Whirlwinds Defeat Muleshoe Mules 28-7

Another rainy Friday night proved too much for the Muleshoe Mules as they played the Floydada Whirlwinds in Benny Douglas Stadium last Friday night.

The forecasted rain quickly went from speculation to reality when the rain began before the game and continued up until the fourth quarter making playing conditions tricky at best.

When the Whirlwinds left Friday night, they took a 28-7 victory with them making the second district loss for the Mules.

The Mules received the opening kickoff and played a series of short yardage plays to insure the first downs. The Mules, however, fumbled the ball with 9:40 left in the first quarter.

Early in Floydada's possession of the ball, Muleshoe received the first of two penalties during the game for a five yard loss. Yet even with this advantage, Floydada was unable to retain control long enough to make it count and returned the ball to Muleshoe with a 55 yard punt.

With 4:22 remaining in the first quarter, quarterback Johnny Garcia connected a pass with #42, Armando DelToro, for a twenty yard gain. The pass was for naught, though, when the Mules gave the ball back to the Whirlwinds.

Floydada quickly racked up an offensive interference penalty and returned the ball to the Mules. The first quarter ended with both teams scoreless.

The second quarter remained uneventful except for the numerous penalties racked up by both teams until 1:19 seconds remained on the clock and Ty Stovall threw a 17 yard touchdown pass to Chad Pernel for the first Floydada touchdown. The PAT attempt failed leaving the score at half-time 6-0.

Several fumbles by the Mules marked the action of the third quarter until #78, Francisco Ybarra, recovered a Floydada fumble on the 27 yard line. This recovery led to the only Mule touchdown of the game with 5:33 on the clock. Michael Angeley carried the ball 13 yards. Greg Young scored on the extra point kick to make the score 7-6. This lead was short-lived as Floydada's Julio Flores ran down an open field for a 42 yard touchdown. Their first try for a two point conversion ended in a flag on the play and a five yard penalty.

The second try proved to be worth the effort, though, as Ty Stovall avoided several attempts at tackles to make the points and leave the score 14-7.

The Mules came back ready to do battle in the fourth, but to no luck as the Whirlwinds made another 13 yard touchdown with 9:44 on the board left to play.

Floydada returned the ball with a 31 yard punt to Michael Angeley for a 20 yard carry. The Mules gained several yards before losing the ball to Floydada with another fumble and 6:46 left on the board.

The Whirlwind's possession resulted in another touchdown by Hector Flores who avoided two tackles on a 35 yard run to hit pay-dirt.

The last five minutes of the game saw a series of short yardage plays, fumbles and recoveries by both teams.

The leading scorer for Muleshoe was Michael Dunham with 66 yards and Shawn Bussey second with 53 yards. The

Early Freeze Damages Crops In County

Tax Practitioner Workshops Scheduled

The Texas Agricultural Extension Service is cooperating with the Internal Revenue Service in offering many Tax Practitioner Workshops across the state, according to Spencer Tanksley, Bailey County agent.

Twenty-six general workshops will be held in all major Texas cities. The general workshop nearest Muleshoe is in Lubbock on December 1 and 2, and in Amarillo on December 15 and 16. There will also be 14 advanced workshops offered in major cities. The General Tax Workshop will concentrate most on personal taxes--the Advanced Workshops' emphasis will be on business on tax problems. The closed Advanced Workshop will be held in Amarillo on October 30 and 31.

The Tax Practitioner educational program has been highly successful. Last year 4,400 people participated in this state-wide series. These practitioners reported filing more than $19,000 tax returns.

For additional information you are asked to contact the Bailey County Extension office for a brochure explaining more about the program and registration information.

New Tax Laws For 1987

A push for tax overhaul that began several years ago has resulted in the most sweeping tax restructuring since the enactment of income taxation. While other tax legislation has been heralded as reform, this new law is a true change that will affect all taxpayers. Millions of low-income people will no longer pay tax, while higher-income taxpayers will lose many deductions.

The final measure was the result of a lengthy negotiating session between the House and Senate. Both chambers had their own versions of tax reform, and the final bill reflects the compromise. Popular parts of both proposals were sacrificed in the process.

The end product is a significant change in the tax code. While not really simpler, the tax law is now supposedly fairer for most taxpayers. However, the benefits of this fairness may not be seen for some time. Because taxpayers will experience an overall tax increase in 1987. Most of the changes are effective that year.

Tax planning - particularly for the rest of 1986 - is more important than ever. The provisions most important to individuals are summarized here.

FOR INDIVIDUALS
Tax Rates. The change attracting the most attention is the reduction in tax rates. Current law has 14 or 15 brackets (depending on filing status) with tax rates from 11% to 50%.

The new law has only two rates - 15% and 28%. The 15% rate applies to taxable income up to $17,850 on a single return, $23,900 on a head-of-household return and $29,750 on a joint return. The 28% rate applies above these amounts.

For 1987, five rates will be used - 11%, 15%, 28%, 35%, and 38.5%. See the tables in the back for the exact taxable income breakdown of these blended rates.

Rate Surcharge. While the rate cut has garnered favorable publicity, a surcharge will offset the lower rates for higher-income taxpayers, and complicate tax calculation. It will mean marginal tax rate of 33% for some taxpayers in 1988.

An early freeze, six to eight hours below freezing temperatures October 12 and 13, two weeks earlier than normal freeze date, has caused damage of several different crops in the county, according to Spencer Tanksley, County Agent. The greatest amount of acreage effected will be the grain sorghum and cotton and certain vegetables.

Thinking back on the crop year, it was very dry in the month of May and farmers planted a lot of late May and early June crops. The later the crops were planted the greater effect the freeze had on the yield.

At this time it is probably to early to put an estimate of yield loss but some fields may have to be completely destroyed and never harvested, it could be that severe, according to Tanksley. Most of the crops will produce some type of yield, but will see low production with poor quality.

Tanksley said that he doesn't feel like the freeze hurt corn, wheat, alfalfa and some vegetables, however farmers are faced with such wet muddy field conditions that harvest is at a very slow pace.

"We must have good clear open weather with some heat in order to mature this crop".

Every farm situation is different because of different crops being grown and maturity levels of these crops when freeze hits.

