DYESTUFFS COME HERE BY U-BOAT

BALTIMORE, July 10.—Captain Paul Koenig, commander of the submarine Deutschland, made an official announcement this afternoon, in which he said that several other giant submarine merchantmen will soon follow his ship to the United States. The first of these undersea liners will be the Bremen.

The captain said the trip was uneventful and when danger approached his vessel they dived under the surface. He was not in a position to give full details of the voyage because of the advantage such information would be to the allies.

The Deutschland has a displacement of two thousand tons with a speed of fourteen knots. Captain Koenig says bountiful crops are evident all over Germany, Austria-Hungary, Bulgaria, Turkey, Serbia, Montenegro, Albania, and part of Poland. Food conditions in Teutonic possessions were good he said.

BY CARL D. GROAT, United Press Staff Correspondent.

BALTIMORE, Md., July 10.—A big German cargo of dyestuffs from the submarine Deutschland was anchored here this morning, ending its journey from Germany. A specially prepared and strongly guarded dry dock of a commercial shipping company received the U-boat in the Baltimore harbor. The shipping company ostensibly backed the ship on its voyage to the United States.

The Deutschland arrived here with nearly a thousand tons of dyestuffs, for which American color works had been clamoring for many months. This steamship line now proposes to establish regular service of ocean going cargoes on submarines between this country and Germany.

RIO JANEIRO, July 11.—Newspapers say here in this morning's issues that State Chancellor has been informed that a sister ship of the Super-submarine Deutschland, which arrived on the American coast Sunday night, is now crossing the Atlantic and will arrive here within ten days. The Deutschland brought 1000 tons of dyes and chemicals, and it is reported that the coming submarine is bringing another such like cargo for the manufacturers of the United States.

DEUTSCHLAND TO RETURN WITH CARGO

Newport News, July 11.—Plans have been completed for bringing the Deutschland here where it will complete loading a cargo for the return voyage to Germany. It is believed that the departure will be sooner than was at first indicated by the officials of the German Lloyd, under whose directions it is believed the undersea merchant ship is being operated.

U-BOAT EXPECTED SOON

BALTIMORE, July 12.—The United Press learns officially that the Bremen, a sistership of the German super-submarine Deutschland, is now at sea and is making good time towards the American port. The time of the arrival of the ship is being guarded with careful secrecy, but it is believed that it will arrive within two weeks.

MEXICAN FIGHTING INCREASING

EL PASO, July 12.—An army of Carrancistas under General Garcia, attacked the Villistas under Generals Contreras and Palizo at Sombrerete, Durango, today. Last reports received at Juarez says the battle is still raging.

Unconfirmed reports received here say that General Enriquez has been sent by Obregon to replace Trevino who was captured by the Villistas.

EL PASO, July 10.—Mexicans who refuse to join Villa are being branded by the Villistas, according to a report received by Gen. Gonzales at Juarez this afternoon. All Mexicans who refuse to enlist in the Villista army are branded by cutting off the top of the ear. Gen. Gonzales received the information through reliable sources and reported the matter to the state department this afternoon. The report reaching Gonzales headquarters says that several hundred Mexicans in Southern Chihuahua have already been branded.

Gen. Gonzales has also received a report saying that a large Villista force is moving toward the Big Bend country and that a revolt has occurred in the Carranza ranks at several places, indicating a Villista victory south of Jimenez.

EMBARGO OFF ON MEXICO.

El Paso, July 10.—Among the latest developments in the Mexican situation was the lifting of the embargo on foodstuffs and fuel to Mexico. It is believed that large quantities of foodstuffs which had accumulated at border points will be now rushed across the border to their destination.

MEXICO CITY, July 11.—As an evidence among officials that it is believed all danger of war with the United States has passed, employees of the various government departments who were being drilled for military service, have been ordered to discontinue training. If the situation continues to improve all other persons who volunteered for service will be instructed to discontinue training and return to their homes.

MEXICAN NATIVES JOINING VILLA.

Columbus, July 11.—According to reports brought here by motor truck drivers returning from Pershing headquarters in Mexico, hundreds of natives have deserted the village of Guerrero and other towns and are joining a new army which they have been told would lead personally by Villa against the gringos.

The motor truck men say that rains have already made traveling very difficult in Mexico and the drivers fear complete tie up of motor transportation if the rains continue.

SAN ANTONIO, July 12.—The war department informed Gen. Funston that Gen. Bliss was en route to the border and would assist in arranging the militia in a tactically way along the border. Up to date only the New York and Pennsylvania troops have been given patrol duty. All others being held in camp at the various mobilization border points.

LOVE AFFAIR LEADS TO SHOOTING---ONE MAY DIE

G. W. Harmon is in the Ballinger jail and Minet Sims is near death's door, and may be dead by the time this is in print, as the result of a family quarrel and shooting scrape at Wingate, in the northwest part of this county, about eight-thirty o'clock Wednesday morning.

A report of the trouble reached the officers at Ballinger over the telephone shortly after the shooting occurred, and County Attorney Shepherd and Sheriff Perkins were arranging to go to Wingate when a telephone message stated that the man doing the shooting was in the custody of the deputy sheriff and who was en route to Ballinger.

C. P. Pruitt arrived here about noon with G. W. Harmon, and turned him over to the sheriff. Minet Sims was carried to Merkel as soon as an auto could be secured, and those who saw him say there is no probability of his recovering from the wounds received from two loads of number four shot fired from a shot gun in the hands of Harmon.

The only account of the affair which The Ledger has been able to get is told in Harmon's own words in a statement he made before being placed in jail, and is as follows:

"I have a wife and five children.

JUDICIAL SHOTS; THEY HIT THE MARK

1. Judge Goodwin has twice defeated Judge Woodward for District Judge. The third time, which will be on the 22nd, will be a charm.
2. When a case is reversed, on account of the errors of the District Judge, the tax payers pay the cost.
3. Why it is, we never hear of the record made by Woodward when he was District Judge?
4. Fifty-one per cent. of the cases appealed when Judge Woodward was our District Judge were reversed. Tax payers who paid the cost?
5. The fellow that is OUT is always a two-terminer. Judge Woodward was running for his third term when Judge Goodwin defeated him. Woodward, since this defeat, has become a two-terminer. If he had been elected each time he ran, this would be his fifth term.
6. Judge Woodward held office for sixteen consecutive years, the office of County Attorney, District Attorney and District Judge. How can he complain of Judge Goodwin holding office for the same length of time?
7. Woodward says: "Pass the office of District Judge around." Woodward has been helped to that office twice, so let's wait and pass it to a man that has not been served, if it is to be disposed of in that way.
8. The record of Judge Goodwin places him among the best District Judges of the State. He has had as few reversals as any of them.
9. When Judge Goodwin tries a case it is so well tried that it is seldom a case is appealed.
10. There is not a case on appeal to the Higher Courts from the District Court of Runnels County. How does that strike you, tax-payer?
11. Every time a case is appealed, the tax payers pay the cost. Everytime a case is reversed the tax payers pay the costs.
12. Judge Goodwin's District is composed of Brown, Coleman, Runnels, Concho and McCulloch Counties. There is not a case on appeal from the three last named counties.
13. Judge Goodwin's District has about one-fifth of the population in Texas. The population, wealth and business of each of these counties has more than doubled since he went on the bench, yet the terms of court have not been lengthened or the cost increased.
14. Judge Goodwin has not a single criminal case in the higher courts.
15. Judge Goodwin has but five civil cases pending in the Court of Civil Appeals. If every judge in Texas could make such a showing we could do away with seven of our Courts of Civil Appeals.
16. Unless some new point of law or some close question is involved, it is becoming more and more seldom that cases are appealed from Judge Goodwin's Court.
17. Chief Justice Brown, when asked to suggest a remedy for the crowded condition of the dockets of the higher courts said, "Put your best lawyers on the District Court bench and keep them there. Appeals and reversals are caused by incompetent District Judges. We have the man on the bench that fills the bill and should take Judge Brown's advice and keep him there."
18. Judge Woodward says: "Sixteen years is long enough for a man to hold office." He held the office of Judge eight years and the people told him it was long enough. How long a man should hold an office you see, is owing to the man.
19. If you have a good horse would you trade him for one that you had tried and found balky? You tried Woodward eight years and he had over half of his cases reversed.

Goodwins Answer to Woodward's "Warning"

The eternally suspicious have a right to be suspicious. The righteous man has no cause to fear the truth. It would be preposterous to think that I would publish anything at the eleventh hour or at any hour except the plain TRUTH and cold FACTS. Any other course would be suicidal to me or any other candidate. Judge Woodward has had every paper in the District at his disposal for months, in which he might have announced any existing facts that would constitute any valid or logical reason why heshould be elected District Judge and he has not done so because no such reasons exist.

There is yet some seven or eight days in which any mistatement of facts that I might make could be corrected, and his warning, implying that I would publish other than facts, is an insult to the intelligence of the voters of this District.

Read the facts in this issue.

The names and ages are as follows: Gazzie, age 18; Edmond 17, Ethel 16; Esmel 13; Gispert 12. I live on the Frank Teague place one mile west of Wingate. On the morning of July 12th I was in my tent on the place where my family reside, and I heard a conversation between my daughter Gazzie and her mother about a transaction that was alleged to have occurred on the night of July 11th. My wife was reprimanding my daughter about letting Minet Sims put his arms around her and kissing her. When I learned the drift of the conversation I too began to chastise my daughter because I thought she did not tell her parents soon enough and because I did not like company she was keeping. While talking with my wife and daughter with my back towards the east, Minet Sims approached me from the rear and began cursing me. The first thing I remember hearing him call me was a d—

I then turned in his direction and as I turned and faced him he pulled his knife and opened it and stepped right close to me. Then I told him to leave the place and never come back again. He said he would not do it until he got good and ready, and I said "yes you will, and you will go now," and I shoved him back. Then he cut at me with his knife. I went in the tent and got my gun. I came out on the south side of the tent, went around to the northwest corner of the tent when I saw him about thirty yards distant and I shot him. He was walking in a northwesterly direction when I shot him. When I started to shoot he stopped and commenced cursing me. He did not fall when I shot him. Frank Teague was present and witnessed the shooting.

Harmon is a man of about fifty years of age. He has been living in the Wingate country about two years, and at the time of the trouble he was working for Frank Teague, a farmer who lives near Wingate.

Harmon will be held pending the outcome of Sims condition, and as soon as a preliminary trial can be had, or the defendant waives such proceedings, bond will be fixed and it is thought he will be able to make bond and will be released under bond to await the action of the grand jury.

After shooting Sims, Harmon surrendered to the deputy sheriff at Wingate, and requested that he be brought to Ballinger at once.

WOUNDED MAN BROUGHT TO BALLINGER

Minet Sims who was shot and seriously wounded by G. W. Harmon at Wingate early Wednesday morning, was brought to Ballinger late Wednesday afternoon and is in the Halley & Love Sanitarium. It was stated in The Ledger that the young man had been carried to Merkel for medical attention and this was the original plans of friends of the young man, and this was the report sent to Ballinger. It was later decided to bring the man to Ballinger and friends reached here with him after the paper giving an account of the tragedy had gone to press.

The latest report from the sanitarium says that it is feared the man will not recover. The two loads of shot penetrated the side and stomach, and the young man has been spitting up blood.

In giving his side of the story of the trouble Sims says he did not intend to harm Harmon, and his only purpose was to intercede in behalf of the young lady and if possible prevent the father from whipping her. Harmon in talking with friends regrets the trouble and says he hopes that Sims will recover.

