DAMAGE FROM HEAVY RAINS TO RUN HIGH

Minnesota Storms Take Toll of 6; Crops Ruined

(By Associated Press) Tornadoes swept across southern Minnesota and Wisconsin late Friday, taking a toll of six lives, injuring sixty, and causing more than a million dollars property damage.

Five persons are reported to have been killed near Menomonic, Wisconsin. One man was killed at Randolph, Minnesota.

Thirty were injured near Randolph, a score hurt around Menomonic, and twelve were injured at Eau Claire, Wisconsin.

Other casualties were scattered over other sections of the two states.

Damage to property at Eau Claire was placed at $500,000. It is estimated that damage in Randolph and vicinity will total $200,000.

GIRL MAKES RECORD IN HIGH SCHOOL WORK

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, June 14.—Repetition may be a bore in some instances but in this case it's established a new record at the John T. Allen high school here. When the records for the past years at the school were compiled, it was found that Frances Rather, pretty and popular Miss, had set a mark that likely will stand for several years.

During the two years she was enrolled in the school, Miss Rather scored straight A's in her courses, all of them A-plus with the exception of seven. Under the school's scoring system she made 173 out of a possible 180 points.

HEAVY RAINS CAUSE ALL CATTLEMEN TO SMILE

(By Associated Press) ALPINE, June 14.—Big Bend cattlemen are wearing wide smiles. Heavy rains have brought out a fine crop of grass. Hills that were bare for two years now are green instead of brown. All feeding has stopped and cattle are beginning to take on weight. The spring crop of calves is reported in good condition.

Adoption of Polish Currency has been Proposed for the Free City of Danzig to reduce port operating costs.

Harry D. Burris, of North Lewisburg, Ohio, claims to have the world's largest bass viol. It measures 15 feet from end to end.

Max Proclaimed Heavy Champion

(By Associated Press) CINCINNATI, June 14.—Max Schmeling, winner over Jack Sharkey on a foul in the championship boxing match two nights ago in Yankee Stadium, New York, was recognized today by the National Boxing Association as the heavyweight champ of the world.

There had been doubt after the fight as to whether the German would be so recognized, many averring that he had no clear claim to the title.

Mrs. Ed B. Gilliam, Sr., of Brownwood, returned to her home Saturday morning following a brief visit here with her daughter, Mrs. Leonard Stallings.

Frank Krc, of the Pony community, was in the city Saturday and reported a fine rain at his farm.

Less Cotton Used By Mills in May

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 14.—Cotton used during May was announced by the census bureau today as having totaled 473,917 bales of lint and 68,779 bales of linters compared with 532,382 bales of lint and 66,951 bales of linters used last month.

Federal Judge Estes is Dead

TEXARKANA, Texas, June 14.—Federal Judge W. Lee Estes of the Eastern district of Texas, died today. He had been in a serious condition following a paralytic stroke a week ago.

The condition of Judge Estes was considerably improved yesterday, but he suffered a relapse during the night and sank slowly today. Estes, 59, was appointed to the federal bench ten years ago by President Wilson. He had presided in courts all over East Texas.

Vote on Tariff In House Today

(By Associated Press) WASHINGTON, June 14.—Nearing the last of scores of roll calls, the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill was taken up in the House of Representatives for final vote today, with Republican leaders confident of its passage by at least an 80 vote margin.

Republicans brought out the rule calling for a single vote on two conference reports, waiving of all points of order and the shutting off of debate after three hours discussion, following the adoption of the rule.

DISCOVERY OF OLD DEED PUTS END TO CONTROVERSY

(By Associated Press) WACO, June 14.—The original deed to the land on which the new Waco municipal building stands has recently been uncovered and was the means of ending a controversy that promised to develop into a warm affair.

Search for the document was made at the instance of an attorney for a group of hucksters who were protesting the right of the city officials to oust them from the square market.

It was contended that the city had no legal title to the square and could not exercise control of it.

The deed conveying the property to the city bears the date of June 10, 1850, when land in the then village of Waco was selling for $6 a lot, with few takers.

County Scholastics Announced at 6,524

County Supt. R. E. White Saturday announced the complete count of Runnels scholastics which showed a total of 6,524, the greatest it has ever been.

Scholastics have gained each year in this county, for the past ten years. Last year's scholastic census gave a total of 6,168.

Following is a report of the total number in independent districts in the county.

