Memorial Day---

more than just a day...

"LONG MAY SHE WAVE"---"We will pay any price, We will bear any burden, We will endure any hardship, All this we pledge - and more."John F. Kennedy. May your Memorial Day be a pleasant one.

"Memorial Day is set aside by National directive to be observed in remembrance of those who have given their lives in service to their country. And, it is because of that service, so gallantly rendered, and the millions of lives so bravely given, that we breathe the air of freedom today. Freedom has been purchased at a great price and it may yet require great sacrifices to preserve it," states Bailey County Judge Glen Williams.

Decorated Day, or Memorial Day, had its beginnings in 1868 when the Commander in Chief of the Grand Army of the Republic, General John A. Logan designated that the graves of fallen soldiers of the Civil War be decorated with flowers. Up thru the years the memorial service became a wide spread event with each community participating in the honor services. Since the Second World War, Memorial Day has been set aside to commemorate the men who have given their lives in defense of God and Country. As a patriotic holiday, it is second only to Independence Day.

Judge Williams further elaborated, "There are veterans of World War I, World War II, Korea and Vietnam living in our own county. Since World War II, Bailey County has constantly maintained a Veteran's Service Officer to assist these men with their needs and to help them take advantage of veteran's opportunities."

"A number of Bailey County and employees have served in the military, including District Judge Jack D. Young, former County Agent, J.K. Adams, former Justice of the Peace Joe Vaughn, former County Commissioner, H.L. Lowery, former Sheriff, A.H. Freeman, County Commissioners R.L. Scott and James Warren, Jearld Otwell, Ruben Leal, Elmo Owen, Everett Talley and a Cont. Page 6, Col. 4

New Hospital Board Honors Past Members

Thursday evening, May 21, former hospital board members were honored with an informal get-together in the Board room of the hospital.

Doing the honors was Delbert Watson, President of the Board. In expressing his appreciation along with the other present board members, Watson said, "Since no formal acknowledgement of your (the past board members) service to the community, the hospital board and the staff has ever been publicly made, we would like to take this opportunity to tell you how much your work and dedication has meant to this community.

Much deep thought and appreciation from each of us has been expressed at every board meeting we've had."

Vice President of the Board, Bob Finney added to this tribute by saying "We, the board members served, some very troubled times came to pass. What we have here now is very special, and it is because someone was willing to take risks that were not easy decisions."

Board member Jesse Leal stated: "We are proud of you and what you have done; and, we are thankful to have people of your caliber in our community."

Former members who were honored and presented with plaques were: Max King, Frank Hinkson, Robert Hooten, Charles Pummill, J.R. Carter, Bob Jones, Haney Poyner, & Gary Albertson. Although some of the past members honored were not present, a "thank you" was made by Haney Poyner in their behalf. "We are proud to have been associated with Cont. Page 6, Col. 6

Soil Stewardship Observed May 24 - 31

"Society's Pressure Point" is the theme of this is national observance of Soil Stewardship Week and the Blackwater Valley Soil and Water Conservation District will join in the nationwide celebration of the observance scheduled for May 24-31" said James Wedel, chairman of the district.

"The purpose of Soil Stewardship Week is to remind all people that soil, water and related renewable resources are gifts from our Creator and that these gifts warrant our best in creative conservation and considerate management," added Tom Little who is also one of five directors of The SWCD.

In reflecting on the theme of this year's observance Wedel said that conservation districts state and nationwide are concerned about the shrinking resource base of soil and water caused by public pressures on these resources while at the same time contemplating the needs of an expanding world population.

"We must remember that other generations will follow us. They are going to require the same or greater needs than what we require because their population will be more numerous. Consequently we are obliged in the name of humanity to develop and follow a policy which will conserve and protect these Cont. Page 7, Col.3

Williams Gives Court Overview

The County Court docket was called at 9:30 a.m. May 21 with 22 cases set for trial, and called at that time. All cases were disposed of except two or three, a trial date will be set for them in the very near future.

A previous docket call had been made on April 20, and at numerous times before. So the County Court docket is in excellent shape, with only two or three cases pending. And they will be disposed of shortly according to Bailey County Judge, Glen Williams. This means that virtually every case that can be tried has been tried. That has always been the policy of the Court, and the Judge stated "as long as I am in office it will continue to be."

It is almost inevitable that, in every Court, cases are filed when the whereabouts of the defendant is not known. And in those

Glenn Craft Awarded Diploma

Glenn Craft, son of Jimmy Craft and the late Jean Craft of the Earth - Springlake Community, was recently awarded the Guild High School Diploma by the National Guild of Piano Teachers. Glenn is the piano student of Elaine Damron of Muleshoe.

