FmHA Directors Will Be Elected

To One-Year Term

Eligible farmers in Bailey County are invited to become nominees for the Farmers Home Administration County Committee, FmHA County Supervisor Henry W. Taylor III, announced Friday.

As a result of the 1985 farm bill, two of the three members of FmHA county committees must be elected, he explained. The third member is appointed by FmHA. The Bailey County committee assists the FmHA county office in reviewing applications for FmHA farm loans and on other farm credit matters.

Generally, farmers who are residents of the county but not FmHA borrowers are eligible to become nominees for the FmHA county committee.

"Farmers in this county, serving on the committee, can play an important role by assisting in the process of loan applications and reviews," said Taylor.

For this first election, only two members will be elected at the same time. One will serve a one year term of office and the other will serve two years.

In the future, all terms of service will be for three years each on a staggered basis. Nominating petitions must be returned to the FmHA Bailey County office by Tuesday, June 10.

Rural Electric Co-op Marks 50th Birthday

Two former members of Congress, the Governor of Texas, and rural electric leaders observed two milestones and honored one of the patriarchs of rural electrification at a ceremony May 21 in Austin.

The dignitaries joined to recognize the connection of the one-millionth co-op meter in the state-hooked up early this year-and the 50th birthday of the enactment of the Rural Electrification Act.

Participants also paid tribute to the late Sam Rayburn of Bonham, one-time member of the Texas Legislature and long-time member and speaker of the U.S. House of Representatives.

Rayborn co-authored the act-with Senator George Norris of Nebraska-which sparked the extension of electric service throughout rural areas. Previous to the act, only three percent of U.S. farms "has access to electricity."

Governor Mark White spoke briefly and praised Rayburn's REA and acknowledged the greatness of the man:

"Some people might remember that it was Ben Franklin who stood out in a thunderstorm and brought lightning down with a key and a kite-and they might remember the name of Thomas Edison and a little invention called the light bulb."

"But across the vast expanse of rural Texas, everyone knows that electricity was discovered by Sam Rayburn."

A former colleague of Rayburn's, retired Congressman W.R. 'Bob' Poage of Waco, reminisced about the man who some call the greatest Speaker of the House in U.S. History. Poage was himself a powerful Congressman, serving 40 years, most of them as chairman of the House Agriculture Committee.

Poage recalled his first two years in Congress in which he and Rayburn shared a prejudice

National Weather Service said a slow moving upper level disturbance would be moving through the area -- and would combine with moisture laden winds from the Gulf of Mexico to produce 'showers' Friday.

Slow moving it was, and very spotty as a thunderstorm crept through the Muleshoe area between approximately 8:30 and 11 p.m. Friday, producing more than three inches of rain in some areas in and immediately around Muleshoe.

Officially, 2.1 inches of rain were recorded in the NWS rain gauge at KMUL Radio, however, some residents in far northeast Muleshoe, reported in excess of three inches of moisture.

No severe weather accompanied the rain, whose approach was heralded by lightning and booming thunder.

As the rain fell very fast, and very hard, motorists attempting to travel west of Muleshoe on FM1760 found the travel difficult to impossible, and the local Texas Department of Highways and transportation was forced to close 1760 shortly after 11 p.m.

No accidents were reported with the rain, although many vehicles were reported to be stalled after trying to drive through high water, both in the city, and west of Muleshoe.

On Thursday, with heavy rain falling most of the morning, a number of accidents were reported on the highways around Muleshoe, with most of them being large trucks that had jackknifed during the rain.

For Friday night, rain gauges in Muleshoe had recorded from 1.7 inches of rain to 3.1 inches of moisture, with little to no rain reported south and southwest of Muleshoe.

At Coyote Lake Feed Yard, a spokesman said they did not receive any rain Friday night.

Tillema Dairy about three miles west on FM1760 said they had not checked the rain gauge Saturday morning, but just to the immediate west of the dairy was the location of the very deep water that forced closing of that highway.

Robert Hunt of the West Camp Community, said he received 1.7 inches on Friday night and to the northeast of Muleshoe, R. T. Atchison had received 1.5 inches.

Although Bennie Claunch at Bula said they received a little more than two inches of rain during the past week, they received no rain on Friday night.

Claunch said the Bula area was extremely foggy Saturday morning, slowing traffic in that area.

NWS predicted the very spotty thunderstorms would be continuing through the weekend and into the first of the week.

Creative Living with Sheryl Borden

Three topics will be presented on "Creative Living" on June 3 & 7. These will include microwave/household tips, cholesterol and nutrition and meat cuts under 200 calories per serving. Helen Pruett is a home economist with the Milnot Co. from St. Louis, MO and she will talk about cholesterol—is it good or bad? She'll discuss what foods should be avoided in the diet and also tell about the foods to include. She also stresses the importance of exercise. Another guest will be Dulcie Simonds, Public Relations Supervisor for Rubbermaid, Inc. from Wooster, OH. Surveys confirm that most people only use their microwave ovens for reheating and defrosting foods. Dulcie will share some ideas for using the microwave oven and perhaps it will give viewers some new ways to make use of the microwave oven.

