Work to Start Soon on Water Project Survey

Mayor W. C. McCarver stated Thursday that within the next two weeks the city commission would begin improvement of the city water system. Consulting Engineers Hawley & Freese, of Fort Worth, have placed their okeh on the project and with only a few minor changes to be made the engineering is ready to be started. The bonds are being printed and records completed which is expected to speed their sale.

The commission is investigating the additional land that will be covered by the proposition and which will have to be bought by the city. This matter will be attended to in the next few days if a satisfactory deal can be agreed upon between the commission and the landowner.

Masonry work on the dam will make it ten feet higher than at present, and two dirt levees—one between 1,000 and 1,200 feet long and the other about 500 feet long—will be raised. The dirt sections will be several feet higher than the cement part of the dam in order to provide a spillway to the creek bed.

When the new reservoir is completed and filled with water it will increase the city supply about five times what it is at present. Water will be backed up Elm Creek until it will be about level with the top of the upper dam.

Estimated time to complete the project is about four months of good working weather. Some of this construction can be commenced at an early date, and the commission will push operations as much as possible so the dam can retain some of the late spring rains. H. B. Crosby, of the firm of Crosby & Company, of San Antonio, has spent the past several days in Ballinger preparing the paper work for the sale of the bonds. This firm recently bought the $42,000 refunding bonds here and will bid on the waterworks bonds when they are ready for marketing.

The city commission also will consider at an early date the construction of the first unit of the city hall here which will be used as a fire station, made even more of a necessity since the purchase of the new fire truck, which will soon be received here. Paul Silvas, architect, of San Antonio, was here a few days ago and stated that he would furnish the commission with a pencil sketch of the single unit.

"FATHER AND SON" SCOUT BANQUET FRIDAY NIGHT

All Boy Scouts of this city will have their fathers as guests at a "father and son" banquet to be held in the basement of the First Methodist Church Friday night beginning at 7 o'clock. A fine program has been arranged for the occasion which will introduce Ed Shumway, director of the Chisholm Trail Area, and Judge Jim Strinson, both of Abilene, as speakers. Any Scout who has no parent to bring is allowed to invite some adult friend to be his guest. Members of the council all have a special invitation to be present.

ORCHESTRA-GLEE CLUB CONCERT FRIDAY NIGHT

The Ballinger high school orchestra and girls glee club will give a free concert Friday night at the high school auditorium. The two organizations are under the direction of Miss Catherine Todd, teacher of public music. Everyone in Ballinger and surrounding territory is invited to be present. The concert will start at 7:45 and a full evening's entertainment will be furnished. Rehearsals for this concert have been underway for several months.

Kirk Allbright, of San Antonio, was in Ballinger Thursday attending to business and visiting with friends.

Pro Opponents Before Committee

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Opponents of prohibition called on a former United States Senator from Missouri today to buttress arguments for repeal of the eighteenth amendment. George Williams, of St. Louis, testified before the House judiciary committee, which is considering bills for repeal of the dry laws, that "nullification was a fact to be observed and not discussed" in his territory, adding that in his section of the country farmers were hired to take the blame for violation of the liquor law by wealthy alcohol manufacturers.

Today is the last day for the wets to present arguments and the dries will follow them in the hearings.

Dealers Meeting Well Advertised

The mass meeting here next Monday night for the purpose of organizing an Independent Dealers' Association is being advertised all over Runnels county. Five thousand circulars have been mailed to various sections of the county and local merchants are enclosing one in each bundle wrapped this week in an effort to get the date and time before every citizen of the county.

Both speakers, Jimmy Allred, of Wichita Falls, and C. R. Pennington, of Abilene, have assured the committee that they will be here to address the gathering on matters concerning home patronage and give information on chain store movements and business methods.

The meeting will be held at 7:30 o'clock in American Legion Hall and the general public is invited to attend. Extra seats will be provided in the auditorium in case of an overflow crowd.

