Abilene, San Angelo and Coleman delegations were swarming in Ballinger Thursday afternoon, their day at the seventh annual Runnels County Fair. Thursday was the third day of the annual festival.

The Abilene delegation, headed by T. N. Carswell, secretary of the Abilene Chamber of Commerce, and the Wildcat Band of Abilene Christian College, was the first to arrive. This delegation arrived here about 11:30 o'clock and the band paraded down Hutchings Avenue to the intersection of Hutchings and Eighth Street, where they played a short concert.

This delegation numbered about 75 people in some 15 or 16 cars. Others were due in the afternoon from the Taylor county city.

The Coleman delegation arrived about noon, but without a band. Only a few of the Coleman county citizens were here for the day, but made up in enthusiasm for their lack of numbers. Sim O'Neal, secretary of the Coleman Chamber of Commerce, headed the delegation.

The San Angelo delegation arrived shortly before the football game and led by the DeMolay Band and Claud Wilds, secretary of the San Angelo Board of City Development. The Bobcat football squad of San Angelo high school arrived at noon before the special train which came in shortly before the game and took part in the parade. The San Angelo delegation was the largest here for the day.

Visiting bands were admitted to Fair Park and grandstand attractions free this afternoon.

The Coleman delegation did not arrive in time for first parade.

The San Angelo special train is scheduled to arrive here shortly after 3:00 o'clock and will parade from the Santa Fe station to Fair Park, where the San Angelo and Ballinger high school football teams will clash in what is expected to be a hotly contested game.

Yanks Make It 2 Straights; Score 6-2

(By Associated Press) FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, Oct. 6.—The New York Yankees made it two straights over the Pittsburgh Pirates by winning the second World Series game today, 6 to 2. The Yanks were pitched to victory by George Pipgras, a new comer to the classic, who held the Pirates to seven hits and was not in danger after his mates gave him three runs in the third inning. They added three more in the eighth for good measure.

Vic Aldridge, Pittsburgh starting pitcher, was driven from the mound in the eighth inning, being replaced by Cvengros.

The score: R H E New York 003 000 030—6 11 0 Pittsburgh 100 000 010—2 7 2 Batteries: New York—Pipgras and Bengough; Pittsburgh—Aldridge, Cvengros, Dawson and Gooch.

FORBES FIELD, Pittsburgh, Oct. 6.—Primed for a battery of right-handed pitchers, George Pipgras for the Yanks and Vic Aldridge for the Corsairs, the New York and Pittsburgh teams entered their second World Series game this afternoon.

Two other right-handers, Ray Kremer and Waite Hoyt, yesterday started something they could not finish when the Americans went by, making fewer errors than the National League entries. The contesting clubs made a clean sweep of the batteries as the catchers were switched when Benny Bengough went in to catch his first World Series game for the Yanks.

Attendance today is estimated around 40,000, a few hundred less than on Wednesday.

The score at the end of the first frame was: Yanks, 0; Pirates, 1.

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 6.—Bright sunshine with a cloudless sky was in prospect here today for the second game of the World Series between the New York Yankees and Pittsburgh Pirates.

HEALTH MUST BE EARNED SAYS GENE TUNNEY

THE secret of good health is keeping fit at all times, Gene Tunney declares. Form the habit of regular exercise, he advises, and your reward will be a clear eye, a light, springy step, better circulation and a general feeling of well-being. Gene himself practices what he preaches. Every morning on arising, whether or not he is in training for the ring at the time, he goes through a series of setting-up exercises of his own invention. To pace himself he uses the talking machine records he recently made of his routine. It is Gene's contention that everyone, whether he is an athlete or a business man, should keep himself at top-notch efficiency by taking a certain amount of regular exercise each day. Deep breathing plays a great part in his system. Most people, he thinks, never take a really deep breath unless they are forced to do so by some exertion. Men and women alike are prone to be negligent in safeguarding their health. "No one should ever forget that good health can not be bought," he cautions. "It must be earned by faithful exercise of mind and body practiced faithfully and regularly every day."

