Gortari sets deadline to explain explosion

GUADALAJARA, Mexico (AP) — Alarmed by reports of new gas fumes, authorities Thursday evacuated a neighborhood near the working-class district wrecked a day earlier by sewer-line blasts that killed at least 202 people.

Moving to prevent political damage, President Carlos Salinas de Gortari gave investigators 72 hours to identify the cause of Wednesday's explosions.

The state governor said three officials would face criminal negligence charges for failing to order an evacuation.

Officials said the blasts were caused by an industrial chemical used by a cooking-oil company or by a gasoline spill into the sewer system.

Eziquiel Mendez of the Jalisco state attorney general's office said investigators were checking equipment at the La Central cooking-oil plant, at others that use hexane, and at installations of the national oil company, Pemex.

Earthquake rocks Southern California

LOS ANGELES (AP) — A strong earthquake that rattled Southern California on Wednesday night made buildings sway in Los Angeles and was felt as far away as Arizona and Nevada. There were no immediate reports of serious damage or injuries.

The quake measured 6.1 in a preliminary Richter scale reading, said officials at the California Institute of Technology's seismology lab in Pasadena. A magnitude 6 quake is capable of severe damage.

U.S. Geological Survey monitors in Golden, Colo., gave a preliminary reading of 6.0, said survey spokesman Don Finley. He said smaller aftershocks followed.

Perot inching closer to presidential bid

DALLAS (AP) — Ross Perot is moving steadily toward a full-fledged presidential bid, expanding his political staff and laying on an increasing number of appearances. At the same time, the Texas billionaire is sealing back his 800-number because it has fulfilled its main purpose.

"At this point, there is more than an ample number of volunteers to get petitions signed" to get him on the ballot as an independent candidate across the nation, Perot told reporters Thursday.

In an interview a day earlier with The Associated Press, Perot said he has dropped his insistence that his name be added to ballots in all 50 states before he'll run — although he still expects to get on all the ballots.

He raised the possibility that an active campaign to keep him off the ballot in New York — which has strict rules on independent candidacies — might succeed.

Applicants for fall semester down 13 percent

by CATHERINE DUNN
THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

Texas Tech will not experience large decreases in student enrollment in the fall, but the economy will continue to hurt the university, said Tech Executive Vice President and Provost Donald Haragan.

According to the bi-weekly report of admissions and applications, the number of students applying for the fall semester is down 13 percent from last fall. As of April 15, 7,939 people have applied for the fall semester as compared to the 9,152 who applied for fall 1991.

The number of students admitted, 4,485, also is down 9 percent from the 4,945 admitted last fall.

Gene Medley, director for the Office of Admissions and Records, said the drop in the number of applications may be due to a combination of fewer high school graduates, Tech's higher admission standards and the economy.

"It could be that economics is the biggest factor," he said. "I suspect it plays more of a role than we normally consider. It costs a lot more money to go to Tech than to stay at home."

Medley said many students find a way to get around the increasing cost of higher education by completing core requirements in community colleges.

"The economy is, no doubt, going to continue to have an impact on where students go to school," Haragan said. "We've got a large number of people from Dallas/Fort Worth. If the economy continues to lag, then I think many of these people will decide for economic reasons that they can't afford to go away for school and they'll stay home."

"That's not going to hurt so much the big urban universities, but the residential universities that are isolated, like Tech, it will," he said.

Haragan said tuition and fees must continue to increase if the state continues to decrease funding for higher education.

Tech's Board of Regents increased tuition from $20 to $24 per semester credit hour effective in the fall. Next year, tuition will be increased to $28 per credit hour.

"Somebody has to pay," Haragan said. "The burden on the student is going to get heavier and heavier, and even then we're having to decrease classes."

He said he does not think Tech's new $25 application fee accounts for a significant decrease in the amount of applications received because Tech now is receiving only those applications from students who are serious about attending Tech.

In the past, although some students had no intention to attend Tech, they applied because there was no fee, Haragan said.

Last year, 7,253 high school seniors applied for the 1991 fall semester. This year, 6,540 applied for the fall semester, resulting in a 10 percent decrease. Medley said 2,210 high school seniors who applied last year did not meet the admission standards. He said he thinks the same number of students will not qualify this year as the standards have not been changed.

The students who do not qualify account for only a small decrease in Tech's enrollment. The decrease was expected with the implementation of the higher admission standards, Haragan said.

He also said it is more advantageous to the students not to admit them if they cannot meet the university's standards.

"It is not fair to the students to let them into an atmosphere where they can't compete," he said. "They would be much better off in a community college environment."

Council OKs proposals to better city's finances

by JENNIFER SANDER
THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

Lubbock City Council members unanimously approved key requests that will have a significant financial impact on the city at its meeting Thursday.

