Gib Sandefer Aims At Congress Post In Coming Election

Gib Sandefer, rancher, lecturer and former business manager of athletics of Hardin-Simmons University, and for years manager of that institution's world famous Cowboy Band, has announced his candidacy for Congress from the 17th district, and is planning an intensive campaign throughout the district prior to the Democratic primaries July 27.

Sandefer, known throughout the world as "That Fellowship man from Texas," doesn't make any claims of being a great statesman, nor does he have any designs for reforming Congress or the world.

"My friends have been after me for several months to make this campaign," Sandefer said in announcing his formal entry into the campaign for Congressman, Sam Russell's seat in the House of Representatives of the nation's Congress.

"I think I know the people of West Texas, and elected to Congress I'll go there as their representative and will work for their best interests. I will work, first and last, for the welfare of the district's citizens."

"Like my son-in-law, the late Will Rogers once said, I have never met a man I don't like, and I don't expect to know I don't like. I am running campaign for the office of what the verdict may be on July 27. I'm looking forward to having a little fellowship with the voters of this district during the next few months."

"And if the voters of this district think I can best represent them in Congress, I'll go up there and have a little fellowship with the boys in Washington; tell them about the needs and problems of the people of my district, and of the possibilities for future growth and development of this great section of our state."

Sandefer, a son of the late Dr. Jefferson Davis Sandefer, president of Hardin-Simmons University for 31 years, and of Mrs. Sandefer, virtually grew up on the campus of the institution his father headed for almost one third of a century. Following graduation in 1927, Sandefer remained to assist his father in the development of the institution into one of the leading schools of West Texas.

In the years that followed Sandefer was business manager of the school's athletic program and as such was able to bring nationwide recognition to Hardin-Simmons University. He also was manager of the colorful Cowboy Band. The band toured 12 foreign countries on three continents, traveling some 500,000 miles spreading the tradition of the Texas cowboy in music and spirit.

During World War II Sandefer served as representative of the American Red Cross in far flung combat areas of the global conflict. In Africa, Italy and in the China-Burma India theater, Sandefer took his "fellowship" right to the end of the Lede road and learned that war at its worst or best is hell on earth. It was while serving with American and Allied troops in the muck and mire

Rites For Mrs. M. T. Walters Are Held Saturday

Funeral rites for Mrs. M. T. Walters, 70, were held at Flatwood last Saturday afternoon at 8 o'clock with Rev. Williams of Abilene officiating. Burial was in the Flatwood cemetery with Higglebatham Undertakers of Gorman in charge.

Mrs. Walters, known to her friends as Aunt Mag, passed away in the hospital in Ranger on Friday after a lingering illness of several months. She had resided in and around Carbon for the past 55 years. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. R. C. Putnam of Carbon, a number of nephews and nieces and a host of friends.

of the Gorman campaign that he will have more confidence than any other man in the district and a more thorough understanding of the other man's problems and way of life can the future peace of the world be assured.

After returning to this country following overseas service, Sandefer made a 42 state tour for the War Advertising Council in behalf of the American Red Cross. In recent months he has continued to further his worldwide fellowship and educational ideas as a speaker for the National Dinner Clubs and the Associated Club Network, of which the Can't It So?

A NUMBER of men who never think of making wives of their cooks make cooks of their wives. It's all right to make things go as far as possible, but it isn't good policy to stretch the truth. The man who looks for difficulties will often find two where he expected one. When the shepherd is a crook himself he ought to feel sheepish. If there are two sides to a difficult question, laugh until they both ache. Many a man puts his best foot forward only to find another foot in the way.

Nazi Germany Kept Rigid Surveillance Over Citizens

Nazi Germany kept its citizens under complete surveillance through an incredibly complex system of records and identification papers, says Collier's. Among the scores of various records was a thorough and up-to-the-minute register kept by each police station of every person in its precinct, including his activities and whereabouts which were obtained, for example, by requiring hotels and hospitals to make detailed reports of their incoming and outgoing guests and patients. Among the numerous papers each individual was required to carry was a Certificate of Conduct which showed whether he had a police record.

Role of Rocket In War Is Told

Starting With Nothing, by End of War We Were in Lead With Weapons.

