Transfers Show 'Big' Ambulance Impact

around
Muleshoe

A 33-year old man was reported to be in 'good' condition at West Plains Medical Center Saturday morning after being run over by a tractor west of Muleshoe late Friday evening.

Law enforcement officers and the Bailey County Ambulance Service answered the call for assistance.

The man had no broken bones, but was hospitalized for observation, according to WPMC officials.

Susan Y. Head, a 1974 graduate of Muleshoe High School, has been inducted into Phi Kappa Phi, an honor society at Eastern New Mexico University, Portales, N.M.

Miss Head, a senior accounting major at Eastern, is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Marshal Head, Muleshoe.

Tommy and Jody Whatley, Jeff and David, of New Boston, TX, were home to visit Susie Whatley and Jody's parents, the Jackie Browns and sister, Sandy.

'TEXAS' Crew Includes Son Of Woman Here

Each summer evening at 8:30 p.m. a bugle summons two horsemen with flags to the top of a 600 foot cliff overlooking the audience, and the musical drama "TEXAS" begins.

With another burst of sound, the cast leaps on to the stage and soon the strains of "We Invite You All to Come to Texas" reach out towards the patrons.

People with roots in your community are in this company of actors, singers, dancers, horsemen, technicians, ushers, box office attendants, salesmen, and concession workers.

Kurt Maxwell of "hospitality" is the son of Charlotte Maxwell of Muleshoe. His grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Earl Peterson of Muleshoe. He also has two uncles in Muleshoe, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Peterson and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Maxwell.

This story of the 1880s in the Texas Panhandle was written by Pulitzer prizewinner Paul Green and has been playing in Palo Duro Canyon near Amarillo and Canyon since 1966. For twenty-four years, people have been flocking to see the story of the settlers, and the railroad, and the Indians, and the storms and the droughts. The two millionth person came on the fourth of July.

A cast of 80 supported by 60 others backstage tells the story - using music and dance, and speech and sound, and light and dynamite.

EMERGENCY PERSONNEL AT WORK--Working as fast as possible, but as carefully as possible, members of the Muleshoe Fire Department, and personnel from the Bailey County Ambulance Service, finally removed Israel Azua, 18, from this smashed vehicle. Firemen carefully blocked up the vehicle as they raised it, to allow the paramedics, Tim Wetzel and Randy Watkins, along with several EMT's, to work on the victim while he was waiting to be 'unjammed' from his smashed vehicle. Watching the emergency personnel work is viewing a 'real work of art.' Muleshoe and Bailey County are indeed fortunate to have such professional, well-trained emergency personnel, whether they be law enforcement officers, fire department or ambulance service. Four Patient Transfers Made On Thursday

Major Accident Ties Up Ambulance East Of Muleshoe For An Hour

Bailey County Ambulance Service is being kept very busy, and are spending much time 'on the road' as one emergency after the other is occurring in the immediate area.

Take, for instance, on Thursday - Muleshoe currently has two ambulances equipped to handle emergencies.

One ambulance made a transfer to an Amarillo hospital, and the second ambulance was sent on a transfer to Lubbock.

When the first ambulance was about five miles north of Muleshoe, they were notified that a patient was waiting for transfer to Lubbock.

This patient had spent nearly five hours in the emergency room waiting for an ambulance to be loose to transfer him.

While the ambulance was being prepared to go on the road again, another emergency occurred and a patient needed to be transferred - also to Lubbock.

The second patient was loaded into the waiting ambulance at the hospital, and two patients were taken to Lubbock in the same ambulance.

Very often, such as with the tragic accident near Lazbuddie on Friday, July 14, and both ambulances are summoned away from Muleshoe, the Sudan ambulance was summoned to Muleshoe to make sure local residents would be covered while both Muleshoe ambulances were busy.

This happens frequently, according to the Bailey County Ambulance Service. With no Medicare certification for West Plains Medical Center, more patients require transfers to Medicare certified hospitals, thus tying up at least one of the local ambulances for several hours.

Another case in point was the accident on Friday morning five miles southeast of Muleshoe on Highway 84.

The accident was reported at 8:17 a.m. Friday, with a call for an ambulance, police and the fire department with the jaws of life.

The vehicle had overturned one-half time, was briefly airborne, coming down on its top on the highway, completely smashing it flat.

