Moisture Conditions Good For Planting

Soil moisture conditions are better than they have been in many years for Bailey County producers within the High Plains Underground Water Conservation District No. 1.

No pre-plant irrigation is needed to bring the five-foot root zone soil profile to field capacity for the 1992, growing season.

"The top three feet of the five-foot soil profile are near field capacity, with small soil moisture deficits occurring at the four and five foot levels. This is the opposite of recent years, where the deficits were in the top three feet of the soil," said Wilfred E. "Willie" Crenwelge, USDA-ES Soil Scientist.

Two to four inches of water will be needed to wet the top five feet of soil to field capacity over the portions of Bailey County within Water District boundaries, according to data collected during the annual joint pre-plant soil moisture survey conducted by the High Plains Water District and the United States Department of Agriculture--Soil Conservation Service (USDA-SCS).

A small area recurring from four to six inches of water extends from the Bailey/Parmer County line to near the West Camp community and the northeast to the Bailey/Parmer County line.

Crenwelge recommends that producers let normal rainfall replenish the deeper soil moisture, since the probability is good that enough precipitation will fall between now and the growing season to fill the deficits.

Soil moisture conditions were surveyed from November 13, 1991, through January 23, 1992, at 270 soil moisture monitoring sites within the 15-county District service area.

However, some sites received additional precipitation after the measurements had been made. In order to provide the most accurate soil moisture information possible to District irrigators, personnel re-read rain gauges from those soil moisture sites measured from November 14 1991, through December 16, 1991. They found that additional rainfall had been received at these sites, and the data was adjusted to reflect these findings.

Kiwanians Hear Program On

Lyme Disease

Are you superstitious, quite a few of the Kiwanians must be because they stayed home and stayed in bed on this Friday 13th. Be careful of black cat walking under ladders, holding your head under water to long, and etc.

Ten Kiwanians, three honorary Kiwanians, one guest and sweetheart, Tiffany Angeley met this Friday 13th at the Dairy Queen for breakfast.

Our honorary Kiwanians present were Dee Morris, Bekki Bowen and Stacey Langfitt. Dee had a sprained wrist. It seems her mother must have told her to go fly a kite and she claims she stepped of the curb backwards. Can you see this spraining a wrist? Dee if you had landed on your head you would have been alright.

Our guest this morning was Sam Harlan. In the absence of president Larry Parker, who had to leave early and go to work, so he said. Glen Morris called the meeting to order.

Dee Morris led the pledge to our flag. Tom Bowen gave the invocation. Scott Churchman is still looking for a friend. Maybe he can find one by next Friday.

Glen introduced Sam Harlan who gave us a program on Lyme disease. Sam's family has been through the mill as some would say, for the last three years. Three of Sam's family have the Lyme disease. His wife and two kids.

So much is unknown about Lyme disease. The symptoms are so much like other illness. It is such a demanding disease it stays on and on. Sam stated that they used to think that it was only

Parmer County Spelling Bee Held At Lazbuddie

Rachel Embry, daughter of Weldon and Sherry Embry of Farwell, was named the 1992 Parmer Spelling Bee Champion, when she correctly spelled "Ostrich" after the word was misspelled by another contestant an correctly spelled "Boastful".

The Parmer County Spelling Bee was held Thursday afternoon in the Lazbuddie School auditorium.

The Spelling Bee was divided into two divisions, Junior and Senior. Nine contestants were in the Junior Division, and Friona, and Bovina. Cade Morris, son of Gail and Marca Morris of Lazbuddie was the first place winner in the Junior Division.

Junior Division spellers were given a practice round before the bee got underway.

After the first round six of the spellers remained in the contest.

One more speller dropped out in the second round.

Four spellers remained at the end of the third round.

One by one the spellers dropped out. Three were left at the end of the fourth round and two were left at the end of the fifth round.

The two spellers battled it out five more rounds before the first place speller in this division

Grimes And Associates Evaluation Of Schools

In January, Muleshoe ISD contracted with Grimes and Associates, an architectural and engineering company from Lubbock, to assist in conducting an in-depth evaluation of all facilities in the district. Coinciding with this report is the development of a Long Range Plan for facilities improvement.

Superintendent Bill Moore said, "Basically once we determine where we are and where we want to be, we can then establish a plan for getting there. This will enable the Board to financially plan for the projects that are to be done in the next few years."

The process of deciding where the District is an "wants to be" has involved several steps. One step involved the consultants' examination of existing facilities to determine the status of roofs, plumbing, wiring, etc. to establish the condition of those systems.

Another step has included meetings with groups in all the facilities to receive input into what each group perceived as priorities for that facility. Meetings with members of the instructional staff, food service staff, transportation staff, custodial and maintenance staff, and central administrative staff have been held in recent weeks.