One problem facing producers is prussic acid poisoning in plants of sorghum group (grain sorghum, sudan, hybrid sudan and Johnson grass) have a potential for producing toxic levels of prussic (hydrocyanic) acid. Cyanide-producing compounds occurring in living plant cells are converted to prussic acid when cells are ruptured due to frost, mechanical damage, etc.

Prussic acid is one of the most potent toxins in nature. As remnants consume plant materials containing cyanide-producing compounds, prussic acid is liberated in the rumen, absorbed into the bloodstream and carried to body tissues where it interferes with oxygen utilization. If toxin is absorbed rapidly enough, the animal soon dies from respiratory paralysis. When lethal amounts are consumed, dead animals may be found without visible symptoms of poisoning. Symptoms from smaller amounts include labored breathing, irregular pulse, frothing at the mouth and staggering.

The risk from potentially dangerous forages may be reduced by following certain management practices in the fall.

1. Do not graze at night when frost is likely.
2. Do not graze after a killing frost until plant material is dry (the toxin is usually dissipated within 48 hours).
3. Do not graze at night when frost is likely.

Animals affected by prussic acid can be treated with some degree of success if they are detected soon after poisoning. The dosage and method of administration are critical and best conducted by a veterinarian.

Stocker Cattle Seminars Examine

Keys To Profit

Three one-day seminars for stocker cattle operators in the Panhandle, South Plains and Rolling Plains are being presented by the Texas Agricultural Extension Service. The programs will be held Oct. 27 in Silverton, Oct. 28 in Littlefield and Nov. 4 in Lamesa.

"These are designed to be practical," said Dr. John McNeill, Extension beef cattle specialist. "We want producers to get information they can incorporate into their management program."

The program at Littlefield is designed for operators in Lamb, Bailey, Castro, Cochran, Hale, Hockley, Lubbock and Parmer counties. It will be at the Lanvies. It will be at the Lamb County Agricultural and Community Center, 17th Street and Hall Avenue. Lamb County Agent Jett Major said this is a half mile north of the intersection of U.S. Hwy. 385 and Clovis Highway.

Each program will begin at 9 a.m. and conclude about 3:30 p.m. A catered lunch will be served at each. There is no fee for participating stocker operators.

Changes in farm programs and crops economy have increased the interest in stocker cattle, McNeill said.

He will open each program with a look at cost-effective management of stocker operations. This will include an

Fee Reduced For Personalized Plates

Want to go 4 FUN sometime? Well, IM POOR, you see, I O DAD. Besides, IM BUSY. But if you GO 4TH in your TOY TRK, don't do it while you're TIP-Z.

Those are a few of the messages some 56,000 Texas motorists have invented for personalizing their license plates.

Beginning January 1, 1987, it will cost $35.00 less to tell other motorists you have NO WIFE, or you're SINGLE. The annual fee for personalized license plates will drop from $75.00 to $40.00.

The reduction was approved during the recent special session of the state legislature in an effort to attract some of the nearly 100,000 motorists who cancelled their special plates after the fee was raised from $25.00 to $75.00 during the 1985 regular session.

"There were about 154,000 personalized plates registered in the state before the fee was increased," said Dian Neill, director of the Division of Motor Vehicles with the highway department. "Obviously we're not serving all Texans who want such plates. We hope the fee reduction will help us serve them better as well as regenerate the lost dollars to the state."

The State Department of Highways and Public Transportation receives $1.25 from the sale of each special plate, Neill said. The remainder of the revenue goes into the state's general funds.

Personalized plates were first offered in Texas in 1965, Neill said. More than 5,000 were issued the first year. Names, phrases and words relating to the driver's alma mater are among the more popular choices in individualized plates.

Somewhere on the state's highways a few friendly folks are saying HOW-D-DO, BCNU and BYE NOW. And the motorists who chose HOT DOG, PICKLE, TURKEY, APPLE and BNANA must be having a PEACH of a time. But the driver who complains IM LOST could use some HELP.

One motorist, evidently no JOKER, brags IM N LUV. Another motorist leaves it up to other drivers to determine if 2X4X8 means He's a construction enthusiast. And who but a firm named McDONALD would opt for EIEIO?

"Personalized plates are fun for both the vehicle's owner and for other motorists," Neill said.

Up to six letters and two spaces can be used in personalizing a license plate, she said. Requests are screened to see that they don't duplicate an existing plate and that they meet basic good taste requirements.

Once the plates are approved, they are issued in about four weeks. And the plate is registered to the individual, rather than the vehicle.

"We've had some plates issued to the same motorist for 20 years," Neill said. "They may change vehicles, but the plate goes with them."

But Neill said many names and phrases previously "taken" may now be available, due to the drop in demand after the fee increase.

"With about 100,000 plates cancelled, I'd encourage interested motorists to inquire whether their choices are now available," she said. "A few of the hard-to-obtain names and words are now free."

Cull Late-Calving Cows

Farmers and ranchers who haven't already culled open, late-calving and poor performing cows should do so soon.

There's no need to put expensive winter feed into cows that are unproductive and inefficient, points out Spencer Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System. Culling the cow herd now will also help you more effectively plan on feed supplies for the winter months.

The culling process should also "weed out" cows with bad eyes, udders or feet and legs, says Tanksley.

Also, pregnancy testing cows this fall may be a more profitable management tool than ever before.

Since it's difficult for a cow to produce a calf large enough to pay her annual maintenance bill and leave some profit for the producer, an open cow is surely losing money, emphasizes Tanksley. In addition, cows calving late and during the summer months wean calves 30 to 90 pounds lighter than their herd mates which calve at earlier times. For this reason it's advisable to cull cows which will calve next year and purchase pregnant replacements which will calve early.

Whoever does the pregnancy diagnosis (usually your veterinarian) will be able to estimate the calving date on each animal and make it easy to identify next year's late-calving cows. Work toward a 60-day calving season or one that's certainly no longer than 90 days.

Removing barren and late-calving cows from the herd will increase both the herd's reproductive potential and pounds of calf weaned, contends Tanksley.

