Mules Edge Horns 7-6

Late in the last quarter of a long, grueling defensive battle, the Muleshoe Mules came from behind to slip by the Lockney Longhorns 7-6. Not stealing any of the 'Horns thunder, the Mules showed what kind of material they were made of, by digging in, adjusting and coming back from a first half that left them with a -1 yardage gained.

Two minutes into the first quarter after going 70 yards in 5 plays, Longhorn quarterback Jeff McCormick hit running back Junior McDonald with a 46 yard touchdown pass to put Lockney on the scoreboard for 6 - PAT by Villalon was no good. Mule Larry Norman was only inches away from intercepting that TD pass, but slipped and just couldn't reach it.

From that point on, it was a "swap-out" game, with each team extracting its toll from the other. Fumbles, interceptions and tough defense on both sides ended the first half with the score still 6-0 for the Longhorns.

Lockney Coach Sexton pulled all kinds of plays out of his hat - the pitch and go, sprint draws, long pass, name it and the Horns did it.

Coming back in the second half, the Mule squad was visibly re-juvenated. Boasting an already rugged defense, Coach Williams Angry Black proved to be the "fly in the soup" for every play the Horns came up with. They began man to man coverage and stopped the Horns big play up the middle. Mules also put the lid on Horn quarterback and pressured him on every play, returning the Horns defense in kind.

The Mules offense took hold and began moving the ball well, taking advantage of the surprize element. Both teams suffered some crippling penalties and made mistakes, but the second half was definitely the Mule's ballgame.

With 8:02 left in the fourth quarter the Mules began a drive from their own 49 yard line. Bulldozing his way over the goal line, Hector Orozco took the ball over for the Mule's first and only touchdown. Angely's PAT proved good and the Mules led the

Feed Grain Eligible For Entry In Grain Reserve

Secretary of Agriculture John R. Block today announced that farmers can immediately enter their 1981 corn, sorghum and barley crops into the farmer-owned grain reserve.

"It is apparent this year's harvest will reach record levels," Block said. "This makes it essential that we take action to relieve the pressure on the already depressed market prices. By opening this reserve, I believe we are offering farmers another option as they begin to make their marketing decisions."

Block said farmers with 1980-crop corn, sorghum and barley currently under a regular Commodity Credit Corporation price support loan also may immediately enter their grain into the reserve.

However, 1980 corn and sorghum previously entered in a reserve are not eligible for reentry, and neither year's crop of oats may be entered at this time.

Producers placing grain into the reserve will receive annual storage payments of 26½ cents per bushel, payable in advance. While interest on the loan will be charged during the first year the grain is in the reserve, interest will be

Family Farms Carry On With Tradition

The agriculture of America is the most efficient, most productive in the world and has helped bring about the high standard of living enjoyed by Americans. The family farm system is an integral factor in this productivity, with farmer-owned and controlled cooperatives playing a key role in making the family farm the highly productive system it has become.

This system depends upon the incentive for full output to give all Americans the abundant supply of wholesome food they enjoy on the supermarket shelves and on their tables on a year-round basis. Americans pay a lower share of their disposal net income for food than do the people of any other country in the world. This is due to the enormous efficiency of our magnificent agricultural plants managed by individual entrepreneurs known as family farmers.

Cooperative organizations make it possible for these family farmers to receive more dependable markets for their products and more dependable and lower cost supplies for their farm input. Hence, by helping to support and maintain a family farm system of agriculture, cooperatives are performing a great public service.

Farmer cooperatives have greatly benefited consumers also by taking the lead in furnishing quality products; in developing better packaging; in using

To eliminate the nematode problem, stay ahead of it. That's the advice of the manager of soybean research at a major seed development and marketing organization. Saying soybean cyst nematodes (SCN) are most often spread to new areas by contaminated equipment, the plant scientist strongly advised a thorough equipment cleaning this fall. Further, he recommends working an infested field last. He added rotation, resistant soybean varieties and nematocides will also assist in reducing damage. Before planting a resistant variety, however, he suggests checking the field to determine if SCN is present and its specific SCN race. Local crop production specialists or extension plant pathologists can test soil for the presence of SCN. And, to prevent field contamination, he advises always buy seed from a reliable source.

