

HOME TOWN Talk

By R. C. THOMAS

Remember the English preacher and his wife—the Rev. and Mrs. Eric Roberts—who spent several weeks in Winters a while back? This week we received a note from them, which they wish to have relayed to everyone in the community.

Having been back in England for more than three weeks and now able to look at our colour slides, prints and movie film, the Roberts family are more than ever grateful for the privilege of five weeks residence in Winters, Texas; the small town on U. S. Highway 83 now has a place in our hearts as one of the happiest memories of our lives. Our stay with you all proved to us in a way words cannot adequately express the absolute rightness of the Texas State motto "Friendship," for wherever we went in your delightful town—shops, bank, Post Office, gas station, drug stores, restaurants, home and Churches, "the preacher and his family from London, England," were greeted and received with a warmth which must surely qualify Winters as one of the friendliest places in the whole world. Thank you everyone for the privilege of belonging to your community—the time was all too short—and we want to "come back."

Ras Gideon, manager of the Winters Cotton Warehouse handed us a clipping from a 1933 newspaper, giving the total number of bales of cotton produced in the county each year from 1899 through 1932.

The first year, only 3,069 bales were reported; the last year shown on the clipping, 1932, 78,175 bales were produced. About 30,000 to 35,000 of those were ginned by the several gins then in operation in Winters, according to Gideon. That was the year cotton was bringing about 5 cents—or less—and before the big 1933 plow-up.

In other areas of our society, mechanization usually means an increase in production. The reverse has been the rule—for many reasons—in cotton production. Back in the high-production days, the cotton was all gathered by hand. In 1972, only 90,998 bales of cotton were received by the Winters Warehouse, Ras said, and all but a handful was gathered mechanically.

For every 10 farmers in the U. S., there is one employe in the U. S. Department of Agriculture, according to the Census Bureau.

There's 85,981 full time department employes, 2,151 part-time employes, and 18,640 intermittent employes. There are 1,347,973 male farmers and 70,772 females on the farms, for a total of 1,418,746.

We know a lot of farmers around here who would like to get that eleventh man to come out and help in the fields about now—if they could bring some baling wire with them. Maybe there are seven farmers of the 10 who don't have hay to be put up right now, and that one government man could probably carry water for the other three, which would be a big help in this hot weather.

They say there's trouble finding enough willing hands to help get some of this farm work done, when it needs to be done. Never easy, even in non-rush times, to get someone who is willing to do farm work, and then when ripening time comes, it becomes doubly-hard.

Used to be that farm families were bigger, and the boys would be doing men's work in the fields in the summer, and school would begin a little later. Then even during school, the boys—and the girls—would have a lot of time to do a lot of work after school. But times (Continued on page 8)

Boll Weevil Assn. Sign Contract For Diapause Spraying Program

Runnels Area Boll Weevil Association last Thursday accepted a bid by Chuck's Flying Service of Bovina for the second aerial spraying project in a 3-year program.

Bid was for $1.36 per acre for three sprayings. Cost in last year's program was $1.32 per acre.

There will be between 34,000 and 36,000 acres to be sprayed, C. T. Parker, Runnels County extension agent, said. First spraying will be some time about the middle of September, Parker said, and the other two sprayings will be 10 days apart. The time for spraying will depend on word from state scientists who will examine boll weevils in the area to determine the "diapause" period of the insects, he said.

Disappointment was expressed in the failure to include much acreage to the east and south of Winters, it was stated, but the program is expanding in the south part of the county. Almost the entire western area (From US 82 west) is included in the program. Concho County farmers also dropped out of the program this year, Parker said.

The program is being financed through a $50,000 grant from the state and per-acre subscription from the cotton producers, amounting to about $100,000.

Some cotton which has been heavily infested has been plowed up in the Wintgate area, it was said, and more may be plowed up before long.

Carey Jobe Is Improving After Snake Bite

Carey Jobe, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. B. D. Jobe of Winters, remained in Hendrick Memorial Hospital in Abilene the first of this week, following a snake bite he received Thursday morning of last week.

