Split Observances In Order For Veterans Day

Observance of Veterans Day will be divided among some government and local offices, it was learned this week.

The Winters State Bank, and some state and county offices, will return to November 11; the Post Office, and some federal offices will observe Monday, October 27, as Veterans Day. The Post Office will be closed, and no rural or city route mail will be delivered, and there will be no customer service.

The bank will be open October 27, but will be closed November 11, the traditional Armistice Day, or Veterans Day, as it has been called in the past few years.

Literary, Service Club To Serve Turkey Dinner

The Winters Literary and Service Club will sponsor the annual turkey dinner before the Winters-Stamford football game Friday, Oct. 24.

Serving will begin at 5 p.m. and continue until 7 p.m., in the school cafeteria.

Adult tickets will be $2.50 and tickets for children under 12 will be $1.50. Tickets may be obtained from club members or can be purchased at the door.

Proceeds from the dinner will be used for the club's projects.

General Telephone Company is seeking a 14.2 percent annual increase in income from their operation in Winters.

Under the new request for an increase, the company would not separate the several classifications of services offered, but would ask the City to set these different rates.

The company received an increase in September, 1973, and under the Extended Area Service agreement with the City of Winters in April of 1975 were granted authority for another increase of about 10 percent.

Representatives of the telephone company met with the City Council Monday night and presented the formal request for the rate increase. Under this request, the company seeks an overall increase in total dollar income; the City would develop the rates.

No action has been taken by the City Council.

Telephone company spokesman said the company is "concerned with the rate of return" on their investment in Winters. At present, they said, the company is realizing only a 7.49 percent return on the local investment, and needs the 14.2 percent overall increase to meet a 2 percent raise in their return, to about 9.46. This is necessary in order to attract investors, company representatives said, and continued high operating costs make some increase necessary.

Phone company representatives said the company has realized good growth in Winters, and if the growth continues, and the company is to grow with the community, "we must have an improved rate of return."

Blizzards Host Stamford Bulldogs

The Winters Blizzards, now trailing in District 6-AA ratings, will host the Stamford Bulldogs Friday night on Blizzard Field, with kick off scheduled for 7:30.

This will be the fourth conference game for the Blizzards, who have been plagued by hard luck this season, because of lack of depth and experience.

The Blizzards also will be playing without the services of Kent McNeill, who is out of action because of a shoulder injury received in the Coahoma game last week. Also, Tye Rougas and Marvin Moore received "hip pointers" in the game with

School Board Accepting Principal Applications

The board of trustees of Winters Independent School District is accepting applications for the position of principal of the high school.

Superintendent of Schools Bill Graves said the school board will consider applications from local and out of district people.

The new principal will fill the vacancy created by the death of B. J. (Jake) Joyce, who died October 12.

The board will interview applicants and it is hope an appointment will be made in the near future, Supt. Graves said.

Phase I of Rural Water System Is Defined

Most planning for the first half of the project to bring water to a large part of the rural area of North Runnels has been completed, grants and loans have been approved, and it is expected that a call for construction bids will be made about the first of December. LaDell Davis, manager of North Runnels Rural Water Supply Corporation, said this week.

In addition, most of the paper work has been completed for the second half of the project, and approval for grants and loans to complete that part of the system is expected to be received within a short time.

Davis said it is hoped that bids for construction will be opened in early January, and that perhaps actual construction can begin the last of January, or at least in early spring.

A Farmers Home Administration Loan for $337,600, and an FHA grant for $307,000 already has been approved, Davis said. Paper work is now in for application for a $505,000 FHA loan, and a $500,000 grant from the FHA for the second half of the project.

The accompanying map of the first part of the project shows location of pipelines for the distribution system. The project was originally divided into four "phases," as indicated on the map; phases I and II will be included in the first part of the project, with phases III and IV, as indicated, to follow. The map shows only approximate location of the pipelines; there may be a few changes before actual construction begins, it was said.

Davis said the maximum daily requirement of water for the entire system has been estimated at 225,000 gallons, with an average of 88,000. When the system is completed, there will be at least three or four pump stations and storage facilities.

