School Officials to Confer at Austin

Supt. H. C. Lyon and Tom Caudie, vice-president of the school board, left Friday afternoon for Austin to attend a conference with the state department of education. The local men will remain in Austin over the weekend.

One of the items which the local school officials wish to discuss with the state department is the question of teaching physical education. Mr. Lyon stated Friday morning that he intended to outline the local equipment at the conference and ask for advice about procedure. The teaching of physical education is compulsory in all public schools this year and many schools with gymnasiums are faced with a problem as to how to best handle the work. The Ballinger schools have no place to take care of classes other than the auditorium and no equipment. The auditorium is filled with seats and is very undesirable for the handling of such classes.

The local officials feel that with many schools in the same condition, some suggestions may be given by the state department that will simplify matters here. Felton Wright is the instructor of this work here, which will be taught in Ballinger at the coming term for the first time.

Supt. Lyon will also take up the matter of football schedules with the department as that body has had much to say about the loss of time from school work on this account. He will give details of how games have been handled here and if a better plan can be suggested it will be adopted.

Other minor business pertaining to the schools will be discussed at the conference.

Only two weeks remain before the opening of the Ballinger schools and Supt. Lyon stated that as far as he could ascertain everything was ready for the official opening. He plans an opening to which all patrons will be invited, on Monday night, September 1st. This program has not been arranged but a speaker will be secured and the program announced in a few days.

"OLD IRONSIDES" MAY VISIT TEXAS PORTS

Strong Advocates New Voting System

(By Associated Press)
MINERAL WELLS, Tex., Aug. 15.—Sterling P. Strong, candidate for lieutenant-governor, in a speech here today advocated a new voters registration system, permitting registration nearer election time to stimulate a more general participation in voting as many overlook paying poll taxes. Strong is opposed for this office by Edgar Witt, of McLennan county.

Alabama collected $7,105,009 in taxes on gasoline in 1929.

Women Form Club; Ely Here Tonight

A women's Sterling-for-Governor Club was formed in Ballinger Thursday afternoon and work commenced to do all in their power in behalf of the candidate and to assist the men's club in its activities. The meeting was attended by a number of women who were enthusiastic for the cause, hoping to present considerable educational matter to the voters during the final week of the campaign.

Mrs. A. B. Stobaugh was elected chairman of the club, and Mrs. W. A. Taylor, secretary. They will conduct a campaign for members at once and ask the help of every Sterling supporter in the county who is willing to do some work for the candidate in the second primary.

The women plan to explain the important issues in a clear and accurate manner to other women voters of this county. They will also assist the men in getting voters to all rallies to be held between now and election day. Another endeavor will be to get voters to the polls on Saturday, August 23.

The women club members planned to spend a large part of their time Friday in inviting and urging citizens to attend the rally on the courthouse lawn. In addition to the advertising done by the men the women will supplement this with personal solicitations and by telephone.

The rally committee announced Friday morning that all plans were perfected for the meeting here tonight. An orchestra has been secured to play a concert before the speaking begins and County Chairman Frank C. Dickey will introduce Judge W. R. Ely, of Abilene, who will be the main speaker on the program.

Guardsmen Home Saturday Night

(By Associated Press)
CAMP PALACIOS, Aug. 15.—Company C, 142nd Infantry, will entrain for home Saturday 16, at 7:20 a. m. and is scheduled to reach Ballinger at 11:41 Saturday night. Members of the company were slightly "done in" after the completion of the schedule for Monday and Tuesday but are in good physical condition at the present and ready for more.

Drill Monday morning, a division ceremony in the afternoon and a march of approximately 16 miles Monday night, was followed by drill Tuesday morning and a brigade ceremony in the afternoon. Not a man in Company C fell out on the hike and only four reported for the "sick, lame and lazy" call.

Company C has been highly commended by many officers for its discipline, training and quality of personnel.

One morning drill period remains on the program and following this the remainder of the time in camp will be spent in packing equipment and making preparations for entraining. Mrs. K. V. Northington, K. V. Jr., and Bobby and four members of the company expected to leave Friday, stay in Austin Friday night and continue to Ballinger Saturday.

Second Lieut. K. V. Northington has been occupied for almost two days on an assignment to prune all trees in the encampment area. First Lieut. Ross Murchison has been busy with administrative duties and direction of the training program for this unit.

Dorothy Nance, 12, Dies Very Suddenly

Dorothy Louise Nance, age 12 years 3 months and 25 days, died Thursday evening at 10:30 at the family home, 606 Eighth Street. The death came as a shock to her many little friends who thought she was well on the way to recovery. Dorothy, a daughter of W. A. Nance, had lived in Ballinger all her life.