At the Board workshop on Monday, March 9, the Board and administrators met with the consultants to begin discussing the

ValuCare Now Available At Local Hospital

Richard Murphy, administrator of Muleshoe Area Medical Center, has announced that ValuCare, a special service for senior citizens offered through Methodist Hospital of Lubbock, is now available at Muleshoe Area Medical Center.

ValuCare is a program for persons 65 years and older that reduces the cost of health care and offers added protection and assurance during a hospital stay.

All prospective members and current ValuCare Association members are invited to a ValuCare open house at 2 p.m. Monday, March 16, at Muleshoe Area Medical Center.

A program covering ValuCare, supplemental insurance policies and changes for 1992, will be presented. Following the program, a ValuCare Insurance Services representative will evaluate current individual policies until 4 p.m.

Murphy expressed his pleasure and that of the hospital's Board of Directors at the opportunity to provide this value-added service for those in the hospital's service area.

"In addition to our commitment in the delivery of health care, we are equally committed to meeting as many of the needs of our community as possible," said Murphy. "We want people to know that we understand, we care and we are responding to their needs."

According to Carol Evans, ValuCare Association coordinator at Methodist Hospital, Lubbock, the program covers a wide range of benefits, some of which include: hospital bill discounts, express admission and courtesy discharge, opportunity to participate in the ValuCare Supplemental insurance Plan designed exclusively for ValuCare Association members health screenings, and discounts from participating local merchants. It also provides social, educational and travel opportunities as well.

According to Dan Griffis, vice president of Regional Services for Lubbock Methodist Hospital System (LMHS), the ValuCare Association of Methodist Hospital currently has seven area hospitals that are participating in this program.

"As regional services has grown, more hospitals have expressed an interest in offering the ValuCare program to their communities," said Griffis. "It should also be

Myths About Recycling By Kandy McWhorter

In the previous two articles dealing with solid waste problem that is facing our community, state, nation and world, the topics of precycling and ideas for reuse and recycling were addressed.

In this article, the myths of recycling will be addressed as will some proper methods for recycling various products. There are some myths about recycling that you need to know about.

One is that the reprocessing of resources adds more pollution to the air than processing new resources. In fact, reprocessing often releases fewer pollutants. Even if the pollution is the same for recycled or new materials, the cost to the environment is less because the land and water are less polluted and resources are saved.

Another myth is that recycling is very expensive. Some recycling efforts are very labor intensive and some are energy intensive. However, cost is relative and as consumer demand for recycled products grows, the relative cost of collecting and reprocessing will be lower than for using virgin resources.

The myth that recycled products are inferior grew out of the paper recycling industry. Many people have assumed that recycled paper and all recycled products are inferior. Paper is available in many grades and recycled paper meets the standards for many of them. And recycled aluminum beverage cans and glass containers cannot be distinguished from ones made from new aluminum or glass.

The last myth comes in two versions, the first is that you can make money through recycling while the other is that recycling does not pay. The facts are that recycling seldom makes money for individuals, groups or communities. However, that does not mean that recycling does not pay. By redirecting resources for reuse, we as a society save on the cost to the environment, save on the energy used for production, save on the overall costs of waste management and save space in landfills. If recycling costs no more than landfilling, it is considered to be cost effective.

Recycling is more than just collecting empty containers and old newspapers. For example, newspaper that has been mixed with garbage and is contaminated with coffee grounds and orange juice is no longer useful to anyone. If used beverage containers attract pests because they were not rinsed after use, a health hazard can exist.

For the benefit of our families and communities, you will want to prepare and collect recyclables appropriately. Here are some tips.

Recycling Aluminum

All kinds of aluminum can be recycled, but your recycling center may be taking only used beverage cans or beverage and food cans. Find out before you begin collecting.

Rinse cans to remove traces of beverages or foods. Dirty cans may produce odors and will attract insects and rodents.

Keep foreign objects, such as broken glass, gravel and other metals, out of the aluminum to be recycled. Foreign objects mixed with aluminum may damage the processing equipment.

Recycling Glass

All glass products cannot be recycled! Glass that can be recycled includes all containers such as soda bottles, beer bottles, juice containers, ketchup and mayonnaise jars, wine and liquor bottles, food containers and home canning jars. Glass that cannot be recycled includes light bulbs, heat-resistant glass cookware, ceramics, mirrors, window glass, most drinking glasses and lead-based glass such as crystal and television tubes.

To make sure that the glass you collect can be recycled, remove lids and metal bottle collars. Rinse containers to remove traces of foods and beverages. The paper labels do not have to be removed, but the plastic ones do.

