Oh, Rats! Another Unwelcome Visitor

When you invite a visitor into your home, it's usually someone whom you know and like to be around. But there's one visitor you seldom see and don't want even though you provide him with the run of your home and all the comforts which you enjoy. That visitor, says the Texas Department of Health Resources, is the rat. Just as surely as if by invitation, you welcome the rat into your home by providing harborage and food -- the two necessary ingredients for infestation of any premises. This may come as a surprise to most persons, since Texas and the United States have long prided themselves on being highly sanitized. But, let's take a look at the problem to determine whether you may be guilty of encouraging rats. A rat must have food to exist. If you have a cat, dog or other pet and overfeed it -- leaving scraps around -- the rat can survive quite well. Grain is another standard diet of rats and mice. What about that bird feeder? Is it constructed so that grain spills onto the ground or so placed that a rat can climb onto it? And how about your garbage can? Is the lid tight, or does it fit loosely? Do you always keep the lid on the can? The answers to these questions may give you a clue as to why there are rats around. Now, for the harborage requirement. Rats take up residence in sewers, in piles of junk and lumber, in heaps of boxes and leaves, in storage sheds, in the attic or under your house. Have you heard strange noises in your walls or attic? It could be rats scampering around. With winter upon us, rats are more prone to seek shelter in the warmth of someone's home. You'd be surprised just how little space they need to squirm through a hole -- around a water or gas pipe or ventilator duct -- and get into your home. If the hole isn't big enough, they'll enlarge it with their sharp teeth. Then they'll head for your kitchen pantry. In addition to health hazards from rats, which transmit many diseases, rats love to chew on things, including electric wires which produce short circuits and fires. Texas participates in rat reduction programs, and many cities have rodent control activities through Model Cities Programs. Local health departments direct programs in other cities. The Public Health Education Division and General Sanitation Division of the Texas Department of Health Resources cooperate in offering help in insect and rodent control. A rodent control school was just completed in Amarillo and may be the forerunner of others in the state. And, the City of Brownsville, through its Health Department, has conducted an extensive rodent control program. These are but examples of the activities being conducted throughout Texas. And you as an individual can take a big step in rat control by taking away harborage and food. Rats now share the dwelling places of 12 million Americans and bite 14,000 of them every year. Rats have made sections of every major city their own, and now they've headed toward the suburbs. One of the invaders is the Norway rat, also called the brown rat, house rat, barn rat, sewer rat and wharf rat. This species is highly destructive and prolific and accepts human beings as part of its environment. He also is aggressive. The Norway rat likes nothing better than to use the works of man for food, shelter and warmth. Technology is partly to blame for the increase of this rat. Sewers are the rodent's haven and his highway. New products like the home garbage disposal are the nicest things that ever happened to him, pouring out a bountiful and well-balanced food supply. The high-protein content characterized by more affluent neighborhoods is particularly enticing. At least 300 U.S. cities have critical rat problems today and almost as many communities need help. In many large cities, rat-infested buildings have increased sharply. A Department of Health Resources rodent expert sums it all up: "We know we can go in and kill rats," he says. "But for an all-out effort, homeowners must take away the food and harborage."

Girl Scout Cookie Sale Begins Soon

Girl Scouts from eighteen area counties, affiliated with the Caprock Girl Scout Council, will have their annual cookie sale starting at 4 p.m., Friday, January 28, according to Mrs. Buster Owens, president of Caprock Council. Five flavors of cookies will be sold: Lemon Creme, Chocolate and Vanilla Creme, Scot-Tea, Mint, Savannah, and a new cheese "Cheddarette" cracker. Owens said the sale will be ending February 13, and profits will be used to support troop activities and council program activities including maintenance and improvement of Camp Rio Blanco, a year round camp site east of Crosbyton. Gifts such as posters, patches, T-shirts, and camp scholarships will be given to each Girl Scout who sells specified number of cookies. Members of the cookie sales committee include: Mrs. Billy Fisher, Mrs. Billy Hall, Mrs. R.P. McElroy, Lubbock; and Mrs. George Poulson, Lorenzo. Manufacturing More Important In Texas the big manufacturing states. Only about two-thirds of its industrial production comes from manufacturing, most of the rest being oil and gas. Nationwide, manufacturing accounts for close to 90 percent of the industrial production.