The little girl had been ill for some time with diphtheria but was able to be up and the danger period was believed to have been passed. For a number of days she was very low but had seemingly passed the crisis and expected to soon be back among her playmates. Bright and happy she was about the house Thursday and bathed herself during the afternoon. Late in the afternoon she suffered a heart attack, surviving only a few hours. The disease had left her in a frail condition and her heart failed.

Dorothy was a member of the Ballinger Baptist Church, taking an active part in the children's department. She attended church regularly and received much pleasure for the service she could render. She belonged to the Camp Fire Girls and was much interested in that organization. Twelve members of her group acted as flower girls at the funeral service.

Besides the father and stepmother, four brothers and three sisters survive. The brothers are Carl Nance, of Brady; Ernest, W. A. Jr., and J. Frank Nance, of Ballinger. Sisters are Mrs. H. H. Carsey, Ruby and Virginia Nance, of Ballinger. An aunt, Mrs. Kate Nance, of Hot Springs, Arkansas, had just come here for a visit in the Nance home. Other relatives here include a brother of Mr. Nance, Chas. Nance, of Big Spring, and Mr. Nance's mother, Mrs. J. B. Nance, of Comanche.

Funeral services were held at the Ballinger Baptist Church Friday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock, with Rev. J. H. McClain officiating. Interment was to follow in Evergreen Cemetery.

Pallbearers were: W. C. McCarver, Willie Stephens, U. E. Hartman, Floyd Carr, B. C. Kirk and C. L. Baker.

Undertakers from Higginbotham Funeral Home were in charge of arrangements.

Charged With Double Slaying

Stanley S. Bogue, 34, world war veteran, was held in New London, Conn., charged with the axe slaying of his boarding mistress and the man who replaced him in her affection. The bodies of the slain pair were found in the cellar of a farm house near Groton, Conn. He is shown being taken from the police station at Groton.

One Man Killed After Quarrel

(By Associated Press)
SPRINGTOWN, Tex., Aug. 15.—Dock Hinkle was shot dead and Jep Woody probably fatally shot as the aftermath of a quarrel at the farm home of J. P. Matthews, near here.

Mrs. Matthews was the only witness to the slaying of Hinkle. Officers found Woody, wounded, with a pistol by his side, in the rear of the house.

Woody was charged with assault with intent to murder in the justice court at Boyd this afternoon.

Mrs. O. L. Lapton and young son, Asa, of Fort Worth, are here visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Asa Cordill.

Gives Rules for Vaccination of School Children

Ballinger parents are beginning to become interested in the ruling which will cause all children entering school to be vaccinated against small-pox. Many have been telephoning to learn whether their children will be forced to be vaccinated.

Dr. E. R. Walker, city health officer, stated Friday that the following rules would apply: Any child showing a scar of successful vaccination will not be required to be re-vaccinated for entrance. The child's parents, however, should secure a certificate from the family physician as to successful vaccination.

Those who have been scratched but upon whom the vaccination did not "take," will be required to have the immunization again. After a reasonable time in case the vaccination does not "take" again, a certificate from the physician stating that he administered the vaccine on a certain date but that it was not effective, will allow the child to enter school.

Anyone who has had small-pox will not be required to be vaccinated.

All those who have never been vaccinated will be required to have same before they can enter the public schools.

These rules will be rigidly enforced by the city health department at the opening of school. Dr. Walker further stated that if any parents or guardian are not able to have their children vaccinated that he would be glad to do the work free provided the parents furnished the points.

In referring to how long a successful vaccination would be effective against the disease, Dr. Walker advised that a person be re-vaccinated every eight to ten years. In many cases it will not "take," he declared, but to be safe, vaccination is the best plan. This will not be required for public school entrance, however, and any child with a scar or a physician's certificate to successful vaccination will be permitted to enter school.

Dynamite Victim Buried at Miles

(By Associated Press)
MILES, Aug. 15.—Funeral services were held here Thursday afternoon at 4:00 o'clock for E. H. Farrow, Jr., dynamite blast victim, only son of Mr. and Mrs. E. H. Farrow who lives seven miles northwest of San Angelo, on the Sweetwater road. Rev. W. L. Rodgers, pastor of the Baptist Church of this city conducted the funeral services. He was assisted by Rev. F. P. Bishop, pastor of the local Methodist Church. Interment was made in the Miles Cemetery.

