HOME TOWN

Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Fred Young is going to get in to the habit of encouraging people to stay away from meetings—those he attends. In fact, he told one lady recently he was glad she failed to show up for a meeting.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Young (he is a retired groceryman and she retired last year after many years as school nurse) have a travel trailer, and belong to an organization of trailerites. These people meet periodically to discuss everything from two-handed rummy to the Gross National Product, including the trials and tribulations and enjoyments experienced by trailer pullers.

Two other friends of ours, Mr. and Mrs. Boss Dickenson of Lorraine (he is a retired school principal who enjoys loafing while she continues to teach school) are also members of this trailer-owner organization. And Fred will continue to urge Mrs. Dickenson to miss those meetings.

During some of the meetings or conventions, names of all the members are put in a hat and a drawing is held for a door prize. Recently, they held a drawing in which the prize turned out to be a color television set. Mrs. Dickenson's name was drawn from the hat, but she wasn't present. So they drew another name—and it turned out to be Fred's.

He's become a one-man committee for encouraging non-attendance.

The west was surrounded by and developed behind barbwire, with fences sewed across the land not unlike a finger-stitched patchwork quilt.

But the west was strengthened and bound together, repaired and made functional by baling wire. Baling wire sutured the wounds and closed the gaps of a young and straining era, replacing and perhaps even bettering the rawhide of other times.

The use of baling wire to tie bales of hay to feed the growing herds seems to be only incidental — perhaps even an afterthought of some resourceful rancher or farmer who used the wire as a fix-all.

Split wagon tongues were returned to long and rugged service by being wrapped and wrapped and wrapped with baling wire. A broken link in the trace chain of a mule's harness could be replaced by a few strands of baling wire. The Model T owner tied a length of baling wire to the choke of his Tin Lizzy, and pulled it out through the radiator, and made a finger-loop, to be used when he hand-cranked an always stubborn engine on a cold morning. Windmills were kept turning with hanks of baling wire twisted around a sucker rod or gear box.

In fact, baling wire was a necessity and a cure-all for most ills around the "place." There are even those who say if the astronaut had taken a long some baling wire, the currently-soaring Sky Lab would long since have been made functional.

Where baling wire was worth its weight in gold in bygone days, it is now almost worth its weight in diamonds. Many farmers watch helplessly as hay remains unbled in the fields because they can't get baling wire. Suddenly, it's scarcer than the proverbial hen's tooth, at least on a local level, and at least one farmer, perfect paradise would be a shed of baling wire. There's even one story of a man who heard of a bunch of baling wire in Kansas, and drove all the way up there only to find it had been sold before he arrived. Somewhere, there's must be a mountain of baling wire, but it apparently is kept hidden for some reason, along with some of those other

Survey Crew In Area to Work Up Figures For Elm Creek Project

A survey team from the Soil Conservation Service is in the area this week, beginning an extensive survey of the entire Elm Creek watershed, in connection with the proposal to build flood water retaining structures along Elm and its tributaries.

For the next few weeks the crew will be surveying on the roads of the watershed to establish bench marks from which a full survey will be made.

Audit Report Shows Shortage Of $15,453.97 In County Tax Office

A report to the Runnels County Commissioners Court Tuesday by an Abilene accounting firm revealed a shortage of $15,453.97 in the Runnels County Tax Assessor-Collector's funds for a two-year period.

Shortage, broken down by the accounting firm of Ben M. Davis, Kinard and Co., of Abilene, shows:

—Auto registration, $4,523.33
—Beer and wine tax, $1,277.50
—Liquor license tax, $1,089.89
The report covers only the years of 1971-1972.

In the report to the Commissioners, the accounting firm pointed out that reporting procedures called for by state statute were not always accomplished. They said that, according to statutes, the county tax collector is required on each Monday to pay to the county treasurer 90 percent of the taxes collected. And each month the tax collector is required to report to the commissioners all the collections to the county.

They noted that the reports in the past ranged from ten days to two and a half months past the time they should have been made.

The report also stated that deposits by the tax collector were made infrequently during the months, and deposits were not made intact, "which makes it difficult, if not impossible, to trace collections for a period of time to bank deposit slips. It was also noted that bank accounts in Winters and Miles were used and these banks are not designated depositories of the County."

The auditing firm also recommended that the former tax collector, Pannell Legg Jr., be contacted and presented with a claim for the unpaid balances and, if settlement is not made, his bonding company should be called upon to supply the deficit.

Auditing by outside auditors of the County Tax Assessor-Collector's accounts was ordered by the Commissioners Court some months ago at the request of Jack Farmer, who assumed the office of County Tax Assessor-Collector. Farmer had been elected to the office in November, defeating the incumbent, Pannell Legg Jr.