But manufacturing is taking on new importance in Texas. For all the increase in demand, production of Texas crude oil has increased little over the past ten years. Production of natural gas has declined.

With oil and gas prices up, income from petroleum has climbed. But as reserves dwindle, reducing the capacity to produce petroleum, more of the physical output from Texas industry will have to come from manufacturing.

Manufacturing has done well in taking up the slack. That has been true in recession and recovery.

During the recession, output from manufacturing fell nationwide by more than 17 percent. In Texas, the drop was less than 12 percent.

At the peak just before the downturn, output from Texas manufacturing was running 35 percent higher than the 1967 average that provides the base for the seasonally adjusted Texas industrial production index prepared by the Federal Reserve Bank of Dallas.

That was well above the national average. Nationwide, manufacturing had increased a little over 32 percent since 1967.

At the trough of the recession, manufacturing in Texas was still nearly 21 percent higher than the base. Across the country as a whole, manufacturing had lost all but a little over nine percent of the gains made since 1967.

So far in the recovery, manufacturing in Texas has continued to stay well above the national average. Not until August, a year and a half after the downturn, did the country approach its previous peak in manufacturing output. But in Texas, manufacturing was fully recovered in a year, passing its previous peak last March.

With gains since, manufacturing in Texas has been pushed to new heights. About 37 percent higher than in 1967, production now is about 14 percent higher than at the trough.

Nationwide, manufacturing has increased 19 percent since the trough.

But as the recession in manufacturing was more severe for the nation than for the state,

Congressman Designated As Speaker

Congressman George Mahon, representative of the 19th District, has been designated to act as speaker pro tempore of the House of Representatives on Inauguration Day. Mahon, dean of the Congress in Point of Service, will preside over the house and will lead the members of the house to the Inauguration Ceremony.

Earlier this week, Mahon was reelected by the Democratic Caucus as chairman of the House Committee on Appropriations, the largest committee in the house.

half after the downturn, did the country approach its previous peak in manufacturing output. But in Texas, manufacturing was fully recovered in a year, passing its previous peak last March.

With gains since, manufacturing in Texas has been pushed to new heights. About 37 percent higher than in 1967, production now is about 14 percent higher than at the trough.

Nationwide, manufacturing has increased 19 percent since the trough.

But as the recession in manufacturing was more severe for the nation than for the state,

... Ian Smith, Rhodesian Prime Minister, returning home from Geneva: "I heard a few new ideas and I like them no more than the others I heard from the British."

output over the country as a whole still averages only 30 percent higher than in 1967.

The upshot has been that where the nation's industrial production fell 14 percent during the recession, the decline in Texas was only eight percent.

Tough petroleum accounts for far more of the industrial production in Texas and demand for domestic petroleum is up sharply, production in Texas fields has been too weak to make the difference. It was manufacturing that had the strength to brake the recession decline in Texas industry.

When the recession began, the state's industrial production was 31 percent higher than in 1967. At the trough, it was 20 percent higher.

Nationwide, industrial production was not 30 percent higher than the base when the recession came. And it fell to a level less than 12 percent higher. Since then, even with gains in manufacturing coming faster for most of the country than for Texas, the nation has just barely regained its previous level of industrial production.

But in Texas, where manufacturing was not set back as much as in the rest of the country, industrial production has been brought a little higher than before the recession.

ENMU Named NOCTI Test Center Base

The vocational technical services division of Eastern New Mexico University has recently received notification that the University has been designated as a National Occupational Competency Testing Institute (NOCTI) Center.

Eastern and Purdue University are the only universities designated this year by the NOCTI Board of Trustees at their annual meeting during December in Houston.