Chevrolet Cavaran Makes Big Hit With Fair Visitors

Considerable attention was attracted here Wednesday afternoon when the Chevrolet caravan making a tour of the leading Chevrolet agencies in West Texas, visited the city, took part in the decorated car parade and also indulged in a spirited water fight with members of the Ballinger fire department.

The caravan arrived here ahead of schedule. It was due here next Monday afternoon, but due to this being fair week and the nearness of the route being travelled by the motor trucks in this section of the state, the delegation came here from Brady instead of going into San Angelo as originally planned.

The representatives of the company spent the night here and left early Thursday morning for San Angelo, where they were to spend a day and night. They will be through here again next week en route to Coleman and Santa Anna and then back thru this city en route to Sweetwater.

This motor train started from Dallas on August 8th for a tour of 5,000 miles, in which are distributed 189 Chevrolet dealers in the Dallas territory. A similar tour is being conducted thru the Houston territory.

Twenty-three truck body types were displayed, together with the various models of motor cars and a fire truck recently put on the market by the General Motors Company.

At 5:00 o'clock Wednesday afternoon a water fight was staged on Hutchings Avenue near the court house lawn, with the Chevrolet drivers winning from the Ballinger boys 3 to 1. The contest was both interesting and exciting. A large crowd here for the fair witnessed the event.

This caravan will return to Dallas October 24th, after completing the tour at Sweetwater.

Henry Jones, of the Ballinger Auto Company, declared he was very well pleased with the courtesies extended the Chevrolet group by both the citizens of Ballinger and the Runnels County Fair Association, and that the favors were appreciated very much. Mr. Jones and a delegation of Ballinger citizens met the caravan a few miles from the city Wednesday at noon and a fair official presented each of the boys on the trip with a season pass to the fair.

"We sure had a big time here last night," one of the representatives was heard to remark Thursday morning before the party left. "I hope we can spend another night or two here before we return to Dallas."

The companies with representatives on the trip are: American Body Co., Dallas, J. A. Shields; Edwards Wheel & Body Works, Inc., Dallas, J. Edgar Patterson; Martin Parry Corp., Dallas, F. M. Salas; Woodward Body Works, Austin, B. D. Morris; Martin Wagon Co., Lufkin, J. K. Skaggs; Springfield Wagon Co., A. B. C. Trailers, Springfield, Mo., W. E. Davis; Ferris-Simpson Co., Dallas, Joe Pinter; Texas Company, Dallas, O. G. Hancock; Dallas Auto Painting Co., Dallas, R. B. Johnson. Chevrolet officials are as follows: H. C. Howard, assistant sales manager; Fred Grundy, service department; C. C. Harrison, territory representative.

Movie Caricatures Of Convent Girl, 14, Wins Hollywood's Eye

(By Associated Press)
HOLLYWOOD, Calif., Oct. 4.—now and then some artist from South America or Mexico or France breezes into Hollywood and fascinates the natives with caricatures of screen celebrities. Fourteen-year-old Cleanthe Carr came from a Pennsylvania convent, unheralded by the magazines or newspapers. Nor did she even know herself that she was going to cartoon the famous faces of Tilmom.

But she had to amuse herself while spending the summer vacation with her mother, who is a scenario reader, so she looked around and drew pictures of the stars.

Now critics hail Cleanthe as a genius. She is going back to New York soon to finish her preparatory school course, and plans to begin studying art under instructors then. Although her father, Gene Carr, is a successful cartoonist, Cleanthe has not taken any lessons from anyone. "Except a few at the convent," she explains, "but I dropped that course in a hurry because I was scolded for not putting enough clothes on my figures."

Cleanthe was born in Red Bank, N. J., but lived there only a year. When not at school she is usually with her aunt in Brooklyn or in California with her mother.

SAVE TIME WITH OVEN COOKERY

(Editor's Note: This is one of the series of cooking articles by 6 famous cooks running exclusively in this paper. Paste it in your cook book.)