Elizabeth Wunderlick is with the Southwest Meat Packers Assn. in Dallas, TX, and she will tell about several different cuts of meat that are all under 200 calories per serving. She will tell where the cuts are located on the animal, and tell some suggestions for cooking.

Another guest will be JoAnn Cooper, a home economist with the Hershey Foods Corp. in Hershey, PA. All over the world, chocolate is a favorite dessert of millions. Because of this, it's not surprising that Hershey Foods has come up with some recipes for cooking chocolate desserts in the microwave oven. JoAnn will share some of these microwave chocolate recipes.

The first guest will be Leta Brazell, co-owner of The Quilt Works in Albuquerque. Some quilt patterns remain favorites from generation to generation and the log cabin pattern is one of these all-time favorites. Ms. Brazell will show us how to do a "quilt as you go" log cabin. "Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show airs on KENW-TV, Channel 3 in Portales on Tuesday and Thursday at 12 noon and at 2:00 pm on Saturday. (All times are Mountain Standard). Viewers can request copies of printed materials offered on the show by calling on the toll-free telephone lines. In New Mexico, the number is 1-800-432-2361, out-of-state: 1-800-545-2359, and Portales and Roosevelt County: 562-2112. Viewers are asked to call between 8:00 am and 5:00 pm to request materials.

Democrats, Republicans Set Election

Very little local interest has been generated by the runoff elections scheduled for next Saturday, June 7. All the runoff candidates are for state offices, thus bringing about little interest.

For the Republicans, Aaron Bullock and David Davidson are seeking the bid to be shown on the ballot for the general election in November for the office of Lieutenant Governor. Attorney General candidates on the runoff ballot are Roy R. Barrera Jr. and Ed Walsh.

Republicans M.D. Anderson Jr. and Grady T. Yarbrough are seeking the Commissioner of General Land Office and John Thomas Henderson and Milton E. Fox are both asking to be represented on the Republican ballot in the fall for Railroad Commissioner.

Democratic candidates are John Sharp and P.S. Ervin for Railroad Commissioner; Shirley Butts and Oscar H. Mauzy for Justice, Supreme Court, Place I; Jim Brady and Robert M. Campbell, Justice, Supreme Court, Place II; Jay Gibson and Raul A. Gonzalez, Justice, Supreme Court, Place IV. Unexpired Term; and Rusty Duluca and George 'Jorge' Martinez, Judge, Court of Criminal Appeals, Place I.

Polling places are listed on Page 1 of this issue of The Bailey County Journal, along with times the polls will be open.

with some areas subject to flooding.

Although residents east of Muleshoe reported seeing a funnel dip down twice from a cloud in the Tolk Plant area, officers and weather watchers could not confirm the funnel. It was determined that the funnel was possibly smoke rising from the tall stacks at the plant.

The possible funnel some 9-10 miles east of Muleshoe was the only possible severe weather reported other than the high water that plagued drivers around Muleshoe after graduation ceremonies.

REA Celebrating

"He was the man, who probably more than anyone else, stayed with the REA and saw it through hard times," he said.

Poage, who was around when there were zero electric co-op meters, congratulated Texas for reaching the one-million meter plateau.

Former congressman Robert W. 'Bob' Bergland, who served on the agriculture committee with Poage and also served as Secretary of Agriculture for President Carter, presented a profile of 'Mr. Sam' as Rayburn was called.

Bergland, now executive vice president of the National Rural Electric Cooperative Association, traced Rayburn's passion for rural America to Rayburn's early years, on poor cotton farms in Tennessee and Texas:

"The mother of this brood of eleven worked herself to death, and the speaker was very fond of his mother. He remembered the kind of life that she lead. He remembered from his boyhood days the hard, hard, grueling life that was required, particularly of the women folk, in rural places--in Texas, Tennessee, and other parts of the U.S."

Bergland credits the affection Rayburn had for his mother and his recognition of the rugged conditions in which she lived for pushing him to sponsor the Rural Electrification Act. Rayburn many times cited the passage of the act as his proudest achievement as a legislator.

Bergland also praised former

Congressman Poage, declaring, "Chairman Poage was one of those persons who acquired enormous authority in Congress because he knew what he was talking about. He earned the right to speak with authority."

Emceeding the affair was Jim Morriss, executive vice president of the Association of Texas Electric Cooperatives. He presented the Governor with a lamp made from an electric meter in honor of the one millionth co-op meter in Texas, the first state to pass that mark.

