Tax on Sulphur Starts Fight in Lower House

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Feb. 13.—The House today voted to print the minority report on the sulphur tax bill and the committee on revenue and taxation had rejected it. The vote to print the bill was ninety-two to eleven, indicating that the sentiment of the House is strongly behind the measure introduced by Representative Phil Sanders, of Nacogdoches, levying a tax of a dollar per ton on sulphur.

Governor Moody has told the legislature it should enact measures producing additional revenue before he could submit appropriation bills.

AUSTIN, Feb. 13.—Governor Moody is in a position to wield a "big stick" over the legislature on his proposals to tax natural gas and sulphur.

He will submit emergency appropriations later. He has explained that without tapping a new source of revenue there cannot be any appropriations because there will be no available funds to meet them.

Presidents of the state colleges, scattered throughout Texas and thus touching every legislator in an intimately personal way, have requested an appropriation of about $1,500,000 with which to maintain summer schools.

Every senator and every legislator is sure to hear from home to the effect that the college in his district should receive his vote when it comes to passing the appropriations. Hence he may find himself in the position of supporting the governor's suggested levy on gas and sulphur in order to get funds with which to aid his college.

That is how the governor will be in a position to wield the "big stick."

The governor is honest and conscientious about the whole matter. He wants to give the schools, eleemosynary institutions and departments the emergency funds they need to function properly, but he cannot see enough cash in sight. Hence, he has decided that the natural resources of the state should foot a portion of the bill and will proceed to point out to the legislature that private fortunes are being made by those who are taking natural gas and sulphur from beneath Texas soil. He has compiled figures to illustrate his point and they are enlightening if not surprising. He will attempt to show that almost inconceivable millions are being appropriated by private capital from this state's stock of natural resources and he will contend that the people own the mineral beneath the surface and are entitled to realize something from their sale.

The governor is strongly inclined to raise revenue from sources other than the homes and farms and would devise means of substituting levies on incomes and natural resources in order to abolish the ad valorem tax.

If he should be a candidate for a third term, as many believe he will be, his plan along this line would be one of the principal planks in his platform.

Slayer of El Paso Man is Convicted

(By Associated Press)
ABILENE, Feb. 13.—W. S. Ham was convicted in district court here today on a charge of murder in connection with the slaying of N. V. Nixon, El Paso chauffeur, ten years ago. Punishment was fixed at twenty-five years imprisonment in the state penitentiary.

Percy Howard was sentenced to death in connection with the same slaying but his execution was delayed several times by Governor Moody, who declared he wished first to see how Ham's trial terminated.

The testimony against Howard was given principally by Ham and Howard's former wife.

Local Salesman Winner of Prizes

DALLAS, Feb. 13.—Two Ballinger salesmen were accorded recognition as leaders among the entire Frigidaire sales organization at the annual regional convention here today when they were called to the platform amid blaring bands and cheering of 400 fellow-salesmen from this section of the United States, and were presented with diamond-studded pins, and cash prizes in gold, as follows: W. P. Denny, Ballinger, $50; and A. L. Brady, formerly of Ballinger, $50.

Awarding of salesmen's prizes and introduction of new products were high spots of the convention at which speakers struck an optimistic note for 1930. Among the new developments in electric refrigeration presented were a hydrator, for freshening vegetables; two new compressors and two sizes of commercial refrigerator cabinets.

The convention was one of a series of thirteen which will be attended by more than 10,000 members of the field organization. Prizes of more than $100,000 will be awarded for extraordinary sales achievement. The convention party will travel more than 10,000 miles on its nationwide swing.

Will Employ One Night Watchman

Members of the city commission were interviewing local merchants Thursday relative to the employment of a second night watchman. During December and January two night watchmen were employed by the city but on February 1st one was discharged in order to save expenses. This week a petition was circulated here by individuals asking merchants for monthly donations to assist in the employment of a second watchman.