KNOCKING ON WILSON

BERLIN, July 12.—Sentiment here for renewing submarine warfare was made stronger today when a liberal member of the Reichstag delivered an address, and accused President Wilson of using his influence against the German nation. The speaker said that President Wilson was doing all that he could do to declare war on Germany, and said that Hughes could not do worse than this if he was elected president of the United States. The liberal member also said the war against England was unlimited.

"At present our navy is held in a network of notes," said the liberalist, "and what could the United States do if submarine warfare was renewed. She couldn't raise army to help the allies. Carrying on an unlimited sea warfare we could sink six hundred thousand tons of shipping monthly and paralyze England and win this fight."

Judge J. O. Woodward Issues Warning Against Eleventh Hour Campaign Matter

To the Voters:—I have been informed that my opponent, Judge Goodwin will publish in the papers some campaign matter concerning me, the nature of which I don't know. I warn you against this eleventh hour method of campaigning; and as I will be prevented, because of the want of time, from answering same, either through the press, or on the stump, I want you to know that whatever he may publish can be successfully and truthfully answered to the entire satisfaction of the voters of this district.

This eleventh hour method of publishing campaign thunder is an unfair method, and gives no opportunity to make a reply. He will not inform me of the contents of it, in order that I may have an opportunity to answer the same in the papers or on the stump, between now and the election.

FEEL BILIOUS? CALOMEL SICKENS! CLEAN LIVER AND BOWELS MY WAY

I guarantee "Dodson's Liver Tone" will give you the best Liver and Bowel cleansing you ever had.

Stop using calomel! It makes you sick. Don't lose a day's work if you feel lazy, sluggish, bilious or constipated, listen to me!

Calomel is mercury or quick-silver which causes necrosis of the bones. Calomel, when it comes into contact with sour bile crashes into it, breaking it up. This is when you feel that awful nausea and cramping. If you are "all knocked out," if your liver is torpid and bowels constipated, or if you have headache, dizziness coated tongue, if breath is bad, or stomach sour just try a spoonful of harmless Dodson's Liver Tone.

Here's my guarantee—Go to any drug store and get a 50 cent bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone. Take a spoonful tonight and if it doesn't straighten you right up and make you feel fine and vigorous by morning I want you to go back to the store and get your money. Dodson's Liver Tone is destroying the sale of calomel because it is real liver medicine; entirely vegetable, therefore it cannot salivate or make you sick.

I guarantee that one spoonful of Dodson's Liver Tone will put your sluggish liver to work and clean your bowels of that sour bile and constipated waste which is clogging your system and making you feel miserable. I guarantee that a bottle of Dodson's Liver Tone will keep your entire family feeling fine for months. Give it to the children. It is harmless; doesn't gripe and they like its pleasant taste.

CATTLE TICKS AND THE TWO-COW MAN

WASHINGTON, July 8.—Organized county action is the only way by which the small landholder and the man with a few cows can obtain the benefits of tick eradication. In many cases the big stockowner can afford to build his own dipping vat and, irrespective of what his neighbors are doing, can keep, to some extent at least, his herd comparatively clean. For the man with a cow or two this is out of the question. He must either keep on feeding the ticks or get rid of them thru his county's voting for systematic eradication under Federal supervision and in accordance with prescribed regulations.

The second alternative is much the cheaper. Dipping costs the individual, in his capacity as cattle owner, nothing but the labor of driving his cows to the dipping vat and home again. As a taxpayer, he is of course interested in the money the county appropriates for building the vats, for filling them with arsenical baths, and for the other expenses incidental to the work. This sum, however, is relatively very small. Reports from four counties recently released from Quarantine in Alabama show that in them the tick was eradicated at a total cost to the county of from 19 to 25 cents for each head of cattle. No guarantee, it should be said, can be given that the work will be done at these figures, for the cost necessarily varies with the number of cattle in each county and with other local conditions, but even under the most unfavorable circumstances, the expense is far less than the benefits.

The reason is simple. A ticky cow does not produce as much milk as a tick free one and, in consequence, the farmer does not have as much to sell. The amount of the reduction caused by the tick has been ascertained in government tests to vary from 18 to 42 per cent, depending upon the severity of the infestation. Even a few ticks, therefore, may render the keeping of cows unprofitable. If such a condition is general thru out a community, a cooperative creamery is an impossibility for an abundance of milk is essential to the economical and successful operation of such an institution.

PRAIRIE FIRE BURNS 500 ACRES GRASS

Robert Herring lost about 500 acres of good grass Friday afternoon, and for awhile it looked like he was going to lose a great deal more. It was the heroic work of the fire fighters who checked the flames which were destroying acres of good grass. Fortunately it was a still afternoon, no wind blowing at the time, or there would have been greater loss. When the fire first broke out there were only a few men near to fight the flames and a phone call to the city was responded to by quite a number of autos loaded with people. The fire had been practically extinguished when the Ballinger fire fighters arrived on the scene. The fire is supposed to have been started by a Mexican, who was at work digging post holes, dropping a match in the grass, after lighting a cigarette. There is great danger of prairie fires now. The grass is rank in some places and has matured, and burns rapidly when set on fire.

RUNNELS COUNTY FOR SUBMISSION

TO THE VOTERS OF RUNNELS COUNTY:

As Democrats we believe the voters of Texas should have the right to vote on state wide prohibition. The liquor interests are flooding the state with literature and making an effort to defeat the submission question which will be presented to the voters in the primary election to be held on July 22nd.

It will be remembered that in the state wide prohibition election of 1911 the anti's won by the small margin of 6,297 out of a total vote of 468,389, and this after the question was in doubt for several days following the election, and the juggling of returns from South Texas border counties.

The liquor interest can read the hand writing on the wall. They realize that if this question is ever submitted to the voters again, Texas will be voted dry, and the liquor interest forever banished from the great Lone Star State.

To nip the prohibition move in the bud the liquor interest with their political henchmen are spending thousands of dollars to defeat the submission question in the primary. The work is being carried on in a quiet way in order to keep from agitating the question and prevent the polling of a big majority for submission. Circular letters are being mailed to political leaders in every county. Labor organizations are being urged to use their influence to defeat submission, the liquor interest claiming that prohibition agitation will defeat needed labor legislation, etc. When did labor interest become as intensely interested in the welfare of the laboring man?

Whether the voters of this county are in favor of local option or state wide prohibition, or not, every pro should go to the polls on July 22nd and vote for submission, because the defeat of submission in this county would encourage the calling of another local option election as soon as the time would permit. There is no doubt but what this county will roll up a good majority for submission, but the majority, like the local option majority should be convincingly large.

Immediately following the pledge on the primary ticket the submission question will be printed. It reads as follows: For an amendment to the constitution providing for statewide prohibition.

Against an amendment to the constitution providing for statewide prohibition. Scratch the bottom and leave the first and you can't go wrong.

TO THE PEOPLE WHO ELECT A TAX COLLECTOR

Gentlemen—In making the race for re-election to the office of tax collector, I have not been able to call on you in person and solicit your vote. This is not because I did not want to do so, but as most of you know a recent law governing the collection of delinquent taxes has placed upon me the duty of compiling a new delinquent tax record and sending out notices to all delinquents. In order to do this I have been too busy to make a canvas and see the voters.

However, I do not feel that my friends will scratch my name on July 22nd just because I did not call on them and solicit their vote. I feel that the performance of my duty to the tax payers should come first. You know me, you know what kind of an officer I have been, and to get out and renew my pledges to the people and solicit their vote again would be taking the time that I must use in filling the pledges heretofore made.

I am using this method of soliciting your vote, and to remind you that I will appreciate most fully everything my friends do for me in this race. Without bragging, I want to say I have been faithful to the trust you have placed in me, and my record as a tax collector stands for itself. It would have given me pleasure to visit among my friends during this campaign, but office work has prevented this. I had rather be true to the trust the people have heretofore placed in me and suffer defeat than to have it said that I had neglected my work. On this kind of a platform I solicit your vote.

CHECK FORGER IS CAUGHT AT ABILENE

Sheriff Perkins caught a man wanted in this county for forgery in rather a coincidence way this week. A young man passed a check on a Talpa bank for about $105 several weeks ago, signing the other fellow's name to the check, and made his get away. The man was traveling under the name of Willard Jones, and had been working for Rube Bowland, who resides on the east line of Runnels county, and he signed Mr. Bowland's name to the check.

Sheriff Perkins got busy on the case and had a description of Jones printed and mailed it out to fellow officers over the state. He had not been able to get a trail of the forger, and was about to give it up as a lost case, when a few days ago Sheriff Dodson of Abilene, passed thru this city en route to his home from San Angelo, where he had been to get a prisoner. While spending the time between trains here with Sheriff Perkins, Mr. Perkins said something about Jones, and asked Mr. Dodson if he received one of his circulars giving a description of Jones, and proceeded to tell Mr. Dodson something of the case. Mr. Dodson informed the Runnels County sheriff that he did not receive the circular, but he had a man in jail suiting the description and was holding him on a charge of stealing an auto. This led to further investigation and Tuesday of this week, Mr. Bowland and Mr. Perkins went to Abilene and identified the man as Jones, and he confessed to the crime.

It seems that after forging the check Jones went to Abilene where he stole a Ford car and skipped out to some point in Oklahoma. En route he picked up a partner and confided in him of some of his recent transactions, including the stealing of the auto. It was while trying to dispose of the stolen car at a mere trifle that Jones was apprehended by the Oklahoma authorities, and an investigation caused the new made friend to give Jones away to the officers, who communicated with the Taylor County authorities, and in a short time Jones was landed in the Abilene jail. As soon as Jones answers to the charge of stealing the auto at Abilene he will probably be brought to Ballinger and tried for forgery.

When the Runnels County sheriff and Mr. Dodson called on the man he broke down and began to cry and acknowledged that he was in bad. It developed that he had a wife and a child, a little boy, in West Virginia, and he had written them a most pitiful letter and had it ready to mail. The man gave the officers the letter and asked them to mail it for him.

SANDERS ENGINE PLOWS

The World's Standard Engine Plow

Attaches readily to all makes of Tractor Engines—Recommended by all Tractor Companies

SANDERS ENGINE PLOWS are built in all popular sizes. From 3 to 10 disks. Three sizes of disk blades—24, 26 or 28 inch. We furnish extra heavy blades for extremely rough work.

Can be set to cut 6, 8 or 10-inch furrows per disk blade. Will plow from 7 to 10 inches deep depending on size disk used. One piece solid steel frame. Large one-inch bolts throughout. All plows adjustable to engine drawbar. Plows turn either to the right or left trailing your engine perfectly. Large lift springs on both levers make handling easy. Adjustable scrapers. Self-oiling wheel boxes. Chilled disk bearings. Easy to attach. Simple and easy to operate.

SANDERS ENGINE PLOWS should be attached in pairs or triples and not singly. You can attach your plows and do better work with two fours than with one eight disk. Two fives are better than one ten disk. Distribute the load across your engine drawbar and avoid side draft. Don't overload your engine. Speed is what counts when plowing. If you contemplate buying any make Tractor write us and we will tell you what size Engine Plows you should buy. Eighty per cent of the Engine Plows sold in Texas in 1915 were SANDERS. There's a reason for this. Let us tell you why this was so. We know the Engine Plow business right. Our experience is yours for the asking.

They cost you no more than the old fashioned, unimproved kind. Ask for the SANDERS. We carry the SANDERS ENGINE plow regularly in stock. We want to show them to you.

NEGRO ARRESTED FOR FORGERY

City Marshal Pilcher made a catch this week when he located and placed under arrest a negro wanted in Brownwood for forging a check for about six dollars. The negro purchased several dollars worth of clothing from a Brownwood dry goods house and presented the bad check in payment, receiving the difference in cash.

Hugh Davis, sheriff of Brown county, notified the officers in the neighboring towns, and was successful in the arrest made here by Mr. Pilcher. Mr. Davis came up Wednesday morning and carried the negro back to Brownwood.

