North Korea warns of U.S. maneuvers

GENEVA (AP) - North Korea warned Sunday that U.S. naval maneuvers off the Korean peninsula threatened to dash talks on opening the North's nuclear program to international inspections.

Talks between the United States and North Korea reconvened Sunday amid reports that differences between the two sides were widen-

Western experts believe North Korea has diverted enough plutonium from its nuclear reactors to make at least one nuclear bomb. Pyongyang insists its nuclear program is peaceful, but for more than a year has blocked international inspections it previously agreed to.

During two sessions that lasted nearly five hours, experts from the two sides discussed "the agenda" of issues before them, said a U.S. official, speaking on condition of anonymity.

Clinton extends U.S. hand for those needy

NEW YORK (AP) - President Clinton moved Sunday from Biblethumping politics in a Harlem church to the United Nations' world stage, extolling his military intervention in Haiti as "saving our neighborhood" for democracy.

The president, apparently buoyed by the sure foothold U.S. forces had achieved in Haiti, made no mention of the firefight in Cap-Haitien in which U.S. Marines killed 10 Haitian men Saturday night outside a police station.

Instead, he sounded the theme he will use in a speech Monday to a special session of the U.N. General Assembly: Democracy is on the rise, and the United States welcomes a helping hand from other nations not just in the Caribbean but in Bosnia and in other world hotspots.

Immediately upon switching gears, Clinton received Bosnia President Alija Izetbegovic, whose Muslim-led government feels be-Having accepted a plan to end the 2 1/2-year-old war in Bosnia, it watched in despair Friday as the U.N. Security Council relaxed some sanctions against Yugoslavia, rewarding Serbian President Slobodan Milosevic for promising to end weapons shipments across the border to Bosnian Serbs.

Teen-agers on path to death row for rape

HOUSTON (AP) - What was intended to be a night of roughand-tumble boozing and brawling, a routine gang initiation in a field beside a Texas bayou, took a twist when two teen-age girls wandered too near the young toughs.

Both were raped, viciously beaten, then strangled with shoe laces and a belt.

Last week, just 15 months after the crime, three of the youths were convicted of capital murder, joining two fellow gang members none yet 20 years old - on the path to Texas' crowded death row.

All five await death by lethal injection, punishment meted out by a citizenry "fed up with the expense of crime, the fear of crime, the devastation of crime and just the senseless nature of it," said Billy Bramlett, a juvenile delinquency expert and professor at Sam Houston State University.

Man's life getting lost in media frenzy

tragedy for the family and friends of the slain victims, it's a tragedy for O.J. if he is innocent, and it will be tragic if O.J. is guilty but set free because of technicalities or because of a biased jury. As difficult as it sounds for die-hard Juice fans or

The O.J. Simpson case is indeed a tragedy. It's a

KRISTIE avid Hertz renters, one can only hope that O.J. is DAVIS guilty of the heinous crime for which he is accused.

No innocent man should go through what he has gone through these last few months, and no innocent man should have to live with the stigma he will live with the rest of his life regardless of the outcome of the impending trial. But the guilt or innocence of O.J. is not for me to decide — not for me as a person who doesn't know all the facts, and especially not for me as a journalist who is paid to be objective in all situations.

There is a situation surrounding the O.J. Simpson hearings for which I do feel compelled to express my opinion, however — both as a citizen of these United States and as a journalist whose goal is to report the truth to the best of my abilities.

The media frenzy has gotten way out of hand, starting with the night a championship basketball game was preempted so that one network would not get "scooped" by another network on which exit the men in the white Bronco decided to take.

But it's only gone downhill from there.

Some editors and news directors who once prided themselves on not using anonymous sources, now use nothing but.

Station managers in Los Angeles embarrassed the hell out of themselves this summer when they had to publicly recant and apologize for a story about the discovery of a second bloody glove. For two days the station insisted it was correct in reporting the information and defended the validity of the information.

Then guess what moved over the wire one night — a public apology saying the station regretted reporting the information they now know to be incorrect.

It was only one station who reported the information, but the highly respected Associated Press reported that the station was reporting the information.

It's behavior like this that gives all journalists a bad name.

Then some journalists had the gall to send a media attorney into court to request photos of the slain victims — even though the journalists insisted they had no intention of printing the photos.

So why did they want to see them? Because they believed it was their right as journalists to see all evidence involved in the case. WRONG!

Obviously these folks forgot that journalists have no more of a right to information than any other United States citizen.

Their argument was made weaker by insisting the photos would not be printed.

What was the use? I think we all got a pretty good idea about what happened on the steps outside Ms. Simpson's home from all the bloody scenes we did see once the bodies were covered. And surely no one is ignorant enough to believe that, eventually, the photos would be seen by the American public, if not on some tabloid news magazine program then in some supermarket rag.

The journalists who hired the attorney to gain access to the photos are an embarrassment to all ethical journalists.