The Testing Center will primarily provide occupational competency testing for trade and industrial education teachers in New Mexico, west Texas, southern Colorado, and Arizona.

It is anticipated by NOCTI that the Eastern University center will be utilized in the future by industry and possibly military installations in the area.

Don Wilson, trade and industrial teacher educator at Eastern, will serve as the area test coordinator.

Most people will do anything for money, except work.

Most people who are in a hurry have nothing else to do.

Safe Drinking Water Legislation Supported

Governor Briscoe's Water Resource Conservation and Development Task Force at its mid-January meeting voted unanimously to support the designation of the State Health Resources Department to a primary role of enforcement for the federal Safe Drinking Water Act.

Gus Herzik and Dave Cochran of the Department of Health Resources told the Task Force that the state must either shoulder the responsibility of enforcing the Act or the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) will do it.

Cochran said the interim standards will be in effect for 18 months - after June 24, the beginning date of enforcement. "Most of the provisions of the new law are already in force in Texas, however higher standards on natural fluoride and nitrates will affect numerous systems, mostly small towns, in Texas," said Cochran.

Task Force Chairman James M. Rose, executive director of the Texas Water Development Board, called for reports from the federal policy and programs committee headed by David Brune of Arlington, general manager of the Trinity River Authority.

Rose and Brune recommended that all Task Force members meet in Washington, D.C. in early March to visit with new administration officials in the Department of the Interior and Bureau of Reclamation, the U.S. Army Corps of Engineers, and the Water Resources Council. The Task Force members also plan to meet with the Texas Congressional delegation.

The group intends to discuss Texas' water resource development projects and plans with the federal officials.

Task Force member Hugh Yantis, executive director of the Texas Water Quality Board, proposed the Task Force adopt a resolution to send to Governor Briscoe strongly objecting to the recent Carter Administration transition team report recommending a review of numerous water projects, several of which are already under construction. Texas projects included Palmetto Bend, Lakeview Reservoir, Tennessee Colony Reservoir, Taylor's Bayou, and Wallisville Reservoir.

State Policy and Programs Committee Chairman Walter Wells of Waco, general manager of the Brazos River Authority, said his committee will take a close look at the mitigation policy being developed by the Intergovernmental Council on Natural Resources and the Environment (ICNRE).

"After the ICNRE meeting on January 24, we will take a close look at the policy and present our recommendations to the Task Force for action," said Wells.

Owen Ivie of Big Spring, manager of the Colorado Municipal Water District, reported the committee on financing water resource development which he chairs has been discussing alternate financing methods other than the present Water Development Fund structure and will have recommendations for the Task Force at a later date.

Rose updated Task Force members on the meeting of the High Plains Study Council held in Dallas January 7. "This six-state Council adopted by-laws and will formally apply for $1.2 million of Economic Development Administration funds for the first year's study of the depleting Ogallala Aquifer which supports so much of the irrigated food and fiber production in Texas. Governor David Boren of Oklahoma was elected chairman of the Council and A.L. Black of Friona, chairman of the Texas Water Development Board, was elected vice-chairman," reported Rose.

Governor Boren named Rose to chair a committee to draw up the application and write the guidelines for operation of the study. The EPA has been authorized by Congress funds totaling $6 million to study the economic effects of the depletion of the Ogallala Aquifer in Texas, Oklahoma, New Mexico, Colorado, Kansas and part of Nebraska.

Arthritis Myths Can Hurt You

The myths and folk tales surrounding arthritis can really hurt people when they prevent sufferers from getting proper care, according to Dr. David Mills, Chairman of the Medical Committee for 1977, West Texas Chapter, The Arthritis Foundation.

LCC Reunion Is Scheduled February 12

Reunions for the classes of 1962, '67, and '72 will be part of Homecoming at Lubbock Christian College on February 12. The day's activities will get underway with a get-reacquainted session over coffee and donuts at 9 a.m. Other activities will include a special ex-students chapel, crowning of the Homecoming queen, presentation of the outstanding ex-student, an alumni baseball game and the concluding performance of Master Follies, the annual musical extravaganza in which campus social clubs compete in song and choreography.