PREDICTS RENEWAL OF SUB. WAR

By United Press
 BERLIN, July 12.—Von Terpitz supporters predict the overthrow of Bethmann-Hollweg, the champion of the conciliatory policy towards the United States, and the unloosing of the German submarines and renewed attacks on merchantmen within three weeks, unless President Wilson takes some action to break the British blockade.

Members of the conservative party and those favoring the annexation of the territory conquered by Germany, join in the forecast, and announce that the opinion of America in such matters will be disregarded.

The attacks on the Chancellor are gradually growing bolder since Prince Von Buelow's book "Deutsche Politik" appeared, because the book is believed to be the opening of Buelow's campaign to oust the Chancellor and step back into the position he occupied until succeeded by Bethmann-Hollweg in 1909.

will place the graduate in a position where his first two or three months salary will reimburse him for all necessary tuition and board paid for the course. The graduate seeing that he can now earn $3.00 where before he could earn but $1.00 will soon admit that if he had had to borrow every cent of the money to pay board and tuition, that it was the best investment he ever made.

Traffic is unusually heavy on northern roads, which means additional help in all departments. The Union Pacific Railroad is urging young men to learn Telegraphy. They call on us for from 12 to 20 men every few months, which we are unable to fill owing to the great demand for help on the southern roads. Enroll now for a course of Telegraphy and help us supply the demand for operators and clerks next fall.

With the famous Byrne Simplified Shorthand and Practical Bookkeeping, and our practical way of teaching Telegraphy and Railway Station Work, we give the student a more thorough training, in half the time and at half the usual cost of a course in other schools teaching other systems. This is conclusively proven by the indorsement in our catalogue from those who have attended other schools and studied other systems. We conclusively prove every statement we make, and that is why we have the largest business training school in America. The United States and Mexico will hold another conference. A good way to postpone hostilities.

The citizen with his Democracy on crooked will not read the pledge on his ticket when he goes to participate in the primary.

The stockmen are busy dipping cattle for the eradication of the cattle tick. The voters will hold a big dipping on July 22 to eradicate the poly-tick.

Carranza may not be as good as some other men, but he is a wise old "guy."

Every boy and girl should learn to swim and be able to take care of themselves when caught in deep water.

For failing to send in their assessments several candidates for state offices will not be given a place on the election ticket in this county. They seemed to have overlooked the fact that the fellow who dances must pay the fiddler.

Starving women in Mexico crying "God send the gringos" gives us an idea of the real condition prevailing in that country, and we believe the prayers will be answered.

The people have voted for it, and it is to be hoped that the commissioners court will get busy spending some of the fifteen cent road tax money. There are some mighty rough places on the roads leading into Ballinger.

The question of repealing the Robertson Insurance Law has been passed up to the voters in the Democratic primary. While the party, or the legislature will not be instructed by this vote, it is a straw ballot to determine the sentiment of the people. The Robertson Insurance Law is a good law, and we hope that the Democrats will vote for its retention. Briefly the law which the starving women were reported praying, "God send the gringos."

There may be a postponement of hostilities, and the war cloud may blow over entirely, but we do not think so, nor do we believe the administration thinks so. Preparations are still underway, and thousands of troops are being rushed to the border.

We realize the horrors of war, we regret that we must have war, but it is certainly no fault of ours that there must be war. It's a dirty job, but somebody must do it, and until Mexico is cleaned up there will be no peace.

DIVERSIFIED OPINIONS ON COTTON CROP CONDITIONS.

Some people are quick to howl, while others remain optimistic under most trying condition. At this particular time (while this is being written) there is more or less anxiety about the rain question, and the cotton crop outlook.

Rain is acceptable almost any time in this country, and it is seldom that a man "croaks" because we are having too much rain, and there is no use denying the fact that rain is needed now and badly needed. Yet, there is no cause for alarm, and the calamity howler should be requested to keep his howler off the job, because it has not been a half dozen years since this country passed through a drouth that when compared to the present moisture condition would make this look like a flood, and the people "survived", and today the country is in the best condition in its history—look at the autos.

While it is dry, and feed crops have deteriorated fast during the last few days, with rain in the next week or two there will be ample time to make bumper fall feed crops, and this we predict will be accomplished where the people use proper methods in farming.

This is cotton making time. July, August and September is when this county produces millions of dollars worth of cotton.

MORNING NEWSPAPER BURNS AT BROWNWOOD

E. B. Henley, an insurance man and real estate man from Brownwood, arrived in Ballinger at noon and reported the loss of the Brownwood Herald, a morning newspaper at Brownwood, by fire. The plant of the Herald had just been installed, the paper making its first appearance about one month ago. Everything in the plant was new, including a Goss press, and it was one of the most modern plants in the small daily towns of Texas.

The Herald does not issue a Monday morning paper, and there was no one in the office Sunday night when the fire started, and the origin is unknown. Mr. Henley stated that he did not know how much insurance was carried on the property, but he judged the loss to be more than the insurance. The fire was confined to the building occupied by the newspaper plant and the adjoining property escaped with only slight damage.

KAISER IS CALLING FOR BULGARIA

ROME, July 11.—The Kaiser and Francis Joseph have asked Czar Ferdinand to send the Bulgarian troops to the Galician and Trentino fronts to help check the Russian and Italian offensive which are driving the Austro-German forces back. According to information received from Geneva, a delegation of Austro-German military officials who arrived at Sofia last Sunday brought the request for the use of Bulgarian troops against the Russians and Italians.

Ferdinand replied to the request for his troops by saying that a withdrawal of the troops would invite immediate attack from allies on Salonika, but promised to submit the Kaiser's appeal to help to the Bulgarian general staff. It is estimated here that the Austrian losses in unsuccessful offensive on Trentino front which were met by Italian counter offensive, totaled more than one hundred and fifty thousand.

PARIS, July 11.—The allies offensive continues to sweep the Germans back with heavy blows. Since the offensive along the Somme river began ten days ago the allies have taken twenty-five fortified villages, some of the very important German holdings.

Peronne is now barely a mile across the river from the French advanced lines and is the next important prize for the French and is almost within the grasp of the French army.

The fortified city of Dompierre which was within the entire first line of the German position was taken by the French in fifty minutes fighting, and Hardecourt fell to the French within only thirty-five minutes. The allies are reorganizing their gains and are preparing to withstand any counter offensive from the Germans.

BERLIN, July 11.—It is the opinion of well informed persons in Berlin that the great allied offensive will meet with defeat and be followed by peace negotiations within the next few weeks.

Except one narrow section the British have so far been unable to make an impression on the German lines, despite the overwhelming superiority in numbers of men.

The French have made some progress requires insurance companies to invest seventy-five per cent of their earnings in Texas, and if the big companies of the north and east do not want to do this, we say let them stay out of the state. Other good companies are complying with the law and are willing to continue to do business under the law. Why repeal?—vote for its retention. It is the last question on the primary ticket.

TRYING TO DO THE IMPOSSIBLE

In his efforts to avoid war with Mexico President Wilson is trying to do the impossible. We agree with the administration and say that war should be averted if possible and we should have peace regardless of cost.

While the latest reports from Washington indicate that Carranza is willing to continue negotiations for a peaceful settlement of the differences between the two nations, and in this the old man is wise.

If Carranza could have his way there would be no war between the United States and Mexico, but there is another influence that Carranza can not control. The Mexican people are "shot to pieces" and until all factions can be united and the prejudice that exist is stamped out, no leader will be found among the Mexican people who can control the whole people and bring about peace.

Carranza is playing two hands. He is trying to satisfy a constituency that is clamoring for war with the gringos, and at the same time courting friendship with the American government. He is smart enough to realize what the consequences would be in case of a conflict, and at the same time representing a people who are seeking vengeance, as they believe it, against a people they have been taught to despise.

While there is a class of Mexican civilians who look upon the gringos as their enemies, there is a class—the starving class, who realize that with the coming of the gringos would come relief for the suffering, as told in dispatches in this paper yesterday in

If it does not rain another drop there will be enough cotton raised to pay taxes—and that's some, and to take care of many other incidental bills, while the people have long since learned to depend on other things to pay the big bills, buy autos, etc.

In fact, at this time there is a diversified opinion as to the condition of the cotton crop. One man will tell you the crop has gone to the bow-wows, while may be the next man you interview will tell you that rain is not needed for cotton, and advises us that a few days rain would revive the cool weevil scare and there would be more complaint from the ravages of the weevil than could ever come from a little drouth.

We find that the diversified opinions are due to diversified ways the farmers cultivate the crop. Where the soil has been kept well stirred and the field free from weeds, and the crop was planted early, there is no complaint, and it is a fact that the cotton is in a thriving condition.

But its going to rain in ample time to give the people all they are entitled to and then some.

Biliousness and Stomach Trouble

"Two years ago I suffered from frequent attacks of stomach trouble and biliousness," writes Miss Emma Verbryke, Lima, Ohio. "I could eat very little food that agreed with me and I became so dizzy and sick at my stomach at times that I had to take hold of something to keep from falling. Seeing Chamberlain's Tablets advertised I decided to try them. I improved rapidly." Obtainable everywhere.

W. A. Miller, stockman of the Leady ranch, was in Ballinger Sunday for a short while. Mr. Miller is conducting his ranch on strictly modern lines, and is offering a reward for a speck of dirt in his pig pens. Two A. and M. graduates are employed constantly on the Miller properties, and all scientific methods are being used. Eugene Gressett is doing some carpenter work on this ranch at the present, building silos, etc.

ON BRIDAL TOUR TO CORPUS CHRISTI

Miss Olga Gannaway and Mr. T. J. Gardner were married at San Angelo Saturday afternoon, to which place they motored. They returned to Ballinger Saturday evening and left Sunday morning, enroute in their auto for Corpus Christi, where they will spend a couple of weeks.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. C. Gannaway, and has a host of friends here who will wish for her a happy married life. Mr. Gardner is among the prominent business men of the city, and also has the best wishes of a host of friends.

After a two weeks sojourn on the bay Mr. and Mrs. Gardner will be at home in Ballinger.

OIL MILL IS SOLD

A deal which has been pending for some time was finally closed and made public this week, when the controlling stock in the Ballinger Cotton Oil Co., and the Western Gin Co., was transferred to R. R. Russell, of San Antonio, and H. Giesecke of Ballinger, the consideration figuring about $225,000.00.

Messrs. Russell and Giesecke buys the interest of Willis Johnson, R. A. Hall, M. L. Mertz and Geo. J. Bird, of San Angelo, who for several years have held the controlling interest in the oil mill and gin property of this city. In the deal the San Angelo parties transfer all their interest in the Ballinger and Winters mills, and also the ten gins of the Western Gin Co., located in this county. The Angelo parties retain their interest in the oil mill and gins at San Angelo.

The Western Gin Co., has heretofore been a partnership concern. It will hereafter be known as the Runnels County Gin Co., incorporated. Judge M. C. Smith, representing the stockholders, is in Austin now, where he went to secure a new charter. A telegram from him to the local manager, received Saturday morning, stated that the charter for the new company had been granted.

H. W. Lynn Goes to Winters.

There will be no changes in the management of the business at Ballinger, and the business of both the oil mill and the gins will be conducted as heretofore, with perhaps minor changes in the crew from time to time. Oscar Pearson will continue to be manager of local mill, while H. W. Lynn will be placed in charge of the Winters mill.

Mr. Lynn is busy making his arrangements to go to Winters, accompanied by Mrs. Lynn where they will make their home. While this deal is interesting to Ballinger people because it brings the local mill more under the control of home capital, it also robs us of one of our best citizens. Mr. and Mrs. Lynn moved to Ballinger eleven years ago, and they are numbered among our best, and while we regret to see them leave Ballinger we are glad to know that they are to remain in the county, and will continue to be at home in Ballinger when they see fit to visit here.