When days are fullest, and time is most precious, try an oven-cooked meal. You will save yourself many minutes in preparation and watching.

And you will be able to serve a tasty meal—the kind which will make your family exclaim, "Let's have this again soon!" The menu given today is by Mrs. Belle DeGraf, San Francisco, home economics counsellor.

MRS. BELLE DEGRAF

A Delicious Oven Meal

Beef and Macaroni, San Francisco
Baked Lima Beans, Paprika
Pineapple and Cheese Salad
Stanford Prune Whip Pie

The actual cooking time for this meal is three hours. But, with a reliable stove, the cook does not need to stay in the kitchen more than half an hour!

First, heat the oven well for 3 minutes to 425 degrees, while you make the pie crust. Bake for 15 minutes. Then put meat and beans into oven and reduce heat to "moderate," or 350 degrees. You need pay no more attention to this cooking for 3 hours, when meal is ready to serve.

A heat regulator takes the guesswork out of baking. It registers the exact degree of heat. One made especially for oil stoves, may be fastened easily to practically any glass-door oven.

Beef and Macaroni San Francisco

Select about 2 pounds of lean beef, cut into pieces suitable for sautéing. Sprinkle each piece with salt and dredge with flour.

Heat drippings of fat, flour, salt pork in a frying pan, then add meat and quickly brown each piece on all sides. Then browned place in a large casserole and pour over 2 cups of tomato sauce, or puréed tomato, one teaspoon of salt and enough hot water to cover meat. Add 12 or more ripe or stuffed olives. Cover casserole.

Place in a moderate oven and cook about 2 hours. An hour before meal is to be served add 4½ cups elbow macaroni or macaroni broken into inch lengths. If more liquid is needed add either tomato or stock.

Baked Lima Beans, Paprika

Soak lima beans overnight, or at least for several hours. Drain, cover with fresh cold water and set over flame, bringing slowly to the boiling point. Drain again, and place in a casserole or bean pot.

Cover with water, add 1 teaspoon of salt, 2 teaspoons paprika, and 2 tablespoons butter. Cover and cook with the meat, allowing about the same time.

Is your oven so built that you can cook fish, cake, and onions in it at the same time with no blending of flavors? One manufacturer is selling just such ovens. They have such perfect air circulation that all odors are carried away. There is not the slightest blending of flavors.

Pineapple and Cheese Salad

Allow one slice of pineapple for each service. Place a tablespoonful of well seasoned cottage cheese in the center of each slice or make cheese balls with butter ball paddles. Make a French dressing with lemon juice.

A good French dressing is made as follows:

- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1 teaspoon sugar
- 1 teaspoon mustard
- 1 teaspoon paprika
- 1 cup lemon juice or vinegar
- ¼ cup olive oil (or other good salad oil)

Oil and juice should be cold. Put all ingredients into fruit jar and shake well.

Stanford Prune Whip Pie

Bake a pie crust, then add the prune whip:

- 1 cup prune pulp
- ½ cup sugar
- 2 egg whites unbeaten
- ½ cup finely shredded almonds or walnuts

Rub stoned stewed prunes through a coarse sieve. Put sugar, prune pulp and unbeaten egg whites in a bowl and beat with a whip egg beater until stiff enough to hold its shape. Fold in part of the nuts, then heap mixture in the baked pie crust. Sprinkle nuts on top and place on top grate of oven until nuts are delicately browned.

This is a good, substantial meal which hungry folks will relish. There are innumerable combinations which may be oven-cooked, too. For example, roast beef, Yorkshire pudding, potatoes browned in the pan, onion soufflé, and mustard pie. You can readily think of many others.

If you wash rice in two warm waters instead of cold, it will remove the starch much quicker.

Women Bankers' Survey Shows Varied Careers in Business World

(By Associated Press)

HOUSTON, Oct. 6.—A survey of the career of officers in the Association of Bank Women, which holds its annual convention here in October, reveals the extent that women have become entrenched in modern business.

All of the women officials have come to their positions of responsibility in New York and Chicago banks after adventures in the business world ranging from Wall Street to a Red Cross hut in France.

