Research aids funds

■ Investigations help students get scholarships by Laura Hipp

Research at the undergraduate level in math and science enabled three Texas Tech students to win scholarships.

The students received the Barry M. Goldwater Scholarship for students majoring in math and science.

Richard Lombardini, Tom Kerr and Lara Wiggins won the scholarship for their research at the Howard Hughes Medical Institute at Tech. Students submitted an essay about their research for the award.

Lombardini, a sophomore chemistry major from Lubbock, won the scholarship for his research about how the small intestine contributes to the regulation of glucose levels in the blood.

"We are basically trying to understand more about the processes involved in the small intestine," Lombardini said.

Without the undergraduate research offered by HHMI, it would have been difficult to win the scholarship, he said.

Kerr, a junior cell and molecular biology major from Snyder, worked with Richard Blanton, Tech assistant professor of biological sciences in the College of Arts and Sci-

"I would not have gotten the scholarship without the HHMI program," Kerr said.

Kerr worked with cellular slime molds, and the project was about two proteins in the mold and their function.

"We are beginning to understand their function," he said.

Lara Wiggins, a junior cell and molecular biology major from Lubbock, won the scholarship and was recently published in the scientific journal Nature.

Students must write an essay about the research they are working on in the lab, Wiggins said. Tech's HHMI gives members the opportunity to have research experience.

Wiggins' essay was about effects of Chernobyl on mice.

"There are so many questions to ask," she said. "At this point, we haven't found any changes, but the research is not complete."

The research focused on dealing with chromosomes that might be affected by radiation from the meltdown 10 years earlier, she said. Wiggins will work on the project while at Tech.

Amanda Wright, a senior cell and molecular biology major from Clovis, N.M., won the scholarship last year and co-wrote the article in Nature. The results from the research in the lab were submitted to Nature, Wright said. They found an increase in the mutation rates of rodents living in the area near Chernobyl.

"There was a significant increase, more than has been documented before," she said. "We have no clue what is causing it, but we assume it came from meltdown."

Credit for student-operated UD goes to top notch staff

MEGAN CLARK

UD editor

Usually the last column The University Daily editor writes is left for fond remembrances of his or her experiences at The UD before he or she moves onto their fulfilling career in the real career world.

My column, however, is not.

This is not my last semester at The UD. I'll be returning as the editor again next year. And, believe me, I will take the experiences I've had this year into another year in the same

And some of the experiences I've had have been total extremes. I owe everything I learned this year to the people I work with.

I never stepped foot into an emergency room until Friday night when a group of us from The UD hightailed it to University Medical Center to be with TechLife editor and UD summer editor Kirk Baird.

About 8:15 p.m. Friday, a group of us from The UD, and a couple individuals who are not staff members, headed home from dinner at China Star and noticed the fire trucks pulled up alongside Kirk's garage apartment.

It seemed like two strides before our group was there asking the fire marshall and media crews what had happened.

No one is certain what started the fire beneath Kirk's apartment. But, fortunately, he dashed through flames to safety, with minor burns to his head, hands and legs, and was taken to UMC for treatment and observation.

He was lucky, and all of us at The UD are lucky to have him. And we're lucky to have the other 20 other staff members, too. Without all of them, The UD would never be in the stands each morning for students and faculty to pick up, read and enjoy.

Being the editor of The UD means you get a lot of the glory. Yes, I certainly get my fair share of complaints, too, but when the compliments roll in, they usually only come to me.

That's not fair. There are 21 people on The UD staff and each of us has a particular job that is of extreme importance. From section editor to apprentice, The UD would not be complete without each individual's input, energy and enthusiasm toward their job.

And our lives would not be complete without each other.

Not only are there 21 different people working at The UD, but 21 different personalities, too. It's not easy working together all the time, sometimes 24 hours a day, seven days a week, but we reap our rewards.

We all share friendship and a professional working relationship — well, most of the time.

But regardless of the ups and downs, ins and outs, disagreements and controversies, The UD staff gets its job done and gets it done well.

This is my thank you to my dedicated, understanding, outstanding, award-winning staff. They've done a great job. And most of them will be ready to do it again next year, with me in tow for another wild ride.

Fire results in loss of Tech student's home, possessions

■ Firefighter gives students safety tips by Carrie Kilman

The University Daily

Texas Tech student Kirk Baird was injured Friday night in a fire that destroyed his home and most of his belongings.

Baird, the 1996 summer editor of The University Daily and a senior journalism major from Dallas, suffered first-degree burns on his legs, hands and face.

Baird was talking on the phone in his upstairs garage apartment, 2019 16th St., Friday about 7:30 p.m. when the smelled smoke, he said.

