Agriculture Has Made Progress Says Legge

(By Associated Press)
SYRACUSE, N. Y., Sept. 2.—Alexander Legge, chairman of the federal farm board, told the New York State Farm Bureau meeting here today that a distinct step forward had been made in securing recognition of the fact that agriculture as an industry is entitled to the same governmental consideration as other industries. Legge said the best advice to agriculture was to "organize."

School Opening Has Good Crowd

The Ballinger school auditorium was about half full Monday night to hear the program in connection with the opening of the schools for the 1930-31 term. The entire school board, faculty, a few invited guests and those on the program assembled on the stage promptly at 8:00, when the program commenced.

O. C. Sykes, president of the board of trustees, made a very interesting talk to the patrons in which he explained what was done with the money included in the annual budget. He gave a very complete financial report showing what the finances were used for besides teachers' salaries and other expenses. In conclusion he pointed out many needed items for the school including more playground equipment, and additional equipment in the manual training and domestic arts departments.

Miss Catherine Todd delighted the audience with a violin solo, she was accompanied by Mrs. L. Schermerhorn.

Mayor W. C. McCarver spoke on the value of an education, defining the term value. He gave an opinion about the public as a whole regarding the school system. Mr. McCarver in a humorous way told of his days as a teacher compared it with the different method used today.

Miss Nona Diltz, teacher of speech arts, offered a reading which was well received.

Mrs. Alex McGregor, president of the Parent-Teacher Association, spoke to the audience in behalf of the P-T. A. for the ensuing term.

Miss Marjorie McAdams, piano teacher, rendered a pleasing piano solo. As on numerous other occasions here she proved to be an artist in her line.

Dr. D. M. Wiggins, of Simmons University, Abilene, was introduced by Supt. H. C. Lyon as the principal speaker of the evening. Dr. Wiggins in a fiery manner brought a great address to his hearers regarding the school of today, its problems, and future prospects. In discussing common problems in the field of education he showed how teachers and patrons could be pointed to a deeper sympathy for these problems. He spoke of the two billion dollars expended annually for public school education in this nation and the great advantages offered to the local students. The speaker brought the terms of democracy, education, and school, in close relation.

Referring to the way in which schools had progressed, Dr. Wiggins said the person who has no desire for progressiveness in schools is most ignorant, or most selfish, or has a mixture of both.

Advancing in the history of the development of education, Dr. Wiggins said that the changes in education had been forced on school authorities by society and that schools must change as society changes and demands. He showed that it was the duty of the public school system to act as a strong foundation for the social system and not to advance beyond its demands.

He urged people to live happily in the social order of today, declaring that such living would find a place in society for every individual. The school of today is not alone to teach reading, writing and arithmetic, but must

Says Most Prisoners In Texas Pen Good

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Sept. 2.—Three out of every four men incarcerated in the Texas prison system are of good behavior, while there and bid fair to become good citizens when released, according to Lee Simmons, manager of the system. The majority of the prisoners behave themselves and cooperate with the prison authorities, Simmons said.

The malicious one-fourth of the prison population are able to think up devices ways of trying to keep out of work and thwart the authorities, the manager said. Some of the men, he explained, inject kerosene into their feet to cripple themselves or will drink such large quantities of water that they are unable to work.

Taken as a whole, however, the conduct of the prisoners is creditable and Texas has less trouble with its prisoners, considering the condition of its plant, than most other states, Simmons said.

The prison manager was in Austin recently to confer with members of the state board of control relative to taking bids on planned improvements for the prison farms and prison camps, ordered in a bill during the fifth called session of the 41st legislature.

Plans and specifications for the work have been completed and the prison is ready to go ahead with the improvements, Simmons said.

He said he believed some progress was being made toward rehabilitating and improving the system. The present prison commission is engaged in working out a plan to diversify the production on the farms in an effort to increase both the food and feed crops. Simmons said he did not believe there would be any reduction in the cotton acreage planted by the system next year.

develop, building character, religious and moral life he asserted. The speaker closed by saying that the fundamental purpose of the public school system is to teach how to live with one's fellowman, declaring this the problem of socialization.

Supt. Lyon made necessary announcements and introduced all the new teachers.

"Hundreds of young women in business are turning from the women's clubs and the carefully supervised hotels and apartment dwellings, sponsored by social groups, to more independent, and from the social viewpoint, less satisfactory living conditions."

The Girls' Friendly Society maintains 28 vacation houses and 13 lodges in large cities.