Ballinger	1,185
Winters	1,034
Miles	578
Rowena	229
Wingate	208
Norton	171
Total	3,405
Common school districts	3,119
Total for county	6,524

The county would have shown a decrease this year had it not been for the enumeration of six year old children. The census record shows a total of 639 six year olds in the county and without these there would have been a decrease of 273.

The rolls are complete now and will be made up and sent to the state department at once.

First Soldiers Landed Abroad 13 Years Ago

(By Associated Press) FORT SAM HOUSTON, Texas, June 14.—The FIRST DIVISION, first combat troops of the A. E. F. to land in France, sailed from New York thirteen years ago today, June 14, 1917.

Company K, 28th Infantry, had the distinction of being the first organization of the division to set foot on French soil. The 28th and 16th regiments of Infantry landed at St. Mazaire on June 26. Inadequate landing facilities held the other units on board. The 26th Infantry landed June 27. Field Hospital No. 13 and Ambulance Company No. 13, on the 28th. The 18th Infantry and Company C, 2nd Field Signal Battalion, did not leave the ships until June 30th, 29 days after embarkation.

These were the vanguard of a mighty host of over two million men—the greatest Army that had ever been transported over an ocean.

The 16th Infantry on November 3, 1917, at 3 o'clock in the morning, gave the first lives sacrificed by an American combat unit of the A. E. F. in a raid conducted by Germans, after laying down a box barrage, the 16th Infantry lost Corporal James B. Gresham, Private Thomas F. Enright and Private Merle D. Hay.

Corporal Gresham's home town was Evansville, Indiana. Private Enright's, Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, and Private Hay's, Glidden, Iowa.

These three head the Division's roll of honor—a roll totaling 22,668 casualties.

Sheriff R. E. McWilliams and Chief of Police Lee Moreland had business in San Angelo Friday.

Walker's Bond Set at $1,000

Johnny Walker was arrested Friday night and turned over to county officers by Chief of Police Lee Moreland Saturday morning. The young man was charged with intent to burglarize and his bond set by Justice of the Peace John White at $1,000. Walker was still in jail Saturday at noon, having not completed making bond at that time.

The arrest grew out of an attempt to rob the Ischar & Patterson blacksmith shop Friday night. Someone entered this place and had succeeded in breaking the knob off the safe when a nightwatchman frightened them and they made a get-away. Walker was arrested a short time later on circumstantial evidence and turned over to the county officers.

Sheriff McWilliams began an investigation of the attempted robbery and finding tracks about the safe in the loose dirt established more evidence by fitting the shoes worn by Walker in these tracks.

The case will await action of the next grand jury.

Geo. Hill and Carl Davis, of Winters, were in Ballinger Friday afternoon looking after business. Mr. Hill stated that Winters and adjoining territory received a good rain continuing all day Friday.

Judge A. K. Doss, of Abilene, was here Saturday attending to legal business.

Brothers Convicted On Murder Charges

(By Associated Press) ORANGE, Tex., June 14.—Jack Millsapp, 28, and James Millsapp, 20, were found guilty of the murder of Howard Booth by a district court jury late last night and sentenced to 25 years each in the state penitentiary.

The brothers were jointly alleged to have slugged fatally and robbed Howard Booth on Thanksgiving night. Booth did not die until December 24th.

BALLINGER MASONS ELECT NEW OFFICERS

At the regular meeting of Ballinger Lodge No. 184 held Friday night at Masonic Hall the following officers were elected for the ensuing capitial year: C. G. Jennings, high priest; Oscar Harber, king; M. C. Atkins, scribe; J. Whit Patterson, treasurer; and J. McGregor, secretary. Installation of these officers will be made at the next regular meeting, July 11th.

WEATHER REPORT

(By Associated Press) West Texas—Fair tonight and Sunday preceded by thunder showers this afternoon or tonight in the east portion.

East Texas—Cloudy to unsettled tonight and Sunday, probably scattered showers.

(By Associated Press) ABILENE, June 14.—Additional rains in this vicinity during the night, today flooded business houses and washed away small cottages. Damage estimated at $100,000 was suffered in and near Munday. Business houses stood at from six to eighteen inches in water.

Cottages at an Olney tourist camp were swept away.

DALLAS, June 14.—One fatality resulted, traffic on several highways was delayed, but cotton and corn crops are believed to have benefited from rains yesterday in various sections of the state.

T. C. Lee, Luling, drowned when his automobile was swept from crossing on state highway near Carlshad by the flood waters of Grape Creek, a tributary to the Concho River.