Roy Reeder, who has been attending to the advertising, stated Thursday morning that he had tried to deliver circulars to every independent merchant in Ballinger and if he had overlooked any of these stores or if any of them needed more of the hand-bills he would be glad to furnish them. Those desiring a supply of the advertising matter can secure same by calling Mr. Reeder or sending to the Ballinger Printing Company.

The local sheriff's department received notice from Valleyview, Kansas, Wednesday afternoon asking that Ernie Spruelli be held here for officers of that city. McClain and was fined for intoxication in city court Wednesday morning.

(By Associated Press) FT. WORTH, Feb. 20.—Fourteen persons were called to testify today in an investigation by the Tarrant county grand jury of the false rumors said to be responsible for the run on the First National Bank of Ft. Worth Tuesday. Others are expected to be called in the probe.

Nobles is Freed Of Liquor Charge

The jury in the case of the state vs. Henry Nobles, being tried on a liquor violation charge here in district court, returned a verdict of not guilty Thursday morning.

Nobles was tried at the October term and the jury on the case at that time failed to agree.

This was the last criminal case of the week and after a civil suit which is slated to require about two days time, is closed, court will adjourn for this week.

Shortly after the Nobles case was disposed of the case of Val T. Billups vs. R. H. Gallant was called for trial.

"DISTINGUISHED STRANGER" RANK SOUGHT BY WOMEN

(By Associated Press) LONDON, Feb. 20.—English women, who can vote, sit in parliament and hold cabinet portfolios, now seek the right to be Distinguished Strangers.

Thirteen of the 14 women members of the House of Commons have signed a letter to the house speaker, pointing out that, while women are admitted to the public gallery of the house on equal terms with men, the Distinguished Strangers' gallery still is barred to them.

Why, they want to know, isn't a distinguished woman as distinguished as a distinguished man?

"The inequality of the gallery of the illustrious, they say, frequently causes them embarrassment when they are visited in the House of Commons by distinguished women from England or abroad.

MAY ERECT 3 BRIDGES ON HIGHWAY NO. 9

(By Associated Press) MASON, Feb. 20.—Three bridges are to be erected between here and Fredericksburg by the State Highway Department if the right-of-way for Highway No. 9 thru the county is procured. The county thus far has secured the 100-foot right-of-way for all except two and one-half miles and officials say condemnation proceedings may be required to get it.

Most of the owners donated the right-of-way and the total cost will be about $5,000. In return the state will spend $189,000 for the bridges over the Llano, Beaver Creek and Comanche Creek.

Chain Banking to Be Investigated

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, Feb. 20.—Investigation into group and chain banking will be started by the House banking committee Tuesday with Secretary of Treasury Andrew W. Mellon or one of his assistants, and J. W. Poole, comptroller of currency, as the first witnesses.

ASKS FOR FUNDS TO BUILD DETENTION HOME

(By Associated Press) HOUSTON, Feb. 20.—Indigents under investigation to determine whether they are subjects for county relief would be taken care of during the inquiry under the proposal of J. W. Mills, chief probation officer for Harris county.

Mills asked the commissioners for an appropriation to build or rent a detention home.

"The present tendency in social relief work," Mills said in explanation, "is to overemphasize the case service idea. People often suffer while supercilious and vigilant investigators busy themselves with too much red tape. Workers of the county probation department are told to err in the matter of giving relief where it is not badly needed rather than err in denying relief to the persons who need it."

BRADY MAN HAS WON MANY RIBBONS ON SHEEP

(By Associated Press) BRADY, Feb. 20.—McCulloch county's "blue ribbon king," Henry Johnson, sheep breeder and farmer, has quit counting third and fourth prizes awarded his herd of registered Delaines.

He does not have to keep record on anything less than second awards. It almost requires an adding machine to total correctly the number of championships, first and second prizes won in the nine fairs during 1929.

Johanson's sheep copped on the average three out of the four champion awards in each fair or a total of 2 champion prizes. In addition to these super-awards, the Brady sheep king won a total of 115 blue ribbons and 90 second places in the nine shows in which he exhibited his flock. Not counting the many third and fourth prizes awarded his animals, he won on the average 25 ribbons and cash awards in every fair, three of which were international exhibitions.