WASHINGTON. — At the outbreak of war, our armed forces were like kids without fireworks on the Fourth of July as far as rockets were concerned. But the handicap was made up in deadly fashion, says the United Press. The army and navy lifted secrecy on more of their wartime rocket weapons. In a report issued jointly with the office of scientific research and development, they said: "When the Jap attack on Pearl Harbor catapulted the United States into war, our army and navy had not a single rocket in service use. Plans for rockets were limited."

The report also frankly admitted that as late as June, 1940—after the fall of France—the armed forces showed only "mild interest" in suggestions of a civilian scientist that rockets could and should be developed. Ideas Proved Sound. The scientist was Dr. C. N. Hickman of Bell Telephone Laboratories. He was one of the leading rocket scientists of the recent war, and every one of his ideas proved sound in combat.

We didn't start a rocket program until July, 1940, and we were well into the war before a single rocket missile was hurled at the enemy. We had to depend heavily at first on the experience of the British. Nevertheless, the report declared, by the end of the war we had: Fired millions of rockets ranging in weight from 3 pounds to almost 1,300, in velocity from 65 to 1,500 feet per second, and having ranges up to 10,000 yards.

Used rockets as weapons for foot soldiers, airplanes, jeeps, tanks, trucks and virtually every type of naval craft. Wide Variety of Uses. Employed rockets to smear submerged submarines; to knock out tanks and planes; to spearhead the Normandy breakthrough in 1944 and assault landings all the way from Oran to Okinawa.

Virtually created a new powder industry. Utilized rockets for training and as gas-igniting mixtures for the anti-air devices; launching the American experimental version of the buzz bomb; offsetting the recoil of guns; furnishing high pressure gas for flame throwers—and even driving holes for telephone poles.

By V-J Day, the combined military services were procuring rockets at a cost rate of 1,850 million dollars a year.

The nation's rocket program was carried on jointly by the "rocket division" of the national defense research committee—a branch of OSRD—and by military scientists.

The NDRG group was headed by Dr. F. L. Howde. Research activities were centered at George Washington university in Washington, D. C. and at California Institute of Technology, Pasadena.

Will Print UNO Data in Five Official Languages. NEW YORK. — United Nations documents will be printed in the five official languages—English, French, Russian, Spanish and Chinese. Day-by-day translations are given in the two working languages—English and French. The documents will thus be headed: English—United Nations. French—Nations Unies. Spanish—Naciones Unidas. Russian—You need Russian type, but it would go something like this: O—e-neth-u-e haunn. Chinese—It will be done by hand with characters, running vertically on the paper instead of in the conventional horizontal fashion. Delegates said they hoped to have a newly-developed Chinese typewriter operating here before the end of the year.

Police Car Is Wrecked, Culprits Have Some Fun. COOS BAY, ORE.—The dismounting of Coos Bay police are having a bitter time. Since the force's lone car was wrecked last Saturday, police say they are "having a party." Be called to three fights, but arrived after everyone dispersed. Spotted car thieves whom they couldn't pursue. Gloomily watched motorists speeding about with no one to catch them and shouting coy remarks to the foot-bound cops.

Village Will Hold Centennial Fete

Rounds Out 100 Years as a Part of United States.

MONTEREY, CALIF. — This picturesque fishing village on the shores of Monterey is preparing to celebrate its centennial as a part of the United States. It was 100 years ago this summer, on July 16, 1840, when John D. Sloat, commanding a fleet of the U. S. Navy, sailed into Monterey bay to take possession of the sunny little seaport which was then the most important battle before the town fell to his small fleet.

However, the inhabitants of the fishing village were of another mind. They welcomed the commodore and the fishing members of his command with festivities that lasted for two days. In the 100 years that have elapsed since the flag of the United States was first flown above Monterey, the fishing village has become the sardine capital of the world. However, citizens still observe many of the picturesque customs handed down from their ancestors. First from their ancestors were left homes in Spain as far back as 1770 to cast their nets in the uncharted waters of a new land.

