HERE'S HOW TO ENJOY BAKING

A pleasure to bake, and a joy to serve... That's the kind of baking you can depend upon with good, with Clabber Girl Baking Powder. Doubly true in the Clabber Girl's balanced double action is the home baker's stand-by.

CLABBER GIRL

HARRY HEILMANN had a habit of leading the American League in batting in odd years—1921, 1923, 1925, 1927.

HERE'S HOW BLASTING cap accidents start—a youngster finds a deceptively harmless-looking lot of shiny tubes lost from a construction job or mine operation. . . .

... and setting it off with a baseball bat looks like a lot more fun than playing sandlot baseball. . . .

... but the smashing blast that followed has mangled one of the boys, maiming him for life.

BLASTING CAPS

Innocent Looking Blasting Caps Can Easily Maim You for Life

One day in the spring of 1948 three children in an eastern Kentucky coal mining area were playing in the tool shed behind their home. In a box on a shelf where their father had placed odds and ends of mine equipment, they found four shiny metal tubes about two inches in length.

The children took the tubes out into the yard in front of their home and were playing with them. None of them were ever able to tell exactly what happened, but suddenly there was a smashing blast. When their mother reached them she found one little boy's hand terribly mangled. The youngest of the three lost the sight of an eye. The third child was not seriously injured, but suffered from a shock she was months overcoming.

The shiny little tubes which had been so pretty and such fun to play with were blasting caps, the heart of dynamite. Hundreds of children and adults are seriously injured and sometimes killed because of carelessness or ignorance while handling blasting caps. Older children, who should have known better, have been injured in the dangerous "sport" of setting off a blasting cap which had been lost, strayed or stolen from a mine or construction job.

May Happen Anywhere

This kind of accident is not necessarily limited to a mining area. They can take place anywhere, since blasting caps are used wherever road building and other commite occurs, say authorities at Olin Industries, Inc., Alton, Ill.

Blasting caps require the use of dynamite caps are smaller than a lead pencil and from one to two inches in length. Because they contain extremely powerful explosives, such as RDX used in wartime block-busters, they are very dangerous in the hands of persons inexperienced in the use of explosives.

One type of blasting cap, the ordinary, big inch, is exploded by flame from a burning fuse and the other is fired electrically. Sunk in the explosive charge of the elec-

This youngster called a policeman when he and his companions found a box of blasting caps. That is good advice for anyone. The police are trained to handle explosives.

These boys are in danger of losing their hands and eyesight, even their lives. The explosion of one of the caps they are handling could set off the remainder. The blast would be horrible.

trical cap is a thin wire which becomes heated and explodes the charge when an electric current is passed through the lead-in wires.

Don't Touch Them

While blasting cap accidents have dropped 60 per cent in the last decade, the accompanying pictures are intended to reduce them still further by showing youngsters, who may some day encounter them, what the caps look like, and picturing the danger of playing with them.

Blasting caps are so sensitive that men experienced in the use of explosives have been seriously injured when they were accidentally exploded. Construction workers have been known to lose fingers, their hands and even their lives from such explosions.

There is one important safety rule to follow if anyone finds a shiny object they might suspect as being a blasting cap: don't touch it. Leave it alone, but immediately call a policeman. Officers are often trained to handle explosives, and if not, he will call someone who is.

It is difficult for most people to believe that anything so small and innocent looking as a blasting cap could be so deadly. It is well to stop and think if you ever find one that they were devised by engineers as the heart of dynamite which can move mountains of stone.

The Way it Happened . . .

IN GRANTHAM, ENG. . . . An auctioneer sold everything but the kitchen table, finally sold table, discovered by clerk had put day's proceeds ($1,160) into the table drawer.

IN MERIDIAN, CONN. . . . A radio m.s. handcuffed a married woman to a male guest for a gag, accidentally broke her. It took two hours and a locksmith to free them.

AT AN ILLINOIS AIR FORCE BASE . . . 25 weather experts gathered for an important conference which lasted two days, found themselves marooned by a snow storm they had failed to predict.

ON A SOUTHERN RADIO STATION . . . The announcer, advertising shoes, said, "They sell for peanuts, only three-thirty-five." A woman with 395 peanuts demanded and got a pair.

IN NEW JERSEY . . . Police had to ease up on overtime parking tickets in one city, because one day six policemen found parking tickets on their case.