Homecoming will conclude with the 8 p.m. basketball game against Midwestern University. Former students wishing to reserve seats for the Master Follies performance or the Homecoming game should call or write LCC at 5601 W. 19th, Lubbock, Tex. 79407, (806) 792-3221.

the optimum treatment can be initiated.

To get all the facts straight, Dr. Mills suggested writing for a free booklet, "Arthritis - The Basic Facts", available from the West Texas Chapter's Division office at 1940 - 34th Street, Lubbock, Texas 79410, (806) 747-5125.

Over 3.5 million Americans have become handicapped in this way. Yet, with proper modern treatment, a great deal can be done. Pain can be alleviated. Much and sometimes all crippling can be prevented. Crippling which already has occurred can be greatly reduced and corrected through selective surgery, Dr. Mills points out and added that the patient should see his physician in the earliest stages of the disease for proper diagnosis of the nearly 100 types of arthritis. Only then

A REASON FOR EVERYTHING

The giraffe was given a very long neck and legs so that he could feed on the leafy part of trees. The giraffe is the only animal that can not make a sound. We do not know the reason for this. God has revealed many things to us, but not all things. Men delve deeply into theology and find many things that cannot be answered, but God has given us the answer to all things pertinent to our salvation.

Attend church, study God's word and grow in faith.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

Mrs. Burton Final Rites

On Saturday

Funeral services for Barbara Burton, 54, were at 10:30 a.m. Saturday in the Trinity Baptist Church with Rev. David Everts, pastor, officiating. Mrs. Burton died at Methodist Hospital in Lubbock Wednesday, following a lengthy illness. Burial was in Muleshoe Cemetery under direction of Singleton-Ellis Funeral Home of Muleshoe.

Mrs. Burton was born May 7, 1922 in Lead, S.D., and moved to Muleshoe in 1925 from Lead and lived here until a year and a half ago when she moved to a half acre home and a housewife and formerly operated a handcraft store in Muleshoe. Barbara Burton was a member of Trinity Baptist Church in Muleshoe, the Muleshoe Rebecca Lodge and the Muleshoe Hobby Club. Her husband, Kenneth, preceded her in death in 1962. Survivors include one son, Darrell Burton and two daughters, Mrs. Sheryl Jackson and

Mrs. Jackie Clift, all of Lubbock; two sisters, Mrs. Marlene Harper, Clovis, N.M. and Mrs. Patsy Diaz, Dallas and four grandchildren.

David Clarke Funeral Held In Oklahoma

Funeral services for David Thomas Clarke, 74 of Oklahoma City were held at 1 p.m. Thursday, January 13, in Bill Eisenhour Southeast Funeral Home with burial in Memorial Park Cemetery in Oklahoma City.

A brother of Henry T. Clarke of Sudan, Clarke died Monday, January 10, in Veterans Hospital in Oklahoma City following a lengthy illness. He was born in Altus, and moved to Oklahoma City in 1955. A carpenter, he was a World War II Navy veteran and a member of American Legion Post 35, and Harmony Hills Tabernacle.

Other survivors include his wife, Cordie; six daughters, two other brothers, two sisters, 19 grandchildren and five great-grandchildren.

Never base your opinion on a one-sided presentation of any subject—unless you want to be wrong.

One of the peculiar things about truth in general is that it requires very little argument to support itself.

Agriculture Credit Tightening

Although agricultural credit conditions are still generally good in Texas, things are tightening up a bit, according to a recent survey of bankers and other lenders.

The survey, conducted by Dr. Wayne Hayenga, economist with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, showed that during the past six months, more potential farm loan customers could not be served, loan repayments were lower, and more collateral was being required.