Responding emergency personnel found the driver still jammed inside the vehicle, with his head on the pavement.

It was a long, careful process to slowly raise the vehicle enough to allow paramedics and EMTs underneath to work on the victim, who apparently never lost consciousness.

As the Muleshoe Fire Department slowly raised the vehicle, they wedged blocks of wood underneath to keep the vehicle from falling on the medical emergency people working on the victim.

Ironically enough, Paramedic Tim Wetzel, a Lubbock resident, was enroute to Muleshoe to work a 24-hour shift and was one of the first people to arrive at the accident site. He immediately started lifesaving measures before the ambulance arrived nearly five minutes later.

The firemen used the jaws of life and hydraulic jacks to slowly raise the vehicle, then attached chains to other vehicles to help stabilize the overturned pickup to try to avoid further injuries to the man inside.

The entire process took over 45 minutes, then the young man was carefully removed and arrived at West Plains Medical Center at 9:16 a.m.

This meant one of Muleshoe's two ambulances was tied up, through necessity, for nearly an hour.

The victim, Israel Azua, 18, resides in Sudan, but is employed in Muleshoe. He was westbound when he apparently fell asleep driving, drove in the ditch for over 100 feet, apparently awakened, overcorrected to the right, then overcorrected to the left and lost control. The vehicle overturned only one half time, but was briefly airborne, causing the top to smash flat when it impacted with the pavement.

He was taken by Carelink helicopter to Lubbock around noon for treatment of a broken Cont. Page 6, Col. 1

MAHD Signs Lease Agreement For West Plains Medical Center

Wednesday night, members of the Muleshoe Area Hospital District made it official, and signed the lease for West Plains Medical Center. Effective July 15, the West Plains Medical Center Board had signed the lease to become effective on Saturday, July 15.

In signing the lease, the Board assumed no current liabilities of the hospital, but cautioned at the same time -- people should expect no immediate miracle cures for the ailments of West Plains Medical Center.

Although the MAHD has taxing powers, and taxes will be used to help subsidize the hospital, there will be no tax income until at least October.

In the meantime, MAHD directors will have to come up with money to meet payrolls, and day to day operating expenses.

Mule-Plex Co. Officers Attend Grant Workshop

Norma Bruce and Pat Prater recently attended a Fund Raising Workshop in Denison sponsored by the Texas Historical Commission. The workshop was designed to improve the chances of organizations for attracting grants.

The workshop was a two day program conducted by Dr. Don Umlah of Phoenix, AZ and Anice Read of the Texas Historical Commission.

On the first day of the workshop, lectures and discussions were held, and on the second day, each participant wrote a grant proposal.

The grant proposal that will be written by Norma Bruce and Pat Prater will be to enable Mule-Plex Production Co. to produce an outdoor drama based on the historical significance of the southern portion of the Texas Panhandle.

Approximately 50 persons attended the workshop, and both local representatives stated it was a very good workshop.

Cicada Killers

Cause Concerns For Homeowners

By: Mike Blanton
Extension Agent-Entomology
Parmer-Bailey Counties

In recent days, I have received several inquiries regarding an extremely large wasp found in area yards. Wasps of this group are commonly called "cicada killers" or "ground hornets."

The scientific name of this species is Sphecius speciosus. This wasp is approximately one and one half inches long and is one of our largest species. It is active during July and August.

Both male and female wasps may be encountered in flowers and in nesting areas. Males exhibit territoriality and investigate all intruders vigorously. Territories may be 100 square feet in size in the vicinity of an emergence hole. Mating occurs when a newly emerged female flies through a territory.

The burrows angle into the soil for a distance of .3 to 1.2 meter, ending in a number of branches and cells. Each branch may terminate in 2-3 loosely grouped cells. Burrow entrances are left open during provisioning and may not be closed until the job is complete.

Depending upon their size, 1-4 adult cicadas are provisioned per cell. They are usually paralyzed by a single sting in the membrane at the base of a front leg. Eggs are laid on the last cicada in a cell. As many as four females may provision on a single nest simultaneously, although only one of them made the initial excavation.

These wasps are not poisonous but could inflict a very sore area if a person was stung by one of them. No one should try to kill them. It is best to leave them alone and let them run their life cycle.

contracts with the Parmer County and Bailey County Tax Appraisal District to be the taxing representatives for the district.