Take care not to break the glass containers (for safety reasons only). Most of the time, you must separate your glass containers into clear, green and brown.

Recycling Paper

To make sure that paper can be recycled, you must prepare it properly. It cannot contain food residues, carbon paper, cellophane, asphalt or self-stick adhesives. Neither can it contain wax, plastic or foil coating or string.

Paper should be kept dry and out of direct sunlight. Moisture and sunlight cause deterioration and make paper unusable for recycling.

Check with the collection center to determine what types of paper is being accepted. Not all centers accept all types of paper. Once you know what is being recycled in the area, separate your paper into types.

The most common type of paper being recycled is newspapers. Bundle the newspapers into easily handled stacks or place in large grocery bags. Recycle newspapers within six months of the date they are printed. It is difficult to remove inks from older newspapers and many mills will not accept them.

Other types of paper can be recycled, but there may not be collection site for them in your area. These types of paper include corrugated cardboard and heavy brown paper, ledger paper, and scrap paper.

Recycling Plastics

Recycling plastics is much more complicated than recycling other products. If you would like information on recycling plastics, please contact the Extension office for additional information.

To have an effective recycling program, you must have plenty of space to store the recyclables. Considerable time and thought should go into establishing the recycling area in your home.

If you would like additional information pertaining to solving the solid waste problem that is facing us, please contact the County Extension office at 806-272-4583.

Know The Weather

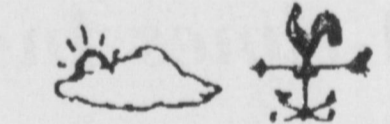

Do you know what sidereal time is?

Sidereal time, of which we hear little, is an accurate measurement of time.

It's the measurement of time derived from observation of the meridian transits of the stars and differs slightly from solar time.

The mean sidereal day, for example is only 23 hours, 56 minutes and 4.09 seconds.

The time required for the earth to make on complete revolution around the sun is the sidereal year.

The sidereal year is 365 days, 6 hours, 9 minutes and 9.5 seconds. Every fourth year, as the reader knows, the extra hours--over and above the 365 days, are combined into an added day--in Leap Year.

The effect of this small time divergence has no noticeable bearing on our weather.

GOOD RECORD--pays off for Leon Warren who was recently honored by Western 66 and Mr. and Mrs. Joe King, owners, for 25 years of good work. Warren, a resident of this region since 1941, says his motto in tough times is to just "keep on trying." (Journal Photo)

Leon Warren Honored After 25 Years

By Joyce Adams

On Wednesday Leon Warren marked his 25th anniversary as an employee of Western 66 here in Muleshoe. He has been in this part of the country since 1941.

Joe and Melba King, his employers, gave Warren a gold pocket watch with a chain as a token of their appreciation.

Asked why he thinks the High Plains is a good place to live and work, Warren said, "It's so good here, I wouldn't know where else to go if I were to think of leaving."

"The greatest challenge that this region faces is the economic situation. But like the country, an individual trying to make ends meet should "just keep on trying," Warren says.

"My folks were South of town. Dad farmed for years and my mom worked at Beene Grocery at Needmore until her retirement.

Leon and his wife Carol Warren have six children and a "bunch of grandkids."

Joe King, owner of Western 66, says that Leon Warren also worked under Elizabeth King, his mother in the early days of his tenure at the company. "He started out with all of the fuel business and has served as service manager and fuel representative for many years.

Asked for a statement on the work record of Warren, Joe King says, "Leon is as good as you can get. He is a real asset to our company. He has done everything we have asked of him and more."

Hospital Administrator Gives Medical Update To Rotary

By Joyce Adams

The Muleshoe Chapter of Rotary met in the Bailey County Civic Center Tuesday, March 11 with about 45 attending. Five visitors were introduced.

Dr. Mark McClanahan, member of Rotary, introduced Richard Murphy, hospital administrator to the group. Murphy gave a progress report on the hospital developments.

Murphy started by relating an experience he had had in being asked by Dr. Purdy to give a program two years ago. The administrator was asked to give a program on a minute's notice shortly after coming to Muleshoe to serve as administrator of the Muleshoe Area Medical Center.

Murphy said that this situation was again in force because Dr. McClanahan had given Murphy only a short period to prepare for his talk.

"We are not knocking down any big forests or big walls at the hospital, but we are making slow and steady progress," Murphy said.

"Acquisition of the facility is dormant because the FmHA and the local hospital disagree."

According to Murphy, the business of the hospital is gradually increasing. Six patients a day used to be the overall average. By the end of 1991, the number of patients averaged 9 patients a day.

The administrator says "we are striving to get 14-15 patients per day. Financially we are reducing the accounts payable and the indebtedness. We are reducing the disproportionate share of the distribution.

