Tinkham Makes Grave Charges Against League

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, April 15.—The charge that the Anti-Saloon League has violated the federal corrupt practices act repeatedly was made today before the Senate lobby investigating committee by Representative George Tinkham, Republican, of Massachusetts.

The congressman declared that the league had collected and expended $87,000,000 in forty-three years. Tinkham further testified that only "nominal returns" had been made to the clerk of the House of sums used for "political purposes."

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Apr. 15.—The Senate today passed the House bill authorizing the secretary of agriculture to investigate cotton ginning and to establish experimental ginning plants and laboratories.

The measure now goes to the president.

1,920 Easter Eggs Donated for Hunt

Estes M. Lynn and Chas. Coombs completed a canvass of the business houses here Monday soliciting Easter eggs for the county-wide hunt here next Saturday afternoon. The committee met with excellent success and a check up showed 1920 eggs had been donated for the occasion.

Mr. Lynn stated that every man solicited was desirous of doing his part in getting the required number of hen eggs so that very few candy eggs if any will be needed. Each firm solicited also agreed to fix one gold egg and give a premium to the finder. These eggs will be empty and have the name of the firm inside. The finder will take it to the store and receive a worthwhile prize.

Mr. Lynn stated that eggs would be collected Friday afternoon and each store is requested to have its eggs ready for the collectors when they call. The eggs will be assembled at one place and Saturday at the proper time they will be hidden in three different parts of the city.

Three hunting grounds have already been arranged for and different ages will hunt at different places.

An invitation is being sent to all children of Runnels county to attend this free Easter egg hunt and bring their parents. Provision will be made for all who come and several thousand are expected to be on the courthouse lawn Saturday afternoon at 3:00 o'clock.

Completion of Highway Nears; More Road Open

The L. E. Whitman Construction Company is pouring concrete daily on highway No. 30 in an effort to complete the job in short order. Mr. Whitman stated Monday afternoon that he was expecting rain to stop operations at any time but that if there were no interruptions the cement work would be completed in eight more days. The big mixer is at the top of the hill just west of Miles and will soon meet the concrete at the Paint Rock railroad spur in the city limits of Miles.

After finishing pouring of cement there will be some shoulder work to be completed, however, a crew of teams and scrapers is already on this work and making good time. The road will be swept and marked when it is opened to the public.

Bridges and drainage structures will have to be filled in with two inches of asphalt.

Mr. Whitman stated that the past three months had been unusual weather for concrete work and few stops had been caused by weather conditions. January was practically a total loss to the contractors and only a little work

Treatment Sought For "Jake" Victims

(By Associated Press)
BOSTON, April 15.—Medical means for combatting cases of paralysis believed to have been caused by drinking Jamaica ginger were being sought here today with the toll over the state during the week-end two score.

The victims are suffering from partial paralysis of the limbs, but no deaths have occurred and none are believed to be in a serious condition.

Mexican School Has Best Poster

Two Runnels county schools have received blue ribbons and other prizes in the health poster contest held here in connection with the sixth district Parent-Teacher Association convention. The outstanding poster of the big display was one submitted by the local Mexican school. This poster in addition to receiving a blue ribbon and a gold pin will be sent to the state health department for filing. The poster pictures a baby in an ocean riding safely on a bottle of milk. The heading is "Saved" and it was picked from a large display here as the best of its class.

The Miller school won first place in the county contest with a double poster. One panel pictured a life from an infant to a healthy old lady of sixty-five living correct health rules. Another panel started with the infant and by dissipation went to a grave at 40 years of age.

The Norton school entered a health house which received a blue ribbon in the contest although was not classed as a poster. The small house is perfect in shape and everything is made of the things that a child should eat. Oatmeal, fruit and vegetables make up the building material.

Another winning poster was entered by the Camp Fire Girls of Ballinger. The subject of this picture is "Hike for Health" and shows a Camp Fire Girl taking her daily hike.

The assortment of health posters here was very fine and judging the best was difficult. Runnels county schools put many excellent posters in the contest and most of them were worthy of special mention.

Device Stacks Grain as Cut

SHELBY, S. D., Apr. 15.—(AP)—A new harvesting machine which stacks the headed grain as it is cut has been developed and used successfully by farmers here.

State Engineer G. M. Garrett opened two more miles of the road between Rowena and Miles Tuesday morning. This takes motorists to a convenient detour only a short distance from the city limits. Next Tuesday the road will be opened to the city limits of Miles and the detour from there will be short and over a good road.