They also unanimously voted to exempt no property from taxation in the district. Persons who do not own 'real' property, such as land, will still be taxes for personal vehicles.

West Plains Medical Center Administrator John Chisholm, who is being retained by the Hospital District to head operations for West Plains Medical Center, reported on ongoing preparations for a Medicare inspection coming up. He said the inspection dates had been changed from August 9-11 to July 31-August 1. Chisholm said the hospital would not be ready for the inspection, but at least they would learn the 'weak points' and find out how to correct them for the next inspection.

Chisholm said his employees need at least 30 days to be prepared instead of the less than two weeks until the inspection.

He also reported to the board that he will have prospective board by-laws and staff by-laws for the MAHD board by the next meeting. They will be ready for to meet Medicare requirements.

He talked briefly about the possibility of changing the name of the hospital, and suggested an employee contest to come up with a potential new name in case it is decided to change the name since MAHD has officially taken over.

He asked that at least two people be designated to sign all checks under $1,000, and that checks over that amount be taken to the board for approval before being signed and distributed. This request was granted.

First Bank was approved by the Board to act as depository for the Muleshoe Area Hospital District for the next two years.

With rumors continuing to dominate the Bailey County Ambulance Service, it was reported that the Bailey County Commissioners Court Cont. Page 6, Col. 3

County Commissioners Don't Approve Employee

Friday morning, the Bailey County Commissioners Court held a special meeting.

Despite a consensus that they would be discussing the approaching ambulance crisis, the only thing discussed by the court was road equipment and transferring funds in the budget to pay for the sprinkler system currently being installed in the courthouse lawn.

Bailey County Ambulance Service Director Richelle Watkins has resigned to go back into nursing at West Plains Medical Center. Her resignation is effective Sunday, July 30.

As the commissioners court did not consider another employee to replace Mrs. Watkins, one of Bailey County's two ambulances will be 'parked' by the state until another employee can be put on the payroll.

By resigning, and the county not hiring an additional employee leaves the ambulance service with only three paid employees. State law requires two paid employees for each ambulance being operated, thus one ambulance will have to be parked.

Instead of hearing Paramedic-SS Randy Watkins when he appeared at the commissioners meeting on Friday, Watkins was informed that the ambulance operation had 'not' been placed on the agenda and would not be discussed until their regular meeting on August 4. So, the ambulance will be parked for a minimum of five days.

Bailey County Judge Jim Watson told commissioners he had put West Plains Medical Center Administrator John Chisholm on the agenda for the August 4 meeting. He said he had approached the Muleshoe Area Hospital District about the possibility of taking over the ambulance service.

Commissioners paid routine bills, approved advertising for bids for a new dump truck for Precinct Four; made a budget amendment to pay $3,885.58 for installation of the courthouse lawn sprinkler system and heard various amounts paid for soil conservation work.

The meeting lasted approximately 40 minutes.

Rotary Hears Speaker On Grain Facilities

Dr. Tom Bonds was in charge of the Rotary program Tuesday at noon and introduced Mark Heckman, assistant manager of Texas Sesame.

Heckman presented a slide-talk show about the history of Texas Sesame.

Heckman told Rotarians that Texas Sesame is the original food corn supplier of the West Texas High Plains.

In 1953, Robert Parker opened the doors of the sesame seed business in Muleshoe. Then, in 1956, Frito Lay contacted Texas Sesame about contracting food corn for them.

Paris Milling and Grain was sold by Robert Parker in 1981 to Archer Daniels Midland Company of Decatur, Ill.

Continuing to expand, ADM purchased the Frito Lay facility at Springlake, then in 1989, purchased an undisclosed facility.

Following the 1989 acquisition, Texas Sesame will have about a 6,000,000 bushel storage to accommodate producers needs. This will result in a big dollar percentage of owned grain to the State of Texas in yearly taxes, explained Heckman.

With the continued growth of Texas Sesame, the payroll consistently shows 15-30 employees on a year round basis.

He explained that Texas Sesame stores, purchases, processes and sells corn, beans, wheat and milo as far east as Georgia, west to California, north into Canada and south to Mexico.

He said Texas Sesame banks in Muleshoe and tries to keep as much of their purchasing business locally as possible.

He further explained that Archer Daniels Midland Company (ADM) operates the country's largest network of agricultural plants, with 118 processing plants in the United States; one plant in Canada; four in the United Kingdom and two in West Germany; along with one each in Holland, France and Spain.