Carey had been in the intensive care unit at the hospital until Sunday, in serious condition.

It has not been determined what type of snake bit him. He was taking out of a bin with his hands when the snake bit him on the fingers of the left hand.

He was taken to North Runnels Hospital, and then rushed to Hendrick where he underwent surgery on his arm.

PP&K Sign-Up Underway At Dale's Ford

Registration began Monday for the 1973 Punt, Pass & Kick competition at Dale's Ford Sales. Dale Whitecotton of the Ford dealership said, "We're looking forward to a big local PP&K competition in Winters Saturday, September 29. We hope all the youngsters 8 through 13 years of age in this area will come in to register and take part."

Whitecotton said that PP&K—throughout its six levels of competition—is free of any charge, and that youngsters need only have a parent or guardian accompany them to Dale's Ford Sales to register.

Competition here will have first, second and third place trophies for contestants in each of the six age groups. Whitecotton said. Boys will compete only against others in their own age group. There is no body contact in PP&K. First place winners in each age group will go on to Zone competition, and from there, top winners will go on up the ladder through district, area, division and national finals.

Gary Pinkerton Received Degree In Mortuary Science

Gary Don Pinkerton of Winters was among 102 students of the Dallas Institute of Mortuary Science receiving degrees in mortuary science at commencement exercises in Dallas August 17. He also was one of several students receiving Academic Achievement Awards.

While attending school he was named to the Dean's list each of the four quarters, and in May was selected for membership in Pi Sigma Eta, national mortuary scholastic fraternity. He has also been certified by the American Red Cross as a First Aid Instructor.

Pinkerton is now employed by Spill Funeral Home, where he worked prior to attending school.

He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles R. Pinkerton of Winters, and is a graduate of Winters High School.

Dry Weather a Blessing To County's Cotton

C. T. Parker, Jr., Runnels County extension agent, said Monday the present hot, dry weather is a "blessing" for cotton producers, and probably will not hurt the milo too much.

The cotton needs the dry weather to grow off, he said. There may be some damage to the milo, especially to the late-planted crop, but this probably will be offset by the chance to get the matured grain out of the field, without interference from wet weather.

Pastures in the area are showing the signs of the hot dry period, Parker said, but the situation is not serious yet. Some pastures are dry enough to burn rapidly if fires break out, it was said, and all concerned are warned to be very careful with fires. Range fires have been reported in several areas of West and West Central Texas recently.

Farm Electric Short Course To Be Offered

A farm electrification short course for adult farmers will be held September 17-20 under the sponsorship of the Winters High School Vocational Agriculture Department, according to the Carroll Tatom, superintendent of schools, and Stanley Blackwell, teacher of vo-ag.

Cleve Walkup, farm electrification specialist with the Vocational Agriculture Division of the Texas Education Agency and the Department of Agricultural Engineering at Texas A. & M. University, will do the instructing in the course. He is headquartered at Texas A. & M.

Walkup holds a BS degree in industrial education and a MED degree in agricultural education.

The short course at Winters is scheduled to begin September 17 at 8 p. m. in the vo-ag building. During the four days the course is in progress, Walkup will be available to assist farmers with individual problems and to provide on-the-farm instruction, Stanley Blackwell said.

Farmers interested in attending the short course should write or call the superintendent of schools or the teacher of vocational agriculture. An entry fee of $5 will be charged, and Farm Electrification Short Course certificates will be presented to each farmer who attends all the training sessions.

Enrollment in Winters Schools Down From First Day Figures Last Year

Enrollment in Winters Public Schools on the first day of the 1973-74 term was below that for the first day of the 1972-73 school year, according to reports from the schools.

There were 307 students registered on the first day of school—Monday—in high school, and 528 in the primary and elementary schools.

Last year's first-day totals were 312 in high school and 607 in the lower grades.