More than half of the 149 agricultural lenders who responded to the survey indicated that they had larger outstanding agricultural loans than a year ago, and 26 percent indicated serving more farmers and ranchers while 10 percent noted serving fewer customers. Demand was up for operating loans, machinery loans and crop storage loans but down for feeder cattle loans.

As far as interest rates were concerned, a two-tenths to three-tenths percent drop was noted in feeder cattle loans, real estate loans and operating loans during the past six months. Feeder cattle loans averaged 8.74 percent, real estate loans, 8.20; and operating loans, 8.64.

Looking ahead, the majority of the lenders felt that both short-term and long-term interest rates would remain stable for the next six months, points out Hayenga.

Regarding feedlot loans, 58 of the lenders reported an average margin requirement of 34 percent and only 17 percent a compensating balance that averaged 14 percent, the same as last May. Hedging of feedlot cattle appeared to be higher than six months ago.

The survey also showed a big increase in forward contracting of crops, notes Hayenga. Lenders reported 36 percent of their borrowers contracted part of their crop compared to 27 percent last May. A change in contract terms was also noted—55 percent of the contracts were on an acreage basis and 45 percent on a quantity basis compared to 42 percent and 58 percent, respectively, last spring. And most lenders prefer that borrowers contract about half their crop.

Hayenga points out that the survey also indicated that lenders are taking a harder look at loan applications. They noted that 66 percent of their borrowers furnished past profit and loss statements and 64 percent provided a projected cash flow statement or operating budget, both up from 50 percent a year ago. "This means that farmers and ranchers had better get their loan documentation paperwork in order," emphasizes the economist.

Hayenga also notes that the survey showed farmers and ranchers using borrowed funds for just over half of their operating expenses and for 62 percent of the capital investments. Off-farm income was used for 10 percent of both operating expenses and capital investments.

Although an increased number of lenders had more customers than they could serve during the past six months, more than a fifth of the responding lenders indicated they were actively seeking new farm and ranch loans. However, Hayenga notes that loanable funds may be tighter during the first half of 1977 because loan-deposit ratios increased above "normal" at 37 percent of the banks while decreasing at only 15 percent.

Marine Private Benito Perez At San Diego

He participated in an active physical conditioning program and gained proficiency in a variety of military skills, including first aid, rifle marksmanship and close order drill. Teamwork and self-discipline were emphasized throughout the training cycle.

He joined the Marine Corps in August 1976.

Revised Water Plan Hearing Is Discussed

A public hearing on the revised Texas Water Plan will be conducted by the Texas Water Development Board February 18 in Lubbock in conjunction with the 10th Annual Membership Meeting of Water, Inc.

The hearing will provide the public an opportunity to comment on the TWDB's water plan revision which is expected to be released shortly. The hearing will be conducted at the Lubbock Hilton Inn. Water, Incorporated's Annual Membership Meeting has been set for February 19 in the Hilton Inn.

Water, Inc., President J.W. Buchanan said the public hearing should provide an extra incentive for Water, Inc., members to attend the Annual Meeting.

"The hearing will give residents of the High Plains a chance to review the proposed revisions and to make sure they meet the needs of this area and of other sections of the state," Buchanan said.

"Good attendance and participation at the hearings will show the Water Development Board we are committed to finding additional water resources for the High Plains," Buchanan said. "A good turnout at the Annual Meeting the next day will help reinforce that commitment."

U.S. Rep. Jack Hightower will be one of the featured speakers at the Annual Membership Meeting. Water, Inc., is a non-profit organization which seeks alternative water resources for the High Plains of Texas and New Mexico.

PLANT SUNFLOWERS IN 1977? YOU BET!!!!

Sunflowers can provide more than twice the net income of dry land milo and can help spread the risk for these farmers who are afraid to plant "turn row to turnrow" cotton.