His cash awards for 1929 amounted to $1,500 but that was an insignificant sum compared to the sales which resulted from the showing of his high-grade wool producers.

East Texas League Will Not Operate

(By Associated Press) HOUSTON, Feb. 20.—East Central Texas is not ready for the resumption of professional baseball but the Texas League's plan for a six-club league is expected to be accepted next year, Joe Mathis, organizer of the proposed circuit, said today, adding that plans for the establishment of such a league in this section had been abandoned this year.

Enough East Texas towns are not prepared to enter a league to make it possible this season, Mathis declared.

Arguments Starts In Kingsville Trial

(By Associated Press) KINGSVILLE, Feb. 20.—Arguments of counsel in the trial of Mrs. Maude Long for the murder of her husband, Jim Long, opened in district court here today, centering around her actions prior to the date of her husband's death.

The state's attorney contended that Mrs. Long went to Corpus Christi, where she bought poison to use on Jim Long to eliminate him from the scene of alleged illicit relationship with Pat Smith, 14.

Camp Fire Girls Show Rehearsing

The Campfire Girls Show to be staged at American Legion Hall on February 27 and 28 under the direction of Miss Katherine Payne promises to be one of the most colorful attractions ever presented here. For over a week Miss Payne has rehearsed 100 girls in this two-part production, and with a corps of assistants is arranging for wardrobe, scenic effects and electrical apparatus.

The first division of the offering is entitled "Sleepyhead Town," and presents thirty children in a musical playlet. The second offering is called "Varieties," and in addition to a number of high school girls, fifty Campfire Girls will be presented.

Miss Payne has a number of scenes and the drops are being arranged in the auditorium. Colored electrical effects will be a feature of the performance and each number will be beautifully and appropriately costumed.

New music and perfectly rehearsed dance numbers featuring large choruses of girls be professed during the concluding acts. These numbers have required much work and deserve patronage of local theatre-goers.

Tickets will be placed on sale soon and announcements of the admission price and place of sale will be made at that time.

DOCTOR DONATES SCHOOL WILD LIFE SPECIMENS

(By Associated Press) WILLS POINT, Tex., Feb. 20.—Dr. DeLeon Sanders has given the Wills Point high school his collection of mounted specimens of wild life native to this section, which is one of the most comprehensive in the state. Twenty-five years were spent in assembling the collection which contains 200 specimens, some having a value as high as $1,000.

The collection will be used in laboratory work in natural history and will be open to all students of ornithology.

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, Feb. 20.—Comptroller S. H. Terrell had failed to properly account for $18,240 withdrawn from two Austin banks and in which charges before the House of Representatives alleged had been misappropriated and fraudulently converted to his personal use, Moore Lynn, state auditor, testified today before the House, which is hearing impeachment charges against Terrell.

Not included in this amount were two items of $500 each, deposited by Terrell in a "special" account in an Austin bank. Lynn said, presenting photostatic copies of state warrants covering these sums, drawn by the comptroller on the state treasury, and representing that they were for postage.

Lynn testified that a copy of the report filed by the auditor privately employed by Terrell to check his department revealed a total of $12,289 of state funds unaccounted for.

Many Notables On Program of Trade Gathering

(By Associated Press) HOUSTON, Feb. 19.—The second annual Southwest Foreign Trade conference, to be held here April 14-15, will have a distinctly international flavor. T. J. Caldwell, convention chairman, has announced.

States directly affected by the organization's work are Texas, Missouri, Kansas, Louisiana, Oklahoma and Arkansas and from them the principal attendance is expected.

Among the speakers who will participate, discussing various phases of foreign trade are Don Orestes Ferrars Cuban ambassador to the United States; R. K. Smith, commissioner of the U. S. shipping board; Gen. T. Q. Ashburn, chairman of the Federal Barge Lines operations; Dr. William P. Gephart, vice president of the First National Bank of St. Louis; Roy Miller of Houston and Corpus Christi, active vice president of the Intracoastal Canal association of Texas and Louisiana, and a number of officials high in the department of commerce and the bureau of foreign and domestic commerce at Washington.