If the past enrollment pattern is following, according to school heads, these figures will be changed after the Labor Day holiday. Normally, many students are not enrolled until after September 1, or Labor Day, which comes September 3 this year. Also, seasonal harvest conditions play a small part in the fluctuation of enrollment.

City Dads of Winters and Ballinger Will Meet To Discuss Dam Project

The city councils of Winters and Ballinger will meet Tuesday, August 28, in Ballinger, to discuss the multi-purpose aspects of the Elm Creek watershed project, which is in the survey stage now by State Soil Conservation Service survey team.

The joint meeting will be held in the Ballinger Community Center at 8 p. m.

It has been proposed to include at least one multi-purpose dam and reservoir in the watershed, in addition to the several floodwater retaining structures planned on Elm Creek and its tributaries. The structure would serve several purposes—flood control, municipal and rural water supply source, and recreational.

W. M. Hays, chairman of the board of Elm Creek Water Control District, said the councils would be told "what the two cities will need to do," and what "they will be obligated to do," if a multi-purpose site is included in the final planning. He also said that type, location and size of structures to be built for flood control and conservation would depend on the size, location and type of multi-purpose structure chosen. If the two cities cooperate in this part of the project, he said, they will have to know the cost, and other requirements.

Hays said there possibly would be more than one site in the watershed where multi-purpose structures would be feasible.

SURVEY TEAM — These members of the State Soil Conservation Service survey crew will be making surveys of the entire area covered by Elm Creek Water Control District, in Runnels and South Taylor counties, during the next several weeks. They are, Alfred Owen, Sam Hall, Gene Perkins, Charles Jones and Michael Deike. All are from the Waco office except Deike, who is from Wingate. Directors of Elm Creek Water Control District are asking that all property owners in the watershed sign permits allowing the team to enter their property to make surveys. Permits may be obtained at the Winters Chamber of Commerce, the Ballinger Chamber of Commerce, the SCS office in Ballinger, or from members of the board. W. M. Hays, chairman of the board of the District, explained that there will be no property damage resulting from the surveys, and asked the cooperation of all property owners. (Staff Photo)

No Change In School Tax Rate As Budget Adopted For 1973-74

The Board of Trustees of Winters Independent School District Monday night set the tax rate for 1973, and adopted a budget for operation of the school for 1973-74.

There will be no change in the overall tax rate, which remains at $1.50 per hundred at 65 percent of 100 percent value (1967 valuation program). The entire $1.50 will be earmarked for maintenance of the school. The 1972-73 rate was broken down to include $1.35 for maintenance and 15 cents for debt service. All bonded indebtedness was paid off during the last fiscal year, allowing all tax receipts to go into maintenance this year.

Assessed value of the school district for 1973-74 has dropped by $627,180.00 from last year, according to figures from the tax office. Oil valuation for this year is $5,063,000.00, below the $5,838,810.00 last year. Estimated potential at $1.50 is $75,945.00, with estimated collections at 95 percent, $72,147.75.

Total local valuation for this year is up slightly, $15,598,370.00 against $15,459,740.00 last year, with potential tax at $1.50, $233,975.55, and estimated collections at 95 percent, $222,276.77. Total estimated collections, at 95 percent, is estimated at $294,424.52.

Taxes are due from October 1 to January 31, with a 1 percent discount allowed if paid during the month of October. Penalty and interest will be due after January 31, according to Texas School Law.

BUDGET

Total revenue for the year is estimated at $655,685.00, down from last year, with $297,641.00 from local sources and $368,044.00 from State sources.

Federal funds are not included in the regular budget because these funds are already earmarked for specific purposes.

School Lunch Prices To Go Up October 1

Because of the spiraling costs in food supplies, the price of school lunches in the Winters School Cafeteria will be increased, effective October 1, it was announced this week.

The Board of Trustees of the Winters Independent School District, in a regular meeting Monday night, approved the following prices for school lunches:

Kindergarten to 6th grade,	50 cents.
7th-12th grade,	55 cents.
Adults,	60 cents.
Visitors,	85 cents.