Horns 7-6 with 4:17 left in the game.

After one play, Longhorn QB McCormick got off a pass after heavy pressure from the Mules - only to have it intercepted by Larry Norman. Angely also had a big interception on the next Horn's series and from there on, the rest is history.

It was a hard fought 48 minutes for both teams and well-coached from both sides.

Williams commended the Mules for the fine character, attitude and determination they showed.

It would be next to impossible to single out any one Mule player as exceptional, for the Mules worked as a unit, however, it is said that a team is only as good as its coach and if that holds true -- it ranks Williams and his staff way up on the charts.

Craig began his walk from Los Angeles City Hall on July 17 and plans to land in Maine sometime in December or early January. His original target date to arrive was December 17, but he has encountered several days delay due to publicity coverage by radio and television.

fee swindle" says Price. This occurs when consumers read ads in magazines or newspapers offering them anything from new hair growth to instant weight loss for a small fee up front. Sometimes nothing is received in return for orders, and, sometimes what is received is virtually useless.

One scheme which might affect the Muleshoe area is the false billing scheme, which involves a fraudulent billing for articles never received, not ordered, etc. Price highly recommends that "consumers carefully check out any billing by unknown source before paying, as these sometimes slip by unnoticed."

The Inspector also cautioned against false medical schemes, as some of the products have definitely proven to be very harmful.

In ending his talk, Price stated: "If it (the scheme) sounds too good to be true -- it probably is. People must realize frauds for what they are and report any suspected fraud to the authorities."

Muleshoe Sophomores Complete Four Year Plans

Sophomores met with High School Counselor, Mr. Ben Gramling, during English classes on Wednesday, September 30 to complete tentative four-year plans. Mr. Gramling thoroughly discussed the importance of the plan so that each student would have an idea of what courses should be taken and the sequence in which they should be taken. College preparation was discussed in detail with suggested courses to be taken for various college entrances. He emphasized the need waived during the second and subsequent years. The current interest rate for CCC loans is 14 1/2 percent.

Under the program, farmers agree to keep their grain in reserve until the national five-day moving average market price for their commodity is at or above the reserve trigger release level of $2.55 per bushel for barley, $3.15 per bushel for corn, and $5.36 per hundred pounds for sorghum, or until the three-year reserve loan matures. When the release level is triggered, farmers may take their grain out of the reserve without penalty.

If the market price continues above the trigger release level after the initial release period (the remainder of the month in which release is triggered plus one additional month), farmers will stop earning storage payments. Interest charges, if previously stopped, will resume.

Earlier crop barley now in other farmer-held reserves may be transferred into the new reserve, Block said. Barley in these other reserves may not be held in reserve for more than five years from the date it was first placed in reserve, he said.

for advanced-level courses for certain areas and the importance of students having a background suitable for higher education later on in college. Students listed their plans for the future, the college felt they would like to attend, the specific occupations that were of interest to them. Mr. Gramling explained that these plans were for planning only at this stage. Although many sophomore students may think they know what they need at the present time, Mr. Gramling explained that plans can certainly be changed to meet future needs.

Along with the plans, Mr. Gramling discussed college life, requirements and expectations of various colleges, and things that Juniors and Seniors must do to make certain they have proper enrollment forms completed and housing facilities secured. He mentioned that items pertaining to certain colleges were usually handled at the end of the Junior year of High School and during the Senior year. He explained the many local scholarships available for which students could apply. He emphasized that good grades and behavior habits often were the instrumental assets necessary to

Energy Costs Have Farmers Looking For Alternative

Energy costs involved in pumping water as well as the depletion of the Ogallala may have High Plains farmers looking for alternatives to irrigated agriculture.