Produced are a variety of vegetable oils, protein meals, wheat and pasta flours, corn sweeteners, fuel ethanol and a large number of other processed agricultural products.

More than one hundred company operated grain elevators support the 118 domestic plants, and originate grain for processing and merchandising.

Heckman said ADM is the leading oilseed processor in the U. S. with 30 plants that handle soybeans, cottonseed, sunflower seed, canola seed (rapeseed), linseed and peanuts.

He added that they also process corn germ from their own and other wet corn mills.

Protein meals from these operations are used by livestock and poultry producers worldwide added the speaker.

ADM operates vegetable oil refineries at three of its major processing locations in the U.S. and a fourth refinery is located in Macon, GA. ADM also has vegetable oil refineries in Canada and at Hamburg, West Germany.

Soy protein plants are operated in Decatur, ILL and in the United Kingdom.

The assistant manager said the oilseed sector is the largest sector of ADM's operations, but corn wet milling has been the fastest growing segment for the company. In the past 16 years, he said high fructose corn syrup has gone from a market share of zero to 100 percent in all major soft drinks sold in the U.S.

Three locations produce anhydrous, fuel grade ethanol and currently are expanding the facilities. They now have the capacity to produce 600 million gallons of ethanol annually.

Also, ADM produces semolina flours for pasta producers.

The company is a peanut sheller, a sugar refiner, a barley maltster, a producer of retail and private label pasta products and a producer of animal feeds, said Heckman.

They operate a rail fleet of more than 9,000 cars, a large truck fleet, over 1,900 barges, 32 towboats, 12 switching boats and four fleeting areas and one shipyard.

He said their net sales have gone from $2.3 billion in 1979 to over $6.8 billion in 1988. Net earnings for the same period have grown from $56 million to $353 million, added the assistant manager.

Several guests were present at the meeting to enjoy the presentation.

Annual Frontiers In Writing Conference Scheduled

Education, information, and opportunity will be the key words at the annual Frontiers in Writing Conference, sponsored by Panhandle Professional Writers, the Hi-Plains Chapter of the Poetry Society of Texas, and Amarillo College, August 11-12 at Amarillo College in Amarillo, Texas.

"Even published writers require continuing education," says Doris Meredith, conference co-chairman and author of seven published mysteries. "Unpublished writers need information and the opportunity to present their work to agents and editors. This year's Frontiers in Writing Conference provides education in career management as well as information on submission of manuscripts and the 'nuts and bolts' of writing fiction and non-fiction."

The conference opens Friday, August 11 at 5:30 p.m. with a reception and autograph party at the Big Texan Steak Ranch. A "Meet the Speakers" buffet begins at 7 p.m., followed by the address, "Language, Nonsense, and Poetry," given by keynote speaker Howard Nemerov. Winner of a Pulitzer Prize and a National Book Award, Nemerov is the current Poet Laureate of the United States and consultant to the Library of Congress. Author of 26 books, Nemerov is a professor English at Washington University in St. Louis.

Registration for workshops Saturday, August 12, begins at 8 a.m. on the fourth floor of the Technology Building at Amarillo College. Study groups will begin at 8:40 a.m., and will feature Wallace Exman, senior editor of Zebra Books, who will speak on "Writing for the editor: Proposals and Query Letters;" Alice Harron Orr, partner in Kearns and Orr Associates, a literary agency, on "How to Stop Shooting Your Writing Career in the Foot;" Ben Ezzell, newspaper publisher, on "Writing for the Regional Newspaper;" and Betsy Haynes, juvenile writer, on "Writing Bestsellers for Kids." At 9:30, Howard Nemerov will conduct a special workshop on "Poetry," followed at 10:30 by a repeat of morning study groups with the same speakers.

A panel discussion featuring all speakers will follow an awards luncheon in the College Union Building. At 2:45 p.m., study groups will feature Elmer Kelton, western literature's most

A woman who is diagnosed as having breast cancer by mammography, before a lump can be felt, has a 97% five year survival rate and a 90% 10 year survival rate. The cost is only $50.00.

A mammogram can detect a cancer this small, even before it can be felt.

Tops Club

TOPS chapter No. 34 met at 6:30 p.m. Thursday, July 20 in the Heritage Thrift Shop. Laverne James, leader called the meeting to order with the TOPS fellowship song, TOPS pledge and a prayer.