The Concho and Llano Rivers are each up about 25 feet and a bridge near Llano was washed out.

An estimated rainfall of five inches in three hours left Haskell waterboard. Tents, eight automobiles and the equipment of a Mexican construction camp of 100 was washed away by the raging waters of a swollen creek near Abilene.

Wichita Falls rainfall today totaled 2.19 inches.

inches and between Ballinger and that town the fall ranged from two to six inches.

The Concho River at San Angelo was the highest Friday night it had been since 1925. Many people were preparing to leave their homes as waters swirled into the yards. Sightseers thronged bridges to watch the river rise. Numbers of trees, lumber, carcasses of animals and other things floated down the stream. T. C. Lee was drowned northwest of San Angelo. While many watched Lee struggle in the water they were not able to rescue him.

Rainfall at Ballinger amounted to almost two inches Friday. Other communities in the county received as much and some a great deal more.

Traffic in all directions from Ballinger was halted by high water Friday afternoon. A number of people on their way to San Angelo spent several hours at Crossnest and then came back here for the night. Creeks between Ballinger and Paint Rock and Ballinger and Talpa were high and travel was stopped over roads in these directions. Washouts on the Santa Fe between Bronte and Sweetwater brought detours.

Though here Saturday, the Fe train from Kansas City routed through here to San Angelo.

People living in the "flat" called the Ledger frequently Saturday morning making inquiry as to how high the Colorado would get, stating that it was near their property and wanted assurance that it would be safe to remain there throughout the day.

The bridge across the Colorado River just south of Maverick was reported here early Saturday to have been washed away. Later in the day, parties from there coming to Ballinger stated that the bridge, although damaged to some extent, was still standing. Piling on the south side seemed to have given way and dropped several feet, making the span unsafe to cross. Bert Fletcher, of that community, stated that he believed the south approach could be repaired without great damage resulting.

Back-water from the Colorado on Elm Creek, caused several feet of water to stand around the ends of the bridge across the highway. For a time travel was stopped there, but the highway department hired men with fascines to pull all travelers through when desired to cross. The water was deep enough at noon to run into the cars and most engines were drowned out in coming across.

The river began falling fast at Maverick Saturday morning but at noon very little change could be discerned here.

District Judge E. J. Miller, of Ballinger, spent Saturday in Bronte Friday attending to legal business.

Heavy rains falling in all sections of West Texas Friday put streams at the highest stage of the year and much damage was reported from a number of points. The Colorado River at Ballinger was the highest Saturday morning it has been in several years, however little damage was reported locally.

Contractors on the Seventh Street bridge removed all machinery from the river bottom Friday afternoon when they received word that a rise was coming. One concrete mixer was left under the second bank and Saturday only a small portion of it was visible. The big crane was moved to high land and all forms were removed. Steel forms were gaged to the ground. It will be impossible to ascertain the extent of the damage until the waters have receded to the river channel. The tool house was covered with water with the exception of the roof. Material on the ground was soaked with water and probably washed away. The narrow gauge railway track from the river bank to the material dump was expected to be damaged if not completely washed away. Two piers that had been completed on the south bank of the river were standing the strain and engineers thought they would not be damaged.

The high waters were caused by heavy rains at Bronte, Colorado and other points northwest of Ballinger. Precipitation at Bronte Friday totaled about six inches.

Back-water from the Colorado on Elm Creek, caused several feet of water to stand around the ends of the bridge across the highway. For a time travel was stopped there, but the highway department hired men with fascines to pull all travelers through when desired to cross. The water was deep enough at noon to run into the cars and most engines were drowned out in coming across.

Visions in Colors is Hope of Engineers

Television receiver (left) and chassis mechanism (right) developed by Boston engineers. The scanning disk is in the form of a removable metal band for copying 48 or 60-line pictures, with an adjusting lever to change speed and a control to keep the pictures in frame.

By C. E. Butterfield
(Associated Press Radio Editor)
BOSTON, June 14.—Television transmission in colors within two months is the hope of engineers tackling the problem of radio sight in laboratories here.

So successful do they feel they have been in their experimentation that the engineers said they would be able to reproduce colored pictures eight inches square. Included in their development work has been the design of a receiver housed in a console no larger than the ordinary sound set.

If the attempt at color transmission succeeds, it will mark a climax in three years of television work by the Short Wave and Television laboratories, which are operating W1XAV on 137 meters or 2180 kilocycles. The transmitter, designed and built for television work by Hollis S. Baird, chief engineer, has a power of 500 watts.