When the list had reached about $75 it was presented to the commission which was asked to supply the remainder of the amount necessary to employ the second patrolman.

Members of the commission declared Thursday morning that they did not want the help from the firms if a second policeman was necessary. The city is willing to hire two men if a majority of the citizens feel two are necessary and with this idea in mind canvass of a number of leading business houses was being made. A check up of the interviews showed that about 85 per cent of those talked to were opposed to the second man, and for the present at least the commission will use but one night watchman.

The commissioners announced that in case the demand was created another man would be placed on the force, and that on all special occasions, extra police would walk beats in the city.

Hughes Opponents Gain in Senate

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Feb. 13.—The confirmation of Charles Evans Hughes as chief justice of the United States supreme court by the Senate went into the doubtful stage today as friends conceded gains by the opposition forces.

Senator Watson, Indiana Republican leader, predicted a margin of seventeen votes in favor of the confirmation. Meanwhile Senators Carter Glass, Democrat, of Virginia, and Nye, Republican, of South Dakota, continued the attack against Hughes.

The program opened with thirty-three women taking part in the "candle lighting ceremony." This feature was very impressive, illustrating some of the important activities of the P. T. A.'s in Rannels county. Kindergarten children under the direction of Mrs. Joe Simmons entertained with a short program which was liberally applauded by the visitors.

A brief period was devoted to business during which the delegates were introduced. It was decided and announced that the council would serve a Southern dinner during the sixth district convention, which will be held in Ealling on March 26, 27 and 28. The meal will be served Friday night at 6:30, in Eastern Star Hall. Selection of the next meeting place for the council was brought up. Wingate delegates extending an invitation which was accepted and the time set for some day in April.

Mrs. Ira Cain, of San Angelo, chairman of the juvenile work in this district, was the principal speaker at the council meeting. She stated that in all the work of the Congress of Mothers that of the county council had the most appeal to her. She discussed children's problems and what P. T. A.'s are doing for their benefit. The speaker showed how through cooperation much more can be accomplished. Mrs. Cain declared that homes and schools exist for children and the greatest work of the parent and teacher was in character building.

Japan Ready For Battleship Holiday

Cemetery to Plant Additional Trees

(By Associated Press)
LONDON, Feb. 13.—The Japanese delegation to the five-power naval conference in a statement today declared that Japan was ready to accept a holiday in battleship construction until 1936, to reduce the tonnage of battleships to twenty-seven thousand tons, and reduce the maximum calibre of guns to fourteen inches.

The Ballinger Cemetery Association will commence a series of improvements and beautifications at once which will add much to the looks of the burial grounds. Each spring the association uses what money it can spare from the taxes to beautify the grounds and the local cemetery today is one of the prettiest to be found in this section of the state.

The association has ordered 100 pyramidal cypress trees which will be put out as soon as they arrive. In addition to these trees they have ordered a number of shrubs and flowers which will be placed in the new section of the cemetery.

Water mains were extended last year and at present there is plenty of water piped to every spot in the grounds. Two years ago 800 sycamores were purchased at a very low price.

A part of the trees were set out in the grounds and the rest were "heeled out" and are being used as they are needed.

E. Shepperd, secretary of the association stated Thursday morning that an extra man had been hired to work at the cemetery as soon as the weeds began to grow and that everything would be looked after and beautified this spring and summer.

AUSTIN, Feb. 13.—The taking of testimony on charges preferred against Comptroller S. H. Terrell before the House of Representatives will not start until Monday. Sitting as a committee of the whole the House granted a postponement until then on the request of counsel for Terrell.

Former State Senator T. H. McGregor, representing the respondent, declared the comptroller's department is being audited by public accountants, and it was desired to wait until completion of this work before starting to meet the charges preferred.

A postponement until Saturday was requested by Terrell's attorneys, but the presence of a quorum then was questioned and the continuance until Monday was granted.