Employed as bus drivers for the year were James Jones, Randy Loudermilk, Weldon Middleton, James Powers and Larry White, all teachers; and J. C. Hodnett, Crenencio Rodriguez and Lee Roy Chaney.

Loss of Three Starters Hurts Blizzards, But Attitude Good

Early member losses have hit the 1973 Blizzards where it hurts, Coach Chili Black said Monday, but the attitude and hard work exhibited by the whole squad will go a long way toward building a strong team this year.

Two probable starters, who were early training picks for both offensive and defensive positions, have dropped out of the program, the coach said, leaving four actual vacancies which will have to be filled.

Also, Mike Moore, who started seven games last year as linebacker and offensive guard, will be out of action for about six weeks because of illness. It is expected that he will miss at least three games.

The squad started working out in full equipment the last of last week, and were pretty well worn down by the hot weather, the coach said. The soreness was worked out by the first of this week, however, and late-afternoon training will make things a bit easier on the entire team, he said.

There will be no definite assignments to varsity and junior varsity squads as such this year, Coach Black said. All players will be listed together, and those assigned for junior varsity games on Thursday of each week will be named on Wednesday. The next week, an individual player who has been on the junior varsity may be moved up to the varsity team. This system will be in effect all season, the Coach said, for all team members except the senior members of the squad, who will remain on the varsity team.

The first pre-season scrimmage was planned against Comanche Friday night of this week, at Comanche, but conflicts of schedules caused rescheduling of this week. The next scrimmage will be next week when Eastland will visit Winters September 1.

Army Worms Pose Threat To Area, County Agent Urges Quick Control

With fall army worms active in parts of East Texas about a month earlier than normal, C. T. Parker, Runnels County Agricultural Agent, cautions agricultural producers and homeowners to be on the lookout for the hairy critters.

Usually these pests are most active in late summer and fall, Parker said, but favorable temperatures and moisture conditions have brought on their early arrival. Thus, he warned, they may be invading other areas ahead of schedule.

Army worms attack many plants and can do serious damage to lawns, pastures and early planted small grains. Although normally night feeders, they are also active on cloudy days. Since usually unseen during the day, frequent and careful inspection should be made in shaded areas to detect the worms before extensive damage occurs, Parker said.

When hatched, the worms are less than one-half inch long and are white with black heads. At maturity, army worms are about one and one-half inches in length and may range from pale green to almost black in color, with several light stripes along the body. One identifying marking is an inverted "Y" on the front of the head.

When control is necessary, Parker suggests homeowners and agriculturists contact the county extension office for specific recommendations. Regardless of what insecticide material is used, he emphasizes following directions on the label of the container.

Unless controlled, the army worms are capable of destroying entire lawns, fields of forage or other crops. Therefore, Parker said, early detection and action are crucial for successful control.

STATE Capital NEWS

By BILL BOYKIN

AUSTIN—Dozens of logjammed major highway projects will be moved forward now that President Nixon has signed the three-year $20 billion federal highway act.

In addition to funds for mass transit, the act also provides $2 billion for safety projects. State Highway Engineer Luther DeBerry said replacement of narrow bridges is high on the priority list. Hazardous intersections and rail crossings will also be eliminated as facilities are designed with modern built-in safety features.

"This act does not solve all our money problems, but even though it is not everything we need here in Texas, it is a good act," said DeBerry.

Highway trust revenues will remain as they have been in the past during fiscal 1974. Up to $200 million in urban funds can be used either for roads or purchase of buses in fiscal 1975. By 1976, all or part of the urban funds may be used for highway buses or fixed rail transit with State Highway Department contracts.

July highway bid lettings were cancelled due to shortage of federal funds. Although the federal act's passage will allow the state to proceed with vital projects, DeBerry warned a backlog will remain. Texas has been financing some work with left over money from previous acts of Congress and with state funds. Texas is among states which send the federal government more tax revenues from gasoline and vehicle accessory sales taxes than is returned.