Uniform Traffic Code is Wanted

(By Associated Press)
AUSTIN, Sept. 2.—The state legislature at its meeting next January will be asked to adopt the uniform traffic code worked out by the national conference on street and highway safety. The code is based on the finding that out of 31,000 persons killed in traffic accidents last year and 1,000,000 injured, more than half the fatalities and injuries could have been prevented through accident elimination campaigns.

The code has been approved by the leading traffic experts of the country and is aimed at orderly regulation of vehicular traffic both in cities and on the highways.

Among other things, it is planned to abolish left turns on highways. The plan involves a sort of four-leaf clover design and an under-over separated level for the crossing of principal highway arteries.

Another recommendation of the code calls for the enactment of a driver's law which would make it compulsory for motor vehicle drivers to pass physical, mental and driving tests before being permitted to operate on the highways.

Severe penalties for violating the state highway laws also were expected to be recommended. One of the recommendations calls for the suspension of the right to drive of persons convicted of driving while intoxicated.

NEW YORK, Sept. 2.—Captain Dieudonne Coste and his co-pilot and mechanic, Maurice Bellonte, headed down the American coast this afternoon for New York after completing a non-stop crossing of the North Atlantic Ocean.

Coste reported his plane, the Question Mark, at 6:00 this morning, Eastern standard time, as over the southern part of the Miquelon Island group, near St. Pierre, south of Newfoundland.

The Frenchmen had traveled 2,325 miles airline since leaving LeBourget, France at 4:54 yesterday morning, Eastern standard time. The actual distance traveled is several hundred miles greater on account of a southern detour in mid-atlantic, to avoid fog.

The Question Mark is expected over New York at 5:00 o'clock this afternoon.

HALIFAX, N. S., Sept. 2.—An airplane, believed to be the Question Mark, piloted by Dieudonne Coste and Maurice Bellonte, was reported over the entrance to Halifax harbor at 10:25 o'clock this morning.

To Settle Water Dispute by Vote

(By Associated Press)
ROBERT LEE, Sept. 2.—This forty-year-old town which has had for its major problem an inadequate water supply ever since it took the place of old Hayrick as the county seat will fight again the battle of water that it won in the incorporation election of 1928 and the $30,000 water bond issue of 1929. On Sept. 6 an election will decide whether Robert Lee will continue as an incorporated town or be allowed to carry out its plans for good water.

"It's a sure thing," says Jess Craddock, mayor, "that the town can't go forward unless it is incorporated and guided by men who have the best interest of the community at heart."

The election will poll about 200 votes. The city government side expect to win. When the town was incorporated by a vote of 16 to 1 the main issue was an adequate water supply. This is the issue which friends of incorporation hope to carry the city again.

Next Wednesday when the good-will trippers from Abilene arrive here they will be accompanied by the famous Cowboy Band which has recently returned from Europe. A wagon load of corn (on the ear) was seen in Ballinger Tuesday morning. Such a sight is not common here, especially during a dry year when much is heard regarding the feed shortage. The man who can market feedstuff is strictly in the swim and is much better off than those who peddle cheap cotton.

Last winter was one of the coldest ever recorded in this county and this summer has gone to the other extreme. With the coming of the fall perhaps a happy medium can be struck and a moderate mid-winter experienced. Vegetation suffered last year from the cold weather and again this summer because of dry heat.

Nothing draws a crowd in Ballinger any quicker than a fire. People are learning to obey the law and give the firemen time to reach the scene before the general rush begins. For safety's sake those who make the mad rush should be a little careful. They can do no good when they get there and to speed along the streets heavy with traffic is hazardous. Have some thought of the other fellow and slow down. If you must hurry to every blaze, join the fire department and you will have the lawful right to drive fast.

Dainty Pilot Flies to Fame in Less Than Year

Ruth Alexander, whose flying has won records on the west coast, plans a non-stop flight from Agua Caliente to Vancouver and later, to her home at Irving, Kansas.

(By Associated Press)
 SAN DIAGO, Calif., Sept. 2.—Ruth Alexander, latest feminine pilot to fly to fame, knew she wanted to be an aviator when she was 10 years old.
 In the 11 months since her first lesson this daughter of the Kansas prairies has climbed to the Kansas altitude records.
 Now she plans to fly back to her home town, Irving, Kas., to show her former schoolmates how it's done.