Rental Housing Group Will "Ride Out the Storm" Before Commitment

Winters' Rental Housing Development, Inc., will "ride out the current economic storm," before making any type of commitment toward borrowing funds to build rental housing to ease the housing shortage here.

In an annual meeting of stockholders of the non-profit corporation Monday night, stockholders were informed that even though federal money might again be available, the interest rate on loans for this type of venture had more than doubled within the past few months. Plans originally had been to obtain long-term loans from the Farmers Home Administration, at about 3 percent interest. Nelan Bahlman, president of the Development, said Monday night this interest had been increased to about 7 percent.

In light of this, stockholders decided, it would not be feasible at this time to attempt to process applications for loans, and go ahead with some type of building project. It would be next to impossible, they implied, to meet loan repayment obligations, higher interest rates, pay taxes and upkeep and other expenses, and still charge a low rental fee to meet federal tenant income level requirements.

Some months ago, the Development Corporation had been working on planning and was near the point of applying for FHA loans for the project, acquire building sites, and requirements, when all federal funds of this type were frozen.

It was felt by most stockholders at the meeting that the money situation could change within the next few months, and the organization should remain intact and ready to act when and if that time comes.

Stockholders re-elected three directors whose one-year terms had expired. They are Woodrow Watts, Walker Tatum and R. C. Thomas. They will serve three-year terms. Other directors are Dale Alderman, Gene Wheat and Ray Whitecotton, with one year left on two-year terms; Raymon Lloyd, John E. McAdoo and Nelan Bahlman, with two years remaining on three-year terms.

Don Vinson Is Now Member Of Pro Archers

B. D. (Don) Vinson of Winters recently completed a one-year apprenticeship in the Professional Archers Association and has been accepted to full member status in the pro archery group.

The Professional Archers Association is to archers what the P.G.A. is to golf. The group was formed in 1961 by a group of individuals to fulfill the need for a governing body to promote professionalism within the sport of archery. Executive headquarters for the P.A.A. are in St. Paul, Minn., and the Association's membership currently stands at 450 people who are active professionally in all phases of the sport.

Vinson became interested in competitive archery and professionalism by means of a part of the sport that has provided an introduction for widespread numbers of today's tournament archers—bowhunting. He got started in archery as a bowhunter in 1966, and since then he has become even more involved with the sport through target and field shooting.

Vinson's achievements as a tournament archer include placing 7th in the freestyle division in the 1972 Texas Field Championships, and shooting on the first-place team in the 1973 Bear Team Championships. He presently is a freestyle shooter, and also maintains an active interest in the bowhunting phase of the sport that got him started.

In addition to his present status as a full member of the P.A.A., Vinson holds memberships in the Texas Field Archery Association and the National Field Archery Association. His wife, Ann, and their two children, Suzanne, 10, and Jerry 9, are also active archers.

Vinson operates a farm at Winters.

Free Lunch Policy In Force In Winters Public School For '73-'74

A free lunch policy for school children unable to pay for school lunches will be in effect in the Winters Public School cafeteria for the 1973-74 school year, Carroll Tatum, superintendent of schools, has announced.

Regular lunch cost will be 45 cents for children in grades Day Care through the sixth, and 50 cents for grades seven through twelve.

The "free lunch" scale goes from a family size of 1, with income of $2740, one child in school, to family size of 12, $10,880, with 11 in school.

Eligibility determinations will be made on a family basis, Supt. Tatum said. That is, all the children in the same family attending school under the jurisdiction of the same school food authority, are to receive the same benefits, a free lunch.

Letters of explanation of the program, along with a family-size and income level scale, will be sent to parents of all children enrolled in the Winters Public School. Families within the income and family-size scales qualifying them for free lunches are urged to apply for those benefits. They may do so by filling in the applications sent to the office of the principal of the school involved, or to the school business office. Additional copies of the application may be obtained, and applications may be submitted any time during the school year.

The form itself is simple to complete, and requests information needed to determine economic need based on the income and number of persons in the family, and any unusual circumstances which may affect the family's ability to pay for school lunches.

Under the provisions of the policy, the school business manager will review applications and determine eligibility. If a parent is dissatisfied with the ruling of the local official, he may make a request either orally or in writing for a hearing to appeal the decision. Superintendent Carroll Tatum has been designated as the hearing official.

The information on the application remains confidential, and there will be no identification or discrimination against any student unable to pay the cost of a lunch, Supt. Tatum said.

A complete copy of the policy governing free school lunches is on file in each school and in the office of the school business manager where it may be reviewed by any interested person.

Young Blizzard Team Shows Good Attitude As Training Starts

"Better attitude than I've seen in a long time," is the way Coach Chili Black described the young 1973 Winters High School Blizzard football team, as limited pre-school training started this week.

The 1973 team will be a young team, Coach Black said, with only eight seniors out. But they have been hard workers during the short time they've been working this week, the coach said. He was especially proud of the senior members of the team, for their leadership.