He thought it was the air conditioning unit, but after turning off the A/C, break a window and jump out, jump the still smelled smoke.

Treadwell said the first thing students should do in case of fire is find an escape route and worry about calling 911 later.

"That house is a good example," he said.

"If he'd called 911 from the inside and then tried to escape, it would've been too late. He wouldn't have made Lubbock fire fighter Donnie Wren said the fire was one of the worst fires to occur in the Lubbock area in a while.

"When we got there, there wasn't any way to get up to the second story," said Wren, who works at fire station No. 1. "It was a total loss."

About 15 firefighters worked to extinguish the fire, and the last of the crews left about 10:30 p.m., he said. The wood structure of the apartment and blowing wind could have contributed to the building burning down as fast as it did.

Firemen from station No. 1 were the last to arrive on the scene, Wren said. When they got there, 60 percent of the building still was in flames.

Wren said he recommends every household plan different emergency escape routes.

"If the house is full of smoke, you can get disoriented really easily," he said. "The route you're used to is the the route you're going to take in an emergency."

Careful planning ahead of time can prevent someone from panicking, which is the worst mistake someone can make in situations like this, he said. Careful planning includes having an operating fire alarm to avoid unnecessary injuries.

"I challenge anyone to think of anything better under the fiery circumstances I faced," he said. "You realize things are going up pretty fast and don't really have time to think about it."

Baird said he is no stranger to dangerous situations.

of Longview, Texas is currently looking for college graduates who are Christians and desire to be challenged by working with kids from around the country. These kids are struggling with life issues and are currently living with us in our residential counseling center located in the piney woods of East Texas.

Heartlight is a ministry dedicated to work with families and kids who have been victimized or caught in crisis situations. These young people come and live with us for a year. During that time, we work intensely with each child, grow to love them dearly, struggle with them, and commit to helping them through their individual and family issues.

We have twenty-four kids here at a time, counsel from a Biblical model, are athletic and "outdoorsy" by nature, use horses and water sports to enhance our relationships with the kids, require the families to be a part of the healing process and are dedicated to a spirit of excellence in all that we do.

Full-time salaried beginning positions are available beginning the end of this May. If you would be interested in finding out more about Heartlight and the possibility of you joining our staff, please give us a call at (903) 668-2173 and we'll send you information including a video explaining the ministry and a job description defining the position.

Talladega presents crash-marred race

Elliott's Ford Thunderbird got airborne twice after spinning coming out of turn two on lap 78. Elliott was conscious when airlifted from the infield care center to Birmingham for surgery.

His car sailed 10-15 feet in the air with its nose up. It landed on its wheels, and the rear was swept over the nose as it went airborne again. The car slid backwards to a stop after crashing down again on its tires.

Elliott pulled down his window flap and waved. Team members collected his racing uniform and helmet while Elliott was transported to the hospital. He was scheduled to have surgery on his leg Monday morning, Freeman said.

Elliott has been named NASCAR's most popular driver an unprecedented 10 times. The Dawsonville, Ga., native won the Winston Cup championship in 1988 and holds the qualifying and race record for speed at Talladega.

Another melee involving 14 cars on lap 130 sent several contenders to the garage and stopped the race with a red flag for 53 minutes while a retaining fence was repaired. It was the fifth caution flag of the race.

Ricky Craven was the only driver that suffered more than minor injuries from that accident. He complained of back pain and was airlifted to a Birmingham hospital. A CAT scan and X-rays both were negative, and Craven was in stable condition in intensive care, Talladega spokesman Jim Defending Winston Cup champion Jeff Gordon was squeezed into the wall in turn one, leaving charging Mark Martin nowhere to go.

Martin's car slammed into the wall and spun back across the track into the path of several cars.

Craven's car flipped several times and rolled against the fence above the retaining wall just before turn two, sheering much of the metal from the Cars driven by Gordon, Ernie Irvan and several others also were damaged heavily. Gordon's crew had to pull his Chevrolet Monte Carlo off a flat-bad wrecker to begin working on it.

"I couldn't turn left, and I was trying to get on the brakes," Gordon said. "There just wasn't enough time."

Though no one was pointing fingers, Rusty Wallace was miffed at being forced to the garage.

"There were cars getting clipped in the front, cars getting clipped in the back," Wallace said. "There's a lot of gutsy drivers out there."

Race-winner Sterling Marlin escaped damage and led after the restart.

The 14-car melee happened at about the same spot where Jimmy Horton's car sailed over the wall in the 1993 DieHard 500. The fence that held Craven's car on the track was erected following that crash.