Five or six major hospital districts that pool money into the Department of Human Resources were mentioned by Murphy.

The University Medical Center notified that their share would be $52 million. "Parkland in Dallas has a share that will be greater than this," Murphy noted.

Muleshoe can expect an allocation to be about $252,000. We serve a disproportionate share. Accounts receivable is coming down. We have improved our methods. Close to 1/2 million in business every month is the level that the Muleshoe hospital operates on.

Murphy and his staff are looking forward in 1992 to the creation of rural health clinic to provide better access to health care.

Murphy commented on the use of the Emergency Room for the problems that don't require emergency room care. He related the story of one patient who came to the emergency room for a crick in his neck and another went there for a sore throat. Education in this area is one item that is now being targeted.

A hospital based home health agency is started now for patients that need professional care in the home. The patient is reminded of good nutrition habits and his medication schedule is maintained strictly.

At this time a hospice unit for the terminally ill is being organized. Also under consideration is a cardiac and wellness center wherein a fitness environment under supervision is planned.

Another innovation at the Muleshoe Area Medical Center is a ValuCare office. "This was originally only available out of the Methodist Hospital in Lubbock. Now it is available here."

Muleshoe's Area Medical Center will provide services to all categories of patients. The rural community and Muleshoe residents will begin to benefit even more fully from the medical services available here, according to Murphy.

Nick Bamert asked what the county health provider does.

Murphy answered that it provides pre-natal care and information distribution within the county. There is also a well baby clinic through the Texas Department of Health.

Paul Wilbanks asked what the prison proposal committee had asked about the hospital services. Murphy answered that the facility plans to become fully accredited in anticipation of the prison facility being placed here. Medicare has some differences in its minimum standards. The facility pays a fee.

Dear Joyce:

Thanks so much for the papers and especially for the write-up. It was very good. I enjoyed my visit to the Journal.

I had a delightful weekend with your parents--they are great hosts. It was good to visit Muleshoe again, and see so many old friends and former neighbors.

Muleshoe isn't the prettiest place in the world, but I always liked it. I feel much better in a higher altitude. Every spring and fall here, I have a terrible allergy problem. I find it much easier to breathe out there and even at Oklahoma City than here.

Thanks again for the tour of the Journal, the write-up and the papers.

Jay Livingston and Luther Thompson Join To Give Lions Program on DWI

By Joyce Adams

The Muleshoe Chapter of Lions Club met on March 11 in the Bailey County Civic Center for a noon luncheon. About 35 attended. President Richard Edwards introduced several visitors including representatives from the print media.

Luther Thompson, newly elected District Attorney and Lion member, was in charge of the program. Thompson brought Jay Livingston of the Muleshoe Police Department who assisted him in presenting a program devoted to discussion of the horrible consequences that people who drive when drunk bring to innocent victims.

"This is a topic that may not be popular with offenders," says Thompson. "But it is one that needs our attention."

DWI offenders need prison, according to Thompson. There has been some move at the opposite extreme to allow DWI offenders light sentences.

Showing a video on several accidents in which DWI victims were killed and mangled, Thompson made Livingston available for the group's questions.

One of these accidents involved a little girl who was killed because a door had wrapped around her. No pulse was found. The police officer in the video said that "trying to find her pulse was one of the hardest things that he had ever been called upon to do." Children are often helpless victims of the DWI offender. Adults entrusted with their welfare should think before they drink.

The officer said: "the smell of alcohol in these cases often drowns out the smell of gasoline during the post wreck time period."

On the night of one accident, the police officer was praying only that the two little girls in the car hit by a drunk driver would live. "That's all I wanted."

Sometimes TV reports are the only thing that tells families of the situation in accidents. Cars are often crushed beyond recognition. Drunk drivers often have no idea of what has happened.

"Life is not fair, but it is up to legislation and law enforcement to make it fair," according to Livingston. The first time for a DWI can be a killer. Younger people are often the innocent victims.

Your best friend, your family member or others can be the victim in a DWI fatality. Teens especially need to be informed about the consequences of drinking and driving.

Cost of a DWI offense is inestimable. Often it rises to the tens of thousands of dollars. When a drunk driver kills one person with his car, often that person's roles in the community and family mean that 7 or 8 persons were actually destroyed. The grandmother who is also a cousin, an aunt and so on.

Texas driving laws have been strengthened according to Livingston and other factors are helping, but drunk drivers are still killing a lot of people. A full, productive life resulting from safe driving by everyone is sought.

J.B. Douglas asked what percent of teens are drunk drivers in this county. A media representative asked if the Mothers Against Drunk Driving organization were still strong. Livingston answered that it

Developing Self-Esteem

Helping children develop good self-esteem is probably the most important thing parents can do for their children.