One Of the Best Mills in Texas.

The Ballinger oil mill was constructed in 1903. It is one of the most substantial and modern mills in Texas. The Winters mill is not as old as the Ballinger mill, having been constructed five or six years ago. It too is a good mill, and being located in one of the best farming districts in Texas, enjoys a good run annually.

The string of gins owned by the Runnels County Gin Co., are modern in every respect. At present the company is constructing a new gin at Rowena, which will be operated by electric power, and will be one of the best gins in Texas.

The new controllers of the big end of the stock of the Ballinger Cotton Oil Co., and the Runnels County Gin Co., are already largely identified with the business interests of Ballinger. Everybody knows H. Giesecke and is acquainted to some extent with his business connections. He is president of the Farmers & Merchants State Bank, while his associate in this deal, Mr. Russell, is one of the principal stockholders in the same bank, and was formerly its president, and charter member.

The deal is one in which Ballinger gains, as local capital will practically control the institution while heretofore foreign capital has controlled the business.

Try it and see—one application will prove more than a column of claims. James S. Ferguson, Phila., Pa., writes: "I have had wonderful relief since I used Sloan's Liniment on my knees. To think after all these years of pain one application gave me relief. Many thanks for what your remedy has done for me." Don't keep on suffering, apply Sloan's Liniment where your pain is and notice how quick you get relief. Penetrates without rubbing. Buy it at any Drug Store. 25c.

SOCIALIST TO HOLD ENCAMPMENT HERE

Several members of the Socialist party met here last Saturday for the purpose of fostering their political interest. The meeting was organized into a working body by electing W. R. McDonald chairman and August Seipp secretary.

The Socialists voted unanimously to hold a three days encampment here some time during the month of August, and it was decided to get an independent speakers team for the encampment.

The chairman was authorized to appoint a committee to select the speakers, select dates for the encampment, arrange about lights, water, etc., and the chairman appointed Dr. E. R. McKinney, Jim Fields, J. D. Miller and W. C. Smith.

The Socialist have announced that a complete county ticket would be put in the field to oppose the Democratic nominees, and these would be announced at a later date, and they feel hopeful of electing most of the county officers this year, as they claim a great gain in votes since the last election and the Democrats show little interest in the general election.

TO THE VOTERS OF PRECINCT NO. ONE OF RUNNELS COUNTY.

This is to announce that I am in the race for public weigher to be elected by the voters of the following boxes: Ballinger 1 and 24, Offen, Pony, Hatchel, Benoit, Crews, Token, Truitt, Maverick, South Norton and Pierce School House. Upon the resignation of my father, Mr. Frank Stuart, as public weigher of Precinct 1, the commissioners' court of Runnels County named me as his successor, thus recognizing my experience of ten years previous to that time when I assisted my father in the yard. Because of my association with him during these years and the year when I was the appointee of the court to fill the unexpired term, I believe I am ably qualified to fill the office as the regular elected weigher of this precinct. I feel that I am due the gift of the office from the hands of the people as a recognition of my previous services when I worked in the yard, and promise faithful services if elected July 22. I believe that it is better to place in this office a man of experience rather than a novice, and for that reason appeal for your support. d10-14 21w T. D. (Travis) STUART.

W. J. Young, of the Crews country, was transacting business in Ballinger Monday.

The People are For Judge Blanton; Political Enemies Predict His Election

Judge Blanton has the reputation of having the cleanest court docket in Texas. He has the substantial endorsement and hearty support of his district, composed of Taylor, Callahan, Eastland and Shackelford counties. He has published his platform both in the papers in this district and in circular form and repeatedly challenged Congressman Smith to meet him in joint debate and discuss before the people the issues in the campaign. Mr. Smith has repeatedly declined to meet Judge Blanton.

Judge Blanton has made the most aggressive campaign ever made for any office. He has gained wonderful strength since the campaign two years ago, when he came so near defeating Congressman Smith, and his election is the prediction of many Smith supporters.

Judge Blanton carried fourteen out of twenty-four boxes in Runnels county in the last election. Here they are. Please note the boxes not controlled by politics are the one which counted for Blanton:

BALL UP IN PRIMARY TICKET

In preparing the copy for the primary tickets somebody made an error in wording the submission question to go on the ticket, and made it read, "For an amendment to the constitution providing for statewide prohibition," and "against an amendment to the constitution providing for statewide prohibition," when the question to be voted on is "For submission of an amendment to the constitution providing for statewide prohibition," and "Against the submission of an amendment to the constitution providing for statewide prohibition."

This copy was sent out by the state democratic executive committee and was of course the same for every county in the state. When the copy was turned over to the printers and orders placed for the tickets, the wording of the question was noticed and the attention of both the submission committee and the state democratic committee was called to it. The submission committee is busy, and while it has been held that the question as first printed will hold good in instructing the legislature, the submission committee proposed to pay for sending telegrams to each county chairman instructed that the correction be made where tickets had not been printed, and Chairman A. K. Doss of this county, received the following telegram Thursday morning:

"The state democratic executive committee request the submission question be stated on the ballot as follows: For the submission of an amendment to the constitution providing for state wide prohibition." "Against the submission of an amendment to the constitution providing for state wide prohibition." If tickets are to be printed must be without expense to state democratic executive committee however. Either form if used will be counted.

CHAS. J. KIRK, Sec.

It will be seen from the telegram that the vote on the question will be counted, regardless of how the question is printed on the ticket. The tickets were just read to go on the press for this county and the telegram was received in time to make the correction.

A REQUEST TO THE VOTERS OF RUNNELS COUNTY:

Two years ago I made the race for county clerk, the same as I am offering for this year, and went into the race a friend to my opponent and came out the same way and if I can not be elected by honorable means, I would not run at all. I had a strong man opposing me but I made a good race and am proud of the vote given me then, which encouraged me to make this, the second race.

However, there was a time in county politics, before the telephone age of quick communication, and the citizens were not as intelligent and enlightened as they are at the present time, when a report could be circulated and damage done an innocent candidate before it could be corrected and in this connection I wish to ask my friends not to allow any report to influence them on the eve of the election. My two opponents are clever, honorable gentlemen and I feel sure would not allow such a thing to occur on purpose, but the ardent zeal of partisan friends often mislead their better judgment. I feel sure that I will be the next county clerk of this county, but it is up to my friends all over the county to see that I get a fair deal. If I have missed seeing a voter rest assured it was not intentional and I hope it will not influence you to vote against me. I expect to live and die in Runnels County and elected or defeated you will always find me your friend. Your kind influence and vote will be appreciated in the primary election.

Yours truly,
C. C. COCKRELL,
Candidate for County Clerk.

WEEVIL PICKING IN MISSISSIPPI DELTA

WASHINGTON, July 11.—Both "weevil picking" and "square picking" have been found helpful in lessening damage from the boll weevil in the Mississippi Delta. Because of the labor involved in these operations, however, specialists of the U. S. Department of Agriculture do not recommend them except where picking can be performed by tenants without any direct cash outlay and without interfering with the other plantation work.

"Weevil picking" and "square picking" are based upon the fact that the numbers of the boll weevil are lowest in the spring, for comparatively few of the insects survive the winter. By picking the weevils from the plants then or by collecting the fallen forms which contain weevils of the first generation in their immature stages, very much can be done to prevent the multiplication of the pest later in the season.

Despite this very definite advantage however, conditions in the Delta are such that these methods may prove far from profitable. In May and June, the time when picking should be done, there is almost always more or less shortage of labor. Under these circumstances both "square picking" and "weevil picking" may compel the planter to slight other operations and the loss caused in this way may more than offset any benefit from the picking. It seems generally inadvisable, says the bulletin, to practice these control measures except in the presence of an abundance of labor. In case it is necessary to choose between a cultivation and picking, it adds, cultivate.

Mrs. R. L. Harwell returned home Saturday afternoon from a visit to Hot Springs, Arkansas, where she spent a month recuperating and enjoying the mountain climate.

L. A. Bedford, of Bangs, came in Monday at noon to look after business affairs and will go on to Winters to visit relatives a few days.

VILLISTA BANDITS ARE INCREASING

COLUMBUS, July 13.—Heavy patrol of United States cavalry are on duty watching the border west of here to prevent a raid by bandits who are reported to be gathering in the San Simon valley in large numbers. Natives report to the army officers that the original band of bandits have been largely reinforced, and it is believed are being led by Villa and his lieutenants, who are bent on complicating Mexican and American relations and if possible precipitate a fight on the gringos.

Mrs. O'Quin, of Winters, passed thru Ballinger Wednesday en route to points east to visit relatives.

Mrs. L. J. O'Kelley, mother of Ed O'Kelley, left Wednesday afternoon for Saganaw, Texas, to visit her daughter for several weeks.

H. W. Henniger, of the Winters country, passed through Ballinger Wednesday en route to Marlin to recuperate a week or two.

AN EXPLANATION.

During my candidacy in 1914 for the office of Commissioner of the Wingate Precinct, I published the following endorsement from citizens who reside in and near Killeen, my old home:

Killeen, Texas, June 18th, 1914.
We, the undersigned of Killeen, Bell County, Texas, take pleasure in stating that we have known Mr. J. D. Smith of Winters, Texas, for several years and have had business dealings with him and always found him to be prompt in all his dealings. And it was a pleasure to do business with a man like Mr. Smith.

We consider his word as good as a bond. Any favors shown him in any way will be appreciated by us.

J. M. Smith, Farmer.
Tom Adams, Ginner.
J. W. Pace, Land and Stock.

Now a certain party in the Wingate community has circulated the report that one name on this endorsement was there without his knowledge and consent, to-wit: J. M. Smith, and I append the affidavit of the man who got up this endorsement for me and I have also in my possession a statement from the said J. M. Smith acknowledging that he did authorize his name in said endorsement which should put at rest all such rumors. I trust that I may be excused from rushing into print about this matter but I feel that my reputation was put in question and thus I offer this explanation.

Following is the affidavit concerning said endorsement:

We Stand Back of the Farmers---

This bank believes that much of its success is due to the many friends it has among the farmers of this community. Our bank always has, and will continue to offer exceptional facilities to the farmers, not alone in safe-guarding his funds, but in lending him money to tide over the "tight" places in the year's work.

Agriculture and finance go hand in hand, and neither one can be without the other. We will try to hold up our end by standing back of our farmers to the full extent of our ability.

CAUSEWAY CROSSING IS UNDER CONSTRUCTION

The work of providing a crossing on the Colorado river about half way between where Seventh and Eighth streets butts into the river is well underway. This job is a much larger one than the average reader would think. Where the new public road will cross the river the river is wide and the banks on either side rather steep, but the contractors in charge are working this down to where it will make an easy grade to climb with a big load, and the road leading to the crossing will be made one of the best leading into the city.

The new road will shorten the distance for the citizens living on the south side of the river east of Ballinger by several miles, and will be the means of decreasing the heavy travel over the Colorado river bridge, which is now taxing that bridge to the danger point.

The contractors on the job of building the new crossing have a crew of men employed hauling gravel, and mixing concrete. A large tent has been constructed on the bank of the river near the works for the convenience of the contractors, and unless a rise in the river interferes the work will be pushed to completion, and the new road opened for the marketing of the present crop.

RECORD CROWDS SEE WAR FILMS

The attendance at "On the Firing Line With the Germans," at Plumb theatre yesterday, broke all records for that house.

There were big crowds at the matinees—the first having a full house—and, at night, the people literally fought to get in. There were crowds at the box office at 6 o'clock, an hour before the first evening show, and, at the latter show, hundreds stood for an hour or more before they, in turn, were able to get to the booth and buy a ticket. Many were turned away by the sight of the waiting hundreds, for all floors were filled to the limit allowed by law at both night shows.