To be awarded this diploma, the student must be a high school senior and play a piano audition passing very rigid requirements specified by the Guild. Glenn played a program of ten memorized pieces, representing the four periods of music, including a prelude and fugue of Bach and a complete sonata of advanced difficulty. He was also examined of five musicianship phases, including chords-cadences, arpeggios, ear training, transposition and sight-reading.

The audition took over an hour and Glenn came out with a very, very high "Superior Plus" for a grade. Mr. Mark Pair of Wayland Baptist College, Plainview, was the judge and was very lavish in his praise of Glenn's outstanding pianistic performance and his Musicianship," Mrs. Damron said.

Glenn will also be the recipient of the Guild one hundred dollar scholarship, by having met the prerequisite requirements of receiving both the Paderewski Medal and the High School Diploma Guild Diploma. Glenn had previously received the Paderewski Medal From the Guild last year by virtue of having played a National Program (10 or more memorized pieces) for twelve years.

He was presented in a senior piano recital Sunday, May 10 at 3:00 p.m. at his home. His program included "Sonata" (1780) by Haydn, "Toccata" by Bastien, "I Write the Songs" by Johnston, "Liebestraum" by Liszt, "Waltz Op. 39, No. 10" by Brahms, "Sonata" K570 by Mozart, and "Rondo Capriccioso" by Mendelssohn. Glenn will be attending school this fall at Texas Tech University.

Courts...

ants are not apprehended. That creates a backlog of cases, but they cannot be tried until the defendant is located, arrested, brought into Court, and makes his appearance explained Williams.

The Bailey County Court docket is currently holding a substantial backlog of cases because of this situation. All cases however that can be set for trial HAVE BEEN SET - and they will continue to be. "It is the policy of this Court," said Judge Williams "to attend to Court matters in as prompt, courteous, and judicious manner as is possible." He further stated, quoting a famous jurist of old, "when the case shall be I will do that which is proper for a Judge to do - and nothing more."

The County Attorney's office has been vacant since the resignation of Gordon H. "Corky" Green October 1, 1980. The prosecution of cases in County Court has been done by Jack Young, former District Attorney, now District Judge, by Johnny Atkinson, the present District Attorney, and by Martha Brown, a private attorney. Ms. Brown has recently begun practice in Muleshoe, and we wish her well.

Those attorneys have willingly served the interests of Bailey County and are to be commended for it. This arrangement has saved Bailey County in excess of $8,000.00 Money that otherwise would have been spent for salaries and fringe benefits.

I want to sell only to the people in this area because they are friendlier and easier to get along with."

In talking with a number of veterans, some expressed the feelings of the everyday man who fought for his country and survived to come home to the land and family he loved. One veteran expressed his thoughts for fallen comrades left in foreign lands - buddies he lived side by side with lost in some lonely combat.

One veteran expressed the feeling that "Liberty is a thing most of us take for granted; we don't realize what we have until it is threatened." Still, others express the wish to "forget the tragedy and heartbreak of the conflicts" --and in the same breath stated, "I would do it again if the need became a reality."

In search of an answer to the question of the feelings that mothers have, one asked the questions, "How many Mother's hearts, who have sent sons to war, are not stirred by the strains of 'America the Beautiful' or the 'Battle Hymn of the Republic.' How many fathers can watch OLD GLORY waving proudly in a bright blue sky and not feel the fierce pride in himself, his sons and his country?"

One prominent citizen who is a veteran expressed the feeling that "when it comes down to the bottom line, when and if the need arises, we will see many of our American youth front and center for 'God', Mother and Country."

Some say patriotism is a thing of the past -- dead -- gone. Other local veterans refute this idea by words and most of all by deeds. Police Chief Hicks noted, "Our youth of today have not really been threatened with the loss of freedom -- of speech, of family, of country; but, when and if ever they are, some of us old fashioned Americans believe they will come through with shining colors; doing what has to be done, as their fathers and grand fathers before them."

Judge Williams expressed the hope that "On this special day, let us all give thanks for the good things we do have, instead of lamenting the fact that we don't have more. Let us be proud of our country, our people and especially our heritage." He further stated: "I hope that Memorial Day will be observed in a dignified way with a deep appreciation for the great and good land that we have inherited; and with a firm determination to preserve it."

the Board. We were not looking for thanks, nor did we expect any. We enjoyed working for the ultimate goal that we have come to realize."

A large plaque was also presented which will hang in the lobby of the hospital with each board member's name and dates of service inscribed.

After the appreciation ceremony, guest and board members were given a tour of new hospital facilities. The most impressive and updated of these is a Diagnostic Ultra Sound Machine, more commonly known as a "Sono". This new innovation for the West Plains Medical Center was demonstrated by Dr. Bruce Purdy and Dr. Gary Albertson.