Practically two-thirds of the highway from Ballinger to Tom Green county is through a territory where plenty of caliche is available for the shoulder. This material when wet and packed makes an excellent hard surface. A part of the road between Miles and Rowena, however, is through a black land belt and will be sticky in wet weather.

Unless some unexpected hindrance occurs the road will be completed and opened before the first of June. A celebration has been discussed but no program has been announced. Ballinger and San Angelo boosters hope to hold a joint celebration and invite guests from all along the route to meet at some central point when the road is completed.

Health Buttons for Kiddies by May 1

Miss Addie Alexander, public health nurse for Runnels county, is again active after illness which confined her to her home for a week.

Miss Alexander announced Tuesday that health buttons would be given in the Ballinger schools around May 1st. The exact date has not been set but will be worked out with the Parent-Teacher Association in a few days and arrangements made with the local school authorities to stage the program.

All children to receive a health button this year in addition to the other requirements, must have been vaccinated for small-pox and have had toxin anti-toxin against diphtheria.

The five points of the star on the state health button represents defects corrected, vaccination and toxin anti-toxin, health habits practiced, satisfactory grades, and satisfactory attitudes.

All children must be the correct weight, have no infected tonsils, good teeth and other qualifications before they are eligible to receive the buttons. The examinations early in the school year show what needs correcting in each child and these examinations are rechecked before the program when health buttons are given. Pupils who have no defects and who have made good grades and fulfilled all requirements are then notified to take part in the program.

Miss Alexander is preparing for the summer round-up and reports already eleven schools have signed up to hold the round-up this year. Nothing but pre-school children will be examined this summer. Infants will not be included in the work this year and only children who expect to enter school next fall will be taken.

Schools already signed up are: Winters, Crews, Eagle Branch, North Norton, Wingate, Bethel, Miles, Ballinger, Hatchel, Franklin and Drasco. About eight other schools are expected to sign up before the present term closes.

Opposes Supervision of Cotton Exchanges

(By Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Apr. 15.—Opposition to the Vinson bill to bring cotton exchanges under government supervision was registered before the House agriculture committee today by Philip Weld, president of the New York cotton exchange.

Weld said it was a mistake to have legislation enacted that would bring exchanges under regulation because such action is unnecessary, adding that the cotton market can not be manipulated.

Love's Plea for Place On Ticket Contested

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, April 15.—Declaring that Senator Thomas B. Love, of Dallas had "abandoned his membership in the Democratic party," and "forfeited his right to become the party's candidate for governor," attorneys for B. W. Wilcox, chairman, and members of the State Democratic Executive Committee, today filed an answer to Love's application in the Supreme Court of Texas for a mandamus to compel the committee to place his name as candidate for governor on the primary ballots.

The case will be submitted to the court tomorrow and the tribunal will act directly on the application for mandamus and the motion to dismiss it for want of jurisdiction.

It probably will be several weeks before a decision is reached.

Census Count to Give Texas 2 or 3 New Representatives

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Apr. 15.—Guessing the suits of the decennial census is national indoor sport which is rapidly gaining in favor. To Texas politicians, however, it is something else and many of them are, figuratively speaking, burning midnight oil in an effort to get their names on tickets for offices that are based on population.
 There seems to be little doubt that Texas will be entitled to at least two additional representatives in the national House when figures for the 1930 census are known. Politicians see two more opportunities for political prestidigitations.
 Election officials, however, have thrown cold water on the proposed candidacies of men seeking the new posts with the statement that census returns will not be completed in time to permit the election of two more Texas congressmen at the November voting. Ambitious politicians must wait two years more, according to a court interpretation of the election laws.
 It has been proven in previous cases that a candidate can include in population figures to become a congressman. Texas and other States have had candidates who, in advance of the census count, have put their names on the State ticket as candidates for congressman-at-large.
 In some instances these candidates have been elected, continuing on the census figures being too enough to justify a new congressman. The minimum on such a new congressman may be added by a state is a population gain of 30,000. The supreme court has held consistently that a candidate who runs in anticipation of the census count, even if he cannot prove an extra congressman was permitted, cannot office.
 Office-seekers must wait until returns from the census are in. Congress has ratified the new apportionment. Congress has agreed the next allocation will be for 1931 and become effective for 1932 elections.
 Political experts have estimated at least 23 congressmen will be elected while about that many more will be gained through shifts in population. States which these experts believe will gain a loss are Missouri, loss of two each; Alabama, Kansas, Louisiana, Maine, Massachusetts, Nebraska, New York, North Dakota, Pennsylvania, Virginia, one each.
 California is expected to show the greatest gain and may be entitled to six new congressmen; Oregon may gain four, and Texas and New Jersey may be entitled to two more each.