Dan Dutko In Krueger's Office

U. S. Congressman Bob Krueger has announced the appointment of San Angeloan Daniel Dutko as his new District Administrative Assistant, replacing Tom Henderson who has resigned, effective November.

Dutko, presently Field Manager of a sixteen county office for the State Comptroller, has held other important management posts in various industries, including San Angelo Communications and Electronics, and the West Texas Lighthouse for the Blind. He majored in Political Science and Journalism at Angelo State University and was named to Who's Who in American Colleges and Universities.

"Since Dan was being considered for a very substantial promotion in the Comptroller's office," Krueger said, "we are very fortunate to have been able to add him to our staff at this time." Describing Dutko as "bright and capable," Krueger added, "He turned the San Angelo Field Office into a model for the rest of the state in just five months, and someone with his leadership capabilities would be an asset to any organization."

Dutko will be responsible for the Del Rio, New Braunfels, and San Angelo offices, according to Krueger.

as well as thirty-one counties of the 21st District. Krueger also emphasized the importance of having someone with a "keen understanding and awareness of other people's problems," qualities he attributed to Dutko.

Tom Henderson, an attorney and graduate of Texas A & M and the University of Texas Law School, will assume a staff position with Comptroller Bullock in Austin. "Tom has been with me from the outset of my campaign," Krueger said, "and has served me well in both the district and my Washington office, both as my Legislative Assistant and District Administrative Assistant. We shall miss him considerably," Krueger added, "as I am sure will his many friends in the 21st District. He is an extremely talented young man, and I feel very fortunate to have had him on my staff."

PARKER'S COLUMN

Tulips for Spring Color

Tulips can be grown successfully in Texas regardless of the warm winters, says C. T. Parker, Jr., county agent for the Texas Agriculture Extension Service.

By providing a substitute cold and chilling the bulbs artificially at 35-40 degrees F. for 45-60 days before planting, tulips will provide for early spring color in the home landscape. Parker suggests chilling the bulbs in the vegetable drawer of a refrigerator until about mid-December, then plant them immediately.

Without pre-cooling the bulbs, flower quality will be poor and stems will be short. However, the bulbs should not be frozen, cautions the agent.

He also advises against buying pre-cooled bulbs from garden shops. Unless such bulbs are sold immediately, the temperature in the shop will usually take away the effects of pre-cooling.

Select a reputable dealer and buy bulbs that are firm, clean and free of insects and disease, suggests Parker. Beware of "bargain" bulbs.

Treat tulips as annual plants and discard them at the end of the blooming season.

Hyacinths can be treated the same as tulip bulbs, but other spring flowering bulbs should be planted immediately after buying, adds the agent.

Organic Matter Improves Soil

The soil's fertility and physical condition can be greatly improved by adding organic matter. Such matter includes lawn clippings, leaf raking, and other plant material that is free of disease and nematodes.

The fall season is an excellent time to add such materials to the garden area, point out Parker, county agent for the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. To aid decomposition, add about two pounds of a complete fertilizer per 100 square feet of bed area. This helps the bacteria and other organisms do a better job of decomposing the organic matter. During the decomposition process, nutrients and other elements vital for healthy plant life are released for use by new plants.

Organic matter improves the soil's physical properties by causing better soil structure, increasing pore volume, increasing moisture retention, and allowing more efficient utilization of fertilizer applications. This means that sticky clay soils can be changed into a more manageable loamy soil, points out the agent. Adding organic matter to loose, droughty sand will help it hold plant nutrients and moisture, thus improving plant growth.

In both clay and sandy soils, organic matter keeps soil particles from packing together and increases pore space to allow excess moisture to flow through. These pore spaces also allow better air exchange, thus improving the oxygen supply in the soil—a vital factor for good plant root functions and growth.

POE'S CORNER

BY CHARLISIE POE

(Ed. Note: Charlise Poe invites anyone who has early-day family and community historical items, which may be included in future articles, to contact her. Such information will be used, space permitting, when subject matter is relevant to articles being written.)

Poe's Corner west of Winters, where roads 53, 384 and 2111 intersect, has a history which began back in 1904 with the arrival of the W. W. Poe family.