Local Women Attend Conference

Connie Kenmore, Gayla Gear, Gayle Fuller recently joined other Texans at the annual adult leadership conference sponsored by Texans' War on Drugs (TWOD). Titled "Celebrate Texas: Create a Drug-Free State", the conference was held at the Gunter Hotel in San Antonio during Texas' Drug Education and Prevention Week, October 5-11. Governor Mark White declared this week as a time to renew commitment to youth and a drug-free lifestyle.

They joined representatives from across the state in the grass roots movement of parents, educators, community leaders and concerned citizens who are addressing the problem and solutions of drug use among youth.

Conference participants heard prominent speakers and attended workshops to share ideas and to learn more about how to keep young people free of drugs.

Senior State Senator Ray Farabee from Wichita Falls was the luncheon speaker. Senator Farabee is chairman of the State Affairs Committee and is a member of the Legislative Budget Board.

Dr. Richard A. Hawley, a distinguished author, poet, and educator, spoke on "A School Answers Back" and "Schools Say No," a new K-12 curriculum. He has written numerous papers and books on the role of the teacher, the effects of television on the adolescent, and the impact of marijuana on the school. He reaches beyond his own experience as a headmaster of the University School, outside of Cleveland, Ohio, to draw on the rapidly increasing knowledge about drug prevention to offer guidelines for schools and communities working together.

Dr. Lee B. Croft from Arizona State University, another keynote speaker, addressed the issue of "Drugs in the Workplace" and how it is draining the economy as well as the pocketbooks. Dr. Croft says, "Marijuana's effect on our personal pocketbooks is worse than that on income tax evasion and worse than the prime lending rate. Financially, drugs are killing us."

"In just a decade," said a Texans' War on Drugs spokesperson, "drugs have spread from the college campuses into the workplace and into our elementary schools. It is a national epidemic that affects us all and we must do our part to COLLEGE STATION—Some of the strongest influences on how happy someone will be in a second marriage include how well that person gets along with his or her new in-laws and with original family members such as parents, says a Texas A&M University psychology researcher.

Another strong influence on a person's happiness in a second marriage is the degree of amiability or understanding the person perceives between the new and former spouses, said Jay R. Solomon, who recently completed work for a doctoral degree in counseling psychology, under the direction of Professor Arthur J. Roach of the Educational Psychology Department.

Solomon contacted 113 people who were married for the second time after a divorce to determine the significance of assorted family relationships on marriage satisfaction. Solomon said earlier research in second marriages has focused primarily of the ages of the new partners, length of marriage and other factors such as income and religious persuasions.

Two Vaccines Needed For Influenza Protection

The good news about the coming flu season is that it may not be severe in terms of deaths; the bad news is that protection against influenza will mean getting two vaccines.

Dr. Thomas Cate, a researcher at Baylor College of Medicine's Influenza Research Center, said A/Taiwan is likely to be the dominant flu virus this year. Because A/Taiwan affects mainly people under age 35, who are usually healthy, the flu season should not be severe in terms of deaths.

But since A/Taiwan is not the only flu virus that may be around this winter, people in all age groups should be vaccinated, Cate said.

The U.S. Centers for Disease Control in Atlanta decides on the composition of the coming year's flu vaccine in late winter, based on viruses circulating world-wide. This year, the A/Taiwan virus appeared and began causing epidemics after the trivalent vaccine was made.

The trivalent vaccine, so called because it protects against three viruses--A/Chile, A/Mississippi and B/Ann Arbor, is available now. The monovalent vaccine, which protects only against the A/Taiwan virus, will not be available before mid-November.

Cate, advisor to the American Lung Association's medical division, recommended that people get the trivalent vaccine now and the monovalent vaccine when it becomes available. He said the monovalent is particularly important for people under age 35, but can also enhance the protection of older individuals.

"The danger is that people will say: 'Gee, if I have to get both, I'll wait until the second vaccine becomes available.' By then it's conceivable that we could already be in the midst of an outbreak and high-risk people would not be protected at all," Cate said.

People in high risk groups are more prone to life-threatening infections, such as pneumonia, after a case of influenza. They include people with chronic diseases and those over 65.

The vaccine is also recommended for health care workers, nursing home residents, anyone regularly exposed to chronically ill or elderly persons and children taking aspirin regularly for such problems as rheumatoid arthritis.

Children taking aspirin are more likely to develop Reye's Syndrome after a flu infection. Reye's Syndrome is a viral disease that can cause coma and death. Symptoms include vomiting and hallucinations.

Influenza usually strikes suddenly and causes fever, generalized aches, weakness, and a dry, hacking cough. It is caused by variants of the two common influenza viruses, types A and B. Variants are identified according to where they were first isolated.

A/Taiwan is a variant of an influenza A virus that circulated throughout the world from 1918 to 1957. Since the virus reappeared in epidemic form in 1977, it has affected mainly young adults and children.

"If A/Taiwan comes, it is likely to cause a fairly strong epidemic in terms of school absenteeism and college campus outbreaks," Cate said. "But it may not be such a major epidemic in terms of death rate."

The American Lung Association's goal is to have 80 percent of those in high risk groups vaccinated against the flu this year. Only about 20 percent of high risk individuals are usually vaccinated annually.

Legalized Gambling Discussed By Religious Leaders

About 100 religious leaders representing 15 denominations discussed the theological, political, economic and organizational issues related to fighting legalized gambling in Texas during a convocation on state-sponsored gambling at First United Methodist Church in Dallas yesterday.

The meeting, which drew participants from 30 cities, was co-sponsored by the Texas Conference of Churches, the Texas Baptist Christian Life Commission, the Anti-Crime Council of Texas, Texas IMPACT, and the Greater Dallas Community of Churches.

Weston Ware, associate director of the Christian Life Commission, noted the convocation attracted not only members of ecumenical organizations who traditionally have stood alongside Baptists in the fight against legalized gambling, but also brought together members of independent, congregational-type churches that have not been involved at the legislative level in the recent past.

Ira Peak, ethics professor at Wayland Baptist University, Plainview, examined the theological foundations for Christian involvement in the anti-gambling fight based on the biblical command to believers to "love thy neighbor as thyself."

"Love involves more than justice, but it never involves less than justice," said Peak. He observed that legalized gambling allows the state to use its citizens "as means in a scheme to further government," and by abandoning its obligation to protect citizens from gambling it "turns consumer protection upside down."