The Airport Master Plan, Arboretum/Klapp Park improvements, expansion of the Civic Center and the Omnimax construction bid were all approved by the council Thursday.

Bern Case, director of aviation at the Lubbock International Airport, said the Airport Master Plan was an effective plan with an elaborate format, and the committee that drew up the plan intends on making forecasts to generate growth at LIA.

Case said there will be security improvements, such as fencing and computer access. The committee is also coming up with projects, such as improving runway shoulders and sideline lights, creating safer conditions.

Case added that the committee plans to expand and improve the Federal Express and Airborne areas at LIA. If the operation of the two businesses declines, the companies will locate elsewhere.

There is also a proposed site for a National Weather Service operation in the future, Case said.

Mayor B.C. "Peck" McMinn commended individuals who worked to put together the Lubbock Memorial Arboretum Foundation and said he hoped Lubbock citizens are proud of their work.

The council unanimously approved the lease agreement to develop the Arboretum at Klapp and McAlister Parks.

The Foundation Board requested that approximately 55 acres be designated as a site for Arboretum Development with approximately 14 acres enclosed for development on Klapp Park, which will serve as a base for the Lubbock Memorial Arboretum Foundation.

The council also approved the request to use hotel/motel tax funds for Civic Center improvements, which are currently allocated to debt service. There has been a 12 percent increase in the number of conventions and activities during the last year, resulting in $12 million generated throughout the city.

The Civic Center Board requested outdoor marquees at the center, renovation of the Avenue Q Fountain/Buddy Holly area, expansion of exhibit space, renovation of the Exhibit Hall, extra storage, improved kitchen facilities, and an additional parking lot. The total cost of these projects totals $6.8 million.

The request for the Omnimax construction bid was also approved by the council.

The building will be a special education theater, owned by the city, that will be leased to the Science Spectrum. The building will be adjacent to the Science Spectrum, costing more than $5 million to build.

The city sold bonds last year to finance the theater, and the council approved using $2 million to build the camera that will be used.

Wooten pleads no contest to rape charge

by KELLEY SHANNON
THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

KERRVILLE (AP) — A Lubbock man accused of raping his retarded sister-in-law was found guilty Thursday as part of a plea bargain that will send him to prison for 15 years.

from the courtroom shortly after he pleaded no contest and the trial was adjourned. The Wootens declined to speak with reporters.

"The Wootens are very, very tired of this process. It has gone on for a couple of years," said defense attorney Sam Ogan. "They're both feeling pretty emotional right now."

State district Judge J. Blair Cherry

Jr., set sentencing for May 11 in Lubbock. Wooten remains free on bond until then.

Wooten was accused of raping and impregnating his sister-in-law, 34-year-old Debra Lynn Thomas.

Ms. Thomas delivered a son Jan. 1, 1991, by Caesarean section. She has the IQ of a 2-year-old and does not realize she has given birth.

Week's activities emphasize Hispanic culture at Tech

by STEPHEN ARMOUR
THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

Hispanic culture was prevalent on the Texas Tech campus this week as the annual Hispanic Culture Awareness Week returned.

The theme for this year's events was "Hispanics: Leadership through Culture and Unity."

"This is best exemplified by the fact that six of the 10 Hispanic student organizations contributed to the week and helped put events together by offering manpower toward culture week," said Andrew Garza, a junior history and political science double major from Big Spring.

The main purpose of the week is to expose students, particularly Hispanic students, to the Hispanic culture, he said.

Garza said the week has received positive comments from faculty, staff and students. Because the word "Hispanic" appears in the title of the week, people think the weeks events are limited to Hispanic students.

"Mostly Hispanic students come (to the events)," he said. "There are very few non-Hispanic students that attend these functions. Our purpose is never aimed at Hispanic students. They are our target group, but we are here to serve the whole university."

Garza said the event that will usually attract the most non-Hispanic students will be the fajita cook-off, which will take place today from noon until 1:30 p.m. on the University Center's Patio.

A banquet will take place tonight from 7 p.m. to 10 p.m. in the UC Coronado Room. The El Mariachi Flores mariachi band will provide entertainment at both events.

The guest speaker at the banquet will be state Sen. Gonzalo Barrientos.

"It will also be an opportunity to recognize the organizations that were involved with culture week," Garza said.

The banquet is open to anyone. Tickets are $10 and may be purchased in the administration building room 163, West Hall rooms 304 and 309 and at the door.

A student dance called Celebration Final will take place from 10:30 p.m. to 2 a.m., although the venue has yet to be announced. The week's activities will conclude with a picnic from 1 p.m. to 5 p.m. Saturday at Buffalo Springs Lake.

HISA lobbying for closed captioned news

by DAWN TRAVIS
THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

The Hearing Impaired Student Association is making progress in its campaign to have closed captioned newscasts on a local television station.

