Know-How Counts

A manufacturer, unable to get a machine to run properly although his best mechanics had tried their skill on it, called in an expert to fix the machine. The expert came, looked and listened for about two minutes, tightened a certain screw, and the machine ran smoothly. The expert departed, leaving a bill for $50.

The manufacturer, astonished at such a price for five minutes' work, wrote and demanded an itemized statement. He received the following:

Fire Chief at 90
Still Heads Force
He Formed in 1920

FLORA, ILL.—Still head of the volunteer fire department which he organized 27 years ago, 90-year-old "Uncle Fay" Yeck ranks as one of the oldest, if not the oldest, fire chiefs in the nation.

Recently appointed by Mayor Leo Allen to the job for four more years, Yeck admits that his years are numbered but his seamed brown face showed little concern as he predicted, "I don't think I'll last out my term."

The white-haired chief has helped fight most of the blazes in this southern Illinois oil town for the last 60 years. Despite administration turnovers, he has held the post of fire chief since he organized the Flora volunteer department March 26, 1920.

When the volunteer fire department was organized in 1920, its equipment consisted of a two wheel hose cart with a reel and 150 feet of hose, the veteran chief recalls. The city paid a dollar to the drayman who would haul that cart to a fire "and how the three or four draymen in Flora would race to earn that dollar," he adds.

Next advance in equipment was an old steamer. Regarding this machine, Yeck relates, "The fire would be out, or else the place would burn down before they'd get up steam to get it there."

The 30 volunteers include the mayor, police chief, a bank cashier, theater owner, game warden, a bar-keeper and an undertaker. They fight fires without pay "because they're all good hearted fellows, I guess."

"They enjoy it, though. Especially those pinocchio games at the fire meetings every month over the fire house."

Uncle Fay's office is a little deck under a stairs, where he works from 8 to 8 every day, but "I'm surprised to call at all hours like a country doctor."

He has two pump trucks, "one's 13 years old, the other's 8. Both as good as the day we got 'em."

Although a tiny gold badge on his vest is inscribed "E. D. Yeck," the genial chief explains that his name really is Edwin Dufay Yeck "but folks around Flora just call me 'Uncle Fay'—especially the kids."

Yeck, who came to Illinois from Sistersville, W. Va., as a lad of six, recalls that there were only three stores in Flora when he arrived there. He spent his early years farming, then was a barber for 50 years.

Airport Chatter
More than 1,000 private planes will converge upon University of Illinois airport at Urbana-Champaign August 4 when the Flying Farmers of Prairie Farmer Land gather for two days of meetings and demonstrations of agricultural and flying equipment. Governors of Illinois, Indiana, Wisconsin and Michigan, the area covered by the organization, have been invited. Crowding demonstrations with a helicopter are scheduled as one of the convention features.

Flying Farmers Day will be a headline attraction at the annual Farm and Home Week scheduled at Louisiana State university August 12-14. Air-minded farmers throughout the state will be invited to fly their planes to Baton Rouge to participate in the program. . . . Second annual reunion of the Order of Finella (ex-Wasps) is scheduled at Ponca City, Okla., August 24-27, under auspices of the Piper Mid-Continent plant and the Chamber of Commerce. Approximately 150 ex-Wasps are expected to attend.

A long hotel strike in Phoenix, Ariz., took a new twist when the hotel management used a helicopter to deliver food and beverages over picket lines.
Flying Eggbeater
Several distinctions are claimed for the unique commuter service offered by a helicopter, which operates between Boston's Logan airport and the roof of a downtown garage.
The flying eggbeater, as the plane is known, is the only helicopter in scheduled passenger service in the world; it is the only one landing regularly on a roof of a building; it flies on the shortest airline route in the world; it charges the highest rate per mile, and it flies at the slowest speed of any scheduled passenger plane.
The distance is about two miles as the cross flies and its mechanical cousin, the helicopter, flies. Considering that the fare is $3.50, tax included, passengers are paying at the rate of $1.75 per mile. But the purpose of the helicopter service is not to save money or to go fast but to save time.

Another First
The nation's first aerial cleaning service is operated by Wayne L. Troutner of Winslow, Ariz. Daily when his Simon Voyager glides to earth on remote northern Arizona landing strips, Indian natives—both young and old—cry a greeting "Ka-Ya-Pa-Ne-Sha," meaning "the cleaner who flies." Since inaugurating the aerial pick-up and delivery service to the widely scattered trading posts, ranches and resorts, Troutner has more than doubled the volume of business for his Winslow plant.

Better Revelation

Lesson for October 5, 1947

WITH Sunday's lesson we turn into another field of Bible study for the concluding quarter of the year—messages from the Epistles, other than those of Paul.

This lesson, and the next two, are from the Epistle to the Hebrews—one of my favorite books in the Bible. The passages of study for this lesson are Hebrews 1-2; 8:6-13; with kindred passages in Matthew 3:18, 17 and John 14:5-11. Suggest reading for this lesson is Psalms 40: 1-8.

The title of the lesson has reference, of course, to Christ—the better revelation of the Son of God in his appearance to being the father's plan of redemption right unto all men.

This Father's Son "GOD, who at sundry times and in divers manners spake in time past unto the fathers by the prophets, hath in these last days spoken unto us by his son, whom he hath appointed heir of all things, by whom also he made the worlds," chapter 1, verses 1 and 2.

And Jesus, when he was baptized, went up straightway out of the water; and, lo, the heavens were opened unto him, and he saw the Spirit of God descending like a dove, and lighting upon him; and a voice from heaven, saying, "This is my beloved son, in whom I am well pleased," Matthew 3:16, 17.

This better revelation of Jesus Christ, we find that love is the key that opens the door into the brightly lighted room. "The father loved the son, and hath given all things into his hand," John 3:35.

And this revelation of God in Jesus Christ carries the further truth that "all things" have been placed in the hands of our blessed Saviour. We read elsewhere that "all things consist in him," which means that all things hold together in him—the world itself. Jesus said, "All power hath been given unto me, in heaven and on earth."

It is not a picture of passive love, but a picture of perfect love in action, with all things committed to his administration. Again we can sing, "This is our father's world."

Christ Reveals God NOT only does Christ reveal himself, but also the father, for they are one. Reading now into the second chapter of Hebrews, we find these words: "God also bearing them (angels) witness, both with signs and wonders, and with divers miracles, and gifts of the Holy Ghost, according to his own will."

It is God's own will that he be revealed, and he must do the revealing. Turn to John 14:21, where we read again that revealing incident when Jesus patiently reassured Thomas and Philip, declaring "He that hath seen me hath seen the father."

The better revelation of God in Jesus Christ brings us far beyond the revelations of God in the Old Testament, dramatic and impressive as they were.

A New Covenant THE better revelation means "a more excellent ministry," because Jesus Christ has now become "the mediator of a better covenant, which was established upon better promises," Hebrews 8:6.

The first covenant was imperfect, because it was manifest through humanity. Only the perfect son of the perfect God could manifest the better covenant.

Now that the better revelation is our portion, what shall be our response? One cannot be reassured today by claiming ignorance of God's proffered salvation unto all men. He has revealed his love in the death of his only begotten son on the cross. He has revealed his love in abounding and forbearing mercies.

"How shall we escape if we neglect so great salvation?" (Copyright by the International Council of Bible Students and Bible Workers, Inc., 1947. Released by ICBW features.)