 Just for practice, dainty Miss Alexander plans a non-stop flight from Mexico to Canada. Agua Caliente, Mexico, will be the taking off point and Vancouver, B. C., the finish.
 If successful the 25-year-old miss will hold another record—first woman to fly the Pacific Coast line without a stop, more than 1,200 miles.

 The flight to the Kansas home of her mother, Mrs. W. P. Blaney, will be attempted in September.
 She started her air training last September, got her license in November, and a commercial license last March. Twenty-one types of ships—open, cabin, single and multi-motored—have been flown by her.

Health Campaign Will Start Soon

(By Associated Press)
 AUSTIN, Sept. 2.—The state health department has declared war. Unlike most wars, however, the battle of the health department will be fought with serums and anti-toxins instead of with guns and shells.

The war will be directed chiefly against the hundreds of parents who still refuse to keep up with the advances of civilization and medical science through immunization of their children from diphtheria, typhoid, scarlet fever and other kinds of fevers and ailments, Dr. J. C. Anderson, state health officer and generalissimo of the health forces, said.
 All children between the ages of one and twelve should be inoculated against the major diseases, Dr. Anderson said. The campaign will be carried on through the health nurses, city and county health departments and in the schools. A special campaign to educate the parents to the benefits of inoculation will be carried on during the next several months.

Several deaths from typhoid, scarlet fever and diphtheria have been noted in several parts of the state during the summer months. Dr. Anderson said that the majority of these deaths, which were confined mostly to growing children, could have been prevented through timely inoculation and use of prevention methods.

He especially urged parents to have their children inoculated before the start of the fall school term when the boys and girls will be thrown into close contact with each other. He stated that it was possible for one child, returning from a vacation in an infected region, to carry the germs around and infect other children while the carrier suffered no illness.

DOVES ANALYZED SHOW NO POISON

Becoming alarmed over the rumors that doves in this section were poisoned, hunters had a number analyzed Monday by chemists and the report showed that the bird's condition was all right. Hunters spent much time shooting Monday and reports Tuesday indicated that doves were hard to find and the hunting season here would be short.

evening of this week and a number of members were out Monday trying to get the birds. Birds killed this week by Lions will be dressed and held on cold storage until Thursday evening.
 Water in most pastures is plentiful and no set watering places are visited by the birds late in the afternoon. The biggest kills reported Monday were made early in the morning in fields where some grain is on the ground.
 The Ballinger Lions Club plans a dove barbecue for Thursday.

A MAN'S WINGS

By Mary Graham Bonner

John and Peggy were waiting for the Little Black Clock. He was all ready for them, and at once he turned the time back and they saw a man with a very queer looking wing-shaped glider. He was doing the strangest things with it too. He got up to the highest peak of a hill and then he flew off the hill and sailed through the air until he landed in the valley below.
 "He built his own machine," the Little Black Clock told the children, "and he has been studying the currents in the air and trying to master them."
 "He is one of the very first to really try to fly, and though he will not be so well-known as many others, great credit is due him for trying something about which so little is known."
 "What is his name?" John asked.

"Lilienthal," the Little Black Clock said. "I've turned the time back you know and brought you over here to Germany so you could see him, and his queer machine."

It reminded the children a little of parachute flights they had seen from balloons in country fairs, and yet the man's glider was unlike anything else.

It had an upper and a lower part, and he did not sit in his machine at all. Instead he hung from the lower, or under wing, and flew in that way.

"He will never be able to do much better than he is doing now," the Clock said, "and we are seeing his best. But even though he will not be successful and even though he will give his life to the dangerous lessons he is trying to learn, he will help those who will follow him."

They sat near the hill and watched the man gliding through the air and then landing.
 "He ought to see some of our

BALDNESS

If you are eager to escape precaution you must take is to choose the right parents.

For among the numerous factors that determine whether the head shall be crowned with hair, or with a glossy sheen, heredity stands foremost.

Baldness, or Alopecia, as it is technically known, is but one condition, and yet it has a variety of causes.

Skin specialists recognize different types of baldness and name them accordingly. The most common type is the so-called Alopecia Prematura, or premature baldness.

A certain amount of baldness is naturally associated with advancing age. Premature baldness, however, commences in 80 per cent of the cases before 30. Persons not nearly bald at 50, are likely to have an effective hair covering until they reach old age.

The definite causes of simple baldness are uncertain. One much mooted point is the relation of dandruff to simple baldness. There are some who maintain that dandruff is the sole cause of baldness. Others deny this.