This week has been spent on conditioning exercises, timing and setting of offensive plays. The squad will work with pads for the first time Friday. Forty-one candidates for the varsity showed up for the first week of training. Only 12 letter-

Dove Disease Survey Launched

Austin — Trichomoniasis — a six-dollar word that sometimes spells trouble for Texas doves. Trichomoniasis is caused by a small protozoan which lives in the upper digestive tract of pigeons, doves and chickens. It may exist in both lethal and non-lethal strains.

Commonly called frounce or canker disease, it can drastically reduce a bird population because it destroys nestlings as well as adults and juveniles. Parks and Wildlife Department biologists have initiated a statewide dove survey in an attempt to determine the incidence of the organism causing trichomoniasis among Texas doves.

Eight North Central Texas counties in the Cross Timbers and four in the Rolling Plains were sampled during the first week of August and the birds looked good, according to Bill Russ of the statewide dove research project.

"Of the 123 birds we examined," said Russ, "only five adults were carrying the organism."

Russ pointed out that two of the five birds were found in one county of the Rolling Plains and the remaining three in two Cross Timbers counties.

Local outbreaks of trichomoniasis have occurred in past years where the incidence of the organism ran as high as 20 percent.

For the first time, an across-the-board study will be conducted in Texas to determine the potential threat of trichomoniasis. Russ and the research staff plan to work in the remaining major breeding areas within the next two months.

Even though the doves in the already-sampled Cross Timbers proved to have a relatively clean bill of health, Russ expressed some concern over the disease reports from field biologists throughout East Texas and in South Texas.

"It's really difficult to measure the significance of the outbreaks," said Russ, "because trichomoniasis is hard to distinguish from avian pox, a disease which often produces similar symptoms."

"Also, many of the dead or dying birds are never counted because they are eaten by predators or deteriorate before they are found."

The flesh of birds infected with either disease, however, is safe for human consumption.

East Texas is not a primary breeding area for mourning doves but regional wildlife personnel feel that the trichomoniasis could have an effect on dove hunting in that area.

The chief source of trichomoniasis is infected birds, either carriers which show no symptoms or birds in the early stages of the disease.

Infected parents transmit the malady to their young in the first days of life in the "pigeon milk" fed to the nestlings. The symptoms are rather unsavory: small yellow "pimples" first appear at the back of the mouth which may rapidly grow into large cheesy lesions. The lesions often completely block of Mexico. Nine hundred and 40 Gulf tracts totalling 998,610 acres have been nominated, plus 563 tracts in Texas bays and inlets including 267,678 acres.

Oil and gas firms and individual bidders offer bonus payments via sealed bids on leasing of the state-owned tracts for a period of five years to explore and develop minerals.

Armstrong said a record high interest is indicated in potential oil and gas production on state lands.

"This will be the largest sale in more than 25 years," said Armstrong.

A sale involving nearly one million acres of land in 1965 brought more than $39 million in bonus payments to the permanent school funds.

Armstrong said the current sale is doubly significant because leases will enable the state to take its one-sixth royalty payments in gas or oil instead of cash.

A court case is now pending to determine if this can be done on existing leases. The "in kind" provision, specifically allowing the state to take oil and gas as well as cash, will be written into the October bid propositions.

Armstrong said this will permit the state to offer cities the option of buying some of their natural gas directly from the state at fair market value.

POLLUTION STANDARDS WEIGHED

Differing state and federal penalties for water pollution control violations have stalled designation of Texas Water Quality Board as the agency to issue federal waste discharge permits in the state.

The federal government will study further authorizing the Board to issue "national pollution discharge elimination system" waste discharge permits under 1972 water quality amendments.

State penalties which apply to both municipalities and industries set a maximum of $1,000 per violation daily. Federal penalties call for a maximum of $15,000 a day per violation.

TWQB Executive Director Hugh Yantis said the requirement that states have authority to impose $25,000 daily fines was received after the 63rd Legislature adjourned, and he did not feel a special session was in order on the question.

Yantis argued that the Texas penalties do represent a substantial deterrent. He said it is "inconceivable that approval will not be given eventually to our state program." Yantis noted a $125,000 fine levied against Armo Steel was "possibly the largest ever collected under any state water pollution law."

SINGLE-MEMBER LEGISLATIVE DISTRICTS PUSHED

First legal move in an effort to have eight more counties divided into single-member legislative districts was launched last week.

Dave Richards, Austin attorney retained by the State AFL-CIO, seeks authority for 10 individuals to intervene in a Tarrant County House redistricting case.

If the motion is approved by the three-judge federal court, judges will be asked to split Travis, Lubbock, McClelland, Jefferson, Nueces, El Paso, Hidalgo and Galveston into single-member House districts. Each of the counties now has two or more representatives elected countywide. Richards claims this "unconstitutionally dilutes voting strength of racial and political elements."