He noted that according to scripture, the neighbor who is poor deserves special care, and he said that state-sponsored gambling "preys on the poor like a parasite." In support of his claim, Peak cited a 1979 study conducted in New Castle County, Delaware, which showed that lottery outlets there were located in disproportionate numbers in the poorest neighborhoods.

Gary McNeil, legislative assistant with the Christian Life Commission, predicted that Texans will defeat legalized pari-mutuel gambling at the polls on Nov. 3, 1987, but it will require a concerted effort by gambling opponents to warn the public against the misinformation produced by the gambling industries.

Far from being the grand solution its supporters claim, McNeil said that gambling, in fact, will not produce proportionately significant revenue even after five years, and it offers no immediate relief. Furthermore, he disputed claims that pari-mutuel gambling is a solid industry which will help diversify the state economy.

"Pari-mutuel is a dying industry with declining revenues and attendance," he said. "In some situations, states must float bonds to bail out the ailing trusts."

Brushing aside polls claiming a majority of Texans favor legalized gambling, McNeil said, "There is only one poll that is going to matter. It's the one voters will go to on Nov. 3, 1987."

Matters Of Health From West Plains Medical Center

In the past my children have gotten warts on their hands and they seem to disappear on their own. Now the warts appeared again. Should I continue to leave them alone, or is there some kind of treatment I should be using?

Warts are the most common viral infections affecting the skin. They often disappear on their own, and overzealous attempts to treat them at home can be painful and cause scarring.

Warts can take from one to six months to develop, and two out of three will disappear within two years. But you may want to consider treatment if the wart is painful, interferes with your child's normal functioning, or is upsetting to your child because of its appearance.

Warts on the face, or near the nails or genitals can be difficult to treat and may cause scarring. It's best to consult your pediatrician in such cases. Genital warts in particular require a physician's skills.

Treatment with over-the-counter preparations containing salicylic acid and lactic acid is often successful with common types of warts, which often appear on the hands and sometimes the legs of children. But such treatment takes time and patience. First wash the area with soap and water, then rub the wart surface gently with a mild abrasive, such as a pumice stone or nail file. Dab on the medicine with a flat toothpick or other applicator. Allow the medicine to dry.

When treating warts on the bottom of the feet ("plantar warts"), soak the foot in hot water for at least five minutes after rubbing with the file or pumice stone; then dry and apply the medicine. With plantar warts only, add a strip of adhesive tape after the medicine has dried. In all cases, repeat every night; it may take up to twelve weeks for the warts to completely disappear. Do not be surprised, however, if other warts should appear nearby during treatment, since the virus that causes warts often tends to spread to surrounding tissue.

When over-the-counter medications do not work, there are other, more effective forms of therapy. A dermatologist will often treat the warts with cryosurgery of electrodesiccation. Both procedures are rapid and completely obliterate the warts. Cryosurgery literally freezes the tissue, causing it to be sloughed off and replaced by new skin. This type of treatment will probably require three separate visits, one each week. With electrodesiccation, a high-voltage, low-ampere current is applied directly to the wart. Although highly effective at obliterating warts, this form of therapy also leaves some scarring. Your doctor also may prescribe cantharidin, a clear liquid that causes a temporary blister form around the wart. Eventually, the wart is sloughed off and replaced with new skin and free of warts. However, this prescription medication should be applied only by your doctor; in the wrong hands, cantharidin can be dangerous.

Q--- I understand that as a veteran without a service-related health problem, I may have to pay a deductible for VA health care, depending on my income. Does VA consider such things as stocks and bonds, in addition to my salary, when making this determination?

A--- Yes. When you apply for medical care at a VA medical center, you will be required to complete VA form 10-10F, which includes information on income as well as "net worth," such as stocks, bonds, bank deposits and savings, and real estate. Your primary residence is not included, nor is personal property such as one car, clothing and furnishings. You also will be required to provide information on any debts you have. The total amount of your debts will be deducted from your total net worth. Depending on your combined income and net worth, you will be placed in either Category A, B or C. If your income plus net worth after your debts have been deducted is greater than $40,000. You will be tentatively placed in Category C and will be required to pay a deductible for health care. The VA regional office will make the final determination on your financial situation. If the regional office determines that your net worth should not be a bar to your receiving cost-free health care, you will remain in Category C, and will be required to continue paying a deductible for VA health care.

Cotton Council Working On Export Assistance

Thirty textile mill executives from nine countries in the Far East will participate in an intensive two-week orientation tour of the U.S. Cotton Belt, Oct. 11-26.

Countries represented are Bangladesh, Indonesia, Japan, Korea, Malaysia, the Philippines, Singapore, Taiwan, and Thailand. These countries traditionally purchase two-thirds of all U.S. cotton exports, and this year are projected to buy about 4.5 million bales.

The tour is sponsored by Cotton Council International, overseas arm of the National Cotton Council, in cooperation with USDA's Foreign Agricultural Service.

During their travels across the Cotton Belt, participants will observe U.S. cotton production, harvesting, and ginning and meet with industry leaders to discuss marketing practices and problems.

The tour begins in San Francisco and will include stops in Memphis; Greenwood, Miss.; Raleigh, N.C.; Dallas; Lubbock, Tex.; Phoenix; Bakersfield, Calif.; and Fresno.

Highlights of the tour include meetings with American Cotton Shippers Association and Council officials in Memphis, a visit to the Delta Experiment Station in Stoneville, Miss., a tour of Cotton Incorporated's research facility in Raleigh, a meeting with Texas Cotton Association officials in Dallas, a tour of the Littlefield Denim Mill near Lubbock, a visit to the University of Arizona research farm in Phoenix, and meetings in California with cotton exporters and officials of Western Cotton Shippers Association.

"We have an excellent opportunity to show these Far East countries how well the new cotton program is working under the U.S. farm law," said Adrian Hunnings, CCI executive director. "Our export sales have increased considerably this year to the Far East, and this tour should help strengthen the positive relationships we've already established in those countries."