As one of its accomplishments the laboratory points to its development of horizontal transmission against the former method of vertical transmission. The engineers explained that with vertical transmission a straight line always appears as a curved line with resulting distortion in the received picture. In horizontal transmission a straight line remains a straight line when it is received.

The receiver used is rather novel in that the scanning disk is really not a disk. It consists of a band of metal having a series of holes and is fastened around a drum-like frame which revolves in front of the neon lamp. The band is removable, making it possible to change it to receive either a 48-line or a 60-line picture.

The receiver has a framing device which keeps the picture in the correct position for viewing, and which somewhat simplifies synchronization. The framer is controlled by a knob at the front of the receiver. The viewing lens is located just above the tuning and framing controls on a level with the operator's eyes.

This outfit, the engineers explained, was for television only, and would not reproduce sound, for which a separate set would be required where sound and sight were being received together from the same studio.

Although the picture at present is only four inches square, a process has been developed whereby it can be enlarged to from eight to twelve inches square. Under this method, the engineers said, the picture would be seen on a ground glass rather than through a magnifying lens. They also said that it would be possible for a room full of persons to see the picture at the same time.

In cooperation with WEEI, Boston, W1XAV began sending synchronized voice and vision of the Big Brother Club on February 5. Short waves were used for the television signals, and the sound went out on WEEI's regular wavelength.

U. S. A. HAS "EXCLUSIVE" REGIMENT IN PORTO RICO

(By Associated Press)
SAN JUAN, Porto Rico, June 14.—The Sixty-fifth Infantry, the most exclusive regiment in the United States army—only native Porto Ricans may enlist in it—has a long waiting list of would-be recruits. A few of the officers also are Porto Ricans.

Several hundred youths are always ready to enlist, a soldier's job being considered one of the most desirable in the island, especially in view of the extensive unemployment.

Whenever vacancies occur in the ranks of the Sixty-fifth, the officers "hand pick" the new men choosing only those who have completed at least an elementary school education.

CAMP FIRE GIRLS HAVE FINE OUTING

The "Me-Wo-Co" group of the campfire girls met at the home of their sponsor, Mrs. K. V. Northington, at 6:00 o'clock for an all day hike to Valley Creek. Two of the girls being late caused a delay and by the time they were found it was raining and impossible to go on a hike.

As a substitute plan, the girls secured the use of E. M. Lynn's cottage at the country club and went there to spend the day. Following lunch, dish washing and mopping, they hiked around the hills for more than an hour and were caught in a hard rain. They returned home late in the afternoon, dripping wet, but having had a delightful time.

In NEW YORK THEATERS

By Deming Seymour

NEW YORK, June 12.—Something happens in theater audiences as soon as warm weather sets in. They are content to sit back and be amused at plays which, in severer seasons they would tear apart and scoff at.

The audience which saw "Lost Sheep" ushered into town gave it a welcome of applause and laughter which would have done credit to some thing by Lonsdale which it isn't.

"Lost Sheep" might have been a lot better at that, if Lonsdale had written it instead of Belford Forrest, for it has an amusing but rather perilously naughty idea. Its gravest sin is not that it is risqué but that it worries its single idea along all evening until it wears out.

The Rev. William Wampus, it seems, is moving with his wife and his three daughters to the parish of Higher Hempstead, and because the parsonage is under repair he lets an unscrupulous landlord lease him a house recently used for gaudier and bawdier purposes.

Complications arise when young men of the neighborhood, seeing the lights once more ablaze in the red-papered living room begin dropping in—and that's about as far as we need go.

With defter treatment it might have been another "Cradle Snatchers," naughty but well-woven enough to be hugely popular. As it is, it passes well enough for hot weather amusement.

A New Ingenue

The first night audience liked, rather better than the play, the work of Sidney Fox as the parson's youngest daughter. Miss Fox played her first New York in another unimportant little play earlier this season. Before that she worked in a lawyer's office.

In "Lost Sheep" she achieved for the first time what might be termed a triumph among such excellent players as Cecilia Loftus, and Ferdinand Gottschalk and A. P. Kaye and she awes quite overcome by it.

She wept a little as she kept answering curtain calls, and the audience found itself feeling a little sorry that such a sweet child should be the victim of such a sorrowful misunderstanding as the playwright created around her.

