His ambition to fly was fired by the visit of Colonel Lindbergh to Colombia in 1927, he says.

DYNAMITE EMPLOYED IN MAN-MADE QUAKES

(By Associated Press)
WILMINGTON, Del., July 15.—Man-made earthquakes accounted for about five per cent of the dynamite consumed in the United States in 1929.

The statistics are from the DuPont company. These quakes are produced by setting off charges of explosive at the surface of the ground.

Man-made quakes are used in geophysical examination of the earth's crust, which means in most cases the search for oil. The explosions do not uncover oil, but the vibrations frequently reveal rock formations, salt domes or faults which aid geologists.

Tom Black, of Comanche, died Monday night and was buried there Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Black formerly was employed here by the Ballinger Electric Company and he and his wife made many friends while residing in Ballinger.

Vacationists returning here from other sections of Texas declare Runnels county crops are in the best shape of any place visited. While farmers have been wanting rain here for some time crops are still doing fine and the lowlands are not suffering from need of moisture. Cotton is growing a good tap root and most of the maize is near maturity where it will make good feed without any more rain.

Next week begins the home stretch for candidates. All office-seekers are mixing with the voters and next week will see many speeches made. The voters will have their say July 26th. A number of the candidates are claiming a backing sufficient to put them in the second primary but some are either using bad judgment or are just ignorant.

The voters stay away from the polls and does not vote on the 26th should keep quiet afterwards and not cuss the successful candidate. Pick out some man with a suitable platform and back him with your influence and vote and if another is placed in office you will have the privilege of doing some kicking. The people select the men to run the government but a pitifully small per cent of the citizens are exercising their right of franchise. Don't forget election day and cast a ballot for the candidates you favor.

Practically all Texans desire good roads. There are differing opinions as how to get these roads but we all want them. Permanent roads cost much money and as long as the state continues to build and extend the highway system some means of financing must be settled upon. During the past ten years much progress has been made and if the same amount of mileage can be built in the succeeding decade Texas will have a highway network that will take care of most requirements. Texans have learned to build approved types of roads and construction that is only good for a few years is a thing of the past. Highway construction is a big issue in Texas politics just now and every gubernatorial candidate has an idea that would probably continue the work at a rapid rate.

CHAPPELL, Neb., July 15.—Deuel county's 40 farmers have a fire department—a second-hand touring car body mounted on a truck chassis.

The county is divided into districts with a "chief" in charge of each.

Mob Cowardice

The following letter was written by Frank C. Dickey of this city, and published in the Dallas News. It is especially pertinent in this state since recent outrages by lynching parties.

To the News: Americans hold up their hands in holy horror upon hearing of the outrages committed by bandits in China, Mexico and other foreign countries. They dispatch missionaries, commissioned to Christianize the cannibals and godless of the lowly origins. Yet they countenance in their own dominions the burning of human beings at stake.

Texas appears to be a fertile field for lynchings and mob violence of different character. The last few years seem to have been an open season for such outrages. The majority of the citizens of Texas abhor this condition. However, as yet no successful plan has been designed and put into effect to prevent these disgraceful happenings.

The primary responsibility for lynchings and mob violence rests within the local peace officers. One courageous sheriff can disperse a mob and, as a general rule, without bloodshed. For example (the recent occurrence at Beaumont), one slap across the face of a mob leader struck terror into his followers and effectively prevented a lynching. In 1925 the sheriff of Runnels county placed himself in front of an infuriated mob in the town of Coleman and informed the self-appointed avengers that they must first cross his dead body before they could have their prize. He made it stick. The spirit that dominated the mob was not a spirit of courage, but a spirit of cowardice. Finding themselves opposed by a man who considered the duties of his office and the protection of his prisoner more important than his life, they were not willing to meet the issue and slunk away.

It is possible for officers to protect prisoners. Of course it takes courage. But any man that does not have that degree of courage is not qualified to enforce the law and its enforcement should not be entrusted to him. The city of Beaumont still has its court house, its sheriff and its prisoner, and the law will take its course. The city of Coleman still has its court house and the county of Runnels still has its sheriff. The prisoner, for the protection of whom the Runnels county sheriff offered his life, has paid the penalty prescribed by law.

Ultimately the franchised citizens of a county are responsible for mob violence in their respective counties and embarrassment comes because, in the selection of officers to preserve the peace and dignity of the state, they have ignored qualifications necessary to the efficient discharge of the duties of the different offices and have been governed by blocs, isms and prejudices. When the franchised citizens of the state of Texas waken themselves to the responsibilities of electing officers at the polls who are upright and otherwise well qualified to discharge the duties of office and when they demand, first of all, these qualities mob violence and lynchings will be no more and the law of the realm will rise in its dignity and take its place rightfully as the sovereign voice of the land.