Japan and Korea are projected to be the two largest customers for U.S. cotton in 1986/87, according to USDA. Japan is projected to purchase 1.5 million bales and Korea is expected to buy 1.3 million bales.

MRS. JAMES GARNER MOORE IV
(nee Cynthia Suzanne Duvall)

Cynthia Suzanne Duvall and James Garner Moore, IV were married Saturday, Sept. 20th at the Community United Methodist Church in Ruidoso, N.M. Rev. Michael Skidmore and Rev. James C. Rodgers officiated.

The dropped Basque waist swept into a full skirt and cathedral train deeply edged with Milano scroll lace. Her ensemble was complete with coordinating satin hat featuring scrolled Milano lace and French illusion scarf veiling. The all white setting was centered around a handcrafted altar cross, which was enhanced by arrangements of gladiola, all white mixed garden flowers and gypsophyllia. A large candelabra arc stood to one side of the cross and the entire chancel area was flanked on either side by large floral arrangements. The aisle and pews were draped in white satin ribbons, ivy, stock blossoms, daisies and gypsophyllia. Traditional organ music was played by Jennie Hanson and Sheribob Taylor, vocalists.

tables held a champagne fountain and on the other was an antique crystal punch bowl filled with a cranberry punch. Country flowers in shades of mauve, jade and teal were used on the bride's table and individual

County Extension Agent

Mary K. Sweeten, Extension nutrition specialist, from College Station, will present "Eating for a Healthy Heart," Tuesday, October 28, at 2:00 PM in the Civic Center of Muleshoe.

As many of you probably know, there is presently widespread controversy concerning the relationship between diet and the development of heart disease. Americans are eating 42% of their calories in fats in food and 24% of calories in sugar. The increase in fat is due mainly to increased consumption of hidden fats in processed food and other fats. Research has shown that by controlling certain dietary substances that the risk of developing heart disease and other diseases (chronic obesity, diabetes, intestinal disorders) may be affected in some individuals.

Mary will tell you ways to diminish risk of developing heart disease as it relates to diet along with exercise. Also, she will discuss the importance of a sensible diet based on a wide variety of foods cannot be overemphasized. A balanced diet provides not only the kinds of foods but in amounts which will provide a balance in energy and calories. Also, she will discuss the five recommendations of the American Heart Association developed to provide balanced and nutritious meal to those placed on special diets by their physicians. Also, on October 28, at 4:30 PM, a popular diet program for youth will be presented at the Civic Center entitled, "No Beef - What's Wrong with Beef." These programs are opened to the public. No admission fee or other charges.

But, whether you're single or not, you'll enjoy seeing her ideas and trying her recipes -- which can be doubled or tripled, if needed.

Another guest will be Stefan Bechtel, editor of Men's Health Newsletter from Emmaus, PA, and he's going to discuss how to prevent colon cancer. Colon cancer is the second most common type of fatal cancer in the U.S. Stefan will share some information on new advances to help prevent this serious disease, as well as discuss treatment, surgery, follow-up treatment and discuss the chances for recurrence of the disease.

On Tuesday, October 21 at 9:30 pm Ann Hurt, author of Country Samplers, will discuss making samplers form material to motif. Ann is from New York.

Gayle Shockey, a nutritionist with Heart Keeper, from Fallbrook, CA, will show different mouth-watering breakfasts and discuss the nutritional value of each. Gayle stresses beginning the day with breakfast -- and this applies to every member of the family.

On Thursday, October 23 at 12 noon, "Creative Living" will feature information on foods for giving, high tech home ec and making holiday gifts from Tri-Chem products.

Lucille Romanello is the Director of Sales and Training for Tri-Chem, Inc. from Harrison, NJ, and she will demonstrate several of their products for making gifts with that special "handmade" look. She will demonstrate Spark-L-On, Sun-Glo and Chemage and show how much fun they are to work with.

Talking about gifts to give, how about giving a gift of food. Connie Moyers is the Marketing Home Economist with Southwestern Public Service Co. from Clovis, and she's going to share some quick and easy recipes for foods for giving. She also has some clever ideas for items to hold these foods gifts, too.

Have you ever heard of high tech home ec? It's a convenience revolution that's changing the way we live. Deborah Durham is a spokesperson for Liquid Bold-3, and she's going to explain how using these futuristic appliances and step-saving home care products will allow us to zip through our standard chores in a fraction of the time.

"Creative Living" is produced and hosted by Sheryl Borden. The show is carried on more than 95 PBS stations in the United States, Canada, Guam and Puerto Rico, and is distributed by Pacific Mountain Network, Denver, CO.

Health Agencies make diet recommendations on fat -- The dietary guidelines from major health organizations agree that Americans need to cut back on fat, says a Texas A&M University Extension Service nutritionist. According to Dr. Alice Hunt, U.S. Department of Agriculture guidelines recommend that Americans avoid too much fat, saturated fat and cholesterol. The American Dietetic Association recommendations suggest limiting fat to no more than one-third of daily calories and selecting a variety of saturated, polyunsaturated and monosaturated fats as well as eating lean meats and low-fat dairy products. The Heart Association has more specific recommendations on fat, she says, advising that saturated fat should be reduced to less than 10% of total calories and polyunsaturated fat should also supply less than 10% of total calories, with total dietary fat not to exceed 30% of daily calories. The AHA also recommends that dietary cholesterol be reduced to less than 300 milligrams per day.

"Hot Tips" On Obtaining Financial Aid

Students who are serious about obtaining college or graduate school financial aid should check into the free "Hot Tips" pamphlet offered to the public by Great Potentials Resource Center. For five years, this Chicago-based financial aid information center has studied problems associated with obtaining financial aid which range from trying to determine WHY $135 million in aid goes unused each year to circumventing the difficulties caused by the absence of a national central clearinghouse for financial aid to keep students informed about private scholarships, grants, loans and awards offered each year throughout the U.S.

A major obstacle to students obtaining financial aid is the fact that there are thousands of annual scholarships available which are not generally publicized. These are offered by youth groups, churches, labor unions, companies, foundations, professional associations, community service organizations and philanthropists, to name a few.