In explaining the procedures used and what possibilities the machine has in the diagnostic field, Purdy stated that "when examining expectant mothers or one who possibly might be pregnant, the new equipment can sometimes be a lifesaver. Pregnancy may be detected as early as 4 to 5 weeks; tubular pregnancies are detectable with the Sono. With this equipment we can detect a lot of possible complications and act upon them before they become emergencies. We can detect movement of the fetus before the mother can feel it; we can see babies sucking their thumbs and moving around inside the womb. Sex of the unborn child can also be determined sometimes."

The doctors used on of the board members to demonstrate how internal problems with organs such as the gall bladder, pancreas and blood clots can be detected. The Ultra Sound machine may also be used for detection of masses in the breast or clots in the veins. "This is strictly sound waves and no radiation is involved." Whereas, people of the community formerly had to travel to Lubbock or Clovis for this type of service, we can perform it right here and if there is a problem, get to it immediately," said Purdy.

Other equipment shown was the new computer which is hoped will completely update the hospital's billing and cash flow system, said Dan Powers, who is associated with the hospital in the position of consultant. Powers resides in Brownfield and is consultant for several other hospitals, traveling to them when needed as well as on a scheduled basis. Powers also commended Larry Calvert for his new administration and the things that had been accomplished since his tenure.

In closing, Powers stated: "A hospital is people-its staff. We are doing a lot of behind the scenes work with the staff and the employees to make this a ideal working situation and give benefits and salaries which are comparable to other institutions in even larger cities."

resource. Our prime farmlands, our ranges, our forests, and our water supplies must fall within the embrace of this plan so that we can perpetuate and guarantee productivity."

In speaking of the organization and structure of the Blackwater Valley SWCD Wedel said that the district was organized on March 20, 1941 for the purpose of offering farmers, ranchers, and the local community a voluntary conservation technical assistance program through which individuals could seek and request conservation assistance to meet their individual land's capabilities and needs.

"Basically it is the district's responsibility to provide technical assistance when requested relative to proper soil use and treatment, erosion control practices, solve drainage problems and assist farmers and ranchers with crop, range and pastureland management."

"To alleviate the pressure points on our soil, water and renewable resources as stressed in the Soil Stewardship Week theme will require individual and collective decision making in the private and public sectors of society."

The conservation district director stressed that public recognition of pressure points, the clarification of values, utilizing the processes for necessary changes including the exercising of initiative and leadership will result in the alleviation of pressures on our renewable natural resources.

"The luxury of possessing unlimited natural resources to be consumed without concern for good stewardship no longer exists. We need to remember that civilizations have risen to greatness on a base of seemingly plentiful resources then shriveled to inconsequential status when the leadership demonstrated a lack of vision and an inability to anticipate the needs of the future," he said.

Sponsor of the national Soil Stewardship Week observance is the National Association of Soil and Water Conservation Districts. The organization has sponsored the annual event since 1955 in cooperation with the nation's nearly 3,000 soil and water conservation districts.

Where's the wheat growth market for the '80's? Overseas, says agricultural economist, Dr. Michael Cook. Citing increased dependence on food supplies by foreign countries and increased dependence on foreign markets by U.S. producers, he believes agricultural exports are increasing sharply to both developing and centrally planned countries. While agreeing this is good, Cook cautions these are the most politically volatile areas lending to a greater dollar risk. U.S. agricultural exports rose from $6.9 billion in 1970 to $40.5 billion last year. A 3 percent increase in food and fiber demand is predicted in the next few years with world-wide changes from a grain diet to one with more animal protein being part of the reason. Cook's statement emphasized increased agricultural production and decreased resources of energy, water, land and credit will be the key to future growth in agriculture.

Legislature Giving Gasohol "Bad Time Of It"

Gasohol production in Texas took a major step forward following the overwhelming approval by the House of Representatives of House Bill 24 by Dan Kubiak of Rockdale. The legislation provides for a temporary five cent exemption from the state motor fuels tax which will become effective on September 1, 1981.

The overwhelming vote of confidence given to gasohol by the House through this vote supports what we have been stating all along," said Texas Farmers Union President Mike Moeller. "In order to stimulate production of gasohol which will make it more independent of imported oil, Texas needs to grant this exemption to gasohol which will make it competitive with unleaded gasoline," Moeller explained. The House passed the bill on a final vote of 134 to 5 on Wednesday, May 13.

Passage of the measure in the house had the support of the TPU, the Grain Products Cooperative and every general farm organization in Texas except one. Opponents of gasohol in the House attempted to kill the bill by offering a watered down version of the measure which Texas Farm Bureau endorsed. Opponents wanted a shorter effective time for the tax exemption and more importantly wanted the tax removed when the price of unleaded gasoline hit $1.80 per gallon in Texas. "Putting an artificial ceiling on the bill like the one proposed by the Farm Bureau would effectively kill gasohol production," Moeller stated. "No one can predict when that price may be reached, lenders could not be expected to put up money for financing alcohol plants under that kind of uncertainty and gasoline prices could be artificially manipulated to reach the ceiling," the TPU President remarked.