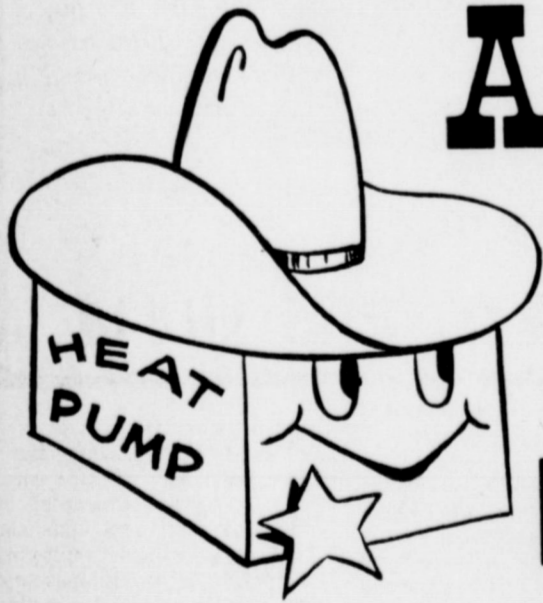

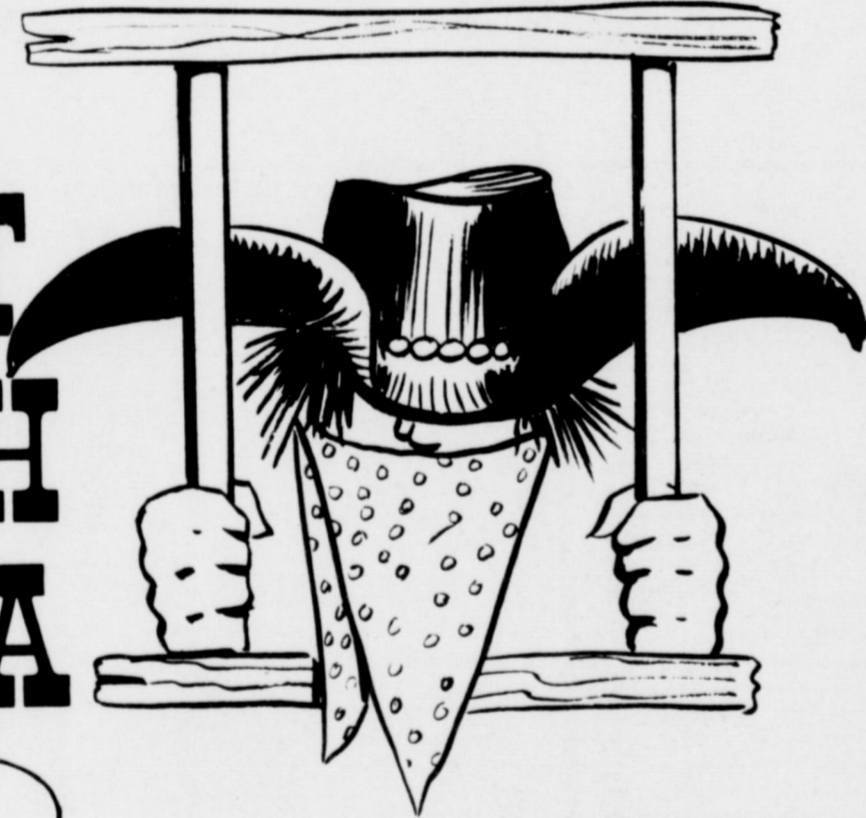

You are only considering sunflowers in event of a hail or late rain on dry land? We must establish a permanent annual base acreage for sunflowers in order to attract northern buyers. Northern growers receive as much as $12.40 per hundred in the fall of 1976.

I am considering operating a facility to handle sunflowers with contracts with northern buyers located in either Sudan or Amherst. We can work together to receive the highest price possible for our sunseed. For additional information call:

The heat pump is a home heating system that actually captures heat that would otherwise be wasted. The electric heat pump actually squeezes warmth out of cold outside air and uses that warmth inside your home.

The Lost Heat you pay for is a real villain, but you can turn him into a good guy with an electric heat pump. Call The Electric Company for complete information on the electric heat pump. It saves energy, saves money.