A three-year research project, headed by a Texas Tech University range and wildlife doctoral candidate, Kay Marietta of Crockett, could provide farmers with that alternative.

"Irrigated agriculture on the High Plains is becoming very expensive," Marietta said. "We want to provide an economic alternative land use to dryland farming by establishing permanent pastures."

On three experimental plots at Brownfield, Lubbock and the Montgomery Ranch at Post, Marietta has seven species of grass on three different sandy soils to determine which species is most viable on the High Plains.

"What we hope to do is suggest which species work best, when to plant and how to manage them for livestock production," she said.

Of the grasses, five are introduced species. The native grasses, sideoats grama and switchgrass, are improved selections which are commercially available.

The introduced grasses Marietta is working with include four bluestems from Asia and Russia and oane weeping lovegrass variety, a species native to South Africa.

qualify for many scholarships.

Mr. Gramling explained that each student had a file in his office for keeping records of college entrance examinations, plans for the future, and counseling information necessary to advise students. Students should keep in close touch with the counselor concerning their plans for the future, whether they plan to attend college, trade school, technical school, or end formal education after high school.

All sophomores were encouraged to begin thinking very seriously concerning their next two years of high school and their plans for education after high school. He explained that advanced courses offered in high school are designed to lay a solid foundation for courses of the same nature in college.

Each plot was seeded in May. Grasses at Brownfield and Lubbock are in excellent condition because of the amount of moisture those areas received this year, she said.

"This has been an excellent year for establishing good stands of grass. They could be ready for grazing next year," Marietta said.

The grasses, in general, are being tested for the length of time it takes them to grow for grazing purposes, protein yield levels, manageability and, eventually, what type of grazing scheme might work best.

When completed, Marietta hopes to suggest the grass which takes a limited amount of care and will be able to produce well just on rainfall.

Preliminary reports on Marietta's research should be completed by December.

"Since this year has been so wet it could make a difference in those results," she said. Similar plots will be seeded during the spring of 1982 to test the 12-month weather effects on the grasses.

Dr. Carlton Britton, major professor for Marietta's doctorate degree, said the pasture research will give Texas Tech the answers it needs when High Plains farmers start looking for alternatives to irrigated crops.

Permanent pasture grasses can help stabilize the soil and provide a perennial forage for livestock grazing.

"We want to be ahead of the event when a large portion of the southern High Plains may not be irrigated," he said. In addition to Marietta's work, Bob Masters, range and wildlife graduate student from El Paso, is pursuing water use efficiency of bluestem and weeping lovegrass varieties.

2. Divide 30 into your answer to Number 1. This was the approximate cost of your electricity per day. $ _____
3. How many people are in your family? _____

Boil sweet potatoes until tender, peel and mash. Add butter, salt and sugar to potatoes and blend thoroughly. Scoop out inside of apples leaving a margin of about 1/2 inch all around. Fill apples with mashed potatoes. Place in a baking dish and bake in an oven 325 degrees until apples are cooked, about 15 minutes. Place marshmallow on top of potato mixture. Return to oven and allow marshmallows to brown.

Sweet Potato Balls

- 6 sweet potatoes
- 3 T melted butter cream
- 3 T brown sugar
- 2 eggs
- 1 c chopped pecans.

Cook potatoes, peel and mash. Add well beaten egg yolks and enough cream to make whipping easy.

Add the butter, brown sugar, and a pinch of salt. Beat it thoroughly until mixture is fluffy, then add pecans reserving some for top. Fold in stiffly beaten egg whites. Put into buttered baking dish. Sprinkle with nuts and bake 30 minutes in an oven 350 degrees.

Plans for the PTA Halloween Carnival are now underway. We urge all mothers to participate by helping with their booths. All of the proceeds will go back into the schools for our children's benefit.