True baldness is due to the destruction and disappearance of the hair follicles.

This is commonly associated with the disappearance of the thick layer of fat which in youth is found between the skin of the scalp and the bones of the skull.

As this fat disappears, the skin becomes tightly adherent to the scalp and hair follicles shrink and are finally displaced by fibrous tissue.

It is sometimes thought that present-day planes," John said.

"Yes," agreed the Little Black Clock, "but everything has to have a beginning and we must not think what he is doing is funny. He is what you might call one of the Great Beginners. There are always a number of them who start all wonderful discoveries."

COATED TONGUE

Often Sign of Biliousness That Indicates the Need of Black-Draught.

Austin, Texas.—"In the sixteen years of my own housekeeping, Theford's Black-Draught has been my best stand-by in the way of medicine," says Mrs. J. M. Rich, of 1700 Holly Street, this city.

"I have found Black-Draught to be the best medicine I have ever used for the relief of colds. I have been using it in my home for years.

"My father used it also in his home and gave it to us children. Whenever we had the usual children's complaints, mother would make up a tea of Black-Draught and give us. We always felt better after taking it.

"I also give it to my children when they have colds or upset stomach. Sometimes they get feverish from biliousness. If they begin to get yellow, or their tongues are coated, I make a tea (of Black-Draught) and give to them in small doses. They don't mind taking it at all."

In thousands of families, Theford's Black-Draught has a corner all its own on the medicine shelf. In use nearly 100 years.

Konjola Gave Quick Relief To This Lady

After Ten Years' Illness, Relief Comes Promptly With Use Of New Medicine.

MRS. W. C. NIEMANN

"I was troubled for ten years with indigestion and constipation," said Mrs. W. C. Niemann, a dairy farm owner of Southton, near San Antonio. I bloated terribly after meals. Neuritis then attacked me and I suffered frightfully from this ailment. I was always taking something to relieve constipation but these measures brought only temporary relief. Food lay like a rock in my stomach and I was losing weight and strength.

"I read so much in the papers about Konjola that I decided to try it. I noticed a change in my condition almost at once. Gas pains were greatly relieved and my food was more easily digested. Constipation was much less troublesome and, in fact, my entire health improved amazingly. I shall continue taking Konjola and I heartily endorse it to everyone."

Given a real test over a six to eight week period, Konjola will do for you what it has done for untold thousands of men and women everywhere.

Konjola is sold in Ballinger, Texas, at the Weeks Drug Store, and by all the best druggists in all towns throughout this entire section.

Amusements

Jacqueline Baffles 'em
Jacqueline La Rue, "the girl who sees tomorrow," who opened a four-day engagement at the Palace Theatre last night, working under adverse conditions in the presentation of her act, nevertheless won acclaim from a number witnessing the astounding performance. The audience as a whole was reluctant to participate in any way because of the tactics of other so-called mental acts who previously appeared here and who made a practice of calling names, identifying individuals, asking questions and in other manner ridiculing the spectators generally.

Miss La Rue's assistant and manager, G. B. Duquesne, issues a challenge to the audience in her behalf, to bring and present any article of any description, and declares that she will identify and describe any article presented while she is completely blindfolded. This challenge effectively removes the idea of code from the mind of the theatregoer because in order to work as she does it would be necessary to have hundreds of thousands of articles coded. Innumerable articles were presented last night and she was correct in every instance. Miss La Rue answers all serious questions and her accuracy is uncanny. She also reads one's character from the handwriting and is an expert astrologist.

Jacqueline is a French Canadian as her name indicates, and is twenty-two years old. She was born in North Bay, province of Ontario.

Miss LaRue yesterday afternoon drove a Chevrolet through the streets of the city blindfolded, and all who witnessed the stunt are prepared to vouch for it that she was blindfolded completely. She will repeat this drive, starting in front of the theatre, Wednesday at 2:00 p. m.

Partridge is Big Boost to Bearcats

Football prospects here advanced many points Monday when Frank Partridge, veteran quarterback on the regional championship team last year, entered school. Partridge had been undecided as to where he would go to school this year but at the last minute was able to return to Ballinger and will be in the backfield for the Bearcats this season.

Besides being a good field general, Partridge is a fair punter, passer, and can carry the pigskin. He is fast, quick to understand plays, is a good safety man on defense and will be the player around whom Coach Felton Wright can mold a backfield.

