THREE MOVES EQUAL A FIRE

For the benefit of some of our friends who have become discouraged because they failed to get rich this year and who are determined to find the land where milk and honey flows free, we publish the following from the Farm and Ranch:

"With the short crops of the dry counties and drouth in many localities where it is usually humid there will be much moving. This is natural and yet we must utter some words of warning.

The drouths of this year have not been local; they have been almost universal. East and west north and south, rainfall has been far less than is usual, and so many localities have suffered that movers will find it difficult to find locations where drouth has not afflicted the land. It will be best to stay where you are unless you can be assured of bettering conditions elsewhere.

Moving always means loss, and it is said that three moves equal a fire, but losses are not all in property. To break up and move with no certainty of bettering conditions is hazardous. It may mean many losses financially, and is sure to mean the loss of friends and associations. In this it is well to look before you leap.

"There are people who must move because this is part of their nature and has become a habit, but these are little affected by drouths or other conditions—they must move on, and then move again."

EXPERT COTTON RAISERS

Jno. Ballew.

Somebody must correct some erroneous ideas set forth and put in black ink by the director of the South Carolina Experiment Station. After stating some pertinent facts about cotton this gentleman proceeds to say that cotton will not grow well on any type of soil except that which is well drained. That is a big bust.

In the semi arid sections the heaviest yields are found in places where the most water settles and is not allowed to drain off.

Secondly, the director says that lands that are intended to be cultivated in cotton should be plowed as deep and as early as possible. The early feature may be all right for all latitudes, altitudes and conditions. But the deep breaking is not advisable here. Our lands on the 100th meridian, altitude 1800 feet, latitude 32, need packing instead of loosening. Our ideal cotton stalks grow on hard packed turn-rows. A strip of cotton under observation this year where the land was broken deeply early last fall came near dying this summer from drouth. The land lay loose and open and evaporation was disastrous. Cotton alongside of this strip planted on firm land is very much better as is always the case here. In digging post holes to put in a fence it was found that a hole that came in the middle of hard packed road had much more moisture in it than those coming in unpacked dirt. It is also known that there is much more moisture content in the ground under hard packed lots than elsewhere.

The best stalk of cotton we have ever succeeded in growing was raised in the front yard where the sod never felt the touch of a plow and where the ground was patted "slick" by the bare feet of little children and packed hard by the bootheels of big men. If a stalk of cotton like this one could be raised on every square yard in an acre of land that acre would yield three bales of 500 pounds each.

Circulation is not good here, but it is far better in firmed land than in loose porous soil.

Evaporation is much more rapid in deep broken, loose land than in hard packed land. If the fine little particles of soil are pressed close together circulation is for better and evaporation much less. P. S. What does our Demonstrator think about it. J. B.

Neuralgia of the face, shoulder, hands, or feet requires a powerful remedy that will penetrate the flesh, Ballard's Snow Liniment possesses that power. ROWENA FAIR.

In the write-up of the Rowena fair in Tuesday's daily there was a number of points that the writer over looked. We have heard many comments since our return from the fair by the citizens of Ballinger and all say with an accord that it was a decided success and we are all ready to take off our hats to Banker A. C. Homann, Theo. Schuhmann and the band of faithful workers who helped him to make the event possible and such a grand success and it has been said that it was a great pity every man, woman and child in this section could not have seen the exhibits. The hustling, hospitable citizens of the Rowena country certainly deserve much credit for this demonstration. A. B. Hoelscher, one of the pioneer and prosperous citizens, had 11 articles on exhibition and was awarded seven blue ribbons and two red ribbons. His baled oats were splendid and was baled by W. L. Patterson's gasoline baler made by the International Harvester Co. Another of the prominent exhibitors was B. Mattheison, who had 18 articles and took eleven prizes, and John Englert received several awards on his exceedingly fine feed crops among which was some splendid seeded Ribbon cane.

Taken all in all this fair would have done credit to a town of many times the size of our little sister city of Rowena.

Deafness Cannot Be Cured.

by local application, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube is inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by Catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by Catarrh) that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

MRS. MAUD VANCIL ENTERTAINS.

One of the most handsomely appointed functions of the season was given Saturday afternoon from four to six by Mrs. Maud Vancil at her palatial home on Sixth street. The raison d'etre being the announcement of the approaching marriage of one of our most popular young ladies, Miss Mae Penn to Mr. Garland Parks October 6th 1913. Mrs. Vancil's clever versatility has long been known, but she outshone her prestige on this occasion, being not only mistress of a most novel and unique affair, but mistress of that art of touching the pulse of the guests and tuning the spirit of the keynote of congeniality. Miss Katy Bell Gregory in her charming manner met the guests at the door and ushered them into the elegant reception hall, where they were greeted by the hostess, whose gentle modesty and high bred bearing fit well with her beautiful gown of white liberty silk over panne satin with pearl trimmings. Mrs. Will Penn ushered the guests to the punch bowl, which was almost hidden by roses and springer, where a delightful nectar with iced marcham cherries was served by Mrs. Harold Tucker and Miss Maggie Sharp.