Major by-products of a sense of self-worth are the ability to make good decisions, a willingness to take responsibility, and the ability to cope with frustration.

When children feel that they are listened to, taken seriously, and genuinely cared for, their self-esteem is high.

Here are some parent tips from the National School Public Relations Association on ways to help children like themselves.

Give praise, recognition, a special privilege, or increased responsibility.

Take their ideas, emotions, and feelings seriously.

Be a good role model. If you feel good about yourself, even if you make mistakes, your children will feel positive, too.

Have reasonable expectations for your children. Help them set goals they can achieve.

Define limits and rules clearly and enforce them. Do allow leeway within these limits.

Sudan Students Win At SPC

Sudan High School's 10th and 11th grade teams each won a third place trophy in math during the recent South Plains College High School Math and Science Invitational.

Trophies and individual awards were presented by grade.

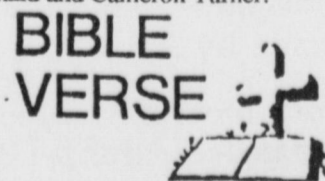

The Sudan students competed with 150 students from nine area schools in a contest sponsored by SPC to help prepare them for University Interscholastic League competition.

"The Sudan students did well and should be proud of their efforts," said Pat Ford, SPC assistant professor of mathematics and contest coordinator. "We extend our best wishes to them in future competition."

Individual awards went to ninth grader Brodie Miller, second in calculator, and sixth in number sense; 10th graders Rickie Gipson, third in calculator; and Rickie Gipson, fourth, Dickie Gipson, seventh, and Omar Jimenez, ninth in number sense; 11th graders Emily Martinez, seventh and Kris Long, 10th in calculator.

Mildred Williams
Artist Of The Month

Mildred Williams Recognized As Artist Of The Month

Mildred Williams arrived in Bailey County when she was two years old. She started to school at the age of four, at Stegall. Her first teacher was Lyndell Gaddy (Galt). She started painting in 1956 and enrolled in the Famous Artists painting course, by mail, in 1957. She was instructed by Dr. Emil Caballero in 1960 and took three of his yearly courses in Muleshoe. She has a library of art books for home study. Her work has been shown in mainly the Muleshoe and Clovis areas. She won her first citation in 1960 and has won prizes in almost all shows she has entered since then. Each year she donates one or two paintings to the auction for Public Television at Portales, N.M. Her interests have been sewing, fabric painting, glass painting, ceramics, sea shell work, wood carving, crochet, hanging wall paper, making center pieces for showers and weddings, cake decorating, crystal sugar work, helping on the farm, when needed.

She also writes what she calls "Little Jewels" of poetry for friends or special occasions. She has been active in the Muleshoe Art Association since it was organized, serving several of the past years as president.

Mildred says, "I am enjoying my grandchildren and am now a great grandmother."

MARINATED CHEESE

- 1 pkg. (8 ozs.) Monterrey Jack cheese
- 1 pkg (8 ozs.) sharp Cheddar cheese
- 1 pkg. (8 ozs.) cream cheese
- 2 T. minced green onion
- 1 bottle (8 ozs.) Italian dressing
- 1 jar (4 ozs.) diced pimiento, drained
- Fresh parsley
- Crackers

Cut each cheese block crosswise into 1/4-inch strips. Cut each strip in half to form 2 squares. Put cheese squares together like sandwiches with a cream cheese square in the middle. Arrange like dominoes in rows in a 2-quart dish. Sprinkle green onions over the top and then pour salad dressing over all. Cover and refrigerate overnight. Drain and arrange on a platter in rows. Top each row with diced pimiento. Garnish platter with parsley. Serve with crackers. Makes 25 servings.

Tom Foley, Speaker of the House:
"We (Democrats) will cooperate with the president but we will not back down on the question of principle...the nation needs a health care program for all."

Critical Need For Organs

In an effort to help close the growing gap between the thousands of people waiting for transplants and the organ donors needed to save those patients' lives, LifeGift Organ Donation Center has launched the most far-reaching public education campaign at a time when the need for organs has never been more critical.

"Be an organ donor...it's the chance of a lifetime!" was designed to help battle the myths and lack of understanding about organ donation. LifeGift the federally designated organ procurement organization that serves 101 countries in Southeast, West and North Texas, is joining 37 other donation centers across the country in this nationwide effort to bring the public a unified message.

LifeGift president Rebecca J. Davis, who served on the national committee of the Association of Organ Procurement Organizations (AOPO), that developed the campaign, said, "Americans were getting too many confusing messages about organ donation. This straightforward, upbeat campaign addresses the most often misunderstood issues surrounding organ donation and emphasizes the importance of signing and carrying an organ donor card, and making your wishes known to your family."