AG OPINIONS

A county commissioners court may employ experts to re-evaluate property in the county for tax purposes, but a tax assessor has no such power, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other recent opinions, Hill concluded:

Salary checks cannot be withheld from a state employee to repay an overpayment which was not his fault under an improper order.

A person cannot serve simultaneously on the State Board of Mental Health and Mental Retardation and the State Board of Education.

Parks and Wildlife Department personnel need no special permits to take, transport, release or otherwise handle fish and wildlife species for investigation and scientific purposes.

The State Textbook Committee may not recommend for public school adoption textbooks on which the state is to realize royalties from private publishers. Where there is no such arrangement, textbooks can be adopted containing materials cooperatively developed with independent laboratories financed in part from state Central Education Agency funds.

An out-of-state certified public accountant is entitled to reciprocal certification in Texas if he lives in the U. S.

APPOINTMENTS

Brig. Gen. James M. Rose was named to head Gov. Dolph Briscoe's Division of Planning Coordination.

Land Commissioner Robert L. Armstrong was selected vice president of the Western States Land Commissioners Association.

Briscoe appointed Melvin D. Whitaker of Palestine District Attorney for the 173rd judicial district — Anderson, Henderson and Houston counties.

He picked O. S. Andras of Houston to serve on the Governor's Energy Advisory Council.

Briscoe placed on the Advisory Council on Community Affairs, Mayor Jack Strahan of Burnet, Mayor Jamie Clements of Temple, Rudy Day of Dallas and Albert D. Brown Jr. of San Antonio.

from five million fry. They finished out the year with 618,000 fingerlings from some 4.9 million fry, half of which were produced from Texas broodfish out of Spence Reservoir near San Angelo.

"Not counting the fish we lost in transit and from natural causes," said Bonn, "we delivered two million fry to five state fish hatcheries and the fingerlings we produced represented a success ratio of 30.6 percent."

Bonn was pleased with this year's margin of success since the average in federal hatcheries is only 20 percent.

Along with striped bass, Bonn and his crews produced and stocked hybrid striped and white bass.

"Of the 120,000 hybrid fry obtained from Florida and our own hatchery in San Angelo, we produced some 57,000 fingerlings for a 47.8 percent success ratio."

Both the hybrids and stripers were stocked in seven Texas lakes:

Air Force Colonel Retires After 31 Years

Wichita Falls, — U. S. Air Force Colonel Andrew J. Ritchey, a World War II fighter "ace" and veteran of 457 combat missions in three wars, retired after 31 years of military service.

Colonel Ritchey, who held various staff, operational and command positions, last served in a liaison capacity at the U. S. Army Field Artillery School at Ft. Sill, Okla. He was senior USAF representative and commander of the Ft. Sill-based operating location of the Air Force Sheppard Technical Training Center which is headquartered at Sheppard AFB, Texas.

At retirement, the colonel held the aeronautical rating of command pilot and had completed more than 8,000 flying hours, including 7,000 in tactical fighters.

A 1941 graduate of Morris (Okla.) High School, he entered military service in August 1942 and was commissioned through the aviation cadet program in January 1944. He flew missions in Europe during WW II, shooting down 10 enemy planes in air-to-air combat. He is a charter member of the American Fighter Aces Association. The colonel completed two tours of combat duty during both the Korean and Vietnam conflicts.

He has earned the Army Distinguished Service Cross for extraordinary heroism — the nation's second highest combat decoration. He also has been awarded the Silver Star for gallantry, the Legion of Merit for exceptionally outstanding service to the United States, six awards of the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Bronze Star Medal, 26 awards of the Air Medal, the Air Force Commendation Medal, the French Croix de Guerre and numerous campaign and service medals and ribbons.

Colonel Ritchey has a bachelor's degree in political science from the University of Nebraska at Omaha and a master's degree in human relations from the University of Oklahoma. While assigned at Ft. Sill, he served a year's internship with the Lawton (Okla.) Human Relations Commission. He is a member of the National Association of Human Rights Workers.

His wife, Daphna, is a daughter of Mrs. B. H. Pritchard, Winters, Texas.

Colonel and Mrs. Ritchey have two children, David and Jennifer.

When we first started asking for money for cancer research, more mice were being cured than people.

But today, there are over one-and-a-half-million happy, healthy people walking around who are living proof that many cancers can be cured.

And as long as research progress grows according to your dollars, we won't stop asking. Because our costs have truly become the cost of living.

...about your SOCIAL SECURITY

People already getting public assistance because they're 65 or over, or blind, or disabled do not have to apply now for Federal supplemental security income payments, according to J. M. Talbot, social security manager.