Gradually the list of candidates grows and indications now are that a number of offices will be sought by more than one person this summer. A number are already campaigning diligently and candidate cards are beginning to be handed out freely. The old time campaign "zeegar" is obsolete it seems, and such things as "set-ups" must have been condemned when the mahogany counter and brass rail went out.

Fishermen were exposed to the fever here in the past few days when a number of parties returned to town with large strings of bass. One string of about eight bass weighing nearly twenty pounds was exhibited here Wednesday afternoon and was the cause of many reels being oiled and other tackle put in shape for a trial. A few have reported fine catches of catfish and it takes but little encouragement to send a lover of this sport to the banks of some stream to try his luck.

The city commission's action in discharging one night watchman February 1st is in line with the record of the grand jury that has just been released here. Crime in this fair city has been so scarce during the past year that there is little occasion for watching. This can be construed two ways, however. As seen by those there is no use to have extra police when no criminals are working here, and another viewpoint is that with the city properly policed criminals have no opportunity to work. When we talk about the record here for the past year we "knock on wood" for past experience teaches us that about the time we begin bragging a series of criminal acts are reported and the jurors are kept busy trying to deal justice to the offenders. Anyhow the commission is very fair in the matter. It is willing to be guided by a majority of the citizens and in case need arises it is ready to employ another man and pay for his services. Petty thieving which has been common here is difficult for a watchman to run down. The marauders learn who the police are, when they make their rounds, and arrange to do their devilment when the officers are in some other part of town. We agree with the commission that when two men are needed it is the commission's place to put them on and work them under the supervision of the city government so that the patrolmen will punch the clocks on their rounds and be responsible to some authority.

FIND TRACES OF ANCIENT PEOPLE IN WEST TEXAS

(By Associated Press)
McCAMEY, Feb. 13.—Tangible evidence of an ancient civilization is believed to have been found on the site of McCamey's water supply.

R. H. Deane, engineer, says he found traces of irrigation ditches leading to an old Spanish dam which indicate that more than 2,000 acres of land once was under cultivation. The road from McCamey to the Yates Oil Field crosses these ditches.

The dam site is reached by traveling up one of the ditches, leading from the road just north of the bridge over Pecos River. The abutments of the old dam are still to be seen, the rock used in its structure apparently having been removed from a nearby hill.

None of the old residents know anything about the dam. In the hills remains of old lime kilns and of fires, which were there when the first settlers arrived, are found.

Austin Matron Gives Emphatic Recommendation

Mrs. Frank Evins Advises Sufferers from Stomach Disorders to Take Orgatone for Relief.

"After suffering so badly for four years, it certainly is wonderful how Orgatone has relieved me," said Mrs. Frank Evins, of 501 East Third street, Austin, Texas. Mrs. Evins is very well known in Austin, having made numerous friends during her five years residence in that city.

"I have been in a general run-down condition for the past four years," continued Mrs. Evins. "It seemed as if I could find nothing that would build my system up, and I was going down every day until I started taking Orgatone."

"I had a very bad case of stomach trouble. Indigestion and constipation combined to make my life a miserable existence. Times I didn't quite see how I could keep going. To add to my distress I was very nervous and felt tired and worn out all the time. At night, I was so restless that I could not sleep well, and this lack of sleep lowered my resistance to my illness. Consequently I was gradually growing worse."

"Naturally, I had tried many methods and medicines in an effort to get rid of my trouble, but as I said before, they had little or no effect. I had just about lost faith in all medicines, as far as their helping me was concerned, so I wasn't particularly interested when a friend of mine told me about Orgatone and recommended that I try it. However, my friend insisted, and I now bless that very instance. For I decided to try Orgatone."

"Do you know, it's really remarkable, the results I have gotten from my first bottle. I now feel better in every way. Constipation, indigestion, everything has been relieved. I know Orgatone is wonderful and I am going to continue taking it until I have finished the full treatment. "I certainly am grateful for the way it has brought me such remarkable relief after everything else had failed to do so. I am mighty glad to give this statement, and I will recommend Orgatone to anyone."