The first booth meeting was held Wednesday, October 7, at 9:30 a.m. at the XIT Restaurant. Each room mother was assigned their booth and new booths were discussed. If you are unaware what booth your child's room has, contact your room mother or grade representative.

If all mothers will participate, it will make for shorter shifts and better organization.

The annual Halloween Poster Contest started October 1, 1981. Students in grades kindergarten through fifth grade are urged to participate.

Each poster should have a Halloween theme and contain the following information: What: PTA Halloween Carnival, Date: Saturday, October 31, Time: 6:00 p.m. to 9:00 p.m., Place: Bailey County Civic Center, and The Costume Judging will be in the green room of the Civic Center at 6:00 p.m.

The students should have their name, their teachers name, and their grade on the back of the poster. All posters must be returned to the home room teacher by October 15.

Judging will take place on the following days and the winner will be awarded first, second, and third place ribbons.

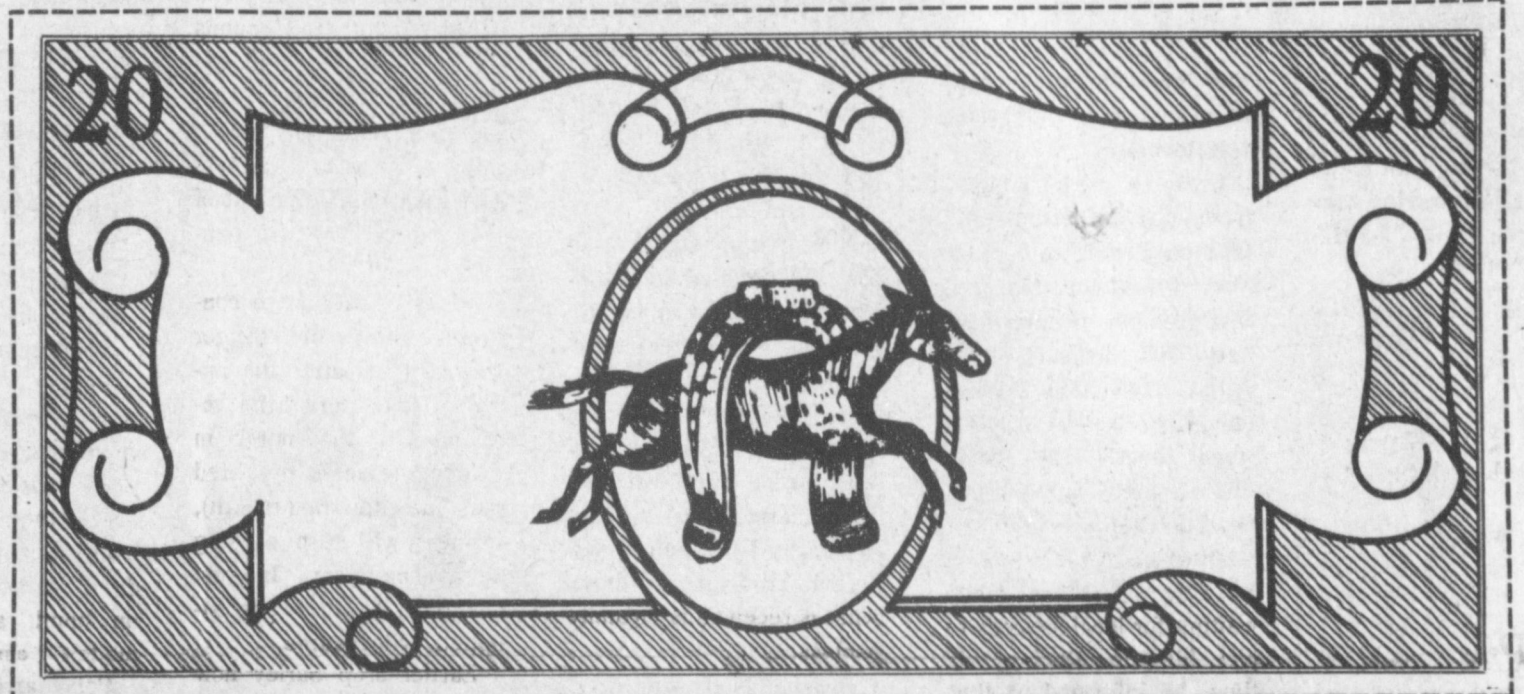

Synthetic fibers are hear sensitive, so set the iron on "low" suggests Nancy Brown, a clothing specialist.