Belgian Wets Claim Liquor Law Victory

BRUSSELS, Apr. 15.—Revision of the Belgian liquor laws has been recommended by a special investigating committee and wets of the country are claiming a victory.
 They base this upon the fact that initial drastic prohibition suggestions entertained by the investigators were abandoned under pressure of public opinion rather than upon any great concession in the recommendations themselves.

The law now allows free traffic in light wines and beer but limits the sale of spirits to licensed merchants and forbids the sale of less than two quarts to an individual customer. Moreover owners of cafes and restaurants are not permitted to keep spirits on their premises even though their homes are in the same buildings as their establishments.
 The committee suggested that restaurateurs have the same privilege of private consumption of spirits as other citizens. It also recommends that the minimum sale be reduced to one quart, that licenses should be issued only to wine dealers and be limited in number and that private clubs should be barred from selling spirits to members.

Modern Eskimo Maids Have all Flapper Wiles

Masked Eskimo girls of today, such as chief's daughter (left) with baby carried in native fashion, and Eskimo school teacher (right) are as up-to-date as their American sisters.

(By Associated Press)
SEATTLE, Apr. 15.—A beauty expert visiting Alaska would find it hard to distinguish between Eskimo and her sister in the states today.

Those who visualize the Eskimo maiden as a flat-nosed, swarthy, high cheek-boned miss who chews blubber would be surprised should they go to Alaska, says Jonathan H. Wagner, chief of the Alaska division of the United States education office.

The pure blood Eskimo will be extinct in another 30 years, predict scientists who recently visited the Far North, but that is nothing to worry about, says Wagner, whose headquarters are here.

The beauty that prevails among Eskimo girls is in no danger of vanishing, for the native population is increasing rather than dying out, he declares.
 Accurate figures on the Eskimo population are difficult to obtain because of the assimilating process that is underway, but without regard to racial stock the number is growing from 3 to 5 per cent yearly, Wagner states.

Records kept by school teachers show that in every section of Alaska births exceeded deaths among the Eskimos last year.

CONOCO Gasoline is actually tested dozens of times in the process of refining—but it is called Triple Tested Gasoline because of all of these tests converged into three main tests—for starting—acceleration—power!

These are the things that motorists want—and are entitled to get—from the gasoline they use. A gasoline may be ever so powerful—but if it is not volatile enough to start the motor quickly and give rapid acceleration in traffic—it will not satisfy today's demands. An easy starting, swift acceleration, are mere snares if they are not backed up with power for every need—economical power!

CONOCO Gasoline meets all three of these important practical tests—that's the reason so many people insist on Triple Tested—

Mississippi Lady Says She Felt Stronger, Better After Taking Cardui.

Wood, Miss.—Mrs. W. D. of 1313 Carrollton Avenue, Tex., has written of her use of Cardui as follows:
 "At five years ago, I was in the 4th. I suffered a great deal in my sides and in the part of my body. I was weak, nervous, and at the least noise like I must scream. Times I would have to go to bed. My head would ache. It took me three or four days over these spells. My friend told me to take Cardui. I did. After my first bottle, some improvement. When I taken three bottles, I felt stronger and better than I had in time. I did not have any of those bad spells. I certainly recommend Cardui."
 "Thousands of other women received valuable assistance to them through their health. Cardui is a purely vegetable medicinal value of the herbs which Cardui is extracted have been known in the history of medicine for more than six hundred years."

In NEW YORK THEATERS

By Deming Seymour
NEW YORK, Apr. 15.—Zita Johann, one of the most capable of Broadway's younger actresses, is rather better than the play which brings her back to the stage after more than a year's absence.

She is in "Trojka," a drama of a Siberian prison camp which Lulu Vollmer has adapted from the Hungarian and which Laura D. Wilk presents.

As Natascha she is the girl on the Island of Sakhalin with whom three men are in love: (1) Semion, a prisoner working in the mines, who has a wife and children back in the section of Russia where once he was a lieutenant in the czar's army; (2) Ivan, a doctor of philosophy who is Semion's fellow prisoner and comrade; (3) the Russian captain in command of the prison camp.

It is Semion whom Natascha loves, for he took her in, an orphaned waif, and later made her his unlawful wife.