Dr. R. P. Richardson, of Union City, Okla., is also a banker, farmer, druggist, postmaster and cotton gin operator.

SUNDOWN STORIES

THE WINNER

By Mary Graham Bonner

The race between the horse-drawn train in which John, Peggy and the Little Black Clock were riding, and the first steam locomotive to be tried out in this country, was the most unusual and exciting adventure the children had ever had.

The Little Black Clock had turned the time back 100 years! The horses had gained at first, and then the locomotive had passed them, and John was certain the locomotive was going to win when something happened to the locomotive.

Something about was not working just right—and then—the horses dashed ahead and the race was won by them!

That was the greatest surprise John had ever had. "I never believed that would happen," he said. "That's because it wasn't quite perfect," the Little Black Clock said, "but it is 'showing people that a steam locomotive can be used on turns and hills and grades—and in very little time there'll be plenty of steam locomotives everywhere."

"But I am so glad that you liked seeing this race and seeing what happened. It's always fun to see the beginning of things," he added. "I never believed that would happen," John kept on repeating. "No, I never believed that horses would win in a race with a locomotive. You certainly turned the time back when that happened," he ended.

The Little Black Clock took the children back home again, and once again he told them that he could make up extra hours for them so they would never lose any of their sleep.

Before he left them he told them that on the next evening he would take them on another trip, and he thought they would be amused by it, too.

But John could not get over having been in a race in which horses had beaten a train. He would never forget that as long as he lived and how the Clock had turned the time back one hundred years so that was possible to see!

SICK HEADACHES

Disagreeable Feeling All Went Away Following Use of Black-Draught.

Paducah, Ky.—"For a long time I suffered with severe sick headaches that would unfit me for my work for two or three days at a time," says Mrs. C. H. Hall, of 222 Tennessee Street, this city.

"I would have these headaches if I let myself get constipated. I would also feel very dull and stupid and have a very bad taste in my mouth.

"After I heard of Theodor's Black-Draught and began taking it, all this bad feeling would disappear and I would not have the headache, so that now I just keep a box of Black-Draught on hand, and when I feel the least bit dull I take a dose and it relieves me at once. I am glad to recommend Black-Draught, in fact I have done so many times, to friends and neighbors."

Theodor's Black-Draught is a purely vegetable cathartic or laxative medicine, composed of selected medicinal herbs and roots. Black-Draught is finely powdered, which enables the juices of the stomach to extract its medicinal properties in an easy, natural way. Refuse imitations. Get the genuine—"Theodor's."

HOW'S your HEALTH

Edited by DR. LAZO GALSTON For the New York Academy of Medicine

HARELIP The human face is a complicated structure, formed in the embryo (the unborn child) from the union of a relatively large number of bony centers.

Sometimes, for reasons still undetermined, the face does not completely develop before birth. One of the common results is harelip and cleft palate.

In harelip, the upper lip is split. In cleft palate, there is a cleft or space in the roof of the mouth leading into the nasal cavity.

The developmental defect, particularly when involving the palate, seriously interferes with the normal function of the mouth.

An infant so afflicted finds it difficult to feed and later on finds normal speech almost impossible.

Because of the difficulty in feeding a relatively large number of the infants born with cleft palate die of inanition. Hereditarily appears to play an important part in the production of these defects.

A number of explanations have been offered to account for the failure of the face to complete its normal development.

The explanation most common among the laity is that harelip results from a fright suffered by the mother during the latter part of pregnancy.

This, of course, is an old and popular superstition. Another explanation offered is that cleft lip and palate result from poisons. This explanation does not appear valid.

One of the most interesting and thus far most convincing partial explanations comes from a Berlin zoo where it was noticed that improper diet brought on a defective development of the jaw of certain animals.

In one year 32 jaguars were born to one mother by the same sire. All these animals had cleft palate. The parents had been fed improperly on cold bloodless meat.

When the diet was changed to warm meat still containing blood, 25 jaguar offsprings subsequently born were normal in every respect.

The infant born with a harelip or cleft palate should be immediately placed under expert care.

Mrs. J. H. Goss, of Abilene, has returned home after a week's visit in Ballinger.

ASK FOR CONTINUANCE OF RESUSCITATION MOVE

(By Associated Press) AUSTIN, July 15.—An appeal for continued instruction in the method of resuscitating persons who apparently have drowned has been made by Dr. J. C. Anderson, state health officer. He advocated use of the prone pressure method, adapted by the American Red Cross, the United States public health service and all leading authorities.

A course in life saving and artificial respiration was urged by Dr. Anderson for everyone that indulged in aquatic sports.

Dr. Anderson stated that while many lives had been saved by prompt application of artificial respiration, many more have been lost because the operations were not gone through with properly or because hope for the patients life was given up too quickly.