Since these fibers are "thermoplastic" and easily can be melted or "heat-set," use a light press cloth to prevent problems, she says.

If you don't use a press cloth and the iron begins to stick, lift it immediately -- that's the first sign it's too hot, the specialist adds.

Brown is on the home economics staff of the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

DRUG QUIZ

by Curt Scarborough, Ph.D. Used by permission; all rights reserved by DATE, St. Louis, Mo. QUESTION - In 1964 the Surgeon General of the U.S. warned that cigarette smoking was dangerous to a person's health. Since that warning, the percentage of adult Americans who smoke has:

- a) Dropped from 40% to 32%
- b) Dropped from 75% to 68%
- c) Increased from 35% to 41%
- d) Increased from 59% to 65%

ANSWER - In the most recent report, Surgeon General Julius Richmond stated that 32% of adult Americans now smoke, down from 40% in 1964. He cautioned pregnant women that those who smoke have more trouble in pregnancy, abort more, and bear babies with higher mortality rates, lower weight, more birth defects and other problems.

He also pointed out that no "safe" cigarette exists. While low-tar and low-nicotine cigarettes offer some "limited" reduction in risk of lung cancer compared to brands high in those substances, there is little evidence that they reduce the other serious disorders linked to smoking - such as coronary heart disease.

of interest to VETERANS

The American Legion estimates that nearly nine out of every 10 war veterans will lose their entitlement to a $300 burial allowance from the Veterans Administration October 1 under budget cuts passed by Congress and signed into law by President Reagan.

Up to now, all honorably discharged war veterans, plus peacetime vets entitled to service-connected disability compensation, have been eligible. After October 1, only veterans entitled to service-connected compensation or nonservice-connected pension (based on total disability and limited income) will be.

In fiscal year 1980, VA paid the $300 burial allowance for 324,033 veterans at a total cost of $101 million. Cemetery plot allowances of $150 for veterans not buried in a national cemetery came to $42.8 million paid to 293,245 claimants. This benefit and free headstone and burial flag are not affected by the budget cut and continue to be available to all honorably discharged war vets.

The Sandhills Philosopher

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Creek looks at the national budget this week, somewhat. Dear editor:

It used to be that anybody who could come up with an idea for a new source of revenue for the government was welcomed with open arms in Washington, but now just the opposite is in style. Anybody who can figure out where to cut spending and stay elected is in demand.

The Pentagon has tried it. For example, it has cut the price of meals served officers in the building's private dining rooms. They can get a good meal there for about half of what they'd have to pay elsewhere. Who says military spending can't be cut?

Another department wants to cut the amount of milk served in school lunches.

If the situation gets desperate enough, somebody may even suggest cutting the amount of bourbon in a Congressman's mixed drink. His welcome in Washington won't be open-armed, but the budget has got to be balanced even if Congress isn't.

There's another suggestion that shows more ingenuity. Seeing that a balanced meal for school kids calls for at least two vegetables, somebody has suggested that if you analyze it catsup is essentially a vegetable, so french fries and catsup meets that requirement.

This line of thought contains the germ of an idea for balancing the budget. Everybody knows a dollar coming in is more appreciated and therefore more

"THEY'RE OFF"..... Approximately 400 runners competed in the Seventh Annual Allsup's Marathon in Clovis. valuable than a dollar going out. So, the way to show a balanced budget is to declare one tax dollar collected is worth two spent. There you have it.