Orvdie Burris, weight recorder, called the roll with 14 members present. Minutes of the previous meeting were read by Aurora Mata, and they were approved as read.

It was reported that Side 2 is ahead in the current contest.

Everyone was reminded that next Thursday will be program and dues night.

The thought for the day was: The popularity of dieting proves that people will go to great lengths to avoid going to great widths.

Don't drink and drive: That message is being taken to heart nationwide these days. If you'd like to hold safer parties, it's a good idea to have a selection of non-alcoholic drinks at the bar, including glasses of delicious iced tea with lemon slices. Guests may find these non-alcoholic drinks are just as tasty as other kinds--and that they'll feel a whole lot better both during the party and after!

Information on preparing deli meats for sandwiches, convenience foods, and batch cooking will be the featured topics on "Creative Living" on Tuesday, July 25 at 12 noon and on Saturday, July 29 at 2 p.m. (All times are Mountain.)

Sherleen Clausen, with Swift-Eckrich, Inc. in Oak Brook, IL, will share several recipes using meat from the deli. The beauty of deli meats is that they can be sliced as thick as you want; they can be cubed or even cut into strips, which are great on salads, in soups, or for other entrees.

Mari Lou Callahan, home economist with Hershey Foods Corp. in Hershey, PA, will demonstrate three different foods that all come from ingredients that are either in the pantry or in the refrigerator. Mari Lou will demonstrate how convenience foods can make meal preparation much more fun and really cut down on the time involved.

The flashback segment will feature Lauren Ryan, public relations manager with Dow Consumer Products in Indianapolis, IN. Busy schedules usually hamper good eating habits, but now everyone--working couples, single parents, kids and older adults -- can manage to eat properly by pre-planning, batch cooking and storing some meals in zip-to storage bags. Lauren will show how to become a "Sunday afternoon cook" and will demonstrate how to use microwaveable storage bags that can go directly from the freezer to the microwave.

On Tuesday, July 25 at 9:30 p.m. and repeated on Thursday, July 27 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will present information on personalized color boards, recipes for reunions, and making delicious citrus frozen desserts.

Susan McWilliam, interior decorator for Trans Designs in Albuquerque, NM, will demonstrate how to use a personalized color board for both a traditional and Oriental look.

The love of grand scale socializing and visiting combined with an abundance of wonderful food makes the reunion a great American Celebration. Pat Mitchamore will discuss and demonstrate recipes that would be great for any type of reunion. Pat is from Nashville, TN and has co-authored a wonderful cookbook called Jack Daniels Cookbook.

The flashback segment will feature B.J. Doerfling, the Supervisor of the Consumer Test Kitchen for Sunkist Growers. B.J. will not only share some delicious and easy recipes for frozen desserts, but will also talk about the availability of lemons and explain how to get more juice from each one.

neck. If Muleshoe's other ambulance had to leave the city for an emergency, that would have left Muleshoe unprotected except for Sudan, who frequently come to Muleshoe to cover when both local ambulances are already busy.

Muleshoe and Bailey County are very fortunate to have outstanding emergency personnel, whether it be the ambulance service, the professional and dedicated fire department, or any of the law enforcement agencies. It would be a tragic mistake to even consider going back to a 'basic' ambulance service, ill-equipped and ill-operated.

Apparently, the Bailey County Commissioners Court does not share that opinion. They are currently taking bids for other operation of the ambulance service, which will be to the detriment of the entire area.

It was learned that recently, commissioners purchased a piece of 'road equipment' that will cost in excess of $1,700 per month to operate. Perhaps they should have checked the operational costs before they purchased the machinery. The machinery, a used caliche crusher, was purchased for $18,000.

John Chisholm was to meet with Bailey County Judge Jim Watson on Thursday, the day after the MAHD meeting, to discuss the possibility of the hospital taking over the ambulance service and operating it.

It was the consensus of the board that the MAHD could not operate the ambulance service without being subsidized by the county. "I believe the ambulance will be of primary concern in a special meeting of the commissioners on Friday," commented Board Secretary Bob Finney.

Following other brief discussions, the board went into executive session to discuss the employment of legal counsel to represent the board. No decision was made, as the board is checking qualifications of several attorneys.