"Some people getting State or local assistance misunderstand and are coming in to apply for supplemental security income—but, they don't have to," Mr. Talbot said. "We're taking applications now only from people who aren't getting public assistance but who think they may be eligible for the new Federal payments that start next year."

Seven Questions Occupy Water Safety Officials

Austin — Water safety officials for the Texas Parks and Wildlife Department say their phone would ring considerably less if Texans knew the answers to seven often-asked questions. These are most common quesions heard by water safety officials, and their answers:

Q. Is it necessary to register a sailboat?

A. It's not necessary if a motor is never used on the sailboat. However, when a motor is placed on it (regardless of the reason or for how long), it then is considered a motorboat and must be registered.

Q. I bought a life preserver that was packaged in plastic wrap. On the plastic wrap was written, "Coast Guard Approved." When I got it home, I noticed that there was no mention on the life preserver itself as to whether or not it is coast guard approved. Is it?

A. Sorry, but it isn't. A Coast Guard approved life preserver will be stamped as such, and that stamp MUST appear on the life preserver itself.

Q. Is a ski belt coast guard approved and is it legal?

A. A ski belt is not Coast Guard approved. However, since there is no specific law stating that a skier must wear a life preserver while skiing, we feel that a ski belt is better than no Personal Flotation Device (PFD) at all. A ski belt is buoyant enough to keep a body afloat, but not enough to right an unconscious person. If there is nothing better to use, wear a ski belt. If a self-righting PFD is handy, it is your best bet.

Q. Am I required to register my canoe if I use an electric motor on it?

A. Yes. Any boat, regardless of size, if propelled by mechanical means, must be registered.

Q. I never use my boat at night. Am I required to have light on it?

A. No. Lights are required only if the boat is used at night. Remember, though, that if you don't have lights, you'll need to allow plenty of time to get back to dock before dark.

Q. Is an observer required in a boat towing a water skier?

A. No, not required, but heartily recommended! You are only required to have a rear-view mirror in use when towing a skier, but between the water ahead and the skier behind, you'll be a busy skipper. An observer relieves you of constantly having to look back, and allows you to keep your eye and your mind on where you're going. A mirror AND an observer are the safest and easiest way to ski.

Q. Basically, what is this change in life preserver regulations that's going to be put into effect soon.

A. The new personal flotation device regulations adopted by the Coast Guard effective Oct. 1, 1973, will not affect the majority of boat owners. Requirements for life-saving devices on boats less than 16 feet in length are unchanged. However, for boats 16 feet or longer, the familiar buoyant cushion must be replaced with Coast Guard approved Type I, II, or III (wearable) preservers. In addition, there must also be at least one Type IV (throwable) buoyant cushion aboard.

Turkeys Have Population Boom

San Angelo — Wild turkeys in the Texas Panhandle are experiencing a population explosion.

Census counts indicate a population increase of 66 percent over that of last year. Last year's tally totaled 4,416 birds in the Panhandle region compared with 8,135 this year.

The largest gain in the number of birds was in Wheeler and Hemphill Counties with an overall increase of 78 percent. Hunters harvested only slightly more than seven percent of the Panhandle's total turkey population last year.

Turkeys, biologists maintain, will withstand a remarkable amount of hunting pressure if management practices are carried out on a scientific basis.

Brenda Lynn Evans, Richard Simpson Married In Midland Last Saturday

In a double-ring ceremony in Covenant Presbyterian Church, Midland, Saturday, August 11, at 4 o'clock, Brenda Lynn Evans became the bride of Richard Ray Simpson.

Officiating in the wedding ceremony were the Rev. John K. Alexander, pastor of the Midland church, and the Rev. Dr. Crig Meyers, Faith Presbyterian Church, Kokomo, Ind., an uncle of the bride.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert P. Evans of Midland. The bridegroom is the son of Mrs. Emmett Simpson of Winters.

For the wedding, the sanctuary of the church was centered with a heart shaped arch and prie dieu. The archway was outlined with a pair of white doves, silver wedding rings and two white bells with silver streamers flanking. A pair of seven-branch candelabras with white tapers, greenery, white carnations. The prie dieu with twin hearts in the center was decorated with greenery and white carnations.

Mrs. John K. Alexander sang "The Lord's Prayer," with Cliff Sherrod at the piano. Jody Evans, cousin of the bride, of Jal, N. M., was candlelighter, and Mary Louise Ramsey, of Midland, was ricebag girl. Flower girl was Holly Howell of Midland. Bobby Evans, brother of the bride, of Midland, was ring bearer.

James Jones, brother-in-law of the bridegroom, of Midland, was best man, and ushers were Kenneth W. Evans, brother of the bride, of Midland, and Randy McWhirter, nephew of the bridegroom, of Midland, and Andy Simpson, brother of the bridegroom, of Kermit.

Matron of honor was Mrs. James Jones of Midland. Bridesmaids were Miss Jody Powell of Midland, and Miss Pattie Beverly of Midland.