Round and Round

The revolving stage, twice employed this season at operettas of the Shuberts, is to be adopted much more generally by them.

It is not revolutionarily new.

either in Germany, whence it came, nor in the United States, where it has been used several times in other seasons. But it vastly facilitates and speeds up the presentation of a many-scened operetta.

The revolving stage is a vast disc which can be turned in either direction to present a successive panorama of scenes, and it enables the presentation of such an operetta as "Three Little Girls," in which it is currently employed, without making those scenes a successive alternation of front-drops and full stage.

BETHEL NEWS

Miss Ada Simmons who has been attending Texas Woman's College, Ft. Worth, returned home Wednesday.

Miss Sallie Shelburne is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Greenhill, Jr., this week.

Marian Hays is ill with typhoid fever, but at last report he was resting well.

Mr. and Mrs. Kemper Shelburne entertained with a birthday dinner in honor of their son, Milton Dale, last Sunday. Those attending the dinner to celebrate the second birthday of Milton Dale, were: Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Shelburne, Annie Shelburne, Mr. and Mrs. John Adams and daughters, and Mr. and Mrs. J. H. Shelburne and son.

Albert Koenig underwent a minor operation Friday.

Little Maurine Batts is on the sick list this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Maude McShan and daughters and Mrs. W. F. McShan spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. V. L. McShan.

The Woman's Club will meet with Mrs. Nath Crockett, Thursday, June 19. Mrs. Hollingsworth will be present and give a demonstration of the use of the pressure cooker.

Mrs. C. A. Womack spent last week-end at Goldthwaite.

Quite a large crowd of club members, their husbands and children gathered at the river on the Muncy place to enjoy a real old-fashioned picnic last Thursday. There were about one hundred and fifty present representing three clubs. Members of other clubs missed a most enjoyable occasion by failing to attend. After the bountiful and delicious dinner, songs were sung and games were played.

We want to express our appreciation to the Ballinger Printing Company for printing our songs and to the Ballinger Variety Store for furnishing cups.

Miss Dora Mae Smith left for Plainview to visit two months with Mr. and Mrs. Sam Smith.

MOVIES

Alice White as Gay Dixie Dugan Again Stars on Screen
 "Show Girl in Hollywood," First National's sequel to its earlier hit, "Show Girl," will open in Ballinger at the Palace Theatre Sunday afternoon, with Alice White again playing the title role.
 The adventures of the wise-cracking, delightful Dixie Dugan are taken up in the new Vitaphone version where they left off in the original, which was a silent picture made over a year ago. The earlier story concluded with Dixie's success as a musical comedy queen. Now she is brought to Hollywood, along with other Broadway players, to try her luck in talking pictures.
 As the title suggests, "Show Girl in Hollywood" is all about life in the film capital. Not only the studios, but other far-famed features of Hollywood are brought into the picture. J. P. McEvoy wrote both stories, the sequel recently appearing serially in Liberty Magazine. The film version is said to follow closely the original. It is timely, and it truthfully portrays, it is said, life in the cinema center since the advent of talkies.

 Parts of the film are musical sequences and these are filmed in Technicolor. "Hang on to a Rainbow," "Hollywood," and "I've Got My Eyes on You," are among the song hits written for the picture by Green and Stept. Miss White sings several numbers. Another unique feature shows a film being made and later projected in a theatre.
 Mervyn LeRoy, who directed Miss White in "Playing Around," directed "Show Girl in Hollywood." Jack Mulhall appears opposite Miss White as Jimmy Doyle. Blanche Sweet, Ford Sterling, John Miljan, Virginia Sale, Lee Shumway and Herman Bing are in the feature cast.

 Prodigious evidence of Bebe Daniels' versatility is seen in her second all-talking Radio starring picture, "Love Comes Along," which closes a two-day run at the Palace Theatre tonight.
 Her golden voice, which is termed the most startling sensation of the year in "Rio Rita," again is heard. In addition, she plays the guitar and dances a Spanish tango with exceptional skill.
 Bebe also designed her own costumes for the production. Being of Spanish descent herself, she helped Rupert Julian, director, to infuse the right tempo into the play. Its locale is a mythical island off the coast of South America. More than once she was called upon to give the correct pronunciation of a Spanish word.
 Appearing opposite Miss Daniels is Lloyd Hughes who makes his talkie debut in "Love Comes Along."