A "trade adviser" service will be conducted by authorities on such subjects as international banking, ocean and rail shipping, marine insurance, advertising, salesmanship, credits, cable and radio communication, demeritization, foreign tariffs and exchange. Likewise, commodity group meetings will be held in addition to the main convention.

Rev. W. H. Doss came in Wednesday night from Austin where he had been during the last session of the state legislature. He will return to resume his duties in the Senate Sunday or Monday of next week.

About one year ago when members of a bootleggers ring were convicted at San Angelo and sent to the pen, a brass band accompanied them to the depot and played "How Do I Am," as they departed. They were all sent up for one year and it has been suggested that it would be appropriate on their return in a short time now to meet them with a band and this time select "Hail, Hail, the Czar's All Here!"

Ballinger should and will be a busy place during the summer months and every able bodied man should be employed at fair wages. One section of highway is now under construction in the county and another will be let at the March ending of the highway commission. Included in this contract will be a bridge across the Colorado river which will keep a busy crew busy for several months. The city will at once begin improvement of the water system here and this will afford work for a large number of laborers for about four months. Other work is now contemplated and with the end soon to be planned and a fair demand for farm labor, there will be plenty of jobs. Times may be "hard" but as long as there is enough work for all local citizens the work will stay far from the door. The big contracts to be let in this county for the road and water projects will furnish work right through the coldest season of the year and will eliminate most unemployment.

The special municipal park committee is collecting estimates on the cost of necessary work to be done on the site and as soon as the figures are available, the general committee will be again called together to consider the next step. Rapid work will have to be done if the park is made ready for the spring and summer months this year. The season for basket games, swimming and outdoor play will soon be at hand and the park should be ready for use at that time.

When federal enumerators commence taking the census in April they begin a big task. Information required of certain vocations will be more detailed in some respects than the first income tax report. For instance, the questionnaire for the general farm schedule only requires answers to 232 questions. The farmer who keeps a strict set of books on every article raised, and the money he spends separating the items, will have no trouble, but much of the information in this county will have to be guessed at. Housewives will be called on to answer many of the questions concerning gardens, flowers, etc.

Worth More Than Worlds of Money

After Ten Years of Suffering, Cisco Man Was In Despair—Orgatone Relieving Troubles.

"I would rather see my father well and happy like he is since taking Orgatone than to have all the money in the world," declared Mrs. Joe Clements of 1600 Ave. D, Cisco, Texas. Mrs. Clements is the daughter of Mr. Edwin Penley and well known required farmer and genial gentleman of the old school who had a host of friends throughout this section of Texas.

"Before my father took Orgatone," continued Mrs. Clements, "he had a gaseous condition so bad that at times it affected his heart action and I was very much worried about him. His stomach was in such a bad condition that he could hardly stand it. He was extremely nervous, his breath was short and he could not sleep well. "At the time he began taking Orgatone his joints were so stiff and sore that he could hardly get around and had not been able to do any kind of work for years. But he is now feeling like a different person and acts like he was 30 years younger. The rheumatic pains are leaving him and he can get about now without the least bit of trouble. He can eat meat, pickles, all kinds of vegetables and anything else he wants and never has a sign of indigestion. He is not the least nervous anymore, sleeps like a child at night. I can't find words to express my thankfulness for what Orgatone has done for him. It is nothing short of wonderful." Genuine Orgatone may be bought in Ballinger at the Weeks Drug Store.

SUNDOWN STORIES

AN OCEAN HOTEL

By Mary Graham Bonner

The Little Black Clock led John and Peggy into a most gorgeous hotel. They could hear music, and people were wandering about just as they did on land. It hardly seemed possible that they could be walking through a hotel that was on a landing place, or sea-drome out on the ocean.

"Yes," said the Little Black Clock, "there are a number of these right across the ocean now, and they aren't considered wonderful any more. People are getting quite used to them."

The Little Black Clock ordered some cocoa, and bread-and-butter and cake for the children.