Most of these private scholarships have unique "qualifiers", such as the student's ancestry, religion, place of birth, ethnic heritage, parent's employment, hobbies, skills, etc. There are awards for golf caddies, newspaper carriers, fast-food chain workers and handicapped students. There's money for children of widows, divorced parents, farmers, cab drivers a parents, farmers, cab drivers and veterans. If you're left-handed, a descendant of a Confederate soldier, protestant, American Indian, a woman over 40 years of age, or a person named Anderson, there are scholarships available to you. These reflect only a small sample of the groups of people who can qualify for private aid. Few of these scholarships are based upon financial need or even academic ability, which demonstrates the fallacy of the popular idea that only needy or honor students can receive scholarships.

The "Hot Tips" pamphlet presents important "Do's and Don'ts" designed to guide both inexperienced high school students and well-seasoned graduate students toward successfully obtaining financial aid. To obtain the pamphlet, call toll-free 1-800-USA-1221 EXT. 6101 (It's important to specify EXT. 6101) or write to: GPRC HOT TIPS, 2529 North Richmond Street, Chicago, IL 60647, specifying if you need undergraduate or graduate school aid information.

A sign of wisdom is one's willingness to listen and learn.

Tax Laws

Standard Deduction. The current zero bracket amounts are $2,480 for a single or head of household and $3,670 for a joint return. This has been replaced in the new law by a standard deduction of $3,000 for singles, $4,400 for heads of household and $5,000 for joint filers.

These standard deductions will take effect in 1988 and will be indexed for inflation beginning in 1989. For 1987, zero bracket amounts of $2,540 for a single or head of household return and $3,760 for a joint return will be used.

Elderly or blind taxpayers who do not itemize will receive an additional deduction of $750 on single returns and $600 on joint returns in 1987. These amounts will be indexed for inflation beginning in 1989.

Capital Gains. Currently, individuals can deduct 60% of net long-term capital gains, giving an effective top tax rate of 20%. However, under new law, gains on assets sold after December 31, 1986 will be taxed as ordinary income. Both short-term and long-term capital gains face the same top tax rate of 28%.

Tax Planning Tip: Planning on selling a capital asset at a gain? Consider doing it before the end of the year.

State and Local Taxes. State and local income, sales and property taxes have been long-cherished deductions. The new law retains the deductions for income and property taxes, but sales taxes are no longer deductible.

Tax Planning Tip: Since this deduction will remain through 1986, tax-payers planning a big-ticket purchase such as an automobile or other major asset would be wise to buy before the end of this year to qualify for the sales tax deduction.

Interest Expense. The new law will limit personal interest deductions to mortgage interest on a primary and secondary residence. Deductions for interest paid on car loans, consumer credit and student loans are phased out. 35% of these deductions will be disallowed in 1987, 60% in 1988, 80% in 1989, 90% in 1990 and 100% in 1991.

Interest on home loans incurred after August 16, 1986 for which the principal exceeds the purchase price of the home plus any improvements won't be deductible unless incurred for educational or medical expenses. Also, interest on loans to fund an IRA is not deductible. Investment interest is deductible only to the extent of investment income, except for activities subject to passive loss rules.

IRAs. The new law eliminates IRA deductions by taxpayers whose adjusted gross income (AGI) before IRA deductions exceeds $50,000 ($35,000 for singles) and who are covered by an employer's pension plan. The tax deferral on IRA income remains. The lost deduction applies even if only one spouse has an employer pension plan.

The full $2,000 deduction is retained for individuals with AGI below $25,000 or married couples below $40,000, and all workers not covered by a pension plan. The non-working spouse's maximum IRA deduction remains $250.

The IRA deduction will be prorated for taxpayers covered by pensions and with AGI in the $25,000 to $35,000 range for individuals and $40,000 to $50,000 for joint taxpayers. A married taxpayer with an AGI of $45,000, for instance, would be allowed a $1,000 deduction, plus $125 for a non-working spouse.

Pensions and Fringe Benefits. The new law sharply curtails the amount of income that can be deferred under a section 401(k) plan. Annual employee deferrals under 401(k) are limited to $7,000, down from $30,000 under 1986 law. And hardship withdrawals are now subject to a stiff 10% penalty as well as regular income tax rates.

Tax Planning Tip: Contribute as much as possible to your account this year. If you are planning a major withdrawal from a 401(k), make it by the end of the year.

Nondiscrimination rules that are designed to ensure that retirement plans don't too heavily benefit top management have been tightened and expanded to include other tax-free fringe benefits. For instance, after 1988, a company retirement plan must cover the lesser of 50 employees or 40% of staff. It also must be vested 100% after five years of service or the vesting phased in over three to seven years. A 10% penalty will apply beginning after 1988 for an early distribution from a qualified plan.

Lump sum distributions from pensions and profit-sharing plans, currently taxed under 10-year averaging, will face five-year averaging. This change does not apply to taxpayers age 50 or older as of January 1, 1986.

With the new law, taxpayers receiving more than $5,000 annually in employer-paid child care will pay tax on the excess. Workers will also pay tax on an employer's tuition assistance above $5,250 a year.

Dividend Exclusion. The new law ends the $100 single and $200 joint exclusion for dividends received.

Alternative minimum Tax. Taxpayers who use substantial tax preference items to lower their effective tax rate could be subject to the alternative minimum tax (AMT). If liability is greater under the AMT than under regular tax, the taxpayer must pay the AMT. The AMT is calculated by adding certain specified tax preferences to taxable income. Individuals can then exempt $30,000 of this amount, joint taxpayers $40,000. A tax of 21% is paid on the remainder.

The exemption is phased out for high-income taxpayers. The amount is reduced by 25 cents for each $1 that taxable income exceeds $112,500 for individuals and $150,000 for married couples. All passive losses from tax shelters and other investments must be added to taxable income in calculating AMT. Earnings on municipal bonds for non-government projects, which have been tax exempt, would also be subject to AMT.

Income Averaging. Beginning with 1987, the law repeals the provision allowing taxpayers to reduce taxes by averaging income over three years.

Employee Business and Miscellaneous Itemized Deductions. Once fully deductible, employee business expenses, investment expenses and other miscellaneous itemized deductions (union dues, professional subscriptions, certain legal and accounting fees, etc.) are now deductible only to the extent they exceed 2% of adjusted gross income. These deductions are available only to itemizers.