Genuine Orgatone may be obtained in Ballinger at the Weeks Drug Store.

Pretty Sue Aids Her Dad As Virginia's First Lady

By Sue McNamara (Associated Press Feature Service Writer)
RICHMOND, Feb. 13.—She was bred in old Virginia, was Sue Pollard, but like the "Sue" of old Kentucky—"where the meadow grass is blue, there's the sunshine of the blue, in her face and manner, too!"

Miss Pollard is official hostess at the historic mansion in Richmond where her father, Dr. John Gariand Pollard, now presides as governor. And never have affairs of the big house built in 1811 by James Monroe, been administered by a fairer young mistress.

In a blue evening gown, with her dark hair, fair complexion and winsome ways, Sue Pollard is what college boys would term "a riot."

There's always a stag line waiting to dance with Sue, despite the fact—or perhaps because of it—that she likes to sew and prefers Shakespeare and Barrie to the more modern authors.

She has a somewhat shy smile, and blue eyes opened wide—eyes just matching the blue dress round which she holds her evening cape. She's a maid of few words. Yet you go away convinced that Sue Pollard is not only the youngest, but the most charming first lady Virginia ever had.

Being head of a household and receiving guests is no novelty to her. Mrs. Pollard has been an invalid for years and the daughter has "run" the family home in Williamsburg, Va., where her father has been dean of law in William and Mary College.

As head of the governor's man-

HOW'S your HEALTH

WHY DO TEETH DECAY?

At one time it was said that a clean tooth never decays and in consequence, scrupulous cleanliness of the mouth and teeth was recommended as a safeguard against dental caries (decay of the teeth).

Of late, however, it has been recognized that while a clean mouth is desirable for a variety of reasons, it is not an absolute safeguard against caries.

In a further study of the causes of dental decay, the matter of heredity came into prominence. The health and nutrition of the mother during the child-bearing period appeared in some ways to affect the development of the child's teeth.

In children of badly nourished mothers, teeth were found to have been imperfectly developed, showing upon careful examination minute pits and fissures—that is, defects in the enamel.

More recently, a group of scientists working at the state university of Iowa demonstrated that nutrition deeply affects the power of tooth tissue to resist decay.

In children with extensive caries they have actually secured an arrest of the decay process by feeding them diets rich in mineral and vitamin content.

They report that the children in their study were fed daily a quart of milk, one egg, a teaspoonful of cod liver oil, one ounce of butter, one orange and two servings of succulent vegetables. This was supplemented by proteins or meat foods.

Starchy foods, including sugars, were kept to the safe minimum. In all the children studied, tooth decay was arrested in from one to three months. Where the diet was not followed after the experiment was over, decay set in once again.

The use of the tooth brush seemed to have had little or no effect upon decay of the teeth, these scientists report, but that should not be construed as a warrant for neglect of mouth cleanliness.

Yoakum Farmers Show Progress

(By Associated Press)
YOAKUM, Feb. 13.—As a result of an extensive diversification program for farmers in the Yoakum trade territory, promoted by the Yoakum Chamber of Commerce, the value of farm products shipped has increased almost 1500 per cent since 1925.

Despite the fact that the weather, insect and other conditions governing crop production, have remained practically the same over the entire period, the value of farm products has steadily increased year after year. This being partly due to new crops being added to the diversification program and partly to an educational program.

Following figures were included in a report of W. M. Carleon, Secretary of the Chamber of Commerce, and include truck, express and carlot shipments during 1929, of the products mentioned: Eggs, $53,200; turkeys, $95,000; tomatoes, $177,000; hogs, $16,000; chickens, $22,000; corn, $11,250; and a creamery here paid $181,900 to farmers for butterfat. This produce was in addition to cotton, cane, feedstuff and beef cattle. The value of cattle shipped from Yoakum was estimated at approximately $250,000.