They heard people talking about going over to Europe to spend a day or so, and deciding that they'd stop off for a little while of something to eat on the way. They seemed to think nothing of it.

After awhile, when they were really tired from taking such an exploring trip over the seadrome, the Little Black Clock suggested that they should start off again.

So they took off from the landing deck with their plane and were flying over the ocean once more.

And right across the Atlantic Ocean, and right back again, the children and the Little Black Clock and their pilot flew so very rapidly, stopping from time to time at other great seadromes where they had refreshments and saw plenty of other planes and people.

"My, but it was luck that you lived in our house," said John to the Little Black Clock, "when you can turn the time ahead like this and take us along on adventures with you."

The Little Black Clock grinned his delighted, happy grin.

"Iron Horse" To Pierce Cowboy's Paradise

The map shows route through area which was one of America's last frontiers when the line from Crane to Crescent Lake was built. Map shows route that will be taken. Above is a typical scene in the area.

(By Associated Press) PORTLAND, Ore., Feb. 20.—The "iron horse" is waiting to snort through out of the West's last frontiers, considered the largest inhabited area in the United States without railways.

The Interstate Commerce Commission has ordered the Union Pacific system to build 181 miles of railroad from Crane to Crescent Lake, Oregon, after three years of controversy.

Within the area to be served by the line are scenes recalling the old West. Locomotives will move over rails built on trails worn into the soil by thundering stage coaches, where holdings of less than a thousand acres are considered small ranches.

Chaps and sheep, cayuse and cows against a background of rim-rocks and low lying ranch buildings tell the region's industry. Decaying buildings and stage depots are remnants of an age when jogging prairie schooners crept westward in quest of gold and independence.

Crane and Crescent Lake boast only a few scattered houses, a general store and postoffice, streets that start in the wide open spaces and end in the same manner.

Inhabitants of the section ride five miles to the mail box or 50 miles on a windswept road to lay in winter supplies as lightly as the city man hops into a taxi. The automobile has not entirely displaced the horse. Ranchers and cowhands ride over the arid highways leaving dust clouds to settle over the last frontier.

in April and May. Deaths due to accidents, as might be expected, are at the highest in June, and because of inclement weather are again high in the month of December.

The periodicities and variations in disease prevalence are not easy to account for, and yet in a general way it may be said that the respiratory diseases are more common in winter because during these months people tend to overcrowd, to associate closely than in the warm weather.

Careless coughing, sneezing and spitting undoubtedly help to spread disease. The lack of fresh air, overheated rooms and over-indulgence in food contribute to the undermining of physical resistance.

In the summer time, on the other hand, the careless handling of food, the consumption of spoiled milk, fruits, vegetables and other foods, contribute to the engendering of gastro-intestinal disturbances.

Growing Food as Well as Cotton

To avoid sacrifice in the face of an overstocked market, a cotton grower must be in a position to "carry over" without selling his crop. Growing food as well as a cotton crop is one of the things a cotton grower can do to help himself out of the present situation and to safeguard himself in the future. Another is the growing of two or more crops for sale, which would automatically reduce cotton production and avoid an over-stocked market.

These are but two possibilities which have often been urged unavailingly in the past. Our officers naturally keep informed on all such matters and in close touch with all movements affecting the cotton grower.

Come in and consult with any of them on the present situation as it affects you. We're here to help you.

Konjola Frees Business Woman Of Seven Ills

Well Known Lady Enthusiastic Over Results Obtained By New Medicine.

MRS. MOLLIE F. VINSON

I cannot begin to express my gratitude for Konjola, said Mrs. Mollie F. Vinson, well known apartment house proprietor, 432A East Broadway, East St. Louis. When I began taking this great medicine I was practically a helpless invalid suffering from rheumatism, neuritis, stomach and kidney troubles. My fingers and hands and the joints in my ankles and feet were frightfully swollen and painful. My kidneys were run down and my stomach weak.

It required but six bottles of this marvelous medicine to banish every one of my ills. Today I have no sign of the pains of neuritis or rheumatism, nor are my joints either in hands or feet the least bit swollen, my stomach and kidneys function as they should and I do not suffer the least discomfort after a hearty meal. My appetite is better and I am stronger, healthier and happier than I have been in many years.