The artificial method of respiration also has proved helpful in resuscitating persons who have received heavy electric shocks or who have been asphyxiated, he said.

ANOTHER VICTORY

FOR THIS REGULAR STOCK MOTOR OIL

CLOSE ON THE HEELS OF ITS ACCOMPLISHMENT AT INDIANAPOLIS MAY 30, CONOCO WINS 3RD, 4TH, AND 5TH PLACES AT ALTOONA AT BETTER THAN ONE HUNDRED MILES PER HOUR

Frank Farmer, in a Miller Special, "placed" third with an average speed of 102.2 miles per hour. "Shorty" Cantlon, in a Miller-Schofield Special, was fourth with 101.5 miles per hour. "Speed" Gardner was fifth in a Miller Front-Drive Special. All three used CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil in this convincing demonstration of the qualities of this regular "stock" motor oil. At Altoona, as at Indianapolis, this was the first time that a stock oil had placed so high in the finish of the race.

Indianapolis race; after they had observed its full body and good color, as it came from Dave Evans' motor, the word went out that CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil had displayed the qualities necessary to solve the lubrication problems of racing motors. CONOCO had earned the respect of this most skeptical group—and earned it fairly. In view of the Indianapolis results, it was only natural for a majority of the drivers at Altoona to choose CONOCO Germ-Processed Motor Oil for America's fastest competitive race.

Germ-Processed Motor Oil, close on the heels of Indianapolis... a victory won with the same stock Germ-Processed oil that you can buy at any Red Triangle station.

These CONOCO victories have a definite meaning to every one who drives a car. They substantiate every claim that was made for it when the oil was introduced last November.

New Medicine Earns Lasting Gratitude of Ft. Worth Mother Makes Real Record.

VERDILL COWAN

What fine news this is for those mothers who are worrying over the ill health of a beloved son or daughter. Read what Konjola did for Verdill Cowan, 7, of 614 West Second Street, Fort Worth, Texas. His mother, Mrs. B. M. Cowan, says:

"Konjola restored my health, and now I want to tell what this splendid medicine did for my son. He was always tired and under weight. His appetite was so poor that sometimes he went all day with no nourishment other than a glass of milk. I was greatly worried over his condition. But Konjola proved to be the very medicine and tonic he needed. In three weeks a remarkable change came over him. He is not tired; eats three meals a day and is gaining in weight and strength. He looks better than he ever did. I surely recommend Konjola to every mother who has an ailing child."

Konjola contains no alcohol, no nerve deadening drugs, no heart-depressing chemicals. It needs no such ingredients its seeming wonders to perform.

Konjola is sold in Ballinger, Texas, at the Weeks Drug Store and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Calls Norma the Screen's Most Dramatic Star

Adela Rogers St. John, noted writer, is convinced that the screen has produced among its stars only one great dramatic actress.

In a recent issue of a national magazine she wrote the following voluntary tribute to Norma Talmadge, star of United Artists' "New York Nights," which closes a run at the Palace Theatre tonight.

"Understand that when I say great actress, I mean just that. I do not mean fascinating personalities nor ravishing beauties. I mean such actresses as Duse, Ellen Terry, Maude Adams, Calve, Rejane, Ada Rehan, Emily Stevens, Katherine Cornell and Pauline Lord.

"Norma Talmadge can join this illustrious company; she is the screen's one and only great actress."

Of the merits of this tribute Miss Talmadge is too modest to be certain. She does not know whether to be proud or afraid of Miss St. John's praise.

"I have always tried to be a good actress," said the star, "and I have fought almost since the beginning of pictures to that end. That I might be a great one never occurred to me—in fact it frightens me now.

"The hardships of the learner years, if they mean anything to one who is ambitious, are bound to develop into something worthy. As far as I am concerned I believe they have. Trials have taught me to evaluate myself and those about me; to recognize the good things from the bad, the romance from the sordid—all the facts of life.

"If I am a good actress it is because I could not help being one with the opportunities I have had. There are hundreds of good actresses in Hollywood. Why single me out by saying I am the only great one.

"It is my opinion that the screen will not be able to have its Duses, its Calves and Bernharts until it has developed a finished and distinctive technique. No one can be great who follows in the footsteps of others. At the present time we of the screen are aping the mannerisms and eccentricities of the dramatic players. It is not so, Miss St. John would not have mentioned those grand women of the stage in drawing her illustration.

The screen is approaching a renaissance of virile individuality. When that time is definitely here, then it will be proper to select a truly great motion picture actress."

QUEEN BEES GO BY MAIL AS EXPORT OF AUSTRALIA

BRISBANE, Australia, July 15—The export of queen bees by parcel post forms one of Queensland's latest and most profitable industries.

Bee-keepers are developing a lively trade in the bees which they ship to New Zealand, the Pacific Isles, South Africa, and other countries.