When the revolution of 1917 brings freedom to the prisoners Semion gets ready to go home, leaving Natascha behind, but Ivan plans to stay and to have Natascha for himself. This inflames Semion and he and Ivan fight. Semion is killed.

Natascha, assuming that Semion has gone, leaves with the army captain, and Ivan, on learning this, kills himself.

The play ought to be a struggle between the two men, but Miss Johann's more capable handling of Natascha's role projects her so sharply into the picture that it rather dulls the sense of conflict.

Thus the play becomes chiefly an interesting picture of Russian exiles' lives, with some well-turned observations on man's misuse of free and with as excellent acting by Miss Johann as her part permits.

The Home Fires

A little comedy called "House Afire" was a minor event of a minor week in the Broadway theater.

It's about the suburban housewife in New Jersey who is glad when her home burns down because she wants to live in a city apartment, but its thin plot is stretched so much to fill three acts that it doesn't always hold water.

The wife, of course, had more to do with the conflagration than was deduced by her husband and neighbors until Act III. Even Betty Blythe and Jack Hazard couldn't make "House Afire" blaze very brightly.

Leiber's King Lear

Fritz Leiber, continuing his New York engagement in Shakespearean repertory, surprised Broadwayites with his popularity and with the extent of his talents as the second week of his engagement revealed them.

Doing the seldom-played "King Lear," she showed himself capable of bringing a god deal of life to a role that is so much too big for any Shakespearean actor nowadays that few of them attempt it.

UNIVERSITY RECOVERS FIRST FOSSILS COLLECTED

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Apr. 15.—A collection of fossils, gathered in the first geological survey conducted by the University of Texas and later scattered over the state, has been recovered and is being placed on display in the permanent museum of the bureau of economic geology. The recoveries were made by W. S. Adkins, University geologist.

The first expedition sent out by the University was the Dumble survey, 1889-1894, and a large number of fossils was collected. No effort had been made to keep at the bottom of what is known was scattered. The fossils include a type of starfish, said to be the only specimen of the kind ever discovered. They were taken from a branch of Bouldin Creek at the bottom of what is now as the Austin chalk formation. Found in a slab of float weighing about 1200 pounds, the fish was named Austinaster. An interesting fact about the Austinaster is that they occur only in thin layers of yellowish substance. The theory has been advanced that the yellow substance is volcanic ash erupted by a prehistoric volcano which settled into the ocean and smothered the starfish.

Another specimen of unusual interest, a perfect fossil of starfish of an unknown species, was found on the Pecos river near Pandale. It is preserved in a flint boulder.

Chinese Scholar is On Chicago Faculty

SHANGHAI, April 15.—Dr. Hu Shih, Ph.D., has given up his work as president of a local college to accept a faculty appointment at the University of Chicago. He is the latest among Far Eastern scholars to go from this country to instruct the youth of America on oriental subjects. Dr. Hu is a graduate of Cornell (B.A. 1914) and Columbia universities, having received his doctorate from the latter institution in 1917 when he was only 26 years old. He is recognized as one of the foremost thinkers of present day China and has lectured in both the United States and England.

His fearless thinking has sometimes brought him into conflict with government authorities. He has been a severe critic of the nationalist regime.

In addition to his work at Chicago Dr. Hu is to lecture this spring at Yale.

Runs 3,000 German Depot Restaurants

(By Associated Press)
BERLIN, Apr. 15.—The great dispenser of pigs knuckles with sauerkraut and beer in Germany is the Germany Federal Railway. The government-owned road has earned the title of the world's biggest inn-keeper because no less than 3,000 station restaurants are under its supervision. It does not operate these places, but it controls their prices, types of service and quality of food. The job of administering these 3,000 depot and food emporia devolves upon Herr Fritz Coullon, Dr. Pischel. He is truly the gastronomic czar of Germany. He runs the restaurants, see to it that pigs knuckles do not cost less than 2.75 marks at Heidelberg while they are priced at 2 marks at Leipzig. Following 3,000 bills of fare each week he makes sure that hungry travelers are not made subject to such discrimination, is in itself no small task.

The blend that revolutionized smoking

THE INCOMPARABLE BLEND of Camel Cigarettes is probably the most important discovery in the history of smoking. It made cigarette smoking popular. Camel changed the smoking habits of the nation and has given pleasure to more millions of people than any other cigarette.

This exclusive blend assures in Camel a smoothness, a mildness and a mellow fragrance that cannot be imitated. It preserves all the excellent qualities of the choice tobaccos of which Camels are made and melds them all together into a delightful harmony of smoke pleasure. It sets Camel apart as a cigarette of distinctive character and provides for Camel smokers the very highest form of smoking luxury.