Football practice got underway in good shape Monday. A number of new men were ready for the first general workout and judging from their size and appearance some good material will develop from the recruits.

The line looks as good as any Ballinger high line in recent years.

Those composing the forward will have plenty of size, experience and speed and will be able to take care of themselves against any competition in the district. The backfield is still problematical. At least two men look good in ball totting positions. Flynt, with junior high school backfield experience, may be placed at fullback this year. He is plenty big, fast enough, and can hit a line as hard as any last year's man. He was used at tackle and end last year due to the large number of backs. Partridge is another who will clinch his job.

Coaches Wright and Harley Davis, with other experienced football men assisting, will give the big list of candidates the once over and have a backfield that can execute offensive plays before the opening game here on September 10th with Paint Rock.

J. E. Gressett and Carl Smith returned Sunday from DeCatur where they had been doing some carpenter work.

HOUSTON PLANS FOR BIG CELEBRATION IN OCTOBER

(By Associated Press)
HOUSTON, Sept. 2.—A celebration pointing Houston's growth as a port will be held in conjunction with the projected arrival of the new cruiser U. S. S. Houston Oct. 25, and will last through four days, under plans announced by the chamber of commerce. The last day—Oct. 28—would be given over exclusively to a jubilee calling attention to the port's expansion in the last 10 years.

October 25 would be occupied with receiving the new cruiser. The next day, Sunday, Oct. 26, was designated as "Church Day." October 27, Navy Day, would see the presentation of a silver service to the cruiser, to be followed by a street parade.

One of the features of the last day would be a dinner honoring visiting dignitaries and outstanding local leaders in the port movement. Invitations will be extended to port officials throughout the United States, leading shippers, exporters and others interested in foreign trade.

FEW CHICKS START FARM THAT MAKES $250 MONTHLY

SAXAPHAW, N. C., Sept. 2.—Starting in the poultry business with three chickens, Joe A. Nicholson has built a plant that pays $250 a month in clear profits.

Purebred stock is Nicholson's answer to any who ask how he does it. He imported three birds from England for a start, and the 2,000 laying hens on the farm are descendants of the original trio. Though specializing in eggs for table use, Nicholson sells about 20,000 baby chicks each year and ships eggs for hatching. He grows feed for his flocks on his 150-acre farm, and also manages a small dairy.

Local Bus Lines Included in Sale

A transaction effecting bus lines operating out of Ballinger was closed in Abilene Monday in which R. C. Bowen, of Fort Worth, acting for the Lone Star Lines, bought all lines that operate here. The new company will have a central office in Abilene.

Mr. Bowen is not new to the bus line business in West Texas having operated the first line from Fort Worth to Ballinger, before selling out to another concern.

The Lone Star Company is a charter company with a $100,000 capital stock. Mr. Bowen will act as president of the new company.

In speaking of the new company and improvements to be made Mr. Bowen said that six new 21-passenger parlor busses would be placed on the run at once to take the place of obsolete equipment.

Schedules started yesterday under the new set-up. The company will operate 534 miles of bus lines in this territory, covering the following lines:

San Angelo to Ballinger, 35 miles, purchased from Southernland Greyhound lines for $15,000.

Ballinger to Abilene, 60 miles, purchased from O. C. Murphey & Son for $25,000.

The following other lines purchased from Southland Greyhound at an unnamed consideration:

Ballinger to Cisco, via Coleman, 99 miles; Cisco to Breckenridge, 30 miles; Abilene to Cantey (Metcalf Gap), 90 miles; Breckenridge to Spur, via Seymour, 180 miles and Albany to Stamford, 40 miles.

Present schedules and rates will remain unchanged for the present Mr. Bowen said.

"One important aspect of this new set-up," said Bowen yesterday "is to provide a continuous run from San Angelo to Metcalf Gap, and on to Fort Worth, via Ballinger and Abilene. This will be our Coleman line to Fort Worth. Both main line, instead of the Ballinger at Metcalf Gap and Abilene we will coordinate and have a close traffic and ticket sales arrangement with Southland Greyhound."

"We are very glad to get the Abilene-San Angelo line. Mr. Murphy and his son Willie are the pioneer operators in the Abilene territory. They have been highly successful and have built up splendid good-will, but in the past, passengers between Abilene and San Angelo were compelled to transfer at Ballinger. Our set-up removes this entirely."

Radiotelephone service is now available between England, Scotland and Wales, and Argentina, Chile and Uruguay.