The queen bees are carefully packed in little wooden boxes with four or five worker bees to keep them warm and a small supply of food. Small perforations in the boxes admit air.

"Reach for a Lucky instead"

THE BATTLE CRY OF MODERATION!

Be moderate—be moderate in all things, even in smoking. Avoid that future shadow* by avoiding over-indulgence, if you would maintain that modern, ever-youthful figure. "Reach for a Lucky instead."

Lucky Strike, the finest Cigarette you ever smoked, made of the finest tobacco—The Cream of the Crop—"IT'S TOASTED." Lucky Strike has an extra, secret heating process. Everyone knows that heat purifies and so 20,679 physicians say that Luckies are less irritating to your throat.

Your Throat Protection—against irritation—against cough

*"There is only one remedy for fat, and that is eat the right food... There are at least one hundred so-called obesity cures. None of these is permanent. All of these are injurious," says Vance Thompson, Ph.D., in his famous little book, "Eat and Grow Thin," published by E. P. Dutton & Company. We do not represent that smoking Lucky Strike Cigarettes will bring modern figures or cause the reduction of flesh. We do declare that when tempted to do yourself too well, if you will "Reach for a Lucky instead," you will thus avoid over-indulgence in things that cause excess weight and, by avoiding over-indulgence, maintain a modern, graceful form.

"DUNKING" OLD TRIBAL CUSTOM OF INDIANS

(By Associated Press)
SANTA FE, N. M., July 15—The Pueblo Indians of the Southwest are perhaps the most universal "dunkers."

Songs have been written about "dunking." The King of Spain is admittedly a "dunker" who has gone so far as to give his opinion about what may be "dunked" and what may not be "dunked."

Some people "dunk" and others don't, but the Pueblo Indians are a race of "dunkers."

A huge bowl of chili, beans and mutton is placed in the center of the floor. Besides the bowl is a plate of bread. Armed with a cup and spoon the Indians sit on the floor around the bowl and "dunk" the bread in the chili.

The Oklahoma state court of tax reviews saved taxpayers more than $2,780,000 in the last fiscal year.

Mexican Bridge Luncheon is Novel Entertainment

A Mexican bridge luncheon formed the novel entertainment given by Mrs. R. G. Erwin at her home on Wednesday morning of last week in honor of her niece, Miss Frances Holman, and Miss Treva Gaunt, the guest of Mrs. D. C. Middleton.

Cards of colorful Mexican figures marked the places of the guests at the bridge tables. As guest prizes, attractive baskets lined with the Mexican colors of red and green and filled with novelties were given to Miss Gaunt, Miss Holman, and Miss Yates.

Following the bridge games, a three-course luncheon of delicious native Mexican dishes was served on tables laid with Mexican drawn work covers and centered with baskets of bright red verbenas.

An honoree prize was given to Miss Holman. Prize for high score went to Miss LaVierne Sims and that for low score to Miss Treva Gaunt.

Birthday Party
Mr. and Mrs. Will Schleyer, San Angelo, entertained Sunday with a most delightful dinner at their home, in honor of their son Billie's third birthday.

American Beauty roses added charm to the lovely home, where beautifully laid tables were covered with pink carnations and ferns. Dainty pink and green baskets with candy were placed at each plate, which carried out the chosen color scheme. The children's table was very attractively planned and decorated with balloons and dolls tied with bright streamers of ribbons to

GOING GLASSY
By Hazel Reavis

PARIS, July 15—This is a world of glass and metal tubes we live in, if the furniture displayed at the summer arts and decorations exposition is a reliable indicator.

There are metal chairs, tables of glass with metal supports, metal window trimmings and metal "woodwork."

There is a glass three-deck library table; an all glass dining table and various smaller glass editions of occasional tables in the new furniture show.

The glass dining table is one of the most ambitious undertakings in the history of glass making. It was made for the French wife of a famous dress-maker by the most famous glass manufacturer of France.

A special dining room has been designed to display the table like a huge jewel in a gleaming satin case. Walls of the dining room are highly polished white maple decorated with illuminated glass arches.

Aluminum Furniture

A princess who often assembles important members of French society in her dining room possesses the only aluminum dining set in existence. Table, chairs and buffet of the room are aluminum trimmed or completely constructed of metal.

Machine Inspired

The things from across the Rhine stress the future of metal and glass in the household. Furniture is reduced to the bare essentials, with no effort at ornamentation or decoration.

Germany's exhibit stresses the need of the middle class family for durable, inexpensive and practical furniture for machine age needs.

One of the sights of the current decorators salon is an airy blue brocade bedroom with basquette-bed of white maple covered with fleecy lambskin. The floor of the room is also carpeted with lambskin.

This ultra-feminine nest is in striking contrast to a severely masculine bed-sitting room for the man of the house.