The first activities of the camp will begin at 5 p.m. on Thursday, July 27 with a prayer meeting. Men and boys meet under the prayer tree, women and girls meet separately.

Supper will be served at 6:30 and the evening worship service will begin at 8 p.m. A campfire fellowship under the leadership of C. L. Bowe of San Jon will follow the evening services each night. Three meals a day are served 'chuckwagon style' on Friday and Saturday, with breakfast and dinner on Sunday.

Mesa Redondo is a member of the Ranchmen's Camp Meeting Association in the Southwest. The Association now has ten camps in five states during the summer circuit. It is an interdenominational outreach and provides 'A Christian Camping Experience For All Ages.'

Some fifty families from the communities of Tucumcari, San Jon, Quay, Melrose, House, Grady, Fort Sumner and Clovis serve on committees. They are involved in planning and working each year for the annual camp. In 1988, some 697 persons with 143 camping, from the surrounding area attended the four day camp. Camp Manager is Rick Steele of Aledo, Ill. Steve Cody of Lenapah, Okla., association president, is assistant manager.

Everyone is welcome to attend the camp activities. For those who camp, there is ample space. For those who drive out for any or all of the services and meals, they will find this a unique experience and well worth the drive.

Fire Department News

by: Alton Parker

Last Wednesday, the Muleshoe Fire Department meeting was called to order by President H. E. Reeder and minutes were read and approved.

New Fireman Tony Scolley was voted on the department for a six month probation period. He will then be voted on again.

The work on Fire Truck No. 14 is coming along fine, and the white "deuce and a half" water truck that was in the parade is about ready to be put into use. Appreciation goes to the firemen who have put so much of their free time on these vehicles.

The department members present voted to have breakfast on the last Saturday of each month to be prepared by a different team each time.

Motion was made to adjourn. Motion passed.

When you need to bathe the dog, there are better things to use than a washing machine.

And when you need to cool and heat your home, there are better things than a heat pump.

A heat pump can't cool your home in summer as well as a high-efficiency air conditioner. And it can't warm your home in winter as well as a natural gas furnace.

Think of winter this summer. For comfortable efficient heating in your home, the most effective appliance ever made is a natural gas furnace. Period.

PEST MANAGEMENT UPDATE
Parmer-Bailey Counties
MIKE D. BLANTON

COTTON

Cotton bollworm moth populations are beginning to increase in southern Bailey County. A small number of eggs can be found scattered throughout many fields. These eggs are very small, taller than they are wide, and creamy white when laid. Ridges can be detected on the sides with the aid of a magnifying glass. The appearance of bollworm eggs has been likened to a hot-air balloon. Within two days under optimal conditions the eggs turn dark brown and are hatched on the third day.

CORN

We began finding first generation southwestern corn borer moths in our pheromone traps which are located in various fields throughout Parmer and Bailey counties. These are the adult stage of the larvae of SWCB which has been feeding in the whorls and tunneling in the stalks of our corn over the past few weeks.

Second generation egg lay usually occurs after tasseling. Approximately three-fourths of the eggs are laid on the upper surfaces of the middle seven leaves: the ear leaf, two leaves above and four leaves below the ear leaf. The eggs may be laid singly or in masses of two or more and may overlap like fish scales or shingles. The fresh eggs are creamy white. One day after they are laid, three red bands appear across each egg. The eggs hatch in about five days. Once hatched, small larvae can be found feeding behind leaf collars and ears and beneath shucks of the primary ear.

Spider mites are rapidly building in many of the more mature corn fields in the region. Two species of spider mites can occur in corn on the High Plains: The Banks grass mite and the twospotted spider mite. The Banks grass mite is typically more common in early and mid-season and is more widely distributed than the twospotted spider mite. Distinguishing between the two species is extremely important because presently registered miticides generally will not control twospotted spider mites in tasselled corn. The most obvious characteristic that distinguishes the two species is the pattern of pigmentation spots on the body. The adult twospotted spider mite has a well defined spot on each side of the front half of the abdomen. The Banks grass mite, on the other hand, has spots extending all the way down both sides of the body, sometimes almost touching at the rear of the body. Additionally, twospotted spider mites produce more webbing than Banks grass mites.

To determine when it is economical to control these mites calculate the cost of miticide plus application per acre and the expected value of the crop. Determine the average percent of mite per leaf. Obtain this information from plants in several areas of the field. Calculate an overall average percentage of infested leaves per plant.