The reception hall was a veritable bower to Fair Flora, palms, ferns and American Beauties lending their graceful loveliness and sweet fragrance to the scene, forming a fitting frame for the elegant costumes which graced the occasion.

The parlor was decked in a wreath of beautiful blossoms and graceful greens, La France roses with flimsy pink tulle, being used in gorgeous clusters on piano, mantle and cabinet. The curtains were drawn and the electroliers and candleabrum shaded in tone with the blossoms. Crystal vases and brass pots were filled with Victoria roses in the library, an effective treatment of terraces of the chaste roses and dewy ferns hanging in pretty abandon over mantle and bookcases.

After a short, but very enjoyable musical programme by Misses Hattie Hutton, Louise Doss, Bertha Rasbury and Mrs. Harry Thompson, the guests were entertained by a reading by the bright and winsome little Francis Mae Smith; this was followed by a musical contest which put to test the ability of the guests with familiar musical terms.

Tiny notes began falling by magic, as it were, and upon investigation were found to be love messages, then the double doors from the parlor to the spacious dining room were thrown open, and there indeed the guests beheld a dream of beauty.

The dining room was entered through curtains of smilax and English ivy, the color scheme of pink and green was carried out in every detail. Saucy cupids with golden wings, perching in wreaths of English ivy were suspended from the chandeliers and every nook by pink tulle. The buffet and mantle were a perfect bank of pink rose buds. The handsome round board was covered with Assyrian lace over pink satin, the center piece was a pink crepe bag, tied with fluffy bows of pink bebe ribbons which were attached to the names of the guests, were also tied to the necks of hand painted cats, whose heads could be seen apparently trying to escape from the bag. After all had "let the cat out of the bag," found attached to each the following proclamation with the golden seal of the State of Texas: "Know Ye All, Whereas Garland, son of John, of the house of Parks, and May, daughter of Will of the house of Penn, having reached years of discretion and understanding, seek admission into the State of Matrimony.

"I Daniel Cupid, Governor of said State, hereby proclaim them candidates for such admission on or after October sixth, Nineteen Hundred and Thirteen.

Written under my hand and seal on this twenty-seventh day of September Nineteen Hundred Thirteen.

"DANIEL CUPID."

While showers of good wishes were falling on the honoree, who was most becomingly dressed in a matinee gown of white silk crepe over messaline with a touch of blue, the guests were served with mint ice and lady fingers, a La France rose adorning each plate.

The guests then repaired to the drawing room, where the lights had been extinguished, the fire from the grate lending the only ray of light.

A table bearing a miniature well was brought in by an old witch, who added horror to the already weird surroundings, the witch drew the fortune of each guest from the well by means of a tiny "oaken bucket which hung in the well." This afforded much pleasure to some, while others, by their look of despair, did not relish what was in store for them. The hostess was assisted in entertaining by Madames Will Penn, Harold Tucker, Misses Louise Orgain, Maggie Sharp, Bertha Rasbury, Edna McDaniels, Stella McDaniel, Polk. The guests reluctantly departed, carrying with them the memories of a most delightful afternoon. The following were the invited guests: Madames E. L. Hagan, D. P. Moser, C. S. Miller, Holt Smith, E. L. Rasbury, Troy Simpson, Edwin Day, George Holman, W. W. Fowler, Paul Trimnier, J. Y. Pearce, Emma Nash, J. A. Weeks, U. P. Melton, Spiars, J. F. Currie, Conda Wylie, R. L. Maddox, R. W. Bruce, J. Asa Cordill, the jeweler, had some fine young pecan trees in his yard at his home place on 9th street and one of the trees has a twig on it on which there is twelve fully developed nuts nearly ready to fall from the hull. This is the largest number of pecans we ever heard or read of; seven or eight being a good average for one twig of pecans.

DON'T EXPERIMENT.

You Will Make No Mistake if You Follow This Advice.

Never neglect your kidneys. If you have pain in the back, urinary disorders, dizziness and nervousness, it's time to act and no time to experiment. These are frequently symptoms of kidney trouble, and a remedy which is recommended for the kidneys should be taken in time.

Doan's Kidney Pills are a good remedy to use. It has acted effectively in many cases in this vicinity.

Can Ballinger residents demand further proof than the following testimonial?

R. D. Johnson, Coleman, Tex., says: "Some years ago I began to have pains across my back for which I tried several kinds of remedies and consulted doctors. Nothing seemed to do me good until I took Doan's Kidney Pills, which were recommended to me. Having used so many other kinds of medicine, I found it took some time before they acted satisfactorily, but after using one box I began to find relief. I continued taking them and they cured me. I have since enjoyed good health with no symptoms of a return attack. I am pleased to recommend this remedy to my friends."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York sole agents for the United States.

Remember the name—Doan's—and take no other.