Deaths

Mrs. Mattie Ellen Daniels
 Mrs. Mattie Ellen Daniels, age 52, died at her home at 111 Eleventh Street Friday evening at 7:15, after an illness lasting only a few days. She had been living in Ballinger for the past twelve years and made many friends who grieve at the death of this good woman.

Decedent's husband died several years ago and she bought property in Ballinger and has made this city her home since that time. She is survived by one sister, Mrs. J. B. Crawford of Christian, Texas, who was at her bedside when she died. Five brothers, Tom, Bert, Jim, Jack and Joseph Cole, also survive.

Bert Cole who resides near Happy, Texas, was the only one of the brothers who had been reached so far with the announcement of the death.

Funeral services were held from the funeral home Saturday afternoon at 6:00 o'clock. Rev. T. E. Bowman officiating. Interment will be made in Evergreen Cemetery. Higginbotham undertakers were in charge of funeral arrangements.

"LET'S MAKE WHOOPIE" LAST GRANDI PERFORMANCE

The Bob Grandi company will close a week's engagement here Saturday, playing a rip-roaring comedy bill, "Let's Make Whoopie." For the occasion family night has been announced again and one paid admission will admit an entire family regardless of size.

Special vaudeville will be presented between the acts and a great big performance staged for the last night in Ballinger.

Renza Lee of the Maverick community was in Ballinger and reported big rains in that neighborhood.

Scientist and Wife Find Thrills Among Fighting Albania Tribes

Sleeping with the wife, mother and three children of an Albanian mountain prince (lower right) was only one of the experiences of Mrs. C. S. Coon (left) when she went on an expedition with her scientist-husband (upper right).

By Howard W. Blakeslee (Associated Press Science Editor)
 CAMBRIDGE, Mass., June 14.—College men who seek adventure find it in a surprising field, anthropology, the once dry-as-dust study of historical remains.
 Anthropology is tame no longer.

It sends young men into jungles, deserts, polar ice fields, the lines between fighting tribesmen and among quarreling mountaineers. It studies living men, and usually the fightingest kinds.
 One such anthropological trek has just been finished in the mountains of Albania by Dr. C. S. Coon of Peabody museum, Harvard University, his wife, and Frederick Farnsworth.

One of their Albanian hosts, a head of the tribe of Dibra, learning that the anthropologist could shoot, introduced him to a parlor game with rifles. He would shout:

"Long live America."

Coon thereupon would shoot a clip of ammunition through the window. That done the American scholar would shout:

"Long live Albania."

And the chieftain would shoot a clip through the window.

The chieftain invited the expedition to remain six months, and early the next morning brought their horses saddled for departure. He had received overnight word of impending attack. More than 15 men were killed in the feud before the king's guard arrived and restored quiet.

Mrs. Coon found Albanian hosts delighted in rolling cigarettes and tossing them to her, piling as many as 15 or 20 in front of her which she was expected to smoke.

One night when the two Americans were guests of the Prince had to walk two days to get there. The gendarmes are picked men, natives, with English officers. Since their advent bandits are infrequent.

WORLD FAIR TO REVIVE HUMAN GAS METERS

(By Associated Press)
 CHICAGO, June 14.—The first American gas meter was a man. When illuminating gas was first introduced there were no meters, but customers agreed to turn it off after a specified hour.

Gas inspectors were appointed. Records show that on their rounds these inspectors frequently rapped on windows to remind customers that they were using overtime gas.

These old scenes will be reproduced in the scientific exhibits at the 1933 World Fair here.

HARRIS DAIRYMEN MAKE WAR ON LIVESTOCK LAW

(By Associated Press)
 HOUSTON, June 14.—Harris county dairymen and ranchmen who for months fought a losing fight against steadily growing demand of motorists that livestock be kept off the highways, have announced that they have NOT had done.

Sixty of them met at the courthouse and formed an organization to attack the validity of the law recently passed providing penalties for the owners of livestock found at large.

A committee was named to retain legal counsel.

The controversy stirred up intense popular interest before the election.

PRISONER ESCAPES, RETURNS TO JAIL VOLUNTARILY

(By Associated Press)
 LLANO, June 14.—A jail may not be the best in the world to live, but it is better than being bitten by mosquitoes is the theory of Pete Ellington.

Recently Ellington escaped from the jail at Llano and after spending one night in the open fighting mosquitoes, decided to return to prison. He called up Sheriff Dan McDonald and told him he was ready to return to jail and instructed the official where he could be found.

Ellington was awaiting transportation to Huntsville to start serving a two-year sentence on a charge of burglary.