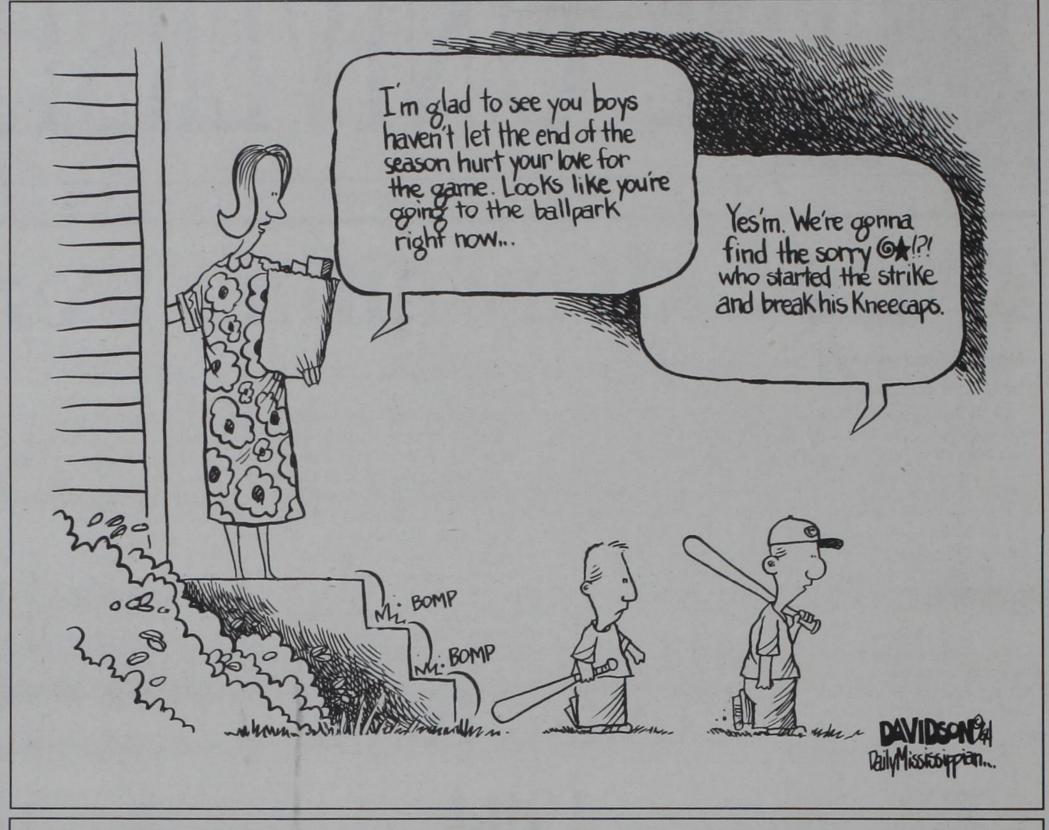

More recently, a Los Angeles television station was publicly criticized by Judge Ito for reporting news that the judge believed to be erroneous — news that could no doubt hinder O.J.'s right to a fair trial. Because of their behavior, the judge has threatened to kick all media out of the courtroom during the much-anticipated trial.

Thanks a lot for making life more difficult for those of us who take pride in our work. I'm sure the Society of Professional Journalists will keep that particular news medium in mind during its next big awards banquet.

What has been forgotten by those who believe the First Amendment means give me everything you've got or else, is that O.J. has as much a right to a fair and unbiased trial as media have to the information surrounding it.

Maybe more. After all, his life's on the line.

Tech beats SMU for first SWC win

BY BRYAN ADAMS THE UNIVERSITY DAILY

In Zebbie Lethridge's first start of the season, Texas Tech won its first Southwest Conference game of the year as it crushed Southern Methodist 35-7 Saturday at Jones Stadium.

All eyes were on Lethridge, who was making his first start at quarterback, during Tech's Homecoming game as he accounted for 73 yards on the ground, three touchdowns, one rushing and threw for 148 yards.

"I felt very comfortable," Lethridge said. "The offensive line gave me good protection all day. They played hard for 60 minutes. We've been working hard all week. This was certainly a big step for us."

The offensive linemen weren't the only ones who "played hard for 60 minutes." The Tech defense forced three turnovers including two interceptions, one by middle linebacker Zach Thomas.

"I guess I'm just getting lucky," said Thomas, who picked off his teamson early in the second quarter. "We on 20 carries. had a great defensive plan going in. I was thinking, is there any better feeling than watching a team come from behind on the road and winning? I know that I picked Michigan, but it was a great ending to the game. For those who missed it, here's what happened. Saturday, Colorado goes into the fourth quarter down 12 points to their hosts from Michigan. With just 14 ticks on the clock, Colorado got the ball back inside its own 20-yard line.

On what could be the college play of the year, Kordell Stewart dropped back and heaved the ball a good 70 yards. The ball was tipped and landed in the arms of Michael Westbrook for the touchdown and the win.

I know Michigan and Colorado are top 10 teams, but it might not be too long before we see this kind of confidence out of Tech.

It is amazing watching how fast the offense has developed. From start to finish against SMU, fans saw the offensive unit grow Freshman Zebbie Lethridge drew his first start at quarterback and responded by leading the Raiders to three touchdowns during the game. He wasn't alone though. Fellow freshmen Dane Johnson and Sheldon Bass, along with veterans DuBuc and Jerod Fiebiger, all tallied their first career scores.

Bass' and DuBuc's scores only can help the confidence of the wide receivers. If the offense can keep up the confidence they gained Saturday and the defense can continue its success from the last two weeks, then the Raiders might challenge for the Cotton Bowl.