ROTARIANS MEET AT TEMPLE

When the more than 800 Rotary delegates of the 41st district convene in Temple on April 23-24 there will be one of the biggest programs in the history of the Rotary conferences with many prominent speakers. Entertainment for Rotarians and Rotary-ans will include golf tournaments and socials at the beautiful Temple Country club, pictured above. Sessions will be in the new $150,000 Municipal auditorium (below).

TEMPLE, Apr. 15.—A program of intensive interest has been arranged for the 800 or 1,000 Rotarians and Rotary-Anns in the 41st district conference in Temple April 23-24, according to district governor Bernard Bryant of Stamford.

Roy Ronald, director in Rotary International will be here, along with many past district governors and others prominent in Rotary.

Temple and Belton Rotary clubs have banquets, luncheons, entertainment, golf tournaments and a full program for the visitors and more than 100 committees are busy on the details of entertaining those two days, not pretentiously but thoroughly. The opening night will be featured by a banquet tendered by the Temple Rotary club, Frank Thompson, Jr., president of the Temple club welcoming the visitors. There will be an address by an outstanding Rotary leader and then chiefly entertainment.

The Rotary-Anns will be entertained but will attend the morning sessions at Municipal auditorium here as a very worthwhile general program has been worked out. The district governor will deliver the keynote talk and past district governors will be introduced.

One program will be on "development of the individual Rotarian in his desire and capacity for service." Talks on this general theme will be by Dr. T. D. Brooks of Waco; Dr. P. W. Horn, president of Texas Tech; Bruce Boney will speak on "What a Man Can Do for a Boy" and Dean Joe McConnel will talk on "What a Man Can Do for a Boy in His Vacation."

In group meetings, Harry Merfeld will be chairman of the club service group and on the program are: Allen Early, Joe Weaver, Tom Taylor, Roy Gilliland, Neil Judd, Jas. E. White, W. I. Pratt.

H. C. Glenn of Temple is chairman of the vocational service group and on this program will be: Joe Hill, Joseph Kimbrough, Clyde Tomlinson, Jim P. Stinson. The community service group is in charge of W. F. Barnett with talks scheduled by Roy Nichols, Bill Ward, Ed Shumway, Nick Holland, W. T. Strange. Bob Lench is chairman of the international service committee.

Dr. R. T. Wilson is in charge of all hotel reservations, filling them in the order received. Railroads are granting fare and a half to the convention through the certificate plan. Rotary club secretaries being supplied with blanks.

The Ballinger Rotary Club will be well represented at the district convention of Rotarians held at Temple on Wednesday and Thursday of next week. Three delegates have already been elected to make the trip for the club and represent it on committees and in the sessions. The delegates named by the local club are Alfred Cramer, president; Joe Neff, secretary; and Paul Trimmer.

Other members are planning to make the trip if they can arrange their business affairs. The program at Temple is attractive and will inspire many Rotarians to attend the convention from this section.

Educational Growth In 20 Counties Large

The committee on educational progress made a very interesting report to the Mid-Texas Educational Association at Brady last week showing the progress that had been made in twenty counties during the past two years.

The report is printed below to show the great extension of this work in this section of the country:

"To the Mid-Texas Teachers Association:

"Your committee on educational progress received replies from 46 counties and city superintendents to ten brief questions concerning educational conditions in the twenty counties served by the association.

"First—Tax Increases. Nineteen out of forty-six superintendents report tax increases in forty-five districts, ranging from three to seventy-five cents on the hundred dollars. Some districts with maximum rates have made higher valuations.

"Second—Student Activities. Lampasas and Brownwood had district basketball championships. Richland Springs had county championship in Interscholastic League for 1929. Dublin is active in glee club and Hamilton county in 4-H and P.-T. A. work. San Saba has honor system in the library and Rannels county is 100% in Interscholastic League membership.

"Third—27 superintendents report 46 new departments introduced.

"Fourth—33 out of 46 superintendents show increased credits to a total of 176 units. Several schools have all the credits needed.

"Fifth—35 superintendents report increased enrollment. Nolan, Taylor, Tom Green, Brown, and McCulloch leading. Increased enrollment is largely in the cities. The scholastic census for the 20 counties in 1928 was 81,249; for 1929, 82,180, showing a slight increase. "Sixth—30 superintendents have an increase in teaching force. More than 200 new teachers have been employed in the last two years in the twenty counties, the cities showing greatest increase.

