100 Persons Arrested In Dallas Dry Raids

(By Associated Press)
DALLAS, May 31.—More than a hundred persons were arrested here during last night and today in sweeping raids in the business and residential districts. The raids were carried out by fifty federal prohibition agents under George Hammons, of Fort Worth, deputy commissioner of the prohibition enforcement bureau. One hundred complaints were filed, and over 500 gallons of liquor seized. Fruit stands, parking lots and cleaning and pressing establishments were raided. Beer parlor patrons in most cases were released.

Alexandria Flood Makes Many Flee

(By Associated Press)
ALEXANDRIA, La., May 31.—Central Louisiana flood district levees are holding firmly today as the crest of swollen Red River bore down on this city. The water gauge showed thirty-nine and four-tenths feet or three and a half feet above flood stage. Suburban residents evacuated their homes yesterday when it appeared the protecting dyke would break at any time. Two bridges are under water and traffic is paralyzed.

GOOD ROADS BOOSTERS TO MEET AT CADDO

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, May 31.—Gov. Moody and good roads enthusiasts from Texas and Louisiana will converge at Caddo Lake of the boundary between the states on June 13 to discuss plans for making that spot a national park. Gov. Moody will head a motorcade of members of the state highway commission, state officials and others over King's Highway or the old San Antonio road, from the Rio Grande through San Antonio, Austin, Brenham, Old Washington—the state's first capitol site—Crockett and Nacogdoches to Caddo Lake. The party will start out on June 16. The governors of Louisiana, Arkansas and Oklahoma have been invited to meet with the Texans.

PORTUGUESE WOMEN COPS MUST BE SIX FEET TALL

(By Associated Press)
LISBON, May 31.—Half a dozen six-foot Amazons will comprise Portugal's first cops of police women.

The requirement that they be at least six feet in height ruled out most of the 350 women who applied. Candidates also must be not more than 35 years of age, unmarried and possess a college education.

The six women chosen for the initial squad are undergoing rigorous training before undertaking their duties of watching over erring women and minors.

Later, when the force is increased, police women will be attached to frontier stations to apprehend female smugglers.

Miss Addie Lee Smith, of Pampa, Texas, is visiting Miss LeBelle Barker. Miss Smith formerly taught in the Ballinger schools, but for the past several years has taught in the Pampa high school.

Coombs Named President WTCC; No Opposition

(By Associated Press)
ABILENE, May 31.—Without opposition, Charles Coombs, Stamford attorney, was elected president of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce at the unit directors' breakfast today. Coombs was one of the two vice-presidents and treasurer of the organization last year. Houston Harte, of San Angelo, was reelected a vice-president; Cliff Caldwell, of Abilene, being named to the other vice-presidency. D. A. Bandeen, formerly of El Paso, was reelected manager, and R. V. Colbert, treasurer.

Decoration Service Sunday Eve at 6:00

Every citizen of Ballinger is asked to attend the Decoration Day service to be held at Evergreen Cemetery Sunday afternoon at 6:00 o'clock. A short but interesting program will be presented beginning promptly at that hour and will conclude with flowers being placed on the grave of every war veteran as a rifle salute is fired by a squad of soldiers from the national guard company.

Six o'clock was selected as the hour so that citizens would not be denied their Sunday afternoon drive, and because it would not interfere with attending church services, which begin at 8:00 p. m. The program will last only about 30 minutes and there will be plenty of time following the program to have supper and go to church.

Rev. F. M. Crabtree, pastor of the First Christian Church, will deliver the principal address. Rev. Crabtree is an interesting speaker and it will be a fine opportunity for those from other denominations to hear him.

Music will be furnished by the Ballinger Band during the program and taps will be sounded at the close of the service by bandmaster H. H. Carsey. When taps is blown all present are asked to face the west and give the civilian salute. This is done by the women placing their right hand over their heart, and by gentlemen removing their hats and holding them over the heart with the right hand.

Members of the American Legion Auxiliary spent all of Saturday gathering and arranging flowers. Flowers at this season are scarce and it was a difficult matter to secure enough to arrange approximately 70 bouquets. Rev. E. W. McLaurin, chairman of the committee, stated Saturday that everything was in readiness and would be carried out as formerly announced.

MISS HELEN BREWER RESIGNS FROM FACULTY

Miss Helen Brewer, teacher of history in the Ballinger high school for the past five years, has tendered her resignation to the board for the coming year. This announcement was made Saturday morning by H. C. Lyon, superintendent here.