Young Farrow, who was only fourteen years old, was playing in the road, just in front of their home, with four neighbor children, about 2:00 o'clock Tuesday afternoon. A pipe line that crosses the road near the Farrow home and several dynamite caps, evidently left there by the construction crew which dug the pipe line ditch a few years ago, were found by the children. The children did not know what they were and before they knew what happened, the explosion occurred, with the result that the Farrow boy died within a few minutes, just as his father reached the scene. Wilburn Olsen, a neighbor boy, age 7, is in a critical condition at the home of his uncle, August Olsen, of San Angelo, while a brother of Wilburn, both sons of W. F. Olsen, a neighbor of Farrow, and two other neighbor children escaped with lighter injuries.

E. H. Farrow, Sr., came to Runnels county a number of years ago from Santa Anna. He formerly owned a ranch several miles north of Miles. Later he acquired a ranch at Christoval and about a year ago, he bought the place where he now lives on the San Angelo-Sweetwater road. Mrs. Farrow's parents, Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Powell, live at Santa Anna.

Foreign shipments of silk, rayon, and cotton hosiery from the United States amounted to 5,777,247 dozen pairs during 1929, a decline of 89,494 dozen pairs.

Weather Report

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Aug. 15.—Livestock has held up remarkably well during the long drouth period, but cattle, sheep and goats are now beginning to show the effects of the hot dry weather, says a report today by department of agriculture statisticians, C. H. Robinson and F. E. Finlay.

The ranges deteriorated rapidly in July, and a critical condition is now prevailing, the statisticians said.

Average condition of cattle on August 1st was 82 per cent as compared to 86 per cent on July 1st and the 86.3 per cent five-year average.

While a number of other states are literally burning up because of drouth, conditions in Texas are not as bad as they have been in former years, according to members of the railroad commission, who said that no petition for emergency rates on feed stuffs had been received. Often in past drouth periods the commission has been called upon to put into effect emergency freight rates to relieve conditions.

In some instances the rates have been lowered on livestock to permit the moving of cattle to pasturage and water.

Traces of Aged Race Sought in Nebraska Plain

LINCOLN, Neb., Aug. 15.—Traces of men believed to have lived in Nebraska five or ten thousand years ago are sought by the University of Nebraska this summer.

A university party under direction of Dr. W. D. Strong, professor of anthropology, has set out for eastern and southern Nebraska. They are cooperating with the Smithsonian Institution.

Five hundred years ago cannibalism, or human sacrifice, apparently was practiced near Murray in Cass county. Split and charred remains of human bones are found on dwelling sites there.

Fifteen feet below the present surface near Murray an extensive village site has been revealed by the cutting of a creek. There are two sites, one above the other, separated by two feet of water borne clay. Dr. Strong estimates the age of these villages at 500 years.

He assigns an age of 5,000 to 10,000 years to a site on the Platte river near Ashland. Fossilized bones and crude flint instruments indicate human habitation here.

Some of the bones appear to have been broken and burned. They were found in glacial gravel in a creek bed about 12 feet below the present surface.

"Nebraska," says Dr. Strong, "is located in the heart of the plains culture area and in addition is crossed by two great river valleys which were the roads of prehistoric as well as historic migrations."

"We have already abundant evidence that man has lived in Nebraska many thousands of years, and it is also clear that when we know his history here, much light will be thrown on American archeology generally."

FORMER METHODIST PASTOR IS VISITOR IN BALLINGER

Rev. R. B. Hooper, of Fort Worth, former pastor of the First Methodist Church of this city, and Dr. C. A. Culver, presiding elder of the Fort Worth district, were in Ballinger a short time Thursday afternoon, visiting friends. Eleven Methodist preachers were en route home from Fort McKavitt where they have been fishing for the past two weeks on the San Saba River. Rev. Hooper came via Ballinger on his return to Fort Worth in order to visit friends here. The preachers left late in the afternoon for Winters to spend the night with Rev. P. H. Burton and expected to go to Fort Worth Friday morning. They reported catching very few fish but had an enjoyable outing. Dr. Culver is well known here having preached in Ballinger while Rev. Hooper was pastor of this church. At that time he was pastor of the Methodist church at Corsicana.

HOW'S your HEALTH

HOT WEATHER HINTS

It was graduation day at one of the leading Eastern universities. The campus was crowded with old alumni and there was great hustle and bustle. The day was hot, and yet the old veterans of the classes of '85, '95 and 1900 were showing the recent graduates how to celebrate.

Puffing and sweating they marched enthusiastically behind the brass band and "cut up" in a fashion that put the antics of the younger men to shame. In the afternoon they marched to the baseball field and sitting in the blazing sun shouted themselves hoarse in support of the home team.