Paul Anderson, a senior deaf education major and vice president of HISA, said HISA is developing a relationship with KAMC-TV channel 28, and that getting the news in closed caption is looking "pretty good."

Anderson and two other HISA members arranged for a sit-in Wednesday during KAMC's morning news program in an effort to gain public awareness of the need for closed captioned newscasts for the hearing impaired.

The sit-in followed a protest that occurred Tuesday evening. About 20 people from the hearing impaired community were present at the demonstration.

"The way to get what we need isn't through protest, but through working things out diplomatically and peacefully," Anderson said, commenting on the protest.

Tuesday evening's protesters were not a part of HISA and were under the wrong impression, Anderson said. The protesters thought that KAMC-TV was refusing to help us, he said.

"We have been doing research and working with the deaf community for quite some time now," said Kyra Phillips, a KAMC-TV reporter. "KAMC is the only Lubbock station who has agreed to the program, but right now we're just waiting on the necessary funding."

Phillips said the equipment will cost $80,000, and that KAMC-TV is looking for grants and donations to cover the operation.

"Southwestern Bell has agreed to give us a grant of $30,000, and the hearing impaired community has agreed to promote and raise money for the remainder," Phillips said. With a mother who is a deaf education teacher and several hearing impaired friends, Phillips said she realizes the importance of providing the local news in closed caption.

"I'm very sensitive to their needs, and I don't think it's fair that they don't have the same opportunity to know what's going on in their community as everyone else."

THE RISING GORGE

WILLIAM SAFIRE

WASHINGTON — Outrage is in. The fashion color for spring is red in the face. The national gorge on the rise.

Pollsters assure us that this is the year of the mad-as-hell voter. Popularity ratings mean nothing; only the feared "negative" are counted- and in that inverted rating, to be behind is to be ahead.

Radio talk shows have become snarlfeists; the most successful call-in hosts are the dudgeonaries who whip listeners into new danders at representatives checking their caches.

Television news has tapped into the hyperarticulated frustration. Its anchors are heard spreading the disparaging word, and its cameras linger lovingly on images of joblessness, homelessness, hopelessness and lessnessness.

The print media are not to be outdone in the surliness sweepstakes. The tabloids trash the candidates with garnish glee, raising "in your face" to the year's hottest compound adjective.

Meanwhile, the sobersided sachems of the responsible press lionize a couple of senators who quit because they are bored with their jobs, and treat the handsome pair as heroes for disdaining the anxieties of the public service.

The politics of resentment is being covered — and of course, exaggerated — because enough people are persuaded that it is more fun to sound off than to sign on. As a result, the nation's most visible product is steam, which is being let off at a great rate. Five years ago, you couldn't stir up outrage with any provocation. Saddam Hussein slaughtered 5,000 Kurds with poison gas and a handful of moralists hollered in vain; professors at our own Army War College are still explaining that the atrocity never happened, and while watchdogs yawned the State Department helped Iraq prepare for war.

That was then, when cool was in. Those who inveighed against the abuse of the franking privilege by a Congress stuffing its constituents' mailboxes with advertising were shrugged off as scolds.

Now a combination of recession, restlessness and a loss of the focus of anti-communism has transformed the public mood. Outrage bestrides the stage.

Fringe political types, who always capitalize on fads in philosophy and feelings, moved in on the mood swing. Today's attitude is to take offense, and would-be leaders rush to affront ines to lead the national tantrum.

Thus we have the mirror-image candidates of Brown and Buchanan, catering to the voguish resentment by espousing nativism, protectionism and isolationism. Their answer to alienation is to bait the aliens.

Thus we have the weird wish for the All-Positive Candidate, unblemished by the experience and compromise that burden the candidates of reality.

Republicans let themselves be infuriated at the demonstrated shortcoming of George Bush; Democrats vent their wrath at being forced to accept a "flawed candidacy" of Bill Clinton.

The election will be decided by how many more Democrats cannot stand Clinton than Republicans cannot abide Bush.

Bush, the candidate of continuation, styles himself as the agent of change; that's a joke. Clinton, the candidate of a new generation, has genuine change to offer, but the moment's majority prefers only to express outrage at the status quo — not to take a chance on loving a stranger.

This general embrace of outrage, this trendy glorification of outsiderhood invites a far-out candidacy to flower. The most self-possessed nation in the world has indulged its frustration to the point of creating a constituency of the dispossessed.

Enter Ross Perot, the man on computerback. He scoops up the troops of Buchanan and Brown, inherits the wind of resentment and buys loose votes with a billionaire's riches without causing concern because he's seen to be "too rich to steal."

For those stressed out by life's complications, Perot has no-sweat answers. His simple message has great appeal to simpletons. He says he'll handle the deficit by eliminating "waste, fraud and abuse." But it is our indulgence of selfish grumpiness that is the waste. It is the notion that the democratic system is unfair that is a fraud. And it is the willingness of free people to be diddled by misdirected outrage that is an abuse.