When people talk about cutting spending they refer mostly to government spending, but cutting in the private sector ought to count too. For example, I read just last night that Americans spend one and a half billion dollars a year on cat food. I don't know what the figures are for dog food or food for canaries, parrots and pet coons, but there are all sorts of opportunity there for belt-tightening, or would be if manufacturers would stop making belt-less pants with stretch waistbands. Tightening your belt in that gear is like trying to pull yourself up by your boot straps when you're barefooted.

I have a notion I ought to leave budget-cutting to somebody else.

Yours faithfully,
J.A.

Gasohol Bill Could Be Impetus For Fuel Plants

AUSTIN—The gasohol bill recently passed by the Legislature "is just the impetus we need to get alcohol fuel plants started," said Agriculture Commissioner Reagan V. Brown.

The bill exempts alcohol fuels from highway taxes of five cents the first year. The amount will be reduced a penny every year until the sixth year when the full tax will be paid.

"These five years will allow producers to get their industry on a good footing," Brown said. "We are looking forward to some exciting, new developments in this field."

"A Texas alcohol fuel industry will mean savings for agricultural producers, and in the future to all consumers of gasoline," the commissioner continued.

"Gasohol production will give our farmers another market for their grain, and in the future for crops grown specifically for fuel production."

Earlier Brown criticized the Federal government for granting a $400-million synthetic fuels project to Union Oil of California for guaranteed purchases of jet and diesel fuel processed from shale oil.

Cooperatives Building A Better America

October Is Co-op Month.

CO-OPS: WHAT THEY ARE AND DO

Some 60 million people in this country use cooperatives -- about 50,000 of them. They do many billions of dollars worth of business each year.

WHAT IS A COOPERATIVE?

A cooperative is a business owned by its users. These users -- called members -- elect a board of directors from their ranks. A cooperative is a business where the money left after operating costs are taken care of belongs to the members.

Cooperatives operate under law, regulations and rules just as other businesses do.

WHAT DOES A COOPERATIVE DO?

FOR MEMBERS

Cooperatives do many things for many people. They can be places to buy, places to sell, places to get a needed service. Members use them to market farm products... obtain farm supplies, petroleum products and fertilizer... get groceries and other consumer goods... provide themselves with health, insurance, housing and other consumer-type services... obtain credit in the large amounts needed for operating farms and cooperatives through the Farm Credit System... get consumer-type credit through credit unions... provide themselves with electricity and telephone services in the rural area. Purpose of the cooperative is to make money for members, reduce costs for products they buy and provide better services and quality goods to them.

FOR THE COMMUNITY

Cooperatives not only put money in members pockets, they also add to the community's financial base. They provide jobs to local people who in turn buy goods and services and pay taxes; they pay for telephone, transportation and other services a business needs; they use hometown banks and stores; they pay all the local taxes other businesses do to keep schools, roads and like community needs going; they return money to members that in turn is spent in the community.

VA Medical Care Not Denied

Contrary to a previously published report, Veterans Administration head Robert Nimmo announced today that there is no plan to deny medical care to eligible veterans based upon an income test.

According to Nimmo, the recent unauthorized announcement apparently referred to a VA study which attempts to find an equitable means of complying with a congressional mandate to insure that veterans with non-service-related conditions are not given full medical care unless they are clearly unable to pay for such care themselves.

"Thus far," Nimmo said "no final income limitations have been determined, no final guidelines established, and no final decisions reached. It is clear, Nimmo concluded, that under today's budget constraints and the soaring costs of medical care the VA cannot continue to provide full medical care to all veterans regardless of eligibility. Whatever steps we ultimately take to contain costs will be carefully designed to insure that no veteran with a service-related condition nor any veteran in dire financial straits will be denied quality health care by the VA."

