus to the organisms from outer space that almost produced global disaster in Michael Crichton's novel.

The flu virus, according to Dr. Kilbourne, appears to be the only virus afflicting man that undergoes sudden, major genetic changes. He believes strains of past flu viruses, for which man has developed antibodies, are now breeding in animals. While in the animals, he feels they can change their stripes. When a random recombination of genetic materials occurs, the virus once again is infectious for man. When a favorable climate, an "ecological niche" develops for them, they travel back from animal to man again.

According to Dr. Kilbourne, the flu virus of 1918—which killed 21 million people in the world—was similar to a virus discovered in pigs years later. The so-called Hong Kong virus of the late sixties, he said, was also capable of infecting swine. There are strains of the "Influenza A" type virus in horses and domestic birds as well as man. There are outbreaks of this virus every 10 or 12 years.

Dr. Kilbourne believes that the viruses that will cause tomorrow's epidemic are hiding out now in domestic animals. But modern public health measures can avert catastrophes. Killed virus vaccines can help provide protection against the flu itself; but new ones must be made for each variation in the virus.

them into the woods, it would be a sharp, top-quality axe. This in preference to a gun, a bottle of water, matches and numerous other items commonly regarded as prime essentials. Arguments favoring the axe, or even a small belt-type Boy Scout hatchet, are based on its many potential uses.

In the first place it's a good defensive weapon that also will serve for hunting game.

It can be used to chop down trees for shelter and to trim brush for fire-wood. Yes, fire-wood! No matches, did you say? Well, in an emergency like this, the axe can also be used to start a fire. Striking the steel head of the axe against a flint rock produces sparks, and sparks produce fires.

A real sharp axe can be used to clean large game and cut them up for cooking over the campfire.

Second in importance, in my book, would be a real sharp hunting knife, it would be a top grade whet-stone... for obvious reasons.

Storm Damage At School Is Termed Light

Damage from the hail and windstorm two weeks ago to the buildings of the Winters school has been termed light, according to information from the school business office.

Roof damage and loss of a few windows totaled only about $2,700, it was said.

Damage in other sections of town was varied, with some areas receiving more than others. Also, composition of roofs made a difference in the damage from the hail, which was not of great size, as it has been in the past. Some residential structures were damaged, and new roofs are to be put on, as is the case for some flat-roof commercial buildings.

No estimate has been made on the total damage, but it has been considered light, when compared with past years.

WETBACKS AND BRACEROS

A news item from Mexico City says that country, plagued with unemployment and explosive population growth, will open talks with U. S. authorities in July, seeking a new system of contract labor not unlike the one abandoned by Washington at the end of 1964, under which hundreds of thousands of Mexicans entered this country annually to help harvest crops and work on ranches.

Under that "bracero" program workers were admitted under contract, in labor shortage areas and at prevailing wage rates, so certified by the Secretary of Labor. By thus legalizing the workers and providing insurance and minimal housing, the braceros were duly accounted for and their whereabouts always known. With that workable arrangement in effect, wetbacks were kept to a minimum.

But labor unions raised such a ruckus about the program it was scrapped by Congress 7 years ago. As a result, wetbacks poured across the border and the tempo of the influx turned into an avalanche. The dike was broken and illegal aliens spread out over much of the country.

Let us hope the proposed return of the bracero program will not be opposed by those whose policies helped bring about the present deplorable conditions.

In the meantime, the Congress is about to enact a law to make it a criminal offense to employ an illegal alien. Of doubtful constitutionality this