Ms. Davis said campaign brochures discuss, for example, the fact that signing an organ donor card will not affect the care you receive at the hospital. They state that major religions support and even encourage organ and tissue donation and that open casket funeral services can still take place after donation. "In addition," she said, "it is important to understand that the organ transplant system is fair, run by a national computer that matches patients awaiting transplants according to need and availability." "Of course," she said, "there is no cost to the family for donation to occur."

Ron Ehrle, Regional Director of LifeGift of West Texas, said, "Currently, there are more than 39 people in the West Texas area alone waiting for a heart or kidney transplant. Because of the shortage of donors, many of these patients will die before organs become available. We are hoping that as a result of this campaign, the community will better understand donation and the desperate need for donors, sign their cards and talk to their families. Thousands of people are living healthy, productive lives today as a result of those who gave the gift of Life."

Mr. Ehrle said that in September, 1990, a new Texas law went into effect that recognized organ donor cards and signed driver licenses as legal means of consent. "That law was a step forward for organ donation and patients' rights," said Mr. Ehrle. "Now, our task is to make those in our community aware of the right to determine what happens to them in the event of sudden tragedy. This campaign is a step forward toward our goal to make organ donation standard and routine."

For more information about organ donation and to receive a free brochure and donor card, please call LifeGift at 800-633-6562.

If you are still following "The Four Food Group Wheel," you might just be missing something in your diet. The traditional four food groups consist of fruits and vegetables, breads and cereals, meat and dairy products. Nutritionists have now found that these groups are not a sufficient description of the divisions of food.

"The Four Food Group Wheel" has been around since 1956, and has been taught throughout the United States to students and adults. But, like many things, change comes with time and new scientific discoveries. Just as diet and nutrition have become more detailed, the food groups have followed the same pattern.

Top nutritionists have come together to form what is called "The Eating Right Pyramid." The four food groups gave equal importance to each group, whereas the pyramid illustrates the importance of eating more portions from some groups and less from others.

The pyramid consists of six divisions, with the groups weighted in importance according to the number of portions. The six groups and their portion sizes are the following.

- *fats, sweets and oils-use sparingly
- *milk, cheese and yogurt-2-3 servings
- *vegetables-3-5 servings
- *fruits-2-4 servings
- *bread, cereal, pasta and rice-6-11 servings.

It lies in our power to love or hate. For will in us is overruled by fate. -Marlowe.

prioritization of work to be done in upcoming years. "Obviously, one of the first questions to be answered is the cost of projects to be done," Moore said. "We intend to stay on the 'pay-as-you-go' basis like we begun with the Watson Junior High addition completed this year. But we also have to time the projects so that they can be completed in the summer to keep any disruption to classes to a minimum," he added.

On March 17, at 7 p.m. in the Board room, the Citizens Advisory Committee will once again meet. Facilities will be the main topic of discussion at that meeting "I would like to invite anyone in the district who wishes to discuss facilities to come. We really want to hear their opinions on what's being planned," Moore stated.

The Board will once again discuss the Facilities Improvement Plan at their meeting on March 23. At that time a decision may be made for work to be done this summer.

School Budgeting Reported By Texas Research League

In 1990-91 school trustees budget 30 percent more for operating high schools than for elementary sites. Statewide an average of $3,280 per student was budgeted for high schools, $2,645 for the 1,073 middle schools, and $2,543 per child for the 3,594 elementary schools in Texas. In addition, $1,014 per student was budgeted for the central office.

For the Muleshoe ISD the figures were $5103.09 for high schools, $2853.89 for middle schools, and $3162.21 for the elementary campuses while $535.06 per student was budgeted for the central office.

The figures come from a new report Tidemarks 1990-91 School Campus Budgets in Texas, a publication of the Texas Research League an Austin-based, educational corporation engaged in governmental research.

The report also lists the amounts for direct classroom instruction. The statewide averages were $2,366 per student for high schools, $1,965 for middle schools, and $2,030 for elementary campuses. For the Muleshoe ISD the comparable figures were $2794.43 for high schools, $2056.21 for middle schools, and $2329.31 for elementary grades.

The report is designed to provide reference points for site-based committees and the taxpaying public to evaluate future school budgets by types of campuses and for individual high school sites.

Excluding small single-campus schools, there are 1,059 high schools in Texas ranging in size from 83 schools with less than 100 students to seven campuses with more than 3,000 students. For these high schools, $2,328 was budgeted per student for classroom instruction, or 72.3 percent of the $3,221 per student for total operating expenses. Locally Muleshoe High School had $2,794.43 for classroom instruction and $5,103.09 for current operating expenses.