Konjola is sold in Ballinger at the Weeks drug store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

"San Antonio's Siamese Twins" Do Not Want to be Separated

Contrary to what might ordinarily be expected, "San Antonio's Siamese Twins," Daisy and Violet Hilton, do not want to be separated, but prefer to go through life as they are today—inseparably linked to one another. They are contented and happy. Despite the strange human phenomenon Nature created in their birth, it denied them few pleasures enjoyed by other well-educated and talented girls of eighteen.

Any surgical operation that had as its object the separation of Daisy and Violet Hilton would be nothing more than experiment—hazardous and dangerous in the extreme. Why should they place their lives and future happiness in jeopardy? There is little to gain, much to lose. No "Siamese Twins" have ever been successfully separated after babyhood.

Many of the world's most famous surgeons have examined the Hilton twins and their opinion has been unanimous that such an operation would probably result in the crippling of one or both of the girls if not in their deaths.

So Daisy and Violet Hilton prefer to go on as they are—carrying on their work in vaudeville—as musicians, dancers and singers—in a happy, cheerful optimism and spirit of contentment—forgetting the few pleasures Nature denied them. They are to appear on the stage at the Palace Theatre next Thursday, February 27.

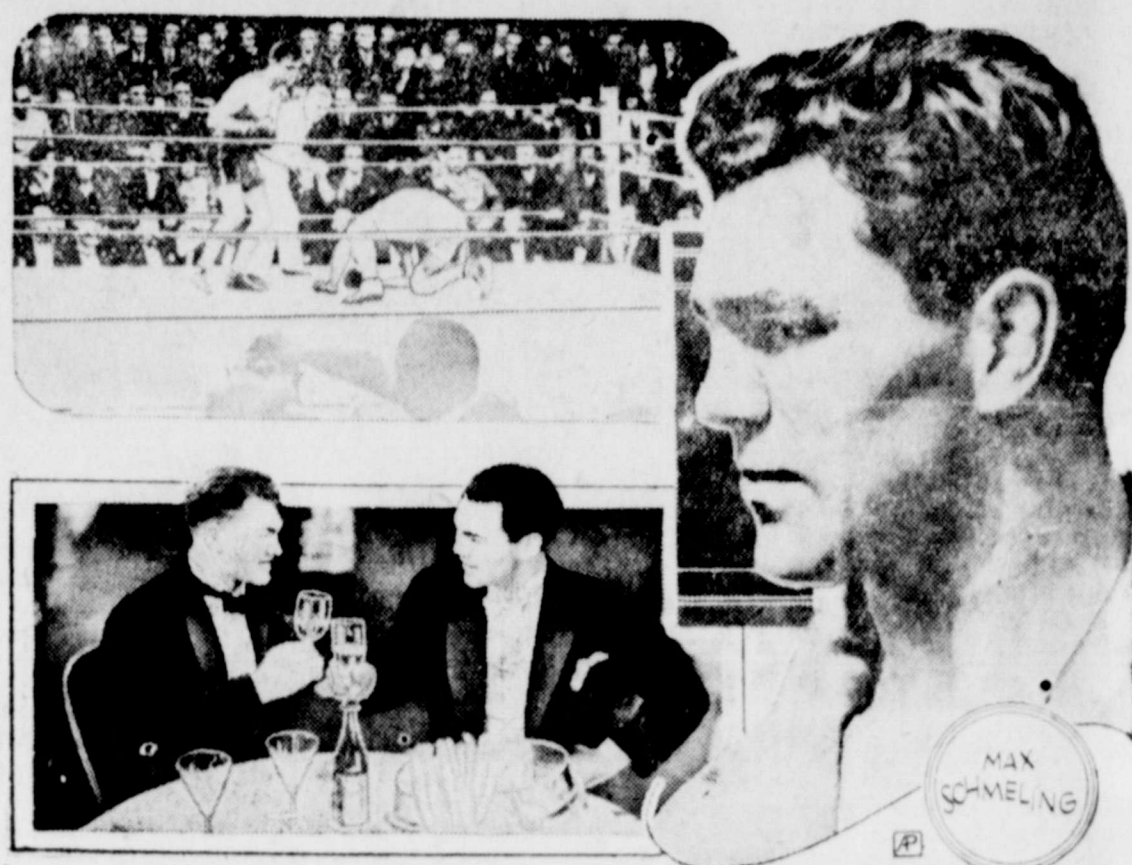

Vilma Banky's Latest Has Great Star Role

Celebrating her newly acquired American citizenship by appearing for the first time as an everyday American girl, Vilma Banky is at the Palace Theatre as the star of "This is Heaven," her second individual starring picture for Samuel Goldwyn. The difficulties of a Hungarian immigrant girl learning to accustom herself to the new and strange she finds in New York make the body of the story, which her ample opportunity for comedy and pathos. First seen as a frightened little peasant, muffled in countless petticoats and shawls, then in a neat waitress' uniform as she flips hot cakes in a restaurant window. It's mineral water Max is drinking with Fran Diener (over left). The other scene shows her Maxie on location with a German motion picture company.

By Edward J. Neil (Associated Press Sports Writer) NEW YORK, Feb. 20.—Rust of inactivity, bane of heavyweight headliners from the time of John L. Sullivan down, seems to have little terror for Max Schmeling, teuton bomber from the land of the Rhine.

Der Maxie tours the night clubs, drinking copious draughts of mineral water, loiters about his home in the Berlin suburbs, and occasionally takes part in pleasant little brawls with imported heavies for the benefit of moving picture cameras. Bashful Max already has declared himself one of the outstanding candidates for the film honors of his country.

A good deal of his time, too, Max spends entertaining the various members of his American managerial staff who make frequent but unsuccessful trips to Germany in expensive efforts to lure the dawdling one back to the profitable rings of the United States. In vain they assure him that all has been forgiven by the boxing commissions with which he wrangled during his last visit.