With the ending of the sardine fishing season, an activity that has become a 20 million dollar industry for the village, fets and fiestas are held. During the sardine season, from August 1 until February 15, the village bustles with activity for 24 hours of the day. As the schools of sardines are spotted by the phosphorescent glow they create, all fishing is done at night and in the dark of the moon. One of the picturesque sights of the Pacific coast which visitors make journeys to see is the 75 to 80 purse-seiner sardine fleet heading out to sea on a sunny afternoon for the night's fishing. These boats and their crew-wise 12-man crews range north along the coast of the Farallon Islands of San Francisco or south to the San Simon in quest of the netter harvest. In the same nets, each hand-made and used 10,000 catches that range from 140 to 250 tons a boat are hauled aboard. During the season, skilled sardine fishermen from the Pacific coast, turning out to sea in preference to the American can company, which operates a factory here to produce cans for the industry. To take care of the catch the can company's production lines ran throughout the week of 24-hour schedules, turning out 2 1/2 million cans. Another record was established when the fishermen netted 18 million pounds of sardines in a single hour.

While the fishing season is underway mothers, wives and daughters of the fishermen work in the community 12 canneries, sometimes from early morning until late into the night when the catch is heavy. With the ending of the season, the community resumes a leisurely pace reminiscent in many ways of an old world fishing village. Here's Good Poultry Tip: Put That Turkey in Hay NEW BRUNSWICK, N. J. — For a plumper and more tender turkey the state department of agriculture at Rutgers university advises feeding the bird with—hay. However, Prof. Paul Margolf advises using baled hay in preference to the loose stuff. He found the birds had difficulty picking leaves off the loose stalks and sometimes swallowed the whole stalk.

Son of Headhunter Talks At Religious Conference MELBOURNE, AUSTRALIA. — Sara Hore, a Solomon islands chieftain and son of a headhunter, was one of the speakers at a conference of a religious organization. Black with pierced ears, he was dressed in white shirt and dark tie, a civilian suit coat, cloth skirt, stockings and polished shoes. He was ordained a minister in 1937 and has mastered typewriters, duplicators, printing and five languages, including English.

Reveals Japanese Got American Weather Data LOS ANGELES. — The Japs intercepted and broke U. S. weather codes, but failed to take full advantage of the information, Col. Theodore R. Gillenwaters, General MacArthur's top weatherman, said recently. Gillenwaters, home on terminal leave, said the Japs got all the meteorological data they wanted, despite censorship rules against mentioning weather.

AROUND THE HOUSE

In lengthening your daughter's dresses, sometimes a ridge appears where the old hem used to be. To conceal this, follow the line of the ridge with a row of rickrack braid. Stitch in place by machine. This treatment also gives the dress an attractive bit of trim. Use a stiff hand brush for removing silk from corn in a jiffy.

Plan a "play at home" night each week with games, music, stunts, story-telling and candy pulling besides.

Place a piece of waxed paper under the centerpiece you have on your fine table. Prevent stains from water and keeps cloth from sticking fast in hot water.

Tie a simple bow-knot in your hose with the nozzle protruding upward. Support it on a block, and presto. You have an improvised sprinkler head.

To prolong the life of children's shoestrings, stitch up and down them several times on the sewing machine.

Posies for Your Bathroom Made From One Yard of Flowered Chintz.

By Ruth Wyeth Spears

IT IS marvelous what you can do with a yard of flowered chintz. Just try cutting the posies out and spreading around for dramatic effect. Tint a faded bath mat and apply a stunning big rose in one corner, use others on towels; then make shower curtains of plain material with more roses applied. These intriguing ideas are from a 32-page booklet, "Make Your Own Curtains." Every page is illustrated so clearly that you can follow directions whether you have ever sewed before or not. With its help you may use both new and old materials to curtain your house as beautifully as if you hired a decorator. Readers may get copies of this booklet for the price of a stamp. A non-binding pattern, No. 258, for the spool shelves shown in the sketch also is included. Send orders with name and address to:

Kelfe and Fork Club is a part.
Speaking of the forthcoming campaign, Sandefor said, "It's going to be a pleasure to do business with the voters of the 17th district and I am looking forward to having a little fellowship with the people encompassed in these 12 counties."

Sandefor presents a concise, yet comprehensive platform for the consideration of the people of the 17th district. It follows:

For GI Joe and his sister Jane
—The help and encouragement of a grateful country, in every way that can be accomplished, for the war's disabled: All they need at whatever the cost.

For the farmer and stockman—
A legislative program geared to their needs, responsive to their wishes, and guided by their advice and consent, administered as far as possible by the farmers and stockmen themselves through boards representing their local or regional interests.