A few expenses will remain fully deductible for itemizers, including certain work expenses for disabled employees. Adoption expenses are no longer deductible, beginning in 1987. Deductions for charitable contributions and job-related moving expenses are available only to itemizers.

Tax Planning Tip: While charitable contributions remain deductible for itemizers, their value declines as tax rates drop. To maximize the tax benefits, accelerate gifts.

Medical Expenses. Qualified medical expenses are deductible to the extent they exceed 7.5% of adjusted gross income. Under the old law, the floor was 5% of AGI.

Tax Planning Tip: Any planned extensive dental work, elective major surgery or purchase of new eyeglasses should be accelerated into 1986 for maximum tax benefit.

Two-Earner Deduction. The up-to-$3,000 deduction for working married couples has been repealed for 1987.

Trusts and Children's Taxes. The unearned income exceeding $1,000 of children under 14 is taxed at a parent's rate beginning in 1987. The new law also shifts taxes to the grantor in Clifford Trusts with respect to transfers in trust made after March 1, 1986.

ning in 1987. The new law also shifts taxes to the grantor in Clifford Trusts with respect to transfers in trust made after March 1, 1986.

All nongrantor trusts continue to be treated as separate taxable entities. Undistributed income of both existing and new nongrantor trusts are taxed at the 15% rate up to $5,000 and 28% beyond that. The advantages of the 15% rate are phased out for trust taxable income between $13,000 and $26,000. All trusts must use a calendar year with the exception of wholly charitable and tax-exempt trusts.

Children who can be claimed as dependents on their parents' return cannot use the personal exemption on their own return. Also, taxpayers must include the taxpayer identification number (generally a Social Security number) of each person over the age of five they claim as a dependent on 1987 returns.

Unemployment Compensation The new law taxes all unemployment compensation received after 1986.

Tax Credits. The earned income credit for low-income taxpayers has been raised to a maximum of $800. It will be phased out for workers earning between $9,000 and $17,000 beginning in 1988. The residential energy credit has expired, and the political contributions credit has been repealed.

Tax Shelters. Tax shelters are now scrutinized and restricted more than ever before. The restrictions are very complex, and all taxpayers should consult their tax adviser before making any shelter transactions.

All rental income - including, but not limited to, real estate - is subject to a loss-limitation rule, regardless of whether the taxpayer participates in managing the property. Under a special exemption, however, as much as $25,000 of losses on rental real estate could be used each year by people who actively participate in the rental activity and whose adjusted gross income is less than $100,000 (or $200,000 for rehabilitation and low-income housing credits). If AGI exceeds $100,000, the $25,000 allowance is reduced by 50% of the amount by which income exceeds $100,000. For married taxpayers whose AGI exceeds $150,000, there is no exemption.

Another exemption applies to working interests in oil and gas drilling operations. Taxpayers can still use their losses here to shelter other income even if they don't participate in the drilling activity.

Every effort has been made to be accurate, but this article is only a summary of complex tax legislation and interpretations can vary. If you are in doubt about a provision, you will be wise to consult your tax professional, the earlier the better. Next week the key provisions applicable to business owners will be covered.

Letter To The Editor

To The Editor:

My name is Alex C. I was a very sick man when I got to Muleshoe's West Plains Medical Center, Sept. 29, 1986, 5:00 p.m. I was diagnosed as a Chemically Dependent person, but thanks to the Intercept program and a Hospital Staff full of caring people, I was given another chance at life.

My first few days at the hospital were very tough for me. But thanks to Dr. Garfield and his nurses, they slowly brought me back to being a healthy person once again. I would also like to thank the counselors of the Intercept Program for giving me the tools I'll need to make the best of my life.

We, the Intercept Patients, are caught in the middle of the hospital's turmoil. But I must say they handled many emergencies very professionally, and I must praise the nurse's for being very courageous during these hard times the hospital is going through. I hope that some day soon all their troubles will be resolved. The hospital is full of very compassionate people who care. For being a small town hospital I'd have to praise it and its community. My special thanks to Faye Houston, R.N.; Alma Bevers, R.N.; Pat Holland, R.N.; and Kathy Owens, R.N.; for caring for me during my 17 day stay. And special thanks to my counselors, Orville Mandan, Coline Turner, Don Wilson and Gina Hilgar also Martha McCoy. I'll never forget Muleshoe's West Plains Medical Center and Intercept Program for helping me through this very rough time in my life. So once again, I Thank You.

Letter to the Editor:
I have listened to a lot of negative reporting the past several months about our fine hospital facility. But I have yet to hear the support that this community has always been willing to give.

I agree that there are some changes that need to be made, but we cannot let this tear the community apart. NOW IS THE TIME THAT WE NEED MOST TO STAND TOGETHER.

There are alot of fine employees still on staff at West Plains Medical Center and they are working for the interest of this community and themselves. They are not "quitters" they have stayed on the job and with employees of this caliber, we can and will succeed it turning what seems to be a irreversible situation into a positive situation. West World Health Care, Inc. along with several of it's staff members are well in control of the situation which has existed for a long period of time, before they came, and having worked with these individuals I am confident that they are striving to correct the mistakes that have been made.

I speak from experience, knowing how this community helped me pull through a rough period several years ago when I was ill. I know what you are all capable of...Through this experience I have grown to love you all and have taken great pride in saying "I'm from Muleshoe".

I ask that you only give West World a chance to prove to you that they are here in the interest of making this a better, richer place for us all. Don't you think it's worth the effort on all our parts!!!!!!

In response to "One Victim Critical In Wednesday Wreck" Sun, Oct. 12, 1986.

Some of the information given in this article is not true. It should not be publicized as being correct!

First of all I am one of the RN's from the registry working appreciate the EMT's statement about the registry nurses not knowing what they were doing. Sure, it was a hectic night just like it would have been in any hospital that had 3 automobile accident patients, one with multiple injuries and shock; plus one in labor and delivery about to deliver, and 2 admissions that we had just received earlier!

I think we did the best we could under the circumstances. I for one, was able to find things without the help of the EMT's. And I do know what I was doing, because I have worked in critical care and have ACLST (Advanced Cardiac Life Support Training).