In 1925 the shipment of all farm products with the exception of cotton, beef cattle and

Growing Food as Well as Cotton

To avoid sacrifice in the face of an overstocked market, a cotton grower must be in a position to "carry on" without selling his crop.

Growing food as well as a cotton crop is one of the things a cotton grower can do to help himself out of the present situation and to safeguard himself in the future. Another is the growing of two or more crops for sale, which would automatically reduce cotton production and avoid an over-stocked market.

These are but two possibilities which have often been urged unavailingly in the past. Our officers naturally keep informed on all such matters and in close touch with all movements affecting the cotton grower.

Come in and consult with any of them on the present situation as it affects you. We're here to help you.

PLAYING OXEN

By Mary Graham Bonner
The Little Black Clock had turned the time way, way back now.

He excited the children, too, by telling them he had been given even more magic so they could understand the speech of all kinds of creatures, and so they could go such great distances even more quickly than ever.

Now they were watching some children playing and two children would run along with their heads close together while another would be pretending to drive them.

"They are playing they are oxen," the Little Black Clock explained, "just as you have played horse."

"You see it is a long, long time ago, and these children are very familiar with oxen."

"Wouldn't you like to play with me?" John and Peggy thought this a fine idea, and when they had watched the other children long enough, John and Peggy played they were oxen, and the Little Black Clock pretended to drive them.

Peggy and John put their heads close together just as though they were a team of oxen and the Little Black Clock made a harness

New Konjola Ends 29 Years Of Suffering

"Difficult to Believe All This Great Medicine Has Done," Says Grateful Lady.

MRS. MAMIE TOWNSEND "For 29 years I suffered from stomach ailments which seemed to grow worse as time went on," said Mrs. Mamie Townsend, 2740 Ann avenue, St. Louis. "I came to a pass where I ate scarcely enough to keep me alive. Gas pains and blinding headaches caused me to walk the floor for hours at a time. My liver and kidneys weakened and added to my misery. I lost weight and strength and despaired of ever getting better again.

"About this time a friend urged me to try Konjola, and it is difficult to believe all this great medicine has done for me. I knew at once that I had found the right medicine and continued taking Konjola until I had completely recovered my health. Today I eat what I wish without bloating or discomfort of any kind. My liver, too, responded within a short time and I am free from bilious attacks and headaches. My kidneys are normal and I never suffer those frightful back pains."

Amusements

"Not So Dumb," Riot of Laughs, Closes Run Tonight King Vidor seems to be about the ideal directorial agency for Marion Davies.

In "Not So Dumb," Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer's new starring vehicle for the comedienne, which closes tonight at the Palace Theatre, Vidor has provided her with the most vivacious role she has played, a sparkling vehicle that affords her wide latitude for her rare comedy talents.

The picture is an adaptation of the well-known stage farce, "Duley," by George S. Kaufman and Marc Connelly. It is Vidor's third picture with Miss Davies as the star, the previous two having been the exceptionally successful "The Patsy" and "Show People."

Miss Davies demonstrates her vocal as well as physical versatility in the screen comedy, adapting her voice as well as her personality to the role of a blundering flapper who tries to run her fiance's business affairs and almost ruins her romance as well as his bank account.

Elliott Nugent plays opposite the star and the supporting cast includes Raymond Hackett, William Holden, Julia Faye, Sally Starr, Donald Ogden Stewart, Franklin Pangborn and George Davis. All of the players are well cast and add considerably to the convincing manner in which the riotous play is presented.

GAS AFTER MEALS

"Didn't See a Well Day for Weeks—None of My Food Agreed With Me," Says Engineer.

Kansas City, Mo.—"After each meal, distress would come on me, and I would suffer bad pain," says Mr. Peter Seeger, a Missouri Pacific railroad engineer, residing at 329 Elmwood Street, this city.