The Ind-Times under whose auspices the great war pictures were shown here by the War Film Syndicate cooperating with the Plumb theatre management, was strongly commended by the lecturer of the evening, Lieut. Tanzer, for its enterprise in assisting in bringing the pictures to Streator.

The pictures and the lecturer gave entire satisfaction. Every phase of the war was shown and in all the detail that could get past the censor. It was a most interesting and educational series of pictures and impressed all who saw it with the remarkable preparations which have been made in Europe, particularly Germany, for the bloody contest still raging.

The throngs which blocked the entrance, waiting to buy tickets, became so unruly and impatient at one time that the management was pleased to accept the services of three policemen to keep the crowd in a manageable condition.

It is possible that the War Film company may find it possible to send the pictures to Streator at a later date.

Mrs. Orgain, who had been to Marlin on a recuperating trip for several weeks returned home first of the week.

A Little Blossom To Delight the Home

When it is known that in the near future the home is to be blessed with a new arrival the first thought should be "Mother's Friend." This is an external remedy gently applied over the stomach muscles. It makes them firm and pliant, they expand naturally without undue strain. It removes from the nerves those influences which are responsible for much of the pain incident to the period of expectancy. It is for this reason that much of the distress such as morning sickness is avoided. All prospective fathers should see to it that the expectant mother is provided with a bottle of "Mother's Friend."

MAY BUY BIG CHUNK OF MEXICO

WASHINGTON, July 10.—Congressman Caldwell, of New York, introduced a resolution in the House this morning asking for the appointment of a commission composed of five members, including one senator and one congressman, to negotiate with Mexico for the purchase of Lower California, and the northern Mexican states. The resolution carries with it an appropriation of twenty thousand dollars for the purpose of carrying on the work. The Mexican government has been called on to name a similar commission.

The resolution provides that the commission begin its work at the earliest possible time, and be ready to make its report at the opening of the next session of congress. It is believed by many congressmen that the bill will pass the House.

SEVENTH ASSAULT ON VERDUN

By United Press

PARIS, July 13.—Dense German masses are storming the approaches to Fort Souville in the seventh great assault made on Verdun since the battle for the fortress began one hundred and forty-six days ago. The present attack began Tuesday morning after the Germans spent eighteen days preparing and brought up new guns and shifted more troops from the west bank of the Meuse, and hurried fresh supplies and ammunition to the firing line.

Only near the intersection of Fleury and Vaux woods have the Germans been able to make any gains in their attack, and the French are holding Verdun with a death like grip.

A BOOST FOR LOCAL AD WRITER

The following appeared in The Drygoodsman, of St. Louis, July 8, and shows what Roy Sharp, ad writer for Higginbotham is doing for that firm:

"Higginbotham, Currie, Williams Co., Ballinger, Texas.—Two newspaper advertisements, one a half page and the other a full page showing very clever treatment from a typographical standpoint. The page ad particularly had a very strong display owing to the effective use of rule. The introductory argument, which gave some very alluring descriptions of the new styles should have made a very favorable impression. On the whole these ads had a decidedly metropolitan appearance. We suggest one change, however, this with regard to the display of the signature or firm name. We recommend the adoption of an individual style of lettering and have this prepared in plate form. The cost will be very slight and it will strengthen the appearance of the ad."

COMPTROLLER OF PUBLIC ACCOUNTS

Probably no man in public life in Texas today is better known or has a more enviable record than has Henry B. Terrell, who is now serving his first term as State Comptroller. For fifteen years he served the people of the Waco District in the House and Senate, resigning the office of State Senator to become Comptroller of Public Accounts in January, 1915, to which office he had been elected in the preceding election by an overwhelming majority, carrying three times as many counties, both pro and anti, as his nearest competitor. He enjoys the distinction of never having been defeated for public office nor was any vote he ever cast during his long legislative career ever questioned by an opponent on the stump.

His administration of the Comptroller's office, which is one of the most important offices in the State, has been universally commended by the people of every political belief. His rigid enforcement of the liquor laws has met the approval of every man who believes the law should be supreme. While refusing to persecute, he has prosecuted to the fullest extent each and every violator of the law and as a result of his prosecutions and activities there has been closed under his administration more saloons, illegitimate clubs, and boot-legging joints combined than under the administration of all former Comptrollers for the same length of time.

He has known no creed or faction, but has given every man a full hearing and a square deal. He has issued many public statements that it was unnecessary to employ attorneys to reach the Comptroller's office, but that the doors were open to all who had business there and a letter would answer the purpose of an attorney.

He is the first Comptroller to install an auditing system whereby accounts of public officials, State departments and State institutions handling the people's money may be audited from time to time. This system has only been in effect a few months, though in this brief time more than $100,000.00 has been recovered from officials and ex-officials which had been stolen or withheld from the State prior to his administration. He has referred to the Attorney General's Department and District Attorneys over the State for collection, accounts amounting to more than $100,000.00. Some of the money above referred to has been due the State for fifteen years and in some instances men have been out of office from five to ten years. Twenty-two indictments have been returned by various grand juries over the State as a result of his investigations. He has collected more than $75,000.00 in interest on school bonds that was past due and had been past due from six months to three years when he entered the office.

By carefully scrutinizing accounts presented to the Department for payment it is estimated that he is saving the tax-payers at least $50,000.00 per annum.

System and service has been the watchword under Mr. Terrell's administration, and his friends are proud of the record he has made. He recently made the statement that if the next Legislature will give him the authority, and such assistance as he needs, that he will recover to the people more than $1,000,000.00 that has been withheld from the Treasury from one to twenty years.—(Political advertisement.)

To Whom It May Concern:

We, the undersigned, are well acquainted with Prof. John C. Wells, of Miles, Texas, having known him from his boyhood days. Mr. Wells was born and reared in this county, and spent practically all of his life among us.

Mr. Wells was reared under very adverse circumstances, but it can be said to his credit, that before he had reached the age of manhood, he had prepared himself, and had entered the profession of teaching. His life work has been that of teaching, and he taught most altogether in this county until he went to Western Texas. We consider that his work in the schools of this county was a success, and that he was considered to be a man of high ideals, and an educator of real worth.

We know Mr. Wells to be a man of good moral character, honest and upright in his dealings with his fellow man, and a Christian gentleman.

TALKING SIX CYLINDERS.

Six-cylinder motors are the most desired type for touring cars from the public view point at the present time, according to R. T. Williams of Higginbotham, Currie, Williams Co. They handle the agency for Saxon Motor Cars here and his statement is based upon the belief of many automobile users which have been expressed to him recently.

"The reasons why the six-cylinder car is superior to the four cylinder have been told so often that they hardly need repeating," said Mr. Williams today. "The increase of power, the absence of the jar, and the way in which the six-cylinder is giving a satisfaction to countless motorists, all point to the fact that this type has a big following."

"But probably the great reason for its universal popularity is the fact that an excellent six-cylinder motor car can now be obtained at a low cost. Giving the six all the advantage that engineering science shows for it, low price was needed to make it popular. When it first came upon the market in costly cars, it was a star in the heavens to be reached only by those with the dollar sign telescope. Today it is an earthly thing and consequently within the reach of all."

"Saxon 'Six' offers the high-grade car in that class at a low price. It is a car of mighty power, lightness and quality or appointments. It is a 'Six' that demonstrates to my mind the real reason for the big demand that the motor mart is feeling for six-cylinder cars."

"When an automobile, like Saxon 'Six', can offer the speed, the stamina, and the refinements that should go with a six-cylinder automobile of the first rank and offer them at a low price, the motorist has found his ideal. "The new Series Saxon 'Six', which we are now showing and which has been met with a large demand by the motorists here, is not a slap-together car. It is built from the best that money can buy and with the greatest skill that can be obtained from expert workmanship and modern machinery."

"Although retailing at the low price of $815, it is built with the appointments of the costly car. It has two-unit electric starting and lighting system; it has Timken Axles and Timken Bearings throughout its chassis, and everyone knows that Timken spells excellence in axles and bearings. It has a late design of yacht-line type on its body and it has above all the Saxon motor, which gives a maximum power on a minimum amount of fuel."

NATIONS IN DEATH STRUGGLE

By United Press

LONDON, July 13.—The second phase of the British offensive is rapidly approaching a crisis in the great battle northeast of Albert, where the British are striving to advance two miles to the heights of Maricourt.

The Germans have thrown two army corps into the section on both sides of Albert along the Bapaume roads to defend the approaches to Bapaume, making savage counter attacks, particularly southeast of Contalzon where the German's success would hold up the whole British advance.

A German war correspondent admits the great power of the British offensive, claiming that the attacking forces suffered losses compared only to the casualties at Verdun. British correspondent report English losses severe only where British are fighting for possession of villages and where German machine guns are active.

The many friends of E. Ballou, of South Ballinger, will be glad to learn that he was able to be in the city Friday and is regaining his usual good health since a serious attack of rheumatism and other complaints, the past twelve months.

Mrs. Otis Allen and little son, of Winters, passed through Ballinger Wednesday en route to Brownwood, where they will join Mr. Allen for Richland Springs to conduct the singing in a protracted meeting.

ON RURAL TOUR TO BOOST FILM

Roy Reeder and L. Cohen left Ballinger Monday morning for Paint Rock and other contingent towns en route, where they will boost for the big German war pictures presented jointly by the theatres and The Ledger. Other rural communities will be visited by the film men in the interest of the Durborough spectacle, "On the Firing Line with the Germans" and towns for many miles from Ballinger will be "papered" and advertised for the attraction, which will show here on July 24th and 25th, Monday and Tuesday. The day performance will be given in the Queen Theatre and the night shows at the White City Airdome, with no reserved seats—first come get the preferred sections. Mr. Reeder stated Monday morning that many traveling film men representing other concerns had complimented "On the Firing Line with the Germans" very strongly, and he was of the opinion that the pictures would draw big.

This spectacle, which was photographed by Wilbur H. Durborough under the belching mouths of the biggest Krupps and howitzers used in the European war, is only shown in towns under the supervision and auspices of daily newspapers. The Chicago Daily News and three other national newspapers are standing sponsor for the genuineness of the scenes, and every part was passed by the scrutiny of a German censor. No man with more than two ounces of red blood in his veins should miss the pictures.

Prices for children's admission will be ten cents, and adults twenty cents straight. No passes will be accepted, and all coupon book tickets will be void. The regular show including the serial will be shown at the Queen Theatre on Monday night only.

Dr. Wharton, a Cuban missionary, who preached at the First Presbyterian church in Ballinger Sunday, left for Brownwood Monday.

DEATH BENEFITS FOR SANTA FE EMPLOYEES

Mr. A. C. Torbert, Secretary and Treasurer of the Gulf, Colorado and Santa Fe Railway Company is arranging to obtain from all of the company's employes, the information needed to put into effect the death benefits plan recently announced by President Ripley. "It order to put this new policy in effect," said Mr. Torbert, "it is necessary to have every employe name his or her beneficiary; state the length of service with the Company, and the amount of wages received for the twelve months ending June 30th, this year."

A card will be given to each employe with the distribution of pay checks on July 15th, and a request made that it be filled out immediately. Employes will be permitted to change their beneficiary, and such beneficiary must, in every instance be a dependent member of the employe's family. In the absence of a named beneficiary, payment will be made to the next of kin dependent upon the employe—like life insurance. In case an employe should die before a beneficiary is named, the beneficiary in that case will be determined by the company and the benefit paid as if regular form had been followed.

The plan affects the 75,000 employes of the Santa Fe System.