BOOPSIE! WHAT'S UP BABE-O-RAMA? GOOD NEWS, SID! B.D. AND I JUST DECIDED TO GET MARRIED! WE NEED YOUR HELP!

MY HELP? SWEETHEART, I DON'T DO PRE-NUPS... NO, NO, WE NEED YOU TO MARRY US!

SAY WHAT? DIDN'T YOU BUY ONE OF THOSE MAIL-ORDER MINISTRIES BACK IN THE 60S? TO GET OUT OF THE DRAFT?

DAMN, YOU'RE RIGHT! I'M SOME SORT OF HOLY MAN! WELL, I THOUGHT SO! CAN WE BOOK YOU FOR TONIGHT?

HEY, KIDDO! THANKS FOR COMING OVER, SID. SORRY ABOUT THE SHORT NOTICE.

NO PROBLEM! BUT WHAT BROUGHT ALL THIS ON? THE BABY. B.D. AND I WERE ARGUING OVER WHOSE LAST NAME HE WOULD HAVE...

AND THEN IT HIT US—WE SHOULD JUST GET MARRIED, AND LET HIM TAKE THE FATHER'S LAST NAME, LIKE OTHER KIDS! SOUNDS REASONABLE...

WHAT IS YOUR LAST NAME? D.

YOU CAN REALLY PERFORM A WEDDING CEREMONY, SID? NO PROBLEM! I'M A MAN OF THE CLOTH!

BACK IN THE '60S, YOU COULD GET A DRAFT DEFERMENT IF YOU WERE IN THE CLERGY. SO I SENT IN $3 TO THIS MAIL-ORDER MINISTRY...

FOUR DAYS LATER, I GOT BACK A CERTIFICATE SAYING I WAS A FULLY ORDAINED MINISTER IN THE CHRISTIAN ORDER OF IMMACULATE PACIFISM.

WHAT'D YOUR RABBI SAY? DAD? BUMMED.

OKAY, GUYS, I'M READY. HAPPY DAY—LET'S DO IT!

SHOULDN'T WE HAVE SOME SORT OF TEXT FOR THE CEREMONY? NOT TO WORRY, I'VE GOT A BOOK OF COMMON PRAYER...

I LIFTED IT WHEN I WAS DOWN AT UNIVERSAL THIS MORNING.

YOU STOLE A PRAYER BOOK? FROM A MOVIE STUDIO? IT'S A PROP. I GOTTA HAVE IT BACK BY FIVE.

INCOMING FAX, J.J.! LOOKS LIKE ANOTHER BULLETIN FROM MALIBU...

WELL, WHAT DO YOU KNOW? A WEDDING ANNOUNCEMENT! THE BABY MUST'VE TIPPED THE SCALES.

THINK THEY'LL GET THROUGH IT THIS TIME? YEAH, IF THEY'RE NOT READY NOW, THEY'LL NEVER BE.

DEARLY BELOVED, WE... WHOA! MAJOR BEACH BABE AT TWO O'CLOCK! WHERE?

OKAY, LET'S SEE... "WE ARE GATHERED HERE TOGETHER... ETC., ETC.,... IN HOLY MATRIMONY", ETC., ETC. OKAY, LET'S CUT TO THE CHASE...

"IF ANYONE PRESENT KNOWS ANY REASON WHY THESE TWO SHOULD NOT BE MARRIED, LET THAT PERSON SPEAK NOW OR FOREVER HOLD HIS PEACE."

UM... I HAVE A REASON... BOOP-SIE! WHAT'S THE PROBLEM, BOOPSIE?

I THINK MY WATER JUST BROKE. OH, GROSS! I'VE GOT A FIVE O'CLOCK.

HELLO, LADIES! B.D.!

NICE JOB, KID! YOU'RE NOT TOO DISAPPOINTED SHE'S NOT A BABY FULLBACK?

A PERFECT SAINT, GET OUTA HERE—SHE'S TOLD ME THAT IN HER PREVIOUS LIFE, SHE WAS MOTHER TERESA!

BOOPSIE, MOTHER TERESA'S STILL ALIVE. WOW... SHE MUST BE LIKE A SCOUT OR SOMETHING.

Evangelism not politics

The anti-abortion Christians may win the battle on the Supreme Court and lose the battle with their arch-enemy. The arch-enemy of Christians could not have selected a better distraction for them. Some Christians want to eradicate sin and then offer salvation from sin to the sinless. However, the anti-abortion Christians don't even bother with the eternal salvation of the mother. The anti-abortion Christians seem more intent on political control than evangelism and more concerned over the physical life of an unborn fetus than the eternal life of the mother. Calling women murderers, harassing women at abortion clinics, instigating guilt complexes, and blowing up abortion clinics surely are not evangelism. Neither is power politics. Who am I to tell Christians what their priority is? Who are they to tell me what to do with my body. Rather than constantly war with each other over this distraction, why can't we reach a compromise over this issue? The local, state and federal governments shall not fund abortion nor prohibit abortion.