Miss Brewer has accepted a position as instructor at Southwestern University, Georgetown, and also will study there for her master's degree. Miss Brewer graduated from Southwestern and since that time has been teaching here.

The faculty here was completed until this resignation. A teacher probably will be elected to fill the vacancy at the next regular meeting of the board.

It was with deep regret that the trustees accepted Miss Brewer's resignation. She has been one of the most popular and efficient teachers in the school, and has taken great interest in the religious and civic activities of the city. For several years she has been pianist and organist at the First Methodist Church, and a diligent worker in the young people's department of the church and Sunday school.

Mrs. Edward E. Gann attended the races recently attired in a light blue silk suit.

Negro Dies from Wounds Inflicted by Mob Members

Abilene Invaded By Ballingerites

Ballingerites were in evidence everywhere at Abilene Friday. "Spirit of Ballinger" hat-bands being visible from all points of the compass. It was recognized that Ballinger had one of the largest delegations present with the exception of Ft. Worth and Dallas, and both of these cities' delegations came in on large special trains.

The Ballinger delegation did not stage a regular parade during the day. At the time of arrival the Ballinger Band was in the musical contest and later in the day it was impossible to assemble all the group at any one time. The band, however, paraded the town, staging a number of concerts and drew large audiences. The local band's music on the march was snappy and the new uniforms gave the musicians a fine appearance on the streets.

No announcements of winners in the band contest were made Friday, but all the bands were heard by the judge, Herbert L. Clark. Winners will be announced in each class late this afternoon or tonight. About 30 bands played before Mr. Clark Friday afternoon, and a number of the visiting bands did not enter the contest in any class, playing only street tunes for their delegations. The Ballinger Band met heavy competition in the Plainview Band. The latter organization was large and had a much better instrumentation than the local music makers. Local men who heard the concerts by the two bands expressed doubt as to the outcome.

A number of Ballinger citizens remained over Friday evening to hear the massed band concert at Parramore Field under the direction of Herbert L. Clark. Two hundred and seven musicians were selected from 40 bands, and after a rehearsal Thursday, presented an excellent concert before a crowd of approximately 3,000 people.

All downtown streets were roped off and no cars allowed where throngs were thickest. Street cars only were permitted to pass the cordon, but nothing else halted the many parades which were constantly in progress.

Ballinger headquarters were maintained at the Minter Dry Goods Company store, with W. A. Minter acting as host for the delegation. All members of the local group were received courteously at this store and it was the general meeting place during the day.

Mayor W. C. McCarver, of Ballinger, was elected as a director of the West Texas Chamber of Commerce Friday and will serve for the ensuing year. Secretary J. D. Motley is chairman of district No. 9 and is a busy man during the convention, looking after the interests of the fourteen counties in his district. A nice booth in the exhibit building shows the progress of this district in many industrial lines.

The convention will close tonight, but many delegations left for their homes late Friday.

(By Associated Press)
LAKEHURST, N. J., May 31.—"Rolling up from Rio" on the next to the last leg of its four-continent flight the Graf Zeppelin arrived at the naval air station here today.

The Graf came into port under the escort of the United States navy dirigible Los Angeles and half a dozen planes.

Fishing Boat Sinks; Fifteen are Lost

(By Associated Press)
SANTA MONICA, Calif., May 31.—Fifteen persons, passengers on the fishing boat Ameco, which foundered offshore yesterday, are officially reported missing today. The bodies of three victims, recovered last night, are all that had been found.

The boat was capsized by a huge wave which struck it broadside as it headed for the shore during a squall. The rush of the passengers to one side to avoid the wind-flung spray is said to have been partly responsible for the disaster. Searchers said they did not expect the bodies of the other victims to come ashore for days.

ZOO ANIMALS TEMPTED TO NIGHT LIFE HABITS

(By Associated Press)
INDEPENDENCE, Kans., May 31.—Night baseball is fast, hit producing, apparently bringing a revival of the art of base-stealing, and pleasing to many fans—but not to the keeper of the zoo adjacent to the flood-lighted Western association park here. The zoo animals have mistaken man's artificial daylight for the real thing, and their keeper is worried about their loss of sleep while the huge reflectors light a tract five-eighths of a mile in radius. He hopes no double-headed are on the summer's night baseball program.

OKLAHOMA CITY, May 31.—Henry Argo, negro, died here at noon today in the University of Oklahoma Hospital from wounds suffered when a mob sought to lynch him at Chickasha during the night for attacking a white woman.