A physician present, an alumnus of the university, remarked, "This is fine spirit, but darn fool sense." It was, and while one must admit that this was an uncommon occasion, there are thousands of other persons, who, as Mark Twain had said, talked much of the hot weather, but did little about it. Three items need special attention during hot weather. They are clothes, food and physical effort. Good sense dictates that each of these should be reduced to a minimum.

SUNDOWN STORIES

THE OCEAN'S SHAPE

By Mary Graham Bonner "I've had a number of friends I've wanted you to meet lately," the Little Black Clock said, as he started off with John and Peggy. "Tonight I want you to meet the Tides."

"One is always going out or coming in. They take turns about it. One of the Tides will be going out now, but we'll meet the Tide brother who is resting, ready to take his place and come in when it's time for it."

"Most of the time they act together. They go out at the same time, and then they turn around and come in again. But I want you to talk to one of them—so I've arranged it in this fashion."

The children went with the Little Black Clock to meet the Tide.

He was wearing a soft, muddy looking costume, as though he had been soaking wet a little while before and hadn't bothered to change.

"Ah," he said, after he had met the children, and given them one of his damp hands to shake. "We have an influence on your earth. Slowly, oh, so slowly, we're reducing the earth's speed as it moves around."

"We're acting as brakes you might say. Of course we can't change it much because the earth is so solid."

"By the way, did you meet that child Centrosphere?"

"Hardly—he disappeared in a second," John answered.

"Of course. But if Centrosphere lived where it were all water it

Reports have been issued from all kinds of bureaus about stock crops and industries suffering from the heat wave and long drought. What we are anxious to see is just how human beings are standing the heat and depression. Months of hot, dry weather are hard on the human constitution and persons should be careful of their physical condition during this period.

We call attention of our readers to health articles which appear in The Ledger. These articles are obtained through the Associated Press and are edited by Dr. Iago Goldston from papers written by foremost specialists of the New York Medical Society. At this time people who expect to start children to school are agitated over small-pox and diphtheria. Recently articles on these diseases were published in The Ledger which should have been interesting to every Ballinger parent.

The new compulsory physical education law which all schools will be forced to teach this year is considered by most people as a fine thing. Heretofore there have been plenty of athletics in the schools but few participated in them. In the fall football occupied most of the boys' time and when a squad of about twenty-five was selected few others of the student body received any physical recreation in connection with their school work. The same thing applies to girls during the basketball season. The new law will give exercise to every student in the school and instructors will give just the kind of training needed by the various students. All boys are not physically able to play football and for these some lighter form of exercise will be given. All schools eventually will be equipped with gymnasiums in which to carry on this work, looking after the children's bodies as well as developing their minds.

SILVER SERVICE WILL BE RETURNED TO LIBRARY

GALVESTON, Aug. 15.—Approval of delivering the silver service of the light cruiser Galveston, recently decommissioned, to the Rosenberg Library here, has been given by Charles F. Adams, secretary of the navy.

Representative Clay Stone Briggs of this district introduced a bill proposing such action at the last session of the house, and was notified of the department's approval. The bill will probably come before the house at the December session.

The silver service was presented to the cruiser by the city when it was commissioned, and has been on the vessel during its 25 years of service.

Texan Relates Game of Golf Played With Pres. W. H. Taft

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 15.—This is a story for lawyers and golfers; rather it is two stories, one for lawyers, one for golfers.

Both are by and about "Bob" Connerly, veteran chief clerk of the court of civil appeals here.

Bob shoots a "backhanded" game of golf, and a good one, too. Which is introduction sufficient for his story of how, as a young lawyer appointed by court, he played a "backhanded" hunch in defense of a negro found guilty of assault to murder and sentenced to 21 years imprisonment.

Young Bob prepared a motion for a new trial, and outside of legal verbiage, the motion contained one sentence: "the verdict is not supported by evidence."

His fellow attorneys, older and more experienced, scoffed at the simple motion. "Why," they said, "you might as well burn that motion."

"Will you bet me a drink," asked Bob, "that I don't get a new trial?" The bet was made—he doesn't tell the nature of the drink—and young Connerly went to court with a single law book under his arm.

"Judge," he addressed the court, "I just want to talk on one phase of this case. Do you believe this old dorkie is guilty of assault to murder?"

That was over in Arkansas, by the way. The judge looked over his spectacles at the young man he had appointed. "Bob," he replied, "Deep down in my heart, I do not believe he is." Then Connerly sprang his trump card. He opened his law book, and read slowly from a Supreme court opinion to the effect that if a judge held a reasonable doubt as to the guilt of an accused, he should not sustain the verdict.