The task of approving gasohol now lies before the Texas Senate. Moeller stated the Senate should approve the bill because "gasohol is a proven renewable energy resource which will be of benefit to both farmers and to consumer." Farmers will have new markets for their grain products while consumers will benefit from the competitive price of gasohol and the reduction of oil needed.

Texas, which is the number one refining state and the number two state in agriculture in the nation, is a logical place for alcohol production. "Right now we are the only state in the Southwest which does not grant an exemption for gasohol," Moeller said. "Without this exemption bill, Texas will lose an important new industry which will provide many new jobs and additional tax revenues for local governments and public schools." Moeller pointed out the nickel exemption has also

Favorable Points of Reagan Tax Plan Being Overlooked

In the intensifying debate in Washington over President's Reagan's anti-inflation program, embracing both spending and tax reductions, critics of the tax plan overlook its favorable impact in small business. To these critics, millions of US business proprietors and entrepreneurs are neither fish nor fowl.

To them the question is not whether the tax plan helps the economy but simply another replay of the favorite old Washington political game of using the tax system to redistribute income. All they want to debate is whether the rich will get more than the poor.

Of course, the poor pay little or no taxes under our system of graduated -- or progressively higher -- income tax rates. But that is beside the point, to those critics, as is the fact that fully three percent of all those interviewed in a scientific nationwide survey, when asked whether they would save or spend most of any tax savings, replied they paid no taxes at all. Those who claim they would line to tilt tax savings toward the poor also are not interested in the fact that lower-income groups comprising the bottom 46 percent of US taxpayers pay less than four percent of all income taxes.

The reductions--totaling 30 percent in individual income tax rates over three years--are designed to distribute the savings in approximately the same pattern, or proportion, as people pay their personal income taxes. Thus income groups paying the bulk of the tax will receive the largest share of the tax reductions. In turn, their savings will enable them, along with business, to save and invest in the creation of new jobs and improving productivity.

But perhaps more importantly, the poor-versus-rich diversion ignores the fact that millions of US small businesses, the greatest source of new jobs in our economy, do not pay income taxes as corporations but pay their income taxes as individual taxpayers, and thus will be directly benefited by the Reagan Plan.

This point has been emphasized by the US Chamber of Commerce, which represents more than 112,000 businesses -- 85 percent of them employing fewer than 100 persons.

The Chamber has officially endorsed the full Reagan package, which in many respects is similar to "Let's Rebuild, America", an economic recovery program unveiled by the Chamber a year ago.

Dr. Richard L. Leshner, president of the US Chamber, believes that the tax reduction slated for small businesses that pay taxes as individuals is "one of the compelling arguments" in favor of the Reagan plan for across-the-board cuts in tax rates -- "and one that is totally ignored." He adds:

"The overwhelming majority of 14 million firms in America are unincorporated small businesses which are exposed to steeply graduated personal rates.

"Even many incorporated small businesses -- more than 350,000 -- are exposed to the same rates, because they elect to pay taxes through individual shareholders."

He points out that approximately 600,000 small firms failed last year, and that the economic well-being of small enterprises is essential to a national recovery.

"We must allow entrepreneurs to retain a greater share of their earnings to recycle back into their enterprises," he says.

In testimony before the House Ways and Means Committee, Edwin S. Cohen, chairman of the Chamber's taxation committee, explained that almost 90 percent of US businesses taxable in 1977 paid taxes at individual rates, and thus should benefit directly from the proposed reduction in rates.

Is there any doubt that small businesses -- particularly those struggling to grow and prosper -- would use their extra money left by a cut in tax rates to expand and create jobs? History says they would. According to the House Committee on Small Business, small businesses supply half of the US's goods and services and an overwhelming majority of all newly created jobs.

RECIPE

Liver should be served once once a week because of its nutritional and iron content. This is one of the many ways liver can be served.

Liver Italiane

- 1 T flour
- 1/4 t seasoned salt
- 1/8 t seasoned pepper
- 4 slices beef liver
- 1/2 pound Italian Sweet-sausage links, cut into 1/2-inch slices
- salad oil
- 1/4 c catchup
- 2 T dry sherry
- 2 T Worcestershire
- 1 large onion, chopped
- 1 medium green pepper, chopped

Combine flour, seasoned salt and pepper; coat liver. In Dutch oven over low heat, saute sausage slices until browned, about 15 minutes; remove and set aside. To drippings, add 1 tablespoon oil, if needed, then add liver and brown on both sides, about 3 minutes.

In medium bowl, blend catchup, sherry, Worcestershire and 1/4 c water; pour over meat. Add sausage, onion and green pepper. Cover; simmer 10 minutes or until vegetables are tender-crisp. Baste occasionally.

Makes 4 servings.