The Muleshoe High School had $317.59 per student for school administration, $151.14 for cocurricular activities including extracurricular, $147.63 for guidance and counseling, and $686.01 per pupil for plant maintenance.

Blood Drive...

community.

Blood is one of the doctor's most valuable resources, and many people are alive today because blood was available when they needed it. On the South Plains, more than 2,000 blood donations are needed each month to meet patients' needs.

Muleshoe Area Medical Center used two units of Red Blood Cells in January and four in February.

United Blood Services, the area's nonprofit community blood provider, relies entirely on volunteer donors to help maintain a constant, sufficient blood supply. Blood comes from only one source-healthy people who are willing to give of themselves.

Donating blood is safe, simple and satisfying," said Ms. Belew. The human body contains from eight to 12 pints of blood and, since the body constantly manufactures blood, the amount given is quickly replaced.

The Muleshoe blood drive has a goal of 75 donations. Anyone who wishes to donate may call Carol Cox at 272-4396 to schedule an appointment.

Senator Phil Gramm Reports

The Senate has approved legislation to expand college grants and loans to middle-income families and at the same time raise new barriers against fraud in the student assistance programs, reports U.S. Sen. Phil Gramm.

"Under the Senate bill, schools with high default rates will no longer have access to aid program," Gramm said, noting also that the bill substantially tightens controls aimed at stopping defaults on student loans.

"Students who receive assistance from the taxpayer have an absolute obligation to repay their loans," said Gramm. "Not only do defaulters cheat the taxpayers, they effectively cheat other students by reducing the pool of funds available for new student loans."

The legislation will raise the maximum grant available to a student to $4,800 by 1999 and increases the income level for the average family of four to qualify for a grant to $42,000 a year.

The annual limit on guaranteed student loans will rise to $3,000 for first- and second-year students and $5,500 for other undergraduates.

"This legislation makes it more possible than ever before for average American parents to assure that their children have an opportunity for a college education," Gramm said.

CHAMBER COMMENTS

By: Carolyn Johnson

The Biggest Little Banquet in Texas was a huge success. We appreciate all of you who "pitched-in" and contributed to this effort. Our Bouquet of the Week goes not to one or two individuals, but to the entire community of Muleshoe. No matter what role you played, it was appreciated and necessary for the banquet's success.

Mark your calendars for April 3rd! The Harlem Entertainers promise an evening of exciting wholesome family entertainment that the entire community can enjoy. Tickets are now on sale at the Chamber office.

April 6th is another date you want to mark. The Fine Arts Night To Shine will be held at the high school auditorium beginning at 6:30 p.m. The art classes, the band, and the drama classes have all worked cooperatively with the Chamber and the entire community. Let's now give them our support by attending this event. For more information, call Sharla Holt at 272-3976 or 272-4802.

On a more personal note-I would like to announce my resignation as Chamber Manager effective March 31, 1992. I want to thank the Chamber Directors for their support. I am proud of our joint accomplishments since September. I shall always have a special feeling for those of you on the Chamber Board who give so generous of your time and talents.

To the community, I also say "thank you". The strength of this community is definitely in its' people. With your support and the Chamber's fine leadership, Muleshoe will continue to grow and prosper.

THE SEASON FOR . . .

COLDS AND FEVER

THE COMMON COLD . . . one of the few viruses that man has not conquered with a cure. The only thing that we have come up with so far, are medicines to give us relief. Perhaps, some day, someone will come up with the solution.

There are many spiritual things that we do not know the answers to. These things we must accept on faith.

"The secret things belong unto the Lord our God: but those things which are revealed belong unto us and to our children forever, that we may do all the words of this law."

Deuteronomy 29:29

God has revealed himself, his son, and his commandments, these are the major things.

The Church is God's appointed agency in this world for spreading the knowledge of His love for man and of His demand for man to respond to that love by loving his neighbor. Without this grounding in the love of God, no government or society or way of life will long persevere and the freedoms which we hold so dear will inevitably perish. Therefore, even from a selfish point of view, one should support the Church for the sake of the welfare of himself and his family. Beyond that, however, every person should uphold and participate in the Church because it tells the truth about man's life, death and destiny; the truth which alone will set him free to live as a child of God.

From the White House to Your House

This March, the United States will celebrate the 59th anniversary of the presidential "fireside chat." It is a tradition that, despite changes over the years, has maintained its original purpose—bringing the American people closer to their government.

The joys of entertaining at home are bountiful and rewarding. It is a time of sharing and giving. With the use of KitchenAid hand mixers, each and every cook can prepare eye-catching fancies such as this delicious Raspberry Almond Torte with ease.

Since tortes are made up of several layers of cake and filling, assembly is as much a part of the preparation as mixing and baking. The home economists at KitchenAid have included helpful tips for assembling this fabulous and impressive cake.