The black was brought here for emergency treatment after being shot and stabbed by members of the mob.

CHICKASHA, Okla., May 31.—Henry Argo, negro, who early today was wounded twice by a mob which attempted during the night to take him from the county jail to lynch him, is en route in an ambulance for Oklahoma City today.

Although shot in the head during the night while in jail and stabbed a few hours later, the negro is believed still to be alive.

Three members of the mob were arrested in the night-long disorders, and George Skinner, husband of the woman the negro is alleged to have attacked, was released without bail. Skinner admitted stabbing the negro, who was shot by an unknown person.

Six national guardsmen and several citizens were injured in the disturbances.

Throughout the night thousands of persons stormed the jail, but were thrown back by officers who fired over the crowd and used tear gas. Several attempts were made to burn the jail by throwing gasoline on it from automobiles but the blazes were quickly extinguished.

SUNDAY BREAKFASTS HELP KEEP FAMILY TOGETHER

NEW YORK, May 31.—The family persists as an institution because it gives satisfaction to human beings.

That is the conclusion of Porter R. Lee, director of the New York School of Social Work, who is conducting an analysis of family life based on 7,500 individual experiences.

Some of the most satisfying experiences center round family festivals such as Christmas and Thanksgiving. Picnics and Sunday morning breakfasts are other pleasant incidents mentioned.

Ballinger citizens will be expected to attend the decoration program which will be held at Rosegreen Cemetery Sunday. Veterans of all wars will be honored at this occasion and the presence of many people will more fittingly commemorate the day than all the flowers which could be placed on the graves. This day is observed by all nations of the world when patriotic people gather to pay tribute to those who have fought for their fatherland.

"Ballinger, that's a fine town" was a common expression on the streets of Abilene Friday. When a party of visitors from some section of the state would pass a group of Ballinger people and read the identification marking on their hats or coats they had some complimentary remark to make. Ballinger is a good town. The progress during the past ten years has made it known all over the Southwest. Ballinger citizens have much pride in their town but are not boastful until they see their listeners. The slogan used correctly speaks the feeling that local residents have. "Just a Good West Texas Town."

The movement to divide Texas into five states is causing considerable talk pro and con. Many fight the idea because of sentiment and this is a thing that should interest every Texan. People who live in the grand old Lone Star State are always proud of that fact. We like to boast of its size and its great resources. We realize that the resources are many and varied, that oftentimes it is a real job to make laws that will not be partial to some small part of the country and harmful to other parts. One good reason for maintaining the state as it is, is the expense it would incur to set up four or five other capitols. New legislative bodies would have to be created, capitol built, separate penitentiary systems, and millions of dollars would only start the necessary work. Texas has grown and prospered as one big state and with active organizations like the West, South and East Texas chambers of commerce looking after the interests of each section there is no reason why it cannot continue to do so. Texans now pull together and with five states, each would be puffed against the other, and not as much good could be accomplished.

MOON TALKS ON

By Mary Graham Bonner "Diana," the Moon told John and Peggy, "was called the goddess of the moon—she was the twin sister of Apollo, god of the sun. Every evening, it was said, right after the sun had finished his course Diana would mount her moon car and drive her milk-white steeds across the heavens, while the stars would cheer her on her way. "Oh, oh, oh, in almost all nations I have been loved and even worshipped. "Oh, the people who have wished on a new moon as they call it! "People have made up so much poetry about me—but not being able to hear any sound they could never come and recite it to me. John and Peggy nodded. "The Eskimo people," he went on, "believed that I had a hallway in my home in which all the cold was kept out. In Ur, a very, very old city in Chaldea, they used to worship me. "At a certain hour each month they arranged with mirrors to throw a reflection of me into a chair which was called the moon god's chair. When people saw this reflection they believed I had come right down to the earth to sit in the chair! "Years and centuries ago people knew about my eclipses and they used to mark important events on their calendar by my actions. "In fact the number of days in the week in the olden, olden times, paid great respect to sky characters. They called Sunday the Sun's day, Monday the Moon's day, Tuesday was Mar's day, Wednesday was Mercury's day, Thursday—Jupiter's day, Friday—Venus day, Saturday—Saturn's day. "Then, of course, later the Teutons had different gods, chief of whom was Woden, god of war and also of the sky. He was like the Greek's Jupiter and Mars together. Woden had Wednesday named after him. Thor, god of thunder, was once Thursday and then it was changed to Thursday. A god named Thu is the name from which you now have Tuesday, and from Freya you have Friday. Freya was supposed to be the goddess of love. She cared for music and flowers. POLINOSIS The correct name for what in popular language is known as "hay fever." In substance, hay fever is due to the invasion of the body by a foreign protein. To appreciate the meaning of this last statement, it must be understood that all living things are made up of protoplasm, which, among other things, contains protein. The protein of each type of living thing is essentially different from that of others. When a strange, undigested protein gets into the blood of a body, it causes the body to react. This reaction becomes more violent on the second and subsequent invasions so that the invading undigested protein becomes a poison. Polinosis, as the name suggests, is a condition commonly caused by plant pollens. The pollen is