Design/merchandising students sweep top honors at competition

by SANDRA PULLEY
 THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

Texas Tech students with a flair for fashion took top honors at the Texas Food and Fibers Commission Natural Fibers Design Competition at Texas Women's University in Denton.
 "It is kind of nice to get a return back on your time and money," said Stacie McDonald, a senior merchandising major from Pampa. "I look at making designs like buying your books. You have to put the investment in to get a good product."

Kimlyne Henry, a senior fashion design major from Houston, earned first place in the mohair competition for her fuchsia mohair coat with orange quilted lining.
 She also finished third in the coat and ensemble contest with the coat and a matching catsuit. Henry received $2,000 from the Mohair Council and the Natural Fibers Commission for her designs.
 "I just started with the fabric,"

Henry said. "Everyone had already picked through all of the fabric and left the piece I made the coat out of."

McDonald took second place in the mohair competition with her business suit design and an honorable mention in the After Five category for a wool evening gown. McDonald received $1,100 for her competition entries.

The competition is sponsored to promote fashion design using fabrics indigenous to Texas. Clothing entered in the competition could be made from cotton, wool or mohair.

Competition entries were judged on originality, fit, construction and commercial appeal. Each garment had to be created solely by the student, from the pattern to the finished product.

Entrants also had to be sophomore, junior or senior students at a Texas university or junior college with a fashion design program.

Tech student designers also showcased their latest original pieces at the Fashion Group Career Day.

Designing class presents handicapped clothing line

by SANDRA PULLEY
 THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

Fashion design took a new twist as Texas Tech students enrolled in the apparel designing II class presented 1993 spring clothing lines for the handicapped on Wednesday.

"There are many things to consider when designing clothing for someone confined to a wheelchair," said Beth Decker, a junior fashion design major from Harrisburg, Pa. "The pants have to be made higher in the back so they are comfortable, and there cannot be too many seams or pockets that will cause discomfort."

Decker and four other students designed a set of clothing called Safari Sights for Kathy Keese, who is confined to a wheelchair and swims competitively.

The group explained that the clothing had to be comfortable, durable and inexpensive, as well as functional and stylish.

"After Kathy was in the accident we tried to search for clothes that fit her and were durable," said Glenna Keese, Kathy's mother. "The catalogues don't offer clothes that fit her well. It is absolutely marvelous that these girls came up with this line."

Safari Sights is an ensemble complete with tops, jackets, pants and skirts.

Local arts events fill weekend calendar

Ballet

Ballet Lubbock will host the "Swingfully Yours" Dance-a-Thon '92 at 8 p.m. Saturday at Cafe Mezz.

Proceeds from the event will go to Ballet Lubbock to be used for a number of programs. Organizers of the dance-a-thon said the event is not a dance marathon. Participants are required to pay a $20 registration fee and raise $200 or more in pledges.

The theme for this year's benefit is honoring Lubbock United Service Organization members during World War II and will feature music from the 1940s to the present. Performances by Bright Moments, Mesa and Touch are scheduled for the evening.

Theater

The Mocco Rising Studios will present the one-act play "Keep Tightly Closed in a Cool Dry Place," by Megan Terry, May 1 - 3. Performances begin at 8 p.m. at the Deadwood Theatre.

The play is about three men who committed the same crime on the same person and are now confined to the same jail. They each must find their own ways of escape and come to terms with the crime.

The play stars Kip Yates, Matt Reimer and Jeff Hicks; three Tech theater students.

Tickets cost $6 and are available at the door. The theater is located at 2405 34th St.

Symphony

Motoi Takeda, assistant concertmaster for the Dallas Symphony Orchestra, replaces DSO concertmaster Emanuel Borok as the featured violinist for this weekend's Lubbock Symphony Orchestra performances.

The concerts begin at 8:15 p.m. Saturday and 3 p.m. Sunday in the Hemmle Recital Hall in Texas Tech's music building. Tickets for the event cost $11.25 for general admission and $6.25 for students.

The LSO is slated to play Mozart's "Concerto No. 5 in A Major for Violin and Orchestra" and Haydn's "Sinfonia Concertante in B-flat Major."

Borok recently broke his arm.

Axe worth audience's wait

by LARA CAMPBELL
THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

When people are forced to wait for Guns 'n' Roses to come on stage for more than an hour they become frustrated, but most stick around. When Lillian Axe came on stage over an hour late Wednesday night at West L.A., they sacrificed part of the already small audience.