As a matter of fact, some of the EMT's were only standing in the way instead of helping!

I furthermore think, that our goal as Health Providers should be to provide the BEST CARE possible and work as a TEAM MEMBERS, instead of putting each other down!

The main goal was, that we were able to stabilize the patient, and she made it safely to Lubbock General. At the present time, the patient is in critical care.

And this all could not have happened, if we didn't all strive for our primary goal, that of saving the patient.

Thanks
M. Valdez R.N.

Dear Editor:

I strongly concur with Lynn Campbells letter concerning our hospital printed in the Journal on October 12th.

The members of the West Plains Medical Board made a grave mistake when they leased our hospital facilities to West World until the year 2015! Westworld is a California based corporation - certainly not a company in tune with our needs and expectations in West Texas!

At one time we did have a hospital district which would have given us a tax base to operate a hospital. It was to be locally owned and operated. However due to powers that be it was voted out before a tax rate was established. We as members of this community are now paying dearly for this unfortunate occurrence.

I feel Westworld has placed far more emphasis on the Intercept Program than on providing adequate health care for the people of Muleshoe and the surrounding area.

I appreciate the fast response and cared the EMT's gave us when called last week. My heartfelt thanks to Dr. Homer Allgood for being at the hospital to take care of emergency needs. We have highly qualified and dedicated doctors - we certainly do not need any imported by Westworld.

If the hospital does not meet the qualifications of medicare and medicaid does this violates the contract Westworld has with the West Plains Medical Center Board? Let us plan for a brighter future.

SANDHILLS PHILOSOPHER

Editor's note: The Sandhill Philosopher on his Johnson grass farm on Sandy Acres thinks he has found a way to wipe out the national debt, sort of.

-30-

Dear editor:
Some people poke fun at computers, especially when one goes haywire and sends you a monthly electric bill for $22,000.

Just the other day a friend said he'd read that there's a computer so fast it can add and subtract 6 billion times a second.

"What on earth would anybody want with something that can calculate that fast?" he asked.

It's simple. It'll be used to keep up with the national debt, which is now either 2 or 3 trillion dollars. I forget which, but it doesn't matter. Nobody knows what a trillion is. I understand it's a 1 with however many 0's you feel like writing, something like 1,000,000,000,000, more or less, it doesn't matter, you can stop adding 0's when you feel like it or when you run off the edge of the paper.

In fact, my dictionary says an American trillion has six fewer zeroes in it than an English trillion, which is the only way we've found to reduce the national debt. If we could get Congress to pass a bill saying a trillion has only 12 zeroes, with 2 more to be cut off every year under the guidelines of Gramm-Rudman, we could wipe out the national debt in almost no time and start all over again.

This may not make sense to you but you never know what'll make sense to Congress.

Yours faithfully,

Stress Can Cause Pneumonia In Calves

Stress can be a major cause of pneumonia in calves, particularly with viruses, bacteria and other germs present.

Stress factors include weaning, hunger, thirst, castration, dehorning, adverse weather, abusive handling, shipping, fatigue and mixing with other cattle, points out Spenser Tanksley, county agent with the Texas Agricultural Extension Service, The Texas A&M University System.

Viruses involved are IBR, PI3, BVD, reoviruses, rhinoviruses, adenoviruses, herpes viruses and syncytial viruses. Bacteria include pasteurella and hemophilus, and other germs ase chlamydia, mycoplasma and rickettsia.

Normal calves harbor germs that can cause respiratory infection, Tanksley points out. Bringing calves together from different sources results in an exchange of these germs.

Stress causes mild infections to develop into clinical disease. Calves with pneumonia are depressed, with head down and ears drooped. The abdomen is tucked up, fever reaches 107 degrees F., breathing is difficult, and the nose is dry or has a ropy discharge. Deaths are usually sudden and unexpected.

To minimize the incidence and severity of respiratory infections in calves, Tanksley offers thers suggestions: maintain vaccination in the breeding herd; vaccinate calves at 2 to 4 months of age; vaccinate calves again three weeds before weaning; castrate, dehorn, brand and implant calves up to three weeks before weaning or three weeks after weaning; and wait to mingle and ship calves three weeks after weaning.

Tanksley advises producers to keep stress and exposure in calves to a minimum at all times because vaccines are not available for all respiratory germs. Avoid the usual practice of providing a variety of stresses at weaning time; weaning is a traumatic experience to a calf.

Toy Time

Millions of parents are now in the planning or buying stage for Christmas toys. In recent years the quality of toys sold to the public has improved, but much junk still floods the market--and sits under Christmas trees every year.

A word to the wise is thus in order now--in time. Take a close look at all toys. If they are not sturdily-built, if they appear fragile or flimsily constructed, opt for something else.

One can be sure children will give most toys some abuse. Too often in recent years the delight of Christmas morning for millions of children has become worthless by Christmas evening, or after a few days.

JV LOSES A HEART STOPPER

by Kim Crowson

Winning the toss, the Hornets became fired up and ready to face the Denver City freshmen. Joe Gonzales received the ball on the 10 yard line and ran to the 28. With four minutes and 10 seconds left in the first quarter Gonzales scored on a one yard run only 13 plays later. The extra point was no good.

The Hornet enthusiasm was still strong and quite evident in the second quarter. After 11 plays, Gonzales rushed two yards into the end zone adding an additional six points to the score board. The extra point again was no good.

Greatly satisfied with their efforts, the Hornets went into half time leading Denver City 12-0.

Returning to play the Hornets felt the competition increasing. The third quarter was strictly defense. Neither Sudan nor Denver City was able to score the whole quarter.

An unexpected turn around took place the fourth quarter. After only two minutes and 45 seconds, Denver City scored. Their PAT was good. Sudan gritted their teeth and tried to stay strong, but the Hornets let Denver City slip by them again with 1:01 left on the clock. Denver City's PAT failed this time.

The Hornets started again from their own 30 yard line. Maxfield's pass to Gonzales was good for 13 yards and a first down, but time was running out. Maxfield passed twice more but with no luck. Gonzales tried a last ditch effort pass which was intercepted. The Hornets ran out of time and opportunities. Denver City went home with a victory, 13-12.