Interstate highway construction is financed with 90 percent highway trust fund money and other federal construction gets 70 percent aid. The new act provides money for bicycle trails and metropolitan transportation studies. It also permits building the San Antonio North Expressway with state funds (if lawsuits don't stop it again).

AG RULES

Youthful offenders must be released from correctional institutions for delinquents when they reach 18, Atty. Gen. John Hill held.

In other opinions concerning the 18-year-old majority rights law, Hill concluded:

—Persons 18 years of age can no longer collect survivor's benefits as a result of death of fathers who are law enforcement officers or firemen.

—Parents of retarded youths 18 and over are no longer obligated to pay costs of their care in state institutions.

—Eligibility to run for office is extended to 18-year-olds, along with the obligation to serve on juries.

—Parental consent is no longer necessary for boys to obtain marriage licenses.

—Students whose parents live out of state can qualify for resident tuition rates at Texas colleges and universities at age 18 if they meet the year's residency and gainful employment requirements.

—Persons who are married, regardless of age, have the status of adults.

—The late President Lyndon

OIL ALLOWABLE HELD AT 100 PERCENT

For the 18th straight month, the Railroad Commission set the oil production allowable for September at 100 percent.

Meanwhile, Commission Chairman Jim Langdon warned the nation is facing a "very critical situation."

The Federal Power Commission, said Langdon, is predicting an 18 percent reduction in energy fuels this winter as compared with 1972. FPC asked all states to survey winter requirements, supplies available and possible substitute fuels which will be needed to cope with shortages.

Texas' production rate has dropped 26,000 barrels a day, in spite of the 100 percent production allowable, Langdon said.

Exceptions to the 100 percent allowable are East Texas Field (86 percent); Kelly-Snyder (84 percent) and Tom O'Connor Field (70 percent).

CREDIT INSURANCE HEARING SET

The State Board of Insurance has scheduled a September 13 hearing on credit insurance rates.

A survey indicates the rates may be 20 percent high, according to Board Chairman Joe Christie.

If this is true, said Christie, they must come down.

Credit insurance is designed to insure payments of loans for installment plan purchases in event the borrower dies, becomes disabled or is otherwise unable to meet his payments.

It is not supposed to be a profit-making proposition for the seller or creditor, said Christie, but to provide protection. Consumers in three-fifths of the other states pay lower premiums for the protection than Texans do, according to the regulatory agency head. Texans pay 75 cents per $100 indebtedness per year for credit insurance.

APPOINTMENTS

Bill Ward of Weatherford, Joe Ned Dean of Groveton and Charles Griggs of Sweetwater were named to the Texas Civil Judicial Council by Gov. Dolph Briscoe.

Rep. Bill Heatly of Paducah and Rep. Fred Head of Troup were appointed by Speaker Price Daniel Jr. to the Legis-

Get a health checkup. Find out the lump in your throat is only emotion.

It's generally agreed that one of the best things you can do to keep yourself in good health is to have a regular health checkup.

The reason's simple. Cancer — if detected early enough — can often be cured.

But the fact is, your checkup probably won't reveal anything serious. Most people who have regular checkups discover they're in pretty good health.

So have a checkup. Now. And regularly. Find out you're in better shape than you think you are.

Briscoe picked E. S. Emerson of San Antonio to serve on Texas Commission on Alcoholism and John Artero of Victoria on the State Board of Morticians.

Lt. Gov. Bill Hobby created four regional Citizens' Advisory Councils on Water Resources, and Texas Water Rights Commission added Kenneth Charles Quinn of Conroe to its Houston staff to monitor Houston area water districts.

CHILD INVESTIGATION URGED

Texas and Illinois attorneys general formed a task force to investigate conditions and allegations of child abuse at eight child-care institutions in the state.

Also a three-man Illinois investigating team is checking the placement of hundreds of children from that state in Texas private institutions. Illinois Atty. Gen. William Scott said he is concerned as to why Illinois with a wealth of first class educational facilities sent 800 children to Texas for institutionalization. Scott said he wants to find out if Illinois state child care officials were "wined and dined" to encourage them to send youngsters to Texas.