"Seventh—School consolidation is proceeding rapidly. Sixteen superintendents have made consolidations. 28 consolidations have been effected. Comanche leads with 8 and Brown follows with 7. In Brown county the number of school districts has been reduced from 55 to 30.

"Eighth—Consolidation has been accompanied by transportation. Nineteen superintendents report 85 trucks in operation. Comanche county leads with 30 trucks. Brown county is second with 19 trucks in operation.

"Ninth—26 superintendents report 61 new buildings constructed during the past two years.

"Tenth—The following building program has been completed, or bonds voted: San Angelo $310,000; Brady, $135,000; Brown county, $118,500; Santa Anna, $100,000; Abilene, $100,000; Tom Green county, $98,000; Eastland city schools, $75,000; Eden, $65,000;

Hamilton city schools, $50,000; Brownwood, $46,000; Baird, $45,000; Cisco, $42,000; Goldwaite, $40,000; Rannels county, $35,000; Stephenville, $35,000; Richland Springs, $30,000; Coleman city schools, $30,000; Hamilton county, $23,000; Taylor county, $20,000; San Saba county, $14,000; Erath county, $12,000; Coke county, $12,000; De Leon, $2,500; Paint Rock, $1,000; Bronie, $1,000. "The total program for new buildings in the twenty counties has been $1,491,600."

"Found at Last Konjola is A Real Medicine"

Declares Oklahoma City Man—"Gave Speedy Relief In Stubborn Case." He says.

MR. ARTHUR CASTLEBERRY

"Three years ago my stomach, liver and kidneys went back on me and then came rheumatism, said Mr. Arthur Castleberry, 2268 Broadway, Oklahoma City. "And how I suffered. To make matters worse, every medicine I tried failed to do any good. I kept getting worse. Meals meant misery, and I had dull, sickening backache all the time. My complexion was bad, and my face was covered with pimples.

But at last I found a real medicine, and that medicine is Konjola. It went right to work in my stubborn case and gave speedy relief. I noticed improvement the very first week, and when I had finished the fifth bottle I was overjoyed to find that I could eat anything I liked, that my kidneys and liver were functioning as they should, and that my complexion had cleared up. The aches and pains of rheumatism are gone, and I am feeling great again."

Konjola, a compound of 32 valuable medicinal ingredients, works with the sufferer's food, eliminating poisons and restoring normal activity to the ailing organs. From six to eight bottles are recommended as a fair treatment.

Konjola is sold in Ballinger, Texas at the Weeks Drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

"Rio Rita" to End Run at the Palace Tonight

Bebe Daniels and John Boles sing their famous love duet for the last time tonight from the screen of the Palace Theatre.

"Rio Rita," the all-talking, all-musical Radio Pictures' extravaganza, closes a three-day run with its last performance this evening.

The film version of the Ziegfeld stage hit has had an eminently successful stay in Ballinger. The first talker to draw successive "repeats" among local film fans, the tuneful romance of the Rio Grande country has been declared the most sumptuous spectacle screened here.

With many of its scenes in technicolor, with sets and costumes and a cast of hundreds, the Radio Pictures version of "Rio Rita" may be truly said to have "out-glorified" even Ziegfeld himself.

Bert Wheeler, Robert Woolsey, Dorothy Lee, Don Alvarado, Eva Rosita and Georges Renevart head the large supporting cast which Luther Reed directed.

The score, with several new numbers in addition to the original music of the stage production, was written by Harry Tierney, composer of "Kid Boots," "Irene" and other musical comedy successes.

Wall Street, Scene of New Wm. Haines Laugh-Getter

"The Girl Said No," starring William Haines, with a supporting cast which includes Leila Hyams, Marie Dressler, Polly Moran, Phyllis Crane, Francis X. Bushman, Jr., and Wilbur Mack, will open tomorrow at the Palace Theatre. The picture, Haines' second all-talking vehicle, was adapted from an original story by A. P. Younger and was directed by Sam Wood. The dialogue was written by Charles MacArthur, co-author of "The Front Page."

Haines appears as young man just graduated from college and making his debut into the business world. His futile attempts at keeping his job and gaining the affection of the boss' attractive secretary at the same time are said to make a riotous comedy filled with the typical Haines laugh-getting tricks. The star is also given a chance at straight drama at the tragic point of the plot when the hero's father dies, leaving responsibility for the support of the family on his totally unprepared son. How he turns over a new leaf and finally puts over an important business deal, winning the beautiful secretary to boot, comprises a story which it is reported is hard to match for humor and thorough entertainment.