Miss Jean Arnot Reid, president of the association, is manager of the women's department of the Bankers Trust Co., New York. She formerly was an artist and member of both the American Association of Miniature Painters and the National Association of Painters and Sculptors. During the War she was in charge of a Red Cross hut at Vittef, France, and it was her financial statement rendering account of this hut's activities that won her the offer of her present position. The statement was seen by one of the bank's officials, who promptly sought her out.

Miss Nina Bruere, recording secretary, has had 14 years banking experience, seven of which were in Wall Street. She is assistant secretary of the Central Union Trust Company of New York and serves the women depositors at the midtown office of this company on 42nd Street.

The corresponding secretary of the women bankers' organization is Mrs. Elizabeth Robinson, director of the service department of the North River Savings Bank, New York. She studied domestic science and economics, was active in Belgian relief work during the War, and later was in an export firm. She spent three years on Wall Street and finally undertook direction of the service department for the North River bank. She is chairman of the women's committee of the American Institute of Banking.

Miss Nina Carter, vice-president, and Miss Louella Ensworth, treasurer, both of Chicago, have had similar careers.

Although only six years old, the association of bank women represents virtually every state and more than 100 cities in a total membership of 190. The membership is restricted to women officers in banks, or managers of departments whose business brings them into daily contact with the customers of their banks. The convention will be held simultaneously with the American Bankers Association convention.

Barnhart

Barnhart loading pens on the Orient are believed to have turned over the largest single shipment of sheep ever loaded out from one station in a short period of time, 17,000 head, valued at $150,000, being shipped from this point Monday.

The shipment was superintended by W. J. Tilton, general livestock agent of the Orient. The flock took 93 cars and were bound for various points in Missouri, New Mexico and Colorado. Officials believe, however, that this record will be surpassed before the shipping season ends.

How to Hunt Mr. 'Possum and B'er Raccoon Made Easy for All

DEVOTEES of the historic night time pastime of hunting opossums and raccoons have discovered a new method for ferreting out the hiding places of these furry denizens of the woods.

Both Mr. 'Possum and his cousin B'er Raccoon are, as is well known, past masters of the art of concealing themselves on a leafy bough. At the slightest crackle of bush or twig or the distant bay of the hunting dog they take to the trees and proceed to render themselves invisible to the average eye under cover of night.

Your modern 'possum or raccoon hunter, however, simply unbooks his handy flashlight, which he has been carrying by its ring-hanger from his belt, and shoots its beams up among the boughs of the tree at whose foot bark faithful Tray and his canine companions of the all-night hunt.

Sure enough, among the branches the flashlight beam picks out their quarry's shrinking form and the rest is simple. There remains only the task of shaking the tree sufficiently to toss the bough-climber from his lofty perch to the ground, or for some hardy member of the expedition to scale the trunk and detach the 'possum or raccoon from his hiding place by a firm grip on his tail.

Thus does science come to the rescue of those tormented beginners in this delectable sport, who lacking the instinctive sense of the seasoned pursuer, otherwise would spend weary hours tramping from tree to tree, uncertain whether their scatter-brained dogs had actually treed the object of their chase in this or that pine, birch or oak, or were simply "barking up the wrong tree" for perversity's sake.

UNEASY SLEEP

"Nerves Were All to Pieces," Says Lady Who Tells How Cardui Helped Her When She Was Run-Down.

Hopkins, S. C.—Mrs. G. W. Arranta, of this place, says:

"I was suffering from spells of weakness. These would come on me suddenly and I would have to give up and go to bed. For several months I did not sleep well at night and got no rest from sleep. I was very nervous. I could not bear the least noise. The children worried me. My nerves were all to pieces."

"I had taken Cardui several times before, so I sent at once for some and began to take it again. At the end of a short time I felt much better, so I kept right on taking Cardui. When I would feel a nervous spell coming on, I took it more frequently for a few days."