RATES UP

New increased workmen's compensation insurance rates — up 19.5 per cent to reflect increased benefits to workers killed or injured on the job — go into effect September 1.

The legislature increased benefits for injured workers from 60 percent of their regular weekly salaries to 66.7 percent, and raised the maximum weekly benefit from $49 to $63.

SHORT SNORTS

Texas business activity declined three per cent in June, partly in response to a sharp cutback in plans for new construction.

Texas Folklife Festival's program is set for San Antonio September 6-9.

A $10 million clean water bond issue has been sold to a Texas syndicate.

HOT, DRY WEATHER BRINGS PINKEYE

Hot, dry summer weather can be a big pain in the eye for cattle. The reason is "pinkeye".

Pinkeye is an infectious eye disease of cattle of all ages and breeds. However, younger animals under two years of age appear to be more susceptible than older ones.

The eye inflammation occurs most often in summer and fall and is generally more prevalent in white-faced animals. Dry, dusty conditions, bright sunlight, feeding in tall grass and the presence of flies all tend to aggravate the condition.

The disease is caused primarily by a bacteria, points out Parker. The eyelids swell and a watery discharge increases and thickens. The white of the eye becomes inflamed and a white, gray spot appears near the center of the eye. This spot swells and later opens to form an ulcer.

Affected animals are sensitive to light and generally stand in shade. They lose weight quickly, suffer production decreases and may injure themselves because of temporary blindness.

Although the disease generally runs its course in two to four weeks without much damage, secondary bacteria often invade and can cause permanent blindness. Therefore, treatment is important as soon as a case of pinkeye is suspected. However, a veterinarian should be consulted to diagnose the condition before treatment is begun since some eye infections result from viral causes and will not respond to antibiotics.

Isolate affected animals as soon as possible and protect them from wind, dust, and sunlight, advises the extension agent. Bathe the eye with a lukewarm borax solution and dust with an antibiotic powder at least twice a day. This prevents a secondary infection and allows the eye to recover without complications. Eye patches also help shorten recovery time. Although no specific drug is available to treat pinkeye, injections of Vitamin A and a cortisone product have helped in some cases.

The agent advises cattlemen to isolate for at least 60 days all new animals brought into the herd. Cattle that have recovered from pinkeye may still be capable of spreading it for some months.

Mrs. O'Connor's Weekly News Column

Time was when the word (and the bird) "turkey" were synonymous with either Thanksgiving and football or Christmas and sleigh bells.

Not so today; any time is turkey time in 1973; and this is compellingly substantiated by statistics showing that American per capita consumption of turkey has increased from 6.1 pounds in 1960 to 9.1 pounds in 1972.

There are several reasons for this rise in popularity. Back in olden times, papa took his fowling piece into the forest and killed the family's Thanksgiving turkey. In somewhat more recent days, mother ordered a fresh turkey from the neighborhood grocer a week or so before Thanksgiving. But today—thanks to modern packaging and merchandising methods—the lady of the house can take immediate delivery of a fresh frozen young turkey or frozen individual pieces such as breasts, legs, or wings from virtually any supermarket.

So with its ready availability, turkey is reaching American dinner tables much more often than it used to.

And for the past few years, the U. S. Dept. of Agriculture has been buying turkeys and some turkey products for use in school lunch programs across the nation. Just recently USDA solicited initial bids for these products for use during the next school year.

Frozen cooked turkey roll is a relatively new product which has further increased the popularity of turkey as "any time" fare. This convenience food is found in the frozen food sections of most supermarkets and consumers usually have a choice of three different rolls—all white meat, all dark meat, or mixed light and dark.

Because they are pre-cooked the rolls can be served quickly either hot or cold. Uncooked rolls are also available. And they are good news for the budget-minded, too, for turkey rolls, relatively are of the most economical, high quality, high protein foods on the market.

Today it may truly be said, "any time is turkey time!"