Effective Cough Syrup, Mixed at Home for Economy

No Cooking. No Work. Real Saving. Here's an old home mixture your mother probably used, and is still one of the most effective for coughs due to colds. Once tried, you'll swear by it. Make a syrup with 2 cups granulated sugar and one cup honey. No cooking needed. Or you can use corn syrup or liquid honey, instead of sugar syrup. Now put 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex into a pint bottle, and fill up with your syrup. This makes a full pint of cough medicine, and gives you about four times as much for your money. It keeps perfectly and tastes fine. And you'll say it's really excellent for quick action. You can feel it take hold quickly. It loosens phlegm, soothes irritated membranes, helps clear the air passages. Thus it makes breathing easy and lets you get restful sleep. Pinex is a special compound of proven ingredients, in concentrated form, well-known for its quick action on throat and bronchial irritations. Money refunded if not pleased in every way.

DEVOTIONAL READING: II Timothy 4:1.

THE idea that religion is the opiate of the people has been circulated only by those who know nothing about religion from the inside. The Christian religion is no kind of drug. You may hunt through the New Testament from end to end and find not a single expression reminding you of a drug store. What you do find, over and over again, is the idea that this life, for the Christian, is a fight, a grueling test run.
What Christianity offers (among other things) is power—power to run the race to stand the test, to win the fight.

Paul Knew How It Was THE Christian life is a fight . . . but not a losing fight. Countless Christians have proved it by living it. We can pass up the number one example of Jesus himself, because some people might say that he had access to some source of power that ordinary men do not have.

Look, if you please, at Paul of Tarsus. There was a man who looked trouble in the eye every day. In fact, there never was a single day when troubles left him free and easy.

Whatever we may say about Jesus, Paul certainly had no special "pipeline to heaven" which any other Christian might not have. Yet he lived, so to speak, on top of his troubles, not down under them.

Even now, centuries later, Paul's struggles are still an asset for every Christian; each one of us can say, "Well, if Paul made it, I can."

On Many Fronts
At the end of Paul's life he wrote those famous words, "I have fought a good fight." Our Scripture brings that statement down to cases.
What was Paul's fight?

To his Corinthian friends he tosses off a rather hair-raising list of adventures, disasters and calamities through which he had passed.
We don't need details. Just to name them is enough: famine, robbers, beatings, jail sentences, riots, three different shipwrecks . . . What a life! But Paul rode these things; they did not ride him.

Or again, there was his "thorn in the flesh." Nobody knows certainly what that was; but it was no doubt some kind of physical ailment or pain, and it did not go away. Pain is often far harder to stand than some exciting experience like a shipwreck. In the face of pain such as Paul suffered, one cannot fight back. All one can do is to take it. Yet Paul lived through it, too.

To the Philippians, again, he reports another sort of victory, though he makes no boast about it. He had conquered his besetting sin of conceit and pride. Paul was by no means a naturally humble man.
Yet when a man can write as he does in Phil. 3-4-11, it is plain that he had crushed pride down and out.
Perhaps Paul, like many another man, had found that his worst enemy was himself, his worst self.

Available Victory
TWO thoughts come to us from all of this. One is, that it takes a fight to make a man. That is to say if Paul had had a perfectly easy life, he would never have been the grand character we know. For him, and for many a Christian since, reverses, disappointments, suffering and pain, tragedy, sorrow and mistakes will contribute to creative spiritual experiences if these are met in the Christian way.

And, that leads to the other thought: The Christian way to power, the Christian secret of living a winning life every day, is today exactly the same as it was in Paul's day: It was:
the strength of God, "made perfect in weakness." The Christian never becomes God; but God's grace and power can live in the Christian.

To avoid letting tarnished silverware pile up until there's so much you have a big job to do, keep a piece of unbleached flanel in a jar with a little silver polish near the sink. When you're washing the dishes and an egg-stained fork or tarnished piece of silver shows up, take a few seconds to polish it clear, right there and then, and you may postpone a bigger job indefinitely.

To eliminate the odor from a kitchen knife that's been used to cut up onions, hold the blade over the flame of a match. Don't hold it too long, though, and don't hold it over a gas flame because prolonged intense heat will spoil the temper of the blade.

Kokomo Church Soon To Be Completed

The Community Church of the Kokomo community is soon to be completed. The church will serve as a community center for the people in the area.

Remodeling of the old Kokomo School is in process. Small rooms have been joined to form the sanctuary, auditorium or assembly hall. New rooms are being added for Sunday School Class or Departments.

It is hoped that the pulpit will be filled regularly each Sunday. Rev. Willie Skaggs is among those who have added to the spiritual and social uplift of the community. He preaches on schedule once or twice each month as he is able.

The project of remodeling has been given cooperative support by the people of the area and they are looking forward to an increased attendance and a wider program when the building is finished.