The bride's attendants wore formal length gowns of dotted Swiss, fashioned with low necks, empire waists, short puffed sleeves, ruffles at hemlines, and trimmed in yellow braid. The matron of honor carried a semi-cascade bouquet of yellow camellias. Her headpiece matched her bouquet.

Bridesmaids carried single camellias with net and streamers.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a gown of angleskin peau de soie, with empire A-line skirt, silhouette high neck with Victorian sleeves and a chapel train. The gown had alencon lace applied on the bodice, cuffs, skirt and train. Her fingertip mantilla veil was of English nylon illusion on a camelot base with chantilly lace. She carried a large bouquet of white orchids and baby's breath with peot streamers, atop a white Bible. For something old and borrowed, the bride carried a handkerchief in her Bible given to her by her great-grandfather; pennies minted in the birth years of the bridal couple were in her shoes, and she wore the traditional blue garter.

The mothers of the bride and the bridegroom were presented red roses by the bride.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held in the church fellowship hall. The bride's table was covered in white satin with net overlay. Corners were accented with bows and clusters of wedding bells, and a camellia arrangement centered the table. Appointments were of crystal. The wedding cake was white with yellow flowers, topped with a gold cross with wedding rings entwined. The cake was a gift from Dr. and Mrs. Crig Meyers.

In the house party serving were Mrs. John Beverly, Mrs. James Ramsey, and Mrs. Don Mattlin.

For going away, the bride wore a yellow pant suit with a white orchid corsage and white accessories.

The bride is a 1973 graduate of Lee High School, Midland. She attended Midland College. She has been an active member of Norman Reed Assembly 299, Order of the Rainbow for Girls, and held the office of Grand Representative for one year. She was awarded the Grand Cross of Colors in Rainbow, and has been active in VICA.

The bridegroom is a 1971 graduate of Winters High School and attended Odessa College. He is employed by an Odessa super market as produce manager.

Mr. and Mrs. Simpson will be at home at 401 East 29th Street, Odessa, after August 17.

Nixon-Meany Schism Widening
By Babson's Reports Inc., Wellesley Hills, Mass., August 16, 1973. The relationship between President Nixon and AFL-CIO President George Meany has always been extremely uneasy, and on more than one occasion in the past few years the top official of the Federation has openly declared his disillusionment and dissatisfaction with the performance of the present Republican administration. At his organization's recent summer meeting in Illinois, Meany adopted a particularly hostile attitude toward Nixon. In a number of critical comments, he emphasized the corruption within the federal government and went out of his way to say that the Watergate revelations might well give the Republican Party a difficult time in the 1974 elections.

Nothing Really New
While many people think of Meany as having supported the President during the 1972 campaign, such was not the case. Rather, he remained neutral; and proposed that his membership act accordingly, bending their best efforts in terms of work and financial aid in electing pro-labor congressional aspirants wherever they emerged. The Federation's top man, being of a relatively conservative background, could not back up George McGovern whom he considered impossible far to the left. But on the other hand, he was in vigorous opposition to Nixon's wooing of Moscow and Peking. So Meany's only course was the middle road.

And the doctory Federationist still declares that his neutrality decision in 1972 was about the wisest move that could have been made. In a way he risked his own leadership prestige since approximately 80 percent of the Federation membership has generally been considered as being Democratic. But his conservative co-leaders went along with his decision, and the Executive Council of the AFL-CIO simply declined to support either national candidate, voting this course by 27 to three.

No Nixon Invitation
Traditionally, the President of the United States—whichever he may be and regardless of what party—is invited to speak at the AFL-CIO convention. Such an invitation went to the White House in 1971, but the results were neither friendly nor relaxed. Meany claimed that no acceptance was received until the last moment, and the reception at the convention for the President was not cordial. Meany recently told newsmen that a White House aide had deliberately tried to arrange a confrontation at that convention. He added, too, that Presidential staff members later accused the labor official of insulting the Chief Executive—which Meany stoutly denied.

The point is, however, that the steady deterioration of relations between President Nixon and George Meany have not ceased. They now appear to have hit rock bottom, with the Federation boss at a news session a while ago stating that the President will definitely not be asked to speak at the AFL-CIO convention next October. For good measure, Meany went on to say that he did not intend, either, to invite Secretary of Labor Peter J. Brennan to speak, or Secretary of Agriculture Earl L. Butz. The Labor Secretary was accused by Meany of taking anti-labor positions on a number of issues and also of boasting that he represented both union and nonunion workers in the nation.

Political Party Attitudes
Basically, Meany and his closest cohorts are still standing off from affiliation with either political party. They see some improvement within the Democratic Party, but expect continuation of a struggle between the new and old guards. The Executive Council approved a statement that called the Administration to task for making "unilateral concessions" to the Soviet Union during the summer talks with Leonid Brezhnev. The Federation leaders still see Russia as a power seeking world domination, with consequent threats to our national security and world peace.