The young lawyer got his new trial, and the drinks.

The story was prompted by a motion filed in Connerly's court, here asking a rehearing on the sole grounds that the verdict was not supported by the law. It led to another story, incidental to which is the fact that Bob Connerly and his backhanded game of golf was for 28 consecutive years city champion of Austin and four years state champion.

And it isn't so much a story as a reminiscence.

When the eminently good Republican, William Howard Taft, visited Texas he wanted to play golf down near Corpus Christi. So the committee on arrangements decided that that eminently good Democrat and golfer, Bob Connerly, was the logical opponent. The match was made, and the pair made ready to tee off.

President Taft held his hands behind him and asked Connerly to guess which hand.

"Why Mr. President," Bob answered, "You shoot first, because it wouldn't be right for me to precede a president." But the genial Taft insisted and Connerly won, sending his ball about 250 yards down the fairway, with a small slice.

"That was a good drive if it hadn't been sliced," he remarked. The president considered it. "Mr. Connerly," he observed, "I'll take the drive and the slice both."

With Charles P. Taft and the chairman of the Republican state executive committee caddying, the first nine holes was pleasant. At the end of the first nine the president asked Connerly if he were too "tired" to play another round. The Texas champion replied that golf was like walking with his best girl—he never got tired.

As the president of the United States and the chief clerk of the sixth civil appeals court stood among the wind-blown salt pines of South Texas, Taft confessed that for the first time in months he felt free from fear, Connerly said. He said the president told him how he lived in constant fear of his life.

Then Connerly told him how easy it would be for a man to stand a mile and a half away with a high powered rifle and shoot him.

"No you couldn't, Mr. Connerly," the president answered. "Secret service men are hiding in those pines, watching us right now."

Connerly probably could have made the shot, for he was nine times champion of the state at target shooting, and clay pigeon snipers still tell of the meet at Shreveport when Bob broke 125 out of 125.

Connerly had dinner with the president, and recalls that Taft at once started criticizing the food as prepared under the direction of Mrs. Charles P. Taft, telling how he would have prepared it.

"Mr. President," Mrs. Taft answered him, "we are all waiting breathlessly for you to publish your book on culinary practices."

But, Connerly forgot to tell how the golf game came out.

"I beat him six up, I've never let a Republican beat me yet."

Bob doesn't play so much as he once did. One of his eyes has failed under the strain of something like three score years and no longer could he shoot a 33 with a putter. Still, he played a game with Judge Critz of the civil court the other day.

"And I could beat him with one leg and one arm."

His backhand stroke—left hand forward—has earned him fifteen loving cups and innumerable medals. He stuck with it despite the advice of a golf professional. For, he explained, it is his natural stroke—like the stroke at law was a "natural."

Mermaid Dance a Feature of "Hit the Deck"

One of the most striking dance numbers ever presented on the talking screen is a feature of Radio Pictures' musical comedy, "Hit the Deck," to open a three-day engagement at the Palace Theatre Sunday afternoon.

The mermaid dance is the novel number which has won acclaim from all who have seen it. Trained by Pearl Eaton, famous New York dance director, the girls present a routine that is altogether new in its steps and movements. More than 300 people take part in and form a background for this clever number.

Jack Oakie and Polly Walker, featured in "Hit the Deck," also present the latest dance steps in this nautical musical comedy.

Harry Sweet, who formerly resided in Ballinger, is one of the featured comedians of the cast.

"The Florodora Girl," Starring Petite Marion Davies at the Palace Today-Tomorrow

All the charm and romance of the famous Florodora Sextette is to be found in "The Florodora Girl," Marion Davies' new starring feature which opened a two-day run today at the Palace Theatre as a Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer presentation.

The new Davies film, directed by Harry Beaumont from an original story by Gene Markey, is screened on a lavish scale, climaxed by the staging of the "Tell Me Pretty Maiden" number in technicolor. Miss Davies, as a member of the famous beauty ensemble, is a treat to behold in the quaint old-fashioned costumes.

At the annual Missouri 4-H Club Round-Up recently, these two were selected as the healthiest girl and boy. They are Liva Lee Johnson of Lima and William Ross Bodenhamer of Warrensburg.

Backgrounded by the romantic traditions of the sextette, the plot concerns the last of the group to hearken to the call of Cupid, Lawrence Gray, as a dashing blade from Fifth Avenue, supplied this summons with an ostentatious display of Oldsmobiles, race horses, and tally-hos.