Fairly high numbers of fall armyworms have been found across the High Plains. This pest generally migrates from the south, especially in years of unusual weather conditions. High infestations have been detected in grain sorghum east of Lubbock. The pest has also been found in corn and sorghum whorls throughout Parmer and Bailey Counties. Fall armyworms are especially damaging to ears due to their feeding habits. Unlike corn earworms, which only feed in the tip of the ear, fall armyworms can be found throughout the ear. Food corn producers will especially want to be scouting their fields for this pest.

Cary Skaggs Going To State In Skeet, Trap

Cary Skaggs, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gary Skaggs, participated in the South Plains District Trap and Shoot competition in Lubbock on July 7-8.

Cary, Zack Albus and Derick Lamar represented the Cochran County 4-H.

Teams from all over Texas participated in the competition. The Cochran County team won second in skeet, fourth in trap and second overall district team.

This competition enables Cary, Zack and Derick to participate in the state competition August 3, 4 and 5 in Waco.

Littlefield Affiliates With Methodist

In an effort to increase its support of the region's rural health care system, Lubbock Methodist Health System recently entered into an affiliation agreement with Lamb Healthcare Center in Littlefield.

"Under this agreement, Methodist Hospital will provide technical and management support when asked to do so by the Board of Directors of the Littlefield hospital," said William D. Potet, III, FACHE, president and chief executive officer of Lubbock Methodist Health System.

Tony Riley, chairman of the Board of Directors for the Lamb Healthcare Center, said that the partnership with Methodist Hospital is a plus for the Littlefield Hospital.

"This affiliation will allow us to strengthen the excellent programs and services currently available at the Lamb Healthcare Center," Riley said.

Some of the services available at the 75-bed facility include emergency care, surgery, obstetrics and chemical dependency treatment, according to Terry Andris, chief executive officer of the Littlefield Hospital.

Under the affiliation, Methodist Hospital will assist the rural hospital with continuing education programs, physician recruitment and marketing strategies.

The association with Methodist Hospital also will allow the Littlefield facility to obtain affiliate status with Voluntary Hospitals of America Southwest (VHA).

"The Littlefield hospital can participate in VHA shared purchasing programs, which should decrease their daily operating costs," noted Steve Grappe, vice president of Methodist Hospital.

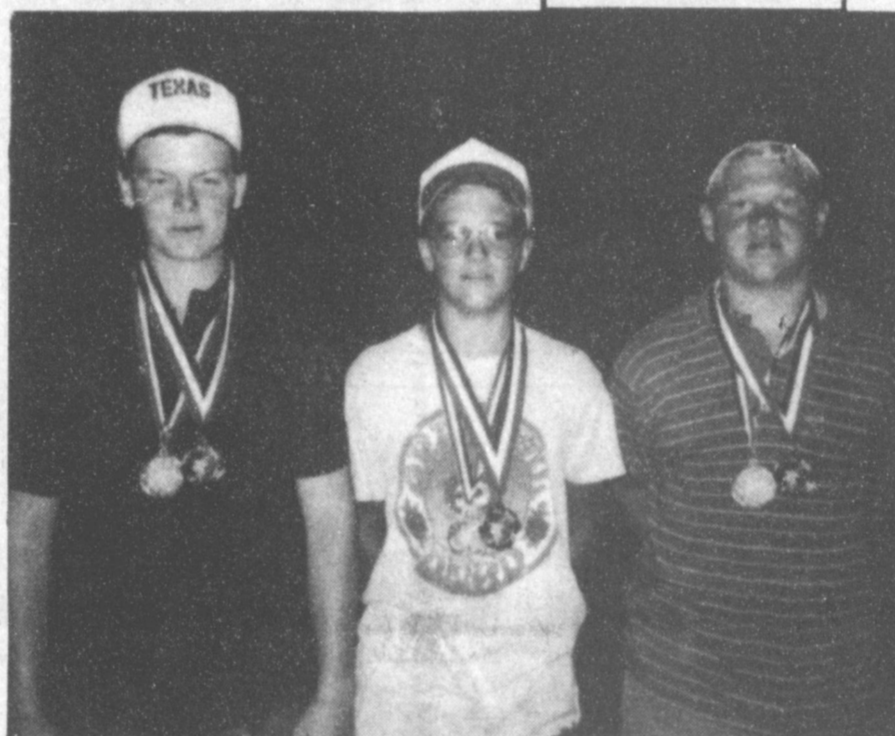

Grappe also stressed that Methodist Hospital will not be taking over the day-to-day operations of the Littlefield hospital.