The couple lived in Hill County where Poe farmed

Naming of Dixie
The South probably received the name "Dixie" from $10 bills printed in New Orleans by the Citizens Bank of Louisiana and used up and down the Mississippi. The bills carried the French word for ten, "Dix." The original lyrics of the popular song were: "I wish I was in the land of the Dixes."

Ready to Explode
Total number of known active volcanoes in the world is 455, with an estimated 80 more submarine. The greatest concentration is in Indonesia.

Early Metropolis
In 1519 the Aztec capital of Tenochtitlan on the site of present-day Mexico City had an estimated population of 300,000 — larger than the contemporary London of King Henry VIII.

ed to use the building, Rev. J. L. Speer was the founder and first pastor of the church.

As the community was progressing so were improvements being made at the Poe home. In 1909 two rooms and a pantry were added to the house. Screened porches and little rooms, called shed rooms, were added to both sides and back of the house where boys' clothes were hung and baths were taken on Saturday nights in tin washtubs.

The large pantry was always well stocked with provisions hauled from town with wagon and team: four mules were hitched to the wagon in muddy weather. Sugar and flour were bought by the barrel and more than once a boy had to be rescued from a barrel because he had been stealing sugar and had fallen in on his head.

Preserves were made by the washpot full, also hominy and lye soap. Cookies or tea cakes were made by the flour-sack full twice a week. Ten hogs supplied the family meat and were killed all at once on the coldest day of the year, and the meat stored in the "smoke house." A water-cooler held the milk and cooked food was stored in the "safe." A coal house at the back door supplied the cookstove and heaters with fuel. The wash-shelf with bucket of water, tin dipper and wash basin were replaced by water piped in the house in 1915.

The first modern convenience was a telephone installed in 1914 when Poe had a telephone line built west of town for his use. He also contributed $500 to assist in securing the right of way for a railroad through Winters.

As early as 1908 the Poes had a modern Buick automobile with carbide lights, open top and a crank on the right hand side. But it could only be used on Sunday morning in pretty weather and for an occasional trip to town. On Sunday night it scared the teams of the other church-goers. Following the drought of 1918 and upon a guarantee of $2 per bushel by the government for wheat, 1000 acres of the farm were sowed in wheat. A bumper crop was harvested and the family moved to Winters in the Fall of 1919.

Poe served a term as trustee of the Winters schools and one term on the city council. He contributed toward the building of a new Methodist church in 1924. Although he never joined a church and was privileged to attend school very little, Poe was a firm believer in both.

Born in Alabama in 1862, after his father was killed in the Civil War, Poe left home at the age of thirteen to escape the abuse of a step-father and made his way to Texas. When he was 17, he worked for a man in County, whose wife taught him how to sign his name. He said the two words "ain't and can't" were not in the English language and whipped his children if they said "I can't."