Originally scheduled to come on at 11:30 p.m., Lillian Axe finally took the stage at 1 a.m., leaving only an hour left before the club would close. Unfortunately, Lillian Axe could have impressed many of the people who got tired of waiting and left before the band ever took stage.

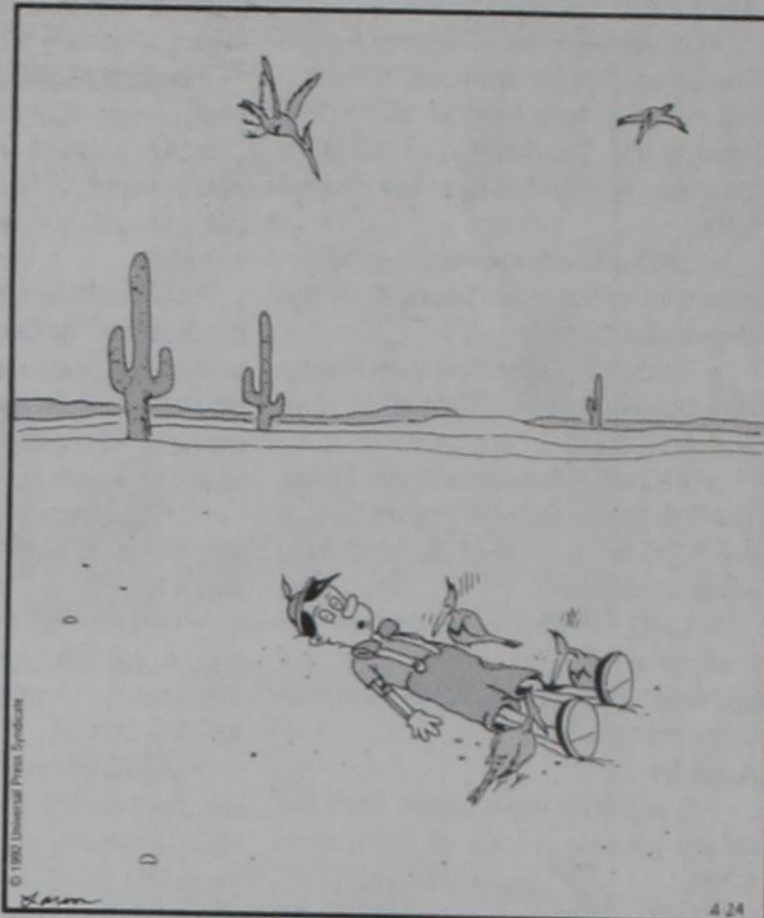

When Lillian Axe did play, the band proved it had the talent to make it in today's competitive music business. Singer Ron Taylor had a strong, unclouded voice, an asset lacked by many up-and-coming bands.

Although in recent years the band has experienced management and personality conflicts, the members look and sound as if they have overcome their problems.

Kiss My Axe, the title of the band's 1992 tour, is promoting the band's third album, "Poetic Justice."

Major League Baseball Roundup

Tigers sweep Rangers with 11-5 win

ARLINGTON (AP) — Mickey Tettleton's three-run double keyed another early outburst as the Detroit Tigers used a five-run first inning to rough up the Texas Rangers 11-5 Thursday night.

The Tigers, who scored six times in the first inning in Wednesday's 12-8 victory, swept the series. Detroit had 27 runs in the three games and 36 hits, including 15 in the finale.

After two innings, Detroit led 6-5 and the teams had combined for 15 hits. Milt Cuyler hit a three-run homer in the seventh.

Reliever Les Lancaster (1-1) shut out Texas on three hits for 4 2-3 innings. He allowed Julio Franco's RBI grounder and Rafael Palmeiro's two-run double in the second, although the runs were charged to starter Frank Tanana.

John Doherty pitched 3 1-3 innings for his first major league save.

Detroit put Kevin Brown (3-1) in trouble right away, loading the bases in the first inning on one-out singles by Lou Whitaker and Travis Fryman and a walk to Cecil Fielder. Tettleton bloomed a double down the left field line that cleared the bases and Chad Kreuter got an RBI double on a ball that was misjudged by left fielder Kevin Reimer.

Texas cut its deficit to 5-2 in the bottom of the first on four consecutive singles, including run-scoring hits by Ruben Sierra and Juan Gonzalez.

Fielder singled home a run in the Detroit second. The Rangers then rallied with four runs against Tanana and Lancaster.

Blue Jays 13, Indians 8

TORONTO (AP) — Kelly Gruber homered twice, doubled and drove in four runs, leading a 15-attack that carried the Toronto Blue Jays past the Cleveland Indians 13-8 Thursday night.

Gruber enjoyed the seventh two-homer game of his major-league career. Devon White and Joe Carter, who extended his hitting streak to 16 games, also contributed two-run homers. Albert Belle drove in four runs with his third homer and a single for Cleveland.