So far Max has been content to rest upon his laurels in the homeland, waiting for Jack Sharkey and Earl Scott to stage their struggle in the southland, leaving only the winner between him and the world heavyweight title Gene Tunney tossed aside for matrimony.

The German intends to stay where he is until April at least. By that time definite announcement will have been made of the matching of Schmeling with the Miami winner for a heavyweight title bout in the Yankee stadium here in June. The match will be staged by the milk fund, the same charity that tossed Max in to give maulino Uzeudun a solid trouncing last June.

Thus, when Schmeling fights again, it will be after a lapse of a full year. It was a layoff twice that length that slowed up Jack Dempsey at Philadelphia, a year's rest hurt Gene Tunney at Chicago, and similar vacations have been taking the edge off famous heavyweights since the game began.

Apparently this doesn't bother Maxie's mind. He feels certain that he can always be a moving picture star.

Baseball Prospects are Brighter Here

The official announcement that the prospective East Texas Baseball league has been abandoned, and the calling of a meeting of the West Texas League at San Angelo for Sunday, has given new life to baseball fans here. A number of directors and officials of this city will go to San Angelo Sunday to get the "low down" on prospects for operating a circuit in this section this season. This meeting will be attended by representatives of all towns in the loop last year, a few from towns who are anxious to enter, and a number of club owners of the Texas League.

If help from the Texas League is offered in this part of the state it is believed that at least six cities and perhaps eight will open spring training by the middle of April. Plans will have to be rushed however, and definite decisions made before the last day of this month so that contracts can be mailed to ball players now on the roster of the clubs. All players who are not offered a contract before March 1st will be free agents and no club can claim them.

Practically every man who played with Ballinger during the close of the past season has written to officials here asking for information about his status. Several who played with the club last year but who are not under contract have also made application for berths.

A letter was received Thursday from "Lefty" Lybrand asking to be considered as a manager in case no one had been employed yet. A number of young ball players are writing in and requesting tryouts here during the training season. From states east of Texas where class D baseball is played, letters are also coming from players who want to come to this section of the state. Practically all these letters state that more ball players go up from this league than any other class D loop and give that as one reason for wanting to line up with some club in West Texas. Many local fans have stated to officials that they will be willing to contribute as much as they did last year and in some cases more, if there is a chance for professional baseball.