In the Kitchen

POTATO PANCAKES
2 cups grated potatoes
1/2 cup chopped onions
3 tbsps. parsley
1 egg
Flour
Salt
Pepper

Combine all ingredients, adding enough flour to form into balls. Oil a griddle and heat it very hot; place balls on griddle and flatten with a spatula. Brown each side until edges are crisp. Serve a scoop of applesauce and sour cream on side of pancakes.

Fix-It Tip

A good burglar can break into almost any place but he is likely to pick spots where risks will be few and speed possible.

The first line of defense is the outward appearance that the house is occupied. Do not close shades and blinds except in rooms where they normally would be.

Do not leave lights burning all the time. This is a giveaway. Install timers that will turn the lights on and off for a few hours each evening when you are not at home.

Having a radio on for part of the evening will help, since noise will give a greater impression of occupancy.

Short Takes

Riddle Monument
England's famous Stonehenge Monument, sometimes called the "Riddle of Salisbury Plain," is a group of huge, rough-cut stones. No one knows exactly who placed them there or when. Some scholars date Stonehenge as early as 1800 B.C.

Booster Their Diet
Three wild plants ("papalolo," "whitey Mary" and "bata bata") are used by Virgin Islanders to bolster their diet. The plants, cooked with fish and meat, make a pungent stew known as "kalaloo."

Tame vs. Wild
An elephant enjoying an easy life in a zoo may need less than 100 pounds of high-quality food a day in the wilds, it may gobble up daily some 800 pounds of grass, leaves and bark.

"Paul Revere of South"
John Jouett, because of his daring night ride of 1781, is known as the "Paul Revere of the South." When he learned of a British plan to capture Thomas Jefferson, who was then governor, and members of the Virginia Assembly who had fled to Charlottesville, Jouett rode horseback more than 40 miles to warn the Americans.

Archery Hunt Applications Are Available

AUSTIN—The 1973-74 hunting season on Parks and Wildlife Department wildlife management areas kicks off with archery hunting during the first week of October on three areas.

Bow hunting for deer is slated for Oct. 1-10 on the Engeling Wildlife Management Area near Palestine and Oct. 1-9 at the Kerr Area in Kerr County. The deer sex will be determined at the time of the hunt.

Forked-antlered bucks may be hunted on the Stephen F. Austin Unit of the Angelina Area near Nacogdoches Oct. 1-11.

As is the case in past years, a public drawing will be held to select applicants for the hunts. Applications must reach the Austin office of the Parks and Wildlife Department by 5 p. m. Aug. 17, 1973.

A public drawing will be held at 10 a. m. in the John H. Reagan Building in Austin to determine the hunters.

A total of 1,175 permits will be issued: 600 on the Engeling Area, 400 for the Kerr Area and 175 for the Stephen F. Austin Area.

To help defray the cost of conducting the hunt, a $20 fee will be charged with each permit issued.

If a hunter's application is selected in the drawing, he will be notified by the department and asked to remit the $20 fee. No refunds will be made to hunters who are unable to make the assigned hunts. The permits will be issued for two days of hunting.

Applicants must be at least 12 years of age and those hunters under 17 years of age must be accompanied by their parent or person over 21.

Parks and Wildlife Department personnel stress that the hunts are part of wildlife management studies and not necessarily indicative of high game populations.

In addition to permit hunting on the three areas, free bow hunting of forked-antlered bucks will be open on the Dam B Unit of the Angelina Area and the Scientific Area near Jasper Oct. 1-31 with no limit on the number of hunters.

The Pat Mayse Area near Paris will be open for archery hunting of buck deer Oct. 1-14 $10 per day with a limit of 75 hunters per day on a first-come first-served basis.

Like the earth, the planet Mars has balmy summer afternoons, with a ground temperature at its equator of about 70 degrees. The night temperature, however, may reach 150 degrees below zero.

When annoyed, the porcupine rattles the quills on its tail to alert the intruder and follows this warning with a backward charge that may mean death to the enemy because its quills are very sharp and dangerous.

Winter Grazing Plans Should Be Made Now

Ken Schrank, Soil Conservationist, with the Soil Conservation Service, assisting the Runnels Soil and Water Conservation District, said now is the time to start planning for grazing this winter. He said a temporary winter pasture may be what is needed to give your native grassland a rest.

Schrank said that green grazing in late fall, winter, and early spring will increase gain and milk production, and at the same time reduce hay, grain, and veterinary bills.

Small grain is a good source of temporary winter grazing according to Schrank. Small grain is a good source of temporary winter grazing according to Schrank. Small grain should be planted in September or early October even though this may require dry planting. If dry-planting, small grain should be planted dry enough to prevent germination with light rain.