TIPS FOR ASSEMBLING TORTES

- Chilling the cake makes it easier to split it horizontally into layers.
- To split the cake horizontally, first use toothpicks to mark the midpoint on the cake's side. Then carefully slice the cake using a long serrated knife.
- If the cake has a slightly domed top, horizontally slice a thin layer off the top to make it flat. This will give you level cake layers making it easier to assemble the torte.
- To toast sliced almonds, spread them thinly onto a cookie sheet or shallow baking pan. Bake in a 350° F oven for 5 to 10 minutes or until golden brown, stirring twice.

TIPS FOR WHIPPED CREAM FROSTING

- Whipping cream makes a light, simple frosting for cakes and other desserts. Stabilizing the whipped cream with a little unflavored gelatin gives the whipped cream more body and delays the whipped cream from breaking down and becoming watery. To serve cream-filled cakes at their best, follow these tips.
- If you do not stabilize the whipped cream, assemble the cake no more than 4 hours before serving.
- To stabilize whipped cream: In a 1-cup glass measuring cup, combine 1 tablespoon cold water and 1/2 teaspoon unflavored gelatin. Stir well and let stand for 2 minutes. Then place the measuring cup in a pan of boiling water. Cook and stir about 1 minute or until the gelatin is dissolved. Beat the whipped cream as directed gradually drizzling the dissolved gelatin over it. Beat until stiff peaks form. Store, covered, in the refrigerator for up to 48 hours.
- Be sure to store cream-filled cakes in the refrigerator until ready to serve.

News From Bob Bullock

Lt. Governor Bob Bullock, Speaker Gib Lewis and members of the state's budget writing committee today alerted state agencies to stay within existing revenues when preparing budgets for the 1994-95 budget period.

The warning came in a letter signed by Bullock, Lewis and members of the Legislative Budget Board and distributed to state agency heads and their oversight boards.

"Usually lawmakers get an agency's wish list at budget time," Bullock said. "This time we must have their can't-do-without list."

"And agencies shouldn't just be making plans for September 1, 1993. To prepare for tomorrow, agencies should start implementing cost-saving measures today," Bullock added.

"Writing a budget that stays within our current income will require some tough decisions and the sooner we begin planning the better prepared we will be to make those decisions," Lewis said. "Every agency in state government needs to understand from the start where we are headed and what our goal is." In the letter, the state officials predict "revenues for the 1994-95 budget period will be insufficient to fund the expected demand for state services."

They go on to say agencies must make their operations more efficient, but caution that efficiency alone probably won't be enough. The letter says, agencies should be prepared to "identify programs...which can be cut back or eliminated to live within the revenue constraints."

Bullock, who has said he will fight any attempts to raise taxes, said the letter should serve as an early warning to agencies, allowing them time to plan reductions and cut backs.

"We simply can't afford to start the 1993 regular legislative session with state agencies asking for billions of dollars in new state money as they did in 1991," Bullock added.

An elephant's trunk has about 40,000 muscles.

They who await. No gifts from change have conquered fate. —Arnold.

LEGAL NOTICE

Notice is hereby given that the Muleshoe Independent School District intends to examine alternatives to its present food service program.

No offer of intent should be construed from this legal notice that the Muleshoe Independent School District intends to enter into a contract with the company for alternative food service unless in the sole opinion of the District, it is in their best interest to do so.

All costs involved in submitting alternatives to the Muleshoe Independent School District current food service program shall be borne in full by the interested company and should be kept to a minimum. A copy of the Request for Proposal can be obtained by contacting:

Mr. Roald (Buck) Johnson
Assistant Superintendent, Operations
Muleshoe Independent School District
514 West Avenue G
Muleshoe, Texas 79347
806-272-3911

The Muleshoe Independent School District reserves the right to accept any proposal which it deems most favorable to the interest of the school district and to reject any or all proposals or any portion of any proposal submitted which in their opinion is not in the best interest of the District.

LOUISA'S LETTER

Dear Louisa,
In my opinion the main reason for so much unemployment is that many of the people, out of work, are unskilled for well paying jobs and are unwilling to take the jobs that they are able to do. Time was when many of our most successful men and women took menial jobs at poor wages to begin with but learned the business and in that way were able to do and command good jobs later on.

There should be a clause in the minimum wage law allowing unskilled workers to work for a stated time on less pay. That would put more people back to work and teach them something about the jobs they want.

What do you think?
--J.B.--Tenn.

Answer:
People are happier if they are working and they have more respect for themselves than if they are depending on welfare.

Unfortunately, some of the young people today, who are not qualified for clerical jobs, refuse to take a domestic or lesser job.

Louisa,