For the small business man—Recognition as the mainstay of the American system, assistance and encouragement wherever he needs it, protection against the powerful forces that would destroy his existence and a minimum of governmental interference in the conduct of his business.

For national defense—An adequate and alert military establishment, backed by continuing research and experimentation, offiered and manned by professional soldiers paid a decent wage, given an equal break in privilege and made to feel that their career is as honorable as it is ancient.

Foreign affairs—The principle of the Golden Rule, extended to all nations, all-out cooperation with peace loving peoples who desire only the rights of mankind and the enjoyment of peace and plenty.

Labor—Maintenance of the principles of collective bargaining, with a sharing of responsibility by labor, industry and government; the promotion of live-and-let-live attitude between capital and labor, with the rights of the public to be recognized and protected.

Oil—Continuance of the practice of conservation through cooperation of state and federal government, and the protection of the interests of the producer, landowner and consumer—which in the long run are identical.

Private enterprise—Government's chief concern should be to serve as umpire, to protect the young and the weak against the strong, the honest from the dishonest, and the good from the bad—with as little governmental control and regulation as possible.

No More He'll Say: For 2 Cents I'd--

Before William Faulkner, the author, wrote "Mirrors of Charles Street" for the Times-Picayune, he was postmaster at University, Miss.

On his last day in that exalted position, a friend inquired: "Bill, don't you have some kind of feeling about leaving this post-office the last time as his lord and master."

"Yes," replied Faulkner, "probably all my life I'll be at the beck and call of somebody who's got money, but never again will I be at the beck and call of every-so-and-so who's got 2 cents to buy a stamp."

Could Be "Can any of you children tell why King Nebuchadnezzar built the hanging gardens?" "Probably because his next-door neighbor kept chickens," answered Butch.

Hereditly is what we believe in until our children start proving it.

A Match "Call the manager! I never saw anything as tough as this steak." "You will, sir," replied the waiter, "if I call the manager."

IMPROVED UNIFORM INTERNATIONAL SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By HAROLD L. LINDQUIST, D. D. Director of the Institute of Christian Education, Released by Western Newspaper Union.

Lesson for June 16

Lesson subjects and Scripture texts selected and copyrighted by International Council of Christian Education; used by permission.

LEARNING ABOUT THE KINGDOM

LESSON TEXT—Luke 9:23, 24, 45-48, 57:2, 11:14, 12:1-5.

MEMORY SELECTION—The kingdom came. They will be come in earth, as it is in heaven.—Matthew 13:12.

Following Christ calls for the best in man. Weakness and watered-down religious philosophies and activities have no right to call themselves Christian.

Let us put away these insipid imitations of Christianity, which so often masquerade under its name, and face our time with a call to discipleship which demands a life of noble, manly and womanly quality.

I. Denial of Self (Luke 9:23, 24). A cross—that speaks at once of suffering and of death. We may not tend it to be an easy thing to follow him. A man must lose his life for Christ if he is to win it.

Note that the cross we bear does not refer to the trials or vexations of life. We should bear those as Christians, but there is something else in mind; namely, the complete denial of self-will, and the eager desire to do only God's will. And note also that this is required of every true Christian, not just of a few who are especially "consecrated."

II. Humility of Heart (Luke 9:46-48). The world looks up to the great, the mighty, and the rich. The disciples had caught that fever and were quarreling about who was to be greatest. What a tragic and disgraceful picture! But is it any different in the church today? Men are still determined to be "Mr. Big."

The follower of Jesus sees beyond the false earthly standard of greatness, and in humility ministers to the little child. And let him be received and served Jesus Christ himself, and has become greater than all the world-lingers.

III. Determination of Purpose (Luke 9:57-62). Following Christ is more than singing glibly or carelessly. "I'll go where you want me to go, dear Lord." The one who starts out with him is to count the cost (Luke 14:28-33). He must expect the same treatment of Christ (II Tim. 3:12) and be willing to take it gladly (John 15:20; 1 Pet. 2:21).

We ought to make this plain to professional believers. Tell young people the truth and you will see that they are ready to respond to it. They are willing to give themselves sacrificially for causes of this earth—why not for Christ?

Christianity is considerate and courteous, and our Lord is not here suggesting any neglect of the duties or amenities of life. The point is rather that the Lord must have first place, whatever else may call for second thought.