Mr. Seeger explains that the pain seemed to come from indigestion, as he had a sensation of gas, or bloated feeling in his stomach. "I found that by taking a pinch of Black-Draught, dry, after meals, I would be relieved," he says.

"I would carry Black-Draught to work with me. I took it for about a year and a half.

"None of my food agreed with me. I would frequently taste what I ate, long after my meals, and I did not see a well day for weeks. I began taking a pinch of Black-Draught after each meal, and kept this up for weeks. Gradually the pain left me, and I began to feel better. I ceased to be troubled with gas, and could eat what I liked.

CURIO HUNTERS IMPERIL VALUABLE INDIAN RELICS

(By Associated Press) ANN ARBOR, Mich., Feb. 13.—Priceless records of former human life are being destroyed "at a rate incredible to those not in touch with the situation," says Dr. Carl E. Guthe, director of the museum of anthropology, University of Michigan.

These records are Indian relics which Dr. Guthe says become almost valueless to tell the story of tribes, nations and customs now extinct, unless they are studied in the original mounds where unearthed.

He laments the destruction both to curio hunters and to amateur archaeologists.

He suggests that vandalism may be checked by correcting an erroneous impression that archaeological objects have an intrinsic financial value.

Society

T. E. L. Class in Business-Social Meeting

The T. E. L. Class of the Ballinger Baptist Church met Thursday of last week at the home of Mrs. A. S. Love, in business meeting and social.

Guests were reminded of nearness of Valentine by a large red heart on the door with the inscription "Be My Valentine."

At the social hour those present were asked to give an account of their first valentine—the thrill they received on receipt of same. Some gave laughable experiences.

The social chairman then announced that she had learned there were a number of "fistic artists" among the class members, and that there had been special request for life sized drawings of the teacher (Mrs. McCarver) and president (Mrs. L. E. Bair). The drawings were made on large white hearts and the artists were asked to keep their eyes closed while making the pictures.

Colored heart pieces were then hid over the house and ladies were told to find these hearts and seek the owner of the other half of same. This was quite a laughable game. Those who failed to find the remainder of their heart were made to pay a penalty.

At this time Mrs. McDonald announced that she had learned secret and thought everyone would be interested in knowing it—that the teacher had proposed to her husband by means of a valentine and he had accepted her proposal in the same manner. She then read her proposal to him and his acceptance.

As a token of love and respect, the class presented the older members of the class with pretty valentines. Having learned of an X-ray picture having been made of the teacher's heart, the class presented her with an exact duplicate, enormous in size and with a printed inscription "The Heart of Our Teacher."

Delicious refreshments were served with valentine plate favors and colored candy mint hearts with valentine verses to forty-five members and visitors.

Carsey Successful With Band Work

H. H. Carsey, director of the Ballinger Band, has set a record during the past eight years, since coming to Ballinger, that he can point to with pride. He was employed to take charge of the local band in 1922 and since that time has been on the job practically every day making musicians out of local boys.

From the Ballinger Band have developed some of the best musicians in the state who at present are making good in a number of college bands and orchestras.

Mr. Carsey took charge of a very small organization here in 1922 and his first public appearance of any importance was to enter the band contest at the West Texas Chamber of Commerce convention in San Angelo that year. With only sixteen members he made a very creditable showing in this contest and lost only after the band was penalized for its size and instrumentation. There is not one of the original sixteen members in the band today. All have either moved away or quit playing.

During the eight years Mr. Carsey has resided here more than 150 men have enrolled for membership in the band. Of that number more than 85 per cent applied themselves and stuck to the task until they learned to play. Men who commenced their musical training in the Ballinger Band are holding down chairs this year in the best college bands in the state. A check up finds students from Ballinger playing at Simmons University, Southern Methodist University, A. & M. College, Texas Christian University, Baylor University, Daniel Baker College, and Howard Payne College. Their musical training in several instances aids them to get through school.