The picture includes a tuneful medley of old songs rendered by a male chorus in a gay picnic scene. Charming love ballads, reminiscent of the days in which the story unfolds, are sung in duets by Miss Davies and Gray, the most striking being the scene in a garden swing.

Walter Catlett and Louis John Bartels are teamed as gay stage-door Johnnies and Claude Allister is a comic English lord with similar occupation. Included in the supporting cast are Nance O'Neil, Sam Hardy, Ilka Chase, Vivian Oakland and Jed Prouty.

C. J. Finger, son, Charles; and daughter, Miss Helen, spent Thursday night here as guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin Day. Mr. Finger taught music here many years ago and while here Thursday night met a number of his old pupils who were invited to the Day home. He is now an author with a national reputation and his Ballinger friends were delighted to meet him again and talk to him. Accompanying Mr. Finger was a Mr. Newman from London, England. The party left early Friday morning for San Angelo to have breakfast with friends.

Doves Scarce in Rio Grande Zone

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 15.—The opening of the season on white-winged doves Aug. 6 gave Texas hunters their first opportunity to hunt feathered animals since the closing of the duck season last Jan. 31. The hunting of white-winged doves will be confined mostly to regions of the Rio Grande Valley, as the bird seldom gets more than 50 or 75 miles above this line.

Reports to the game, fish and oyster commission at the start of the season indicated there was a scarcity of the birds on the American side of the river but that the supply on the Mexican side was plentiful.

Since the closing of the duck season, activities of the nimrods have been confined to the hunting of squirrels and rabbits. On Sept. 1, the mourning dove season will open in the north zone and will last through October. The season in the south zone will start in October and will end in November.

The season on bear will open Nov. 16 and will end Dec. 31, while ducks, geese, brant, snipe, gullinules and coots may be hunted in the north zone from Oct. 16 to Jan. 31, and from Nov. 1 to Jan. 31 in the south zone. The season on prairie chickens will open in both zones on Sept. 1 and will close Sept. 4. Hunting of prairie chickens will be prohibited until 1931 in Wheeler and Collingsworth counties.

Quail may be hunted in both zones starting Dec. 1 and ending Jan. 16, except in Stephens county which is closed. Ralls may be hunted during September and October in both zones.

The season on white tail deer has been set from Nov. 16 to Dec. 31. Blacktail deer may be hunted west of the Pecos River from Nov. 16 to Nov. 30 and east of the Pecos from Nov. 16 to Dec. 31. Bastrop, Hemphill, Roberts, Hutchinson, Callahan, Eastland, Stephens, Palo Pinto, Parker, San Saba and Harrison counties are closed until 1934 to deer hunters.

BALLOT BOXES READY FOR ELECTION JUDGES

County Judge Paul Trimmer announced Thursday that all ballot boxes which were left at his office following the first primary were ready for use in the August 23rd primary. It has been the custom for the county chairman to take part of the boxes to Winters and leave part of them here at the county judge's office. This is done in order to save long trips by some of the managers. All supplies are ready for the holding of the election a week from Saturday, and judges are asked to get their boxes and supplies at once.

Anyone desiring to vote an absentee ballot can do so now by going to the office of the county clerk and making affidavit that he will not be here on election day. This period extends from now until Wednesday night of next week, August 20, at midnight.

A supply of tickets for each precinct in the county has been turned over to the clerk so that a voter from any section of the county may cast a ballot.

Price Trough "Average Cow"

AMES, Ia., Aug. 15.—(P)—During June, using New York butter extras as a basis for prices, it would have taken about 200 average Iowa cows to have given a farmer a return of $1,000 income per year above feed costs. But he would have had to milk but 29 pounds of butterfat a year.

TEMPLE DOCTOR HAS A PRIZED HOME MUSEUM

(By Associated Press)

AUSTIN, Aug. 15.—"A collector is like a buzzard. He can smell a document miles and miles away and is relentless in his chase of cherished mementos," Dr. Alexander Dienst of Temple, one of Texas' most noted collectors said recently. Dr. Dienst has one of the most complete home museums of Texas historical objects in existence.

Persistence, according to the Temple collector, is the rarest jewel in the collecting game. "When a collector knows some one has a document he wants, he keeps that person in sight thirty and forty years and in the end usually gets what he is after. He doesn't exactly want the person to die, but when he does die, the collector knows he can get his document from the heirs," Dr. Dienst said.

In addition to Texasana, a volume devoted strictly to Texas events, Dr. Dienst collects fifteenth and sixteenth century English literature; American history and biography printed before 1800; documents and letters from and about Queen Elizabeth; first editions of American poets and data about presidents from Washington to Coolidge. He also gathers archaeological relics, including skulls, bones, stones, arrowheads and curios.