IV. Prayer of Faith (Luke 11:1-4). The one who is to follow Jesus must know how to pray—and to pray in faith. He must know how to hold up the world to God, and get things from God for this needy world.

There is no one who can teach us to pray better than Jesus, for he practiced what he preached. He prayed. It was seeing him pray that led the disciples to ask him to teach them to pray. Jesus taught his disciples a model prayer.

That verse 4 is not the prayer of the unsaved for forgiveness and regeneration, for that is all of grace (Eph. 2:8). The man outside (of the kingdom) gets his forgiveness with no condition; but once he is in the kingdom of the Son of God's kingdom, then he does not get forgiveness unless he is ready to forgive, unless he has forgiven" (Morgan).

V. Recognition of Christ (Luke 17:20, 21). The disciples thought of the kingdom as being "what," or even better "who," for the kingdom was present and operative right then became the King as there.

in" (v. 21), which really means "in your midst." It does not mean that the kingdom of God was within the hearts of the Pharisees, or within the social order, but that in the person of the King it was in the kingdom it was in their man of God. It rejected him, and so he is your King. What about us? Is he your King? Or do you also reject him?

How to Avoid these "BOOBY TRAPS" IN YOUR HOME!

What you can't see CAN hurt—says the National Safety Council! About 5,000,000 Americans are injured every year at home—33,500 fatally! Largest single cause: falling. To avoid shattering obstructions and other lethal "booby traps," carry your "Eveready" flashlight in dark areas. 2 Be sure all obstacles are cleared away. Linoleum or carpeting should be tacked down firmly. In attic or basement, pack all loose objects in nonflammable boxes stored against the walls. Don't rely on your knowledge of where obstacles are located—the next person may not have that knowledge. Moreover— 3 Know in advance where your fuse box, main water and gas valves, etc., are located; have a clear path to them. Armed with your "Eveready" flashlight, you can approach without fumbling in an emergency. Be sure loose wires are out of your way. 4 Keep your "Eveready" flashlight always in the same convenient place—so you won't be tempted to do without it because it can't be located. Keep it filled with "Eveready" batteries—they're again available at your dealer's. "Eveready" batteries are the largest-selling flashlight batteries in all the world! Prayer

There are many people who claim to be christians who do not go to church very often, but who are always finding fault with those who do go, till it makes us wonder if they have really accepted Jesus as their personal Savior.

We believe those fault finders would do more good by doing some constructive work and less criticism. Prayer can make one see the good that's in another instead of the bad.

"If your neighbor doesn't live like he ought, don't criticize him, pray for him. If he is hiding his light under a bushel, don't fuss about him, pray for him. If he takes the Lord's name in vain, don't talk about him, pray for him. If he makes foolish excuses about God's work, you'll help him if you pray for him. When he continually makes mistakes it may be because you don't pray for him."

"Judge not that ye be not judged." Matt. 7:1.

Sunday School Picnic

Members of the Young Men's S. S. Class of the Baptist Church entertained their families with an outing and picnic supper at the Eastland City Park last Thursday evening. The supper, which was prepared by the men, consisted of fried spuds, roasted wieners, nickies, cookies and coffee. All report an enjoyable evening.

Those attending were Rev. Glenn Willison, teacher of the class, Mrs. Willison and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Marvin Hayes and children, Mr. and Mrs. Johnny Holloway and children, Mr. and Mrs. Bud Clark and son, Mr. and Mrs. Dulin Sandlin and children, Mr. and Mrs. Leak Lane, Mr. and Mrs. Merritt Dunn, Abe Hall and Edgar White; invited guests, Mr. and Mrs. Ben Stephenson and son.

Card Of Thanks

We want to thank the good people of Carbon for the nice food and the beautiful floral offering, also Dr. Jackson and the doctors and nurses at the Ranger Hospital for their kindness during the illness and at the death of our sister and aunt, Mrs. Walters. Mrs. R. G. Putnam and sons.

Barbecue Well attended

The barbecue given by the Watermelon Growers Association Wednesday night was well attended. A large crowd of business men from Eastland and German was present, also a number of county candidates attended the affair. There was plenty of good barbecue and all that goes with it and all enjoyed a pleasant evening.