Texas A&M Press book recounts cowboy life of Texan Rollie Burns

COLLEGE STATION — Imagine eating some of your meals with only a dirty pocketknife or finding out the extremely hard way that most horses are afraid of buffalo.

That's the sort of real-life Texas cowboy experience shown in a book reissued by the Texas A&M University Press and dealing with longtime Panhandle rancher Rollie Burns.

Written by respected Texas scholar W. C. Holden, professor emeritus at Texas Tech University, "Rollie Burns" was first published in 1932 when Burns was approaching 70 and at the end of a long career in the cow business.

Protect Yourself From Home Selling Fraud

Dealing with a person who advertises "I buy homes for fast cash," can make you the victim of a costly deal.

Dr. Jane Berry, a housing specialist with the Texas A&M University Agricultural Extension Service (TAEX), says that homeowners with assumable VA or FHA mortgages can be victimized by their ability to sell their homes through a simple rather than a formal assumption.

She explains that in a formal assumption, the person buying the property assumes responsibility for any nonpayment of the loan.

For a simple assumption, however, the original mortgage holder remains responsible for any default which might occur on the loan. Simple assumption of FHA and VA loans can be accomplished between buyer and seller without HUD, VA or the mortgage company's approval.

In some cases, a homeowner will even pay the buyer a fee to take over his loan on a simple assumption, even through he's sacrificing the downpayment, equity and everything else that was invested in the property, says Berry.

This may seem like an attractive deal to families in financial trouble, she says, especially when the buyer agrees to let the family stay on as renters of the property for an amount less than their mortgage payment.

Such an arrangement may work out for both parties, as long as the new owner continues to make mortgage payments as agreed, notes the specialist.

But Berry says there are numerous instances of new owners taking deposits, rentals and other fees and then failing to make mortgage payments. Then when foreclosure results, the action is against the original owner of the VA or FHA mortgage, not the buyer who made the simple assumption of the loan.

"Not all buyers in this circumstance are out to defraud homeowners," she remarks.

"but it is up to the homeowner to determine whether the prospective buyer is legitimate and intends to meet the mortgage commitment."

The housing specialist advises making every effort to check out the credit record of a prospective buyer.

If you have any doubts, she recommends sticking to a formal assumption, where liability for any future default would rest with the new buyer.

Berry also points out that with VA and FHA mortgage rates falling, it will be to the advantage of most buyers to simply get their own mortgage rather than assume yours at a higher rate.

Social Security News & Views

Many beneficiaries who work apparently feel that when they make their annual earnings report by April 15 to the Social Security Administration, they have met their obligation to report earnings for the year. This is not true and often leads to overpayment of benefits.

Now is a good time to review your 1986 earnings in the light of your present work and make sure your earnings estimate has not changed. Remember, the benefit you receive reflects your estimate of earnings. The annual earnings test permits retirees to have some earnings and still receive Social Security benefits. Earnings above the exempt amount reduce the benefit by $1 for each $2 of earnings above the exempt amount.

The earnings limit for 1986 is $7,800 for people 65-70 and $5,760 for people under age 65. Beneficiaries age 70 during the entire year are exempt from the earnings test.

An annual earnings report is required from people who work or expect to work and earn over the exempt amount who receive some benefits for the year. It requires the person to report earnings from the past year and to estimate earnings for the present year.

However, recent studies indicate that many people fail to report changes in their estimates and incur overpayments--the payment of benefits to which they are not entitled. This is generally done by withholding all or portions of future checks, but may be repaid in a lump sum.

As part of a program to reduce its debt load Social Security has been sending a mid-year reminder to working beneficiaries. The notice, which generally goes out by August, alerts them to the need to correct their earnings report as soon as possible to avoid accumulation of debt.

But waiting for the reminder is just as bad as waiting for next year to the extent that the longer one waits to adjust benefits, the more money he or she may have to repay. A change in earnings may be reported to Social Security by phone, mail, or in person. The address of the Lubbock Social Security office is 1611-10th, Suite 100, Lubbock, Texas 79401. The phone number is 743-7381.

Know THE Weather

Is it true that clouds are much higher at the equator than in the polar area? Yes, clouds extend about twice as high at the equator as they do at the poles. And this is caused by the rotation of the earth. At the poles, or at the top of the earth's axis, there is relatively little centrifugal force. But at the equator, where the earth is thickest, the centrifugal force is great and the layer of gases around the center of the earth is literally thrown outward by the greater force, and turning speed. It is estimated that clouds at the equator extend as high as 50,000 feet or slightly higher above the surface of the earth. But at the poles clouds rarely reach up more than 25,000 feet into the troposphere. Knowing this, airline pilots can always fly above weather in the polar regions, though this is still not possible in other latitudes.