Todd Stottlemyre (2-1) surrendered eight runs and 13 hits in 6 2-3 innings.

Mariners 3, Twins 2

SEATTLE (AP) — Greg Briley's RBI single in the seventh inning broke a 2-2 tie and the Seattle Mariners beat the Minnesota Twins 3-2 Thursday.

Seattle trailed 2-1 when Jay Buhner led off the seventh with his first home run of the season off Scott Erickson (0-2). Erickson walked Tino Martinez and Jeff Schaefer sacrificed Martinez to second.

Briley singled to score three runs on five hits in 6 2-3 innings.

Russ Swan (2-2) got the victory with relief from Jeff Nelson in the eighth inning. Mike Schooler pitched the ninth for his fourth save. Swan gave up two runs on five hits.

Brewers 3, Red Sox 2

MILWAUKEE (AP) — Bill Wegman won a rainy duel over Roger Clemens as the Milwaukee Brewers sloshed to a 3-2 victory Thursday over the Boston Red Sox.

Dante Bichette's two-out RBI single capped a three-run third inning for the Brewers, who ended Clemens' 20-inning scoreless streak on a thoroughly miserable day at County Stadium.

Wegman (2-1) allowed six hits and six walks in a driving rain over 7 1-3 innings. Jesse Orosco and Doug Henry finished up, Henry getting his second save by pitching 1 2-3 scoreless innings.

Clemens (2-2) allowed seven hits, walked one and struck out eight.

National League

Mets 1, Cardinals 0

NEW YORK (AP) — Daryl Boston was hit by Juan Agosto's pitch with one out and the bases loaded in the 13th inning to give the New York Mets a 1-0 victory over the St. Louis Cardinals Thursday for a three-game sweep.

The Mets' Bret Saberhagen gave up five hits in nine shutout innings, while Donovan Osborne matched him for the Cards.

Dave Magadan singled with one out in the 13th off Juan Agosto (0-2) and Rodney McCray pinch ran. Junior Nohea followed with a single. McCray then stole third and pinch-hitter Charlie O'Brien walked to load the bases.

Expos 6, Pirates 3

MONTREAL (AP) — Spike Owen drove home two runs as the Montreal Expos took advantage of five Pittsburgh errors to beat the Pirates 6-3 Thursday.

Mark Gardner (2-1) allowed seven hits over 8 1-3 innings to beat Zane Smith (3-1). Smith allowed all six runs, three of them earned in 5 1-3 innings. John Wetteland came on in the ninth to post his third save.

Three errors allowed the Expos to score two runs in the first.

Phillies 8, Cubs 2

CHICAGO (AP) — Kim Batiste hit his first major league home run and Tommy Greene allowed two hits over seven innings Thursday as the Philadelphia Phillies defeated the Chicago Cubs 8-2.

Kneeboarding offers alternative to water skiing

MIKE HEWLETT

When people get down on their knees it's usually to pray, beg for forgiveness about something they've done wrong, or yes even to propose marriage.

However, there's a water sport that has become popular in the last decade that has people everywhere on bended knee and has nothing whatsoever to do with tying the knot.

I'm of course talking about kneeboarding, that wonderful water sport that can be mastered (or conquered) by the would be skiing stud in all of us.

While our more coordinated chums are laying down those killer walls of water with their slalom ski we can console ourselves by perfecting our skills on this wider piece of sturdy fiberglass.

Because kneeboards are ridden at slower speeds (around 20 mph) they are ideal for the beginner and can be used as a tool to overcome water sport phobias.

The fact that kneeboards are lacking a rudder make them easy to perform tricks that are both impressive and fun. Front-to-back, back-to-front, and 360 degree turns are possible as is the potential thrill of jumping off the wake without fear of breaking your neck due to the slowed speed.

Some of the more advanced board tricks include going off jump ramps and doing aerial flips off of the wake — definitely not for the beginner.

The basic equipment for kneeboarding starts with the board itself (which ranges between $100-200 to ensure good quality), a ski rope, a United States Coast Guard approved life vest and a boat.

Almost any size boat will do but the Yamaha Corporation recommends that the boat have a motor of at least 10 horsepower. Personally, I have seen small children with kneeboards being pulled behind Jet Ski type water craft.

Following are step-by-step instructions on how to mount and maneuver a kneeboard:

After safely clearing the danger of the boat and motor, while visually checking for other water craft in the immediate area simply lie flat on the board holding onto the ski rope and wait for the line to tighten.

Once moving and the board has planed out, lean onto your elbows and scoot forward kneeling on the padded surface in the center of the board. This may take a little time the first couple of attempts, but stick with it. It gets easier once you have your sea legs. Upon gaining the kneeling position, fasten the Velcro leg strap snugly, but not too tightly around your knee/upper thigh area. At this point you will have probably discovered you steer the board by displacing your body weight to either side and also by the way you hold the rope.