The brokerage sequences are said to show the entire workings of a Wall Street concern with the "board," tickers and financial details carefully reproduced. Haines, who was a bond salesman before entering film work, is believed to have found it comparatively easy to play a role with which he had already become familiar through actual experience.

The American Legion post at Lowell, Mich., will plant 30,000 pine trees this year.

Board Elects Teachers; New Methods Adopted

The board of trustees of the Ballinger independent school district met in regular session Monday night to consider applications of teachers for next year, and other business at hand. All the trustees were present and the meeting lasted for several hours before all business was finally disposed of.

A plan adopted by the board will give teachers who remain in the local schools for three years an increase in salary each year, providing their work is satisfactory. A teacher elected will commence at the lowest salary the first year and in his third year will receive the maximum stipend for that position. The board believes this will be an incentive for good teachers to stay with the schools longer and will eliminate the large number who teach one year and go to a better place the next, causing a vacancy which must be filled by a new teacher.

The new law which provides that teachers may be elected on two-year contracts was applied in the election of three teachers. The trio who were elected for two years Monday night were Mrs. W. A. Bridwell, Miss Maryatt Smith, and Pelton Wright.

The board adopted a motion that no bills be allowed for supplies unless a written order is given from the commissioner of supplies or from Supt. H. C. Lyon. A division of the supplies to be bought is between Mr. Lyon and the commissioner and the one doing the purchasing will issue the merchant a written order which must accompany the bill to the board.

The following teachers were elected in the primary department for next year:

Mrs. W. A. Bridwell principal, Miss Eugenia Suber, Miss Gladys Jones, Mrs. H. C. Lyon, Miss Malcorine Wardlaw, Miss Grace Murchison, Miss Eloise Walker, Miss Faye Clark, principal at West Ward, Miss Helen Anderson and Miss Zemma Street. Miss Street is being transferred from the central elementary building to the primary building for next year.

Miss Gladys Geistman, teacher of writing and drawing in the central building for the past year, has been made supervisor of writing, drawing and public school art. She will have charge of this work from the first grade through the seventh and will operate similar to the public school music teacher. It is believed that this will be a better arrangement than previously. Herebefore pupils were in the fifth grade before the instructor came in contact with them and their writing habits were already formed. The instructor now will have charge of the pupils in the first grade, starting them to writing and drawing, and will supervise their work until they complete the seventh grade.

Miss Katherine Todd was re-elected teacher of public school music.

A change of methods used in the central elementary school was announced. The departmental system was abolished at the meeting Monday, and a teacher elected to look after each room. A number of reasons developed for making this change. One of the arguments for the departmental method was that one teacher could teach some one subject better and students would receive specialized instruction.

Arguments against the system were numerous. One advanced was that discipline is not as good. Teachers going from one room to another do not feel responsibility for any particular group and each teacher uses a different method, which confuses the pupils and does not get the results. There also is less personal interest between teacher and student. Another serious objection is the overloading of children with lessons. One teacher does not know what the others have assigned and each is only looking at one subject. Many times a student is down in one

Oil should clean and protect as well as lubricate—says household expert

The oiling of household devices presents a problem different from that of factory equipment, says a nationally known housekeeping expert. Household appliances are not used constantly and therefore collect dirt and rust when idle. Consequently, oil intended for general household use should clean and protect as well as lubricate.

3-in-One, a scientific blend of mineral, vegetable and animal oils, does these three things better than any other oil. It costs a little more to buy but much less to use, for it will save you many dollars in repairs and replacements, on sewing machines, vacuum cleaners, lawn mowers, washers, the electric motors of fans, refrigerators, ironers and similar household devices. At good stores everywhere, in 15c and 30c sizes. For your protection, look for the trade mark "3-in-One" printed in Red on every package.

subject because the load is too heavy. With one teacher doing all the room work it is believed the backward child can be carefully coached on a given subject, the load lightened in some other, and a passing grade can be made in all subjects.

Teachers elected for central elementary are Miss Nellie Bigby and Miss Irene Trousdale. This leaves a number of positions to be filled later.

Teachers elected in the high school were: H. C. Lyon, superintendent, Miss Maryatt Smith, Mrs. Bessie Liddell Lowe, Miss Ulis Newton, Miss Elizabeth Parker, Harley Davis, Carr, Felton Wright, and Miss Helen Brewer.