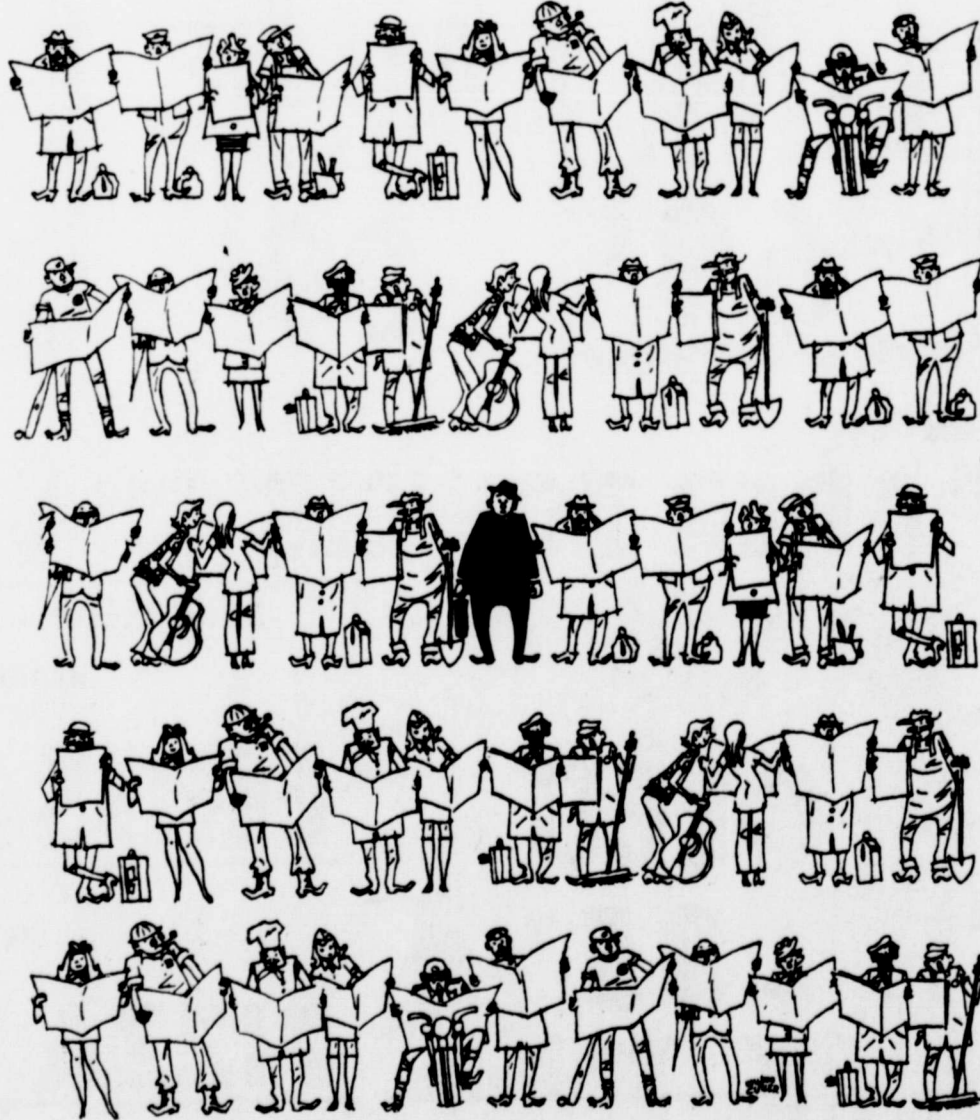

Upon Poe's death in 1945 each child inherited a farm and the land is still farmed mainly by grandsons.

The Poe's Chapel church became inactive in 1934 and the building was moved to Wingate in 1937 where it was again used as a Methodist church until 1966, when a new building was bought. The school was disbanded in 1936 and the building moved to Winters where it was used as an FFA building at the school until a new one was erected.

The area also has another name, it became known as the Poe Oil Field with the first discovery March 11, 1952. But when new roads were built it became known simply as Poe's Corner.

An Official Texas Historical Marker erected in 1968 recognizes the important part the small communities played in the development of Texas.

Merchants Will Plan "Harvest Days" Event

In a meeting Monday, the Retail Trades Committee of the Winters Chamber of Commerce recommended a "Harvest Days" special sale celebration for November 14-15.

This will be the special fall event for participating merchants, and each merchant will conduct his own sale and promotion. The committee recommended a combined effort on the part of all businesses to make this special event a successful one.

IT ISN'T REALLY SPRING, but don't tell that to Meyer, the Malayan sun bear, who spends his days at Lion Country Safari in Laguna Hills, Calif., as though he had a permanent case of spring fever.

PIOUS SCARECROW watches over the garden at St. Catherine's Roman Catholic school in Philadelphia where students opted for something a bit more creative.

Reddy's helpful tips for your Home Laundry

Wash and dry a full load, but never overload... it is essential for each item to move freely for proper cleaning and drying.

Choose the correct cycle for washing modern materials. Perhaps hot water isn't needed, and only a gentle drying temperature.

Too much detergent can clog machine and drains... always measure, don't guess! Follow the manufacturer's recommendations for your type equipment. Mixing brands of detergents can cause graying of clothes.

Many manufacturers of permanent press garments recommend machine washing and machine drying for best results. Following instructions on the garment tag can help preserve the life of your clothing and give you wrinkle-free clothes without need for ironing. A big savings!