THE SPLENDOR OF THE Snow

Snow falls and puts a beautiful white blanket over the mountains, and even before this one is gone, others will fall. It will become deeper and deeper until the spring, when it begins to melt and provides life giving waters to many streams. These streams meet with others and become rivers and provide water for irrigation and lakes throughout our land.

Our Lord, Jesus has said that He will give to any that seek Him... "a well of water springing up into everlasting life." — John 4, 14

EVERYONE IN THE CHURCH
THE CHURCH IN EVERYONE

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long survive and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Farmers Advised On Cotton Harvest Aids

The cotton farmers' annual problem of deciding whether to apply harvest-aid chemicals to his crop is being complicated on the High Plains this year by the weather, reports the area cotton agronomist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service.

Harvest-aid chemicals prepare the cotton for harvesting by reducing foliage and plant moisture that would otherwise interfere with harvesting operations. In areas such as this where cotton is harvested by mechanical strippers, desiccants are needed. These are chemicals which kill the plant tissue and cause a rapid loss of water from the foliage.

Major factors in getting good results from desiccants are plant and weather conditions during and following application, said Dr. James R. Supak, the Extension cotton agronomist here.

"The percentage of open bolls is still the best guide in determining when to apply harvest-aid chemicals," Supak said. Normally, application of desiccants should be delayed until 80 to 85 percent of the bolls are open, he said. The remaining bolls on the plant should be hard to dent by pressure exerted between thumb and forefinger and too tough to cut easily with a sharp knife, he explained.

"Due to weather conditions, some cotton is opening prematurely and without uniformity," Supak said. He said this most common in portions of fields that appear heavily drought stressed.

The wilted plants in these areas contain some open bolls and some that obviously aren't mature but are already drying and cracking. In other areas of the same field, plants show less stress and there is less open cotton.

"Previous experience tells us that prematurely opened bolls tend to be less stormproof," the Extension agronomist noted. "Consequently if at least three-fourths of a field has 80 percent or more open cotton, it might be wise for the grower to apply a desiccant to allow earlier harvest."

If the "green" fourth of the field is positioned so he can work around it, the grower should delay treatment on that part of the field, Supak recommended. If it can't be worked around, treat the whole field, he said.

"Waiting for the green cotton to open could result in costly losses due to field weathering," he cautioned.

In stripper harvesting areas such as this, arsenic acid and Paraquat are the chemicals used as desiccants. "On the Plains," Supak said, "many farmers prefer Paraquat over arsenic acid because it tends to cause leaves to shed rather than stick on the plant."

The addition of Accelerate, an enhancer, to Paraquat or arsenic acid improves their effectiveness, reported Dr. Charles Miller, plant physiologist at Texas A&M University in College Station. Miller also found that under ideal conditions, in which 90 percent or more of the cotton is open and the plants are mature but not stressed, addition of Accelerate provides sufficient defoliation for stripper harvesting.

Supak recommended the following chemicals and rates for desiccation: 1 to 1 1/2 quarts of arsenic acid per acre; 1 to 2 pints of Paraquat per acre; 1 to 2 pints of Paraquat plus 1 to 2 pints of Accelerate per acre; or 1 1/2 gallons of sodium chlorate plus 1 to 2 pints of Accelerate per acre.

Pennwalt, one of the companies that manufactures arsenic acid, also has a state label which allows tank mixing 1 1/2 pints per acre of arsenic acid with 1 1/2 pints per acre of Accelerate.

"Some farmers already have called in to report that Paraquat at a rate of one-third to one pint per acre alone or with Accelerate generally failed to provide acceptable results in stressed cotton," Supak said. "This indicates that arsenic acid or the high rates of Paraquat will be necessary to desiccate this toughened cotton."

Supak also noted that a few farmers who plan to use Paraquat, but who failed to obtain a private applicator's license, are finding they cannot buy the chemical because it is a restricted-use pesticide. They may be able to obtain a special "single product, single use" certificate in emergency situations, he advised. This can be obtained through an approved dealer; the Texas Department of Agriculture, or county Extension agents who are certified and licensed as non-commercial applicators, he said.