Besides helping them through school, these boys are permitted to go on tours to the enlargement of their general education. At least three former members of the Ballinger organization, who are attending Simmons University this year, will go to Europe this summer, visiting nine nations. The local band at present is at low ebb. Only about thirty members are practicing regularly and Mr. Carsey is anxious to build the instrumentation back to at least fifty. Training received is cheap and of great benefit to the boys as has been proved by those already graduated from the band here and making good elsewhere. The time for summer concerts is almost here and it is pointed out that during the vacation period is an excellent time for boys to begin musical studies.

In addition to making an unqualified success of the Ballinger Band, Mr. Carsey has made fine progress with the Bronte Band

This organization has grown to thirty-odd members who are capable of playing heavy music. Until recently he also directed and instructed the band at Rowena.

MAVERICK MUSINGS

Everyone seems to be enjoying this beautiful spring-like weather and the farmers that were not through putting their land up are nearly all finishing this week. At the present time almost everyone would like to see enough rain to provide a planting season.

There was a large crowd present at the Church of Christ Sunday morning to hear Elder Davis talk on "Liberty." Bro. Davis is a fluent speaker and his hearers greatly enjoy his talks on Bible subjects.

The Rev. Swearington, Methodist pastor, spoke to a very appreciative audience Sunday afternoon. The people of Maverick are missing a treat when they do not hear the sermon of Brother Swearington each second Sunday afternoon.

Most of the young people and quite a few married couples enjoyed a singing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hutton Sunday evening.

A party at the home of A. B. Hardy was enjoyed by the young people Friday evening.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Lee visited Mr. and Mrs. Garland McAulay Sunday.

Prof. and Mrs. L. C. Pyle were the guests of Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Hutton Sunday.

Mrs. J. L. Clements has been ill for several days but is improving now.

Mr. Arch Smith is able to be up and come to town after an illness of three weeks.

J. L. Lee and his son, Renza, went to Glen Rose Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Carlton of this place, and Mr. and Mrs. Carl Sharp of Ballinger, were visitors in the home of Clarence Sharp Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Lee and children, of Bronte, spent Saturday night and Sunday with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. N. D. Lee.

The Stamps quartette will give a musical concert at the Maverick auditorium next Tuesday evening, February 18. Robert Arnold has charge of this quartette and that alone would insure a worthwhile program. Because of the popularity of this quartette with Runnels county singers, a large crowd is expected to hear them. "REPORTER"

Bearcats Take Game at Winters

The Ballinger Bearcat quintet stepped one notch nearer the county championship in basketball Wednesday afternoon in the first game of the play-off series with the Winters Blizzards. The same two teams meet in Ballinger this afternoon in the deciding game of the series which will name the champions. In case Ballinger wins the first game only one will be played, but in case of a loss an extra game will be necessary to decide the county champions.

The Bearcats got off to a slow start at Winters Wednesday afternoon and after a few minutes of play found themselves six points behind the fast Blizzard quintet. The Cats started a rush, however, and at the close of the first half the score was 17 to 7 in favor of the Bearcats.

Winters came back fighting hard in the last half and a few minutes before the game was over tied the score. This only lasted a short time however, the Bearcats throwing a few more baskets that finished the game with the score 25 to 23 in favor of Ballinger.

Captain Reneau of the Cats and Smith of Winters, tied for scoring honors with ten points to the credit of each player. Feist with seven, and Underwood with six, helped the Bearcats to triumph over their rivals for the county honors. Davenport and Greenhill lived up to their usual defensive record and turned in one of the best games they

The local five is receiving much publicity from San Angelo and is listed as one of the hardest teams which will be entered in the tournament. The Winters team is fast and aggressive however, and will deal the Cats hard competition here in the final game.

The Winters court is small and about the minimum size while the court here is large with about the maximum measurements. This will give the local lads an advantage in the final match.