In the absence of statistics as to the length of service, it is impossible to state just how many employes are eligible at the present writing, but it safe to assume that at least 99 percent, of the men have had more than two years service.

The company's plan, in brief, is to pay a benefit equal to 5 per cent of the salary earned by the employe during the twelve months preceding death multiplied by the number of years of continuous service, provided, that the maximum amount to be so paid, shall be the wages earned by such employe during the past twelve months, but in no case to exceed $3,000.00. The minimum amount to be paid is set at $250.00, and any benefit figuring less than that amount will be automatically raised to $250.00.

RETURNED FROM FORT SAM HOUSTON.

R. E. Willingham returned Sunday night from Fort Sam Houston, where he had been for the past thirty days enjoying real army life. Mr. Willingham was one of the 514 boys who entered the training camp established by Uncle Sam at Fort Sam Houston. He reports some pretty hard work for a while, but says he received experience that is worth a great deal to him and he enjoyed the month in camp life.

Mr. Willingham says there is little talk about war among army officials, and everybody seems to be "sawing wood" and saying nothing. While the crisis seems to have blown over, war preparation continues and about the only difference observed is that lights are not burning all night in Gen. Funston's office like they did for awhile. There are about sixteen thousand troops stationed at Fort Sam Houston and train loads passing through daily en route to some border point. Not a wheel has been stopped, and the original plans of bringing the entire state militia to the border is being carried out.

PRIMARY TICKET IN HANDS OF PRINTER

The Rannels County Democratic Committee met Monday morning and approved the ticket as made up and prepared in copy form for the printers. The ticket was completed and all candidates, both state and county were given places on the ticket, except a few candidates who failed to comply with the law and pay their assessments.

The pledge on the ticket is a binding one, and reads: "I am a democrat and pledge myself to support the nominees of this primary." The ticket is also a long one, there being more than one hundred names on the ticket, besides the submission question and the straw vote of the retention or repeal of the Robertson insurance law, and several precinct offices with no candidates names.

The law requires that one and a half as many tickets be printed as there is voters in the county, and the better than forty-five hundred tickets will be printed by The Ballinger Printing Co., and turned over to the committee to be distributed to the various boxes in the county.

WILSON ANSWERS

T. R. WAR BLOW

DETROIT, Mich., July 10.—President Wilson answered Theodore Roosevelt in his late talk on the "Spirit of Militarism" with a message of peace at the Arcadia Hall here this morning. Mr. Wilson spoke to about thirty-five hundred people in this hall, many of whom were delegates to the World's Salesmanship Congress in session in this city. The same people who two months ago heard Roosevelt's "call to arms" today rocked the building with cheers for the sovereignty of peace.

"We must respect the sovereignty of Mexico," said the President. This part of his talk, he stated, was intended for those who wish to butt in in Mexico. These men he feels do not wish to help the southern country, but merely wish to possess her. This is due to the manner that they had gone into Mexico and tried to exploit her. Wilson will not help these men, he stated.

MELTON RENEWS BUILDING LEASE

The Melton Dry Goods Co., Monday morning renewed their lease on the big double building they now occupy for a period of three years. Previous contracts made by Mr. Melton of the dry goods firm with T. S. Lankford, who owns the building, only covered a period of one year, and the new contract at a large figure show what the merchandising store thinks of Ballinger and the location of this store next door to The Ledger building.

Six years the Melton Dry Goods Co., and its predecessor have occupied the present quarters, moving in this building in 1910, and have enjoyed a good business in face of hard times and low cotton prices. In 1907 the Higdon-Melton, Jackson Co. was organized here and continued in business until the first of this year when they were absorbed by the Melton Dry Goods Co., composed of local capitalists.

SMITH GIVEN GOOD HEARING AT QUEEN

Discussing the issues between Judge Blanton of Abilene, candidate for congress, and himself and by innocently classifying the Abilene candidate as a standpat republican, Congressman W. R. Smith of Colorado City, candidate for re-election from the 16th congressional district, addressed approximately 150 people Tuesday morning in the Queen Theatre. A number of issues between the two candidates, the principal one of which was that concerning Blanton's stand with reference to the tariff, were discussed by Congressman Smith to a crowd that was heartily in sympathy with his candidacy.

What Would We Do Without Sugar?

We are so used to sugar that we are likely to forget to give it its proper place. Right now if somebody asked you what sugar was good for you'd probably say - 'Oh! to put in coffee and tea and for making candies and desserts.' That's it - we all think of sugar as a sweetener and overlook its value as a food. The chemists classify sugar as a hydrocarbon.

LITTLE OIL GUSHER STRUCK AT ABILENE

(Abilene Reporter) The Abilene oil well overflowed five or six times Friday, once or twice shooting up as high as ten or twelve feet. For an hour on a stretch the oil shot into the air eight or ten feet. So persistently did the oil flow that several times the workmen were forced to knock off work and let the impromptu gusher calm down. The derrick and the ground around it were thoroughly soaked.

BROKEN STEERING WHEEL CAUSES WRECK.

A Metz car driven by Brendon Wilke and Johnnie Peckack went wild Monday morning and crashed into the side walk on Eighth street, when the steering wheel went to the bad and the boys could not control the car. The runaway car struck a Ford standing in front of the Harwell garage and scooped it up on the side walk, and damaged the car slightly. The Metz suffered several severe wounds when it turned completely over, pinning the driver's foot under the seat, but which did not injure Brendon. The boys escaped with only a little fright which soon wore off.

Many people suffer the tortures of lame muscles and stiffened joints because of impurities in the blood, and each succeeding attack seems more acute until rheumatism has invaded the whole system. Congressman Smith closed his speech by naming a number of important pieces of constructive legislation adopted within in recent years, especially during the past three, in which he participated. He told of the important role he played in having enacted the federal irrigation law in which Texas is concerned and of the progress in irrigating now being made in the northern part of the El Paso Valley. For the lack of funds the bill has not been thoroughly tested out, he said, but in the course of time West Texas will receive the direct benefits to be accrued from its passage.

St. Louis dealers win 300-mile non-stop Saxon Cup—making an average per gallon of gas 34.67 miles.

The grand average of some 2,000 Saxon dealers throughout the United States in the 300-mile non-stop run last Saturday per gallon of gas was 23.5 miles.

Our average in the 300-mile non-stop run last Saturday on Dallas country roads per gallon of gas was 21.8.

The average of all Texas deals per gallon of gas was 21.5 miles.

That 300-Mile Non-Stop Run

(By One of the Tourists)

I rode on an automobile tour of 300 miles Saturday and never left Dallas County. I witnessed a six-cylinder touring car go the 300 miles at an average speed of 28.56 miles each hour and use an average of one gallon of gasoline to every 21.8 miles. Its engine never stopped turning over during the whole day—from 5:45 o'clock in the morning until 4:15 o'clock in the afternoon—and when it finally was stopped, it stopped, it seemed, unwillingly, so sweetly had it run all day and so thoroughly had it responded to the call put upon it.

Starting in the cool hours of the morning, the first 93 miles was made with only 2 3-4 gallons of gasoline used. As the heat of the day increased, the amount of gasoline used per mile increased, in proportion to the heat. The test was one that would be made by any owner on a public road. It can even be judged a little too conservative, for the day being Saturday and harvest time, the roads were crowded with thrashers and wagons with grain and farmers en route to and from towns.

It was one tour of several thousand that were similarly driven in various sections of the United States—an endurance test and an economy showing of the Saxon Six. Dallas' tour was around the thirty-mile Carrollton loop—ten times around it—and the staunch car went at it willingly and without a murmur.

This car was a Saxon Six touring car, entered by Ray-Rose Company, Dallas distributors, and was driven by Ike Anderson of the Service department. Anderson knew his car and what it would do, but even he was surprised at its perfect performance. G. L. Cade of the Dallas Automobile Club was the official observer.

The writer returned grinning and blistered, but feeling like Mark Twain's jack rabbit—that "he had made a little crack in the atmosphere and crawled into it."

Mr. J. V. Hardy, Sales Manager,
Ray-Rose Company,
Dallas, Texas:

Dear Sir—It gives me pleasure to advise you that I have driven my five-passenger six-cylinder Saxon car 6,251 miles with the original set of tires still in use.

I am very much pleased with the Saxon car and have never had any trouble with same. I believe it is the best car on the market under $1,000.

Mrs. Floyd drives the car anywhere and finds it quite easy to operate. She is delighted with it, as well as myself.

Trusting that all your customers are as well satisfied as I am, and with best wishes for your success, I am,

Yours truly,

(Signed) TOM B. FLOYD.

Ray-Rose Auto Company,
Dallas, Texas:

Gentlemen—Replying to your letter of inquiry as to service I am getting with my Saxon Six, will say: Have owned my car three months, April, May and June; in that time have driven 3,343 miles, over all kinds of rough roads, principally this part of East Texas, and one trip of 1,100 miles to West Texas, with perfect satisfaction at all times.

My casings are almost good as new; one nail puncture is all the casing trouble I have had. As to the amount of gasoline used, my average is from 15 to 25 miles per gallon of gas. One day in West Texas, I drove from Breckenridge to Dallas, 172 miles, and used 7 gallons of gas and one quart of oil.

My motor never gets hot sufficient to boil water in radiator. The transmission and steering gear are all one could desire, and make driving simple, easy and safe. My car rides easy and will not jolt, as do others I have used. This I attribute to the good cantilever springs and wheelbase.

My car has served me so well that I feel that I can not speak too highly of the Saxon Six. I am very truly yours,
DR. L. FAULK.

Alba, Texas, July 1, 1916.

The strength and service of the Saxon is proven daily and the foregoing statements set a high mark of economy that should justify any one interested in automobiles.

Not Well Enough Known

We cannot accomplish much in the treatment of dyspepsia, however, much we may temporarily relieve its symptoms, so long as the blood remains impure. It is a fact not well enough known by people generally that when the stomach, liver and other digestive organs are supplied with impure blood, the digestive process is impaired, so as to cause faintness and loss of appetite and sometimes a deranged state of the intestines, and in general all the symptoms of dyspepsia.

Hood's Sarsaparilla is of great service in dyspepsia, because it purifies the blood, making it the healthy stimulus the digestive organs must have for the proper performance of their duties. Hood's Sarsaparilla, especially if taken in a little hot water, has "a magic touch" in dyspepsia. Get it today.

E. L. King of Fannin County, who had been visiting his brother in the New Home neighborhood, left for his home Tuesday afternoon.

W. O. Beard of the Hatchel country, was transacting business in Ballinger Wednesday and ordered The Banner-Ledger to his address.

Ballinger, Texas, July 13th, 1916.
TO THE VOTERS OF RUNNELS COUNTY:

I feel that a word before the election is not out of place. I have not seen personally many voters since announcing for the office of County Attorney and for this reason I am appearing in print.

In asking for this office I feel that my record justifies the request. I have enforced the laws fairly and impartially as my judgment dictated without fear or favor. The office pays no salary and for the past four years has not been a very heavy revenue producer and hence the long term argument that might be applied to other offices is not in point in my case. I feel that my experience in the performance of the duties of this office has better fitted me to be of more service in the future than in the past.

Some have said to me "Why don't you seek a promotion" to that I answer that I do not believe that there is any county office within the gift of the people that is any Higher Up, that is one that requires more ability to fill and one that requires maturer judgment than that of County Attorney.

To those who are not personally acquainted with me or my work I ask them to make inquiry of the business men of Ballinger with whom I have been associated for 18 years and their verdict will be satisfactory to me, and that is the best measure of man. Our District Attorney W. U. Early with whom I have worked nearly four years has paid me the compliment of being THE BEST COUNTY ATTORNEY in his district and this was unsolicited.

It is not my desire to become a braggart or display any egotism but I feel that this word on the eve of the election is permissible.