Arsenic acid is not a restricted-use pesticide and can be bought even if the purchaser doesn't have a private applicator's license, Supak said.

Alan Cranston, Senator, (D-Calif.), on senators against AWACS sale: "We have presently 51 votes that we can count against the transaction... However, the president's very persuasive. He may be able to tip the balance the other way..."

Motorists Advised Watch For Trick Or Treaters

On Saturday, October 31, miniature monsters will invade the neighborhood and the cry, "trick or treat," can be heard throughout the land.

Major C.W. Bell, Region 5 Commander for the Texas Department of Public Safety, said today, "Motorists and parents need to take precautions to protect children and prevent disasters this Halloween."

He suggests that small children be accompanied by older children or adults and trick or treating be confined to their own neighborhoods.

Major Bell also stated, "Costumes should be light in color, short enough to prevent tripping and non-flammable. Facial makeup should be used instead of masks or hoods that restrict vision."

Children should be told to look in all directions before crossing streets and to walk, never run. A flashlight carried by the child can serve as a warning to motorists, and children should be instructed to use sidewalks when possible.

Motorists should use extra caution in residential areas and look for children crossing streets in a haphazard manner.

Major Bell stated, "If parents and motorists join together and think of children's safety, Halloween can be a safe and enjoyable evening for everyone."

Veterans Q & A

Q-- I'm enrolling in a correspondence training program and want to use the GI Bill. Will the Veterans Administration pay for the training?

A--Yes. VA will reimburse you for 55 percent of the cost of the training, effective Oct. 1, 1981.

Q--Is it true that memories of Vietnam still bother some veterans, and if so, where can they go for help?

A--Yes. Some veterans report that they still have flashbacks, nightmares, anxiety and depression from their service in Vietnam. Help is available at one of the Veterans Administration's Vet Centers. There are over 90 of these storefront counseling centers nationwide and more are planned. Check your local telephone directory for the address or call the nearest VA regional office for details.

Q--How can I get my VA disability check sent directly to my bank?

A--Simply fill out a government standard form 1199A at the bank where you wish to have the check sent.

Q--Where does an honorably discharged veteran apply for treatment for alcoholism or drug addiction?

A--Inpatient care for alcoholism or drug dependence is available at any VA medical center. There are also specialized treatment programs available at certain VA medical facilities. The nearest VA office will give you all the information about these programs.

Q-- I am a disabled veteran receiving 100 percent compensation from the Veterans Administration. Am I eligible for dental care?
A-- Yes. Veterans receiving compensation at the 100 percent rate for service connected disabilities may apply for dental care at the nearest VA medical center. ****

Home-making may be a lost art, but there's much to be said for the ancient custom.

Family Land Will Honor 61 Families

AUSTIN -- Sixty-one families have qualified for the Family Land Heritage Program, sponsored annually by the Texas Department of Agriculture to honor farm and ranch families who have owned their land 100 years or more.

A ceremony will be held in the Capitol Rotunda in Austin November 10.

The newest Family Land honoree brings the total number enrolled since the program's inception in 1974 to 1,453.

The oldest land being recognized this year will be the Little Burke Ranch in Bee County, founded in 1835 by Mrs. Ann Burke. The current owner is Mrs. Clara E. Wilson, Beeville.

Honorees will receive a certificate and a copy of the Family Land Heritage Registry. The publication contains a brief history of each farm and ranch and old photographs of families and their homes.

Not Love

"Your wife must be a very affectionate woman. Always kisses you when you come home."

"That's not affection. She just wants to see if I've been drinking."

PUMPKINS ANYONE?.....L.A. Green of Muleshoe is pictured here with a pumpkin weighing approximately 50 pounds. The 40 foot trailer load in the background weighed some 18,000 pounds and is on its way to Amarillo for sale.