Barley ranks below wheat and oats in average, but similar in production and value as a source of temporary pasture. Consideration should be given to barley if you have a seep area with a high salt concentration. Barley is more tolerant of high salt concentration than are the other small grain according to Schrank.

Several landusers in the Runnels S&WCD planted barley in seep areas last fall and had good results. Others are planning the use of barley this fall good results. Others are planning the use of barley this fall on seep areas with high salt concentration. The temporary pasture should be well established before being grazed. All varieties will make poor regrowth when grazed too closely. Rotation grazing to allow regrowth between grazing is recommended. He said a fertilizer program may be needed to assure a successful temporary pasture. A soil test is the best means of determining the type and amount of fertilizer needed for a given field. ## Madeline Marie Smith Is Bride of James Thompson, Ceremony Sunday

Madeline Marie Smith became the bride of James Earl Thompson in a double-ring ceremony at 6 o'clock in the evening, Sunday, August 12, in the Wingate Baptist Church.

The Rev. Charles L. Myers of Abilene, pastor of the church, read the vows before an altar decorated with a greenery-entwined candelabra.

The bride is the daughter of Mrs. and Mrs. Gilbert Smith of Wingate. The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Thompson of Blackwell.

Mrs. Charles Myers of Abilene was organist, and Miss Connie Giles of Drasco was pianist. Gene Wheat of Winters sang "The Wedding Prayer," and Miss Jan McNeill, Miss Becky Dean, of Wingate, and Miss Barbara Saunders of Blackwell, sang "If," Miss Giles sang "The Twelfth of Never".

Best man was Dick Bell, brother of the groom. Groomsman was Ronnie Bell, also a brother of the groom. Candlelighters were Jim Smith of Wingate, brother of the bride, and Larry Walker, also of Wingate. Ushers were Dennis Boomer of Abilene and Gregory Merritt, also of Abilene.

Maid of honor was Gwen Smith, sister of the bride. Bridesmaid was Debra Thompson, sister of the bridegroom.

Decie Hindman of Abilene, piece of the bridegroom, was flower girl, and Bill Wayne

Wheat of Winters was ringbearer.

The bride's attendants were orchid floral full length dresses, featuring an empire bodice banded with ribbon and lace. Their dresses had puff sleeves and sweetheart necklines, and they wore bands of ribbon and lace around throats. They carried long-stemmed carnations with ribbon streamers.

The flower girl wore a dress of the same material and designed identical to those of the adult attendants.

The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a dress of bridal satin with a sheer overlay yoke completely encircled with ruffles. Her stand-up collar was overlaid with ruffles, and the long fitted sleeves also had ruffles at the wrist. The gown was designed with full fitted bodice, and had a full gathered skirt with sheer apron with twin ruffles cascading from a large bow at the back of the waist, encircling the lower edge of the apron. Her veil of illusion fell to the waistline, and she carried a bouquet of cymbidium orchid surrounded by four white butterfly orchids atop a white Bible, a gift of the Hollis Dean family of Wingate.

A reception was held in the church annex following the ceremony. The bride's table was laid with a linen tablecloth, and appointments were crystal and silver. The bride's bouquet served as the centerpiece. A three-tiered wedding cake was topped with a miniature bride and groom. The cake was made and decorated by Mrs. Jon McNeill, a longtime family friend.

Parents of the bridegroom hosted a rehearsal dinner at their home in Blackwell August 11.

The couple will be at home at Robert Lee following a short wedding trip.

Home Town Talk

things which have become "scarce" these days.

Picture a man in a public telephone booth: "Honey, there's this man on the street interviewing people. He wants to know what kind of shortening you use in your pie crusts." "Oh, dear! Tell him I used to use vegetable shortening before it was all bought up by the Japanese. I now use hog lard, when I can get it."

Dollar-a-dozen eggs and dollar-and-six-bit bacon—among other things—is the price Americans are going to pay for being nice to the Russians and other Europeans.

The Agriculture Department maintained an export subsidy on wheat, holding down the price for the Russians and costing U. S. taxpayers $400 million—in addition to the high prices. Some European countries are reportedly hoarding U. S. grain because the price was so good—while Americans start paying more just to eat.

The Department of Agriculture, according to the Associated Press, announced it expected Americans to spend about $135 billion on food this year, compared to $125 billion last year. To make it easier to understand, this translates to $125 more spent on food this year by every man, woman and child in the U. S. or about $500 for the average family of four. The government admits that at least 2 percent, or half a billion dollars, of the increase is directly attributable to the scarcity caused by a sudden boom in export of U. S. food. (Non-government estimators figure it to be considerably higher, that the entire explosion of food prices can be traced in some way or other to our benevolent nature—subsidizing export of grain to other countries.)

We'll be paying for a long time for this one.