Don't be timid (hey you're only going 20 m.p.h. and if you fall the worst you're going to get is wet) test out your balance and as your confidence allows venture outside the wake and try some turns it's almost as easy as it looks.

Buck receives $5,000 postgraduate scholarship

Jennifer Buck, a key member of the 1992 Southwest Conference champion Texas Tech women's basketball team, received some good news Tuesday.

Buck was chosen as one of 14 winners of a $5,000 scholarship given by the NCAA for athletes who plan to do postgraduate work.

Buck received a degree in speech pathology in December, and played for the Lady Raiders as a graduate student this spring. Buck, who finished her undergraduate work ahead of schedule, graduated with a 3.841 grade point average.

She becomes the fifth Texas Tech athlete to receive a postgraduate scholarship, while also being named twice to the GTE Academic All-America team, which is chosen by the College Sports Information Directors of America. Buck also was named to the GTE/SWC Academic All-Conference team twice during her Tech career.

She was named to the Dean's List four semesters and made the President's Pist three semesters as an undergrad.

Women golfers head for SWC Championships

The Texas Tech women's golf team will travel to San Antonio this weekend to participate in the 10th Annual Southwest Conference women's golf championships.

The tournament will be a 54-hole affair beginning at 1 p.m. Sunday.

The tourney is once again hosted by The Club at Sonterra, marking the third straight year the club has hosted the event. Each team will carry five players and each day will consist of an 18-hole round. The lowest four scores will determine each team's total for the day. Freshman sensation Tracy Thompson, who has been the highest finisher for Tech in each of this season's tournaments, will lead the way for the Red Raiders. Her best finish came at the Susie Maxwell Bering Classic in Norman, Okla. when she tied for 13th place. Thompson is averaging a score of 79.5 in nine rounds of play this season. Kimberly Self, who has an 83 average over six rounds, also will compete for Tech along with Kimberly Jutt, Kerry Dowlin and D'Lynn Malcolm. Dowlin is the only senior on the squad.

Seventh inning gives Longhorns 6-4 win, series lead over Raiders

by LEN HAYWARD
THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

A five-run seventh inning outburst by Texas was the difference in a 6-4 win for the Longhorns over the Texas Tech baseball team, Thursday night at Dan Law Field.

The score was tied for six innings at 1-1, when the Longhorns stepped to the plate for the top of the seventh.

Texas opened the inning with starting pitcher J.J. Varney walking right fielder Mark Prather. Number nine hitter Robert DeLeon hit a double that scored Prather giving the Longhorns the lead at 2-1, which ended Varney's night.

Varney was pulled with no outs in the seventh because he was complaining of his right forearm tightening up. Senior pitcher/designated hitter Joe Davis came on in relief.

"My right forearm has been tightening up the past couple of weeks," Varney said after the game. "Coach (Larry Hays) thought I was at the point where I wasn't going to be able to keep going. He didn't want me to cause any damage later."

Varney pitched six innings giving up seven hits and three runs, with two strikeouts.

Leadoff hitter Calvin Murray came to the plate and singled, scoring DeLeon, while he also stole the only base of the game in his ongoing battle with Tech center fielder Kent Blasingame for the stolen base crown in the conference.

Pitcher Brooks Kieschnick walked, then third baseman Clay King singled, loading the bases. Catcher Chris Abbe then singled to bring in Murray making the score 4-1. Both Kieschnick and King scored and the 'Horns came out of the inning with a 6-1 lead.

"During the seventh inning those five runs hurt us, and most of the hits they got were with two strikes on them," Hays said after the game.

The Raiders narrowed the gap in the eighth inning with George Kilford hitting a two-run double that scored second baseman Jeff Schulz and right fielder Wes Shook, cutting the lead to 6-4. Freshman designated hitter Clay Hill grounded to King at third, ending the inning for the Raiders.

Kilford had two doubles with three RBIs, while Schulz also had two hits.

The Longhorns hit the scoreboard first, with Prather opening the scoring with a foul pole home run.

The Raiders evened it up, though, with the Schulz and Kilford combination striking once again. Schulz doubled to right field, and Kilford evened the score at 1-1 with a double in the right-centerfield gap, scoring Schulz.

Kieschnick picked up his sixth win of the season, pitching seven and two-thirds innings while giving up nine hits and four runs. Chris Gaskill came on in relief to garner his third save.

Tech and Texas will continue their three-game series at 7 p.m. today at Dan Law Field. Game three will be played at 2 p.m. Saturday.

Right on target

Texas Tech catcher Matt Smith tries to get on first base with Texas first baseman Braxton Hickman stretching to catch the throw made by a Longhorn infielder. The Red Raiders lost the game 6-4 and saw their record fall to 26-22 overall and 12-16 in the Southwest Conference.