Pistols of all sizes and periods and prehistoric iron work also form a part of Dienst's collection. Recently the University of Texas purchased a large portion of his Texasana which will be placed in the university library.

GRAIN EXPORTS FROM GALVESTON ARE LARGE

(By Associated Press)
GALVESTON, Aug. 15.—A brisk business was enjoyed by the port Galveston during the month of July, the report of the maritime committee revealed.

Except for cotton, practically all commodities were handled in larger quantity than during the same month last year, while grains equally as uniform were made over the month of June. Cotton exports for the month were only 21,657 bales.

Grain exports amounted to 4,884,065 bushels. August grain exports are expected to run between 10,000,000 and 11,000,000 bushels. No grain except wheat were shipped during July.

Flour exports totalled 21,643,966 pounds, more than 5,000,000 pounds greater than the figures of the same month in 1929. More than one-half of the flour went to Rotterdam.

Exports of metals for July from Galveston were 14,338,344 pounds. London was the greater recipient of this commodity.

Sulphur exports in July were 74,112,499 pounds.

Rowena Man is Buried Friday

Funeral services were held at Rowena Friday morning for Noemil Korenek, age 28, who was accidentally killed by a gun at his home near Wall, Texas, last Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Korenek lived for many years at Rowena, leaving there on January 1st to farm near Wall. Decedent has been employed by the Gulf Oil Co. agency at Rowena prior to that time.

Wednesday about noon Korenek took a gun and started out in his pasture to hunt rabbits. His wife found him a short time later near a wire fence with a bullet wound in his temple. He lived for only a few minutes and was never conscious. An inquest was held and a verdict of accidental death was returned by the coroner.

Relatives believe the accident occurred when Korenek was attempting to crawl through the wire fence in some way discharging the gun. When found by his wife Korenek was lying by the fence and the gun with one shell discharged was by his side. A doctor was summoned but the young man died before anything could be done for him.

Funeral services were held in Rowena Friday morning from the home of decedent's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Korenek, with Rev. Joseph Hegar, of Temple, pastor of a Presbyterian church, officiating. Interment was made in the protestant cemetery at Rowena.

Decedent is survived by his wife and a small baby girl. His mother and father, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Korenek, and two sisters, Mrs. Henry Pustka, of Rowena, and Mrs. Charley Magus, of Jourdaton, also survive.

WILL INTRODUCE BILL TO CUT DOWN SOLONS

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Aug. 15.—Senator Julian P. Greer of Athens, renominated to the state senate, has announced that he will sponsor a joint resolution at the next session of the legislature to cut down the size of both branches. He said he would propose a resolution for constitutional amendment cutting the membership of the house from 150 to 75 and the senate from 31 to 25.

The senator held that the present membership makes them unwieldy and argued the cut would increase the efficiency of both branches and greatly expedite legislation.

Greer predicted there would be fewer special sessions because the decreased bodies would be able to handle all of the business in the regular session. He also advocated placing the legislators on an annual salary basis, probably $1,500, and stated he may include this provision in his resolution. The members of both houses now receive $5 per day for each day the legislature is in session in addition to traveling expenses.

YANKEE MATADOR HAS TOUGH TIME IN SPAIN

(By Associated Press)
MADRID, August 9.—Sidney Franklin, Brooklyn bullfighter, the only North American who has ever tried to be a professional matador in Spain, is having hard sledding.

"El Americano" was a novelty in Spain last year, and got contracts without difficulty. Bull rings all over the peninsula wanted the curious spectacle of a "Yanqui" torador.

But this summer, his second in the homeland of bullfighting, Franklin is "home folks" and must compete for contracts with the Spanish lads who grew up fighting bulls.

Sidney has so far had only half a dozen engagements this summer, but he is game. In the bullfight booking offices in Madrid and Seville he can be seen regularly, looking for chances to fight, and still hoping to stick long enough to get his "alternativa"—a sort of "knighting" of a bullfighter.

After that he may go to Mexico or Peru, where they like bullfighting. Or he may try, as he has often said he wants to, to introduce "bloodless bullfighting" in the United States.

FRENCH WAR AREA NOW PAY DIVIDENDS

(Associated Press Correspondent)
PARIS, Aug. 15.—Taxes from the ten war-devastated departments now are paying interest and principal on the huge cost of reconstruction.

Textile mills and coal mines of the north constitute a big part of France's industrial wealth. After the war the ruined strip from Lille down past Verdun could pay little and need much.