MASON CITIZENS SEEKING CHANGE IN DEER LAW

J. W. White, banker here, says there is a great deal of sentiment in favor of making a six-point deer the minimum size. The limit of $4 a day for hunting rights should be raised to $5 and 25 cents an acre charge for the season should be elevated to 30 cents an acre, he believes. More disregard of the hunting laws this season than at any other time in history has been reported by county officials, Mr. White says.

A sore throat may be eased by gargling just once, with quarter of a glass of water in which you have dissolved two tablets of Bayer Aspirin. You may have to repeat the treatment for a deep-seated inflammation like tonsillitis, but Bayer Aspirin is the one thing that relieves the infection. Don't forget this most sensible of all treatments for sore throat. The one the nurses all know, the one which all doctors concede to be effective. Mexican Laborers Form Organization

(By Associated Press) DALLAS, Feb. 20.—The Union of Mexican Laborers in the United States, which has established headquarters here, hopes eventually to have every Mexican worker in this country enrolled in its ranks.

The union was organized only a little more than a year ago and the first annual convention was held here this year. A president and a cabinet of 15 members conduct the affairs of the organization.

Houston, Cameron, Watts, Fort Worth, San Antonio, Dallas, Malakoff, Abilene, East Dallas, Waco, Rosser, Sweetwater, Greenville, and Los Angeles, Calif., were represented at the conclave.

The asserted purpose of the union is to better the social and financial conditions of the Mexican laborers. One of the chief objects is to remove the Mexicans from the United States charity lists. By means of the union dues the organization hopes to dispense its own charities.

Establishment of mutual insurance, schools, libraries and employment agencies are other parts of the ambitious program which the directors of the organization have outlined.

Although many of its members came in recent years from Mexico, the union opposes unrestricted immigration from that country. Restriction is necessary to improve the standards of both the United States and Mexican laborers in this country, it believes.

The union is trying to impress upon its members their duty as citizens of this country. It especially urges the payment of taxes. Officers say that officials of Mexico and Mexican diplomatic representatives in this country are in full accord with the movement.

The Mexican diplomatic representatives are said to be trying to obtain a permit for the operation of the organization anywhere in the United States. At present, the group operates under a Texas charter only and the condition has retarded its growth.

So far the organization has less than 2,000 members but many more are ready to become members as soon as the national permit is issued, it is said. The 5,000 members of the Mexican Beet growers' association of Colorado are ready to become members of the union and the Confederation of Mexican Workers of California, with a membership of 40,000 is working in harmony with the organization, officers assert. An employment agency and school are maintained here and a weekly newspaper is published. During the year the employment agency has been functioning. It is said to have furnished jobs to more than 1,000 persons.

MINT PRODUCERS YIELD TO COOPERATIVE MARKETING

(By Associated Press) SOUTH BEND, Ind., Feb. 20.—Cooperative marketing has won over peppermint growers of Indiana and Michigan, perhaps the most exclusive of farm producers.

For years the mint growers of this section, who supply more than 90 per cent of the world's supply, balked at the cooperative idea. Their market was assured, chewing gum and candy claiming most of their product. The old Kankakee marsh, with its muck and peat soil, was peculiarly adapted to peppermint growing.

However, peppermint oil that is refined from the leaves now sells for $2.75 a pound. It once was worth its weight in silver. In former days oil was stored in bank vaults.

"I worried all the time, and could not sleep well at night. Periodically I would suffer from pains in my back and sides. I would feel dull and dizzy."

"My sister had taken Cardui, and she persuaded me to try it. She said to me one day: 'If you will only try it, you will see for yourself how much good it will do you.' So I got a bottle of Cardui and began to take it. It was not long until I felt fine. I got stronger, and my nerves did not bother me any more. The pains stopped coming in my back, and I could do my work without any trouble. I think Cardui is a fine medicine."