I have tried to know no factions in the performance of my duties and have tried to be uniformly courteous to all who came in contact with me either in a business or social way.

My interests are with Ballinger and Runnels County and I have never been guilty of throwing off when duty made her call.

In conclusion I ask a fair consideration at the hands of the voters of Runnels County at the coming primary on July 22nd next and I promise my best efforts in return for any favor which may be shown me.

Yours very truly,

C. P. SHEPHERD,
County Attorney Runnels County, Tex.

FIRST INSTALLMENT

In a room of the huge building in Washington which houses the state, war and navy departments, half a dozen men sat about a long mahogany table. Though they were in civilian dress, the fashion in which they wore their clothes and the erectness of their carriage stamped them unmistakably as men who were more at ease in uniform than in the garb of civil life.

"I have here, gentlemen," announced the chairman, selecting a letter from a pile of correspondence which lay before him, "an interesting communication. It is from Dr. Ralph Burke, the California inventor—the same man, you may remember, who suggested the improvement on the Japanese shimoso powder and who perfected the condensation system which the navy is now using."

"Isn't he the same man, admiral," interrupted one of the officers, "who purchased the hull of that old submarine at Mare island which was condemned two or three years ago? Bought it for experimental purposes, didn't he?"

"Exactly," was the answer. "For a number of years now Burke has been carrying on experiments in the hope of devising a system for producing oxygen from water for use in submarines. It is scarcely necessary for me to point out to you, gentlemen, that were a submarine able to draw its supply of air directly from the water, the lives of the crew would no longer depend upon the supply of compressed air or upon the boat's ability to reach the surface. Doctor Burke now writes to the secretary that he has at last succeeded in perfecting a system which is both practical and simple. He asserts that it can be installed in any submarine and that one thus equipped can remain below the surface indefinitely—for a month if necessary."

"Good heavens, admiral," exclaimed a grizzled officer, his professional enthusiasm overcoming his habitual reserve, "if this man Burke can do what he claims he will revolutionize naval warfare. Why not send an officer out to the coast at once to examine it?"

"Jarvis Hope is the man to send," said the chairman. "Son of old Commodore Hope, who lost his life in the hurricane at Samoa, you remember. There isn't a brighter youngster in the bureau of construction. He's as good a chemist as we have in the service and he's made a special study of submarine problems."

A moment later the door opened and Lieutenant Jarvis Hope, clicking his heels smartly together, stood rigidly at attention.

"Mr. Hope," said the chairman kindly. "How would you like to take a little run out to the coast? I believe that you are already familiar with this letter from Doctor Burke. The members of the board are of the opinion that you should start immediately for California, examine Burke's invention, give it an exhaustive test, and, if you are convinced that it is practical, obtain an option on it. Bear in mind, Mr. Hope, that if this invention can do what Burke claims for it, it will give to the nation which holds the secret, control of the seas—and the day is coming when our national existence may depend upon our possessing such a secret."

When, six days later, the accommodation train, which meets the Overland Limited at Suisun Junction, came chug-chugging into Valdivia, Jarvis Hope swung on to the station platform and tossed his bags to the driver of the bus of the local hotel.

After a bath, a shave, and a leisurely luncheon, Hope set out on foot for the cottage occupied by Doctor Burke,

As he was striding briskly past a line of stores, barber shops, saloons and pool rooms, which comprise Valdivia's business district, he felt a hand fall suddenly on his shoulder, while a hoarse voice boomed:

"Avast there, Mr. Hope. Stand by a minute and pass the time of day with an old shipmate, won't ye?"

The young officer whirled about to confront a figure so quaint, so picturesque, so redolent of the sea that he might well have stepped from the pages of "Treasure Island." The man was of such tremendous girth that he looked shorter than he really was. Protruding from his right coat sleeve, where his hand should have been, was a crudely fashioned iron hook. For a moment, Hope stared at him coldly, then the light of recognition came over his face.

"Hook Barnacle, as I'm alive," he exclaimed, grasping the old sea-dog's single hand. "Why, Hook, I haven't seen or heard of you since you got your discharge from the old Decatur back in '99. You've grown so fat these days that I didn't know you at first."

"You could get as fat as a jellyfish, Mr. Hope, sir, and I'd know you anywhere. It's going on seventeen years since you jumped overboard in Pago-Pago harbor, and yanked me out of the jaws of that shark, but I remember it as clear as if it happened yesterday. And what brings you out to the coast, if I might make so bold's to ask, sir?"

"I've been detailed to see a man named Burke—Dr. Ralph Burke—an inventor. He lives here in Valdivia. Ever hear of him?"

"Hear o' Doctor Burke?" chuckled the sailor. "Why, Lord love you, sir, I've been doing odd jobs for the doctor ever since he and his daughter came here to live. And when he heard that I used to be in the navy he gave me charge o' putting the engine in that old submarine hull he bought a while back. By the jumping Jehosaphat, I'll bet that's what brings you to Valdivia, lieutenant—to get the secret o' the submarine!"

"Hook," laughed the officer, "your deductions would do credit to Sherlock Holmes. I've come out to have a look into Doctor Burke's invention. Now suppose you show me where he lives."

At the very edge of the town, where the street became a country road, stood a weatherbeaten two-story frame house. As Hook swung open the creaking gate a young girl suddenly darted around the corner of the house and then, catching sight of Hope, stopped dead, like a startled fawn. She was a very beautiful girl indeed: straight and slender as a boy, with a skin like creamy satin and a great crown of ruddy hair which turned to molten gold when the sun struck upon it. So lovely was she that Hope stood staring at her; stared until a rosy wave of confusion swept over her from brow to bosom.

"Miss Cleo, permit me to introduce Lieutenant Hope," said Hook. "Lieutenant, this is Miss Cleo Burke, Doctor Burke's daughter. You've heard me tell o' the lieutenant before, Miss Cleo, an' how he saved my life in Pago-Pago."

"Not the Mr. Hope who dove into the harbor and saved you from the shark?" she exclaimed breathlessly, open admiration in her eyes. "Hook has told us that story a hundred times. Mr. Hope, why, it was quite the bravest thing I have ever heard of."

"Believe me, Miss Burke," said Hope, embarrassed in his turn, "I did nothing that any man would not have done in my place. Hook greatly overrates my services to him. It would never do to let as good a seaman as Hook become breakfast food for fishes."

"You—you haven't come to see my father's invention, have you? You haven't come in answer to his letter to the secretary of the navy?"

"That is precisely why I have come, Miss Burke," said Hope. "In order to see it I have traveled three thousand miles."

"Oh, Mr. Hope," she said anxiously, "I pray with all my heart that the government will take it. It has been my father's life work. Its acceptance will mean so very much to him—to me—to both of us. It would be a dream come true. I'll tell him that you are here."

The room into which she led Hope was stacked from floor to ceiling with books. As he was idly turning over the pages of a treatise on chemistry the door opened to admit Doctor Burke. The inventor was a small, wiry, nervous man, whose quick, excitable gestures plainly showed the strain under which he had been working.

"You are very welcome, Mr. Hope," said the old man, peering at his visitor through a huge pair of horn-rimmed spectacles.

"I am thoroughly familiar with the theory of your discovery, doctor," said Hope. "My instructions from the department are to witness a practical demonstration and to apply the customary tests. If it can pass those tests, I think there is but little doubt that the government will take steps to acquire it."

"It will pass any tests that you may impose, Mr. Hope," declared the inventor. "I did not communicate with Washington until I was positive that there was no chance for failure. The purchase of my discovery by the government means more to me than you perhaps imagine. It means comfort for me, Mr. Hope, in my declining years; it means leisure in which to conduct research work; it means food and clothes and education for my daughter Cleo."

"What did you do for workmen?" inquired Hope interestedly. "Where did you find men who had sufficient engineering knowledge?"

"In that respect I have been fortunate," was the answer. "My chief assistant, and the one on whom I have placed the most reliance, is a one-armed man-o'-war named Barnacle—the same, in fact, who brought you here. Then I have a young Japanese named Satsuma. He came to me and asked for work and he has proved of a great assistance. Like so many of his race, he is an extremely clever mechanic."

"A Japanese, you say?" said Hope quickly. "Isn't it a little unwise to let a foreigner become familiar with the details of your invention?"

"I fancy that Satsuma is quite harmless," said the inventor lightly, "but I have nevertheless made certain that he has had no opportunity to observe the workings of my invention. In fact, even were he able to obtain a drawing of the apparatus it would be quite useless to him unless he could also obtain the formula—and that is well guarded."

"I trust," said Hope gravely, "that you will continue to keep it well guarded. There is more than one foreign government that would pay handsomely for your secret."

"That I have already learned," said Doctor Burke. "Curiously enough, I was approached only yesterday by a man named Mahlin, who represented himself as the agent of a foreign government, though which one he refused to say. He did say, however, that if I would give him a demonstration of my discovery and it stood certain tests that he was authorized to purchase it on my own terms."

"And you refused?"

"I did," was the answer, "and God knows, Mr. Hope, I need the money. You are not aware, perhaps, that I, was once in the service of the United States. As a young man I was with Farragut at New Orleans—I still carry in my shoulder a fragment of a Confederate shell—and I helped Ericsson to build the Monitor. So, even though it entails a financial sacrifice, I want my own country to have the first chance at my invention."

Under the Weight of Water the Submarine Was Going Down.

"That sentiment certainly does you credit, sir," said Hope. "I trust, both for your sake and for the country's that your ambition may be realized. Now the question is, when can I have a demonstration under sea conditions?"

"Tomorrow morning," was the prompt answer.

"Admirable," said Hope. "I shall be ready—and expectant. And please tell your daughter that I anticipate the pleasure of seeing her again before I return to Washington."

"You will see Cleo in the morning," said the inventor. "She has made me promise to take her along on the trial trip of the submarine, and I couldn't well refuse. She is as vitally interested in the success of the invention as I am."

Had one stepped from the elevator of the Flatiron building in New York at the sixteenth floor, he would have found himself facing a door bearing, in neat lettering, the words: "International Supply company, Calvin Montgomery, Pres."

If the ruler of a black republic wanted to pick up a gunboat or a destroyer at a bargain, he set an agent to Calvin Montgomery. He made it his business to keep informed of everything pertaining to warfare on land or sea, and he let it be known that he paid liberally for such information. Information of this sort was contained in the letter which he was reading with such absorption.

It was dated Washington. "Dear Montgomery," it ran: "Through a friend who is employed in a confidential capacity in one of the government departments, I have just learned something that may be of interest to you. An elderly chemist named Dr. Ralph Burke, living at Valdivia, Cal., has perfected an apparatus which will enable a submarine to remain under water indefinitely. I have not been able to learn the details of Burke's invention, but I understand that the navy department is so interested that a naval instructor, Lieut. Jarvis Hope, has been sent to the coast to examine it. Hope left Washington three days ago, so, if the matter interests you, quick action will be necessary. With best wishes, sincerely yours, Whitman Davis."

"Ralph Burke," said Montgomery reminiscently, evidently putting his thoughts into words. "It's close on fifteen years since I've seen him . . . why, little Cleo must be almost a woman now . . . I wonder if she looks like her mother . . ." Stepping across to a small safe, set in the wall, he gave the combination a few rapid turns and the steel door swung open. Opening one of the drawers, Montgomery drew out a large, square envelope of blue linen.

"I wonder if I did right by Cleo," he mused aloud, staring at the envelope with unseeing eyes. So lost was he in meditation that he was quite oblivious to the fact that the door leading to the outer office had opened and that a young man, his footfalls deadened by the thickness of the carpet, had entered and stood beside him.

"Who's Cleo, Uncle Calvin?" he exclaimed.