Rebuilding is almost complete. There has been spent about $3,300,000,000 and about a tenth that much remains to be paid. The work, in 1922, was estimated by the government as likely to take 40 years. It has been almost finished in 12.

Interest seemed a huge burden on the country for all the money had to be borrowed. Yet in 1924, according to the president of the Roubaix Chamber of Commerce, taxes from the war area more than paid the interest and now prosperity has so greatly increased taxes that they promise to extinguish the debt.

That, of course, was the theory on which France invested in reconstruction. And as a matter of fact, economists say, the output of the region has been increased over pre-war figures by rebuilding in a more scientific way and by modernizing plants.

About New York

By Richard Massock
NEW YORK, Aug. 15.—Murder sites, morbid curiosity being what it is, are hot stuff for the rubberneck guides.

A season ago the megaphone artists of the sightseeing buses were pointing out, if not the site of the Albert Snyder bludgeoning, at least the restaurant where Judd Gray and Ruth Snyder began the flirtation that carried them to the electric chair.

This year they have added to their itinerary of places once marked in the newspapers diagrams with the familiar cross of tragedy the hotel from which Arnold Rothstein staggered with a mortal bullet in his side.

Mystery Lingers

Mystery is the element that keeps the memory of a murder alive in the public mind.

Curiosity feeds on conjectures as to just what happened behind a certain innocent facade. Yet, even so, there comes a time when a house of murder either is forgotten or disappears.

What, then, are some of the sites of famous murders like now? The shades are drawn over the windows of the top floor apartment in a five-story building on West Fifty-seventh street where Dorothy King, the Broadway butterfly, was found, the odor of chloroform still faint between her cold lips on a morning of 1923.

A sign outside advertises "apartment for rent." Maybe the mystery apartment is one of them.

Then there is the address where another Broadway beauty, Louise Lawson, was found suffocated under similar mystifying circumstances just about a year later. It was at 22 West Seventy-second street, now obliterated by a huge apartment house.

A few blocks away, at 244 West

Seventieth street, is the former home of Joseph Browne Elwell, whose death is one of the most famous of the world's unsolved crimes.

Whether Elwell, wealthy bridge expert and clubman, was shot for love or hate or robbery, probably nobody knows but the man or woman who performed the deed in 1920 and left no clue. A dingy rooming house now, it too advertises "vacancies."

Honeymoon House

In the same general neighborhood, at 257 West End avenue, is an even older building of one-time interest. It was the honeymoon house of Roland Molineaux and his bride, Blanche Chesebrough (the Gibbon girl), whose names are in the anthologies of major crimes.

Molineaux found himself a police suspect after deaths by poison of Henry C. Barnet, a broker, who had been a rival for Miss Chesebrough's affections, and of a Mrs. Adams.

In the case of Mrs. Adams, she innocently swallowed a fatal draught of supposed headache powder received through the mail by a roomer, Harry Cornish, with whom Molineaux had had differences at their club. All of this was early in the present century.

Molineaux finally was acquitted after a retrial, following 22 months' imprisonment in Sing Sing. From his experience, Molineaux wrote a death house play, "The Man Inside," which was one of the Broadway failures of 1914. A few years later he died in an insane asylum.

The honeymoon house for years was vacant. Only recently, its story forgotten, has it had tenants.

PLANTS' ENERGY GREATER WHEN GROWN IN SUNSHINE TO REPRODUCE FAMOUS BATTLE WITH FIRE WORKS

(By Associated Press)
CARMEL, Calif., Aug. 15.—The sunshine stored in plants can be measured by a new method devised at Carnegie Institution here.

This storage of sunshine is in the form of organic matter, that is, substance produced by growth. The new measurement gives its heat value in calories. It is reported to the southwestern division of the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Frances L. Long.

"Sunflower plants," she says, "were grown in a row in which one end was shaded and the other exposed to full sunshine."

"Other factors such as soil and moisture were the same throughout the row, but there were nearly four times as many calories per plant produced in the plants at the sunny side of the row than in those at the shady end."

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Aug. 15.—Reproduction of the battle of Chateau Thierry will be the outstanding feature event of the program of the state convention of the American Legion, which will be held here Sept. 1-3. The battle will be reproduced in fireworks at the Texas Memorial stadium the first two nights of the convention.

Nearly 3,000 delegates are expected to attend the session, officials of Travis Post No. 76 said. All civic organizations and the Chamber of Commerce are cooperating with the local post and its auxiliary in arranging the entertainment program and obtaining housing facilities for the guests.