Rowena School is Last to Close

The Rowena school, the last school in Runnels county to complete the course of study for this year, came to a close Friday afternoon. All other schools had closed and at present all students are enjoying the summer vacation. R. E. White, county superintendent, said Saturday that his office was busy closing up the year's business and that many reports were to be made during the next week or ten days. A report is being compiled to make application for high school tuition for all pupils who were transferred from one district to another. Next week the census report for the entire county will be tabulated. Mr. White stated that this report would show an increase over last year when the census reported 6,079 pupils of school age. One reason for the increase will be that all six-year-olds will be enumerated for the first time. A report on text books is being made and will be sent to the state department as soon as completed. Teachers' applications are being received daily and will be passed upon later. Many teachers in the county seek the same positions for next year and most of these who have given satisfaction will be reelected. Attendance at the entertainment held in connection with the closing of the Rowena school on Thursday night was large. No graduates were certified as that school does not teach the 10th and 11th grades. A number of students who complete courses in the Rowena school come to Ballinger for high school subjects. Seventh grade graduates from the Rowena school cooperated in the United States to establish the county-wide graduation exercises held in Ballinger on May 11th, and many received diplomas at that time. The purpose of the workshop is to restore the disabled to usefulness in their own homes and in their history from a standpoint of work done and from enrollment. Teachers, trustees and the county superintendent are all well pleased with the attainments.

Revival Messages Draw Big Crowds

All hearts were inspired to higher purposes when they heard the Friday morning message at the Ballinger Baptist Church which was based on the scripture giving the account of the woman anointing the body of Jesus for burial. The subject deduced from this lesson was "Things That Christ Approves."

Another large congregation attended the night service to hear the message on "What is Right with the Church?" This was the logical subject to follow the sermon of the night before, "What is Wrong with the Church?"

In discussing the subject, "The Things That Christ Approves," Dr. Wallace Bassett, evangelist, said, in part: There are different ways of judging people. We may judge by what they say or the way they talk. We may judge by the way they pray, or we may judge one by what they consent unto. Paul consented to the death of Stephen, and we say he had murder in his heart. In the scripture two opinions are expressed. One, the opinion of Jesus who approved; the other that of the disciples, led by Judas, of disapproval. Christ approved the spirit of sincere appreciation. The act or deed of the woman was favorable of her for the labors and favors of Jesus. This deed on the woman's part also was approved because it showed deep emotions of soul openly expressed. These emotions were abiding love and deep gratitude. Jesus had raised her brother to life. Hence this act on her part, Jesus approved the act of genuine sacrifice. Give up something for Him. Someone has said "Character is the fine art of giving up." This the woman did for her Master. Jesus approves of service of highest type, unselfish service. He will reward. Here was a service beneficial rendered with a thought anticipating the death of Jesus. She was the only one of Jesus' followers who seemed to realize that He was to die. All the people were blessed because of what the woman did. The room was filled with the odors of the perfume. This was a timely deed. It came while Jesus yet lived. To climax it all she did her best.

The night service was pungent with conviction and serious thinking. "What is Right with the Church?" It is right in its relation to Jesus Christ. The church sustains a closer relation to Jesus than the home. If it had lived up to its mission it would not have many wrongs. Christ had no earthly possessions, nothing that he could call His own except the church. The church is His successor on earth. The church holds the keys of the kingdom of heaven. It is right because it is the bride of Jesus. The same true relation that should exist between the husband and wife. It is right in relationship to time. Time has changed many things, the architecture of church buildings, and means of conveyance in which we travel. But the message of the church is the same today that it has always been. It is right in relationship to human life. The moral ideals have been given us by the church. The church has initiated and carried on every reform of all ages. It is right in its relationship to truth. It is the best patron of art, music, and education. It is right in relationship to home life. Let us give of our best to the church.