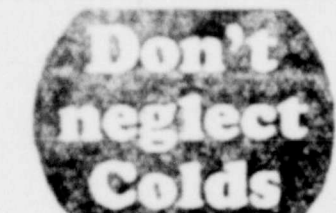

Mrs. Earl Webb was elected teacher of the Mexican school. Mr. and Mrs. H. K. Robinson will teach the negro school.

Teachers who did not apply for positions here were: J. B. Pace, Mrs. H. C. Spencer, Miss Sydney Sturges, M. J. Weaver, Mrs. Joe Forman, Miss Hazel Hamilton, and Miss Armina Timmons. M. E. Irby, superintendent of schools at Omaha, Texas, was elected principal of the high school Monday night. Mr. Irby is married and has one child. He is 32 years old, a graduate of the East Texas State Teachers College at Commerce, a member of the Methodist Church, and comes from a prominent East Texas family. He has been teaching for the past ten years and has made a remarkable record in school work.

Miss Wynis Greer was elected teacher of advanced English in the high school. She has had three years experience in teaching, is a graduate of McMurry College, and at present is teaching at Stamford. Miss Greer lacks one summer course of obtaining her master's degree. Seven vacancies are yet to be filled and one extra teacher will be added at central elementary. The addition is necessary because Miss Geistman has been made supervisor of writing, drawing and public school art.

Supt. Lyon stated that the manner of selecting teachers for remaining vacancies would be the same as had been in practice here for the past three years. Qualification and experience will be carefully considered and teachers without experience will be taken only when there is no applicant for the place with experience.

Other instructors named Monday night were: Miss Louise Doss, piano; Miss Nona Diltz, speech arts; and Miss Hortense Holt, art. Misses Doss and Diltz will occupy rooms in the high school building as formerly, while Miss Holt will be assigned a room in central elementary building.

Highway Tunnelled In Cliff Yields Sweeping Panorama

Tourists on way to national park camp sites (left) may now use Zion-Mount Carmel tunnel highway (right) cut through solid rock at elevation of 4,000 feet.

(By Associated Press) SALT LAKE CITY, Apr. 15.—A mile-long road carved through solid rock 4,000 feet up will open this summer.

It is part of the Zion-Mount Carmel highway in Utah which connects Zion and Bryce Canyon national parks.

The road ascends over and through giant cliffs and shortens the distance between the parks from 158 to 88 miles.

Zig-zagging over the slopes of Pine Creek canyon in a series of six switch backs it finally reaches the awe-inspiring tunnel which runs along for 5600 feet just inside the sandstone cliffs.

At intervals openings have been broken out of the cliff side and the road widens so that cars can be parked and the occupants gaze out upon the panorama of

Pre-Easter Meeting Draws Good Crowd

Attendance at the First Methodist Church Tuesday morning for the second day services of the pre-Easter religious campaign was practically doubled over that for Monday. Rev. T. E. Bowman, pastor, made a short inspirational talk and dismissed promptly after one hour. The morning services will start on time and close on time all this week.

A good sized congregation was present Monday night to hear the pastor discuss the subject "Does God Answer Prayer?" Rev. Bowman told of riding on a train one day and hearing two men talk about religious matters until one finally asked the other if he believed there was anything to prayer. One felt there was something to it and the other thought it amounted to nothing. With this thought in mind the preacher built the sermon and used scriptures to prove that prayer had been answered and the Holy Ghost sent down to greatly bless those who supplicated.

Rev. Bowman asked the question of how many were sure that one of their prayers had been answered. He declared the power of the Holy Ghost was more needed in the church today than on the day of Pentecost. Telling of Paul as he went into one of the churches to listen and find something lacking, asked if they had received the Holy Ghost. They replied that they had not so much as heard of the Holy Ghost. "Many people are trying to live right today but have not received the joy expected at their confession," the speaker declared.

The speaker said that it is easy to organize churches and preach and sing but that no good can be accomplished until the members receive the power of God. People without this power cannot interest those who know nothing of God.

He urged Christians to get rid of their timidity and learn to speak the word of God boldly. He pointed out that many, when asked to lead in prayer or other branches of religious endeavor, were afraid to do so, and answered "I can't."

The preacher closed his message with the example of the two disciples in prison who prayed and sang and the hand of God shook the doors open, and the stocks from their feet, and released them as free men.

Rev. Bowman announced his subject for Tuesday night as "Tracing of a Sin." The meetings will continue all this week with services both morning and evening.