"I didn't hear you come in. I must have been talking to myself," he added, apologetically. Restoring the sealed envelope to the drawer from which he had taken it, he swung shut the door of the safe but failed to lock it. Returning to his desk, he picked up the letter from Washington.

"Here's a letter, Gerald, which I have just received from Davis—the man who keeps me informed of what is going on in Washington, you know. Just glance over it, will you, while I get a glass of water. I'm feeling a little dizzy. . . . must be the heat."

The door had no sooner closed behind his uncle than Gerald Morton darted silently across the room, swung open the door of the safe, and snatched out the blue envelope. "Not to be opened until my death. Calvin Montgomery," he read aloud. "Now I wonder what the devil is in that?" he muttered, examining the seals. "It

You Have Convinced Me Absolutely of the Efficiency of Your Invention.

Satsuma in front o' that empty house on the beach. They was a-whisperin' together, an' the minute they saw me they went inside. Pr'aps the Jap's got another berth."

"No matter," said the inventor impatiently, "we can get along without him. If everything is ready we will go aboard."

"I have not confined my efforts entirely to my oxygen-producing system," remarked Burke, as he followed his guest through the circular manhole in the deck which gave access to the boat's interior. "I have utilized my spare moments in perfecting one or two other devices for use on submarines which may also interest you. This arrangement for automatically opening and closing the hatchway is one of them." As he spoke he indicated a lever connected with steel rods which ran up to the hinged cover of the hatch through which they had just descended.

"Very interesting, doctor," assented Hope, again become the trained naval officer, quick, intelligent, alert. "Very interesting indeed. But it is your oxygen apparatus that interests me most."

"This way, then," said Burke, opening the door which gave access to the after compartment of the submarine.

Had Hope and Cleo been less engrossed in Doctor Burke's explanation of his apparatus, they would have been startled by the peculiar behavior of the cushioned top of the locker which was built against the side of the room. Apparently of its own volition, the hinged top of the locker began to slowly rise, so imperceptibly at the first that one might have attributed it to the motion of the boat; then higher, still higher, until through the narrow opening thus formed appeared a human face—a yellow face, with slanting, cruel eyes.

"Are we submerged yet?" asked Cleo. Her question was answered by Hook, who at that moment entered from the navigating compartment.

"We have begun to submerge, sir," he reported, saluting.

"Very good," said the inventor briefly. "Tell the navigator to keep her at fifty feet until further orders."

A moment later the cover of the locker was suddenly thrown up and from the coffinlike space beneath slipped the missing Japanese, Satsuma. It was obvious that this man was no stranger to the higher forms of science and that he understood, in principle, at least, what each of the switches, dials and wires composing Burke's apparatus was for. But it was evident that the governing principle, for which this complicated mechanism was but a medium, eluded him.

For six hours the submarine had been under water. The air, its oxygen drained by a dozen pairs of lungs, had gradually become so vitiated that the breathing of all on board had become labored and difficult.

"Isn't it about time to demonstrate your invention, doctor?" asked Hope. "It's getting pretty close in here."

"Not yet," said Burke, who was seated at the little table in the forward compartment immersed in an abstruse calculation. "There's no hurry. You haven't said much, lieutenant, but I know that you're skeptical. I wish to wait until I can make my demonstration so convincing that you will have no skepticism left."

Twenty minutes later Hook entered. "Don't you think you'd better give us a little air, doctor?" he inquired anxiously. "The boys in the engine room are complaining that they can't breathe."

"Not yet," said the inventor, absently. "Tell them not to worry."

"Look here, Burke," gasped Hope roughly, staggering across the room. "This nonsense has gone quite long enough. Look at your daughter there—the poor child is suffocating. If you don't set your apparatus to working and give us some air, I'll take command myself, rise to the surface, and telegraph to Washington that your invention is a fake and that you are a fraud."

"Mr. Hope," said the inventor rising. "I'm going to make you retract those words."

within three minutes after Burke and returned to the forward compartment, a subtle suggestion of freshness stole through the submarine; in five minutes the atmosphere was as fresh and wholesome as though they were in the open air.

"I apologize from the bottom of my heart, doctor," said Hope, seizing the old inventor's hand, "for what I said a few moments ago. You have convinced me absolutely of the efficiency of your invention, though you nearly suffocated us at first. It is scarcely necessary for me to say that I shall wire to the department tonight, strongly urging that it be purchased by the government."

"Thank you, Mr. Hope," said the inventor, huskily, a suspicious moisture in his eyes. "It looks as though my struggles were at an end."

Entering the rear compartment a moment later, Burke stood transfixed with utter astonishment. For at the switchboard, his hand on one of the switches which controlled the air current, stood Satsuma.

"What the devil are you doing here, Satsuma?" shouted the inventor wrathfully. "What have you just done to that machine?"

As Burke, carried away with anger, advanced menacingly, Satsuma's hand went toward his hip pocket. Burke, realizing the significance of the movement, instantly grappled with him. With a sudden twist, Satsuma threw Burke, the old man falling heavily. At that moment, Hope launched himself against the Japanese as, in his Annapolis days, he had tackled the West Point quarterback. For a few brief moments the two locked forms swayed madly about the little cabin, overturning the table and chairs and threatening each instant to wreck the mechanism of Burke's invention. Gradually working his right hand free, Satsuma succeeded in reaching his hip pocket. His fingers closed about the stock of an automatic. There was a deafening explosion, followed almost instantly by a shower of sparks from the nest of wires above the oxygen-producing apparatus. The stream of bubbles in the tank abruptly ceased and the little compartment was filled with acrid fumes.

"My God," groaned Burke, crouching on the floor where he had been thrown. "He's smashed the transformer!" The bullet which had been intended for Hope had missed him by a hair's breadth and had buried itself amid the mechanism. At the same instant Satsuma, like all Japanese, an adept in the art of wrestling, slipped from the officer's grasp and leaped through the door of the navigating room. A seaman attempted to fell him with a spanner, but the Oriental's pistol cracked sharply and the man, spinning completely around, crumpled in a heap. Another man who rushed forward fell with a bullet through his shoulder. Keeping the remainder of the crew covered with his smoking pistol, Satsuma threw over the handle which controlled the horizontal rudders and the sudden inclination of the floor showed that the boat had rapidly begun to rise. A moment later a ray of sunlight entered through the conning tower. The submarine was running awash. Jerking down the lever which automatically opened the hatchway, Satsuma sprang up the ladder and dived into the sea.

An instant later a wave, breaking over the unprotected deck of the submarine, poured through the hatchway into the compartment below. After it came another. Cleo screamed hysterically.

"It's all right, Miss Burke! Who's that?" Hope, "Don't be frightened! I'll close the hatch!"

Accustomed, as he was, to the type of hatch in use in the navy, and, in the excitement of the moment, entirely forgetting the inventor's automatic closing device, Hope sprang up the ladder and frantically endeavored to pull down the hatch cover and bolt it in place. But a solid column of water, pouring through the aperture with the force of a battering ram, knocked him from the ladder, bruised and half drowned. Under the weight of the water it had shipped the submarine was going down!

EXCERPTS CONCERNING CONGRESSIONAL RACE

Pecos Enterprise—(6-30-16).—We believe the office Smith has had for 14 years is good enough to hand around. There are others just as brainy and just as capable as he, who have just the same right. The old story handed out by office holders that it necessary to hold office for 10 or 15 years before they are able to accomplish anything, or have any power, is all bosh, and now is a good time to bring about a change.

Upton County Round-up—(6-30-16).—Judge Thomas L. Blanton is winning in every part of the country in his race for Congress. Out of about 25 or 30 exchanges that we get from over the District, all but four are strong for Blanton, and there is no question but that he will be our next Congressman. The people everywhere are tired of long office-holding.

Balmorhea Herald—Thomas L. Blanton is one of the most energetic, untiring workers that ever existed, accomplishes things for the common people, and believes that a public official should earn his salary, that is why we would like to see him Congressman. 14 years is long enough for one man and it is time for a change.

Roscoe Times—(6-30-16).—Judge Blanton spoke in Roscoe Wednesday. His speech was delivered in his usual vigorous style, and was well received by his auditors. It is evident that he has many friends and supporters at Roscoe.

Hornish's Monthly (July), San Angelo.—Judge Blanton is running Congressman Smith a tight race.

Mertzon Weekly Star—(7-1-16).—"Arden, Texas, June 24th, 1916." To the Mertzon Star: Judge Thomas L.

Blanton spoke to a house packed full of people on the night of June 15th. The people were very much pleased with Judge Blanton's speech and the platform he stands on, and he made many friends at Arden. We must say that he will carry the Arden box solid. W. A. Steritt, Funk Ranch.

Sweetwater Daily Journal—(6-30-16).—Before several hundred people in front of the Sweetwater Theatre this morning Judge Blanton made a brilliant talk.

Odessa Herald—(6-29-16).—Judge Blanton is making a whirlwind campaign in a thoroughgoing but dignified endeavor to secure Judge Smith's political scalp. Judge Blanton has many loyal friends in the District who will work hard for him.

Eldorado Success—(6-30-16).—Bob Smith is going up salt creek this time, not because we say so, but because the people say so.

Ozona Stockman.—Judge Blanton is a pleasing and convincing talker, and made a favorable impression upon the minds of his hearers. From numerous expressions heard here since the Judge's visit it appears certain that he will get a good vote in Crockett County.

Alpine Avalanche.—Judge Blanton is our choice for Congress and we believe that the masses will decide that he is the logical candidate to represent them.

Rankin Round-up.—Stop! Gentle Annie and listen at the above which comes from a former Smith stronghold. Brewster County has formerly been for Smith, but watch her this year. Judge Blanton is truly the logical man; his support is growing stronger every day. The people are simply awakening to the fact that it is unsafe, undemocratic and a sacrifice of their best interests to keep a man in office Always. Consequently Judge Thomas L. Blanton will be our next Congressman.

Terry County Herald.—Judge Blanton is one of the most brilliant speakers ever heard in Brownfield, and is so full of his subject and so endowed with natural energy, that he holds his audience spell bound. His friends freely predict that he will not only get this county this year, but will so increase his majority in the rest of the White Belt, that he will overcome the El Paso pork barrel and border Mexican votes, as the latter are scattered like chickens, and he will carry the District by a good safe majority.

Andrews County Times.—Judge Blanton carried this county by almost two to one in the last election, and we predict even a larger majority for him in the coming primaries.

Aspermont Star.—Thomas L. Blanton is a Democrat of the old school, and if he represents the Jumbo District, they will know that he is in Washington. He is an able jurist, and if you send him to Congress there will be something doing every day in the year. 12-d&wt (Political Advertisement.)

W. H. Stratton, Secretary.

The monster Educational Encampment for Texas Farm Boys and Girls, to be held in connection with the 1916 State Fair of Texas, October 14 to 29, will undoubtedly prove to be one of the most interesting features of this year's State Fair. At the same time, the educational influence thus wielded will confer a distinct benefit upon three hundred boys and girls of the State.

All necessary plans and arrangements have been concluded by the Fair management in co-operation with the State Agricultural & Mechanical College and the U. S. Department of Agriculture, and it is stated that no detail will be lacking to insure the complete success of this movement.

W. H. Stratton, secretary of the State Fair of Texas, announced recently that three hundred scholarships in his encampment would be available—two hundred for boys and one hundred for girls, and that these scholarships would be awarded upon a competitive basis, to the boys of the Boys' Agricultural Clubs, and the girls of the Girls' Canning Clubs, who make the best records in their club work during 1916. Secretary Stratton also stated that these scholarships would give the successful contestants an entire week at the Fair with all expenses paid, and that he would be glad to send a descriptive booklet concerning the Encampment to any boy or girl who would like to enter the competition.