Mary Plays with Doug in New Talkie at Palace Tomorrow

Mary Pickford is leading lady to Douglas Fairbanks for the first time in her screen career in the all-talking comedy picture of Shakespeare's "Taming of the Shrew," which comes to the Palace Theatre tomorrow afternoon for three days engagement. "America's Sweetheart," as she was christened by Sid Grauman, famous San Francisco showman, plays a tempestuous shrew who is the bane and despair of all suitors until there comes one, Petruchio, Douglas Fairbanks, a bold and reckless cave man whose strong arm methods work ye great change in ye wild spitfire.

With the advent of talking pictures, Mary Pickford was right in her element inasmuch as years prior to her appearance in the movies, she had been a stage headliner. Her career began at five in a stock company playing her home town of Toronto, Canada. There were many plays and many parts before she came under the auspices of David Belasco in "The Warrens of Virginia," in which she won the heart of Broadway with her portrayal of Betty Warren.

Intrigued by the new-fangled are—the movies, Mary applied at the Biograph Studios where D. W. Griffith cast her in her first picture, "The Lonely Villa." Other pictures followed and Mary's salary rose to the handsome sum of $5,000 a year.

At this point David Belasco punctuated Miss Pickford's cinema endeavors by winning her back to the stage for a season's appearance in the title role of "A Good Little Devil."

After returning to the screen via Famous Players at $1,000 a week, Mary Pickford in 1916 formed her own company.

The United Artists Corporation was organized in 1919, with Mary Pickford, Douglas Fairbanks, Charles Chaplin and D. W. Griffith as the charter members.

"Taming of the Shrew," Mary's newest picture, is an all-talking screen version of the ever modern

"Montana Moon" Depicts Western Scenic Grandeur

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has given movie-goers tired of seeing city streets and apartment house interiors a fresh outlook in "Montana Moon," Joan Crawford's latest starring vehicle, which opened yesterday at the Palace Theatre. For the plot of this picture is laid on a Montana ranch and its scenes of cattle grazing on the wide plains, its tremendous mountains and its deep canyons make this production worthwhile for its pictorial effectiveness alone. The picture is further removed from the humdrum by containing in its cast an actual group of cowboys whose exploits in roping steers, riding bucking horses and otherwise occupying themselves in Western pursuits are like a fresh breeze after a season of crimes and urban sophistication.

Miss Crawford is the daughter of a retired cattle-raiser combines her well-known "modern young" manner with a more mature feeling not revealed in previous roles. The part also gives her ample opportunity to appear not only in a variety of the newest fashion models but also in cowboy regalia and she looks stunning in both.

John Mack Brown gives a sterling performance as the cowboy while good work is done by Ricardo Cortez, Dorothy Sebastian, Karl Dane, Benny Rubin, Cliff Edwards and Lloyd Ingraham.

SCULPTORS WERE GALLANT TO WOMEN OF OLD EGYPT

(By Associated Press)
CHICAGO, May 31.—Sculptors of ancient Egypt were kind to their women subjects.

Women always were represented in the prime of beauty, regardless of advancing age or expanding hips, according to Dr. T. George Allen, Egyptologist of the Field museum here.

Only the men were represented in statues as they appeared in real life, he says.

MINNESOTA SPONSORS VACATIONS FOR MOTHER

(By Associated Press)
CROOKSTOWN, Min., May 31.—Vacations for housewives and mothers, tried out as an experiment three years ago, have proved very popular in northwestern Minnesota and this year women from 13 counties will meet here for a week's recreation, free from all domestic routine.

State extension workers originated the plan. The women, largely from farms and small villages, just "loaf" for a week in June.

The notion back of the movement is that, while everyone else in the family may take a vacation at some time, the duties of mother never end.

OLD COINS AND PAPERS IN STORE CORNER STONE

(By Associated Press)
EAGLE PASS, May 31.—Thirteen coins, the oldest dated 1865, and two yellowed newspapers, dated 1888, were taken from the cornerstone of an old building which is being remodeled here.

One of the newspapers, dated August 25, 1888, was volume 1, number 1 of the Eagle Pass Guide then a weekly and now a daily. Among the coins were an American trade dollar of 1887, an American nickel of 1888, one Mexican coin dated 1895 and two, 1896. There also were two bar checks. The faces of each carried the trade value and the name of the proprietor of the saloon.