"Our new affiliation with Lamb Healthcare Center is part of Methodist Hospital's ongoing program to offer managerial and technical assistance to rural hospitals in West Texas and Eastern New Mexico. We are working with other hospitals in the area, including Muleshoe Area Hospital District, to strengthen the rural health care network overall," Grappe said.

Potet added that the ultimate winners in this partnership are the people of the Littlefield community.

"They will have access to the best health care available today," Potet said.

Plant Stress Funding Approved For Tech

Construction of a major Plant Stress and Water Conservation Laboratory at Texas Tech University took a step forward today as the U.S. House of Representatives earmarked $500,000 for the first phase of construction, according to U.S. Representative Larry Combest (R-Texas).

Combest's bill to construct the state-of-the-art research facility was approved by the 100th Congress last June and was signed into law by President Reagan. Authorization to build the facility was the result of years of planning and legislation spearheaded by Combest.

Combest considers funding for the initial phase of construction a victory for agriculture as scientists at the facility will develop new hybrid strains of plants which are better able to withstand the efforts of drought and other adverse weather conditions.

"Researchers at Texas Tech have worked tirelessly for the past ten years to turn the concept of a Plant Stress Laboratory into reality," Combest said after Congress approved the spending plan for the facility. "At the present time, 17 senior scientists are on staff at the university, ready to begin this vital research in a centralized laboratory. With the second drought in as many years threatening America's farmers and producers, the need for this type of research becomes even more essential."

Researchers at Texas Tech are currently working to create new drought-resistant crops in various temporary facilities across the university campus. Combest said the need for such research has never been more apparent than it is now.

"The developments at the Plant Stress Laboratory will have significant impact on our food and fiber production well into the next century, and will benefit farmers and livestock producers across the nation," Combest said.

The cost of construction has been lowered from an original $27 million to $17 million as several minor aspects of the project have been eliminated.

Although the $500,000 appropriated is less than that requested for initial construction, Combest said he is pleased that Congress has made a firm commitment to the facility. Additionally, Congress set aside $1.4 million for current research activities at Texas Tech.

"This appropriation will not build the entire research complex, but it is a solid first step," Combest said. "I am certain that the research will prove to be both cost efficient and invaluable, and that additional funding will be provided as the construction and research progresses."

Texas Tech Dean of Agriculture, Dr. Sam Curl, echoed Combest's appreciation for initial funding.

"We are delighted with the action of the House in recommending an appropriation of $1.4 million for FY 1990 funding for our Plant Stress and Water Conservation research program, and $500,000 toward the construction of the laboratory," Curl said. "While we obviously would have liked to have received the $8.5 million we requested for phase one of the laboratory construction, the appropriation of $500,000 represents a very important milestone in that the appropriation of construction money has begun."

The appropriations measure now goes to the U.S. Senate where Combest hopes the laboratory funding will remain intact.

"We will be working closely with the Senate to see that funding for this vital research project remains on target," Combest added.

Things they never told you about a heat pump.

Fact #9

A heat pump will not work well enough by itself to keep you warm all winter.

Someone selling you a heat pump will either attach it to your natural gas furnace or even try to sell you a new furnace you probably don't even need. All because a heat pump won't do the job by itself.

If you need a new air conditioner this summer, get a modern high-efficiency air conditioner.

But don't let 'em mess with your furnace.

WRESTLING

Our fears seem as big and as terrible as this alligator sometimes, don't they? Fear about this thing and that can paralyze us and prevent us from doing our daily work.

Many of our fears are real. A great many of our fears, however, are unfounded—a result of thinking and worrying about ourselves. Sir John Denham phrased it this way:

"My fears are causeless and ungrounded, Fantastic dreams and melancholy fumes."

There is only one thing that will dispel fear of this type. We must do something to get out of ourselves. That means loving and helping others.

The Bible puts it so well in I John 4:18: "There is no fear in love; but perfect love casteth out fear; because fear hath torment. He that feareth is not made perfect in love."

The Church is God's Agency designed to help you. We invite you to attend this week.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.