"I can certainly say Cardui helped me wonderfully, for after a time the nervousness disappeared entirely. I could sleep at night and my general health was better. My appetite picked up and I enjoyed my meals, too."

Thousands of other women have told of the benefit they have received from the use of Cardui. Keep it on hand, to take when needed.

Talk About Oil Shortage Scored by Govt. Expert

That there will be fuel for the family driver, at moderate prices, for many decades is the confident view of Harry H. Hill, chief petroleum engineer, United States Bureau of Mines. Interviewed by the New York Times, Mr. Hill said:

"It will be possible to obtain plenty of petroleum from drilled wells for many years to come and after the exhaustion of this supply coal and shales will meet all requirements, according to Harry H. Hill, Chief Petroleum Engineer of the United States Bureau of Mines.

Harry H. Hill, Chief of Petroleum Division, U. S. Bureau of Mines.

He sees no reason for worry over a possible shortage of motor fuel.

"Most of the petroleum thus far has come from limited areas within the United States," Mr. Hill said. "Even from these, only a small part has been taken. Oil in pools, with gas pressure capable of lifting it, is but a little of all the oil. Even from the best pools recovery by the old methods is small—a half at best; often a sixth, a seventh or a tenth.

"But a considerable part of what remains can be recovered by methods now established as technically and economically practicable. These will be improved as occasion demands. Mining oil, and the production of it from coal and shales, is entirely possible. If we need to fall back on these resources, we are ready. But for a long time exploration, drilling and larger recoveries are likely to suffice."

Artificial Pressure Needed

Mr. Hill said that gas pressure lifts oil in wells, but that much is sticking to the sands. Artificial restoration of pressure with gas, air or water, and the use of chemical to wash the oil away from the sands, would greatly increase recoveries, he said. He explained that escaping gas carried off much of the oil, which formerly was lost but now is saved, and that great progress has been made in shutting out water and so increasing the recovery of oil.

"Early operators," Mr. Hill continued, "guarded information about their experiences, but latterly they cooperate. Our engineers get logs of wells from which helpful information is placed at the service of producers. Geologists and engineers, once derided by 'practical' oil men, are becoming guides and inventors."

He then told how oil sands are mined in France by soaking the oil out of the sands by driving tunnels and from these pushing perforated pipes out to soak up the oil as a sponge would. Some companies are installing the process in this country, convinced it is practicable and profitable, he said.

Explains European Methods

"In Europe," he went on, "much is being done to distill oil from coal. But extracting it from shales is more appealing. Scotland has worked its shales for seventy-five years. We have vastly greater and richer deposits here. There is no doubt of the possibility of extraction; just a question of cost. Scotch shales are producing twenty-five gallons per ton; we can get much more. Scotch seams are 3 1/2 to 10 feet thick; ours are many times that. Shale resources are so vast as to insure against deficiency in oil, once the price is high enough.

"But that may be a long time ahead," Ben E. Lindsay, of the Bureau's Station in Oklahoma, is sure that exploration, better recoveries, better utilization, deeper drilling, would furnish oil for 25 to 50 years, if it could all be taken out in that time. That will be impossible in actual operation. There will be shortages, when oil from shales will be needed to supplement that from the wells. Meanwhile, Federal and State Governments and the industry are co-operating in an astonishing range of investigations and studies, looking to larger recoveries, prevention of waste, protection against fire and the use of lower grade distillates."

JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Oct. 6.—Taking advantage of the draft system, as operated by baseball circuits, is proving profitable to the Jacksonville Tars, of the Southeastern League.

At the close of the 1926 season,

Jacksonville "picked up" Ben Cantwell, pitcher, and Al Lopez, catcher, from the Florida State League at the draft price of $700. Washington previously had offered Tampa $3,000 for Lopez but the team refused, holding out for a larger price.

A few weeks ago, the Tars' Al Cantwell, who had won 23 of the 26 games he pitched for the club this year, to the New York Giants for $25,000. Now the have just sold Lopez, only 19 years old, his battery mate of the Brooklyn Dodgers for $10,000. Lopez will join the Dodgers in the spring.