In NEW YORK THEATERS

By Deming Seymour
NEW YORK, May 31.—(AP)—

When the week brings a single new play, and that new play is enacted before a single set by a single actor, the theater season may fairly be said to have reached its nadir.

The play is "Courtesan," its sole player is Elsa Shelley, and suitably enough even in this day of multiple-collaborations, it has a single author: Irving Kaye Davis. With the aid of a telephone and an assorted handful of off-stage noises, Miss Shelley acts out for us the story of Miss Alice Trevor.

She quarrelled over the telephone with the millionaire who was responsible for her life of ease; she presently slew the young Russian, who was a pianist on the floor just below and who turned out to be just like all the rest of the men she had known. And at last, maybe out of sheer ennui, she committed suicide.

As a novelty "Courtesan" is more of an endurance contest—for Miss Shelley at her telephone and for the audience on its own side of the footlights. Probably with, say, half a dozen actors it would be as good melodrama as most.

Even "Jealousy" with two persons in its cast—and they no less than Fay Bainter and John Halliday—and with all its exciting drama, did not succeed last season in being quite unwearying in spots; and, so, frankly, is "Courtesan."

That's not Miss Shelley's fault. It's doubtful whether Ruth Draper could make it any more exciting.

Miss Le Gallienne's Juliet

Eva Le Gallienne is doing, at her Civic Repertory Theater down in Fourteenth Street, the part of Juliet—and doing it with some little distinction. In spite of a Romeo who is somewhat less than perfect, her vitalization of the Shakespeare heroine is more than ordinarily sound and believable.

A good many of the current generation of theater-goers believe the best Juliet of this era to have been Jane Cowl; and as many more, when they have seen Miss Le Gallienne's Juliet, will prefer it to Miss Cowl's for its slightly less saccharine quality.

INDIGESTION SPELLS

Man Says He Took Black-Draught After Each Meal and Soon Got Relief.

North Carolina, N. C.—In telling how he was benefited by Thacker's Black-Draught, Mr. John M. Crepe, of 902 Charles Avenue, this city, writes:

"I had three spells of indigestion, one after another. I suffered a lot of pain. My back ached and I had pains in my stomach frequently. It felt like my breath was cut off in my chest."

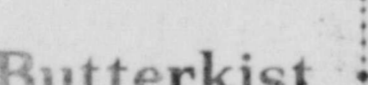

"I was bothered this way for about a year. A friend whom I told about my condition asked me to try Black-Draught."

"I began by taking a pinch of Black-Draught after each meal and found that I soon got relief."

"I have been taking Black-Draught for fourteen years, and I find that it prevents headache and constipation. We keep it in the house all the time. I have told a lot of people about it, and gladly recommend it to others."

Many people have written that they found relief from pains after eating by taking Black-Draught in the manner described above.

In announcing the engagement and approaching marriage of her daughter, Mary Lloys to Thomas D. Hamilton of Eden, Mrs. E. A. Jeanes was assisted in giving a beautifully appointed dinner on Friday evening by Mrs. E. A. Jeanes, Jr. and Mrs. E. Paul Jeanes.

At tables laid in filet over pink satin, guests were seated by means of dainty bride and groom place cards on which the announcement was found. The date will be June 9. Crystal trees on reflectors and princess tapers tied with huge fluffs of green gave added beauty to the tables where a delicious menu was served in three courses. All appointments stressed the pink and green motif as also did the menu.

Included were: Misses Jeanes, Fay Clark, Vhelma and Thelma Parrish, Ruth Rich and Katherine Webb of San Angelo, Sam Padgett, Mmes. Jim Flynt, Jr., Clarence Matejowsky, of Rowena; Burns Holt, Milton Woodson, Jonas D. Hamilton and Cecil Porterfield, of San Angelo; Oscar F. Sensabaugh, of Lubbock; W. T. Padgett, and Carl L. PLANTS IN SLEEPING ROOM ARE DECLARED HARMLESS

(By Associated Press)

WASHINGTON, May 31.—Plants in a sleeping room generally are harmless to the occupant, in the opinion of Dr. A. F. Woods, director of scientific work in the department of agriculture.

Completing an investigation of the chemical action of plants in the air of an ordinary room, Dr. Woods said he found the plants of an ordinary greenhouse would not contribute enough carbon dioxide to injuriously taint the air.

Many hospitals, he points out, remove flowers and plants at night from patients' rooms.

The only occasion for taking plants and flowers from sleeping rooms, he says, is when they are poisonous, or occupants of the room are susceptible to hay fever.
